

BUCHANAN RECORD.

JOHN G. HOLMES, Editor.

THURSDAY, MAY 5, 1884

It is reported that Judge Cooley intends severing his connection with the University.

America is getting credit for more than her share of the dynamite that goes into Europe.

South Bend shows great signs of reformation. At the city election Monday the Republicans elected the city clerk excepting three Aldermen. Not a bad commencement for South Bend.

It is only a question of time as things are now going on when the business of this country will be reduced to the basis of the silver dollar.—Detroit Journal.

It still remains a problem whether the Democratic party is a free trade or protection party. The protection wing, the smallest portion, appeared to rule the party roost at Washington Tuesday.

Charley Ford, one of the Ford brothers made notorious by the killing of Jesse James, committed suicide by shooting at the home of his father, in Richmond, Missouri, Tuesday.

A cyclone tore down a number of buildings, killed one person and badly injured a number of others, and cut up the usual list of dodos common to that kind of storms, at Davenport, Iowa, Tuesday afternoon.

The arrest of Allen for the Crouch murder adds one more item that goes to show the whole defense of the family to be a huge farce, and to strengthen the belief in the guilt of the members who are under arrest.

Collector Livingston, of Detroit, predicts that Blaine will receive but fourteen votes from the Michigan delegation in the Chicago convention, and that his name will be presented by Iton, J. C. Burrows.

Owing to the failure of the Marine National Bank, in New York, the firm of Grant & Wade, of which Gen. Grant and his son U. S. Grant, Jr., are members, has suspended, and are supposed to be $300,000 or more behind.

When such men as Jim Keene, who have made their money by gambling in the products of the country, lose their ten or twelve millions of dollars, there is not the amount of mourning there is over the loss of a few dollars by the poor man. No one appears to care for his loss.

The discussion of the postal telegraph, mainly due to the efforts of Senator Till, has had the effect to considerably reduce the charges for service by the Western Union, and if it does not result in the establishment of the postal system, has been of great service to the country.

There is at least a gleam of light for Madame Justice in the south. The Copiah county, Miss., murders, whose operations were made notorious by the Senate investigations, have been indicted for murder and are in jail, the cases having been declared unavailable. A change of venue has also been denied.

We should have said last week that Cyrus G. Luce, instead of Bruce, is spoken of as the probable Republican candidate for Governor. There is probably no man in Western Michigan with a greater following of friends than has Hon. Cyrus G. Luce, and his nomination for that office would be a good choice.

One of the last acts of the Ohio assembly was the passage of a bill, introduced by one Lovenshine, in the interest of the saloon men; a bill repealing the local option clause of the State law and giving saloon men better terms for payment of their liquor taxes. We would call the attention of the Union party of the State of Michigan to this act, amending the law so as to give the saloon men a good law passed by a Republican legislature, the harmful work being made possible, in part, by the "independent" action of the Ohio prohibitionists' last fall.—Detroit Times.

The Massachusetts Democrats have elected Ben. Butler as delegate-at-large to their national convention in Chicago. This is a pointer on future events. The Greenbackers will nominate Butler at their Indianapolis convention, and he, being a delegate to the Democratic convention, will be also the nominee there, and the Democrats will take him down as if it were a sweet morsel. Their most able men, such as Senators Randall, Voorhees, Hendricks, Pendleton and the other smart men of the party, must stand aside. Honor and ability go for nothing.

No one would ever mistrust the great importance of the Greenback party, had they not put the following in their platform at Kalamazoo: "And there be no Greenback party, greenbacks would have been destroyed, the bonds perpetuated, the silver dollar demoralized, the legal tender act repealed, national bank notes our only currency, gold our only debt-paying money, all debtors ruined, business in panic, labor idle, the money lords dominant, and a bloody revolution impending. That these events have not happened is owing to our party, and we are justified in no party being in power, and with pride in the undeniable record of our good influence."

DEAD.

The Morrison horizontal tariff reduction bill came before the committee of the whole of the House Tuesday, in form of a proposition to strike out the enacting clause, which was carried by 165 to 151. This action was sustained by the House, 169 to 155, which leaves the bill without a head. The vote in the House stood: Yeas—Republicans 116, Democrats 40, Independents 3; nays—Republicans 4, Democrats 151. The Democrats would listen to no amendments to the bill, nor to any discussion of the bill by sections, have the whole bill as it existed or none. Nor do they now offer any substitute.

A great many people are mystified as to the exact nature of Attorney General Van Riper in the Dullman v. Wilson case, and we think the following statement of facts will remove all wrong impressions about that officer having shown any inconsistency in the matter. Governor Begole notified Dr. Wilson of his removal and he appointed Dullman to the vacancy. The doctor, thinking the governor had no power to remove him without cause, refused to vacate the office and "held the fort." There being funds due the institution for the deaf and dumb, it became necessary for the auditor general to know to whom the money should be paid. To that end Auditor General Stevens applied to Attorney General Van Riper for an opinion as to the constitutionality of the action of the governor. That official examined the question carefully and in an opinion, which has been substantially affirmed by the supreme court, held that this action was unconstitutional and that he had no power to remove Dr. Wilson in the manner attempted by him, and that the doctor was still the legal incumbent of the office. The error and his friends were then desirous that the matter should be judicially tested, and to that end it became necessary that an information, in the nature of a writ of habeas corpus, be filed in the supreme court by Dullman against Wilson. It being a public matter, the attorney general on his relation was not bound to file his opinion. He being willing that the matter should be determined by the court, consented that his name might be used on his relation, and in his name it was done. Democratic newspapers, among them the Buchanan Reporter, viciously attacked the attorney general for his opinion against the removal, claiming that he was hindering the progress of reform in so doing. In the light of the supreme court decision, written by a Democratic judge, signed by a Greenback judge, and concurred in by the whole court, affirming Attorney General Van Riper's opinion, his assistants ought in justice at least to say that he had acted in good faith, that his opinion was correct, and that he did not stand in the way of progress and reform. Common sense and common honesty would at least accord it this nothing more.—Lansing Republican.

There is before Congress a bill to appropriate a number of millions of dollars for the education of the penniless, to be distributed among the States in proportion to the illiteracy. It is the expectation that while the greater portion of this money is raised by taxes paid by the people of the north, it will most benefit the negroes and poor whites of the south, and the prime object of the bill is to educate the southern blacks. To further the good work, Judge Albion W. Tourgee, who is probably as well situated to know the needs of just such a measure as any other northern man, has caused to be sent to all parts of the country petitions to be signed and sent to members of Congress, asking them to vote for the bill. This brings to Judge Tourgee many letters from persons in that section who speak in unmistakable English their idea of the move. The following extracts were published by Judge Tourgee, in The Continent:

"The success of the measures you advocate for the education and elevation of the colored race would only be when a knife has been put into the back of the nation. If they should be carried into effect, they would result in a baptism of blood on this continent, hardly surpassed by the terrible days of the French revolution. I know the character of the Southern people, black and white, and know that while you may be laboring from pure motives, at this time you are the most dangerous man in America. You are a man who would rule, let the king declare his will. I say the people are led by just such misguided men as you are, and when the king speaks he only echoes the voice of a few of the most impulsive and unreliable leaders. You would have the lion and the lamb, the white man and the black man, lie down side by side and live in peace and harmony with each other. You would have the lion and the lamb, the white man and the black man, lie down together, the mattress will be of blood and the covered of soil."

"You say that slavery was based on ignorance. I thought it was based on the constitution of the United States, which, for that reason, you abolitionists declared to be a league with hell. You go on the assumption that good government depends on the intelligence of the masses. A little reflection will show you that this is not so. You cannot name a country in which it is true. It is not so in this country, and never has been. Good government rests, and always must rest, upon the intelligence of the few, and the stupidity of the many. You say the South is more illiterate than the North. Granted; but let us take two States—the empire States of the North and of the South—New York and Georgia, and place them side by side, the one with her mass of ignorant poor whites, and the other with her boasted intelligence, and then tell me which is the more intelligent. I am opposed to this measure, and to all measures for the education and elevation of the negro. I do not think you are unkind in regard to it. If the condition of the poor whites of the South was ten times worse, and there were no negroes to be benefited, would you, and those who act with you, move heaven and earth as you do to help them? I think not. You are a good man. This is merely a scheme to lift the negro in intelligence to the level of the North, in order that he may govern and control the whites of the South. I think God must seriously be in the course of the leaders of the Republican party. They have arrayed the whites against the blacks throughout the South. I hope they will ever continue to do so, and that the negroes as far apart as possible in every respect. The elevation of the colored man means, and always must mean, the degradation of the white man."

Different Grades of White Elephants. The reporter of a prominent newspaper recently interviewed a gentleman who was for many years a resident in Siam, and he imparted the following information concerning the different kinds of white elephants found in Siam. The reporter asked: "How many different kinds of elephants are there in Siam, and what are their colors?"

"The Siamese say that there are three different grades or classes of elephants in their country which are called chang peuks. The first of these is said to be exceedingly rare, and I presume it is, because I could not find any person in Bangkok who had ever seen it. It is recorded in Siamese history that their eyes are white, their heads and the hair on their bodies yellow, that their skin is a little red, and that all of their eighteen toe-nails are white. It is further stated that in Siamese history, as translated from the records in the royal library in Bangkok, that three of this description were found in the following years, 1706, 1716, 1726, 1736, 1746, 1756, 1766, 1776, 1786, 1796, 1806, 1816, 1826, 1836, 1846, 1856, 1866, 1876, 1886, 1896, 1906, 1916, 1926, 1936, 1946, 1956, 1966, 1976, 1986, 1996, 2006, 2016, 2026, 2036, 2046, 2056, 2066, Orion Owners of White Elephants. The King of Siam and the King of Burmah are by no means the only possessors of those incarnate symbols of Buddha. Several of the rajahs of tributary states have sacred elephants. For instance, Mr. Bradley informs us in his book on "Elephants in Burmah" that the rajah "Patson, in 1870, was possessed of a pair of small "white" elephants, the color of which he describes as a "muddy drab." This rajah reigned with absolute authority over some twenty-three villages, and very proud he was of his two holy beasts, who he said, were never touched by hands of mortals save those of priests, who collected tribute upon them, taking them out to bathe twice daily.

Patten, etc., etc. The series and short stories, sketches, etc., afford pleasant and edifying reading. Many excellent poems are contributed by Rev. G. A. Waddell, Amanda E. Dennis and others; the miscellaneous articles are entertaining and instructive, and the illustrations are profuse and in the best style of art.
