GEO. W. NOBLE.

GUY BUNKER is dead. Its a lad.

NINE tugs are in the fishing business at St. Joseph.

CIRCUIT COURT convened Monday, but has adjourned.

DEALERS are beginning to invest in holiday goods.

"Hr." STRONG gave his old Buchanan friends a visit this week.

THE plate glass was placed in Nash's new building Friday.

SEE the new advertisement of J. J. O'Neil on the first page of this paper.

MR. S. E. CADWELL is building a good-sized barn on his lot on Detroit street.

MISS LYDIA HAMLIN has secured a position as teacher in the schools at Michigan City.

TWO weeks from to-day, Nov. 27, will be the day to devour that turkey. Thanksgiving Day.

THE patent oyster can that John Morris has in front of his restaurant makes a good sign.

CHARLEY SPENCER has embarked in the meat market business, in Mrs. Dunning's building on Main street.

A NUMBER of our best shots have been to the Kankakee marsh for ducks, but report poor luck.

ELDER Wilson Collins and Miss Lulla Nye, of Three Oaks, were married last Sunday.

WE have an assurance that the old Tremont building will disappear from sight at a not very distant day.

DR. J. M. ROK and E. H. Kinyon and their wives expect to go to Florida in a few days for their winter sojourn in warm weather.

MR. FRANK FOX is now the owner of a large lot in the Eaton Addition, in the north part of town, and has a snug house nearly ready for use.

FRED BONISE recently traveled over 100 yards in ten seconds, in a foot race at the University, thus lowering the college running record.

MRS. LOT WORTHINGTON is visiting friends in the state of New York, and in the meantime Bert, chess Major House topicks.

IT is queer what a lot of poultry these Democratic newspapers keep about them. The birds run out to show themselves on every slight alarm.

PRISCILLA RYNEARSON started this morning for her school, near Mattawan, where she has engaged to teach a seven months term.

SOME of the merchants in this place are getting the electric light fever to an alarming degree, and we may possibly have a plant here in course of time.

A NUMBER of young people went over to Niles, Monday evening to help dedicate a new skating rink. They looked next morning as if dedicating were pretty hard work.

MARRIED.—Mr. John Eisele and Miss Kate Hess, both of this township, cast their fortunes together by a contract made before Esquire Dick on Thursday, Nov. 6.

MISS MINA McMULLEN has gone to Miller, D. T., with the intention of engaging in the millinery business. The Record will inform her of Buchanan happenings.

MR. AND MRS. CLEM CRAWFORD and Mrs. Herr, of South Rand, visited in this place Sunday and Monday, the guests of J. H. Roe and Howell Strong and families.

MR. AND MRS. GEO. L. BARNARD, of Vandavia, Ill., spent Sabbath visiting in this place, and Mrs. Barnard is making a week's visit with her brother, Mr. Chas. Blatchley.

THE Benton Harbor canning establishment put up 1,000,000 cans of tomatoes, during the past season. This distributes a good amount of cash among the farmers in that neighborhood.

HARRY STARRETT tried to get aboard the narrow gauge coach on the lighting express, and learned that there is danger even in narrow gauges. He carries an arm in a sling.

FARMERS are rejoicing in excellent weather in which to prepare for winter, and many of them consider themselves ready for any kind of weather that may present itself.

MR. H. E. BRADLEY has applied for a patent on a new spark extinguisher for steam engines, that appears to be a perfect success. He claims to be able to operate a threshing engine in a powder house with perfect safety, so far as sparks from the smoke stack are concerned. It is hardly to be looked for an invention of that character from a photographer, but he has it, and the Record wishes him success in its sale.

THE Democrats got out their little gun Saturday forenoon and fired it a few times, but concluded to wait for more certain news before completing their jubilee.

M. C. R. R. will sell excursion tickets to Chicago on Nov. 11 and Nov. 20 inclusive, good for return not later than Nov. 31, for one and one-third fare for the round trip, account Fat Stock Show. A. F. PEACOCK.

JOHN M. GLAVIN carried New Buffalo, a Democratic town by 108 majority, the last spring election, by 170 majority. The German and Irish appear to live in peace and unity in that township.

MR. WM. OSBORN has received an announcement that his son Walter had been elected one of the board of county commissioners in the county in which he lives, in Dakota. Good for Walt.

MR. HOWARD ROE is putting up a quite comfortable house on his lot on Oak street. This is the case that has come under our observation where a man commenced building a house by moving in it.

THE report that a new brick block is soon to be erected on the Tremont corner is near akin to the one that the narrow gauge railroad is soon to be built. Both have been repeated until they are tired.

THE Evangelist Webber closed his meetings at the M. E. church last evening. Rev. L. Taylor, Presiding Elder, will preach and hold quarterly conference this evening. Quarterly meeting will be held Sunday.

PEO, a New Buffalo saloon keeper, has been fined $25 for selling liquor on Sunday. He keeps a hotel, and is the chap who charged two Buchanan ladies twenty-five cents each for sitting into his hotel parlor an hour while waiting for a train.

THE farmers in this vicinity will not be obliged to expend $7,000 to $10,000 for corn to feed their stock, as they did last year. This will make a marked difference in the prosperity of the community.

TROS. WRIGHT is in Oceana county, and as a result of his visit to that part of the world, a 190 pound buck arrived in this place yesterday morning. It was served to Croxon's customers. Buchanan hunters now have the buck fever in dangerous quantities.

WE have a new sewing machine that is light running and does good work, and that we want to either sell or give away. We will take $25 cash for it, or will present it to the person who will bring us fifty new subscribers, paid in advance one year, at $1.50 each.

THE Republicans of this county have elected Hiram Judge of Probate, Van Camp for Treasurer, Watson, of St. Joseph, Circuit Court Commissioner, and Corcoran, and the Democrats the balance of the ticket. The Prohibitionists.

MR. WM. CONRADT brought to town, Saturday, thirty-four potatoes that weighed 54½ pounds. They were of the Burbank variety, and grown on the farm he bought of French Brothers, in section twenty. He reports the average yield at 300 bushels per acre.

MR. R. S. BLACK started Saturday for Washington Territory via San Francisco, with intent to settle in that part of the domain of the American eagle. Rolla has a great many friends here, and is sure to have wherever he may settle. The Record wishes him success.

THE fashion of wearing bangs is said to have originated with the Digger Indians, the fashion being very popular with the lovely damsels of the tribes, who clothe their nakedness with a necklace of bear's claws and puff their hair with dried mud, and is said to be quite becoming.

A NUMBER of teachers went from Niles Monday to attend the State Institute at Dowagiac, and while on the train held an impromptu spelling school. One of the seven or eight could spell the name of the town in which the institute was held, but was not sure of being correct in her orthography.

A PREMIUM of an elegant fruit farm of a million acres, lying just west of St. Joseph, is offered the man who has not been asked "Who's elected," more than an average of once an hour since election day. Don't all speak at once, as the farm will be given to but one person.

PAW PAW, Dowagiac, Niles, and a number of other neighbors are using the coal tar and gravel mixture for cross-walks as well as for side-walks, and with perfect success. Because that kind of walk happened to be unfortunate in its makers in this place it has gained a poor reputation here.

THE manner in which our streets are lighted is the pride of our town, and is undoubtedly what is fast gaining for Buchanan a reputation for enterprise. There need be no danger for any man with good eyes, on any street, if he but have a good lantern, but without a lantern he is a goner.

LAST of letters remaining uncalled for in the postoffice at Buchanan, Mich., for the week ending Nov. 12: Emma Grace, Mrs. Mary Hatfield, Miss Emma Keane, Mr. Wm. H. Mallory, Mr. John Pierce, Oran Wood. Postal cards—John Germlinger, Mary E. Swartz. L. P. ALEXANDER, P. M.

THE wall of the Journal over the defeat of Yapple is affecting in the extreme. "Mr. Yapple had all the money of the government, the active work of its officials, and the money and influence of the protected monopolies to contend against."

NOW Mr. Journal, what is the use of lying to your readers in that manner? Have you any subscribers who are "arnal" fools enough to believe such bosh?

SEE HERE! One of two things. Either Buchanan and every other township in this county wants an agricultural society and $800 out of the county treasury, or the Board of Supervisors wants to draw down on the purse strings and save $800 of the people's money, that now go for such purposes each year, for some other use. An agricultural society that cannot pay expenses without a contribution of $800 from the county funds each year, might better draw in its latch string.

THE program for the high school lyceum for next Tuesday evening is a good one, and those who may find time to attend the meeting will be well repaid for their time and trouble. The meetings of this organization, if properly managed, can be made the most profitable department of school work to its members, and it should be encouraged in every possible manner by the patrons of the school.

DAYTON now comes to the front with a veritable ghost. The Dayton spook amuses itself these dark nights sawing and splitting wood in a timber patch near that ville. At least the citizens hear sounds as of that kind of work, although no signs of work can be found next morning. No bodily injury has been sustained by any of the inhabitants.

GALILEE, Nov. 8, 1884. EDITOR RECORD.—The report is being circulated in this place that Mr. Eli Wade gave me five dollars, and that I promised to vote and work for Blaine. I never promised to vote or work for Blaine, nor did Mr. Wade ever ask a promise of that nature of me. Mr. Wade and myself had dealings to the amount of $300, this fall, and every cent was of a business character, wholly independent of politics in every respect. Any report or statement contradicting this is false and without foundation. B. F. MOYER.

THREE OAKS is "all tore up" over the appearance, in that righteous village, of a genuine ghost of feminine apparel, that dances about in the air like a feather in the breeze, materializes and disappears without previous notice, and is making life a burden to the inhabitants of that part of the town it frequents. The spectre has been seen to walk through a board fence as if no obstructions were there. It allows persons to advance to within a few feet of it, but not near enough to lay violent hands. At any attempt of that kind, it either floats into the upper strata of atmosphere, or suddenly vanishes. From all reports it is the most wonderful visitation Three Oaks has received in a century or more.

THE citizens of this community have been unmercifully swindled during the past year or more by traveling peddlers of musical instruments. People living hereabouts have paid $300 for pianos that would be dear at any price, and cheaply made, poor organs have been put off at enormous prices simply because the purchasers were not judges of what they were buying. There is but one safe way to do in all such cases; buy of some responsible dealer who handles only first-class goods and who is responsible for the statements he makes. You can then depend upon getting value received, and in case anything is wrong it can be corrected, while these blatherskites correct nothing except your fat pocket book.

LAST week we promised our readers to tell them to-day who was to be our next President, but we shall be obliged to ask an extension of time, until the counting boards in New York finish their work that they are now engaged in. Up to to-day there is no material change in the situation since our last issue, the vote in that State being so close that neither party will give up beaten until the last man shall have been counted and the count duly recorded. The wild alterations of some of the hot heads in New York about fighting over the result have been laughed at until we hear no more of them. Which ever way the count is decided the Presidency will likely go, and no disturbance made about it. Although such close contests are not to be desired, we have that faith in the perfection of our form of government and the ability of this people to partake of the greatest benefits, that the decision of the majority, be it ever so small, will be peaceably abided by, and all be settled smoothly.

NEW TROX IDEAS.

Nov. 10, 1884. Mr. John Shetterly has gone to Kentucky for the purpose of entering the lumber business in that State.

Mr. Corran, of Stevensville, is visiting at Mr. Willet's.

Mr. Wm. Misner, a former resident of this place, was in town the other day.

The literary society will give a public entertainment Dec. 5.

Preaching at the M. E. Church next Sunday morning at 10:30.

Mr. DeLap will start in a few days with a car load of apples and cider for his old home in Missouri.

I have noticed that every public meeting held in this place during the past summer has been more or less disturbed by a certain class of individuals who seem to congregate there for the sole purpose of attracting public attention to their individual persons, and nowhere has this course of procedure been more marked than at the church during evening exercises. Now this is a matter which not only brings disgrace upon the actors but at the same time reflects great discredit upon the whole community.

As Cleveland is elected Ferry will hang his dogs, and it is supposed that H. L. Potter, in behalf of the many mourners, will deliver the eulogy.

Mr. James Addison is at home, as his mother is very ill.

Mr. H. L. Potter is knight of the lumber yard during Shetterly's absence.

The Clear Lake Mystery Explained.

The stranger found dead in Clear Lake, Warren township, on the 10th of last month, by a party of fishermen from this city, has been identified as Arnold Hussy, by his cousin, Otto Hussy, and friend, Francis F. Bedier, of Kellerton, Ringold county, Iowa. These gentlemen arrived in the city yesterday in search of the missing man. They went out to Mount Pleasant cemetery this morning, and in the presence of Trustees Dushoo and the body was exhumed, and although badly decomposed was fully identified. The unfortunate man was a native of Switzerland, Canton Graubunden, and belonged to a wealthy and influential family. He had a fine education and served for a time as a civil engineer in his own country, afterward going to Sicily, where he was engaged for a time as book-keeper for a large shipping firm. In May, 1883, he came to America, and not finding any congenial employment worked for some time on a farm in Nauvoo, Ill., afterward going to Kellerton, Iowa, and working for Mr. Bedier, in the same capacity. Farm labor was not at all suited to his tastes, however, and last August he went to New York at the request of a friend who reported that a lucrative position was in waiting for him there. He was unsuccessful in securing the place, and, therefore, and last month later he wrote to his friends for money to come west with. They sent him $100 and received a letter from him that he would start from New York Oct. 7, by the Delaware, Lackawanna, and Western railway. This was the last heard from him. Eight days later his dead body was found floating in Clear Lake.

The gentlemen represent Hussy as occasionally addicted to sprees, followed by spells of despondency, during which he was sometimes heard to express a determination to commit suicide. He undoubtedly wandered off through the country in one of these moods, after leaving his train at either this city or some station near, and would have died in the waters of the placid lake. He was 29 years of age. In his younger years he fought a duel in the old country while a student at college, and received a wound on the head which left an ugly scar, and which led some one who saw the body at the lake to believe that the man had been foully dealt with. He was upon his person $14.55 in money, and two checks for baggage. The remains were returned to their resting place at Mount Pleasant, and orders left by the friends for a headstone to be placed over them. The family of Joseph Prindle, Hager, was on the copy book. The railroad gate near where it was found was left open.

[Benton Harbor Palladium.]

Found, on Monday last, on the farm of R. King, a small trunk which he thinks was left there by burglars. The trunk had been broken open and rifled of its contents. There was a copy book found near by, torn in many places and scattered about the trunk. The name of Joseph Prindle, Hager, was on the copy book. The railroad gate near where it was found was left open.

State Items.

There was sleighing at Negaunee last Friday.

Counterfeit silver dollars are in circulation at Jackson.

Cheboygan county people think they have a big coal field.

A white raccoon was recently captured in Constantine.

The Cornum coal mines turn out about 50 tons per day now.

A colt was killed by a barbed wire fence at Schloppart, the other day.

A farmer near Cass City recently sold his farm for three hundred dollars. The Elk Rapids Progress is bragging about a 24-ounce pear raised in that locality this year.

One ticket voted in the Lansing election was pasted up with twenty-two slips.

One Dowagiac firm shipped 480,000 eggs to Boston at one shipment last week.

The steamer Grace Grinnond was burned at South Haven last week. Loss $40,000.

A band of gypsies passed through Van Buren county recently with an elegant outfit of horses and wagons.

Dr. Amos Gray, for over fifty years a resident of Dexter, died at Elk Rapids on the 6th inst., aged 80 years.

Lillie Erwin, of Marlette, was crushed to death by her scarf catching in the shafting of the woolen mill and drawing her through the machinery.

In Paw Paw, saloon bars and billiard playing occupy the same room, contrary to the statutes in the case made and provided, and none of the good object.

Mrs. Wilcox, of Macosta, took a dose of rat poison for the headache by mistake. It cured her headache, but she was a badly frightened woman until the poison was antidoted.

The soap box swindle is in full blast in the north part of this State. It is an expensive thing to learn, but there are those in every town who cannot be satisfied without a practical demonstration.

Michigan University students and professors are arranging for an excursion to the New Orleans Exposition during the vacation.

The Crouch-Holcomb murder trial is under full headway at Jackson, and the people in all parts of the State are skipping that part of the newspapers until that is over with.

Hon. Ezekiah G. Wells, of Kalamazoo, presiding judge of the court of commissioners of Alabama claims, has tendered his resignation. Advancing years and ill health compel him to take this step.

Strawberries as large and luscious as this prolific season has afforded were brought to our office this week by Mr. Ball, of the firm of Boongrand & Ball. They were grown in the garden of Henry Beambolt, in this city. But for recent frost he would have had 30 crates fit for market.—Grand Haven Herald.

Those Nevado greenbackers are nothing if not unique. Now comes Dan E. Soper, chairman of their county committee, calling upon the faithful to assemble at Nevadago to-day, "to rejoice and give thanks unto the Lord" for the election of Cleveland and Hendricks.—Dan having set aside this day "as a day of thanksgiving and rejoicing."—Evening News.

Robert C. Ashley and John Hurley, the one alleged to be a horse thief and the other a burglar, sawed the bolts off the door in the Paw Paw jail Friday evening after dark and escaped. Mrs. McCabe heard them, and shortly after gave the alarm to Under Sheriff McCabe, who started on the run and finally flanked the fellows in the woods near the mill. Commanding them to throw up their hands he marched them both back to town and locked them up.—Evening News.

Saturday was decoration for the Indians. Every year the graves and head-boards in the Indian burying ground are fantastically arrayed in bright colored paper wreaths and flowers, the squaws preparing the decorations for weeks before the first of November. It is a queer custom; doubtless a ceremony indulged in before the advent of the white man.—Harbor Springs Independent.

Two Alma old maids looked upon two old bachelors with favor and baited a trap for them. On going home one night the bachelors found a large cake labeled: "For two old bachelors, from two old maids." The cake was splendid and they resolved to find out who the donors were, and as a result of their investigations there are two old bachelors and to old maids less in that village.—Kalamazoo Telegraph.

All the officers connected with the Crouch case received numerous letters from parties who desire to act as jurors. One says he has purposely refrained from reading the papers so as to be qualified to serve, another that he has read all he could but formed no opinion, and another declares that he believed Judd and Dan to be the guilty ones and that no amount of testimony could change his verdict. Of course these anxious ones will be kept off the jurors' bench.

Down at Breedsville, Van Buren county, there are some very queer notions of propriety and some singular things done by men overburdened with whisky. "Lean out your souls and listen." A few weeks ago a man was taken by a gang of men and carried through the village, past the Marshal's house, and treated to a coat of tar and feathers. Last Monday another was fed poisoned liquor and then led into crime, while watched all the time by said gang, and, after being arrested, while driving off with the sheriff, a band of music was got out and played, a dirge on the very hotel steps where the poison was sold to him, and his money taken away from his family. A crowd was gathered and told to give three cheers, while his wife was on her way to the depot to take the train.—Kalamazoo Telegraph.

Since last May Deatur has been traveling along under the local option law given certain villages by the present legislation, the Republican village council refusing to allow any saloons to open in the village after that date. The council has now agreed to accept the tax, and one or more saloons are soon to be opened there, and the council is accused of taking this step because they are mad at the move made by Prohibitionists in the last election. If this be true it is a mistake, as it is no reason for that council to make a pack of fools of its members just because some one else has done so, before them. It Deatur has become tired of the prohibitory experiment and demands a saloon or two, it may be one thing, but for the council to take such a step because it is mad, is another, and entirely wrong. No gain is ever made by any rash act done in anger, either in politics or elsewhere.

Quite Unsympathetic. Birdie McHennepin and her brother were at the seashore. "O, see that!" exclaimed Birdie. "See what?" inquired the stoical John. "Why, see that little cloudlet just above the wavelets like a tiny leech dancing over the scene." "O, come, you had better go out to the pumpkin in the back yard and soak your little head!"—Texas Siftings.
