

Some talk of Robert Lincoln for next Mayor of Chicago.

1,500 men were discharged in Pullman and South Chicago last week.

Trouble is arising between the Western Union Telegraph Company and its operators, and a general strike may be expected at any time.

The whole country is awaiting the end of the Chicago ballot-box stuffers case, with interest. Turn the scales in—the penitentiary.

Ohio is now the seat of a gold excitement. Rock yielding $1,000 per ton has been discovered in Clermont county, by Cleveland mineralogists.

President Arthur has reappointed Postmaster Palmer, of Chicago, for another four years' term. This places a rich plum out of reach of the incoming administration.

Out of 228,000 votes cast at the late election in New York City, only sixty-four were found that could be classed among the blank, scattering or defectives.

At Winona, Minn., George Dotterweich was sentenced to nine months in the penitentiary for stuffing a ballot-box, and F. W. Decker was fined $500 for participating in the crookedness.

Now the western papers are bragging because they raise such a rascal cold weather. It does take a smart country to cast mercury rifle balls, but some of that western country does it.

Railroads running into Albany are at present enjoying about the heaviest passenger traffic of any in the country. The flock of Democratic expectants who go to visit Cleveland makes good business for them.

There is a general study to determine the meaning of Cleveland's recent ride to New York in Vanderbilt's special car, in the face of the claim that Cleveland's election means war on monopolies.

Four thousand coal-miners on the Monongahela River went out on strike Monday for an advance of half a cent a bushel. The operators say they will close them indefinitely rather than accede to the demand.

An attempt will be made by the present Congress to establish one or two gun foundries, one for the army and one for the navy, at an expense of about $3,000,000, and an investment of $15,000,000 in steel for their use.

The Canadian government is becoming alarmed at the loss of her inhabitants, who are finding homes with the nearest neighbor on the south. During the past five years the province of Ontario alone has lost nearly 300,000 of her inhabitants in that way.

The inhabitants of Switzerland have shown their Swiss sense by driving John Q. Cannon, the Mormon elder out of the country. Now if the United States will display an equal amount of sense, it will send the whole polygamous clan to China or some South Sea island.

The Canton, Dakota, Advocate terms Senator Vest of Missouri a thoroughbred in the liar class, because he said in the Senate that Dakota had not enough inhabitants to be admitted as a State. We think the Senator is about right so long as Democrats have the management of affairs.

Congressman Bland, the father of the silver dollar bill now has a proposition before congress to issue two per cent. bonds for the special purpose of securing National bank circulation due in 1907, and authorizing the treasurer to exchange them for four per cents at 13 per cent. premium.

The New York Sun, in plain and unmistakable terms, advocates the return to the old State banking system in preference to the present National bank. If this is to be the Democratic policy they will meet with about as vigorous opposition as has ever been discovered by any political party.

Hon. Samuel J. Randall has arranged to visit a number of Southern States, and a few leading Southern cities have extended to him their hospitality, among others, Louisville, Kentucky, whereupon the Courier-Journal opens a tirade of abuse against him that is disgraceful, both to the paper and the town it is supposed to represent.

There is talk among the guessers, of Henry Ward Beecher as the successor of Minister Lowell in the British Court. It would certainly be a high honor to the country to be represented in any court above a police court by a man representing such high moral ideas and with the exceptional reputation Mr. Beecher bears.

The situation in the Illinois Legislature is one of most rare occurrence. It is not often that one party has a majority in one branch and another one majority in the other branch of the legislature, and no third party represented in either. The contest in that State over the election of United States Senator is looked forward to with a lively interest.

The Chicago papers are making war on the schedule of freight rates of the western railroads with a vigor that is commendable. Nearly the entire west is under the control of the railroads, and there are cases quite numerous where this control is abused, to the serious disadvantage of the country more specially the agricultural portion of it.

A bill is before the Senate for the admission of southern Dakota as a state under the name of Lincoln. Dakota is large enough both in territory and population for two good states, and there is but one good reason for the change being made. Dakota is thoroughly Republican in all its parts, and a bill for admission must pass through a Democratic house.

There is some talk of appointing C. V. R. Pond, of Quincy, Commissioner of Immigration for this State. Besides his general ability as a business man his idea of the duties of that office is not far from correct. He does not consider it to be the place of that officer to work for a general miscellaneous foreign immigration of people whose only capital is muscle, but to induce New Englanders who are on the westward move with capital, industry, and culture, to stop in this State, instead of going further toward the Pacific Ocean.

Nine bills were introduced into the House on Monday to pay citizens of Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Kansas for supplies allowed to have been taken by the Union armies during the war. These bills could not stand a trial before the Senate, but now that the Democratic party has won an election, they are presented in Congress.—Detroit Post.

It is said that the sugar-growers are greatly wrought up over the possibility of the ratification of the Spanish treaty. Why so? The sugar-growing States returned majorities for the party that favors "progressive free trade." Why not free trade in sugar?—Indianapolis Journal.

We beg to inform the independent Republican newspapers that if they voted for a Democratic President in the hope that all the leading Democrats of the South were to be shelved in a closet with the word "bourbon" written over the door, they cast their votes under a misapprehension. The new administration will be Democratic from the way it goes, and it is called a bourbon administration so much the better. We forward these few remarks with the compliments of the genuine Jeffersonian Bourbon Democracy of the empire state of the solid South.—Atlantic Constitution (Dem).

The liquor question has been carefully studied in Massachusetts if anywhere. Every method hitherto devised by human ingenuity to diminish the evils of intemperance by legislation has been tried there. State prohibitory laws of various degrees of stringency have had their tests in Massachusetts, and have all proved failures. At last here people have come round to the point from which they started. They are now in favor of the old-fashioned license, which is issued to respectable persons only, and at rates that yield a good revenue.—New York Journal of Commerce.

It is curious to see the perfect accord and harmony between the saloonists and the Saints on the question of taxing the liquor traffic. Both are opposed to any tax, both are equally sinful and wrongful, both vote together to repeal all laws taxing draughts. The Saints pretend to believe that if the draughts were free and untaxed they could be suppressed by the prohibitory efforts of the Saints. The saloonists are perfectly willing to risk it—knowing by past experience that they can run wide open everywhere they are permitted to do so. They are now in favor of the old-fashioned license, which is issued to respectable persons only, and at rates that yield a good revenue.—Chicago Tribune.

Bed-Rock Democracy. Somehow every Democrat who in the language of the Hon. Elijah P. Morgan, is "active in his trust," seems to pour particularly chilly water upon every expressed opinion within the party for civil service reform. At the Gorman banquet in Baltimore a few nights ago, for instance, Mr. Pendleton ventured to make a speech in favor of the Republican idea of civil service, which, in the picturesque language of a party organ, "iced the terrapin stew, frapped the champagne and caused the guests to call for their overcoats;" but he considered that that afterwards "Dick Fellows, the right bower of Mr. Cleveland, warmed things up in a speech which assured his hearers that the offices would go where they would do the most good."

The Cincinnati Enquirer, in alluding to the same event, gives Pendleton the neighborly view and brings the Democratic view of office-plunder into strong relief by saying in a double-headed editorial:

There are festival occasions when it appears to be the proper thing to recognize all elements of a party, and, if at any time there could be so strong a pursuit of a heretical line of thought, there is always the counter-irritant—somebody like John R. Fellows, who doesn't strike attitudes in the very highest circles of politics, but who knows "a heap," and knows how to express himself, and who, in a few burning words, can rebuke a sham and bring a company back to bed-rock Democracy. Mr. John Richard Fellows probably knows more about what is going to happen than Mr. Pendleton and the other fellows; and the Democratic press of the country, in its reform, will hardly make a blunder after the fourth of next March.—Detroit Post.

Gov. Begole Adds to His List of Pardons. LANSING, December 17.—Gov. Begole has made the following pardons and commutations of sentences: Cardenas, a convict of Joseph Reese, sentenced August 23, 1884, to eight months' imprisonment in the Genesee county jail, for abducting a girl for prostitution. Calvin Stough, sentenced at Hilldale, November 28, 1881, to five years' at the Ionia House of Correction for arson. Thomas Taylor, sentenced from Genesee county, June 1, 1878, to ten years at Jackson for robbery. William Ross, sentenced from Mecosta county, February 12, 1883, to twelve years at Jackson for assault with intent to kill; commuted to two years. James Malloy, sent from Kalamazoo county, December 23, 1883, to Jackson prison for five years, robbery; commuted so the sentence will expire December 23, 1884. Frank W. Penny, impleaded with Burnham on a charge of stealing goods of Roehm & Wright, Detroit, and sentenced May 7, 1884, to three and a half years at Ionia; so as to expire January 1, 1886.

Dan Van Waggoner, sentenced from Kalamazoo, May 5, 1877, to forty-five years at Ionia, for assault with intent to kill and murder. The sentence on this man will expire January 1, 1886. Van Waggoner was noted as one of the most desperate of young rascals. He followed a Mr. Hewitt from Muskegon to Kalamazoo, intending to rob him and go to the Black Hills. He decoyed him to a piece of woods and then beat him over the head with the pruning shears, shot him four times, and robbed him of his money. He was dead. He was convicted and sentenced to forty-five years in prison, and his many friends have made desperate efforts to secure his release by corruption and bribery. He played the piano, dogged and made a desperate effort to escape, but was soon recaptured.

State Items. Jackson has forty-four physicians. There was about a foot of snow at Roscommon Saturday morning. The Jackson electric light company is to enlarge its plant. Mumps goes out of office in Paw Paw to be succeeded by chicken pox. A Grand Rapids man has a tree with ripe oranges on it. It is an orange tree. Sturgis is also having the agony of a little too previous post-office scramble. The Toledo and South Haven narrow gauge railroad is extended from Hartford to South Haven. During the past year there were 84 buildings erected at Jackson at a cost of $139,300. Grand Rapids claims the first native-born American monkey, a recent acquisition.

Between four and five tons of candy are manufactured in Grand Rapids daily. The latest pardon issued by Gov. Begole was to James Fairbanks, sent to Jackson in 1881 for twelve years for attempt to murder. Several Holly young ladies smoke cigarettes.—Detroit Free Press. Some mistake about this, surely. Ladies, did you mean? A Miss Matilda Jack, living at Mt. Clemens, choked to death Friday, trying to swallow a piece of leaf lard. She was partially deranged. Washtenaw county farmers were ploughing during the first week in December, but they have stopped to warm their fingers now.—Evening News.

The exposing of the Bohemian Oats swindle by the Milan Leader led to a game of fastidif between the editor and the sick agent for the oats. A live eagle was brought into Coldwater one day recently by a hunter who had only wounded it slightly. It measures seven feet across its wings. Willard L. Allen fell into a vat of brine at the Marine City Salt Company's works Thursday and so badly scalded that pieces of flesh fell from his body. The Holcomb trial is at rest once more on account of the sickness of a juror. It takes a pretty good constitution to withstand a siege of that kind. The front of Chas. E. Roswell's store at Brockway, St. Clair county, was blown out Monday morning by an explosion, supposed to be by fire communicating with some fire works. The Sturgis Journal has a fine colored advertising supplement for a Christmas extra. There is considerable work about the thing. It is a good advertising scheme. Mrs. Tarney, of Adrian, placed two hot bricks, neatly wrapped in papers, in her bed Thursday night, and the fire department was called upon soon after to save her house from the flames. The thermometer at various Michigan towns, on Friday morning, stood as follows: Port Huron 19 below, Coldwater 22, Ionia 20, Oliville 22, Otter Lake 16, Millington 22. As Gov. Begole has promised to give the reasons he had for pardoning convicts so liberally, it is to be hoped the full history of the Van Waggoner commutation will not be forgotten.—Evening News.

I was troubled with chronic catarrh and gathering in head; was deaf at times, had discharges from ears, unable to breathe through nose. Before the second bottle of Ely's Cream Balm was exhausted I was cured.—G. J. Corbin, 923 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. When I began using Ely's Cream Balm my catarrh was so bad I had to stop work for some time and discharged a large amount of filthy matter. That has almost entirely disappeared and I have had no headache since.—J. H. Summers, Steppay, Conn. In Louisiana they are making a rum out of sweet potatoes. L. P. ALEXANDER, P. M.
FARMERS living in this part of the world are making the usual annual complaint of having had chickens stolen. There appears to be a number of fellows in this place who put in the fall and early winter in the chicken business, and by the time farmers are ready to sell their chickens some one else has captured them. Two of the regular hands have spent a term in Ionia, but that does not appear to quite close up the business.

A PETITION has been circulated and quite numerous signed, asking the Common Council to enter into a contract for a steam fire engine. The probable effect of the petition will be the purchase of some kind of an engine soon. That there is likely to arise a most serious need for a machine of that kind at any time there can be no question. It has been about 22 years since Buchanan has had any very serious fires, but some parts of town are so arranged that such an emergency is likely to arise at any moment, and although we have a quite good hand engine it would be found quite inefficient for any heavy work, and likely to fall when most needed.

THE circuit court is again in session this week. Herman Bentler and George Hewitt were admitted to citizenship. Geo. W. Bridgman was assigned by the court to defend Frank Straus, charged with burglary. The people vs. Elizabeth Vanderhoof, convicted last week of murder. The court and jury have been engaged all the week with the trial of William G. Emory, charged with an assault with intent to murder. Emory shot Alexander Ketchum, at Coloma, because he believed that he had seduced his wife. The evidence is somewhat conflicting. The jury found the defendant guilty, and the judge sentenced him to the state prison for three years.

The people vs. Frank Stevens, charged with the burglary of a shop in the night time, was tried by a jury. The people not showing whether the crime was committed at the night time of the day time, the judge discharged the prisoner.—Journal.

John Hull, the veteran musician who founded the famous Hull & Arnold's quadrille band in 1839, died at his home in Constantine Sunday morning. He was born at Sandy Hill, N. Y., in 1816, and settled in St. Joseph county in 1837. Two years later the Hull & Arnold band was organized, and the organization has been kept up to this day. Probably no organization of the kind in America was more widely known or had a better reputation for square dancing.—Evening News.

A coal mine has been discovered 3 1/2 miles from Dowagiac on the farm of James Goble.

WE learn that there is a dozen or more Democratic and Greenback candidates for the post office who are disappointed because we omitted their names from our list last week. We are sorry for them, but our reporter cannot chase the country over for a White man nor does he like to Levi job half finished, and so begs excuse for the omission, with a promise to look well to their interests in the future.

THE question of steam fire engine or water-works is being quite freely discussed with most excellent arguments on both sides. Those who oppose the latter do so on account of the additional burden of taxation, and favor the purchase of the steamer. The difference in this regard would be for the next five years be hardly appreciable, as the engine will cost us about $500 per year for five years, and would then be paid for, and future cost would be only for expense of operating and repairs. While the water-works would be a continuous expense of from $1,200 to $1,500 per year less the income that may be derived from water rents, which may be much or little, varying somewhat with circumstances, for a term of years, when bonds might be coming due and the load would somewhat increase in weight, unless the town should go into the refunding business. There is such a petition now before the board as will likely to induce them to invest in a steamer, unless a pretty strong remonstrance is presented at once. There is little doubt that the water system would in the end be the best for the place, in giving us not only a better fire protection and a great convenience in water privileges, but in increased value of real estate and lower insurance rates. On the other hand with the purchase of the steamer on the terms offered by the Button Company, the village of Buchanan would be out of debt in five years, unless she launched into some other scheme before that time expired, but with the water-works we would not, quite.

Those who were out doors at about ten o'clock Saturday evening, saw a bright bluish white light that illuminated the entire sky, and supposed it to have been caused by a meteor, but as there was a heavy sheet of clouds overhead at the time the meteor itself was not visible from this place. The light lasted but a moment, but during that time was quite bright. The following accounts of the visitor from other places we find in the Evening News:

JACKSON, Mich., Dec. 22.—A shock was felt in this city about 10 o'clock Saturday night, which was then attributed to an earthquake, but which has since been proved to have been caused by the explosion of a meteor, or comet, several reputable persons having reported seeing the fiery visitor. They also say they distinctly felt the shock. James White, who lives eight miles south of the city, says he saw the flash and heard the explosion, and that a sulphurous smell was perceptible for several minutes after the explosion took place. It came from a south-easterly direction.

COLDWATER, Mich., Dec. 22.—A remarkable meteor illuminated the heavens hereabout about 10 o'clock Saturday night. It was of rare beauty and brilliancy.

ALEXON, Mich., Dec. 22.—An aurora passed over this place at 10 o'clock Saturday night, making the night as light as day for a moment. It exploded and the shock shook things in general here.

BUCHANAN, MICH., Dec. 23, 1884.
EDITOR RECORD: Seeing that you quote my opinion, "Prohibition till it wins," I conclude that the article which follows is there for a special benefit. Therefore I wish to make a short reply. The object of the article appears to be to show that prohibition laws are a failure, at least in Iowa. I admit it, but the question is, why? Now, you claim to be in favor of suppressing the liquor traffic; you say "tax it to death," and you also claim that your party is the temperance party and that those who voted for St. John were insincere. Now, did not your temperance party enact the Iowa laws, and do not your temperance officials fail to execute those laws? Now, why this failure? If all those parties are sincerely in favor of making prohibition a success, and if you are sincere, why constantly try to show by your publication that prohibition always was and always will be a failure. I do not find prohibitionists, whom you call "insincere," working on that line, but the reverse. Did not the Republican press take a different view of sincerely in war time in regard to those who constantly said "The South cannot be conquered," "That isn't the way to accomplish it," &c. Did you think they were sincerely hoping and working for the success of our cause? We do not believe there is any reason why laws prohibiting the liquor traffic may not be enforced as easily as laws prohibiting any other crime, provided that the legislators, judges, and all other officials are "sincerely" desirous of making it a success. If there is any good reason, what is it?
B. T. MOBLEY.

The enforcement of any law requires prosecution for its violation. Prosecutions need complaining witnesses who shall prosecute and produce evidence as usual.

Neighbor Morley is engaged in business that depends for life and success upon the patronage of others, among whom are a large number who occasionally drink. He knows that to enter into a spirited contest to enforce a prohibitory law will drive from him a portion of this patronage. Perhaps a little, perhaps more. He does not drink. Cares nothing for the traffic, either pro or con, excepting for the public good. He therefore, will not likely jeopardize his business in such a suit, when his neighbor, whose son may be going to ruin over the whisky road, will not make a move to stop it. His reasoning will be: "Why should I make a target of myself, and business for the protection of my neighbor's son, when the neighbor himself does not care to move in the direction?"

Again, neighbor Morley is aware of the difficulty he would meet with in making up a jury to convict, when he must select from a community, a large majority of whom are either interested in business precisely as he is, or who take an occasional nip.

This state had for twenty-six years, a prohibitory law that would close every saloon in the state, but for these very objections, and for no other, and it is not necessary for us to speak of the condition of affairs under that regime. It is too well known.

It is true the Republican party gave Iowa her prohibitory law, and it was for a Democratic judge to discover that the penalty was made the maximum allowed in a justice court, which, with costs of prosecution, would take all cases beyond the jurisdiction of justice courts, and all complaints must be made before the circuit court, this lessening the probability of complaint being made; another to decide that the man who drank is equally criminal with the seller, again lessening the possibility of complaint. These, with the same difficulties that were met by the Michigan law, are some of the reasons for the failure in Iowa.

The RECORD is not in favor of a prohibitory law, because it has been the universal rule that where they have been tried they have been total failures. A prohibitory law that is a failure is worse than no law on the question. The RECORD is therefore in favor of a tax law that shall be like that practiced in Illinois, known as the Harper law, which shall place a heavy tax on the business and restrict it to as great a degree of respectability as is possible for that traffic, and at the same time make it bear the burden it places upon the public. The RECORD is in favor of a prohibitory law when public sentiment is in favor of such a law to such a degree that it will see to the enforcement of the law. Such a condition may exist at some time, but it most certainly does not now.

Regarding the sincerity or insincerity of those who voted for St. John we can have but little to say. One of the leaders of that class in Buchanan remarked to the RECORD that he proposed to vote his principles if he knew he would vote the devil into power. Now to try to convince the RECORD that that man is not either shallow or insincere would be a waste of wind.

A few years ago Dr. Frothingham, of Ann Arbor, employed one J. W. Hamilton as the best office for him, which he did, and then demanded and sued for $1,000 for his services. He obtained a judgment for $150, which made the doctor so mad that he moved to Detroit. A new trial was granted on the doctor's plea, and now Hamilton's judgment increased to $1,000. It is expected that this will make the doctor mad enough to move to Texas.

A Notable Book.

Historical History, Romance and Philosophy of Celebrated American Criminals.

Among the announcements of new publications for the present season is one embracing the tragedy of American history from the foundation of the Republic to the present day.

American History has in every period been distinguished by startling phases. Boldness of conception, breadth of plan, energy of execution, tenacity and courage characterize her annals. These traits are illustrative not only of her audacious achievements, and of those who advance her civilization—her commerce, schools, churches—her material, moral and intellectual prosperity, but they characterize as well those whose efforts have been to pull down and destroy. That the latter constitute a material portion of that history, one of necessary instruction and interest to every thoughtful reader, and student who would be informed in his country's annals, is a fact which all will recognize.

"The proper study of mankind is man," wrote the Poet and Moralist, Alexander Pope. This presents man, the most complex of all subjects, in his startling phases, and as a feature of American history, apt in its scope and design, to us of absorbing interest. Gibbon pictures the true criminal, eminence and lasciviousness of the later Roman Empire—Gillis pointing out the degeneracy of the demagogues of Athens, and Rome picturing the brutal crimes of England of the 13th, 14th and 15th centuries, performed the part of wise teachers in warning their countrymen against similar lapses from the straight and narrow paths of honesty, and truth. In a similar spirit has the author of "History, Romance and Philosophy of Great American Crimes and Criminals" portrayed the lives and crimes of the criminals of the various ages of our country.

The work is in the main Biographical and embraces among others the Crimes and Conspiracies of John A. Murray, the great South-western Law Pirate; the Gigantic Schemes of Col. Monroe Edwards, the Napoleon of Forgers, etc., etc.; the Mountain Meadow Massacre; Murders and Burglaries of Rufus, the Great Philologist; the Murder of Dr. Parkman by Prof. Webster; the Cunningham—Burdell Mystery; the Lowery Gang, the Swamps Angles of the Carolina and Col. dauns Murder; Hill—Evans Feud in Kentucky; Career of Cullen Baker, the Arkansas desperado; the Helen Jewett—Frank Rivers Murder; Ben Thompson, the Texas and the Man-slayer; the Bender Family, the Kansas Fiends; James and Younger Brothers, etc., etc.

Its pictorial feature is one of more than usual attraction—embracing 101 superb engravings including portraits of the celebrated criminals.
