The New York Anarchists have commenced to stir themselves. Herr Most addressed an audience of 8,600 people, Monday evening, in which he used all sorts of incendiary threats that are to be carried out if the Chicago convicts are executed. This will be likely to have but little influence on the action of Chicago authorities.

This kind of riotous talk is just what the Chicago men are to be hanged for. Talk is free and harmless in this country unless it leads to mischief as it did in Chicago, and then it is proper that its authors should be held responsible for its mischief.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Several business changes will take place about the first of next month. J. K. Woods will occupy the Inhoff room with his stock of boots and shoes, and Mr. Weaver will spread his stock to occupy the entire room now used by himself and Mr. Wood.

We have received from Henry Hepsheimer, a former well known citizen of this place, an elegant illustrated description of Lincoln, Neb., the city where he is now located and doing a thriving business in the dry goods trade.

It is rumored that some heavily anchored capitalists were gazing about this place, this week, with a view of improving the water power in the river at this point. This is the best point on the St. Joseph river for water power, that is almost made by nature.

DIED.—Ella, daughter of Mr. Simon Strauser, died at his home, of Typhoid fever, aged about fourteen years. The funeral services are held at the M. E. Church, at three o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Henry's Minstrel Company, that has always been so popular in this section, will give an entertainment in Rough's Opera House, next Wednesday evening. He has been here several times, and always gives entire satisfaction to crowded houses.

Mr. DAVID BEST will soon be prepared to move into a fine new house he has just built on his farm, west of this place. He will then have an old log cabin for sale cheap. He knows it to be a good one as it has faithfully furnished shelter for himself and family for 33 years.

Mr. JOSEPH COVENEY, Jr. has the premium potato patch this year. He struck it right by planting in a moist black sand that did not hear about the drought, and the potatoes he rolls out are good for the eyes. The other fortunate part is that he has a large patch of them and they bring a good price.

DURING the past year Mr. Wm. Conard has been suffering quite severely with a soreness in his side and on Monday he was operated upon by Dr. Hall, of Chicago, and Dr. Spreng, of an abscess that had formed in the muscles of the abdominal wall, and is now doing well.

THE contract for putting a new span into the river bridge was let to the Smith bridge company, of Toledo, for $700, the company taking the old iron of the span at $30 towards the payment. AT AN entertainment in Peak Hall, in Niles, Monday evening, some of the young ladies appeared without hats. A CALL has been made for a meeting of the business men of Buchanan for the purpose of organizing a Business Men's Association. It is proposed that this meeting be held Tuesday evening of next week, in the Council room, and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance of our business men. Such an association here can do much good.

MONDAY evening M. B. Gardner was attacked by a young bull that was being driven through the street as Mr. Gardner was going home. The first warning he had of the attack was when the bull struck him and knocked him off from the sidewalk and he was considerably bruised and sore by the conflict but not seriously injured.

Here is the way the famous Worcestershire sauce is made: "Mix together 1 1/2 gallons white wine vinegar, 1 gallon white salt, 1 gallon mushroom catsup, 3/4 gallon Madeira wine, 1/2 gallon Canton soy, 2 1/2 gallons moist sugar, 10 ounces salt, 3 ounces powdered capsicum, 1 1/2 ounce chutney, 3/4 ounce each of cloves, mace and cinnamon, and 6 1/2 drachms asafoetida dissolved in 1 pint brandy, 20 above pure. Boil two ounces hogs' liver in one gallon of water, adding water as to keep up the quantity, then mix the boiled liver thoroughly with the water, strain through the sieve, and add this to the sauce."

The inmates of the Soldiers' Home now number 300, and those who have been out on furlough all summer are beginning to return. It is expected the Home will have 500 inmates before the close of winter, and the place will be crowded. Many of the veterans are putting in their time assisting in the fixing up and adornment of the Home grounds, but a great part of them spend their time loafing around, smoking, gambling and playing cards. They have three substantial meals a day, and, without much exercise, it is not strange that they get cranky occasionally. The health of the inmates is first-class and the death rate is low.—Grand Rapids Leader.

The Bugs.

As the chinch bugs are getting a footing in this vicinity that bodes no good for the country we give space to the following from the Inter Ocean which may contain some suggestions of value to the farmers:

Professor S. A. Forbes, State entomologist for Illinois, has just issued a bulletin on the chinch-bug which contains much valuable information on the present condition and prospects for 1887 and 1888. It should be read by every farmer not only in this State but also throughout the corn belt. The fruit-eating and stinging of Professor Forbes and his large and practical methods of work give his suggestions great weight.

The remedy of preventive measures applicable to the chinch-bug are divided by Professor Forbes into three kinds, namely, the agricultural methods, barriers against migration, and direct destruction.

The agricultural methods embrace suggestions of universal application, whether in this line of preventive work or in any other. Clean farming is counseled. The farmer should remove and destroy the weeds and fallen fence boards, rails, etc., about his premises, as there the bugs seek protection in autumn, and there they are likely to be most numerous.

WHY BOILERS EXPLODE.

A Boiler Inspector Explains His Theory as to Why Boilers Explode. Mr. Carroll drew a diagram of a boiler-head in outline upon the table. "It's like this," he proceeded to explain, and deliberately: "Here's the water line in this boiler. And he drew a mark across the table.

"Now it is the opinion of boiler men and other experts that the danger from minute flaws and fissures in the shell of the boiler lies below the water line and not above it. But I have reached the conclusion that from these little flaws that go undetected upon the minute examination, the entire danger is entirely above the water line. Now make your observation that from 75 to 80 per cent of all boiler explosions occur at about 7 o'clock in the morning or about the time when the engine is being started up. And that most, if not wholly, the balance of the percentage happen at the starting time in the afternoon. Every locomotive blows up, you will perceive, at the starting time in the morning. I was surprised at the discovery of all this, inasmuch as at the starting time in the morning boilers have no more than about seventy-five pounds pressure of steam, and that I have reached the conclusion that the most defective shells.

"Then I thought it out and came to the conclusion that all of the danger lay in the water line and from the minute fissures and punctures in the boiler. It is in this way: When the boiler is shut down after a day's work, the condensation forms a vacuum; but through the minute cracks and punctures in the water line the air rushes in. In the morning, when the boiler is fired up and steam generated to seventy-five pounds, this air cannot be ejected as rapidly as it was when the boiler was cold, and the boiler 60 per cent of water and 40 per cent of air. The first revolution thoroughly mixed the water and the air, and the engine is being started up. The air is expanded to five pounds pressure at this first revolution the boiler exploded.

"To remedy this every engineer in Detroit is instructed, before starting his boiler, to turn the safety-valve wide open until steam is coming through, and then shut the valve down and go on.

"Boilers used for agricultural purposes are very liable to explode in consequence of the water being kept through the neglect of seeing to it that the water is kept full. If the barrel is kept full all would be well, but it is allowed to become empty or partly so, and then the engine is started up and the air is in and fully expanded the boiler must burst."—Detroit Free Press.

Asventual Leagues. The greatest alarm spread over the inhabitants of a great house up town. Little Johnny Jump had found a box of his mother's arsenical lozenges that she took carefully, three a day, for her cough and cold, and he had taken a few. Servants flew for doctors and doctors flew for the flat. Every known remedy for arsenic poison was administered. One physician rattled off in his coupe to the pump and another in a hack to the house to know what proportion of arsenic in arsenical lozenges there.

"Not a grain; but women do hanker to take something with arsenic in. The name is a great success, and my pills are saving lots of lives from the hanging effects of arsenical pills. To make a preparation of that fatal drug."—Pioneer Press.

Wealth in the Waste. To an outsider it appears that the best mining opportunities of the present are to be found in buying up some of the dumps which the Mexicans have virtually cleaned out. One man, who has been very successful in this line, is a Frenchman, Eduardo El Doyo.

There may be more of these dumps lying around, and if there are, bonanzas will be struck here some day without seeking.—Zacatecas Cor. Globe-Democrat.

Manufacturing Carbonic Acid Gas. The manufacture of carbonic acid gas in several ways. One method is in Berlin, where more than 1,000 pounds are made daily. It is put up in steel bottles, each holding seventeen to eighteen pounds, at a price a little less than twenty cents per pound. The gas in a bottle when expanded occupies over 10,000 cubic feet, and is used mainly in making mineral waters and for beer engines.—Industries.

Advice to the New Reporter. Positively the first thing to accomplish in the study of descriptive style is the complete elimination of the writer's individuality. The first thing to do is to get rid of the editor to the new man: "Write your copy on one side of the sheet only; use the pronoun 'I' as little as possible; in which the editor says: 'Eliminate your individuality,' and it may seem for a moment as if it were altogether unnecessary that I should call attention to it. But the avoidance of the first person narrative is the slightest step toward suppressing one's personality.

We must prevent our views from finding expression, or from coming out, and on Sunday he was taken with convulsions and soon after died in awful agony. His friends think he died of hydrophobia arising from that forty-years-old dog bite.—Detroit Journal.

Beaver Colonies in Norway.

Two beaver colonies have just been discovered at Amfid, near Christiansand, Norway. On the bank of a river the beavers have made lodges of branches of trees, which are held together with clay mud, the whole resting on logs of wood. The entrance, a hole, faces the river, but is below the surface of the water. Round the entrance there are numbers of aspen twigs, which are their coffee-mill work, as they serve as food for the animals. The beaver gnaws the tree about two feet from the bank, and if it finds the bark too coarse it gnaws it away until it reaches two or three feet in length, which the animal then drags or carries down to its house—proceedings which are fully demonstrated by the many "logs" in the woods along the river. Observers have also noticed another remarkable habit of this interesting animal, viz., that on arriving by the water side with such a load of wood it will pile the pieces on the bank of its nest and swim with it right into the lodge, where the bark is gnawed off and stowed away for winter use. This accomplished, it will shoot the log into the river. The largest log which I have seen in this manner are eleven inches in diameter. The colonies are situated far from human dwellings, where people only come in winter during the timber felling season.

Let the Public Know. An operation lately performed in this city so me to thinking about that system which keeps from the public facts about the health of the city. It was a man whose subclavian artery was cut as a last desperate resort. The operation was a great one, but the world heard nothing of it. Now, I wonder if my people are not going too far in their commendation. One of the blessed things in life is hope, and yet that is denied the world in matters of disease, because the public are not told of the great advances in the treatment of disease. Only once in a while is the veil lifted for the masses to look through the public press. No line of human endeavor has shown greater progress in the past twenty years than that of the treatment of disease. A fearful as it was in 1850, for the simple reason that it doesn't know what has been done.—Physician in Globe-Democrat.

From the Sparks (Wis.) Herald. Dr. F. B. Brewer. "This celebrated physician has continued to visit this city regularly for many years, and many and remarkable are the cures which he has effected. He is hailed everywhere by the afflicted as the bringer of glad tidings, for through him we have obtained relief from disease. Few and far between are the cases which he does not relieve. If he becomes convinced that he cannot help patients, he plainly tells them so, instead of doctoring them for the sole purpose of getting their money, like a majority of physicians. The people of this vicinity have become too well acquainted with Dr. Brewer for his names and titles to be of any value. Dr. Brewer makes his next visit for consultation with persons suffering from throat, lung, heart, kidney or other chronic ailments, at the Grand Hotel, on Tuesday, the 11th of October. A San Francisco journal has ruled that a reporter may not be ordered to reveal the sources of his information. Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, and irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspepsics.

Dr. Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming bad habits and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy. Remember—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

The dry goods market must break when a crash comes in toweling.

Dr. Mrs. B. Rowley, Druggist, was induced to try and sell the Pappin Catarrh Cure by his customers, after several physicians predicted he would soon have consumption from an aggravated case of Catarrh. He says: "This remedy suggested to me, and I commenced to get well after the first application, and am now, after a few weeks, entirely cured. Pappin (extract of flax) Catarrh Cure will do all that is claimed for it. For sale by W. F. Runner.

Missouri dukes at the county fairs are making money by allowing their heads to be used as targets for egg-throwers.

3.—A Favorite With the Fair Sex. Pappin (extract of flax) Skin Cure is superior to all the much-advertised skin beautifiers with the advantage of being harmless, and not like the natural preparations usually sold which are very poisonous. It will remove all inflammation, chafing and roughness of the skin, sunburn, freckles and untidy hair, and make the hair grow and be fair and soft as an infant's. An actual necessity for the complete toilet

WILL Berrien county make an effort to adopt the prohibition provided by the last Legislature? The county gave a small majority for the prohibitory amendment, last spring, and might adopt the measure without very hard urging. It is with the communities who favor prohibition of the liquor trade to be the leaders of universal prohibition.

IT is fast becoming evident that this section is not a favored one in the line of natural gas. The wells in neighboring towns are becoming abandoned at from 1,000 to 2,000 feet, and no gas. Niles and Dowagiac are still sticking to it like grim death. While our neighbors have been having their experiences Buchanan has her money for other uses.

WOOD & HOFFMAN have rented the Reynolds building, on Front street, for a term of five years, and as soon as it can be repaired and put in condition for their use will move in. The building is to have a plate-glass front and elevator, the upper story partitioned into small rooms, besides numerous other improvements. This will make the finest room for their business in town.

THE WEATHER—Following is our record of the temperature, as shown by our self-registering thermometer, for the week ending at 6:30 this morning:

Table with 2 columns: Day, Max. Min. 6:30. Friday: 72 41 43. Saturday: 74 42 44. Sunday: 78 44 55. Monday: 83 48 53. Tuesday: 87 56 59. Wednesday: 84 50 56. Thursday: 85 56 56.

BENTON HARBOR folks invited Gov. Luce there by telegram, but he did not collect. Charging a man forty-five cents for an invitation to come and see them, is thrifty, but odd.—Detroit Journal.

Perhaps that accounts for his not being able to reach the thrifty town. As they settled the bill afterwards there will probably be no more quarrel about it.

THE Mirror insinuates that the South Bend and St. Joseph R. R. will never be built. Well, that may be true. The fellows who are trying to build it appear to be going right along about their business in a quiet and unostentatious sort of way that looks to us hereabout as if they understood their own business somewhat thoroughly and meant to do just as they say, nor have we any assurance that they are "unscrupulous and plausible liars." Besides, we fail to see just why the Mirror should get so "riled" about it. No one has asked its contribution of either opinion or money.

THE school board has had its first meeting and made its appropriations for the coming year, making the full amount to be raised as follows: For teachers' wages, $9,000; for repairs, $200; for paying bond indebtedness, $2,400; for fuel $250; for apparatus, $75; for incidental expenses, $300; for janitors, $400; total, $9,825. The full amount raised last year was $6,870 or $4 more than this year. There was a decrease in the funds for indebtedness and in musical instrument, library and repairs and an increase in teachers' wages and apparatus. Of the above, $2,875 was voted at the annual school meeting. The officers of the board are the same as last year except that J. E. Barnes is assessor, vice Seth Smith.

SATURDAY was a lively day for the colored population in this place. Amos Bass got in one of his periodical drunks and took it upon himself to run the town after his own fashion. Marshal Clark tried to induce him to be quiet and go about his business, but he thought that was not what he was seeking and after a struggle in which he was pretty roughly handled he landed in the cooler. One or two others attempted to interfere with the marshal in his duty but made no hindrance. He was taken before Esquire Dick and sent to jail until day when he has his examination for resisting an officer. The penalty for that kind of resistance is two years in state prison, one year in jail or $500 fine. Bass and Frock Davis have been carrying a pretty high hand in this town for several months and it is about time they were brought up standing. The people of the town have been subjected to more insults by them, especially Davis, than is pleasant.

NUPTIAL—A wedding event took place last evening, Sept. 21, at the home of the bride, Mr. Samuel Rollings, a few miles east of this place, where Mr. Geo. F. Dressler and Miss Lydia Rollings were made one in the bonds of holy matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. F. Bartness. A bright circle of admiring friends were present to celebrate the occasion. After an elegant supper, such as Mr. and Mrs. Rollings always provide, was over, we went to our homes, leaving our best wishes for the happiness of the newly wedded couple.

WRIGHT SMITH.—After a long and painful illness of internal cancer, Mr. Wright Smith died Tuesday morning. Mr. Smith was born in Stanfordsville, Dutchess county, N. Y., 1814. He came West, to Chicago, in 1848. Went to Niles about 1862, and located in Buchanan fourteen years ago. He was employed by Smith & Montross, and has been in the employ of R. W. Montross since their dissolution. In all has worked for Mr. Montross over twenty years. He was of a family of twelve children. One brother, Geo. W., and two sisters survive him. He was the father of eight children, five now living. He was married to Harriet M. Williams about 1835. She was buried in 1880. He was again married in 1861 to Mrs. Susan H. Giles, who survives him. He joined the Baptist church at the age of twenty-two, and when he came to Buchanan he became a member of the Presbyterian church. He was a life-member of Wabansa Lodge of Masons, of Chicago. He was a kind husband and father, and was one of the few men not known to have any enemies. Funeral services were held at his late home yesterday, conducted by Rev. J. E. Barnes, F. & A. M., and the remains taken this morning for interment in Oak Wood Cemetery, in Chicago, by the side of his first wife and three children.

A FELLOW calling himself G. Wood called at this place the fore part of this month, representing the Indurated Fibre Company, of Chicago, and was looking for a location for a factory. He made himself familiar around the bank, and was shown about town, selecting the old fair ground site as the most suitable to the needs of the company. He succeeded in procuring a letter of introduction from one of our citizens to D. E. Boomersheim, of Three Oaks, through which he gained an introduction to the banking house of Chamberlain, Warren & Hatfield, and before he drove into the country to look at a piece of timber he was going to buy for his company, presented a draft to be cashed. Mr. Hatfield at first declined for the reason that he had not the cash to spare. Wood was equal to the occasion, however, and took $10 in money and a certificate of deposit for the remaining $90 less the cost of collection. Armed with this, he went to Niles, Buchanan and Michigan City, in which place he succeeded in getting the cash, by imposing upon W. F. Major and getting him to recognize him at the bank. This occurred Thursday, Sept. 1, and by the 12th Mr. Hatfield had discovered that the chap was an impostor and the draft forged. A warrant was issued by Justice Alexander, and Deputy Sheriff W. A. Palmer is offering a reward of $25 for the capture of the culprit. By his operation Buchanan loses a flattering prospect of securing another extensive manufacturing establishment.

"I DOOK a goccumber longer as my arm to de fair and I get a breimiums shoot about as big as my hidde finger. I don't think dot was no right broption, okkazakey," remarked a Berrien county farmer as he drove indignantly away from the fair grounds last Friday.—South Bend Tribune.

Is that not the usual proportion of Berrien county produce and Hoosier premiums?

Children's Day at the Niles Fair. The officers of the Berrien County Agricultural Society, of Niles, have kindly offered free tickets to all of the school children and teachers who will come to the fair on Wednesday, the 23rd, in a body as a school. The Niles High school will close at 10 o'clock, and a chorus to come. The schools in the country and neighboring towns are cordially invited to join in and have a good time. Children want to see Misses Loretta C. Masterson and Jennie F. Morse, the Champion horse women of the world, just as much as old people. Parents, let your children come. School officers, see that your schools are closed and give your children a chance to see the show. Children, don't stop teasing your parents and teachers until they give their consent for you to come. You will be escorted to the grounds by a Brass Band and everything will be done to make it pleasant for you.

GALLEN ITEMS. Mrs. T. E. Benson has gone to Ohio for a few weeks' visit. The tent meetings have closed. The nights got too cold. The child of Mike Rabish was buried on Monday. Funeral from the Baptist church.

Mrs. Prince returned on Friday from her trip to Ypsilanti. Excursion rates draw the crowd. Most if not all the employes in Montross' handle factory go to Buchanan to-day to attend the funeral of Mr. Wright Smith, who for nearly twenty years had been foreman in the factory. He will be missed and his loss mourned by this whole community, among whom he had many firm friends.

Eddie Shearer had the misfortune to break his wrist. The fracture was attended by Dr. Bowers, and is doing well. J. G. Hall has been quite sick, but is improving. Mrs. Dick Butler is visiting friends in Jackson.

Married, Thursday, Sept. 22, Mr. John Schauback and Miss Howard. Niles.

IN AN interview with Mr. B. Frankenberg, this morning, a Star reporter elicited from that gentleman many facts and points in regard to the fairs that have been held at South Bend and Benton Harbor, and also in regard to our coming fair. Mr. F. reports, on one day at South Bend, there was an attendance of over 20,000 people, and at Benton Harbor over 10,000. He attended both fairs and, being a close observer, his estimates are to be depended upon. His mare, "Lady Niles," was entered at Benton Harbor and failed to take first money only because of a heavy track. She took second money, however, in good style. Being asked as to the outlook for the success of our coming fair he gave it as his opinion that we would have the best fair in point of exhibits and the number of people attending that we have had for years. "From all indications we will have a fine fair, besides, we have the promise of an extra line of fast horses, and as you know, we have one of the finest half-mile tracks in the country. I tell you the society is entitled to great praise and credit for their labors, and the people at large will appreciate their work." This view is expressed by many. "Is the business men of Niles," said he, "will turn out and help us, and take the interest that they should in the fair it will be the best exhibition Niles has ever seen, and it will pay them in many ways.—Niles Star, Monday.

[Niles Democrat.] On Monday afternoon a girl, Lillie Jacobs by name, jumped into the river, apparently by suicidal intent and was rescued. She made an attempt to drown and was again hauled out and placed in charge of Marshal Shilladey, who took her home and persuaded her to cease attempts to terminate her existence. Trains have no positive information of the cause which led to the act, but are informed that the girl is now persuaded rather to bear the ills of life rather than to flee to others that she know not of. She left Wednesday for her home in Stillwell, Laporte county, Ind.

Dowagiac Union Fair, October 4, 5, 6 and 7, 1887.

The ninth annual fair of this association will be held at Dowagiac, Oct. 4, 5, 6 and 7, 1887, and promises to be the largest ever held. The managers have spared no pains or expense to maintain the well-known reputation of the Dowagiac fair. Reduced rates and special trains on railroads. Send for premium list.
