Proposals of Marriage. When a girl boasts of the offers of men which she has received, it is fair to conclude that men who made them were utterly mistaken in her character, or she would have remained unmarried.

The Need of Good Country Roads. College professors, engineers, and magazine writers are directing public attention to the subject of country highways.

Reading for Pleasure. Intemperate readers absorb mental stimulants for their own pleasure alone; they talk in everything but give out nothing.

Some Railroad Facts. A steel rail lasts, with average wear, about 18 years. The cost of railroads in the United States has been $9,000,000,000.

Articles Found in Cotton Bales. According to the Providence, R. I. Journal, at the Wapamano Mills, Fall River, Mass., on the 14th inst., workmen in the picker room stopped a package of matches just as the bundle was disappearing into the picker.

A Matter of Stops. Commas are very important factors in the sum of literary composition, and it is as important to them as to mind one's head with a stone all day.

An Exacting Wife. Unduly exacting wives will sympathize with the woman who is seeking a divorce on the grounds that her husband refused to pass the bread at the supper table, yet ran over to a neighbor's and helped put out a fire.

Blush of Roses. "Blush of Roses" is a very beautiful and witty-sounding name. I have never seen its equal. Mrs. J. W. BROCKERT, Lake City, Colo.

My face was nearly covered with pimples, and my skin was as smooth as an infant's. Many, many thanks. MABEL WOOLSEY, Rock Creek, O.

He wishes to join a fraternity at college, and he needs no money. "You need not go on; I am perfectly aware of his wishes. He will join no fraternity. Your father and you were graduates with honor, and you belonged to no such ridiculous organizations, I believe."

"I should not call them ridiculous, mother. They belong to the confederate spirit of the times. Everlasting is done now by clubs, associations and guilds. The one Jerry wishes to join is the most important in the college. The best men in his class belong to it."

"Nonsense! I have no patience with these fan-fancies about confederate guilds. My brothers at Jerry's age learned their lessons in the attic. If they did not know them they had a caning either at school or at home. And so what men they made! But the boys of this generation! They must be coaxed to do their simple duty. Why, the boy came to me yesterday asking to have a room on the third floor, and I let him have it."

"I have decided. I have refused to allow Jerry to use the room or to join the fraternity. There must be some other way of getting along with him. He cannot receive in his mother's presence, she said with haughty severity. High maddened good-humoredly."

"I have very little time, and it will take so long to explain the matter to mother. Yes, said Mr. Latimer. "But don't be impatient with her, Hugh; she used to consult with me about every point in the paper when it started, and he was a little bit of a riddle, grumbled the young man as he entered the cherry little room, with its warm carpet and its bright wood fire."

"I am ashamedly ignorant upon this matter, Hugh," she said at last. "Indeed, I have not helped you at all on the Age this winter, as I should have done. You are a very good boy, and taking Frances into society and overlooking Jerry at college, I have lost a lot on home and foreign points."

The Young Man Did Go In. I was riding across town, an evening or two ago on a street car. It was raining, and the car was filled with people. I stood on the rear platform, the only other passenger outside being a tall, broad shouldered, handsome young man with a blonde mustache, and the conductor.

During a recent sea voyage the mate of the brig "The Usual" kept the log, was found unable to attend to duty, because of inebriation, and the work was done by the captain, whose last day was "The Usual" was drunk all day. On the following day, the mate having recovered from the effects of his indulgence, resumed his former attention to the "log" entries, when he discovered that the mate's record, and immediately remonstrated with that officer, asking: "What was the need, sir, of making that entry?"

Ready to Retire. Tasmania is a healthy country. The re are only about a hundred thousand people in the island, yet it has more than six hundred centenarians. In this connection a good story is told. A hoary-headed couple was observed one day on a steamer bound for Melbourne, in order to reach the rich gold deposits believed to exist in its bed.

Lifting a River. A triumph of engineering is reported from California in the lifting of Feather river, a fast flowing stream, fifty feet and over in height, by means of an artificial bed, that is built above its old channel. It has been accomplished in a little less than a year. The object was to drain the river near Oroville, in order to reach the rich gold deposits believed to exist in its bed.

Obesity an Objection. Stout officers are unknown in the United States army. No man weighing over 200 pounds and six feet high can join a cavalry regiment, while officers in the general service are liable to be retired for obesity.

Entirely Helpless to Health. The above statement was made by Mrs. S. H. Ford, wife of Gen. Ford, and is couched for by nearly the entire population of Coruna, Mich. her home for years. She was for two years a terrible sufferer from rheumatism, being confined to her bed most of the time, her feet and limbs being so badly swollen she could scarcely move. She was induced to try a bottle of Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup. It helped her. "Wash" it has been entirely cured. Her today she is a well woman.

Blush of Roses. "Blush of Roses" is a very beautiful and witty-sounding name. I have never seen its equal. Mrs. J. W. BROCKERT, Lake City, Colo. My face was nearly covered with pimples, and my skin was as smooth as an infant's. Many, many thanks. MABEL WOOLSEY, Rock Creek, O. I had my face blackened. Mrs. LILLIAN DEW, Centerville, Ia. I am delighted with the effect of the two bottles of "Blush of Roses." It has removed the moth patches from my face. Mrs. C. R. BOUCE, Vandalia, Mich. This does it every time, and you will find a good supply at M. E. Barnore's.

THERE will probably have to be something done to drive the wooden air gun out of existence. The shots from them are being thrown into everything in sight. They are also killing off the robins about town. Such playthings in the hands of boys become an intolerable nuisance and should be abated.

THE Enterprise has explained the soldier question now. They are all going to be democrats because Mr. Alexander nominated Homer Hathaway for marshal. The Enterprise must think the soldiers are a pretty light-headed set, that they should change their political belief for such a reason.

A CAR of coal for the St. Joseph Valley railroad has been in this place the past week. It is supposed by some that as the company has no locomotive this coal is to be used for keeping up steam on the handcar, but that is a mistake. The company does actually expect a locomotive, and that before long.

LATER.—The locomotive has arrived. FOLLOWING are the names of pupils of Curran school, Bertrand township, neither absent or tardy during the month ending April 11: Mollie Gilbert, Laurence House. Highest in department, Emma Zeller, Laurence House—average, 98. Highest in scholarship, Lora Clements, Mollie Gilbert—average, 96. Number enrolled, 14; average daily attendance, 11. IDA ABELL, Teacher.

BERRIEN township voted to raise $600 for highway purposes, $400 township purposes, $200 county funds, $125 to pay a 15 cent bounty for wood-chucks, a total of $1,325 to $2,115 in this township. They have no poor poor fund to raise, nor do they say so much for highway purposes. No other township in the county does, or ever has paid as much for the purpose, year after year, as Buchanan.

Mrs. JACOB WHITMORE died at her home, near the Dunker church south of this place, last Thursday. The funeral services were held at the residence Sunday forenoon, and was one of the largest gatherings of the kind ever held in this vicinity. There is reported to have been over 250 teams in the procession. A quire from this place, consisting of the Mowrey sisters, Messrs. Frank Mead and Will East furnished music for the occasion.

THE House committee has recommended an appropriation of $5,000 for a fog whistle to be placed on the north pier of the St. Joseph harbor.—B. H. Pottawatomie.

Why not hire Geo. Comings to stand out on the pier and talk prohibition to the wild, sad waves, as a matter of economy?

We learn that John W. Harrison and wife will move to this city for a permanent residence. That is what a great many people are doing, coming to Niles. This place is Mr. Harrison's former home and first wife's.—The Star.

If this be true, it will make an opening for one of the many families who are waiting for some house to be empty, so they may move into Buchanan.

HERE is an item from the Seattle, Washington, Intelligencer, of March 31, of interest in this county: The death of Emma Dreda, at the Lafarge house, in South Seattle yesterday, revealed the sad story of a young girl's life blighted by sickness and cruelty.

Emma Dreda was brought to Tacoma about eight months ago by her father, who intended to take up a land claim at Bay City. But her father was in very bad health, and died three days after their arrival in Tacoma. Emma, a 17-year-old girl and a cripple, was left friendless in an strange city. She tried to earn around on crutches, but had only one leg. The other had been amputated four years ago in Niles City, Michigan, the young girl's home. Her father's leg began to swell, when the Women's Christian Temperance Union took hold of her and placed her in the Whitefield home. There she was made to perform all sorts of manual labor, which her condition rendered her almost unable to do. After about five months of this life she was sent to the house of Mrs. Flora Lowman, No. 1,019 of street. Here, according to her story, her sufferings even worse, for her cruel mistress made her bring up coal from the cellar and chop wood in the yard and carry heavy bundles of it. The constant friction of the crutches on the girl's feet caused a bruise to form on her right side. She caught cold in it and developed a cancer there. In this condition the poor girl was put to all kinds of hard labor. About two months ago a kind hearted Seattle woman named Mrs. Cartwright saw the girl and took compassion on her and brought her to Seattle. But the girl's condition grew worse and worse until she was so weak she could not move nor talk.

She was wasted away by degrees and yesterday morning about 3 o'clock she died in the arms of her kind friend.

In appearance the girl was very beautiful. She was of the brunette type, with pale, clear features and large, handsome brown eyes. She was meek and patient and bore her sufferings without a murmur. She has sisters in the East and two brothers in the state, but it is not known exactly where. The funeral will take place from a Cross undertaking establishment at 3 o'clock, this afternoon and the interment will be made in the Odd Fellows' plot.

The attendance at the lecture given by Rev. Washington Gardner, for the benefit of the G. A. R., at Rough's opera house, on Friday evening, was very slim. Just a retaliation on the part of some of the republicans for the result of the election. All this only tends to broaden the breach, as our republican friends will find sooner or later. Let the battle wage hot!

The proper treatment for the man who will write such stuff as that for publication in a civilized community is to pack him in ice, before he completely spoils. Warm weather is drawing, near.

MARIA E. KEMP was born in Buchanan, Michigan, August 14, 1840. In April 1866 she was married to John M. Logan. Mr. Logan died August 10, 1887, of the death of her husband Mrs. Logan came to Kirwin, Kansas, and has since made her home with her brother, Mr. Nathan Kemp. She was taken seriously ill December 21, last, and has since that time been a constant and severe, but a patient sufferer. All that friends could do or have done was vain to restore her to health, and she died early on the morning of April 6, 1890.—Kirwin (Kan.) Independent.

Of Buchanan's new physician, Dr. H. M. Brodick, who has established his office in the front rooms over Treat & Godfrey's hardware store, the Democrat Republican, speaks as follows: Dr. H. M. Brodick has, after considerable difficulty, succeeded in leasing a suitable residence and office in Buchanan, and with his family will be for that place on Tuesday next, where he will practice his profession. The doctor's has been a familiar face in Deatur for a quarter of a century and he will be missed by a host of warm friends, and his departure will be regretted by his patrons, who unite in wishing him the abundant success he deserves in his new practice. The citizens of Buchanan will soon learn to appreciate him as a citizen and physician. Mrs. Brodick has been prominent and popular in social and religious circles, and will be an acquisition to Buchanan society.

The Deatur correspondent of the Paw Paw Free Press and Courier seems to know the Doctor, and recommends him as follows: Dr. Brodick has moved to Buchanan where he will, in the future, practice his profession. We are sorry to have the Dr. leave us, not the old chestnut, but the public and personal grief, for of our large family of children he has been the attendant at birth of a good number of them and during the raising of them too, and we can not but be pained and grieved by the departure of such a competent and trustworthy, and socially in religion, morals, himself and family are all that any community can wish.

The state of Michigan publishes monthly report of weather observation supposed to be for the special benefit of the farmer. There can be no question but that it is a wise thing to do, so long as an average of about one farmer in about ten thousand ever sees the reports. The latest report, gotten out April 1, showing the condition of the weather during the month of March is as follows, from Buchanan: Altitude above sea level, 824 feet; latitude, north 41-40; Longitude, west 86-20; mean barometer, 30-08; maximum barometer, 30-52; March 8; minimum barometer, 29-31; March 28; mean temperature, 29-4; mean of maximum temperature, 22-7; minimum temperature, -5, March 6; monthly range, 59; mean daily range, 13-5; total precipitation, including melting snow, 4.22 inches; greatest rainfall in 24 hours, .92 inch, March 11; total snowfall, 24 inches; snow on ground at end of month, 0; number of days clear, 12; number of days fair, 3; number of days cloudy, 16; number of days on which .01 inch or more of rain fell, 12; prevailing winds—at 7 a. m., north-west; at 7 p. m., north-west. Charles F. Howe is the observer from this station, and his is always as nearly a full and accurate report as is made from any station. This is the report of the weather as it existed during the month of march, made up April 1, printed and reached those who receive it April 16. This is a wonderful amount of satisfaction to the farmers. Connected with this is the report of the condition of the crops for the month, which, for Berrien county, reads as follows: Condition of wheat compared with average years, 90 per cent; condition of clover meadows and pasture, April 1, compared with other years, 83; condition of live stock in good, healthy, thrifty condition—horses, 98; cattle, 95; sheep, 98; swine, 97; whole number of grain elevators, 15; whole number of reporting, 16; wheat marketed, 48,373 bushels; reported since March 1; marketed prior to March 1, 348,411, bushels. Total amount marketed since August 1, 1889, 896,784 bushels.
