voices that will forever sweetly blend with those of angels. Then, will our minds go bounding onward in search of sublimity knowledge.

Your commencement, indeed, is near at hand on that day you will begin that work which will never end.

Allow me, in connection with the growing evil in our society. It is this: that you will possess a correct education, the firm is now worthy of a graduate for his master.

God has given us a rich heritage in this western world. He has given us beautiful rivers and magnificent lakes. But there is need for both muscle and trained intellect to prepare these for the use of the mighty steamboat.

Christian intelligence condemns sin and idleness regardless of its apparel. Paul says to Christians: "Work with your hands as we command you; that ye may walk honestly to them that are without, and that ye may have lack of nothing."

England is now endeavoring to gain control of Lower California. There may be some questions asked by Mr. Blaine before they accomplish it.

In South Bend bicyclers are not allowed to ride on the sidewalks within the fire limits, owing, no doubt, to the liability to fire the town by friction in fast riding.

There is strong talk of making Hon. T. W. Palmer, of Detroit, president of the town's fair commission. He would fill the place check full, and every one connected with the undertaking would know he was there.

A law originating with Senator Edmunds, and now being enforced, confiscates all property belonging to the polygamous Mormon Church of Utah. He now has another applying all such confiscated property to the sustenance of Utah public schools.

Served Him Right. Fort Dodge, Ia., June 14.—The Citizens of Dayton, Ia., have taken the suppression of the original package business into their own hands. A couple of weeks ago a branch of this industry was established there. Although the town is strongly in favor of prohibition, no effort was made to check the now legalized traffic until a five-year-old boy was seen toddling around the streets in a state of intoxication. Then the citizens arose in their might and told the original package man that he must go. The agent thought it wise not to disobey the order and has closed up his place of business and taken his departure.

The 49th section of the McKinley bill deserves the special attention of every trade organization in this country, inasmuch as it recognizes to an eminent degree the justice of their protest against competition with prison labor in foreign countries. It reads as follows:

Section 49. That all goods, wares, articles, and manufactures manufactured wholly or in part in any foreign country by convict labor, shall not be entitled to enter any of the ports of the United States, and the importation thereof is hereby prohibited, and the secretary of the treasury is authorized to prescribe such regulations as may be necessary for the enforcement of this section.

Weekly Crop Bulletin. LANSING, June 15.—The weather conditions of the past week have been favorable to all crops, and they are progressing finely. The rainfall for the last two weeks in some sections has been heavy, and the importation of wheat in these sections the effect has not been so favorable, on account of the lack of sufficient moisture. The wheat is reported as being "spotted," and of uneven growth, and with unfavorable conditions of the fields show a fine growth, other portions are bare, and this condition seems to be pretty general, although the condition of wheat has been better in some sections.

THREE OAKS ACORN. The weather is decidedly Julyish. Quite a number of our citizens went to Berrien Springs as witnesses in the suit of Hess vs. Myer. We learn the verdict was in favor of the plaintiff. Children's day exercises were held at the Congregational church on Sunday, at 11 a. m., the regular meeting being postponed on that account.

When John Severance, of Manchester, died three years ago he left a mortgage on his farm, and three daughters who didn't know law-tennis from apple work, but they had good hard sense. The girls set to determined to wipe out that mortgage. They plow, drag, plant, cultivate, and husk corn—indeed, do about all the farm work except during harvest, when they hired such help as is necessary.

On Monday quite a delegation came here from Niles, and much speculation was indulged in as to the nature of their errand. Some said they were after the factory; others held that the Feathered Whistles would soon be waking up the drowsy citizens of that sleepy town, etc., etc. But whatever they were looking for (they were a very good looking lot), we believe it will take a better looking delegation, and from a better town, to induce Mr. Warren to abandon his own town. We trust so at least.

Mr. M. H. Nye went to Berrien Springs as a juror in a R. R. case on Tuesday evening, having been drafted while attending the trial of Hess and Myer.

Mrs. Geo. Martin is quite sick. A few cases of measles left yet. Strawberries are coming in freely and are selling at 5 cents per quart.

Miss Edna Warren, daughter of E. K. Warren, who has been attending school in Massachusetts, is spending the vacation at home. Lemuel Churchill is also at home from Ann Arbor.

Dr. G. S. Peck was in town on Friday. Mrs. Mary Flowers, who has been sick since last Thanksgiving day, spent last week with her parents. It is able to walk some with the aid of a cane.

The painters are at work on W. D. Bremer's house. Children's day exercises at the Baptist church at 9 a. m. next Sunday, and at the M. E. church in the evening.

FRISKY. There was a genuine funnel-shaped cyclone near Niles, Mich., yesterday, which struck a small lake and threw the water high in the air, and passed through the uninhabited portion of the country, but soon broke up and passed on. Zuni Cooper was an eye witness.—Niles Star, Wednesday.

State Items.

Morton manufacturing company will move from Romeo to Muskegon.

The Seventh regiment will hold a reunion at Oxford, next Tuesday. Several well-known speakers will be present.

A porcupine crawled into bed with two Montgomery children at Belleair, and when they objected to his presence, shed quills into them. The children were quite badly hurt.—Detroit News.

The Toledo & South Haven narrow gauge railroad, in Van Buren county, has been placed in the hands of a receiver by the Farmers' Loan & Trust Company of New York on a mortgage of $210,000, and John Hiling, of Lawton, appointed receiver.

The editor of the Monroe Democrat has been appointed a teacher in the public schools, at a salary of $300 per year. The Commercial waxes hot at this, and is trying to incite the Catholics and Lutherans against the "out-rages."—Detroit Journal.

The contract for building one of the new government cruisers has been let to Congressman Wheeler's ship building company, at Bay City, but the boat cannot be built there because of a treaty with England, that no boat bearing more than one gun shall be allowed upon the lakes by either nation.

C. A. Osborn, of Decatur, stopped at the Williams house in Battle Creek, the other night, and when he went to bed to blow out the gas. His funeral would have occurred ere this had it not been for the acute olfactory of Clerk Tunnington. One hour more would have finished the bucolic fellow.—Detroit Tribune.

In the fall of 1888 ex-Ald. Edwards, of Lansing, went to Chicago on a cheap ticket, one of the condition of the ticket being that it was to be stamped in Chicago. Edwards neglected this and was rejected from the train as he was homeward bound. He sued the company for $10,000. The supreme court has just decided that he had no claim for damages.—Detroit Journal.

Much concern is felt by the farmers in the vicinity of Holland, at the re-appearance of the grain aphid which did so much damage last year. Its appearance is accounted for by the numerous rains of the past few weeks. Corn is late and is damaged considerably by the ravages of the cut-worm, so that much has to be replanted. Rye and oats are in good condition.—Detroit Free Press.

The farmers of Van Buren county are complaining that the midge has made its appearance again, and upon examining the different wheat fields they find more or less on every head. Barley is also covered with the little fly and in looking over and examining the oat field the little midge is found in the oats also. The wheat in the county never looked better for a good yield.—Detroit Free Press.

Mrs. Szubleski was a Polish immigrant, but a woman and a mother's withal, and when her baby died in a Port Huron depot and her sole child moans filled the little room, making a heart-touching picture, men's eyes blinked, and the blinking over-flowed when the little one was laid in a rough coffin and the mother was the lone mourner who followed the remains to the potter's corner. She was on her way to the far west to join her husband.

Attorney General Huston is after the big building and loan associations because, since the passage of the law of 1889 exempting the stock of these associations from taxation, it is asserted that a number of the largest have practically been engaged in a general banking business, the convenient building and loan law enabling them to pay a higher rate of interest and conduct their business more cheaply than the regularly incorporated state banks.

The girls set to determined to wipe out that mortgage. They plow, drag, plant, cultivate, and husk corn—indeed, do about all the farm work except during harvest, when they hired such help as is necessary.

They don't belong to any Patrons of Industry, for they are industry itself, and they are making money. In two years, with health and fair crops, the mortgage will be lifted.—Detroit Journal.

One day this week a husky frightened fellow seized County Clerk Rouse by the arm and dragged him back into the dark vault where the dusty records are kept. Then he broke forth in a ghostly, stage whisper: "Say, how are you hooked up for marriage licenses?" "Lo's of 'em," said the clerk. "How many will you have?" The swain looked serious for a moment and then replied in a snicker, "Ugh, I only want one." He then began negotiations for the clerk to refund his money in case the girl went back on him. The clerk knowing the nature of the girls in matrimonial contracts consented to go halves in the loss.—Mason News.

Joseph Davette has been in the Michigan prison for 32 consecutive years. He was convicted of murder in Sanilac county, in 1858, and condemned to solitary confinement for life. For a number of years (how many he himself cannot tell), he was isolated from anything in the shape of a human being. He never saw a human face or heard a human voice for long weary months at a time. His food was brought to him on a tin plate, and handed through a wicket, but he never caught a glimpse of the convict who waited on him. For 32 years the only sight of the sky he got was from within the four great walls. No friend or relative has spoken to him in all of that period. He is a little, wizen-faced Frenchman, whose mind is hopelessly shattered, and whose physical powers are scarcely more virile than those of a child, yet he is contented, and has no desire to change his condition at the age of 60 years.—Jackson Citizen. They don't hang in Michigan.

ODE TO A BUTTERFLY.

Thou spark of life, that waviest wings of gold! Thou soulless wanderer! Read the songful bird! With nature's secrets in thy tiny breast! Through gorgeous empire, past the reach of words, Yet dear to every child, Living his unpolled days 'mid flowers and flocks and herds.

Thou winged blossom! liberated thine! What receive the birds then to other flowers Still within the garden's fastening? Will they tear and crush the completed hours, Take flight and be like thee? Hovering at will o'er their parental bowers? Or is thy lusty down from heavenly hues, A suppliant drifting fragment of the sky Caught when the sunset's last glances imbues With sudden splendor, and the two tops high Grasp that swift hazy, Then lead these times to thy?

On thee to float a few short hours, and die? Birds have their nests; they rear their eager young And fit on errands all the living day; Each feathered being the household's hence it spays; But thine is nature's freedom—free to stray Unfettered through the wood Seeking thine airy food, The sweetest speed on blossomed spray.

The garden one wide banquet spreads for thee, Oh, dainties reveler of the joyous earth! A seed of honey gives salicy, A second draught of nectar's pastal mirth. Thy feast no gives allow, Thy calm eyes never close, Thou soarest spirit to which the sun gives birth!

And yet the soul of man upon thy wings Forever soars in aspiration; thou! His center of joy, his heart's best springs When death's arrest bids all the spirit bow, His flesh has hope in thee immortality. Symbol of life with such faith endow, —Thomas Wentworth Higginson.

What They Eat in Timbuctoo. The people of Timbuctoo live on the whole very comfortably, in an economic sense, and Dr. Leuz saw very few signs of poverty or beggary among them. They have three meals a day. The first is at 9 a. m., consists of some new baked wheat-loaves, "of altogether excellent quality," pieces of which, in eating, you successively dip into dishes of honey and fluid butter. The main meal, at 3 p. m., is composed of two, sometimes three courses, supplied by kuskus, vegetables, mutton or beef, poultry and pigeon. Everything is tastefully prepared. But what are kuskus? They are made of the flour of wheat, barley, maize or even negro millet. The kuskus is cooked, but steamed, and is put into an earthen pot siddled with small holes at the bottom, which is placed over another filled with water, resting on the fire. Empty into a dish, the kuskus are steamed over saffron sauce; then flesh and vegetables are tastefully scattered over them, and they are eaten with the fingers of the right hand—though it requires some practice to carry them to the mouth without dropping any. Fish is relegated almost exclusively to the negroes, and a person of very low vocation will eat any kind of fish. The evening meal, between 9 and 10, consists generally of rice mingled with small pieces of meat. No spirituous liquors are drunk. The solid food is washed down only with water, taken from the calabashes.—Exchange.

Legal, Yet Illegal. During the French maneuvers a captain wishing to buy wine, by order of the general commanding, had a requisition in his company, failed to obtain such. Thereupon he requisitioned it from a country gentleman, who, as he was obliged to do, furnished the wine. This gentleman afterward sent in his bill to the government for the value of the wine, as he was legally entitled to, but instead of receiving his money, he was arrested and his property and proceedings against him because he had no right to sell wine. By the law of the country the proprietor is obliged to sell his wine when it is requisitioned. By the same law he can claim the value from the government as if sold, but by the same law again he is punishable for selling wine without a license. The revenue officers showed too much zeal and too little logic.—Army and Navy Journal.

The King, the Egg and the Singer. In a sketch of the life of the author, Mme. Rudersdorff, Richard Mansfield relates the following: "Mme. Rudersdorff sojourned during the early part of her life, and indeed before her marriage, at the stages, at the court of the famed Duchess Sophia, of Baden, with whom she was a great favorite. It was, indeed, the assistance and counsel of the Duchess Sophia that she was enabled to study under the great maestro, the Chevalier Moletroux, the master of Chopin, Novello, Catherine and Pasta. Madame was in the habit of recounting many interesting anecdotes in connection with her life at the Baden court. Prince Napoleon (Plon Plon) was at that time in Baden-Baden, and was much enamored of Mme. Rudersdorff. He went so far as to bring the mental list to her, and she was, in fact, the mistress of the duchess, who was a very severe disciplinarian, for this breach of marital etiquette. Many years later Mme. Rudersdorff and the prince met in Paris when Napoleon III was on the throne. 'Ah,' said the prince, 'I remember you very well, madame, for you had me locked up in the Bastille.' "The Duchess-Sophia was a very good housekeeper. Some said she practiced economy to the extent of parsimony. Certain it is that Miss Grey-Hill and Mme. Rudersdorff, who brought the champagne from the major domo for the king of Wurtemberg on the occasion of his visit to the Baden court. When her royal highness had visitors, her favorite refreshment, in the shape of hard boiled egg in a taste do bouillon, was invariably handed round. Not to mention the fact that to injure the displeasure of the duchess. When the bluff old king of Wurtemberg arrived, the bouillon with the egg made its appearance. It required practice to eat the egg with the spoon, it was so very hard and so very slippery. The king could not manage it; it was pitiable to see him driving the egg round and round the bowl with his spoon. Mme. Rudersdorff, who was behind his chair, ventured to advise him. "Your majesty must not do it like that," she whispered, "you must eat it as you would eat a hard-boiled egg; it is no good shilly-shallying with it." "Danks schon," said his majesty, "ach, ach, ich doch gar zu schrecklich!" Summoning up all his courage, the king made a dive at the egg, the spoon slipped and the egg flew out of the cup and fell into the Duchess-Sophia's lap. The king roared with laughter, and the duchess looked highly incensed."

Johnson and George III. Boswell tells a very characteristic story of Dr. Johnson and George III. Johnson was allowed the privilege of reading in the royal library. On one occasion the king, hearing of his presence there, entered the room in order to see and converse with the great author. After much interesting conversation about books and the sciences, the king asked him if he was writing anything. He answered that he was not, for he had pretty well told the world what he knew, and he must now read to acquire more knowledge. The king replied: "I do not think you know much from anybody." Then Johnson said he thought he had already done his part as writer. "I would have thought so, too, if you had not written so well," retorted his majesty. Johnson observed that "No man could have paid a hand some compliment to me, and it was fit for a king to pay." When some one asked him if he made any reply to the king's speech, he answered: "Sir, when the king had said all he wanted to be so. It was not for me to bandy civilities with my sovereign."—Chambers Journal.

A Queer Wager. Charles Queen, a Norfolk man, bet that he could let a gallon of water drop on his hand from a distance of three feet drop by drop. After four drops had struck him he yelled "enough" and paid the bet of $50. He said that each one fell like the blow of a sharp stick, and a cluster as large as a quarter was raised on the back of his hand.

He said that each one fell like the blow of a sharp stick, and a cluster as large as a quarter was raised on the back of his hand.

In the excellence and variety of its illustrations read matter. July number of "Peterson" is a fair specimen of its general scope and character. The beautiful steel engraving "Celebrating the Day," is especially delightful to children, and the illustration, "On a Summer Day," is a charming and seasonable picture. The array of short stories and miscellaneous articles is most excellent. The fashion and work table departments are filled with seasonable hints, that cannot fail to interest every lady. The monthly room-mates of our readers who are in search of a first-class magazine to try Peterson's for the next six months. Terms, two dollars a year; one dollar for six months. PHRASES AND PHYSICS. What a scriptural widow found to do she did with all her might. Girls and Mothers! Read this! I wish to tell you of the case of a girl 16 years old, who had been sick with dyspepsia for two years. Her father had paid over $300 for doctors' bills, still she was failing. She had the worst countenance that I have ever seen. A kind of greenish glow, she was emaciated, had constant bowel trouble, and had to take morphine every night in order to sleep at all. All who knew her said they had done all they could. I repeatedly urged them to try Zoster, but they were strongly prejudiced against "nootrums." Finally she was taken to the greenish glow, and this is as likely to help her as anything. She and I persuaded her father to let her try it. As a result, in ten months her functions were established, and regular, and in a month she was the picture of health—a living wonder to all who had known her. I could describe 20 other cases, not so wonderful as this, but still very remarkable cures.

FOUND AT LAST IN HIBBARD'S RHEUMATIC SYRUP.—A remedy which expels all poisonous matter and taints of disease from the blood. A well-known citizen of Lebanon, Ind., testifies to its value.

GENTLEMEN.—It affords me pleasure to state that my wife has received greater benefit from Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup than from any medicine she has ever taken. We have used six bottles, and find it to be the best family remedy and the greatest blood purifier that I have ever used. It is truly all it claims to be by its founder. You cannot recommend it too highly. Yours truly, FRANK WALLACE. West Lebanon, Ind.

NILES City council has taken definite action regarding the proposal of the Michigan Central Company for the erection of a new passenger house there, accepting the terms of the company, and a new $25,000 depot may be looked for there soon. The Council was petitioned by the heaviest taxpayers of the city to accept.

A fruit train is being run from New Buffalo to St. Joseph to take berries from the intermediate stations to the St. Joseph and Chicago boats. The boats are having more fruit than they can handle, and have been obliged to call help from Saugatuck.

MR. G. W. DEVIN has traded his property in this place for western land. Mr. N. Hamilton will sell all of his household goods contained in the house, at public auction, on the premises, next Saturday. There is probably as fine a lot of furniture and carpets in this lot, as is to be found in town.

MR. TABOR GRANGE assisted by Mt. Hope Grange will observe children's day with appropriate exercises, by the children of the two Granges, at Mt. Tabor hall, Saturday. Special efforts are being made by both Granges to have the entertainment a good one.

A DOZEN or more Michigan towns are after the Featherbone works, Niles among the rest. So long as Buchanan has nothing to offer, we hope Niles will get it. When that interest leaves Three Oaks that village will feel as if an elephant had rolled over it.

SOME of our sportsmen attended the shooting tournament in St. Joseph, last week. Some were there from Niles, and the Democrat says it was owing to their extreme modesty that they brought home none of the prizes. Doubtless that accounts for none of them coming here.

'Tis said that Mr. A. A. Patterson, Jr., has gone for the iron and construction engine for the extension of the St. Jo. Valley road to Benton Harbor. This looks like business. When the road is completed, we will all take a trip that way to Chicago.

NILES people can start from that place at 6 o'clock in the evening, ride to Benton Harbor, go to bed about the boat, and awake next morning in Chicago, all for $2. Fifty cents of this goes to pay for the bed. When the St. Jo. Valley road is completed, we may do likewise.

SUICIDE.—Mr. Garret Stryker, a resident of Terre Coupee Prairie the past twenty-six years, suicided this forenoon by hanging. His body was found hanging in his barn, by a member of the family, after he had been dead two or three hours. Mr. Stryker was 62 years of age, and with the exception of two years' residence in Niles City, has lived and prospered on his farm since 1860.

DR. F. N. BONINE, of Niles, attended the athletic contest in Detroit, Saturday. He entered with thirteen others for the 220 yard race, but he and seven others withdrew from the race. It was won by Owen in 23 seconds. He took part in the standing board jumping contest, which was won by a jump of 10 feet 4 1/2 inches.

ONE of these days the fire alarm will be rung when some one has a team hitched to the telephone pole directly in front of the engine room. The boys will run the steamer out on time as usual, and the carriage will be turned a dozen times over, in the street, and stand a great chance of being broken. It might not be a bad idea to have that pole removed and save the chance of such an accident.

THE M. C. R. R. Co. will sell excursion tickets to Lansing, on June 30 and July 1, at two cents per mile in each direction. Good for return July 5. A. F. PEACOCK, Agent.

A NUMBER from this place visited Niles Friday evening, to listen to the address of Rev. D. M. Fisk, pastor of the Congregational church of Jackson, before the graduating class. It was the privilege of the writer to be under the tutorage of Mr. Fisk when he held the chair of Professor of Science in Hillsdale college, eighteen years ago.

FRIDAY night the Buchanan essence company was in the neighborhood of Bridgman, stopped at a farm house and put up for the night. Next morning the company's horse had slipped his halter and gone. Under Sheriff Palmer was called to find the property and supposed thief, and Sunday took a trip of about sixty miles in the search. The horse was found upon the railroad grounds between Bridgman and St. Joseph and John made happy.

THE Secretary of state reports the condition of crops for May, in Berrien county, as compared with a perfect crop, as follows: Wheat, 95; acreage of corn, 102; oats, 96; condition of oats, 91; meadows and pastures, 98; peaches, 10. Farm wages, per month with board, $16.97; without board, $25. Wheat marketed during the month, 54,518 bushels. Marketed since August 1, 1889, 508,108 bushels.

THE Record tells about certain Buchanan property falling into ruin. Well, move over to a live town, where there is no rust or decay.—Wm. Star.
Where a $10,000 furniture factory is allowed to stand idle for years, because no one will take it as a gracious gift, frinstance; where a $89,000 hotel stands idle for years and is finally sold for taxes, and a $28,000 residence is sold for $6,500. Please excuse us.

ADRIAN COLLEGE has been presenting the several graded schools in this state, with each a scholarship for a four years course of study in that institution, having a cash value of sixty dollars, to be presented to the member of the class having the best standing for meritorious work and deportment. This scholarship was presented to Miss Lillie May Abell of Buchanan school, and in Niles to Miss Estella Field.

THE talk of building a flouring mill in this town to do the custom business is working well. We are informed that the question of building the mill is practically settled, and the point now to be settled is the location. Three different water powers are had in view: "Big mill", the C. S. Black property at the mouth of the creek, and the power where the Rough & Fox mill was burned last winter. Those located near the property will hope that the "big mill" will be selected.

Mrs. CLARA MORRIS, acknowledged to be the greatest emotional actress in America won her first notice and made her enviable reputation in the character of Miss Mallon. Her success was so great that it has been her standard attraction for years. Mr. Tucker has secured the play and surrounded himself with a company capable of rendering it in first-class manner, and presents it to our theatre-goers, on Tuesday evening, June 24. Extremely low prices will prevail, 10 and 20 cents. Reserved seats at Roe's jewelry store.

THESE appears to be a quite general complaint of smut in the growing wheat in this section. Some fields have but few heads, while others are reported as having but few of any other kind of heads. One field on one of the Curran farms, south of Bakertown, is reported as being a smut field. It is probable that farmers of this vicinity will be obliged to send abroad for seed wheat not mixed with smut before they are free from it. Scientific farmers tell us that the smut that gathers upon the fuzz end of the kernel is taken up into the growing stalk and carried into the growing grain. If this be true, the farmers will certainly be careful about the selection of their seed. People who believe that wheat turns to chess are not expected to believe much in this theory of smut.

DURING the past three weeks the publishers of the Enterprise have been trying to come to some agreement, by which one of them might withdraw from the business. They had about reached a conclusion Saturday for Mr. Duffield to step out with nothing, when the mortgagees, Illinois Type Foundry, through the First National Bank, settled the matter by taking possession of the plant by virtue of the mortgage. Mr. and Mrs. Duffield left Saturday afternoon for Chicago, returned Monday evening, and were gone again Tuesday afternoon. Notwithstanding the pains taken by Rockford, Ill., papers to inform business men here of his character, he managed to become indebted to nearly all of them for small amounts. Yesterday morning the paper appeared with the name of Paul R. Herwig as publisher, and the announcement that hereafter the paper would appear as a weekly.

THE graduating exercises of Buchanan High school were held in Rough's Opera House, Friday forenoon. The hall was filled to its full capacity, some of the standing room being brought into requisition. There were three members of the graduating class, Miss Ida M. Best, Miss Lillie M. Abell and Herbert Roe. Misses Charlotte Wilber and Edie Kingery, of the Junior class, had part in the exercises with oration and essay, respectively. The exercises were all well prepared, and well rendered. The ladies' quartet, consisting of Mrs. Boardman, Mrs. H. D. Rough and the Misses Ida and Hatie Mowrey, furnished vocal music, Wilson's orchestra and Miss Aida Emery, instrumental. The graduates leave the Buchanan schools in good condition for further work in some good college or at the State University, a work that should be done by all, but which will not be likely, unless, perhaps, Miss Abell takes the benefit of the scholarship presented her by Adrian college. The present indication is that there will be a larger class for next year.

WE desire to express our heartfelt thanks to the members of the Alert Hose Company, to the Knights of Macabees, to those who sent the flowers, and to all our friends and neighbors whose aid and sympathy were so freely tendered in our late bereavement. THOS. F. BARNES. PEARL BARNES.

A series of revival meetings will be held in the M. E. Church beginning next Monday evening. The speakers announced are, Rev. J. W. H. Carlisle, Monday; Rev. I. Wilson, Tuesday and Wednesday; Rev. A. H. Ranton, Thursday; Rev. S. L. Hamilton, Friday; Mrs. Maggie Van Cott, Sunday morning and evening, and during the following two weeks.

YESTERDAY forenoon Grace Holmes and Winnie Noble had Chas. Hoffmann's horse out for a drive, and in going around the corner at Robert Henderson's, the wheel struck the corner post and upset the horse, although the little ones out. The horse, although a gentle one, floundered about until he freed himself from the wagon, came up Oak street a few rods and was easily caught. Luckily the little girls were not hurt, and no serious damage done, aside from a few breaks in harness and wagon.

THE Michigan Central Company has run across a great joke. They opposed the crossing at the grade by the Vandalia road, at Gallen, compelling that company to go a half-mile or so out of their way to go under. Last week they put material on the ground and commenced building an iron bridge, with stone abutments, just wide enough to accommodate a single track, when they were promptly notified by Vandalia that there must be 100 feet of right of way between the abutments, as there was to be a double track there. Work has stopped while the Michigan Central scratches its head and thinks about it.

Judge O'Hara, of Berrien Springs, is all right. He sent a little girl's assault to prison for 30 years.—Detroit News.
This is a modest way that the Judge has of sending the man for life. It is not at all likely the man will last thirty years.

IT hailed so hard and furiously at Royalton the other day that Mr. Hollister's family secured sufficient ice to freeze cream for dinner.—Detroit News.

THE state of Nevada has but twenty-four newspapers, Berrien county, Mich., just north of us, has over half that many. None of the publishers of the latter are getting rich at the business, however.—South Bend Times.

Mrs. DELLA HULSEN, wife of A. N. Hulsen, died at her home in Watervliet Wednesday night, after a brief illness. Her husband is one of the proprietors of the Record. The deceased was an estimable lady, about twenty years of age.—B. H. Palladium.

FULLY four thousand cases of strawberry-berries were shipped from Benton Harbor on the steam City of Chicago Friday night, and the warm weather will ripen the berries rapidly now. The shipments of berries from both towns for the one day aggregated over 12,000 cases.—Palladium.

FROM BERRIEN CENTRE.

The nice showers are refreshing. Crops are promising finely. Strawberry picking is in order and our growers are gathering abundantly. Mrs. Sadie Neater started Thursday noon for Washington state, to join her husband who has located there. Her father, Mr. Jos. A. Becker, accompanied her as far as Chicago.

Children's day will be observed the coming Sabbath, at Grange hall. The S. B. Centre S. S. will observe it next Sunday. Children's day exercises at the Eau Claire Christian church, one week ago Sunday evening, were highly successful and entertaining. A very pleasant gathering of the children last Sabbath afternoon, at Jno. Ulrey's.

The President of the Berrien Township S. S. Association is agitating a S. S. convention here, in the near future. He reports the S. S. of the township flourishing. Mr. Jessie Toney is building on his farm near Fairland. Mrs. Elizabeth Cox and her daughter, Miss Sarah Vickers, were the guests of Mrs. Mary Webster, on Sunday last. Mr. J. C. McCollough spent Sunday at Berrien Centre. He likes his new position at Dowagiac very much. Mr. and Mrs. Del. Dorcas buried their infant son on Friday last.

Mrs. Kumlner and her son and daughter, of Steelton, Pa., are the guests of sister, Mrs. W. G. Smith. Mrs. Lydia Burton, of Goodland, Ind., is here visiting relatives. Harry L. Rutter has improved his premises, by adding a neat kitchen to his house and giving the whole house two coats of paint. Jno. L. Bishop has put down a large and good cistern at his farm house south of town.
