A LOST LOVE.

By MARY L. HITTER. What a poor silly fool am I! To watch your face and try to read it; To search in vain for old regard; To look for love—because I need it!

To grieve because your eyes no more seem filled with wishes dear and tender; Or that your hand seeks mine no more, leaving it to quick surrender.

And yet, although the past is past, And I must walk in constant dreaming, I will not, no, I cannot think That all your love was only seeming!

Just for a little time I held, As all my years, your heart and fancy. I must believe it, for the thought Is all that comes to me with healing.

Now that the passing time, alas! Has proved no witer in its dealing. Say that I may believe it, dear, And I will, too, that I am forever If I still cling to old regard!

Those few faint glimpses into heaven. For I will make no outward sign; Like you, I will be cool and quiet; And so what matter for the pain, Or how the traitor blood runs riot, And if I ever see you, dear, And wonder at it, oh, remember How often under ashes gray Still glows the unextinguishable ember!

THE WAGER.

"So he has actually laid a wager that he will marry me before he starts for Saratoga. One, two, nearly three months," said Mrs. Dayton, leaning back and laughing merrily. "Ah, me! he has mistaken me; I have had enough of you yet, and my present life of freedom suits me."

"I admire the man's impudence," said her company, Mrs. Granley Harrington. "He has never seen you yet, and he dares to make such a bet."

"No, tell me exactly how it happened." "Certainly! Granley invited his cousin, Harry Vaughn, Mr. George Cook, and this respectable Mr. Horace Cook to dine with him yesterday. After presiding at dinner it, of course, left the table after dessert; about an hour later was passing through the hall when I heard Mr. Cook say: "So this charming widow, Mrs. Dayton, has vowed never to marry again. I want a wife, and from your description I think she would suit me. What do you say I make her break her vow?"

"Done!" said Mr. Cook. "When our party starts for Saratoga in May the charming widow will join our party as Mrs. Horace Cook."

"I went upstairs, but I determined to put you on your guard, for to-night, at our house, you will meet him."

"My feet are weary, I'll have him at my feet in ten minutes, and again the silver laugh rung through the parlor. Mrs. Harrington and Horace Cook were standing a few hours later in the former's brilliant and gilded parlor. There were beautiful women and handsome men all around them, but the star of the evening was not there. It was a fancy party, and Mrs. Harrington, a lovely blonde, made in a pink and white dress, made quite a charming contrast to the tall bright blonde beside her, whose figure and dark, handsome face suited well his dress.

"May I tell you, fortune," said a sweet, low voice, "the couple, and when they turned. One quick glance passed between the speaker and Mrs. Harrington, and then the hostess passed on to meet other guests."

"Stay, lady, let me tell your fortune!" said the gypsy.

"No, tell my friend's. Mr. Cook, I beg your pardon, Conrad, you will tell me the answer. "Mr. Cook's eyes were riveted upon his companion, and he mechanically offered his hand for her perusal. She was a startling, beautiful figure. Her scarlet, short and full, was embroidered in gold with strange figures, and the tiny foot it left exposed was a scarlet boot embroidered in gold. Her hair, made up in the dress was of white muslin, made full, but cut so as to leave the neck and arms bare. A brilliant scarf was bound from the right shoulder, to make a full bow at the left side. A turban of white with blue and gold, which lay beneath it in rich black masses almost to the wearer's feet. A graceful figure, medium height, large, black eyes, a rich, clear complexion, and with a clear count, completed the picture.

"Your fortune," she said, as she dreamily scanned the palm of his hand, "is that you will be married in ten days to a woman who will ruin you."

"Two waltzes whirled in between the couple, and when Mr. Cook again looked the gypsy was gone. It was a long time before he saw her again; but at last he found her. She was standing alone near a table, lazily turning the leaves of an annual. It was in a little sitting-room leading from the parlor, and she was the sole occupant.

AMBIGUOUS SPEECH.

An individual who was called into court for the purpose of proving the correctness of a surgeon's bill, was asked whether the doctor did not make several visits after the patient was out of every wound. "No," replied the witness; "I considered the patient in danger as long as the doctor continued his visits."

A physician walking with a friend said, "Let us avoid that pretty little woman you see on the left. She knows me, and casts on me looks of indignation. I attended her husband." "Ah! I understand. You had the misfortune to displace him," was the remark that every one who heard the doctor made. "I considered the patient in danger as long as the doctor continued his visits."

A furnished room on first floor in a dwelling, centrally located, in Buchanan, is wanted for a doctor's office. Apply at this office.

LINNE, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Coverdale, died at their home on Fourth street, yesterday morning, of typhoid fever.

H. C. COSE and family, of Galien, have returned from their camping at Hudson lake, and H. C. is at his post in Montross' office.

DETROIT Exposition is in operation. Opened Tuesday. Going? It was a good show last year and will not likely be poorer this year.

By the pastor at the Christian church, next Sunday. Morning subject, "The Sonship of Christ." Evening subject, "The Vengeance of God."

CHARLES MITCHELL has bought the Amos Clark property, on Main street. His children will occupy the premises while attending school in this place.

MISS THERESA BYERLINE, of East Saginaw, who has been spending the past week with Mrs. H. D. Rough, went to Hastings, Neb., Tuesday.

A number of young people from Three Oaks, friends of Charley Niles, were here Monday to attend the funeral.

DR. BRODRICK expects to move down town next week, and postmaster Graham will occupy his Front street home once more.

WM. CONRADT has bought the Clendenen place, which adjoined his farm on the west, north of the Wagner school house.

ONE of the most pleasant residence properties in this vicinity is for sale cheap. Information may be obtained of the publisher of this paper.

WM. TRENBETH went to Chicago last week, and as a result a large stock of cloths, suitings, and overcoats has been arriving since. His stock is no doubt the largest in this county.

THE Lakeside anti-horse-thief association held their semi-annual meeting last Thursday at Lakeside. The next meeting will be held at Galien on the last Thursday in February.

TWO tramps were dislodged from a comfortable seat on the front end of the baggage car on mail train going East Saturday, and made to proceed from here on foot.

PASSENGER trains from the East have been late from a few minutes to an hour or more the past week. This is especially true of those coming from east of Detroit.

THOSE who were among the early risers, Friday morning, report a light frost, although the lowest point reached by the mercury during the night was forty.

THE four week's old child of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Bronson was buried in Oak Ridge cemetery in this place, Sunday.

THE sidewalk on Lake street is in a condition unsafe to passers by. If it is not to be repaired it should be torn up, as to leave it there is simply to invite trouble.

THE Palladium says a light frost was seen in the low lands in the vicinity of Benton Harbor, Saturday morning, but not heavy enough to do any damage.

MISS EDA BEARDSLEY arrived in this place, Tuesday evening, from Oregon, prepared to take charge of a department in our village schools next Monday.

THE Republican Legislative Convention in the first district will be held in St. Joseph Saturday. Ex-treasurer S. L. Van Camp is Benton Harbor's candidate.

HARRY SALSBURY, of Dayton, will attend the State Normal, at Ypsilanti, the coming season, and the Record will keep him posted on home matters while he is away.

THE iron bridge by which the Michigan Central crosses the Vandalia at Galien is completed. It covers a twenty feet span, instead of 100 feet, as was demanded.

A BENTON HARBOR man has a musket which was used to kill Frenchmen 200 years ago, and a powder horn that is said to have been worn by the bull that rode in the ark.

A GRAND picnic of old California 49ers will be held in Chicago, September 9, the fortieth anniversary of the admission of California. There are quite a number of that class in this vicinity, who participated in the excitement of gold digging in California in those old times, and some of them will attend this meeting in Chicago.

REV. MR. SAYLES' stereopticon entertainment in the opera house, Tuesday evening, was well attended, and that is said to be the best part of the show. His lights did not work like a charm.

IN our Galien items, last week, the marriage of J. H. George and Minnie Crossen was mentioned as occurring near Galien. They were married at the home of B. D. Denison, in Galien, Eld C. Scott officiating.

LIST of letters remaining uncalled for in the post-office at Buchanan, Mich., for the week ending Aug. 26, '90: Miss Clara L. Palmer, David V. L. Brown, Mrs. A. M. Baker.

MR. ALBERT TOMLINSON, aged 74 years, died at the home of his son Benjamin, about three miles northwest of town, on Thursday last. He was an old pioneer of this section, having moved to Harris prairie, near South Bend, in 1836, and to this township in 1854.

SOME sneak thief entered the residence of George Montgomery, in New Buffalo, one evening last week, getting a few dollars in money for his boldness. The thief was seen by one of the young ladies of the family, but she was so frightened she could not remember how the fellow looked.

THE time for holding annual school meetings will be next Monday. For the past three years this district has turned out pretty well, but it has been because some one was mad. Now if it can be managed to have the same state of affairs, we may have a house full next Monday. There will be trustees to elect in place of John B. Barnes and B. D. Harper. No bonded debt will be to pay this year.

DIED.—Charles Niles died Saturday afternoon, at the home of his parents on Terre Coupee road, of consumption, resulting from a neglected attack of la grippe. Charley was 21 years of age and a young man of good prospects. The funeral services were held Monday, at the M. E. church, Rev. J. I. Bittelmann officiating.

AN itinerant lecturer talked on the street in this place, Sunday, about the evils resulting from drinking whisky and beer, and the young boys kept right on getting drunk and making themselves worse than brutes, just the same as if he had not spoken.

WE wish to express our sincere thanks to the neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted us in the death and burial of our beloved father.

J. W. TOMLINSON, J. A. TOMLINSON, B. F. TOMLINSON, MRS. M. A. PANGBURN.

A NEW steam boat line is to be established between Benton Harbor and Chicago. The propeller "Mabel Bradshaw" is to be brought there from the Holland and Chicago route. This will be another chance for cheap freight rates to Benton Harbor shippers during the balance of the season, as the appearance of an opposition boat is usually made the occasion of a rate war.

ANOTHER "railroad man" from the West has stepped upon the scene to look upon St. Joseph Valley prospects. He is introduced from a source in which the people of this county have great confidence. We may know more of him later.

THERE has been a steady increase in price of wheat since the beginning of harvest, and last week reached the dollar point in this market. This price has brought a great amount of it into market. Several years have passed since the prospect for good prices for wheat has been as good as this year.

THE Evangelical Sunday school went to Mr. Housewerth's, south of Howe's school house, Tuesday morning, and were to meet two other schools there. They had just gone out of town when rain came to their relief, when they returned and held their picnic in the church basement and had a good time.

WM. MCMASTER, of Galien, put in a tubular well on Anthony Clark's place, in Vessaw township, last week, and at the depth of twenty-four feet he struck a rotten log. He went forty feet deep for water. It is the curiosity of the neighborhood to know how the log came to be there.

THE story is being told of a wealthy Jewish Rabbi, from Chicago, so unmercifully beating his daughter, a little girl of twelve years, at Hotel Oronoko, that he was invited to leave the place, which he did soon after. If the story be one-half true he ought to have been rolled down the river bank.

THE Republicans of the First District will nominate their candidate for representative to the legislature in St. Joseph, Sept. 6. It is there that St. Joseph and Benton Harbor will take occasion to give expression to the brotherly love existing between the two places.

JOHN AND ORRIN MONTAGUE have sold their farms of forty acres each, north-west of this place, to Orson Bronson. John has bought the Black & Willard 80 acres, on the Berrien road, near the Kelsey school house, for $4000, and Orrin assumes command of the Montague homestead, at Moccasin bluff.

APPLES are selling readily in this market for $1 per bushel, and a farmer living between here and Niles is said to have raised about 1,200 bushels of them and not half try. It is the fellow who raises crops when other people do not who reaps the bonanza.

WE call attention to the advertisement of the Benton Harbor Normal and Collegiate Institute, on the first page of this paper. The institution has won a good reputation for first-class instruction, and deserves the patronage of the people of this section.

BUCHANAN beats the world for turning out to picnics, excursions and circuses. A good-sized delegation went from this place to Marion, Ind., with Fred Cook's excursion, last Thursday, and the next day over 100 went to Kalamazoo to see Barnum's circus.

KITTY, the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Koontz, died yesterday morning. She was a bright little one of about five years. Friends of the family who wish to view the remains or accompany them to the cemetery, are respectfully invited to meet at the residence, on North Main street, at 11:30, tomorrow, when the funeral will proceed to Notre Dame, Ind., and Cedar Grove cemetery, where the body will be interred. Services will probably be held at the church, at Notre Dame.

Mrs. SUSAN G. BOUGH will sell a large lot of personal property at public auction, at her residence four miles south and one-half mile east of this place, Wednesday, September 12. Considerable live stock will be included. N. Hamilton, auctioneer.
