"NEVER TROUBLE TROUBLE UNTIL TROUBLE TROUBLES YOU,"

And if you want a motto enjoyable evening. To aid your pathway through This life of double trouble For me as well as you, Why then I offer this one,

Although it is not new: It's never trouble trouble, Until trouble troubles you. Perhaps you think this motto Intended for the few,

Who lead a life of pleasur Far different from you; If so, you arê mistaken I say it is not true, I say you gain by waiting Until trouble troubles you.

Though looking dark and blue May change to other colors May take another hue; At any rate look brighter

Should never trouble you. Admitting that your sorrow Seems all that you can bear And thoughts of the to-morrov Fill you with deep despair; Why not let hope triumphant,

Drive all your cares away?

The sun may shine as brightly

MY IMITATION WIFE

I had just adjusted my tie, taken up my hat and was pretending to leave, when the door slowly opened and my mother came in. "Going out, are you, Tom?" said she.

'Yes. ma'am.' "Where, to another party?" "Yes, ma'am." "That makes three this week, doesn't "Yes, ma'am. We're hurrying to get through. Goin' to take Miss Beaufort to-night, and then I'm done with the Jolly Club's parties." Mother, somehow or other, did not seem to think very much of what I

"Tom, I wish you would get married," she said with a troubled face. "I be ieve you would stay at home more."
"Well, I am awful tired, mother, and completely worn out."

'Then why don't you quit it?" "The best reason in the world, mother. I am neither engaged nor in love, but I'm willing to be both." It was getting late so 1 started, after this, but the sad look on my mother's face set me to thinking. My mother is the best woman in the world, eyen if I do say it myself, and I felt worried about her. She was right. I was out nearly every evening. This evening at a reception, next time at a ball, then theatre party, and so or

Of course I could well afford it, for my salary as cashier at Hart's was a liberal one. But-I wasn't saving a cent, and my own home folks never saw me except at the table. Even poor old patient mother was complaining. But I was having lots of fun. There was that Beaufort girl. She was a fine one. Could dance any dance, talk about anything, and make you have the finest time in the world. Then there was Vene Wright. would take in the base ball with a fellow, go rowing, skating, anything for Then Vene had money. That was an important item. Why shouldn't I tackle Miss Vene on the subject of matrimony? "Thomas, old son," said I to myself," "Vene is the one." But Vene, somehow or other, did not exactly suit the case, and my mind reverted to Miss Beaufort. Miss Beaufort was smart, pretty, stylish and suited better, but I knew nothing about her financial standing. This was an important matter to me in those

Meanwhile the coupe had neared Miss Beaufort's. I had never been there before, and to my surprise found it to be a very unpretentious house. I confess I was disappointed. I expected to drive up to an elegant mansion, be ushered into a fine reception room by a servaut in livery, and there await the coming of Miss Beaufort. Then I expected to make a bold dash for her heart-propose, and possibly be accepted or declined by the time the party was over. But not so. A little lady with gray hair opened the door, and she was introduced to me by Miss Beaufort as mamma. Miss Beaufort was ready and waiting, so we walked out to the "Mr. Silver," said she, "don't you think there is a great amount of snobbery in society, and lots of downright foolishness?

"Well, yes," said I.
"For instance," said she, "here is an elegant coupe that you have brought for me, and yet the party is not two blocks away.

This certainly was very refreshing. I had actually squandered five dollars to have this coupe for the evening, and she was not pl-ased with it. I know Vene would have enjoyed a ride in it. "Mr. Silver," said she to me again, "this is the last party I am going to this winter."

"Well, why?" said I. "Aren't you going to take in the German Club ball and the others?" "No," said she. "Mamma hasn't the money; she can't afford it. Mr. Silver," she continued, "can you really afford to spend so much money on society?"
I looked at her. There was honesty fairly shining out of her pretty eyes, even if she wasn't very polite. So I answered her honestly. "No. Miss Beaufort, I cannot! haven't saved a cent this winter, and I get a big salary, too. It seems idiotic." "Well," said she, "I have met you out so frequently, I feel quite well acquainted with you, and I expect I have been a little impolite."

"No," said I. "I am glad that you take that much interest in me." Then we changed the subject, I had splendid time at the party, and enjoyed Miss Beaufort's company very much. I found her level-headed and bright, if she was too frank. The next day I told mother about it.

She said that she admired Miss Beaufort for her common-sense, if she hadn't seen her. Then she referred again to my getting married. "Suppose," said she, "that you pretend for a week or so that you are married, and see how it goes."

"An imitation wife," said I.

"Why not." said she. "I will write the name of a young lady on a card. seal it in an envelope, and you can lock it in your desk. Th that you are married to her say for two weeks. During that time I want you to act just as if the lady were here in person, and your lawfully wedded wife." "Whose name are you going to write on the card?" said I "Never mind," said she. "I will write my preference, and neither of us will breath a word about this to a living We agreed on this. Mother wrote the name on the card and sealed it in the envelope. I knew it was Vene Wright's name, so I decided to imagine that Vene was there in person, and so

Monday night came. That was the night of the bachelor's german, but I stayed at home and talked to mother. Then I played euchre with her for a while, and we managed to have a very Next morning mother met me at the table with smiles, and about the best breakfast I had eaten in a long while. "You must imagine that your wife saw to this breakfast," she whispered. Going up on the street car that morning, who should get on but Miss Beaufort. I bowed to her gracefully, deposited her fare in the nickle box, and was about to sit down by her when I happened to think of my imitation wife at home, and walked to the rear end of the car. "Married men have no business talking to the young ladies," said I to my-

Miss Beaufort looked at me rather queerly, but said nothing, and I thought the car never would get up town. Thursday was my evering to call on Vene, and I forgot to send her an excuse. Friday, came a note from her, which mother took the liberty of opening, as she thought I would not care, and she felt like representing my wife in the desk. It was a tender missiye, and somewhat surprised me when I saw it. But what could I do. Married men have no business getting tender notes from young ladies. Inasmuch as I had contracted to carry out mother's plan for two weeks, I left the note for mother to answer. She is a very truthful woman, but in answering the note she prevaricated.

She said that I was very sick, and as a natural consequence Vene called that afternoon to see me, but I was up town and mother had to invent another story. Then mother had to come all the way up town so as to keep me from coming down town my usual way

I laughed a good deal at mother, and Vene did not find us out, but the society reporter of the paper met her, she told him I was sick, and the next day all of my society friends came around among them Miss Beaufort. Mother met her rather coldly, but invited her to stay awhile. "I suppose Mr. Silver is almost worn out with so much going out," said the voung lady. "He is much better," said mother, Needed Legislation. She had gone away and left her chewing gum stuck on the back of the sofa, and it was perhaps unfortunate that her little brother saw it. ' It was certainly grotesque of him to carefully dig out its inside, fill up the cavity with red pepper, carefully plug up the hole and put the gum back in its place. It was little short of calamitous that her beau should call just at that moment in the evening when she had put the gum back in her mouth again. He could not understand her demeanor. He does not even yet comprehend why she danced and shricked, and finally ran out of the room. An Eccentric "Slycoon." Illinois a small cottage just at the edge of a recent cyclone was moved by the wind thirty or forty feet without injuring the structure materially. The family was scarcely aware of the movement, but coals were scattered from the grate upon the floor and there was danger of a conflagration. The head of the family seized a bucket and hastened to the well for water, but no well was to be found! The house had covered it, but the patriarch did not notice this fact. Rushing back to the house he excitedly exclaimed:—

How to Destroy Moths. Customs of Heligoland.

In Heligoland marriage cancels every Close all the windows and all doors other engagement, so that there can be no breach of promise brought against a man when once he is married. The fisher-girls bait the hooks and carry them in a large wooden basket filled with sand to the fishermen on the beach. This is by no means a light burden; yet they may be seen cheerfully chatting with their companions as they march onward with woollen shawls over their heads. The streets bear English names, but the natives have their own names for them also. Heligoland has a small prison, but those in power seldom lock any one up, as they do not care to board the prisoner. There is also a small cottage hospital ready for use if necessary, but patients are few and far between. There is also a poorhouse. Here poor people live rent free. The plan adopted is for parents and children to go before the magistrate, when the former resign any little property they may possess to their children, who in their turn promise to find them in food. When the husband dies the wife takes his property, and at her decease it is equally divided between the children. There are no horses or donkeys on Heligoland, for they would be useless there; but there are eight cows and about thirty sheep tethered and milked, the milk being considered superior to that of cows. Dr. Lannelongue, an eminent specialist in the Children's Hospital, Paris, has just succeeded in the effort to give intelligence to a poor little idiot. The child, a little girl four years old, had a deformed head, only about one-third the size of an ordinary little one of her age. She never smiled, never took notice of anything, and she could neither walk nor stand. The doctor became convinced that the condition of the creature was due to the abnormal narrowness of the head, which hindered the natural growth of the brain. About the middle of May last he made a long narrow incision in the center of the "Don't you think a man ought to skull and cut a portion out of the left side of it, without injuring the "dura mater." After a series of very careful experiments, Prof. Cohn. of Breslau, has found that the heating of damp hay to a temperature sufficient to cause the spontaneous combustion of it is due to a fungus. He first studied the heatgenerating action of Aspergillus fumigatus, which has the bad reputation of heating barley in the course of germination and of rendering it sterile. Through the effect of the respiration of the little germ, that is to say through the combustion of the starch and other hydrocarburets which the diastasic ferment converts into maltose and dextrine, the temperature is raised by about 40°. The heating of the germs to more than 60° occurs only through the intervention of the Aspergillus, which acts as a ferment. Under these conditions it reaches its greatest

Difference in Sponges. There are a great many people who cannot tell the difference between "Turkey cups" and common reef sponges and they are astounded at the difference in price. They are asked eight dollars for what they think they can get just as good for twenty-five cents. There are sponges from Florida called sheep's wool, which, in the opinion of many buyers, are as good, although much cheaper, for all practical purposes as the silk ones. They are used mainly for washing carriages, although they make a good bathing sponge. Reef sponges come from Cuba and Nassua. Turkey cups from around the islands of the Archipelago. Sheep's wool and reef shonges come in ten twenty, and forty pound bales, and the finest of the former, known as Rock Island goods, sell wholesale at from two dollars to three dollars per pound. Not Original. Chinese men of quality consider it beneath their dignity to invent their own jokes. When they go into society each carries with him a collection of bon mots and smart repartees, obtained from various sources, and when he thinks the time has come for him to make a sage remark he turns over the leaves of his common-place book till he lights on a suitable passage, which he gravely points out to his neighbor. The latter reads the passage with equal gravity, whereupon he selects from his own stock an appropriate rejoinder, which he shows the other with a bow. sulting engineer of the Cataract Construction Company, some six months ago, and is now in England in consul-tation with some of the most prominent engineers, constituting a commission to decide upon plans for utilizing the water power of Niagara Falls. Of this international commission Sig Wm. Thomson is the President; Prof. Sellers represents America; Prof. Mascart, France; and Theo. Tourit, Switzerland. This Cataract Construction Company has secured a large area of land (several square miles) on the Ni-agara River, beginning a mile and a half above the falls, and all rights of way for carrying a tunnel under Niagara Village to a point below the falls. The general plan is to construct a tunnel about 27 feet in diameter from a point below the falls to the upper limit of the secured property. The tunnel will have lateral branches at a depth of about 100 feet from the surface, into which will be sunk numerous vertical shafts at the point where power will be required. A system of surface canals will bring the water of the river to the heads of these shafts, and its ac tion on turbines at the lower ends of the shafts will develop the power, estimated we believe, in the aggregate, at about 150,000 horse power. The amount of water diverted for this purpose will be a small fraction of one per cent of that going over the falls.-Stevens Indicator.

Across the Water. An American finds it difficult to accustom himself to English as it is spoken in London. What we call crackers here are called biscuit and suspect that this is strictly correct. What we call shoes are here known as boots, and what we call boots are here known as bluchers. There is one shoe called the highlow. because it runs high from the heel up back of the ankle, and is cut low in front. Our druggist is here a chemist, many of the other practictioners retaining the old spelling—"chymist." What we call ale is here known as bitter beer. What is here known as hash we should call a stew, and what we call hash is here known as a mince. In England our overcoat becomes a vest, and our drawers become pantaloons. It is said that when George W. bly never be determined which of these usages is the better. A Paradox. Two persons may be born at the same time and die at the same time and one live one hundred days more than the other. The explanation of this riddle turns upon the familiar fact that a person who goes round the world toward the west loses a day, while the person who travels in the opposite direction gains a day. We will suppose, then, that the two men in question were born at the same instant it St. Louis, from whence a trip round the world may easily be made once a year. One of them goes always toward the west, the other toward the east. One loses a day every year, the other gains a day every year. When the men die, at fifty years of age, one has seen one hundred days more than

During its construction the carpenters and joiners used over 6,500,000 feet of lumber of all kinds, besides thirty-two carloads of nails, which if packed would make the enormous amount of 10,000 common kegs; the best calculators say that the actual number of nails used in the mighty building will fall but few, if any, under 20,000,000. The engine used is capable of handling 175,000 to 200,000 bushels of grain per day, or enough during the year to equal the combined products of the State of

In 1883 there was no tariff on wire nails and they sold for six cents a pound. At that time a tariff of four cents a pound was placed on them. According to free trade figuring this ought to make them sell for ten cents. It didn't work that way, however. In 1883 there were 50,000 kegs made, but in 1889 under the "iniquitous robber tariff, which grinds the face of the poor to feed the rich," 2,500,000 kegs were made in this country and they sold at an average of 215 cents a pound. Horrible thing, isn't it?

Maine, "the State of Blaine," held an election Monday for State officers and Congressmen. The hardest fight was in the district now represented by Speaker Reed, where it was hoped and believed by the Democrats that he would be defeated, if a free use of Mr. Reed's friends expected he would be ré-elected by 1,500, while Mr. Reed put his own majority at 1,000. But when the people spoke through their little ballots it was found that his majority would exceed 4,500, much the largest he ever received in the district. Ex-Judge Isaac P. Christiancy died at his home in Lansing on Monday evening, after long suffering, of cancer. Judge Christiancy was born at Johnstown, N. Y., in March, 1812. His education was in the common schools, and afterward as a teacher. He studied law, came to Monroe, this State, in 1836, and completed his studies. He took high rank as a lawyer, and from 1838 to 1857 practiced at Monroe. From 1841 to 1846 he was prosecuting attorney; in 1848 he was a delegate and leader at the National Free Soil Convention at Buffalo; was State Senator in 1850-51, and Free Soil candidate for the A. O. U. W., and the funeral will Governor in 1852. He was the leader and prime mover in the political combination in the Whig and Free Soil parties in 1854, from which sprang the Republican party. He was a delegate to the first National Republican Convention at Philadelphia in 1856. He purchased and edited the Monroe Commercial for awhile. In 1857 he was elected Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. and was re-elected in 1865 and 1873, serving a part of the time as Chief Justice. In 1875 he was elected United States Senator, and after a service of two years was appointed Minister to Peru. He remained in Lima for several years, when he resigned returning to this State. He was an able judge and an upright gentleman.

IT appears that railroad improvements, in Niles, are not materializing very fast. The Mirror, in an article headed, "What is the Matter?" says: That is the daily question asked at this office. The people of this city voted with great unanimity $8,000 for tunnel under the Central railroad at Niles. The matter is entirely separate from any other improvement. The company have been voted all they asked, and yet no movement is made in the matter. It was said Mr. Ledvard was in Europe, and wait. Mr. L. got back, and still it is wait. Now Mr. Russell, their attorney, is in Europe, and another wait. The bonds have not been issued and better not be until all the red tape has been gone through with. The long delay makes those who voted for it sick, and the whole matter, viaduct and all, might as well be abandoned.

The Handsome Mrs. Ben Adams Charged With Another Forgery. Some weeks ago the Tribune contained an account of the arrest of Mrs. Ben Adams on the charge of forging the name of M. H. Garwood, of Clay town-ship, to a note of $335, which she at-tempted to negotiate. The note was made payable to E. E. Wilson, who is the divorced wife of Del Wilson, who was sent to prison not long ago for larceny. Mrs. Wilson, though, is an innocent party as she had no knowledge of the use of her name. Since her arrest Mrs. Adams was taken from the jail to the hospital during a spell of sickness, but is now back in jail Last Saturday John Garwood received notification from the First National bank at Niles, that his note of $310 was due. He went to the bank and told the cashier there must be a mistake as he had no notes out. A note of $310 drawn in favor of E. E. Wilson was shown him and he immediately pro-nounced his signature a forgery. The bank had bought the note of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Adams at about the same time she tried to sell J. F. Kirby, of this city, the M. H. Garwood note. Ben Adams' father lives on a farm between here and Niles and not far from the Garwoods. He married the woman now in jail, about two years ago and circulated the report that there was a large fortune coming to her from Pennsylvania. The couple rented the old Michigan street M. E. parsonage, bought fine furniture, carpets, etc., on credit and lived on the fat of the land on credit. The crash came when the fortune proved a myth, and they left the city owing everybody who had trusted them. He went to Buchanan where he is now at work in a windmill factory and the woman is in jail.

He was a most respected citizen, quiet and happy in all his family relations, in easy circumstances and very industrious and honorable. He was a son of Stephen R. Johnson, who was roadmaster on the Central until his death, some years since. The jury decided that it was a plain case of temporary insanity. He had a sunstroke two or three years ago, and since then has at times been severely afflicted in the head and no doubt this created temporary insanity. He was much respected by all, and his afflicted mother and family have the sympathy of the com-munity. How It Happened.

Following is the Niles Star account of the death of Edward Ballard: He was engaged with his two brothers and others in filling a silo with cutcorn feed. The silo was twenty-five feet from top to bottom. There was two apartments to it. The one they were filling was about two-thirds full, and the division not being sufficiently braced began to spring out in the center. Edward being in the loft, went down with a brace to stay it. He had got down within about six feet of the bottom of the pit when he was overcome by the gas which had accumulated at the bottom from the heated corn in the adjoining apartment, and from the gas which arose from the newly painted inside with gas tar. He called for a rope and fell. Harry, his brother, let down a ladder and rushed down to rescue him, but he, too, was overcome and fell. A hole was then broken open from the outside. Ralph, another brother, went down another ladder, through the hole thus made, with a rope attached to him. and with a rope to attach to one of the boys in there. He succeeded in getting it around Harry when he himself was suffocated and was pulled out. Harry was hauled out next in an unconscious condition, but was breathing and soon recovered. Ralph again went down for Edward, but was so soon overcome that the hitch was not perfect, when he had to be pulled out again. Again he descended and succeeded in making a firm hitch, and they were both pulled out, but it was too late with poor Edward. He was past all recovery. He prime of manhood.

Chilled Plow Works after going to his home last evening, and reading the account in the Tribune of the Chan Carpenter's horses and wagon and a lot of wheat, remembered that he had seen two gray horses grazing in a field on the Clem Studebaker farm, west of the factory, all day, and he lost no time in notifying the authorities. Sheriff Finch, Officer Brown, of the city police force, and others repaired to the place and after a long search in the dark succeeded in capturing the horses. They had been unharnessed and the harness and wagon left in one corner of the field, while the horses were turned loose. They were secured and the outfit taken down to the sheriff's barn, and this morning turned over to Mr. Carpenter, who had returned from his fruitless search after the missing property in the region of Niles and Buchanan. No wheat was found in the wagon From all appearances the thief, after depositing his load behind the tall hedge fence, on Portage avenue, must the secluded field back of the plow works. The inference is that he was overtaken by daylight, and was forcedto go in hiding with the hope that the team and the load of wheat would not be discovered during the day, and he might get an early start the next night to get away from this part of the counbe conducted by that order.—Niles try with his booty. It was not a very shrewd trick to say the least It appears from the evidence at hand now that the man arrested yesterday who gave the name of Charles Long was certainly implicated in the robbery. Indeed, the fact that he had one of into custody is sufficient to give him a short term in the penitentiary, and is pretty good proof that he had been prowling around the Carpenter premises and had broken into the house, as the shirt was taken from a pile of clothes in the back kitchen. Long knows something about the whole affair anyhow, but he will say nothing. Mrs. Carpenter in a call at the jail to look at the man, recognized the shirt he had on as one belonging to her hus-

Michigan's Wheat Crop.

LANSING, Mich., Sept. 8.—The Michigan crop report for September is com-piled from the reports of 621 correspondents. The average yield of wheat, as reported by thrashers in the southern counties, is 16.84 bushels per acre; in the central 16.82, and in the northern 14.53 bushels, which indicates a total yield in the State of about 24,000,000 bushe's, or an excess of nearly 2,000,000 over the crop of 1889. The quantity of wheat marketed in August was 1,471, 764 bushels. This is 789,671 in excess of the quantity marketed in August last year. Oats yield 25,91 bushets in the State. Corn will yield about threefourths of an average crop, and this 47 per cent has been greatly improved by recent rains, and the yield will un doubtedly be slightly increased. The yield of winter apples will be about 20 per cent of an average crop in southern sections, 25 in the central, and 27 in the northern. The farm statistics show that on May 1 there were in the State 396,883 horses; milk cows, 405,-675: other cattle, 363,519; hogs, 450,-748; sheep, 1,908,254. Horses and cows have increased since last year and all the others decreased—sheep to the number of 26,725. The number of sheep reported sheared in 1889 was 1,-944,197, and the pounds of wool 11.983,-491. At the same average, six and onesixth pounds per head, the clip of this year will approximate 11,754,844

THE modern magazine may be taken as embodying the best literature of the world, as the magazine editor pays the highest price to novelists, scientists, soldiers, and even kings and princes for the best they can furnish in the literary line. The well-edited magazine becomes an educating influence in the family circle, whose importance cannot be over-estimated. The children, as they grow up, are attracted by its illustrations, and come in time to have a taste for reading. There is always something that is new, something that is strange, something that is interestng; and we consider that we are doing our readers a positive benefit if we are instrumental in placing such a publication within their reach. The special arrangements which we have made with the Cosmopolitan presents very unusual inducements. That magazine is already recognized as one of the most interesting publications of the day. It is seeking subscribers every-where and obtaining them, The proprietors believe that the Cosmopolitan has only to be examined to secure a permanent subscriber. That is why we are enabled to make, if the offer is accepted before January next, such a low rate, by which our readers can obtain the Cosmopolitan for little more than the cost of this journal alone. Just think of what the combination means! You obtain your own home journal at about the regular price, and have thrown in a magazine which gives you, in a year, 1,536 pages of reading matter by the ablest writers of the world, including over 1,300 pages of illustrations that are unsurpassed in point of interest and execution. MORTGAGE SALE. First publication Sept 4, 1890, First publication Sept. 4, 1890.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a certain indenture of mortgage made and executed by George F. Edwards and Mary K. Edwards, his wife, of the city of Niles, Berrien County, and State of Michigan, to William J. Gilbert, of same place, bearing date the 30th day of December, A. D. 1882, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said county of Berrien, on the 6th day of February, 1833, in Liber 29 of Mortgages, on page 18, which said mortgage was, on the 24th day of September, A. D. 1837, duly assigned to Clara Menz, of said City of Niles, by written assignment duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said County, on the 29th day of August, A. D. 1890, in Liber 44 of Mortgages, at page 361. By reason of said default the power of saie in said mortgage has become operative, and no suit or proceeding at law or in equity having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, which at this date amounts to two hundred seventy-three and 60-100 dollars ($273.60), notice is hereby given that on Monday, the 1st day of December, Monday, the 1st day of December, 1840, at 12 o'clock noon, at the front door of the Court House, in the village of Berrien Springs, in the County of Berrien and State of Michigan, I shall sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due thereon, with costs and expenses allowed by law, including an attorney fee of fifteen dollars, which said premises are described as Lot 19 in William Bort's addition to the City of Niles, also described as commencing at the south-west corner of Grant and Spruce streets, running thence south eight rods, thence west four rods, thence north eight rods, thence east four rods to place of beginning.

DRAIN LETTING.

NOTICE is hereby given, that I, Charles A. Witte, Drain Commissioner of the Township of Galien, County of Berrien and State of Michigan, will, on the 6th day of September, A.D. 1890, at the Drain, in said township of Galien, at nine o'clock in the forenoon of that day, proceed to receive bids for the construction of a Drain known as the "Clark and Swank Drain," located and established in the said township of Galien, and described as follows, and known as the "Clark and Swank Drain." To widen and deepen said Drain, of which plans and specifications are now on file with other papers pertaining to said Drain in the office of the Township Clerk, to which reference may be had by all parties interested, and bids will be made and received accordingly. Contracts will be made with the lowest responsible bidder giving adequate security for the performance of the work, in a sum then and there to be fixed by me, reserving to myself the right to reject any and all bids. The date for the completion of such contract, and the terms of payment therefor, shall be announced at time and place of letting. Notice is further heierby given, that at the time and place thereafter to which I, the Drain Commissioner aforesaid, may adjourn the same, the assessment for benefits, and the lands-comprised within the Clark and Swank Drain special assessment district, will be subject to review.

ACCIDENT-Tom Barnes had the misfortune to get the end of his thumb smashed in the sanding machine in the new furniture factory, Saturday morning. The machine was being turned by hand at the time, otherwise he would have been very likely to have lost his hand. As it was the entire nail was torn off and the flesh of the under part of the thumb crushed. Dr. Dodd dressed the wound. Tom says this is the sixth time Dr. Dodd has trimmed his fingers.

THE candidacy of Mr. W. A. Palmer for Sheriff, casually mentioned last week, we now mention unqualifiedly. Mr. Palmer has served the people in the capacity of Deputy Sheriff, Under Sheriff and Deputy United States Marshal a number of years, and always with efficacy. It is conceded without regard to party preferences, that he has proven one of our best officers, as a deputy, and we should be pleased to see him receive the endorsement of the Convention, next Wednesday, for the office of Sheriff.

THE RECORD is mad. We had trotted out County Clerk Potter as the proper candidate for the legislature on the Republican ticket in this district, and now the Republicans of the First district, at their convention in St. Joseph Saturday, nominated him to represent that district. This is perhaps better for him as he is sure of an election in that district, while here he would have an adverse majority of about 156, as shown by the election two years ago, to climb over. This is one of those rarities we have read about in ancient history. A clear case of the office seeking the man,

Miss Maggie Hastings, of Niles, is Fruit visiting in this place this week. Monday she had quite an experience. She and Miss Belva Harris went to the Sugar river to attend the baptismal ceremonies. When they were ready to re- Spice " Miss Harris jumped at once, but Miss Hastings was thrown under the carriage which was upset, caught in the Frosted Creams, Cup Cakes, top and dragged a considerable distance,

MR. ALFRED RICHARDS is in most excellent spirts. A few weeks since he prepared a mushroom bed, noted by the RECORD at the time, and his experiment of raising English mushrooms has proved successful. He has some nice specimens, and as the bed is expected to bear about six weeks, he expects to reap a small-sized harvest and enlarge the plant. There is nothing very inviting in the appearance of the things as eatables, but they sell in the delicacy markets as high as $1.50 per pound, and are not light weight either. We will all wish Mr. Richards the greatest success in his experiment.

HUNTINGTON, Ind.; Sept, 6, 1890. MR. EDITOR:-While in your thriving town, a few days ago, the writer and his family, together with a few friends was invited to dine at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mathews, and I wish, in behalf of all present, to thank them for their untiring efforts to make the day one of unalloyed enjoyment. Mr. and Mrs. Mathews possess the rare faculty of making all their guests feel perfectly at ease. The day spent with them shall be set down in my calender as one of the very happiest. HORACE G. WEESE, ALBERT TOMLINSON, one of the old pioneers of this county, died at his son Benjamin's, three miles north of Buchanan, Aug. 21, 1890. The deceased was born in Garrard Co., Ky., 1816. Was married to Lucinda Levil and moved to St. Joseph Co., in 1836. Eight children were born to them. 1854 he moved to Berrien Co., Mich., where he resided until his death. He has been a long and patient sufferer for many years. His great anxiety was to live to see his birthday, but on Thursday, Aug 21, death came and claimed its own, and on the the 23d his remains were laid to rest in mother earth, that being his birthday. He leaves mourning on the shores of immortality three sons and one daughter.

BENTON HARBOR and St. Joseph are managing to keep their fight at whiteheat, and are carrying it into politics, at least into the legislative contest. They each also have a candidate for prosecuting attorney, and while it is quite generally conceded to that end of the county, a squabble over the nomination will likely lead to the defeat of both candidates. Aside from the question of having the office in that end of the county, the RECORD favors the nomination of E. L. Hamilton, of Niles, for that office. He is as bright and stirring a young attorney as the county possesses, and is not mixed up with any quarrels by which he is likely to lose the vote of any whole township.

A MAN, whose name is given us as John Sedorias, employed as a stock buyer by Major, of South Bend, cut a caper a few days since that marks him as a character who ought to be brought up standing. He bought a lot of stock north of this place, and hired Mr. Decker to drive it to South Bend for $1.50 and expenses. A job well worth $3. When Decker had his work faithfully done, taking him two days, this fellow gave Decker twenty-five cents. with the remark that this made them square, and because Decker did not have gumption enough to knock him down and stand on his neck, that is all he has been able to get for his two days' work. When this man or his employer ventures on this side of the state line again, they may come with the expectation of staying until Mr. Decker is given a fair pay for his work. The man who will take this kind of an advantage of such a person is not the one that it will be safe to trust very cently. He was bathing, when he perceived in the water a little way beyond him a fish of unusually large proportions swimming along within a very short distance of the bank and rapidly approaching him. As he saw the magnificent specimen of the sturgeon species the thought of securing it without the usual implements flashed across his mind, and he de termined to make one effort to secure the "monarch of the lakes."

As the fish approached the bank on which the boy was standing the latter prepared to dive, and before the sturgeon was quite opposite the youth gave a leap, a plunge and dived beneath the water. Ere the astonished sturgeon could either escape or recover from the consternation caused by the sudden disturbance of the waters he was a prisoner in the arms of the youth, who could with difficulty retain his hold of his slippery customer.

The struggles of the now desperate sturgeon were now pertinacious and nearly crowned with victory, though they became almost entirely ineffectual, and were rendered completely so by the aid of a companion of the boy, who ran to his assistance.

Their united efforts soon completed the victory over his sturgeonship, and laid him panting on the bank, a proof of the triumph of muscle. After resting a while from the fatigue caused by the combat under water they carried the sturgeon home, where it was weighed, turning the scales at just seventy pounds.—Exchange.

A Transpacific Cable.

The Colonies and India, of London, says that "the breaking of the Australian cables and the consequent cutting off of those colonies from communication with the outer world for several days emphasizes in the strongest possible way the necessity of constructing an alternative cable across the Pacific ocean between British Columbia and Sydney or Brisbane. The lesson will no doubt not be lost upon our Australian cousins. It is said that her majesty's government . has decided not to share in the guarantee the companies require in order to effect the proposed reductions in the existing cable rates, and it was hardly expected that it would do so. It might, however, view with greater favor the laying of the new line, and the subsidies the colonies are now asked to give for · perpetuating for a time the monopoly of the old line, with assistance from Canada and from the imperial government, would, it is believed, permit of arrangements being made for the construction of the Pacific cable, and probably insure a reduced tariff by both lines."

In a salt mine near Hermannstadt, in Hungary, which had for many years been full of water and was visited by tourists on account of its great depth and its repeating echo, a recent heavy rainfall raised the water to an extraordinary height. Recently a number of dead bodies appeared on the surface, and they were taken out, with considerable danger to those who undertook the task. They were found to be the bodies of Hungarian Honveds, 300 of whom fell in the battle of Viz Akna on the 4th of February, 1849, and instead of being buried were thrown into the salt lake of the mine. The bodies are so well preserved that the wounds which caused death may be seen quite plainly. Two of the bodies are headless.—Cor.

Big Chicken Pie.

The citizens of Columbus, Ga., had a big barbecue. Among the novelties was a chicken pie, thus described: "The pie was 7 feet long and 5 feet broad, and as deep as would hold ten dozen chickens. Every chicken had yellow legs, a drumstick for the babies and a wing for the girls. After the pie was eaten the van was auctioned off, the proceeds to go to the girl under 15 years of age that brings to the Chattahoochee Valley exposition in November the finest pone of bread baked by herself.'

Urben Getchell, of Limestone, Me., witnessed a novel sight last week while driving near that village. He came on seven bears unawares, three of them full grown and four cubs quite large. The old ones made for the woods, but the cubs had their gambols out before they followed. Urben says it was a nice sight, but his hair seemed to grow very rapidly, and raised his hat from its usual place. The bears were seen by two other persons.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Convulsed His Neighbors.

An American "millionaire," who has taken a country vicarage in a west Midland county for two months, has quite convulsed his new neighbors by the magnitude of his establishment, to accommodate which a large extra house has been hired. It includes thirty servants. twenty horses, twelve dogs, four cows and fourteen cats.—London Truth.

A Boston caterer, who looked after the feeding of 7,000 veterans during the four days of the Grand Army encampment, has since been figuring, and finds that his guests consumed 10,000 loaves of bread, nearly 10,000 doughnuts, two tons of hams, three-quarters of a ton of tongue and the same amount of corned beef; 300 gallons of baked beans, 16,000 eggs, 350 barrels of potatoes, one ton of coffee and two chests of tea.

The tower of the Philadelphia city hall is now 335 feet high, yet on top of that 8,000 tons of iron and bronze are to be placed. There is to be a clock tower, the dials of which are to be 27 feet in diaméter, surmounted by a statue of William Penn 37 feet high, and there will be numerous statues.

"Uncle Dave," one of Andrew Jackson's soldiers, died near Sheffield, Ala., recently. His wife died in 1842, and every day since her burial he has prayed

Doctors at Berlin. The array of doctors has apparently enjoyed itself amazingly at Berlin, where science and surgery have been judiciously tempered with amusements of the most varied description. In the history of the world no such array of medicine men has ever been seen as that which met in the gorgeous Kunst Anstellung to listen to the welcoming words of Virchow, the pathologist; Von Gossler, the minister of medicine and religion (an excellent combination of functions), and Von Palckenbeck, the chief burgomaster.

Sir James Paget secured the warmest reception of the foreign delegates: Dr. Baccelli, the Italian, "for the convenience of his cari colleghi," insisted on using Latin as a common language, and Dr. Von Bergmann's normal appearance has been vastly improved, by his brand new uniform, although the passing interest he once excited was wholly eclipsed by Grand Duke Theodore. of Bavaria, the eminent oculist, who brought the grand duchess to look down on her husband's 5,000 fellow practitioners from a hox. The heat was more than tropical, but the doctors submitted to be closely packed with the best possible grace, and the one royalty of the whole European faculty was indefatigable in pointing out to his wife such celebrities as the veteran Von Bardeleben, whose breast glittered with orders; Sir William McCormack and fifty others.-Lon-

TO STUDY BUT THOUT CHEW THE PRINTED mink and otter skins, the price went down and now the animals abound in the state again. So numerous have minks become there that they are getting to be quite familiar with country people. Recently a mink, frightened by sharp thunder storm, fled out of a meadow, rushed into a farmer's dwelling, and raced from room to room until a hound caught him upstairs in a cham-

A still more remarkable incident occurred in Hartford a few days ago. A mink trotted right into the heart of the city, among throngs of people on the streets, and passed all kinds of dogs with impunity, and finally made his way into the back yard of a big store on Asylum street. In the yard men cornered him and tried to capture him alive, but he fought so desperately that they had to kill him.-Philadelphia Ledger.

Mountains Full of Gold. Recent explorations of the Olympic mountains have been of great interest to mining men. A geologist, who has given some attention to the work of the exploring parties, says: "I have examined many specimens from the Olympic, but until of late they were of low grade outcroppings. Recently, however, some extremely rich specimens have been received. These new discoveries have excited a great deal of interest in prospectors in this region, and specimens are coming in rapidly. Not long since I received one piece that was so rich that I refused to assay it, as it could not possibly be a fair sample. It would have assayed over $100,000 per ton. There could not possibly have been in any locality any considerable quantity of quartz so rich. I have long known that this district was rich in coal and iron I am now convinced that it hides vast treasnres of silver and gold. Numerous prospecting parties are being fitted out. and hundreds of prospectors are already in the mountains, which are quite easy of

The officers and passengers of the steamship Veendam state that when the vessel was at about latitude 45, longitude 41, on Saturday, Aug. 23, they passed through the largest herd of whales that has been seen in the north Atlantic for many years. Professor J. L. Howe, of Louisville, who was a passenger, said: "The passengers were all on deck enjoying the unusual sight of a distinctive line of demarcation between the light blue waters of the Gulf stream and the half of the vessel was in one current the other half was in the other current. "Suddenly some one in the bow called out 'There she blows!' and all eyes were turned toward a light spray upon the horizon. Soon more and more puffs were seen, and in half an hour the steamer was amid a surging, bellowing herd of sea monsters. I would not at tempt to make an estimate as to their number," said Professor Howe, "but I calculated that the herd covered an area of about a hundred square miles."—New

Some Pittsburg people had a great game of euchre lately. It began in Queenstown, Ireland, and ended in Altoona Tuesday morning, with only intermissions for meals and sleep on the steamer. The contestants were Charles A. O'Brien and James Wilson side, and George J. Lnckey and William B. Neal. The deciding game of the series, the 185th, was won by Messrs. Luckey and Neal.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The summer in Europe and especially on the continent has been abominable Paris is quite lively, a kind of second season having been organized because so many people of fashion have returned from their chateaus to their clubs and mansions. Rain and hurricane alternated with singular rapidity for three or four weeks.

A miser at Dublin, Ind., having no faith in banks placed some $1,500 in gold in tomato cans, and then buried the cans under the brick floor in his cellar. One day recently going to the hiding place he found that thieves had been there before and carried off his hoard.

An Electrical Time Stamp. Wall street is interested in a novel contrivance for registering the exact time of the consummation of bargains. It is always necessary and sometimes vitally important to brokers to know the very minute of the hour when a transaction is legally completed. At times the official quotations of some stock or other change so suddenly and show such a great degree of variance that large losses and big lawsuits have been occasioned by the inability of the contracting parties to determine or agree upon the time of the receipt or cancellation of an order

Because he could not prove the exact minute of the receipt of the counter order from one of his customers a leading broker three weeks ago lost nearly $10,000 on commissions which he executed on a day when the price of the stock in which he was dealing made several sensational changes. Minutes of time were many dollars of money in that case, and on other occasions a saving or proper use of minutes may be counted in dollars instead of seconds. A good many inventions to assist the dealers in this matter of recording the exact time of their transactions have been brought to the attention of operators, but none of them has been success ful. The last device to simplify business and save time and guard against mistakes is an electrical time stamp. The device is not much larger than an ordinary stamp. It looks like a miniature ticker. The mechanism is connected with a standard time clock, and at the beginning of every minute the time indicated by the type on the stamp is changed to agree with the clock by the closing of the electric circuit. An order or paper to be stamped is placed under the figures, a button is pressed, and the exact time is printed on the face of the paper.—New York Sun.

A Cuirassier Runs Amuck. "I must slay three or four foot soldiers!" exclaimed a cuirassier named Lefranc, as with some of his comrades in the same regiment he stopped Croison, an inoffensive fantassin, in the streets of Angers, in which their respective corps were quartered on the evening of the national fete. Suiting the action to the word Lefranc drew his saber and proceeded to attack the infantryman. vho, parrying his thrusts with his bayonet as best he could, drove nearly the whole of the weapon into his adversary's side. The cuirassier reeled and then fell down dead. Croison returned quietly to his barracks, where he was put uner arrest in the course of the night. He has been tried by court martial.

His officers gave him an excellent character, and he himself declared that he much regretted what he had done, but added that his life was at stake. It was ascertained that the cuirassier had already thrashed a foot soldier belonging to another regiment on that same evenng, and Croison was acquitted, the court arriving at the conclusion that he had simply acted in self defense and had had no intention of killing his opponent outright. French soldiers always go out with their sidearms, and their conduct is, as a rule, so steady and orderly that only on rare and exceptional occasions like the one just cited do they make a bad, or rather any, use of their weapons.

An Engineer's Superstition. Elias A. Sullivan, nicknamed by friends "Yank" Sullivan, who brayely met death in the Baltimore and Ohio wreck at Osceola, was one of the best known engineers on the road. "Yank" firmly believed in all the peculiar superstitions to which railroaders as a class pin faith. Two months before his fatal wreck he took his engine, No. 475, the largest on the road, out of the repair shops. On his first trip a wreck occurred on the eastern division. This comented his half hearted faith in an unlucky Friday. His engine needed repairs shortly afterward, and was ready for the road again on the Friday previous to the night of his death ride. This time "Yank" positively refused to go out, saying an accident was sure to follow. His fears were laughed to scorn by the men collected in the round house, and Sullivan took the engine. That his words were prophetic proved too true, and it would be impossible now to get an engineer to take his engine out of the Glenwood shops on Friday.-Pittsburg

Lake Kenka Granes. Lake Kenka first became noted for the cultivation of grapes on its shores. The first vineyard was planted about 1856 on the west shore. In 1861 another was planted on Bluff Point. The business proved very profitable, and the cultivation of grapes extended until nearly all available land has been utilized. At present grape land is valued at $100 to $300 per acre and bearing vineyards $500 to $1,000, the latter price being that of the best Catawba vineyards. The present crop is very promising, and, in view of the general failure of other kinds of fruit, grape growers are expecting good prices.—Rome Sentinel.

Mackerel from the Pacific. A new industry which is springing up in Southern California is mackerel fishing, and is thus described by The Los. Angeles (Cal.) Times. Last year W. H. Maurice, a produce jobber of this city, started some men to catching mackerel off Catalina Island and salting them About twenty barrels were put up, and these, utilized as samples, made such a favorable impression that it was determined to put up a supply for the trade this year. The season's pack already has commenced at Catalina, and it promise to be very successful. The only trouble with the fishes is an embarrassment of

The schools of fish encountered are so vast that it is impossible to draw a net around one, and as only a portion is included in the sweep they get started on a run like a flock of sheep, and the major portion escape. When a small school cessful. This season's pack will be from 500 to 1,000 barrels of fish, and Mr. Maurice expects to supply orders as far east as Denver, and possibly Kansas City. The fish are said to be very fine, ranking with the imported brand "bloater mess," and averaging one and three-quarter pounds each, dressed. Very few of that choice brand reach this coast through the dealers, and those which do are sold at a fancy priceabout twenty-five cents a pound. The average supply of this coast is rated as No. 3, and commands at wholesale from $24 to $25 a barrel.

Not Eager to Save Life. Every season regularly some event happens on the Norman or Breton coast which brings into relief the anathy and indifference of the bathing box owners when any of their customers have the misfortune to be in danger while swimming. This time the perilous adventure of M. Edmond Haraucourt, poet and dramatist, is a case in point. M. Haraucourt, while swimming lately, was carried a long distance away from the shore by the current. The waves were running high at the time, and everybody gave the swimmer up as lost. His mother and friends who were watching him battling for life with the surge begged and implored the owner of the bathing boxes to send out a boat to the rescue. This the man refused to do steadfastly, alleging that, as there was no chance of saving M. Haraucourt's life, it was useless to run the risk of having the boat dashed against the rocks. In the meantime, thanks to his strength and skill as a swimmer, M. Haraucourt was enabled to get near the foot of the cliff, where he was thrown by the surge on the shore, which he had not hoped to reach again alive.-Pall Mall Gazette. Played Pocahontas' Racket. Ah Wing, a Chinese cook on a whaler, recently arrived here from Sitka with his Indian wife. The story of how he came to wed his Alaskan bride reads like the romance of Pocahontas and John Smith. The whaler on which Wing cooked was wrecked on the Alaskan coast and Wing escaped to the ice, where he was found by Indians. They treated him kindly and fed him so carefully his suspicions were aroused, and he learned from the chief's daughter that he was to be barbecued for a big feast. He made love to the damsel, and on the fatal day when he was brought out to be killed the daughter pleaded for his life, which her father granted. They were married and lived some time with the tribe, but Wing grew tired of walrus meat and escaped with his wife in a whaler. He is now tailoring in this city, his wife helping him, as she has become an adept with the needle. She shows signs of consumption, however, due to. indoor life, as she can not be induced to venture on the street, being afraid of the noise and bustle.--Cor. St. Louis Globe-

An Interesting Discovery. According to a London paper, "a dis-covery of considerable interest for archæologists was made at Conflans during the cutting of a railway from Argenteuil to Nantes. One hundred and eightyfive plaster tombs of the Merovingian epoch were found. The skeletons in them are described as being in a state of perfect preservation. One of the tombs contained two skeletons, one placed on His Congregation Never Deserted Him. A clergyman was lamenting the fact that his congregation appeared to be restless during his sermons, and declared that many of the members of his flock would get up right at a time when he fancied himself most impressive and would leave the house. "That's bad," answered a preacher, "but I must say that I do not experience any such annoyance. Not a single member of my congregation gets up and goes out during services." "You don't say so!" the first speaker exclaimed. "How do you manage it?"

"I don't manage it at all-seems to manage itself." "Don't they complain when you preach long sermon?" "No, I've never heard a word of complaint." "That is indeed singular. Your people must have been exceptionally well brought up." "No, I think not." "Then you must be one of the most eloquent of men. What is the style of your preaching?"

burg Dispatch.

The abrupt manner in which Vice President Webb treated a representative of the Knights of Labor who called as mediator between the company and the men has recalled the fact that all the Webb boys are disposed to be perempto and stronger men than themselves. In the very older days of Dr. Seward Webb as a railroad man he attempted a little show of authority with Mr. Jay Gould, which that gentleman treated in his dry, sarcastic way. It seems that W. H. Vanderbilt was just dead when his son-in-law, Dr. Webb, in a business letter, called Mr. Gould rather peremptorily to account, and presented his ultimatum in a matter concerning some exchange of business between the Vanderbilt and

Gould roads. Dr. Webb's idea was to hurry Mr. Gould to a settlement. But Mr. Gould was not to be hurried, or even brought to a consideration of the case, and he wrote a short note to Mr. Webb in which he simply said that his sorrow over the death of Mr. Vanderbilt three or four days before had been so poignant that he was unable to consider any business with his son-in-law at present. It is probable that Mr. Gould has not heard from Dr. Seward Webb since.-Philadelphia Press.

The Old Whaling Towns Picking Up. According to The Providence Journal an interesting and gratifying disclosure of the census is that of the revival of the old whaling towns. The whale fishery centers, where once the coming and going of busy ships gave a lively air of industry to the wharves and streets, felt the decadence of this fishery as an almost fatal blow, and in the decades immediately succeeding the fifties remained sorrowful monuments to a great industry's decay. Now, however, they seem to be recovering their old time energy, and it is not unlikely that an inheritance of the same enterprise which characterized them in the past will once more push them steadily forward. New Bedford, formerly the greatest whaling port on the whole coast, now boasts a population of 41,044, a gain of more than 50 per cent. since 1880, and New London, the second port in importance, has gained some 80 per cent, or more in the same

No Tail, Poor Thing. There was born on the ranch of Victor Piezza, near town, last week, a calf with absolutely no tail, and otherwise perfectly formed. This freak of nature is owned in Santa Rosa. His calfship starts out in the race of life against almost overpowering odds-odds sufficient to discourage any ordinary or average calf, but this calf is by no means an ordinary one, and he will probably make his mark in life. It would be an act of simple justice to see that this particular calf is given more than his usual share of rope on every possible occasion.-Sebastopol Times.

Migratory Bee Keeping An apiary on wheels is one of the latest innovations in California. After the foothills have been pastured the bee herder moves his bees to a higher elevation, where the industrious insects gather the nectar stored in the blossoms of wild clover, chapparal and other plants, and when these have been relieved of their saccharine matter the bees are again moved to a higher elevation, where flowers peculiar to their region yield up their sweets to them.-Monrovia (Cal.) Messenger.

A young woman visiting the family of W. H. Moon, of Greenville county, S. C., was standing near a post on the piazza, when the 8-year-old daughter of the house came up noiselessly from behind and playfully clutched her dress. The young woman, startled, lost her balance, and to save herself seized the post, which gave way, falling with the young woman back on the child, who was instantly killed.

Tapped a Volcano. Intelligence has just reached here of a remarkable phenomenon five miles west of Goodland, I. T., and about thirty miles northwest of this city. Some time since a white man named Charlie Gooding employed an Irishman named Mike Duhaney to dig a well on his place. A depth of sixty feet was reached at noon. After noon Duhaney started to go down to resume work. When about twenty feet below the surface he screamed to his assistants above to haul him out quick, as he was burning up. He was pulled up in an unconscious condition, and it was two hours before he

The poor fellow was literally blistered. A coat which had been thrown across the windlass was scorched till it crumbled to pieces. The rope was also burned until it fell apart. Hay Fever Preventive. Dr. William Thompson, of Fourth avenue, is a hay fever victim, and suffers terribly about this season every year. Before the 16th of August in each year he lays in five or six dollars' worth of medicine. The fever was two or three days late this year, but after calling on Frank Calhoun to exchange notes, and hearing him sneeze, Dr. Thompson began also. He has invented a device which he thinks will eventually save him the yearly infliction, but he didn't have it perfected in time for this season It is a padded steel spring, or clamp, which, fastened on the nose, prevents the entrance of the pollen of the rag weed

The doctor caught this idea from witnessing prize fighters whose noses were like those of the heathen gods the psalmist talks of-they smelled not-being rendered useless in the business prosecuted by the pugs. The doctor thought that if a prize fighter could breathe permanently through his month there was no reason why he couldn't during the short time of the reign of hay fever. Hence the invention .- Pittsburg Dis-

A Tale with a Moral. A special six inch gun has just been made at the naval ordnance foundry at Washington, and the ordnance officers are tickled half to death over the fact that it has been constructed in fifty-two

It is a small gun, as guns go nowadays, and it wouldn't be worth much for defense against a first rate power. But if such a power should attack us it would take at least fifty-two days to make another one like it. And in fifty-two days from the declaration of war a foreign fleet would have bombarded' New York and Boston and Baltimore and Charleston, and sailed away again. In these days nations don't wait a year after declaring war before beginning to fight. The obvious moral is that we must prepare for contingencies while there is time and opportunity.—Norwich Bulle-

Almost as Big as a Bird. A. few days ago a horse standing in front of Peters' feed store, on Central avenue, pranced about and then fell down. Men who hurried to the animal discovered that a horsefly was sinking his proboscis into the animal's hide. They brushed the fly off, and, bottling him, sent the bottle to Professor Lintner. He now forms one of the professor's notable specimens. The fly measures 21 inches spread of wings, and is the largest horsefly that Dr. Lintner ever

About Raisins. Raisins are named from the place they grow-such as Smyrna or Valencia; or from the grape itself—such as Muscatel, bloom or sultana; but the quality depends chiefly on the mode of cure. The black Smyrna grape is one of the cheapest. The best raisins are called "raisins of the sun," and are preserved by cutting half through the stalks of the branches when nearly ripe, and leaving the fruit to dry and candy in the sun's rays. The next quality is gathered when completely ripe, dipped in a lye of ashes of the burned tendrils, and spread out to bake in the sun. The inferior is dried in an oven. The muscatels of Malaga are the dearest.-New York Ledger.
