THE DOTE AND DASH ALPHABET. The haste in which telegraphic messages are usually dispatched is a fertile source of mistakes. A business man who had been absent from the city, returning with friends, telegraphed his arrival to his mother at the depot.

ON THE LOOK-OUT. Brazilians have more than their share of curiosity. Loving to see and be seen, they change their balconies or hand rails, so that they may show their interest in every animal or human being that passes.

NOT TO BE DESCRIBED. An anatomist once told me that I could not tell him which was my right hand. I lifted my hand up to my right hand, but he objected. He said that he did not say that I could not show or extend my right hand, but that I could not tell him which was my right hand—that is, that I could not tell in words, so that one who had never heard of the distinction we make between right and left hands would be able to find it. I thought that would be easy enough to do, and I said to him, "The matter over, then I gave it up for on the outside of the human body there is nothing to distinguish the right hand from the left. No one can describe it in words so that an ignorant person (or one so ignorant as to make distinctions we make) can find and locate it."

EASILY DISCONCERTED. A giant may fall over a pebble. Once, at an evening party, Caleb Cushing, attempting to make himself agreeable, it is to be presumed, said to a very young lady, "Do you like me better now than you did when you were eighteen summers, and quite distinguished for her beauty and accomplishments in the circle of her young admirers." "Pray, Miss Blank, can you tell me how you like me now?" "I have not the answer to that question," she said, "I have never seen you since you were eighteen." "And she instantly replied with a merry twinkle and a smile, "Why, with a 'L' of course," thus discomfiting the distinguished scholar and statesman.

A Profitable Business. Padrones in charge of Italian workmen in New York make a pretty penny out of lodgings. When a considerable work is in progress, the padrone rents for little or nothing some vacant out-building, fits it up with the rudest sort of sleeping bunks, and rents them out at a dollar a month each. In many such buildings fully one hundred men sleep, and the padrone clears probably two-thirds or three-fourths of the rent collected. If, as is not unusual, he has the contract for feeding the workmen, he makes a greater profit.

HINTS WORTH HEADING. When a man has his business in perfect working order, and knows that just then, a little more or a little less effort on his part will be answered by increased or decreased profits, it is hard for him to believe it wise for him to leave his duties for the day, even though he is overworked. But one of the highest duties a man owes himself is to give his brain an occasional rest. There is a good deal more in life than simply trying to get one's bank account. There is more honor in being a good citizen than in simply growing rich. It is poor policy to be thoroughly posted in all that concerns your business and be on all the news of the great world. A man wants to forget his business occasionally—ought never to carry his cares beyond his store door. A night's respite from business will send you back to them with renewed strength and a clearer head.

Why Some Men Do Not Succeed. Two of the most successful men on the North American continent were recently asked the question, "What are causes of poverty?" One replied, "Ignorance and incapacity." The other said that the prevalent cause is "The notion of the duties that are owing to decision and fixity of purpose. If they get into a good place at the start, they should stick to it, knowing that perseverance, industry, and ability, they will do better than any other vacancies occur. But they see or hear of some one making a fortune in Wall Street, or in ranching, or in mining, and away they go to try their luck. When they lose, as they will ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, that is the end of them; they can never settle down to ordinary ways of living after that, and their descent is rapid. This reason hits the nail square on the head. Go where you will, we will find men who commenced life under the most favorable circumstances, but who are such complete financial wrecks that there is but little hope of their reformation. They must be honest and temperate; they may even possess natural ability of a high order, but lacking in steadiness of purpose, and they will lose all that they have by being pushed forward into the front ranks.

Future of Wheat Raising. Oliver Dalrymple, of Dakota, who is probably the foremost (though perhaps not the largest) grain grower in the United States, in the world, has recently made a very interesting statement about wheat raising in that country. He directs public attention to the fact that the area in wheat in this country has scarcely changed in ten years, being about 88,000,000 acres in 1870, and that the population has been added by nearly 15,000,000. Another ten years will see an augmentation of between 18,000,000 and 20,000,000. The average output of wheat has been declining, though the present year is an exception. The fact that the United States will be self-sufficient in wheat, if the present crop is kept to the limits of the present year, these imports will set in before five years pass away, for we have not over 40,000,000 bushels to spare now.

THE DOTE AND DASH ALPHABET. The haste in which telegraphic messages are usually dispatched is a fertile source of mistakes. A business man who had been absent from the city, returning with friends, telegraphed his arrival to his mother at the depot. He accordingly sent a dispatch, which, when it left his hand, read: "Send hanks to station, six thirty-five hours." But, as for the fact that the dispatch was telegraphed at the depot, it was not the fault of the man who had been absent, but of the telegraph company, which, when it received the bill afterward, with the stable-keeper and the telegraph company, might furnish material for a small volume.

ON THE LOOK-OUT. Brazilians have more than their share of curiosity. Loving to see and be seen, they change their balconies or hand rails, so that they may show their interest in every animal or human being that passes. If a mansion is situated at some distance from the street, there is a pretty little summer-house near the gate, where the family may sit and see what goes on outside. During business hours, in the busiest streets may be seen groups of men standing and gossiping. The doorways of the stores will be blocked with growlers chattering in the street. If a customer enters a store, the merchant receives him with a nonchalant air, as if he cared nothing for money in comparison with a life. Often the merchant answers that he has not the article the customer wishes; if the customer discovers it, the merchant smiles and arches his eyebrows. Or the merchant may offer to sell the article to the customer to search for what he has asked, returns to the street door and looks out. The curiosity of the Brazilian is morbid.

NOT TO BE DESCRIBED. An anatomist once told me that I could not tell him which was my right hand. I lifted my hand up to my right hand, but he objected. He said that he did not say that I could not show or extend my right hand, but that I could not tell him which was my right hand—that is, that I could not tell in words, so that one who had never heard of the distinction we make between right and left hands would be able to find it. The Canadians put in good time rushing their marketable supply of barley, oats, eggs and other produce into this country, before the McKinley tariff could come into effect.

The census office reports the population of Indiana at 2,189,030, an increase of 210,729; California 1,504,002, an increase of $39,808; Michigan, 2,089,702, an increase of 452,855. What's the matter of Michigan? She's all right.

As an effect of the new tariff law $10,000,000 is to be invested in tin plate factories in Pittsburgh and Baltimore, and half as much more in another in Chicago, at once. It is expected that the three plants will give steady employment to a good sized army of men, and supply our market with American tin.

Since the recent strike the New York Central railroad company has decided to neither employ new men nor retain any of their old ones who are members of the E. of L. organization. The company claims that the useless strike was brought upon them by this organization, and they propose to guard against any future acts of the kind.

Already the Democrats have started the scare that in consequence of the new tariff law everything is going up in price. Especial stress is laid upon the story when one of them can find some Republican who they think can be scared into changing his vote. The fact is that in but few cases does the new law increase the tariff, but on the majority of cases the tariff has been reduced. The increase has been mostly on farm products, tin plate and a very few other articles. In next RECORD we shall publish a complete list of all changes made, giving the old and the new rate of tariff. It may be that a few unscrupulous dealers may attempt to raise the price of their goods on the plea that the tariff law makes it necessary, but no change is likely to be general or lasting. It is calculated by the originators of the law that the new schedule will collect $60,000,000 less revenue for the government than was collected under the old schedule.

The post-office department is making an effort to decrease the dead letter business, which has reached enormous dimensions. Over six millions of pieces of mail matter were sent to the dead letter office last year, due to incorrect or illegible addresses, insufficient postage and other cases of carelessness on the part of the sender. This is an average of over 20,000 pieces a day. A great share of this may be avoided by using envelopes with a return card either written or printed on it. Then the letter will be promptly returned to the writer. Over 40,000 of the dead letters were letters to fictitious addresses, mostly orders for "green goods" or what is known as the "sawdust" article; 28,000 letters contained $48,642 in money; 27,000 others contained drafts, checks, etc., worth $471,571. One great fault of letter writers is to fail to write an address in their letters, or to sign in such a way that any one could tell by reading it who it is intended for who wrote it. A letter headed "Dear Frank" and signed "Mother," is a lost letter if it ever reaches the dead letter office, no matter how valuable its contents. Every letter should contain the full name and address of the writer. There were 50,000 parcels of merchandise, books, etc., lost to the sender because of insecure wrapping or improper addresses. All such packages should have not only the address to which it is sent, but the full address of the sender.

Covington, Kentucky, has elected a Republican Mayor for the first time in a generation.

The apologetes for the new high tariff are just now making a great spurge over the establishment of tin plate industries in this country. They are not all so frank as the Chicago Tribune, which admits that these industries are to be largely supported by foreign capital, which seeks this easy method of circumventing the restrictive tariff measures. Unquestionably all new industries are beneficial to America, but why not acknowledge the evident truth that foreign manufacturers are simply coming over to this country to be "protected"—Chicago News.

The News does not appear to be frank enough to admit that the moment this foreign capital gets into a Chicago plant it ceases to be foreign, but is wholly and permanently American.

FROM GALIEN. Miss Dora Shook has resumed her position in Blakeley & Co.'s store, as clerk.

Prospect Hill is adorned by a beautiful residence being erected for Elder W. J. Smith, under the supervision of Mr. J. D. White, contractor and builder. Mrs. G. A. Blakeley, Jr., is visiting friends in Utica, Ill.

Several cars loaded with cabbage have been shipped from this place, being the products of the fertile soil owned by Mr. Wm. Mell and C. Blythe. Miss Mollie Prentzman, of Knox, Ind., is the guest of Elder G. Scotts. There is a rumor afloat in the autumnal atmosphere that a quiet affair transpired in our midst, in which the nuptial ties were blended. The whole affair is shrouded with mystery. Query: Who were the parties that officiated?

Mr. Wm. Beech and wife have taken up their abode for the winter in Pullman, Ill., where Mr. Beech is engaged in the car factory.

Miss Clara Wilson has closed her millinery store in Galien 'till after the Holidays. All wishing to settle accounts can do so by calling at Mr. T. Smith's store; the accounts are left with Mrs. Penwell.

Mr. W. A. Blair, of Lamoni, Iowa, has moved to Galien and will make this his home for a time.

Mr. Charles Witte has ears of corn, grown on his premises, that measure 3 1/2 inches in circumference and 10 inches long; 5 of them weigh 8 1/2 pounds. Who can beat this?

Mr. J. B. Watson will deliver his lecture entitled "Christianity versus Humanity; or, What has Odd Fellows done for the World?" in the Town hall on Wednesday evening, Oct. 23, 1890, in Galien. Those enjoying some thing good will avail themselves of this opportunity.

Miss Myrtle White, of St. Joseph, Mo., who has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. G. L. Harris, started for home on Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. Harris. They will visit a week in Chicago, when Mrs. Harris will return and Miss White will proceed on her journey.

The Galien Schools carry out a well prepared program every morning for their opening exercises. At a teachers' meeting it was decided to introduce a banner to encourage punctuality. It will be ready for use in one week.

School is quite full and more are coming to enlist. Junior class numbers seven.

Resolutions on the death of Mr. G. A. Blakeley, a member of the Board of Education of the Galien Public Schools:

WHEREAS, The great Ruler of the Universe, in his infinite wisdom, has moved in our midst Mr. G. A. Blakeley, an energetic worker in the cause of Educational advancement.

WHEREAS, He has held for many years so intimate relation with the members of the Board, and won the respect and confidence of the patrons of the schools, we think it fitting that we record our appreciation of him; therefore

Resolved, That his sudden removal from our Board and this community, in both of which he has held leading positions for so many years, leaves a vacancy and shadow that will be deeply realized by all members of the Board and patrons of the schools.

Resolved, That, with deep sympathy with the afflicted friends and relatives of the deceased, we express an earnest hope that even so great a bereavement may be overruled for the highest good.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be given to Mrs. Blakeley, and one sent to the editor of Moderator and one to the editor of RECORD for publication.

The New Railroad.

It is now stated on good authority that the contract for building the new railroad from Grand Rapids to Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, has been let to the firm of Ellison & Co., contractors of St. Paul. Preparations are now under way at Grand Rapids for beginning the work as soon as some minor details concerning the route are settled. The contract calls for the completion of the grading to Holland by the last of November, and of the entire line by August, 1891. The length of the road is 84 miles and the connections at each end are such as will make it an important line of railroad. We hope that this project will materialize and that the expectations of its most ardent friends will be fully met. The local committee think that the grading at this end will be completed in seven or eight weeks.—B. H. Fallatman.

At 6:30 o'clock, last evening, Mrs. Malone struck a match to light a lamp, at the residence of her mother, Mrs. E. B. Bumby. The match caught a lamp-glass on fire, and in a second was all ablaze. Mrs. Malone also caught her dress on fire, and her screams brought Mr. Malone, who burned his hands in smothering the flames. The lamp-glass was quickly torn from its position and carried out. The carpet in the room was slightly burned, and all around there were some narrow escapes.—Niles Star, Monday.

A Record to Be Proud Of. Since 1874 until the present congress the democrats have had a majority in every House of Representatives except the XLV Congress, yet the history of the XLV Congress, which closed yesterday, has been one of the most active, and most important and desirable laws than any and all of its democratic predecessors during its last 18 years. Indeed, if the XLV Congress had not reformed its business methods, which was done by the adoption of the new rules that enable the responsible majority to govern, it would have accomplished nothing for the people and public welfare than any recent congress, but the list of important measures is a long one, among them may be named the following: The McKinley Tariff Bill. The Silver Coinage Act. The Disability Pension Act. The Agricultural College Aid Act. The Land Grant forfeiture Act. The River and Harbor Bill. Interstate Quarantine Act for the prevention of contagious diseases. The Act for Reorganizing the Navy. This list by no means includes all the laws that have been passed by the XLV Congress. It has passed the most honorable record that should, and we believe will, gain for the Republican party a decisive vote of confidence at the approaching election.—Detroit Tribune.

State Items. There are 715 convicts in Jackson prison.

Grand Rapids more than doubled in population in ten years. Muskegon increased 101 per cent, and Menominee 225.57 per cent.

Dowagiac increased 692 in ten years. St. Joseph 1,130 and Berrien county 4,452. Cass county decreased 1,101 and Van Buren, 515.

Ed Dickerson, a Grand Rapids laborer, allowed he could lay 3,500 laths in ten hours. John Sullivan doubted it, and a $50 bet was made. Dickerson won it easily, Friday, doing the job in less than nine hours. In doing this job, he drove 17,500 nails, an average of 33.7 nails per minute.—Detroit Tribune.

The McKinley Bill. The Chicago Inter Ocean of the 20th prints the following dispatch from Washington:

Washington, Oct. 8.—A member of the conference committee, who is as profound a student of the tariff as there is in either house, furnishes this summary of the tariff bill as it stands. It is a measure to diminish the burdens of the people and increase the prosperity of the country. The protective policy proceeds on the assumption that a tariff imposed on an article which we cannot produce is a tax which increases the cost of such article to the consumer to the extent of such a tariff; but that a tariff imposed upon an article which we can produce here substantially to the extent of our wants is not a tax which increases the cost to the consumer. This is due to the fact that the duty in the latter case simply secures the production or manufacture of the article here instead of abroad at the local market price.

This is due to the fact that the duty in the latter case simply secures the production or manufacture of the article here instead of abroad at the local market price. The average of wages of labor 77 per cent higher on the average in this country than in Europe; and this encouragement has been given to our industries not only by the tariff, but by the fact that the cost of the consumer less than in any other country in the world, but also exerts a potent influence in reducing the "cost" of production by giving a stimulus to skill and ingenuity. Carrying out this protective policy, the proposed tariff transfers to the free list imports which in the last fiscal year were valued at $109,820,000, and which paid a duty in this case amounting to $60,920,636. The Mills bill so-called transferred less than $23,000,000 to the free list.

The effect of this large addition to the free list is to make nearly 50 per cent of the imports into the United States absolutely free of duty, inasmuch as on the basis of last year's imports the value of those which are to be admitted free of duty under the proposed tariff would be $275,624,687, which will give us the largest measure of "freedom of trade" ever accorded by any tariff act in this country, and prior to 1890 no imports were admitted free of duty. Even under the so-called "low tariff" of 1846 the imports free of duty were only 12 per cent; under Mills' bill so-called the free goods would have been only 40 per cent, while under the proposed McKinley tariff nearly 50 per cent of all our imports will be absolutely free of duty.

When it is borne in mind that the article transferred to the free list by the proposed tariff includes such articles as butter, manilla, sisal grass, jute, and nickel plate, and such articles of food as sugar, molasses, and condensed milk, the importance of this legislation will be appreciated. The proposed tariff not only reduces the revenue (estimated between $40,000,000 and $60,000,000) but also reduces the average rate of duty on all imports (which of course is the true measure of the tariff) from 30 per cent ad valorem to 25 per cent ad valorem on the Mills bill. In 1890 the average duty on all imports was 42 1/2 per cent, in 1889 under the so-called "low tariff" it was 40 1/2 per cent. The proposed tariff reduces the average duty on imports to 27 per cent and shows how large has been the tariff reduction which has been made by the republican party. It is the charge that we are making the war tariff.

In 1890 the average duty on all imports was 42 1/2 per cent, in 1889 under the so-called "low tariff" it was 40 1/2 per cent. The proposed tariff reduces the average duty on imports to 27 per cent and shows how large has been the tariff reduction which has been made by the republican party. It is the charge that we are making the war tariff.

When it is borne in mind that the article transferred to the free list by the proposed tariff includes such articles as butter, manilla, sisal grass, jute, and nickel plate, and such articles of food as sugar, molasses, and condensed milk, the importance of this legislation will be appreciated. The proposed tariff not only reduces the revenue (estimated between $40,000,000 and $60,000,000) but also reduces the average rate of duty on all imports (which of course is the true measure of the tariff) from 30 per cent ad valorem to 25 per cent ad valorem on the Mills bill. Chicago, Oct. 7.—The Illinois Steel Co. will begin the manufacture of tin plate in Chicago. It will have an extensive and costly plant for this purpose, to be established at an early date. The English and Eastern capitalists will have an important interest in the new business. It will probably be 18 months before any tin plate is turned out. There are between 30,000 tons of tin plate in the hands of manufacturers in this country every year, and not a pound of it is manufactured here—more tonnage than the steel rails used by the railroads. Chicago could manufacture every pound used in the United States.

Tin ore is now being mined in the Black Hills in large quantities, and the present rate there will soon be enough of the natural product above ground to supply the United States without the West. The United States and the Harney Peak Tin Mining Co., with all their vast claims in the Black Hills, have united and formed what will henceforth be known as the United States Tin Mining Co. of the United States. This company has now bought up $3,000,000 of claims. Of the entire Black Hills, it holds 100,000 acres, or 100,000 square miles. It has an army of 25 men at work in the mines, with a pay roll of $200,000 per month. The ore is hauled to Rapid City, where it is converted into pig tin. Branches of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and other railroads will soon be extended to the mines.

THE ministers of the town are taking preliminary steps towards the organization of a ministerial association. A meeting to that effect was held on Monday afternoon, and a committee appointed to suggest plan of organization.

COL. DAVID BACON, of Niles, has declined the nomination for Commissioner of the State Land Office, given him by the Grand Rapids Convention. It is a pretty high priced empty honor for a poor man. He couldn't stand the $500 assessment.

MR. LOUIS LANO has been saved the trouble of gathering his cabbage crop, by cabbage thieves who visited his patch, Tuesday night, and cleaned it of all of the good heads. Those who understand the relationship between the German and his kraut barrel, will appreciate the character of Louis' loss.

Mrs. Seth Smith and daughter Mattie left, Tuesday morning, for Watertown, Dakota, where they expect to spend the winter with Mrs. Smith's daughter, Mrs. Cunningham.

SOME real live young lady who has had experience in the business can secure a three month's job at teaching a Bakerstown school, by applying to John Redden.

IT has been noticed by several in this vicinity that one of the enemies of the cabbage worm is the yellow jacket. An insect which the human family has usually considered about useless.

A wild cock pheasant alighted in Dr. Berrick's yard Saturday noon, but it was not long in discovering that it had found a country too thickly populated for it and left for other parts.

Special Train.

A special train will be run from Buchanan to Dowagiac next Monday, Oct. 13, leaving Buchanan at 11:30 A. M., and returning directly after the speeches.

Round Trip, 45c.

Everybody is invited to go and hear Hon. Wm. McKinley, the author of the new tariff bill, and Hon. J. C. Burrows, our popular Congressman.

The marriage of Dr. G. K. Thompson, of Clarence, Missouri, and Miss Mattie Foster was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Foster of Niles, Tuesday evening, Rev. T. Cox, pastor of the M. E. church in Niles, officiating. But a small party of relatives were present and the affair was one of pleasure. The Foster family will be remembered as former residents of Terre Coupe Prairie.

Quite a number expect to go from this place, next Monday, to Dowagiac to hear Hon. Wm. McKinley, Jr., who is to speak there in the afternoon. They can go on a special train which will leave here as soon as the convention adjourns, and return directly after the speeches. The fair for the round trip will be 45 cents if ten or more go.

My Hidden Treasure.
BY THE MOTHER, MRS. FURBERICH.
One of my children is eager to-night
That the glorious angel, shining in light;
For some of them shined in the light of the throne
But my lamb the Good Shepherd keeps for his own.

CHANGE.—The representative district convention was called to meet in this place next Monday, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, but the date has been changed to ten o'clock in the forenoon, or to convene as soon as possible after the arrival of the Michigan Central train from the west. This change is made in order to give delegates a chance to go to Dowagiac on the noon train, to hear Major McKinley in the afternoon.

A whole family of professional travelers, consisting of man and wife and five children, passed Sunday night and the greater share of Monday in the engine house. It was a pretty tough outlook, but they seemed satisfied with their method of living. The Supervisor was called upon for assistance, and Levi Tedden kindly contributed a feast of milk for the little ones.

The Palladium gives distinct notice that the St. Joseph fight is on to stay until Benton Harbor gets her city charter and such territory as she wants, east of the St. Joseph river. When any city charter is established for that place it should include both towns within its limits as one city, and the legislature which grants any other kind will simply be prolonging the fight that is a nuisance to both places.

We do not remember a time when the Democrats of this district have been more dissatisfied with their candidate for representative, than they are at the present time. Especially is this true among the classes who do not approve of the kind of lawyer their candidate is known to be, and are not by any means few. His popularity lies with the wrong element to be the best as a representative of the district.

Mr. Joseph W. Nutt, a resident of Buchanan township about thirty years, died at his home in the north part of the township, Sunday, Oct. 5, aged 69 years, 5 months and 18 days. Mr. Nutt was a member of the Methodist Protestant church for 38 years. The funeral services were held at his late home, Tuesday, and the remains taken to Oak Ridge cemetery in this place for interment.

The school meeting last evening was a roaring success, as a failure. There were about a dozen present, aside from the school board and a few boys, and the board made no report. The meeting now stands adjourned subject to the call of the director. The interest taken in the subject of heating and ventilating the school building appears to have taken a decided drop since the annual school meeting in September.

C. L. S. C.—The Alphas at their last meeting perfected their organization for the coming year by electing the following officers: President, Rev. M. J. Tressler; Vice President, Mrs. Johnson; Secretary, Mrs. A. A. Worthington; Treasurer, Mrs. Whitman; Instruction Committee, N. E. Smith, Mesdames Plimpton, Dana Phelps and L. L. Redden. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. L. L. Redden's, Oct. 13, 7 p. m. Lesson, first two chapters of English History, and first 71 pages of Our English, both conducted as a class exercise.

A meeting of farmers was held in this place Friday, and arrangements made for the erection of a new custom flouring mill on the C. S. Black water power at the mouth of the creek. The arrangements are not yet completed, but enough has been done to insure beyond a reasonable doubt that the property will be improved at an early date. This will be a great improvement over the existing state of affairs. No matter how well one mill may be prepared to do the business, or how fairly its dealers manage its affairs, there will be malcontents. The most serious objection to the present arrangement is the great distance from town of the mill. It will be much less apt to influence trade, excepting from the east, than if more centrally located.

MARRIED, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shearer, near Berrien Springs, by Rev. J. F. Bartmess, Mr. Wm. E. Richmond, of Columbus Grove, O., and Miss Lora Shearer. The occasion was one not soon to be forgotten. The day was exceedingly beautiful. The forest was robed in that variegated autumnal beauty so peculiar to this region. A large gathering of relatives and acquaintances were present to witness the ceremony, which took place a few minutes after twelve o'clock. The room was handsomely decorated with flowers. There was a beautiful arch of evergreens, most exquisitely wrought, in the center of which was suspended a large bell composed of flowers, made by some skillful hands. It was a model of beauty. Underneath the arch the happy couple stood, and in the presence of God and man took the solemn pledge to be faithful to each other. After the ceremony and congratulations, a most beautiful dinner was served, such as one might well expect Mrs. Shearer's. Two very large tables were filled with the finest and richest of this land of "milk and honey". After all had partaken to the extent of their desires, the crowd separated to their respective homes, and the bride and groom to their home in Ohio. They were the recipients of very many and valuable presents.

My Hidden Treasure.
BY THE MOTHER, MRS. FURBERICH.
One of my children is eager to-night
That the glorious angel, shining in light;
For some of them shined in the light of the throne
But my lamb the Good Shepherd keeps for his own.

CHANGE.—The representative district convention was called to meet in this place next Monday, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, but the date has been changed to ten o'clock in the forenoon, or to convene as soon as possible after the arrival of the Michigan Central train from the west. This change is made in order to give delegates a chance to go to Dowagiac on the noon train, to hear Major McKinley in the afternoon.

A whole family of professional travelers, consisting of man and wife and five children, passed Sunday night and the greater share of Monday in the engine house. It was a pretty tough outlook, but they seemed satisfied with their method of living. The Supervisor was called upon for assistance, and Levi Tedden kindly contributed a feast of milk for the little ones.

The Palladium gives distinct notice that the St. Joseph fight is on to stay until Benton Harbor gets her city charter and such territory as she wants, east of the St. Joseph river. When any city charter is established for that place it should include both towns within its limits as one city, and the legislature which grants any other kind will simply be prolonging the fight that is a nuisance to both places.

We do not remember a time when the Democrats of this district have been more dissatisfied with their candidate for representative, than they are at the present time. Especially is this true among the classes who do not approve of the kind of lawyer their candidate is known to be, and are not by any means few. His popularity lies with the wrong element to be the best as a representative of the district.

Mr. Joseph W. Nutt, a resident of Buchanan township about thirty years, died at his home in the north part of the township, Sunday, Oct. 5, aged 69 years, 5 months and 18 days. Mr. Nutt was a member of the Methodist Protestant church for 38 years. The funeral services were held at his late home, Tuesday, and the remains taken to Oak Ridge cemetery in this place for interment.

The school meeting last evening was a roaring success, as a failure. There were about a dozen present, aside from the school board and a few boys, and the board made no report. The meeting now stands adjourned subject to the call of the director. The interest taken in the subject of heating and ventilating the school building appears to have taken a decided drop since the annual school meeting in September.

A meeting of farmers was held in this place Friday, and arrangements made for the erection of a new custom flouring mill on the C. S. Black water power at the mouth of the creek. The arrangements are not yet completed, but enough has been done to insure beyond a reasonable doubt that the property will be improved at an early date. This will be a great improvement over the existing state of affairs. No matter how well one mill may be prepared to do the business, or how fairly its dealers manage its affairs, there will be malcontents. The most serious objection to the present arrangement is the great distance from town of the mill. It will be much less apt to influence trade, excepting from the east, than if more centrally located.
