F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY. $1.00 A BOTTLE, SIX FOR $5. TRY IT TO-DAY.

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

The fact that Kidney disease may not be suspected because it has no symptoms of certain character as its own, should be an incentive to the exercise of great care that the disease be not fastened upon you before you know it.

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

The great clock in the tower began to chime as I walked along the approach to the bridge.

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

As I stood there, I noticed that a man, walking slowly, passed me, and then he stopped.

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

"The night is dark," he said gravely, as he gave me back the box.

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

"It is always darkest before the dawn," he returned cheerfully.

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

I could not, for the life of me, have told why I answered him with that hackneyed proverb.

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

It was inappropiate, seeing that it was only a few minutes after twelve o'clock.

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

But I did not speak then. I saw that I had by my reply, "it is always darkest before the dawn," given without knowing it, a countersign by which the stranger was to recognize some friend or confederate.

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

Why should not I let him remain in error? It would be amusing to see the fellow's face when he introduced me, a perfect stranger, to the man who had been expected.

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

It was in the twinkling of an eye, as I was in the act of stepping backward to decline the stranger's company, "Stop a bit!" he said.

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

"I want to light my pipe," that was how I finished the sentence.

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

The man waited impatiently until my pipe was lighted.

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

"There were all too many at the meeting to-night!" I asked.

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

"The usual number," he said.

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

"Where are you taking me to? Where is the meeting held?"

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

"I don't know," he said, "but I understand you!"

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

"Didn't your friends arrange that we were to meet in a different place every night, and that it would be better if you did not know our retreat?"

F. E. C. KIDNEY BLOOD REMEDY.

"I don't know," he said, "but I understand you!"

THE CIRCEUS CUM TU TOWN.

BY J. ASHER PARKS. You kin talk of your circus now-a-days, of your railroad shows an' such, of your wonderful things your actors do, of your managers gettin' rich, of your circus trunks, an' sometimes a star starts ticklin' down, an' it thinks 'o' home an' the village green when 't's circus cum tu town.

I remember yet how we'd scamper out, long before 't's break of day, to see 't's golden speck, an' 't's father a bunch w'ay, an' w'ay carryin' water an' feedin' 't's hay, an' 't's doin' odd jobs aroun', w'ere 't's all was a tip-top seat when 't's circus cum tu town.

I can't forget how my heart'd thump, at 't's sudden things they do, an' they draw them cages into line, for the daily street parade. When 't's all was a tip-top seat when 't's circus cum tu town.

I can't forget how my heart'd thump, at 't's sudden things they do, an' they draw them cages into line, for the daily street parade. When 't's all was a tip-top seat when 't's circus cum tu town.

CHAPTER III.

The fog had come down pretty thickly; but it was not so thick as to make large objects to a little distance. The lights on the shore were dim and spectral; and when we got into the middle of the stream they were hardly visible.

"You know the entrance to the dock the other side of the two who were sitting in the stern."

"I nodded."

"Can you find it in spite of this mist?" I nodded again.

"I'll take care of that. You will see a large vessel lying not far from the dock gates. It is gently under her stern. When I hold up my hand, stop. You understand?"

"And at the first sign of treachery?"

"He nodded his sentence by drawing a revolver from the pocket of his overcoat and pointing it at my head. The boat was shoved off, and I began to pull down stream."

THE Choral Union gave a very excellent concert in Rough's opera house last evening, which was well patronized. The receipts amounted to a little over $38, from fifteen cent admissions. There was the usual crowd of boys on the back seat to annoy the audience and singers. When it comes to be understood that these disturbers cannot be admitted to the hall under any circumstances, there will be better patronage of entertainments in that room.

MR. AND MRS. PETER WESSE went Friday to Richmond, Ind., where their daughter, Miss Rossa, was reported as dying with typhoid fever. Letters received from there state that she is better, and likely to recover.

HERBERT SWINEY and Wallace Hanover, aged fourteen and fifteen respectively were arrested Saturday afternoon, and Monday afternoon Thomas Adams, county agent for the state reform school at Lansing, took them to that place to remain until seventeen years of age.

A twelve-years-old lad named Shepherd, of South Bend, who has been in the habit of jumping on and off moving trains, fell under an engine last Tuesday and was cut nearly in two, killing him almost instantly. This will not be likely to deter other boys from doing the same thing.

LIST of letters remaining uncalled for in the post-office at Buchanan, Mich., for the week ending Nov. 25, '90: Mrs. Anna C. Robertson, Mrs. A. J. Fowler, Mr. Morie Norton, Mr. K. Hamilton, Miss Lulu Norham, Jennie Bauper, Miss Lily.

TAX NOTICE.—For the collection of the taxes of Bertrand township, I will be at the First National Bank, Buchanan, on Saturday, Dec. 13, 20 and 27; at Dayton on Monday, Dec. 23 and 29; at First National Bank, Niles, on each Tuesday in December.

CHARLES P. EHRINGER, Treas.

GEORGE BIRD complains that when he leaves tools where he wants them some one carries them off. For instance, he left a good shovel leaning against the brick pile at the hotel corner, and when he went for it it was gone. He wants it returned. He would also like to have the person who took a new grain sack out of his barn and carried away various other small traps, to return them.

WM. CODY and Eugene Clark, of cow boy fame, were each fined $10 and costs by the city recorder this morning, and in all it amounted to $24. The two were riding ponies along the different streets, and Cody claims that on Fourth street a dog bit his pony's heel, causing him to buck, when he shot his revolver off to scare the dog away, which he thought was justifiable. The cow boys in question, by their shooting and Indian yells, etc., have almost set the town wild. Cody left this morning for Detroit.—Niles Star.

J. H. SNODGRASS, a farmer, was going home from this city Saturday afternoon, and at the Vanderbeck crossing, two miles east of town, his team was frightened by cars. Mr. Snodgrass jumped from his buggy, grabbed the horse, but could not hold him, and the horse in getting away struck Mr. Snodgrass in the leg and caused slight injuries. The horse went home, a distance of four miles, and Mr. S. came to town and got a lively horse to convey him home. Whether or not the buggy was smashed or horse injured is not known.—Niles Star.

THE steamer Lora, of the St. Joseph—Chicago line, was taken to Lake Huron and was run afloat by a steam barge, and her starboard bow stove in. This is an illustration of the danger of straying away from home.

New headgates for the Rough mill power are being built this week. The uncertainty that was supposed to be hanging over the prospect for the improvement of the Black property have vanished, and the Ransom is informed that the work will be pushed forward in due time.

Minnie Miller. 1255 Pitt J. Pierce, New Troy. Julia A. Hess, Buchanan. 1256 Frank Pontius, Berrien Springs. Callie Morgan.

HERE is a remark the Ononka correspondent makes in the Benton Harbor Palladium. Perhaps Mr. Fisher is hard to please. The brands of flour made by Baiton Bros. pass in the market for pretty good quality.

Mr. Z. Fisher took fourteen bushels of wheat to Buchanan and the flour was so poor that he had to return the grain. There is a general complaint among the farmers of getting poor flour from some cause or another.

SOME parents in this place have a habit of sending their babies to school, when they want to go visiting or on some lark. The consequence is the school in the room where the little one is proves a failure for that day. There is a great probability that the teachers will receive instructions from the board to send home all such visitors. When your babies are five years old there will be a place for them in the first grade.—Until then, their place is at home.

MR. ARMY FRANK, for over fifty years a citizen of this vicinity, died on his home farm, eight miles south of this place, Monday, of consumption. Mr. Frank was at one time a citizen of this county, but later bought the farm where he died, having lived there since 1830. Mr. Frank was one of the successful farmers of the rich burr oak district in which his farm is located. He was a native of Ohio, born in 1818. The funeral services were held yesterday forenoon from the German Baptist church on Portage prairie.

MR. W. M. DALLIN has come to the surface once more with a proposition to build a north and south railroad leading from St. Joseph, and a steel and iron plant for St. Joseph. He had a meeting of citizens of St. Joseph last week Wednesday, asked them if they would give him $10,000 in case he would secure to the town these two enterprises, and was told that they would do so. If consummated as proposed by Mr. Dallin, this will be a great boon to Berrien county, and may give hope for life for the St. Joseph Valley road. Hope for the best and be satisfied with what comes.

MARRIED, Nov. 23, 1890, at the home of the bride, in Buchanan, on Detroit street, by Rev. J. P. Bartmess, Mr. Pitt J. Pierce, of Weesaw township, and Mrs. Julia A. Hess, of Buchanan, Mich. The above parties were united in the holy bonds of wedlock in the presence of a few invited guests. Mr. Pierce is an old and reliable citizen of good executive ability, a man of wealth and influence. Mr. Hess is an intelligent Christian lady, and one whose place in society has been nobly filled. They will remain for the present in Buchanan. Everybody wishes the worthy couple a world of happiness.

THE thirteenth annual convention of the Michigan State S. Association will be held in the Central M. E. church, Lansing, Dec. 2, 3 and 4, 1890. The first session on Tuesday evening will be held in the Capitol building. Subsequent sessions will be held in Central M. E. church, B. F. Jacobs, of Chicago, Wm. Reynolds, of Peoria, Ill., and Marion Lawrence, Toledo, O., will be present. Music conducted by Mrs. E. A. Hough, of Jackson. A most excellent program has been prepared. One and one-third fare for the round trip may be secured by applying to W. L. C. Reid, Jackson, for certificates.

DIED.—Arthur L., third son of Mr. B. D. Harper, foreman in the Record office, died at his home in this place, Saturday, Nov. 23, 1890, at noon, of consumption, a disease that had been about him several years. Arthur would have been twenty-four years of age in January next. He was a young man of exceptionally good traits of character, which made for him friends of whom ever he came in contact. He was in California about eighteen months to benefit his health, but finding no relief returned to his home in May last. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. T. Cook, pastor of the M. E. church, assisted by Revs. Bartmess and Adair, at the home Monday forenoon. There was a liberal contribution of flowers furnished by his relatives and friends. Music was furnished by the M. E. church choir. The remains were buried upon the family lot in Oak Ridge cemetery.

The Only Case on Record. A curious surgical case is that presented by Henry Breen, of Fort Wayne. He suffers from aneurism of the orbit, and his is the only case of the kind reported by physicians. He has received many letters inviting him to appear before medical colleges, so they can examine and study aneurism of the orbit, but as he fears that the blood vessel back of the orbit may burst at any moment and thus end his life he has preferred to remain under the care of surgeons at home. Breen was a brakeman on the Western railroad, and while engaged in coupling cars at Cecil, O., he was caught between the steps of the caboose and the end of a saw log which extended over the car, and his head was fractured. The saw log and his head were fractured, and he was as he fears that the blood vessel back of the orbit may burst at any moment and thus end his life he has preferred to remain under the care of surgeons at home.

He was put under the influence of opiates and an iron collar was placed about his neck, which was attached to the orbit to stop the rush of blood. He was thus kept for forty-eight hours, but his case was pronounced inoperative. He now is in the hands of Dr. J. M. Green, who is a man of strong muscular development, and would appear to have more than the average man's chances for longevity. He is not expected to be melancholy over his condition, and says that he may outlive the entire Springfield convention. At any rate, he has the strange distinction of being the only man alive who wears a collar made at a blacksmith shop.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Boys Worry a Chestnut Vendor. The life of the chestnut and peanut vendor is a hard one, especially when the street makes the chestnut vendor's life in serious array and compact early. A specimen of the "lately landed" order stood before his cart, and he says that he may outlive the entire Springfield convention. At any rate, he has the strange distinction of being the only man alive who wears a collar made at a blacksmith shop.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

For Coast Defense. A very novel suggestion for the construction of forts to defend our seaboard cities comes from Mr. Anderson, the head of the engineering firm which has contracted with the government to build the lighthouse on Outer Diamond shoal, at Matanzas. His proposition is to sink caissons upon the sandy shoals which exist at the mouth of nearly all our rivers, and upon the caissons to build a pier in diameter, built of solid concrete, with walls fifty feet thick, with a bomb proof armor of steel over the interior.—New York Times.

A Deer on the Track. While extra train No. 671 was coming east Sunday afternoon a few miles east of West Hope, on the Delaware division, Engineer Edward Taylor espied a large deer descending the almost perpendicular bluff on the north side of the track. The deer reached the track a few yards in advance of the engine, and the engine expected to see it run down, but instead it started down the track in advance of the train for a distance of a quarter of a mile, and then bounded down the bank to the tracks. The men on the engine saw the deer until the train went out of sight. It was a buck with five prongs, and must have weighed in the neighborhood of 500 pounds. It seemed to be a very old animal, and was probably started up by a party of hunters in the woods back of West Hope. Taylor and his fireman confidently expected to have a middle of the deer, but the deer was so big and so old that it was not worth the trouble.—New York Times.

The Farm Tools. It would seem as if, after years of good counsel on the subject, some farmers would at least take the time to look after the farm tools—particularly after the season's work is done; but it will require a good deal of preaching from the text before "conversion" is accomplished. So one would think who said down in any direction this time of the year. Mowers and horse racks still out in the fields, plows astride a rail fence, barrows leaning up against a tree, are some of the not uncommon objects which one may see on some farms. Get them in, give a coat of paint where needed, and save dollars.—Independent.

Wonders of the Deep. Carl Boentgen, of Astoria, has on exhibition a marine curiosity. It consists of an ordinary seaweed some 20 feet in length, and at the end of the seaweed are roots that form a firm hold of an aggregation of marine shells several pounds in weight. These shells are occupied by a curious inhabitant that has a beak that resembles a chicken's, only it is directed perpendicularly instead of horizontally.—San Francisco Call.

Better Than They Expected. Some men who go to a anchor near Larkin, in the town of Boothbay, Me., grappled for it the other day and thought they had it. Twenty men dragged it ashore and upon the beach, when their prize proved to be a large star, but the upper jaw of a whale. It was 15 feet long from the bow in front to either end joint, and 7 feet across from end to end.—Philadelphia Ledger.

One of Jackson's Servants. Ann Grimble, colored, died in New Orleans last week at the reputed age of 102 years. She was at one time a servant in the employ of Gen. Andrew Jackson, and the Washington army rapidly giving way to the army of servants employed by distinguished statesmen of later date.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Hot Water in Paris. The nickel-in-the-slot machine has found a very useful adaptation in Paris, where a new apparatus has recently been invented for heating water. The apparatus consists of a small reservoir for water, and a small boiler for heating water. A small reservoir for water, and a small boiler for heating water. A small reservoir for water, and a small boiler for heating water.

Hot Water in Paris. The interior of the apparatus is partly occupied by a coil of pipe, within which is a gas burner, exactly as in contrivances used in this country for heating water quickly. The coil communicates with the city water supply, so that the water drawn is always fresh. The gas is not wasted by being kept burning all the time, but is lighted by the pressing of the button which opens the faucet, and the automatic closing of the faucet and shutting off the gas after the painful of water has been delivered, are easily affected by devices in common use. One of the chief uses of this new invention is the filling of hot water cans which the cab drivers place in their carriages in cold weather to warm their patrons' feet.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

"Lohengrin" in Paris. Nearly the whole of an act of "Lohengrin" has at last been performed at the Grand Opera, but the letter was arranged in such a way that no Clavinistic prejudices could be hurt. It was announced that the performance given for the benefit of M. Dumainio a duet from Wagner's opera would be sung by Mme. Crova and M. Voguet. When the audience expected the two singers to come on to the stage, the conductor gave the signal for the orchestra to attack the first chord of the prelude to the third act.

The incident then rose on the bridal couch, and, this finished, Elsa and Lohengrin were left on the stage to sing the most interesting and the most impassioned love duet that has ever been written. Now that an attempt has been made to reverse the sentence passed upon Tammany five and twenty years ago at the Opera, and to make amends for the breach of contract, Lohengrin at the Grand Opera, it is to be hoped that the hundreds who applaud Wagner at the Sunday concerts week after week and year after year may at length have a chance of hearing his masterpiece at the French Academy of Music.—Paris Cor. London Telegraph.

An Indigent Remarkable Criminal. A remarkable prisoner, who calls himself August Malor, was received at the penitentiary in Jefferson City, Mo., a few days ago on a two years' sentence from St. Genevieve county for obtaining property by the use of false pretenses. He is probably 70 years old, and has commenced serving his eleventh term in the Missouri penitentiary. He first came here in 1888 and was now in the penitentiary for the first time. He has been in and out of this penitentiary but a few months at a time since. He is known at the prison as "Dutch Charley." No one knows his right name or anything of his antecedents. He is a Frenchman, and rarely ever tells the same story twice. He has been sentenced every time for working some kind of a confidence game, and even while in the penitentiary has made a number of deals with more or less success.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Sixty-ninth Around Cape Horn. Capt. J. M. Holmes left his home last week for New York, from whence he will start on his sixty-ninth voyage around Cape Horn. He has the reputation among seafaring men of being a hardy and intrepid voyager, and has made the trip around Cape Horn more times than any living man, and if the captain keeps his word he will reach the century mark on the trips before he retires. This time he is bound for Golden Gate, and will probably not be seen at his home for a year or more. He is captain and principal owner of the grand ship Chammer, which has weathered many gales and broadsides, and has made the treacherous Horn over sixty times.—Cor. New Haven Register.

only reason. Only the very oldest tombstones are selected by the grave diggers for the cradle in its latest form broke out during the summer, and in spite of the close watch kept have been caught in the act of detecting the stones. Nearly all the old tombstones in the yard are brown stone, and many have been split and scamed by the storms of a century or more. With these the work of getting a piece of the stone is easy, as a knife blade inserted in any of the seams will dislodge a piece of the stone. Close watch is being kept to prevent the spread of the crime.—New York Telegram.

Underground Treasure in Indian Territory. Rich veins of gold, silver and copper are said to have been known to the Indians of Indian territory for many generations, but to reveal the secret of these to the white man was made a capital crime by the tribal laws. Expedient miners who had heard rumors of this wealth lately set out to investigate for themselves, and succeeded beyond their wildest expectations. A company of nine white captives and a few Indians has been formed, and the development of the new El Dorado will begin at once.—Katie Field's Washington.

Marshal McMahon's Memoirs. Marshal McMahon is still on his estate, La Forest, completing his much discussed memoirs. He will not return to Paris until the work is done from the sale of a few of Marshal McMahon's most intimate friends have enjoyed the privilege of listening to his reading of many of the latest pages of his book. For the rest of the curious world, McMahon has made no provision. Only six copies of the memoirs will be printed—one for each of his four children, one for himself and one for his wife.—Paris Letter.

The Craze for Tapestries. There is a present craze among collectors for old tapestries. Six tapestries which were sold some fifteen years ago from the old Livingston and the name of $100 have just been resold for $30,000, and five large old Flemish specimens, which Mr. William C. Prime, the well known archeologist, paid $600 for in 1878, are now valued at $3,000 apiece.—Harper's Bazar.

A Maine Man's Engine. A man at Small Point is so a fence next summer that he would like to ride Haggard. It will not be made of elephants' tusks, but of the awards of swordfish. The man, Mr. Sylvanus Wallace, of the life saving station, has made up his mind to build a picket fence forty feet in length.—Bath Times.

Both for Hyacinths. In the preparation of a garden bed or border for hyacinths it is best to take some special care. The application of stable manure before planting is not desirable, as it has a tendency to cause the bulbs to decay. But the addition of a quantity of leaf mold and if the soil is heavy a good dressing of sand will be very beneficial. About four inches of the top soil can be removed from the space intended for the bed and laid on one side; spade over the whole as deep as possible and work in the leaf mold and sand, if desired. With a sandy soil and leaf mold alone makes an excellent dressing.—Philadelphia Record.

A Non-Bursting Fly Wheel. In the works of the Massachusetts Tube company, in England, there is a heavy fly wheel ingeniously designed to be absolutely free from any danger of bursting. As this wheel is about twenty feet in diameter, and has a circumference of 320 feet, it is made of cast iron, and runs at 240 turns per minute. It was feared that a cast iron wheel would be unable to stand such a centrifugal force. The wheel consists of a cast iron hub, to which are bolted two circular steel plates or disks of steel about twenty feet in diameter. Round the periphery of the wheel there formed about seventy tons of No. 5 wire is tightly wound, and the wire is secured by a screw or making a wheel that is practically beyond possibility of breakage by centrifugal power. The circumference of this great wheel travels at the rate of about 1,000 feet per minute, and it is as fast as the most speedy express trains.—Philadelphia Record.

The Economy of Electric Traction. Mr. C. H. Bradford, of Bradford, England, having been deputed by that city to make investigations with a view of ascertaining the best system of street car traction, has made a valuable report. He has found that electric traction is the most economical, and in the highest terms of the work of the accumulators in the Birmingham electric line, and states that the electric line is twice as fast as the horse power, and that the difference which is likely to have considerable weight with the corporation of the city of Bradford, to which his report has been submitted.—London Letter.

Nine Years' Journey of a Letter. Nine years ago a woman in Germany wrote a letter to her husband, who had gone out to Brazil. His vessel had left when the mail reached there; ever since this letter has been rambling through numerous postoffices in different parts of the world, and is now in the wake of the husband's ship's departure. It was recently returned to the German dead letter office, which has restored it with scrupulous care to the address. The letter is dated Oct. 16, 1881.—London Tit-Bits.

Invited the Crowd to Eat Oranges. A. M. Meltzer purchased 400 sweet oranges and placed them on Concord's wharf, foot of Ocean street, for free distribution. The only proviso was that the eater should pay a fruit of the kind to the owner. About 4,000 of the oranges were eaten by the surrounding crowd, and Mr. Meltzer got a goodly amount of work done for nothing. The peeling was shipped to England to be put in municipal parks.—Florida Times-Union.

Costly Findings in Boston. The following will give an idea of what Boston is spending upon some of its principal buildings: The new court house will cost perhaps from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000; the state house extension, $2,000,000; the new city hall, $3,000,000; the new city hall, $3,000,000; the new city hall, $3,000,000.

Conductors Need Not Farnish Change. A Pennsylvania judge recently rendered a decision in favor of the railroad companies and against the passengers, who are to pay for their own change. The judge held that the railroad companies are not bound to furnish change for passengers, and that the passengers must pay for their own change. This decision is likely to be a great relief to the railroad companies, and a great disappointment to the passengers.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Hellany Apartment House. Omaha will soon have an apartment house that will be built according to the plan of Edward Hellany. J. H. Van Dorn is now having the plans for such a building prepared. It will be situated at Twenty-second and Leavenworth streets. It will be a brick structure, four stories high, and containing twenty apartments. The plan of living in this building will be co-operative, as all of the cooking will be done in one kitchen, each individual sharing his own stove. The house will be put in operation about Jan. 1.—Omaha Bee.

A Salmon Taken at Astoria, Ore. A salmon taken at Astoria, Ore., had a silver watch and chain in its mouth. The watch had evidently lain in the water for years, as the steel portions were rusted and the watch chain was broken. The salmon's mouth is accounted for by the fact that salmon at this time of the year will eagerly bite at any bright object, and the watch and chain had been caught by the salmon's mouth. The watch was taken from the salmon's mouth, and the chain was broken. The watch was taken from the salmon's mouth, and the chain was broken.—Chicago Herald.

A City at the Bottom of the Sea. The city authorities of Rovigno, on the coast of the Adriatic sea, have discovered a little town at the bottom of the sea. It has been observed for some years that fishermen's nets were sometimes entangled in what appeared to be masses of masonry, of which fragments were brought up from the sea bed. A year or two ago a diver looking for the cause of the nets found streets below the water.

The city authorities recently decided to investigate. They sent down a diver who, at the depth of eighty-five feet, found lines of masonry, the remains of the sea by ruined walls. He says he knows they were the work of man. He is a builder by trade, and he recognized the layers of mortar.

Continuing his explorations he traced the line of walls, and was able to distinguish how the streets were laid out. He did not see any doors or window openings, for they were hidden by masses of masonry. He was sometimes entangled in the masonry for a distance of 100 feet, where he had to stop, as his diving clock did not permit him to go farther. He had proved beyond a doubt that he had found the city of the Elides, a ruined town which, through some catastrophe, had been sunk to the bottom of the sea.

Some people think that they identify this lost town with the island mentioned in the story of the Argonauts, the island of Cissa, near Icaria. This island cannot be found now, and it is thought that the submerged town may have been a settlement on the island that so mysteriously disappeared.—London Letter.

Nebraska First Sugar. A sample of the first run of sugar from the beet works situated at Grand Island, Neb., which has been received at this office shows this new product to be as fine as any sugar sold in the market. It is of clear white, sparkling crystals, and is free from any impurities. It cannot be told from the best quality of cane sugar. A circular accompanying it says that the factory has a capacity of 500 tons of beets, or 750 barrels of granulated sugar, and has been in operation 90 per cent, pure, since twenty-four hours. The factory is fitted with machinery from France, where this industry has its first development. Its success has been so great that its output has been immediately doubled, and numerous factories will be erected in the vicinity to produce raw sugar for the refiners. The circular further says: "Unfortunately our season is not so good as the previous one. We possess a yacht which, with his new acquisition, will serve as an excellent commensurate toward a Montenegro navy, the position of which I hear, one of Prince Nikita's most cherished hopes."—Gallegian's Messenger.

Yesterday the Theusens was laid upon one of the boys' heavy carts built expressly for the transport of heavy objects, and was drawn through the passages toward the gate. The cart had to pass over one of the water drains which run under the floor. The weight was too much for the thin vault, which gave way, and suddenly the cart sank on one side, turned over, and the statue lay shattered on the ground. The right arm was broken off. The statue was raised and placed under the trees of the Volksgarten, whither the whole city will run to see it when the news of the great flood—Vienna Cor. London News.

Friend of His Years. Among the many venerable men who registered as voters in Brooklyn for the last election was a tall man with ruddy countenance and white hair and beard. His form was erect, and he would easily have passed for a young man. As he approached the registry clerk and announced his name there was a general craning of necks to catch a glimpse of the proud-looking old man.

"Eighty-five years." "Where were you born?" "In Brooklyn." "How long have you lived in the state?" "Eighty-five years." "How long in the ward?" "Eighty-five years." "How long in the election district?" "Eighty-five years." "How long in the house which you now live in and has always lived, walked away.—New York Herald.

The Czar's Gift to Prince Nikita. Prince Nikita, of Montenegro, is in clover. The czar has purchased the steamer Jaroslavl for the sum of 3,000,000 rubles, and has been the same on his highness of the Black mountains. Russian officers and a Russian crew man the ship, and are under orders to remain in the service of Prince Nikita until the czar has ordered him to leave. The vessel is so equipped as to serve as a warship in case of need. The prince is certainly a fortunate man.
