PLUCK AND PRAYER.

There wa'n't any use o' fretting, And I told Ohadiah so,
For ef we couldn't hold on to things, Wo'd jest got to let 'em go.

There were lots of folks that'd suffer Along with the rest of us, An' it didn't seem to be worth our while To make such a dreffle fuss.

To be sure, the barn was 'most empty, An' corn an' pertaters sca'ce, An' not much of anything plenty an' cheap But water-nd' apple-eass.

But then—as I told Obadiah— It wa'n't any use to groan, For fiesh and blood couldn't stan' it; and he

Was nothing but skin an' bone. But laws! ef you'd only heard him,

At any hour of the night, A-prayin' out in that closet there Twould have set you crazy quite. I patched the knees of those trousers With cloth that was no ways thin,

But it seemed as of the pieces were wore on As fast as I set 'em in. To me he said mighty little Of the thorny road we trod, But at least a dozen times a day He talked it over with God. Down on his knees in that closet

The most of his time he passed; For Obadiah knew how to pray Much better than how to tast. But I am that way contrairy That of things don't go jest right,

I feel like rollin' my sleeves up high An' gettin' ready to fight. An' the giants I slew that winter I a'n't going to talk about; An' I didn't even complain to God, Though I think that He found it out.

With the point of a cambric needle

I draw the wolf from the door, For I knew that we needn't starve to death Or be lazy because we were poor. An' Obadiah he wandere An' kept me patching his knees, An' thought it strange how the meal held out,

An' stranger we didn't freeze. But I said to myself in whispers, "God knows where his gift descends; An' 'tisn't always that faith gets down As far as the fingers-ends."

An' I would not have no one reckon

My Obadiah a shirk: For some, you know, have the gift to pray, And others the gift to work. -Harper's Weekly.

Letter from Washington. SEHOME, Wash., Nov. 1890. ED. RECORD:-I have of late received numerous inquiries from residents of your town and county, asking for information concerning the north and west portion of the State of Washington, and thinking perhaps the best way to reach all inquirers would be through the medium of your paper, I take the liberty of addressing you with the hope that you may find space for my views of this rich and growing country I am at present living in the town of Schome, and have within the past twelve months seen it grow from a village of three hundred to a thriving little city of three thousand. Schome is located on Bellingham Bay, Whatcom county, and enjoys the friendly relation of two other towns also located on the bay, namely, Fairhaven and Whatcom. Fairhaven on the south, Whatcom on the north, the townsites of all these joining and in fact all one town. Efforts are being made to consolidate the three under one city government, which will give us a thriving city of at least 12,000 population, Whatcom is an old town and is said to have had a population in 1855 of 10,000 people, and was the distributing point for supplies destined for the Caraboo and Fraser River mines, but at present has little to indicate the old landmarks of years ago. Fairhaven is a thriving modern little city of eighteen months growth and has a population of 4,000. There are seven National banks and three private banks, all enjoying a good business, besides several loan agencies. Building material of almost every description is cheap and at hand. Lumber, brick, lime and a superior quality of building stone, all found at our door. The county's greatest wealth perhaps is its timber, the Puget Sound fir being met with from the water's edge to the snow line of the Cascade mountains. There are three varieties of timber common ly cut for the market-white cedar, spruce and fir. The fir very much resembles the Norway pine, grows to an enormous size and in good average saw timber from 250 to 350 feet in height; 250 feet often being cut into logs without a limb. It is a most excellent timber for building purposes of all kinds, for bridges and heavy structures, is usually straight grain, is an exceedingly stiff timber and is very superior for ship building, as it lasts well in the water and does not become water soaked. White cedar is a very fine, soft timber, most valuable for shingles and inside house-finishing material. such as doors, sash, mouldings, mantles, etc.; grows to an enormous size. trees being met with from 6 to 10 feet in diameter. The spruce very much resembles Eastern bass wood, is a soft, white timber, but tougher than bass wood. I think would make good bargrained it does not split readily. Of these three varieties of timber there is an almost inexhaustable supply. There are at present thirteen saw mills in Whatcom county, whose united efforts are not sufficient to supply the home The coal deposits of Whatcom county have been known for several years, and in fact one mine on the present townsite of Schome was successfully operated for 12 years, and coal was shipped from Bellingham Bay to San Francisco from this mine 25 years ago, but owing to the great distance and the difficulty in obtaining competent miners the project was abandoned. Much of the old works hriving little city.

come from rich deposits in Whatcom county, but of the extent of these I | in the mill with an average of 100 know but little.

Bellingham Bay occupies a very favored position, as it is perhaps the largest and most sheltered harbor on Puget Sound, and has the advantage of being much nearer to the open sea than either Seattle. Tacoma or Vancouver. Its anchorage ground for deep sea vessels is extensive and unexcelled. The present great activity on Bellingham Bay is due to the fact that several of the transcontinental R. R. companies are establishing their terminal facilities on Bellingham Bay. The Great Northern R. R. company have just succeeded to the property of the Fairhaven Southern R. R. company, whose franchises extended from a point on Skaget river, connecting with the West Coast or Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern R. R. where also they have succeeded to some very extensive and valuable coal mines, to a junction with the Canada Pacific | Mich, and six 48 inch trimmers or cutat New Westminister, B.C. The object of the Great Northern in securing this property is to establish a deep sea shipping point, which, when their transcontinental line is completed, will give them ship ping and terminal facilities unexcelled by any competitors. The Great Northern R. R. company are spending large sums of money and are putting in very substantial and extensive work on their property. The B. B. & B. C. R.R company are capitalists who years ago operated the coal mines, spoken of before in this article, located in Schome During the time they were operating this mine they acquired title to several thousand acres of land on the shores of Bellingham Bay, which land is now the present townsite of Schome and Whatcom. This company, in order to enhance the value of their property, establish a city and turn into gold the valuable resources of the country, are constructing a railroad from Schome to the boundary line where they are met by the Canadian Pacific R.R. company, who are building south from their main line at a place called Mission, on the Fraser river, to a junction with the B. B. & B. C. R. R. company at a place called Sumas, on the U.S. boundary line. This connection is expected to be made sometime in November of the present year. This little road, the B. B. & B. C. R. R. company, is a very important connecting link in the net work or railroads now building in the Northwest. With its consumation and the connection established between the G. N. and the West Coast, a d.rect railroad communication will be had north and south on the Pacific Coast between Vancouver, B. C., on the North and the City of Mexico and old Mexico on the South. Freight, in car load lots, can then be shipped in bond over the C. P. R. R. to almost any point on the Pacific Coast without transfer of freight or breaking of bulk, which may have the effect of breaking the iron rod of monopoly, so long held by our great American companies. In addition to the construction of the railroad, the company have constructed one of the finest water supply systems for the cities of Schome and Whatcom. The source of supply is Lake Whatcom, situated about three miles distant. The surface of Lake Whatcom is 315 feet above the surface of Bellingham Bay. It is a beautiful lake, 12 miles long by an average width of 2 miles, clear as crystal, filled with speckled trout, and its waters cool and sparkling. The company have, at an expense of about $300,000, put in a system of steel pipes, the principal mains being 20 inches in diameter, bringing the water of Lake Whatcom into and distributing it through the cities for fire and domestic purposes. The pipes have a continuous pressure of 125 pounds to the square inch, which makes a very efficient water service in case of fire. The ompany also have in operation a central electric light station, from which the streets of the two cities are lighted by electricity, as are many of the principal business houses. They have at rel staves, etc. Although very straight | present in operation two number eight Brush dynamos, which supply the current to one hundred and ten two thousand candle power arc lights. We are at present putting in machinery to more than double the lighting capacity of this station. In connection with the electric light department will be added machinery for operating an electric street railway, all of the rails for which are now on the dock, and the electrical appliances, power cars, etc., are expected to arrive soon. The system is expected to be in operation for a distance of four miles, early in January of In connection with these enterprises the company have, at great expense, constructed a mammoth and beautiful are yet to be seen in the midst of our saw mill, designed for cutting lumber both for local and foreign markets. Besides these there are a number of labor saving devices operated by steam, which properly come under the head of engines of a specialcharacter, designed for turning the logs on the carriages and otherwise handling heavy timber. The engines, boilers and all the steam appliances in this mill are under the special care of Mr. L. C. Bartmess. He is now busily engaged in arranging mechanical details preparatory to starting the mill. The cutting machinery of the mill consists of two sets of circular saws, termed right and left hand sides; two 60 inch gang edgers, with six saws each: one 50 inch Wicks Bros. sash gang mill, manufactured in East Sag naw, off saws. Washington, I remain,

In the White House. Housekeepers all over the land know how perplexing it is not to have enough silv r knives and forks to go round and they have all felt the anguish of seeing the most distinguished guest get the plated on by mistake. But who would dream that the White House would not have enough knives and forks to go round, and yet it is true. Every time fifty people sit down to a state dinner two of them take their bullion from plated spoons, and their terrapin from plated forks, and cut their fillet of beef with plated knives. It is a horrible thought, but there are now being brought in over the road bonly four dozen genuine silver knives, forks and spoons in the butler's pantry, and by the most skilful ingenuity they cannot be made to do duty for fifty price of average logs in the boom is people. There is one set of knives and $6.50 per thousand, special lengths, and forks in the sideboard which has a history, and shows how powerfully trifles may affect destinies. These cost a president his re-election. the gold knives and forks which Van Buren added, and when the people learned that the public moneys were being taken to put gold spoons in presid-nts' mouths they promptly defeated him. Now, the truth of the matter is that they are not go d at all, and the people were hasty in their judgment. They are solid silver washed with gold and it was only a few years ago-in President Athur's day—that they began to wear off and disclose the hoax. He had them re-washed, and they are still used on state occasions. They are small, fine-bladed, and much more delicate than those commonly in use in this day. Many of the larger rieces of silver date back to Madison's day, although no memoranda have been kept, purchased. A Matter of Temperament. The old saying that one man's meat is nother man's poison is never more fully exemplified than in the matter of sleep who never sleeps, as we understand the word. He is the janitor of a large building to which people resort at all hours of the twenty-four. This Cerberus volunteered for a double salary to do the watching day and night, and so he does, sitting in a chair and opening a gate every time the bell rings. There is never a longer interval than fifteen minutes, and yet he contrives to snatch sufficient sleep to serve him. His health is good and his happiness apparently complete. He looks upon himself as fortunate in having this exacting place, which most people would not accept at ary price. The amount of sleep is to a considerable degree a matter of temperament. Napoleon, according to the life of Josephine recently published, was a prodigious sleeper, taking nine hours when he could get it. His active brain required this amount of rest. On the other hand Emile Littre, the author of the dictionary, needed only four hours. He went to bed at four o'clock in the morning and got up at eight. All the rest of the time, except a few minutes at his meals, he spent at his desk. He lived to be eighty-five and enjoyed perfect health.

They are so thin that, if formed into a book, 1,200 would only occupy the space of a single leaf of common paper; and an octavo volume of an inch thick would have as many pages as the books of a well-stocked ibrary of 1.500 volumes, with 400 pages in each. Still thinner than this is th coating of gold upon the silver wire of what is called gold lace. Platinum and silver can be drawn in wire much liner than human hair. A grain of blue vitriol or carmine will tinge a gallon of water so that in every drop the color may be perceived. A grain of musk will scent a room for twenty rears, and will at that period have los ittle of its weight. The carrion crow smells its food many miles off. A burning taper uncovered for a single instant, during which it does not lose one-thousandth part of a grain, would fill with light a sphere four miles in diameter, so as to be visible in every part of it. The thread of the silkworm is so small that many of them are twisted together to form our finest sewing thread. But that of the spider is fine still, for two drachms of it by weight would reach from London to Edinburgh, or 400 miles. In the milt of codfish, or in water in which vegetables have been infused, the microscope discovers animalculæ of which many thousands together do not equal a grain of sand; and vet nature, with a single prodigality, has supplied many of them with organs as complete as those o the whale or of the elephant; and their bodies consist of the same substance ultimate atoms, as that of man himself. In a single pound of such matter there are more living creatures than of human beings on the face of the globe.

The Smallest Circulation. Newspapers are always vaunting hemselves as having the "largest circulation" in the world, writes a London correspondence in the Critic. Here is a new idea for them: The Austrian emperor's morning paper, which his imperial magesty cons daily, and consults over occasionally, has the smallest circulation in the world. In fact his august Francis himself. This Chronicle I believe that is the name—is the most curious publication imaginable Its proprietor is the emderor, it is published for the empero , and, as far as I con learn, is only read by the emperor. It is, at any rate, issued for his sole tenefit; and the imperial news bureau brings it out as a cost of 200,000 gulden yearly. It contains, in a condenced form, all the articles in foreign papers which refer to Austria. Surely this is true wisdom—I mean this desire of becoming acquainted wth all that is publicly said or written about one's self, when that one is set in high place. Many a worl which no courtier nor subject would venture to speak direct, may thus flud its way to the imperial

A Beggar's Excuse.

Some of the beggars who infest Park row are very bright indeed. By con stant practice they became admirable indges of character from facial expression. The ones who are most success ful are those who come out frankly and own what they want money for, A very common device is to ask for a cent with which to get over the bridge. The other day a well-dressed man was approached by a sorrowful looking man at the bridge entrance, who whined in a crying tone:

"Say, mister, will you please give me a cent? I want to get across the bridge.'

The man addressed shoved his hand into his pocket and drew out a ticket for the bridge promenade. The tramp looked at it with a disappointed expression and then exclaimed: "That ain't no good to me, sir; I want to get over the bridge in a hurry ou the cars. My grandmother is dy-

Law and Lawyers.

An American judge once interfered to prevent waste of words. He was sitting in chambers, and seeing from the piles of papers in the lawyer's hands that the first case was likely to be hotly contested, he asked, "What is the amount in question?" "Two dollars," said the plaintiff's counsel. "I'll pay it." said the judge, handing over the money; "call the next case." He had not the patience of taciturn Sir William Gran, who, after listening for a couple of days to the arguments of counsel as to the construction of an act, quietly observed when they had done, "That act has been repealed."

A Lesson.

A rising young was charmed one day to see his name one day in a long list of "Autographs of distinguished men for sale" displayed in a shop window. Entering with an air of indifference, he asked, "How do you sell Blank's autographs?" naming himself. "Two for three cents, sir," was the prompt reply. "I left the shop." he says, "a sadder and wiser man. If they they had said 'a cent apiece' I could have born it. But 'two for three,' like jured popular applause."

A Tame Tarantula.

A half-breed boy of Mexican and Indian blood recently attracted much attenntion at Winslow, Ari., by the performances of an educated tarantula he owns. He carries the big, formidablelooking insect in a large wooden box slung around his neck, which, when exhibiting his pet, he places on the ground as a sort of stage At the command of his master the tarantula mounted a small ladder, rung a bell and performed on a miniature trapize. Then to the thumping of a tambourine in the hands of the boy, it proceeded to revolve slowly about as if waltzing, and when it had finished saluted the crowd by lifting one leg three times. After its performance was over, it crawled to its master's shoulder, where it sat, occasionally running round his neck or down into his bosom. The boy says he tamed the spider when it was young, first by feeding it every day until it grew accustomed to him, then gradually taught it the tricks it knows. He declares that it is much more intelligent than any dog, and very tractable, though uncompromising in its enmity to any one but himself. It is as large as a silver dollar when curled up, though its legs are two or three in-The body is an ugly, dull brown, covered with short, coarse, black hair, which also covers the limbs, but is very sparse and bristly. The eyes are small and gleam like diamond points, while the mouth is furnished with slender, overlapping fangs. The power of spring in these creatures is said to be something incredible, a leap of ten feet being no tremendous exertion. The boy, who owns the only one which has ever made friends with any other living creature, is from the Magollon

Not a Fit Person. "Fellow citizens," cried a candidate for Congress, "I have fought against the Indians; I have often had no bed but the battle field, and no canopy but the sky; I have marched over the frozen ground till every step has been marked with blood!" His story told well till a dried-up

Time Enough. Being a judge gives opportunity for certain grim pleasantries which need not interfere at all with the habitual grality of the bench.

A hardened criminal, convicted of a grave crime, said to his judge: "I'm not so bad a man, your Honor, as you may think. If you'd only give me time for reflection and repen-"Very well," said the judge, "l'li give

Some Strange Misnomers. Much of the Russia leather comes from Connecticut, Bordeaux wine from California, Italian marble from Kentucky, Prench lace from New York, and Spanish mackerel from the New Jersey coast. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery comes from Buffalo, N. Y., but there is nothing in its name to criticize for it is truly golden in value, as thousands gladly testify. Consumption is averted by its use, and it has wrought many positive cures. It corrects torpid liver and kidneys, purifies the blood, banishes dyspepsia and scrofula, renews the lease of life, and tones up the system as nothing else will do. What is more, it is guaranteed to do this, or the price is refunded. The Art of Keeping Money.

"I hope," said a friend of Rothschild "that your children is not too ford of money and business. "I am sure you would not wish that." sure I should wish that," replied Rothchild. "I wish them to give mind. soul, heart and body to business-that is the way to be happy. It requires a great deal of boldness and a great deal of eaution to make a fortune, and when you have got it, it requires ten times as much wit to keep it."

"Strike the Golden Mean" AS A BLOOD PURIFIER. The Detroit Free Press says: "Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup, prepared only by The Charles Medicine Company of this city, has struck the GOLDEN MEAN, in the treatment of all blood diseases, and its success is an evidence that an honest, pure and valuable med-icine, is not incapable of attracting the attention of every family. There seems to be one opinion as to its merit as a family medicine."

This is the real secret of the success of this wonderful remedy, its periect and speedy action, in removing all impure and poisonous matter from the blood. No home should be without it, as a thorough and effectual blood puriover-ripe fruit! From that hour I ad- fier for young and old. For sale by all druggists.

Governor Tillman, of South Carolina, in his inaugural address, said: "We deny that 'All men are created equal'. It is not true now, and was not when Jefferson wrote it." This is the Democratic idea of the Declaration of Independence.

The Patron's of Industry are going to try the scheme of furnishing goods for the members, the same as proved a failure for the Patrons of Husbandry, A Patron's Commercial Union has incorporated with $100,000 capital stock with headquarters at Lausing.

A bill has been introduced in the House of Representatives for the reapportionment of the country into congressional districts, making 356 districts or one for each 173,901 inhabitants. By this division there will be a number of states having a large surplus over an equal division, but not equal to half, and the Democrats are objecting to the bill, because they claim that this is misrepresentation. To most people it is an amusing spectacle to see Democrats talking about misrepresentation, when they have twentyfive members in congress on a total vote of less than was cast for one member from Dakota, before the division of the territory. There is also a bill to reduce the representation of any state when it can be shown that any male citizen is deprived of his vote, excepting for crime. It is natural to expect the Democrats to oppose this bill. They will be most likely to both pass, notwithstanding.

JOHN D. NICHOLS, of Berrien Springs, a young man of excellent family, formerly assistant postmaster in that place, has been sentenced to two years in the Detroit house of correction and to pay a fine of $428.78. Young Nichols was led to gambling by improper associations, and to keep up his end at the gaming table helped himself to the post-office funds.

A FIRE was discovered in Bishop & Kent's store among the brooms and other goods in the cellar hall way. The fire had caught in the poker room kept by Will Chappel in the story above, and burned through the floor during the night. The hand engine was brought out, and found to be out of repair and useless. The steamer then appeared and, lo! that was filled with ice, instead of water as it is supposed to be, and could not be used. Wm. R. Rough appeared upon the scene and suggested that the Wagon Works pump could give them all of the water they would want. The hose was attached there and fire put out. It looks as if there was some carelessness somewhere to allow the fire fighting appliances to be out of order all around in such a manner. If there be any one hting more than any other to be in first-class order all of the time it isjust that machinery. Damage about $25. Insured.

KOONTZ BROS., the windmill manufacturers, who about two years since moved from this city to Buchanan. Mich., for the manufacture of their mills, will come back to South Bend. They purchased four acres of ground ' from Mr. Daniel Bowman in Myler, on Wednesday, and will begin the erection of a factory in the spring.—South Bend Tribune. Mr. A. O. Koontz informs the Rec-ORD that so far as the purchase of land is concern the above is true. That is he has in his own name purchased four acres of the Bowman farm close to the Vandalia railroad round house, and adloining the track of that road. He carries the inference that he bought the land as a speculation, but as he has been talking of moving to South Bend ever since the failure of the National Well Works project in Kansas city, we mistrust the truth of the balance of the article.

Mr. EDWARD PARKER, a well-known resident of St. Joseph, died at his home, on Church street, at 6 o'clock Saturday evening, from paralysis, after an illness of two days. Mr. Parker was in his usual good health up to 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and was working at his trade, shoemaking, in Albert Zordell's shop, when suddenly and without any previous warning he was stricken down with paralysis. The unfortunate man was conveyed to his home and physicians summoned and everything possible done to save his life, but he grew worse and finally went into spasms, suffering terrible agony until death came to his relief,— Palladium, Monday.

As has been well known to many of our citizens, a gentleman has been in our city for some time past in the in-terest of a new railroad which it is proposed to build to the Southeast, extending from Benton Harbor through Dowagiac, Cassopolis and Three Rivers to Lima or Columbus, Ohio. We are assured that men of means, energy and railroad experience are backing the enterprise, and that its completion will bring much more business to our town and give us a very desirable direct eastern outlet, with great possibilities for making the road part of a great through rail and lake route from the seaboard to the Northwest. A surveying party in charge of Mr. Tibbetts, one of the gentlemen connected with the project, left Benton Harbor last Friday and are now running a preliminary line.—B. H. Palladium.

WILLIAM DALLIN, the railroad contractor, is working a big scheme at St. Joseph. He proposes to give them a north and south railroad and an iron works for a bonus of $10,000. The money will be forthcoming he is assured if his part of the contract is carried out. It is not known whether his railroad is another extension of the Vandalia northward or the old and much talked of and partially constructed route via Berrien Springs and Buchanan to this city. Mr. Dallin hints that English capital is back of the enterprise .- South Bend Tribune.

EDWARD STEWART VS. C., W. & M. Ry. Co. Cause tried by jury, who found for the plaintiff and assessed his damages at $7,000. In this cause plaintiff had occasion to draw some wood to Niles, and to obtain the same he drove across a bridge built by defendant at what is commonly called a "farmer's crossing," a private way, and while so crossing with his wood the bridge gave away and plaintiff sustained thereby permanent injuries of a serious character. The same cause was brought on for hearing last year, but under the charge of the circuit judge the jury returned a verdict of no cause of action. The supreme court reversed the decision and ordered a new trial, which was had with above result. Defendant claimed that under the decision of the supreme court all that they had to prove to sustain their plea of not guilty was to prove that they did not build at such crossing any trap, and that at the time of building the same was a good substantial bridge. Plaintiff avers that when defendant built said bridge it must maintain the same in good repair or remove same, and that if plaintiff was not guilty of contributary negligence he ought to recover.—Berrien Cor. THE modern magazine may be taken as embodying the best literature of the world, as the magazine editor pays the highest prices to novelists, scientists, statesmen, soldiers, and even kings and princes, for the best they can furnish in the literary line. The well-edited magazine becomes an educating influence in the family circle, whose importance cannot be over-estimated. The children, as they grow up, are attracted byits illustrations, and soon come in time to have a taste for reading. There is always something that is new, something that is strange, something that is interesting; and we consider that we are doing our readers a positive benefit if we are instrumental in placing such a publication within their reach. The special arrangement which we have made with the Cosmopolitan presents very unusual inducements. That magazine is already recognized as one of the most interesting publications of the day. It is seeking subscribers everywhere and obtaining them. The proprietors believe that the Cosmopolitan has only to be examined to secure a permanent subscriber. That is why we are enabled to make, if the offer is accepted before January next, such a very low rate, by which our readers can obtain the Cosmopolitan for little more than the cost of this journal alone. Just think of what the combination means! You obtain your own home journal at about the regular price, and have thrown in a magazine which gives you, in a year, 1.536 pages of reading matter by the ablest writers of the world, including over 1,300 pages of illustrations that are unsurpassed in point of interest and execution. OF MICHIGAN,
The wittiest, brightest and most successful of Republican campaign orators, long a member of Congress, sound and safe as a legislator and a thorough Protectionist, has been engaged by The New York Tribune to help fight the battle for Protection during the coming year.
Every issue of The Weekly Tribune will contain extended explanations of the new Tariff and the advantages of Protection, point by point. Mr. Horr will also invite from the public and will answer questions or phases of the Tariff which perplex the minds of the people.

Young Men Who Wish to Succeed.

Many a man teels the lack of early direction of his energies and early inculcations of his maxims which promote character and success in after life. Every such man would gladly see the young men of to day better guided than he was. The Tribune has planned the following articles; which will appear in this paper only:

What shall I Do? By S. S. Packard, President of Packard's Business College.

Suggestions for the Boys on the Farm who are Ambitious. By the Hon. J. H. Brigham, Master of the National Grange.

Education without the Help of a College. By President C. K. Adams, of Cornell.

A Continuation of "How to Win Fortune." By Andrew Carnegie, whose remarkable article of last spring was so full of encouragement to poor men.

Multiplicity of Paying Occupations in the United States. By the Hon. Carroll D. Wright.

A Talk with American Boys. By P. T. Barnum, of Bridgeport, Conn.

Examples in the History of our own Country. By Gen. A. S. Webb, the gallant soldier. Importance of Good Manners. The views of Ward McAllister.

A College Education good for all; what is best for those who cannot get if. By President William Pepper, University of Pennsylvania. The Tribune will print from week to week well-considered answers to any questions by young men or women, in any part of the country.

have us know. London, Oct. 28, 1890. Let Christmas Stand for Pleasure.

Christmas is the preacher who emphasizes the fact that the religion which it celebrates is adapted to human nature. Horace is called the laureate of the worldly, of the epicurean, of the pagan who would eat and drink in view of tomorrow. The gay adage dum vivimus is cited with a shudder as the gospel of pleasure. Christmas was hunted in the Puritan parliament as a kind of god of pleasure who was only a masked devil. It was confounded by Governor Bradford with the Belly god. But why, said Charles Wesley, as he sweetly sangwhy give all the good tunes to Satan: The sweet singer might have enlarged his view and his question. Why give Satan any of the good things? Why, above all, let him have Christmas, as Andromeda was abandoned to the dragon of the sea? Let Christmas stand for pleasure and for the reason that it is especially the Christian day. Then Christianity drops her weeds and smiles.-Harper's.

An Impostor Who Made Money. One of the men who made a fortune out of the Cardiff giant humbug nearly twenty years ago died in New York recently. His name was George Hull. He was formerly a tobacconist in Binghamton, and was the author of the fraud, which he engaged an Italian stonecutter of Chicago to carry out. A large gypsum slab was obtained in Iowa and cut into the form of a gigantic man. The stone was artificially colored. to give the appearance of great age, and then buried in the vicinity of Cardiff, where it was accidentally (of course) discovered and exhumed, and exhibited about the country as a prehistoric figure. The imposition was so clever that many scientific men were deceived by it.-Chicago Herald.

Induction. Two Detroiters were closing a large land deal the other day by telephone when there came a "zip!" and a female voice inquired: "Is Mrs. Jones home?"

"No." answered another. "So sorry! Well, just the minute she comes do you tell her to come right up "Sickness?

"No. All my canned peaches have begun to work and must be scalded over again!"-Detroit Free Press. Electricity has not been practically applied in the art of music heretofore. except, perhaps, in the operating mecha nism of church organs. George Breed, of the United States navy, has devised a method by which the passage of a broken current over a conductor in a magnetic field produces musical notes of varying pitch and volume.

A farmer of Sumner county, Kan., has become a raving maniac by reason of the whistling of locomotives through his farm. He has been placed in the asylum, and his condition is said to be most pitiful, as he crouches in terror from every noise under the hallucination that it is a train of cars.

The Good Luck mine, in New Mexico, was first located less than six months ago, and in the last three months has produced $20,000 worth of ore, and during that time there have not been more than five men at work on an average.

A peculiar fish, of brown color, without scales, and weighing twenty-one pounds, was caught in a net at New Dorp, S. I., by the lighthouse keeper. In forty years' fishing the keeper has never seen a similar fish.

Checks Found in a Damp. Two checks for quite a large amount recently sent by a Saco, Me., man to a Portland firm have had quite an interesting history. As the Portland firm at first denied having received them, it was at first thought that they had been stolen, but it was at last concluded that they had found their way to the waste basket by mistake. This supposition was followed up, and four men were kept at work all day Sunday turning over with pitchforks the dump heap on one of the Portland wharves. It was like hunting for a needle in a haystack. but the search was successful, and the two checks were at last recovered.-Philadelphia Ledger.

While Mr. Williams, of Montezuma, Ga., was driving under an oak tree at dusk the other day he was amazed to find his horse leave the ground and remain in the air. Investigation proved that the affair was not supernatural, as the animal got caught in a swing hanging from a bough of the tree.

Among the latest disinfectants is "lysol," which appears to be very much like carbolic acid. The emulsifying agent is resin or fat soap, tar acid being mcorporated with the soap at ment of saponification.

It has been proposed to make the up-per half of war balloons of very thin steel and the lower portion of crdinary balloon material, the wholese constructed as to hold hydrogen instead of ordinary gas.

Blackening the nose and cheeks under the eyes has been found an effectual preventive of snow blindness, or the injurious effect of the glare from illuminated mow upon eyes unaccustomed to it.

Modacks ab a Railroad Wreck. Superintendent Husted, of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, doesn't like the kodak, and his experience of the last few days does not lessen his dislike. When the wreck occurred at Oxford the "kodak fiends" were out in force to make sketches of the scene. As a business proposition Mr. Husted objected to photography of the affair being sent broadcast over the country, and many of the kodak manipulators consented to his request and left the place. One chap with a fine instrument would not listen to anything and insisted on taking a picture. At last the superintendent told him he was trespassing on the company's grounds, and the man with the kodak remarked that he would go to an adjoining field and secure a view. The superintendent told him that he would be trespassing there also. This made the chap angry. Mr Husted is an exceedingly mild mannered man, but he grew warm under the collar. "I have tried to treat you as a gentleman," exclaimed he, "and you won't let me. Now, I'll treat you like a tough. If you attempt to make a picture of this wreck I'll smash that kodak over your infernal head." The kodak fiend evidently believed that Husted would make his word good, for he went back to Oxford on a work train. While Superintendent Husted was thus engaged Chief Engineer Porter and his assistants were chasing kodak fiends over the surrounding country with clubs. The wary men with the cameras didn't hold choice points of view, but it's fair to guess that they are loaded with snap shots at that wreck.—Indianapolis News.

A Story of 5,000 Manuscripts. I know an editor who is at the head of a popular periodical which, from its peculiar character, invites and receives probably more manuscripts in a single year than such magazines as The Century, Scribner's or Harper's. This year he has already exhausted two manuscript record books, each holding 2,000 entries, and the third is already half filled. In other words, he has received in ten months more than 5,000 manuscripts. I had the curiosity to look into the figures last week which this enormous deluge of manuscripts told, and they were interesting. There had been received, for example, a trifle more than 500 short stories, yet only 11 of these had been accepted, less than 2 per cent! Of over 1,500 paems a few over 30 had been accepted, a little better than 2 per cent! and yet every manuscript had been carefully read, and the position of the magazine is such that it is in a way of getting much good material.-Edward W. Bok's Letter.

Epidemics Among Animals. The epidemics which show themselves at certain intervals in cattle and other domesticated animals have recently been the subjects of many reports and discussions. Among these diseases none has attracted more attention than that which has recently decimated canaries and other cage birds. Not very long ago upward of 1,800 canaries died in one year at Norwich, England, and occasioned a loss to the owners estimated at about $5,000. A medical man is now stated to be hard at work inquiring as to the true cause of the disease, which at present is thought to partake of the character of diphtheria. The subject is an important one, as the transmission of diphtheria to children from domestic animals has come to be not only frequent but occasionally most serious in effects.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

A movement is on foot in Denmark, corresponding with the needlework industries of England and Ireland, to advance the farming and dairy interests for the benefit of women. Little girls are being trained to raise poultry, make cheese and butter, and brand them with the badge of excellence. The agricultural, industrial and scientific worlds are levied upon for improved machinery and appliances. Not only are the cattle fed in Danish fashion, but by the use of special methods 10 per cent. more butter is extracted from a gallon of milk than ever before. These fancy products are put in the highest markets and yield a revenue not to be approached by the old system of women's work.—London Let-

An Incident of the Wall Street Depression. A man wearing a slouch hat, ill fitting clothes and having the general appearance of a countryman entered the office of a prominent Wall street broker.

"Is this here one of the places where you buy stocks?" he asked. He was informed that it was. No one, however, was encouraged by his appearance to make a customer of him. He looked around curiously for several minutes and then said: "Well, I came in from the country to buy some of them cheap stocks. I read in the papers that Jay Gould was buying lots of railroads now, and he's pretty smart, I guess, and I'm going to be with him.

"But you can't buy less than 100 shares at a time," he was told. "All right," he replied; "I guess I can stand it if the

"We don't take checks on out of town banks," he was again informed. It was thought that would settle the matter. "Well," he said, "I brought the money along with me." Then began a wondrous display. Bills, gold and silver coins came out of one pocket after another. Trousers pockets, vest pockets, coat pockets, were all filled with every variety of money. The bills were of a small denomination, and when the farmer had emptied his pockets a large table was covered with money, mostly of very old issue.

"They told me up country that I'd better put money in every pocket, so if them pickpockets got the best of me they'd only get part of my savings. There's just $7,000. Count and see if you don't believe me. Now, you just go and buy some of them stocks old Jay's been buying, and I'll be around in about a month and put my profits in some more of the stocks. I ain't slow, you bet, and I'm in with Gould every time, don't you forget it!"-New York Telegram.

Old Fashioned Watch Chains. Among the presents showered on blushing brides this season figures the old fashioned watch chain, more than a yard long. After many years of sus-pending watches from chatelaines, from short chains hanging from a brooch and from ribbons secured by monograms; after wearing them in breast pockets or tucked into the bosoms of dresses with short chain pendants; after carrying them in leathern straps or slipped into the clasp of a bag or using them as decorations for the handles of parasols and umbrellas, card cases and portemonnaies, as clasps for bracelets or concealed beneath a miniature in a brooch or behind the heart of a floral nin-fashion has gone back to the ancient style of chain thrown around the neck that our mothers and grandmothers affected. The new chains are very fine and generally are divided at intervals of three or four inches by pearls, turquoises or garnets, strung like beads, or by small diamonds, rubies, sapphires or moonstones, set clear. As for the watch, it is hidden in the folds of the dress or carried in a side pocket. It is small in size, and the back should be encircled or enthose on the chain.—Paris Cor. Jewelers'

Weekly. A Co-operative Farm. S. A. Fetler, of Alabama, says: A colony of about twenty-five families from the north, for the most part farmers, have recently secured about 3.000 acres of choice farm land in Cullman county. Ala., on which to locate a cooperative farm. It is to be organized as a joint stock company, with a capital stock of $200,000, limited to 200 shares of $1,000 each. No person can purchase, own or control more or less than one share of the capital stock. The labor is to be performed by themselves and their families at stipulated wages, the profits to be distributed as dividends. They propose to introduce manufactures as soon as practicable, as they possess a tract of valuable timber as well as an inexhaustible supply of coal. This county is the only farming territory in any of the southern states in which there are no negroes.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Turtles Eat a Daby. It is reported that a child was eaten by turtles in Hangchow, China, a short time ago. There is a large pool of water in front of the yamen or the provincial treasury. In this pool a number of large turtles are kept, in order, as it is said, to keep rebbers from burrowing into the vaults of the treasury. Some of the large ones have shells that would measure 2 feet by 3 feet or more in width and length.

People are constantly standing about the pool watching them as they come up to feed or to take breath. One day a nurse with a child in her arms was standing there, when the child suddenly sprang into the water. The turtles soon gathered around it, tore it to pieces and levoured it. The nurse fled.—North China Herald.

A Child's Strange Mishap. Julia Beddick, aged 7 years, met with peculiar accident Wednesday afternoon that may cause her death. The little girl was coming home from school and had a slate vencil about six inches long in her mouth. As she crossed the street she fell in such a way that the pencil was forced through the roof of her month and the point penetrated to the base of the skull. She was taken to the Pennsylvania hospital, where Dr. Leidv removed the pencil by means of a pair of forceps. She is now in the hospital in a dangerous condition and the physicians are afraid blood poisoning may set

Medical aid was at once procured and the broken teeth were at once extracted, but death resulted, owing to the depth of the wounds and shock to the system.—Galignani's Messenger.

Killed a Mountain Lion With His Anife. H. Woods went out to Bullock's ranch recently, and from there took a hunting trip into the mountains the next day with his shotgun to bring down some small game. He had not been out long when he heard a peculiar noise in the underbrush, and, after some sconting around, a large-sized mountain lioness showed up. He had only small shot in his shells, but as soon as she came in reach he let loose, and she took the contents in her body and dashed up the mountain. Woods, thinking that she had a mate, located himself on a rook where he could see into the canyon, and, true enough. in a few moments the lion appeared and a monster at that, as large apparently as John Robinson's biggest circus lion, and he came directly to the spot where Woods was secreted, and when within a few feet he got the contents of the gun in the region of the heart. The lion rolled down the side of the canyon a short distance, regained his feet, and made up an arroyo. Woods followed him up and soon came within hearing of the lioness, which was howling frightfully, and all of a sudden it emerged from a thicket and dashed at him, with eyes glaring and mouth wide open. He emptied the contents of his shotgun into its mouth, which dazed it for a moment. Instantly he jerked out his sheath knife and as he did so the lioness sprang for him, but only to receive the blade of the knife into its heart, and the fierce animal lay dead at Mr. Woods' feet as the trophy of his hunt. He did not want any more lioness, but made his way back to Bullock's ranch. but not until he had taken the hide of his lion, which is now on exhibition .-

Murphy's Long Leap for Life. John Murphy, a harness maker of Cleveland, sat up with a sick friend at locky river and started to walk home next morning on the Nickel Plate track. While crossing the bridge over Rocky giver, which is ninety-two feet above the water, he was overtaken by a passenger train. He shouted to the engineer and started to run, but it was too late. The Ariek of the whistle, the roar of the train and the trembling of the bridge caused Murphy to become panicstricken, so that instead of lying down on the outer timbers, as he might have done with perfect safety, he leaped from the bridge into the chasm below.

The passengers on the train and three or four persons in the vicinity saw Murby turn over several times in his awful fall and strike the water, which is only six feet deep at this point, and supposed he was killed. The keeper of the boat-house, a short distance below, pulled rapidly to the spot, found Murphy still straggling and hauled him into the boat. He vomited freely, but quickly recovered, and on the arrival of a physician it was found that, although badly shaken up and braised, he had sustained no serious injury.—Cor. Chicago Herald.

About Polding Election Ballots. if those distinguished New Yorkers really couldn't fold their ballots according to the method prescribed by the new law they may console themselves by the thought that the greatest minds are often puzzled by trifles. Newton, who enunciated the laws of nature, cut a large hole in his study door for his cat and a small one for her littens. Chauncey M. Depew and Abram S. Hewitt can direct great public interests, but cannot fold a little piece of paper. Such is genius. As to a Brooklyn gentleman, who bears the cuphonious title of doctor of pedagogy, but could not, after repeated attempts, succeed in folding the ballots to the satisfaction of the inspectors, his failure may perhaps have been due to the fact that he took his learned degree into the polling place and got tangled up in its intricacies. - Munsey's Weekly.

Sending Panoramas Abroad. A product purely American and prob ably in the nature of a revelation to the heathen peoples of England and France to whom Steamship Agent Low has just consigned it, reached here all the way from Minneapolis a day or two ago by water. It was a panorama, and as it was fifty-four feet long it had to be tarpaulined and bolted to the deck of the steamship Lydian Monarch, as there was no room for it in the hold. A single freight shipment fifty-four feet long is not to be sneezed at, even if it is only five feet and a half square in the other two dimensions, and this particular big roll of canvas weighed all of three tons The manufacture of panoramus for the European market is a novel industry of recent origin. These canvas pictures are not shown over here at all.—New York

Electric Oil Well Drills. atent has been granted for an electrical drill for oil wells. The device consists of a series of motors in tandem, connected in such a way as to make one motor. The design has been to get the power within a six inch diameter, so that the entire mechanism, which much resembles a common boiler, can be lowered in the well, and the power can be applied at the bottom. The drill bits are firmly fastened on the rod, which is worked rapidly in and out of a cylinder, after the manner of a piston rod.—New York Telegram.

The Popular Cosmos Flower. The cosmos flower, which has come to be all the rage here this fall, has an in-florist, related. It is indigenous to Mexico, where it grows wild in the fields like the daisy in this climate. Some four years ago a German florist in Hoboken. N. J., propagated some of the plants from imported seeds and introduced the flowers in New York. Then the plant appeared in the Soldiers' home gardens at Hampton, near Fortress Monroe, where it was found that it would bloom as late as January and February, on account of the milder climate. A gentleman near Alexandria, Va., then secured a quantity of the seed and began to grow the plant for the market, meeting with such success that he has now several acres covered with the cosmos blooms, and he ships immense quantities to New York daily.

Mr. Small says that the plant cannot be grown with great success farther north than this city, as it succumbs to the first frost. This is the first year that it has become common, but just now great branches of it adorn the windows of each florist's establishment, and can be bought cheaply in the market or of the boys on the street. The flower makes a pretty interior decoration, or it will keep fresh for four or five days if placed in a vase of water immediately after it is cut. The white blossoms are the handsomest, resembling a narcissus in their white petals and gold hearts, but there are other tints that are highly prized. The cosmos is apt to be as popular ere long as the chrysanthemum, although florists will always prefer the latter.—Washington Post.

The Cano Has Gone.

The really high caste London swell has "cursed his stick and cast it out." Swagger Englishmen no longer appear in public with canes of any description. The collection of choice silver topped and natural wood weapons they drew mental sustenance from through so many seasons has suffered a temporary divorce from the fashionable toilet. British manhood is unprotected, and goes empty handed on the promenade save for a glove possibly, or in stress of weather a medium sized silk umbrella. The collapse of the stick is attributable to the wholesale adoption of imitation costly canes by the London clerk and petty tradesman.

'Arry, the haberdasher, greengrocer and draper men were contented until recently to carry blackthorns or a light rattan. To this no objection was raised by the aristocrats, and all would have gone well had not a sharp American flooded the market with cheap, flashy copies of swelldom's own stick. The result was intolerable, and hence the universal renunciation of canes in upper circles.—Illustrated American.

To Winter in the Arctic. Three vessels from San Francisco are now in winter quarters at the mouth of the Mackenkie river, within 1,200 miles of the north pole. This is said to be the first time that whaling vessels have voluntarily wintered in this location. The colony comprises nearly seventy men. It will be late next summer before they can be heard from, unless by some chance a trapper might find his way that far north by sledges and back again to a British fur trading post. Provisions in the way of fish and game will be procured from the Indians who have villages close by. The vessels are the steamers Grampus and Mary D. Hume and the schooner Nicolene. Alluring stories of bowhead whales being so thick in the water that you could wallon their backs as on broken ice led the vessels to their present location.—San Francisco Alta. Last of the Buffalo.

There is a small herd of buffalo on what is known as the Red desert, not many miles from Laramie, Wyo. A party of hunters recently returned from there and report having seen fifteen. During their trip they captured two with a lasso, but both of them died, it is said, from the effects of the choking they received. One of them was taken after a chase of two days. Mr. J. C. Robbins was at the head of the party, and his purpose in capturing them alive was to add them to a private collection of the wild animals of the Rocky mountains, which he intends exhibiting at the World's fair at Chicago. He left three hunters in the hills near the desert for the purpose of capturing other animals. —Denver News.

A Queer Duck at Great Duck Island. On Sept. 12 a colored individual, who gave his name as "Joe" Hopkins, came shore in a fourteen foot dory on Little Duck island. Members of the lighthouse department offered to take him to the mainland, but he declined, and since that time has lived on the island. Little Duck is entirely devoid of vegetable growth, and Hopkins has subsisted entirely on mussels. To procure these he has been obliged to wade up to his waist in water. He still refuses to go to the mainland, but desires a new boat. He claims that he is en route for Africa, having started from Nova Scotia.—Cor Boston Globe.

It's a Way Politicians Have. A lady of this city who has been reading about politics a good deal lately said to her husband the other day: "I suppose it is all right for a prominent public man to be referred to by a nickname, though I think it is rather undignified. But what puzzles me is why everybody should refer to Mr. McKinley as McKinley Bill, instead of Bill McKinley. I suppose, though, it must be in imitation of the cowboy style."-New York Tri-

Coal Thieves Run a Coal Eard. Seven persons have been arrested at Reading for systematically robbing the coal cars of the Reading railroad. It was developed at the hearing that they scraped the coal from the cars on the sidings at Port Clinton, and virtually supplied and operated a large coal yard from their stealings.—Philadelphia.Rec-

Small Bonnets for the Theatre. The men in town are looking forward to a delightful winter for playgoing. It is all on account of the ladies' bonnets. A year ago they were only comparable to cart wheels and steeples, but now they are the most modest, low and snug little hats. As for the bonnets, at the opening night of a new play at the Bijou two well known bankers and the president of a trunk line railroad escorted their wives to front seats, and all the men in the house felt like breaking out with applause. This was because these wealthy men's wives wore bonnets that just covered the tops of their heads—little confections of lace that looked pretty and stole no one's view of the stage.—New York Sun.

Electricity in the French Navy. The French minister of marine has decided that every military port shall send to Paris two foremen and two working electricians to study the various systems of electric lighting. A further evidence of the extent to which the government of France is recognizing the importance of providing its navy with the fullest possible instruction in electrical matters is afforded by the fact that lectures on the theory and use of electricity and its employment for naval purposes are being given at the Brest observatory, and they will be continued for four months. -New York Commercial Advertiser.

The German postoffice officials have been experimenting with the North sea cable, seventy-five kilometers long, between Heligoland and Cuxhaven, to test the possibility of using submarine cables of considerable length for telephonic purposes. The results have been very favorable, distinct communication having been obtained at both ends.

"According to Homer. NESTOR, the old teresting history, which Mr. Small, the warrior and the wise counsellor of the Greeks, had ruled over three generations of men, and was wise as the immortal cods."

And the best Irmp ever made, like Alad-din's of Cid, a "won-derful lamp!" A lamp derful lamp!" A lamp absolutely non-explosive and un-breakat.", which gives a clear, soft, brilliant whise light of 85 candle power! Purer and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light, more cheerful than either! That lamp is

"The Rochester." And with it there in no smoke, no smell, no broken chimners, no flickering, no sweating, no climbing up of the flame, no "tentrums" nor annoyance of any kind, and it never needs trimming. Its founts (oil reservoirs) being tough rolled seamless brass, with central draft, it is absolutely unbreakable, and as safe as a tailow canale.

Only five years oil, and were two million of these lamfs in use. It must be a GOOD lamp to make such a telling success. Indeed it is, for lamps may come and lamps may go, but the "Rochester" shines on forever! We make over 2,000 artistic varieties,—Hanging and Table Lamps, Banquet, Study, Vase and Plano Lamps,—every kind, in Bronze. Porcelain, Brass, Nickel and Black Wrought Iron.

Ask the lamp dealer for it. Look for the trade-mark stamp: "The Rocaestrae."
