THE SPOONY-MARRIED MAN.

By GEORGE E. DRYDEN.

'Tis mostly true in this world that make our sum of sin.

A sort of moral tribe that stings where'er we go;

But of all plagues devised to mar the great terrestrial plan,

I think the biggest nuisance is the spoony married man.

Silas Reynolds and Thomas Todd—known respectively as Uncle Silas and

Uncle Tom—were rich farmers in Illinois twenty-five years ago. They were neighbors and very close friends, and were both of them somewhat notorious for their oddities and their shabby dress.

They carried long hickory poles as canes, and Uncle Tom almost always had a bucket on his arm, because he "couldn't bear pockets in his clothes."

Both men were familiar figures about the old board of trade in Chicago. One evening they missed their train, and were obliged to remain in town over night; so they went to the Palmer House, then just built, and the pride of the city.

The night clerk was a dapper young man, "with an air of coquette and importance about him," and when he saw the two seedy-looking wayfarers reach for the register he accosted them with a pleasant smile, and in

IT has been suggested to the RECORD that a special meeting of the Board of Supervisors should be called to investigate the contents of the old safe in the county treasurer's office. Now that would do no good, for "the boys" would have the stuff all drunk and the investigating committee would find nothing.

OF the girls who worked in the Featherhouse factory, the Heppner sisters, who came here from Three Oaks, are the only ones to go with the plant to Three Oaks. The wages paid by the institution are not such as would tempt any of them to leave their homes.

THE hot weather of the past week has been most remarkable for September. We in Michigan have not been getting the worst of it. While we have been reading 88 to 96 from our thermometer, reports come from Wisconsin and other parts of the north-west of 100 to 100 in the shade, and sunstroke cases frequent.

A PLEASANT party of her young friends gathered at the home of J. E. Barnes, to give Miss Dett a farewell, before her removal to Benton Harbor. Among those present were Messrs. Ed. Hahn, Fred Smith, and Miss Myrtle Dutton of Niles, and Mr. Eugene Rickard of Elkhart.

THERE is complaint that the river bridge is in an unsafe condition. It is the duty of the commissioner of highways to investigate the cause of the complaint, and if the bridge need repairs make them at once. No chances should be taken with an unsafe bridge at that point. New planning is one of the needs of the bridge.

A COMMITTEE from Benton Harbor went to Chicago, Friday evening, with the disputed $50,000 city bonds and not to sell them. The Palladium says the bonds were perfectly legal and in accordance with law, but the courts have seen fit to step in and obstruct the operation, and they have concluded to let the matter drop.

REV. J. E. ARNEY is the Coloma and Watervliet pastor, J. W. being returned to his former charge, at Saranac.

A CORRECTION is due our readers regarding the item published by the RECORD two weeks since, stating that it cost Charles Julius $50 to shoot game out of season. We learn since that the Democratic magistrate before whom this poor boy was tried remitted the fine, and all it cost him was $3 costs of suit. The offender is a son of the rich clothier in Niles and is "one of the boys," and so must be let off lightly.

JUST for the amusement of its readers the RECORD would be glad to give a description of the grade of the new sidewalk being built along the south side of Chicago street, but our descriptive faculties fail to meet the demand. Perhaps we may be able to find assistance from the street committee, which is supposed to have established the grade.

THE Western Union Telegraph company has been sued for damages in the sum of $10,000. Papers were filed Saturday. It is said a dispatch was sent to Chicago to certain Niles parties, about a land deal which involved a sum of $20,000. The message never came, and thus a suit is commenced.—Star.

FLEMING REYNOLDS, uncle of John F. Reynolds and Mrs. C. H. Baker of this place, died Saturday, after a sickness of about two weeks, somewhat resembling paralysis. Mr. Reynolds was 74 years of age, and had lived upon the farm where he died forty years. He is the third of the Reynolds brothers to die within two years, leaving only James and Ethel of South Bend living, from a family of twelve children. The remains were buried in Rolling Prairie cemetery Tuesday.

THE heavy rain of Friday night and Saturday morning had the effect to lessen the fires in the marshes of this township. Lake township also had a number of marsh fires of quite extensive area, which were mostly extinguished. During the storm of Saturday morning, lightning struck the cupola of J. M. Matthews' barn, just east of town, tearing it and the roof of the building somewhat, but causing no fire. The electric fluid also visited the house on the Merrill farm, occupied by Mr. Stone, doing slight injury to the building.

A MR. MILLER, of South Bend, came here a few weeks ago, made a thorough examination of the Rough grist mill property, contracted with the farmers to buy the property, fit it up in first-class order and do their grinding at a less rate, stated, than is usually charged, in case they would raise a bonus of $1,500 for him. Freeman Franklin and Levi Sparks spent a considerable amount of their time and secured the required amount of subscription, when Mr. Miller failed to come up to his side of the agreement. It would seem as if these two farmers had a valid claim against Mr. Miller for services rendered. A letter received from Mr. Miller this morning, states that he now wants to change the terms of his contract with the farmers.

THE Common Council have information from their broker that the money is ready for their bonds as soon as the bonds can be prepared. They will be sold at par less brokerage. As the bonds bear but four per cent annual interest, the Council feel as if they were doing about as well as some other towns who are selling their six per cent bonds at par without brokerage. Up to this date the work has been progressing under an uncertainty; first, as to what the vote would be, and next their ability to dispose of four per cent bonds. Both of these have been settled, and the remainder is to go on with the work. The Common will meet tonight to decide upon plans of operations.

THE dam question has once more passed the election point, the result on Monday being 257 for the water works, 19 against, and seven votes not counted because they were mutilated or not correctly stamped. Two were not stamped at all. One was stamped clear across the ticket, notwithstanding the explicit instruction given nearly every voter, by Trustees Richards, and some a half-dozen times. In his dream the next night he is said to have told a voter to stamp in the square opposite the word they wanted to vote, and then saw the voter start for the cooler to deposit the ballot, and was never seen again. This last is the only consolation Mr. Richards gets from the dream.

OWING to various opinions being expressed regarding the powers of the Common Council in matters of sidewalk building, mostly made by people who have not taken the trouble to read the law on the subject, and therefore do not know what they are talking about, we publish here the words of the village charter on that subject:

"The council shall also have authority to require the owners and occupants of lots and premises to construct and maintain sidewalks in the public streets adjacent to and abutting upon such lots and premises, and to keep them in repair at all times, and to construct and lay the same upon such lines and grades, and of such width, materials, and manner of construction, and within such time, as the council shall by ordinance or resolution prescribe, and to keep the same free from obstruction, snow, ice, filth, or any nuisance."

IF the army worm continues its devastation of the foliage of the forest trees, the woods will be shorn of its glory of the autumn costumes, and October will lose half its charms as the most beautiful month of the year.—Niles Star.

A PARTY story is told about the state to the effect that a Buchanan woman has found a petrified cow's ear in a stick of stove wood. This seems to belong to the same class as the mermaid tales that emanated recently from Big Rapids.—Dowagiac Times.
