THE YEARS.

The years are all alike. With childish laughter they blow past us with endless wings; They peep into the birds' nests; they look after White lambs and other pretty little things.

NELLIE'S LOVER.

It was early in the spring of 1893. The little station at Clifton was crowded with people waiting to see the last of the troop of volunteers just starting to join the army in Virginia.

A Jealous Cow.

A few years ago I had a quiet milk cow, Rose, which was fond of Thomas, the stableman, and also showed an aversion to dogs.

Young Squidgie's Misfortune.

Little Johnny Squidgie spoiled what otherwise would have been a pleasant call last evening, when he was engaged in the establishment of the Squidgie and Snags households.

They Were on the Make.

One day in my rambles among the hills I came upon an old fellow hoeing corn, in front of his house, and in the course of our talk he told me he had five sons.

He Had a Limit.

The dude was visiting the penitentiary accompanied by an official and a newspaper man, and the party were talking to one of the prisoners.

She Didn't Have To.

"Do you think any girl ever proposes in Leap Year, as they say, Jennie?" he asked.

A six-foot Yankee, seated upon a load of brooms, was taken before the door of an establishment where he expected to find a purchaser. Jumping from his seat he entered the store and the following colloquy took place:

What's your name?

"No, don't want any," said the dealer. "Better take 'em—sell 'em dog cheap." "Don't want 'em," got enough brooms."

What's your name?

"I'll tell you what I'll do. If you'll take the lot I'll let 'em go for one dollar a dozen. You know they're worth double that."

The dealer stroked his chin for a moment.

"Well, I don't want any brooms, as I told you, but I don't mind making a trade with you."

What's your name?

"Well, I'll take your whole load at one dollar a dozen, and pay you one-half cash, you to take the other half in trade."

No, you don't, mister!

You'll charge me such an all-fired profit on the other half that I might come out at the little end of the horn."

What's your name?

"Well, mister, that's what I call square dealing. It's a bargain."

There you are, mister!

Fourteen dollars, mister, calculate makes just seven dollars coming to me."

Yes, that's right; there's the money.

Now, what goods do you want for the other seven dollars?"

You see, mister, I ain't mucked posted in your other truck, so I guess I'll take brooms."

SKETCHES OF OUR NOMINEES.

HON. JOHN T. RICH.

The republican nominee for governor, is essentially a man of the people. His early life was spent between the plow handles. His farm of 300 acres in Elba township, Leapeer county, with its well-cultivated fields and ample buildings, is the pride of the neighborhood.

The father of John T. Rich was a native of Rockland Vermont, but realizing that a man could never be a successful son of toil on a ton of soil he emigrated to Pennsylvania, where John was born. When John was five years old the family returned. Two years later, his mother having died, young John was sent alone to Michigan to live with relatives. The following year his father came on and purchased the farm where the popular republican gubernatorial candidate has since lived.

Mr. Rich was married March 12, 1858, to Miss Lucretia Winship, of Atlas, Genesee county. For nearly five years after the marriage he has lived, with his good helpmate, the quiet, home life of the farm. By constant study of the various phases of farming

he has not only succeeded in developing his broad acres, "laying up a penny for a rainy day," but has taken step by step in the estimation of his neighbors and the people of the state until to-day as for many years past he stands as a representative farmer and man of Michigan.

Office Has Sought Him.

Mr. Rich has been a frequent officeholder, but it is a fact that in nearly every instance the place has sought the man, and not the man the place. Honors have been conferred upon him without solicitation. When still a young man his neighbors manifested their appreciation of his sterling worth by electing him for four successive years to represent them on the county board of supervisors, an office of no financial profit but considerable responsibility. His colleagues discovered the existence of that good judgment and sense of fairness which characterized his later public life and for the last two years of his connection with the board—in 1871 and 1872—made him their chairman. In 1872 he was elected to the lower house of the state legislature from the First district of Leapeer county. During his membership of the house, covering an unusually long period of six years, he served on some of the most important committees. He was chairman of the committee on Agriculture and the recognition of his prominence among the farmers; chairman of the very important committee on state affairs and member of the committees on engrossment and enrollment and state public school. During the session of 1877 and 1878 he occupied the exalted and honorable and responsible position of speaker of the house. He achieved an enviable reputation both as legislator and parliamentarian, making his mark as well for his sound common sense as for his ability as a presiding officer, in which capacity none of his decisions were ever overruled. In the chair he was affable, agreeable and courteous, and easily and completely commanded the respect of all for his ability, promptness in making decisions and his fairness.

In the republican state convention of 1888 Mr. Rich, along with Hon. Thomas W. Palmer, Hon. Francis B. Stockbridge, Rice A. Beal, of Wash-ton; Hon. Charles T. Gorman, of Calhoun; and David H. Jerome, of Saginaw, was a candidate for gubernatorial honors. But Mr. Jerome, being chosen on the tenth ballot, had no more supporter or harp for the election than Mr. Rich, who was always true to his party, has invariably been found in the thickest of the fight, no matter who the nominee was. In the fall of 1880 Mr. Rich was elected to the state senate, and here again his popularity and his ability were demonstrated in the performance of every duty was seen in his appointment to the chairmanship of the committee on finance and appropriations, a most important committee in that it is called upon to scrutinize the expenditures of public funds. With such a man as John T. Rich on guard the public treasury little danger would be known. He was also a member of the committee on state house of correction.

His career in Congress, characterized by the same faithfulness and assiduity in the performance of every duty that distinguished him at Lansing, although a member only one term, and consequently with no opportunity to make himself especially prominent, his career at Washington was nevertheless honorable and intelligent. He came to the front as an advocate of the agricultural interests of the country.

Returning home Mr. Rich settled down to farm life again, devoting himself to his occupation and to the various phases of farm life, sheep raising, etc., in which he had always been active. He has been and is still vice president of the National Wool Growers' association, president of the Michigan Merino Sheep Breeders' association and also a member of the latter. He was delegate to appear before the committee on ways and means of congress in behalf of the wool-growing industry. He is also president of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company of Leapeer county. He was elected president of the State Agricultural society in 1890 and his genial and unassuming character caused his reelection in 1891. He has also been treasurer of the Northeastern Agricultural society from its organization to the present time. All these positions of honor have fallen to him without solicitation and solely because of his prominence in the fields represented. He was chairman of the republican state conventions in the spring of 1879 and the spring of 1891, and chairman of the senatorial caucus in 1881, when Mr. Conger was elected United States senator.

His present positions.

In 1890 Secretary of the Treasury Foster, recognizing Mr. Rich as an authority on wool matters, appointed him a member of a commission to revise the standard wool samples of the government, a work in which he is still engaged. He has recently been appointed as a member of a committee to classify the wool samples for the world's trade. Both of these positions are technical, and honorable and responsible rather than remunerative. Gov. Luce, appreciating his ripe experience as a public man and his good sense and judgment, voluntarily appointed him state railroad commissioner in 1877 and reappointed him two years later. The district of no position he was ever called upon to fill were executed more creditably to himself and satisfactorily to the state and all parties concerned than those of this very important office. His thorough and conscientious administration of the railroad has been the subject of commendation from the railway managements of Michigan and the confidence and regard of the employees of the lines. His habit of personally making investigations and associating with the men and a faculty of remembering all facts connected with his popular that a delegation of the employees went to Gov. Luce in 1889 and requested Mr. Rich's reappointment. At no time was there ever a complaint made of any unjust decisions or of any that favored the railroads as against the people.

Mr. Rich is in the prime of life, of a genial and sunny nature, affable and approachable. He is just six feet tall, weighs in the neighborhood of two hundred pounds and is a picture of splendid physical manhood, the result of a thoroughly temperate and happy life. His commanding presence and well knit figure, a pleasant complexion, bright eye and florid smile, make him an attractive figure wherever he may be. And yet, with all his strong individuality, no characteristic is more pronounced than his retiring disposition, his modesty and his plain, unassuming manner of both dress and speech. He is easy as a conversationalist and possessed of a fund of good humor that makes him exceedingly agreeable. Mr. Rich is a friend to his friends, honest and straightforward in all his relations with his fellow-men, and no one ever charged him with duplicity in the slightest degree. A man of simplicity, sincerity and integrity, double dealing and faithlessness would be entirely foreign to him. These qualities of perfect honesty and sincerity in all his dealings, and the corner stones of his unbounded popularity.

HON. JOHN G. BERRY.

Republican nominee for commissioner of the state land office, was born in New York city, December 13, 1838. At the age of sixteen he removed to Lake Superior, where he engaged in exploring and mining, and one year was in the government survey of the lands lying adjacent to the Montreal river, which on Lake Superior divides Michigan and Wisconsin. At the outbreak of the civil war Mr. Berry was working in the Ogima mine near Ontonagon. He enlisted August 3, 1861, for three years in the 10th Michigan Light Artillery, and afterwards became Company A, Sixteenth Michigan Infantry. At the expiration of his term of service he enlisted for the war in the same company and regiment. He served as a private, corporal, sergeant, first lieutenant and captain in the Third brigade, First division, Fifth army corps, and was in all the engagements of the army of the Potomac from the time of enlistment to the surrender of Appomattox. At the battle of Fredericksburg he was wounded in the right arm by a minnie ball. He received an honorable discharge at the close of the war, being mustered out as captain of the company in which he went out as private at the commencement of the war. He returned to his old home on the upper peninsula, and in a few weeks was again at work at the Ogima mine as chief engineer of the stamp mill. In the spring of 1866 he accepted a position as clerk in a large wholesale hardware store in Detroit and subsequently engaged in real estate business in that city.

In 1878 he removed to Otsego county and engaged in farming, sawmill and grist mill business. Mr. Berry has been identified with the G. A. R. ever since its establishment, was first commander of Gen. Harker post No. 264 at Vanderbilt, has been delegate to state and national encampments several times and president of the Soldiers' and Sailors' association of northern Michigan. He cast his first vote for Abraham Lincoln in 1860. Has been a republican ever since.

In 1888 he was elected to the state senate by a vote of 4,586 to 4,211 for the term of two years.

HON. JOHN W. JOCHIM.

It has always been said, and truly, of the Scandinavian people, that wherever they are, in the old world or in the new, they are noted for their honesty, loyalty and these rich qualities belong to all classes. They are always reliable, and nothing but good can be said of them. Those who have been associated with them in the mining region and elsewhere have found them true blue at all times, thrifty, progressive, and a people this country will ever be proud to welcome.

Substantiating the above, the republican Scandinavians of the upper peninsula of Michigan have been offered a place upon the state ticket, a fitting recognition of past services and those who are likely to be extended in future.

After much ardent and zealous persuasion from friends of all nationalities, portion of the state, won by honest dealing, thorough understanding and earnest application.

In politics Mr. Jochim has always been a republican and a prominent one. And while he has always spent his time and money freely in advancing the best interest of his party, has never been a party man, and has never been in connection with office outside of municipal ones. In the latter connection he has served as alderman, member of the school board, etc., all with credit to himself and friends. The latter now desire his nomination to one of the principal offices in the state, and he is in hearty accord with the movement. Mr. Jochim has earned it and has the necessary qualifications to properly fill it.

Merit such as shown by Mr. Jochim should be fittingly recognized by his nomination. Although a delicate matter in fact, it is a delicate matter in connection, Iron Ore could mention much of Mr. Jochim's liberality to those who are in need, as also his liberal donations to churches, schools and charitable institutions. His name is always attached, followed by good returns, to any worthy cause. Mr. Jochim is a perfect type of a gentleman, who appreciates the honor of being an American citizen born in Sweden, and he, as secretary of state, would be an honor to both.

HON. JOSEPH F. HAMBITZER.

Republican candidate for state treasurer, was born in Fond Du Lac, Wis., December 18, 1850, from where he removed with his parents when three years old to Grant county, Wis. His parents were Germans. When three years old his mother died and his father three years later married an English lady. At the age of fourteen, with two dollars in his pocket and a prospectus of the History of the French and Prussian Wars, young Hambitzer started out to make his way in the world. Being too young to make a successful book agent, he purchased an alcohol lamp and a bundle of wire solder and defrayed his expenses by means of mending tin-ware among the farmers and residents of small villages. In the fall of 1870, while at Milwaukee, he decided to go to the Copper mine district of the upper peninsula of Michigan.

He concluded a bargain with the fireman on the steamer "Peerless" by which he earned his passage to Houghton by throwing wood to the fireman. Arriving at Houghton, alone and without friends or relatives, with his tin solder outfit he earned enough to carry him to Calumet, where he met Thomas Wilcox, who was a brother of young Hambitzer's stepmother, who secured him a job as a trimmer in the mines. After several months hard labor handling rock and copper, by evening practice as a trimmer, he secured one of the hammer and drill, and later was given a contract with a partner and became a full-fledged miner. While at the mine he devoted his spare moments to study and later attending an examination securing a certificate which entitled him to teach. He secured one of the district schools in Franklin township, where he taught for one year, after which he accepted a position as a post office clerk in Hancock and was two years later promoted to the position of assistant post office clerk. He remained in that office nine years, during which time, by his kind disposition and courteous manners, he endeared himself to all classes, especially the miners and laborers, whom he always made a special effort to please and feel at ease. When Cleveland was elected, Mr. Hambitzer, feeling that his position was anything but permanent, resigned and accepted a position in the law office of Chandler, Grant & Gray, of Houghton, of which firm Justice Charles B. Grant was then a member.

Here he acted as stenographer, book-keeper and general utility man, remaining two years, when, about ready for admission to the bar, he was nominated for the office of treasurer of Houghton county and elected by an overwhelming majority against Mathew Vanorden, who defeated the republican candidate in the previous election. He was renominated by his party for the second term and on an informal ballot in the democratic convention received a majority of the votes and was endorsed. Before the end of his second term he was chosen cashier of the Superior savings bank of Hancock, which position he now holds. At the republican state convention in a contest with five opponents he was nominated amid great enthusiasm on the first ballot. His contest was so fairly and honorably made that he won the admiration of his opponents. Mr. Hambitzer at the age of 29 married Miss Emma Nichols, a Hancock girl, with whom he and two small daughters reside in Hancock.

Of him the Sault Ste. Marie News says: "Joseph F. Hambitzer is a typical example of the young 'State Superior' man, and there is not a German in the entire state of Michigan who will not think more of the republican ticket with his name on it."

HON. STANLEY W. TURNER.

The republican nominee for auditor general, is another who is particularly fitted for the duties of the important office to which he will, in November, be chosen. He was born at North Fairfield, O., July 12, 1843, and moved with his parents to Hillsdale county, Mich., in 1851. Later he studied at Hillsdale college, and when war broke out was one of the first to go to the front. He enlisted as a private in the First Michigan sharpshooters; was promoted to a captain and was captured at the mine explosion in front of Petersburg. After the war he moved to Ingham county and studied law with Hon. R. L. Henderson. He was elected county clerk of that county in 1860, and in 1868 and 1876 was again recognized by his party by being elected to represent his district in the duties incumbent upon the chairman of the republican county committee of Ingham county for eight years. In 1877 he removed to Roscommon county, where he has since resided and where he has been engaged in practicing law and in dealing in Michigan and Arkansas pine lands.

In 1888 he was elected to the state legislature, in a democratic district, over J. Maurice Finn, now the democratic candidate for congress in the Twelfth district.

HON. HENRY R. PATTENGILL.

Nominee for superintendent of public instruction, is a native of Otsego county, N. Y. He is forty years of age, a son of a Baptist clergyman, and has been a resident of Michigan since 1865. He received his common school education in the Wilson (N. Y.) academy and the public schools of Litchfield and Hudson, Mich. In 1874 he was graduated from the literary department of our state university, being class prophet and one of the commencement speakers.

From 1874 to 1884 he was superintendent of the village schools in St. Louis and Ithaca, Mich. During eight years of this time he was president of the Gratiot county Teachers' association, one of the forty associations in the state. As township superintendent and county examiner he has had intimate relations with the common school system, and as an institute

HON. HENRY R. PATTENGILL.

On October 27, 1888, he was married to Miss Mary E. Alcott, of Holland. Mr. Diekema has been school inspector and is at present city attorney of Holland. He was elected to the legislature in 1884, '86, '88 and '90 and at the opening of the session of '89 was elected to the responsible position of speaker of the house.

During the past seven years Mr. Pattengill in pursuing his business as editor of the Moderator, has traveled 50,000 miles, visited 8,000 school rooms in seventy of our eighty-five counties, made 323 addresses, and made the acquaintance of thousands of school-boys and schoolmasters. He is full of days' work, has ideas of his own on the topics of the day, and is not afraid to express them. While not an office seeker nor professional politician, he believes it every man's duty to be interested in politics. He has always been a republican and always takes a hand in the campaigns to help the party of his belief.

HON. EUGENE A. WILSON.

Republican candidate for member of the state board of education, was born at Ridgeway, Lenawee county, Mich., September 21, 1854. William R. Wilson, his father, still works and resides on the farm of two hundred acres at Ridgeway, purchased from the government in the spring of 1831 by Robert Wilson, his grandfather.

Eugene A. Wilson was sent to the district school at Ridgeway, and afterwards to the high school at Tecumseh by his parents, where he graduated in 1875. After completing his course in the high school, he was obliged to figure for himself so far as his future education was concerned, although having the very best of a home on the farm when out of school. By teaching district schools during the winter, and by working on the farm during the summer, and by borrowing money, he managed to complete the full classical course at the Michigan State Normal in June, 1879.

The next fall he took charge of the schools at Mount Pleasant, Mich., and has been continuously engaged as superintendent of schools in various parts of the state ever since. During 1880 and 1891 he assumed charge of the schools of Lenawee county, and raised the standard of the schools of that county very much, but was legislated out of office by the "squawbucks" in the spring of 1891. Being offered the superintendency of the Paw Paw schools the same year, he accepted, and in 1892 placed the schools of Paw Paw on the university list of schools, so that graduates are now admitted to all courses of that institution without further examination. The Paw Paw school board, recognizing his ability, contracted with him for the next two years as superintendent of their schools. Mr. Wilson's work as an educator and worker at teachers' institutes throughout the state has been eminently successful. If chosen to the position for which nominated, he will bring a ripe scholarship and an extended experience to aid in the duties incumbent upon him and will faithfully fulfill the trust imposed upon him by the republican party of Michigan.

With all its calamities the war brought us a great blessing, a national currency. There are many who will say that it was worth the cost of the war to bring about so auspicious a result to capital and labor. Before the war we had the worst currency system of any enlightened nation in the world. The state banks were thoroughly irresponsible. They existed by thousands throughout the United States, and ever since they failed the result was a large loss and great distress among the people.

HON. GERRITT J. DIEKEMA.

The republican nominee for attorney general, is one of the distinguished Hollanders of the state, and one of the most popular republicans in Michigan. He was born in Holland, Ottawa county, where he still resides, March 27, 1859. His parents removed from the Netherlands and settled in that place in 1848. Mr. Diekema received his education at Hope college, from which institution he graduated with the degree of A. B. in 1881. In the fall of that year he began the study of law at the University of Michigan, graduating from the law department in 1883. He at once began the practice of his profession at Holland.

In 1884, as a representative of his class, he delivered the annual alumni oration before the Law Alumni association of the university.

On October 27, 1888, he was married to Miss Mary E. Alcott, of Holland. Mr. Diekema has been school inspector and is at present city attorney of Holland. He was elected to the legislature in 1884, '86, '88 and '90 and at the opening of the session of '89 was elected to the responsible position of speaker of the house.

by a two-thirds vote. Sometimes a resolution may be adopted in haste, but this resolution was debated, pro and con, adopted after a contest, and was perfectly understood by the members of the convention.

Calhoun Democracy.

"If anyone will take the trouble to read the resolutions by which Mr. Calhoun sought to defend his nullification scheme in 1833 he will find the tariff platform of the democratic party in general harmony therewith, and if he examines the subject further he will discover that the duties in the compromise tariff which reconciled Mr. Calhoun and appended his angry followers in South Carolina to a more comprehensive character than those contemplated in the democratic resolution of 1892. The democrats are in the habit of naming Jefferson as the founder of their party; and yet, on the subject of tariff, they are in radical opposition to the principles of Jefferson. Toward the close of his administration, the revenue from the tariff on imports produced a considerable surplus, and the question was what should be done. Should the tariff be reduced or should this surplus be maintained? Jefferson pointedly asked: "Shall we suppress the impost and give that advantage to foreign over domestic manufactures?" For himself he recommended that "the imports be maintained" and that the surplus created "should be appropriated to the improvement of roads, canals, rivers and education." If the constitution did not give sufficient power to warrant these appropriations Jefferson went so far as to recommend that it be amended. This presents the strongest condition of affairs upon which a protective tariff can be justly and honestly recommended. The democrats of the present day, it is needless to say, are the direct opponents of the policy which Jefferson thus outlined and adhered to.

"When the principle of reciprocal trade was first proposed to be introduced into the tariff system, the democrats of the day, and the majority of the question and gave it their support so long as the republicans refused to accept it, but when the republicans came to approve it the democrats support vanished, and instead of favoring we find the democratic national convention passing a resolution hostile to the system.

"But in spite of the democrat opposition we have attained through reciprocity a new and valuable trade and the system has demonstrated its many advantages. We were about to declare sugar, molasses, coffee and hides free of all duties in the McKinley bill, but instead of that we passed a law by which we asked the several nations interested what they would give to have these articles made free. We found that the privileges which we were about to give without cost and without charge would accept of a large amount of goods from Cuba and Porto Rico in the Windward and Leeward islands, in British Guiana and Jamaica, San Domingo and the five central American states, and to a minor degree in Austria, France and Germany—all in exchange for the articles which we had intended to gratuitously give. Let us inquire to see what we could get in exchange for it? We omitted to do so for many years. And that neglect has cost the government advantages in trade which would have amounted to tens of millions of dollars. This is the whole of the reciprocity scheme. It secures a valuable trade in exchange for articles otherwise destined to be put on the free list. The democratic party think they can discredit and they make the effort, apparently for the unpatriotic reason that they did not originate it.

"With all its calamities the war brought us a great blessing, a national currency. There are many who will say that it was worth the cost of the war to bring about so auspicious a result to capital and labor. Before the war we had the worst currency system of any enlightened nation in the world. The state banks were thoroughly irresponsible. They existed by thousands throughout the United States, and ever since they failed the result was a large loss and great distress among the people.

Wildcat Currency.

"No one was responsible for their bills. Of the state banks it was often said that they were wildcats, and the measure of the protection of the state banks, the result was a large loss and great distress among the people.

"And it was by reason of this situation, no less than with a view to establish the truth or falsity of the premises taken by the two great political parties of the country, that the undersigned finally decided to make the subject of 'The Effect of the Tariff on Labor and the State' the subject of a special investigation. It may be urged by some that the investigation made has not been made broad enough or of sufficient scope to fairly warrant the deductions arrived at, by reason of the fact that the cost of living, including the necessary that go to make it up, has given no place in the work. It should be borne in mind, however, that it has been my endeavor to investigate only that phase of the subject which relates simply to the increase or decrease of production and the rates of wages paid. The period covered by investigation is not the period immediately prior to the enactment of what is termed the 'McKinley bill' and the year immediately following its becoming a law. That is, the data upon which the report has been made was for the year commencing September 1, 1890, and ending August 31, 1891, and the year commencing September 1, 1890, up to and including the 31st of August, 1891. The methods employed to secure the necessary data were almost entirely those of the blank system, which has proven so satisfactory in nearly all of the previous investigations carried on by the bureau in 1890.

It was not the original purpose, nor is it now pretended, that the data and statistics presented represent any but purely wholesale manufacturing establishments. To have undertaken to cover the retail and custom manufacturing establishments would have been a physical and financial impossibility in the present status of this bureau. Some 8,000 blanks were addressed and mailed to as many separate establishments throughout the state, and of this number 6,000, or 75 per cent, were returned fully and correctly answered. The figures secured are based entirely upon returns furnished this bureau by over 6,000 substantial, representative and leading business firms of this state. It appears that there was a net increase in wages of $6,377,925.09 in the year 1891, as compared with the amount paid in 1890, a net increase of production of $31,315,120.68 in the year 1891 over that of 1890. Of the 67 industries covered 77 per cent of them show an increase either of the wages or product, or both, and that there were no less than 89,717 instances of individual increases of wages during the same year.

"Of the 68 industries included, 75 per cent of them show an increased average yearly earning in the year 1891, while the total average increase of yearly earnings of the 285,000 employes was $24.11. The average increase of the amount of production of the 51 trades showing an increase was $43.96 in 1891, as compared with 1890.

"In addition to the investigation of all labor disturbances occurring in the state during the past year, the following strikes were reported for the year 1891 was 4,519, as against 6,283 occurring in the year 1890, a decrease of 1,764. Of the total number 9,875, or 88 per cent of them, were in the building trades, a fact that seems to follow in natural sequence the results obtained in the special investigation of the 'Effect of the Tariff on Labor and Wages.'

Tables That Are Supposed to Show the Good of Protection.

Wages and Tariff—Why the Tariff and Its Effect on Labor Was Made the Subject of Special Investigation.

The ninth annual report of the New York bureau of statistics of labor has been delayed more than six months, bringing its date of publication up to the beginning of the presidential campaign, and its subject matter, instead of being a compilation of the doings of labor, is a thesis on the tariff, and particularly the McKinley bill, with extensive tables calculated to support the arguments set forth.

Commissioner Peck, of the labor bureau, has always been a close friend of Senator Hill, having been appointed by Gov. Cleveland in 1888 through Hill's influence.

Commissioner Peck, speaking of the tariff sentiments expressed in the report, said he was free to admit that the statements contained in his report were not in accord with the democratic platform adopted at Chicago. When he began a compilation of the doings of labor, it is a thesis on the tariff, and particularly the McKinley bill, with extensive tables calculated to support the arguments set forth.

COMPLAINT has been entered to the health officer asking him to investigate the condition of the Democratic headquarters in this place, to see if he can ascertain the source of the strong smell coming from the room. It is as if something were dead in the room, and the surmise is that it is the cause to which the room has been dedicated. As it was a Democratic official who entered the complaint it is plainly a serious case.

THIS RECORD is in receipt of numerous inquiries regarding its statement, that County Clerk Carmody, candidate for reelection, has been charging double legal rates for issuing marriage licenses. In the first place, the RECORD does not make such statements without having knowledge of the facts. There are at least two cases in this township when $1 was charged for marriage licenses, where the law says distinctly, for his services in this connection, the Clerk shall receive a fee of fifty cents. One of these occurred last spring, and the other last month. How many others may exist, the RECORD is not aware.

JACK MCGUIRK was seriously hurt by a horse last night. The animal bit his left hand quite badly and then kicked him on the left leg. The attending physician, Dr. Belknap, says his wounds are of a serious nature.—Niles Sun, Wednesday.

The LARGEST STOCK of Millinery ever shown in Buchanan is now at Mrs. BERRICK'S MILLINERY EMPORIUM. My trimmer, Miss Orr of Chicago, will bring an elegant line of trimmed goods and novelties this week.

Our ninth opening will occur October 8, afternoon and evening, at which time we will be pleased to see all our friends.

MRS. F. H. BERRICK.

Another Squawbuck Oil Case. Last evening between 6 and 7 o'clock, Mrs. Geo. Schrumpp, aged about 48 years, who resides on north Fourth street in this city, was sitting at the supper table with the rest of the family, when she heard a crackling noise in the room adjoining. She arose and went in to see what was the matter and discovered that a lamp had exploded.

In attempting to put the blaze out her dress caught on fire and she ran frantically out of the front door into the yard, screaming at the top of her voice.

Other members of the family hearing her screams followed out, and discovered her enveloped in flames. One threw water on her and another wrapped her in a blanket. By that time not a stitch of clothing as big as your hand was left on her person.

Mrs. Schrumpp was carried into the house in a prostrated condition, and everything done that was possible to relieve her sufferings which were intense. The flesh is cooked from the feet to the head, and there is no chance for her recovery, death being expected at any moment.

The lamp was blown into a thousand pieces and struck all parts of the room. What caused the explosion was the use of inferior oil which sells at eight cents per gallon. It is poor stuff and should not be permitted in any household.—Niles Star, Tuesday.

Mrs. Schrumpp died yesterday morning.

Verily! Verily! More and more! Children trade at BINNS' store!
