AN HONEST MAN.

That is the kind of a One John T. Rich is.

Ex-Governor Luce in the course of his speech at Bad Axe said: "Occasionally

we hear people say that John T.

Rich has been an office-seeker. This I neither deny or affirm. It is possible that he has sought the office of superintendent of the township and representative and senator in the legislature and a seat in Congress, all of which positions he has occupied. Of this I know not, but I do know that he never sought by himself, or through another, the position of railroad commissioner, and this is one of the most responsible offices he has ever held.

"When the people of this state had elected me to the high office of governor of the commonwealth I had but one single ambition and that was to give to all of the people the best administration of affairs. This was conferred upon him by the election of the very best men to discharge the various duties devolving upon them, and the most important position to be filled by appointment from the governor was railroad commissioner. The law clothes him with extraordinary power, and I wanted first of all things to see that the man who was to have the honor of the office was a man who would faithfully

The liquor dealers' association of Michigan met in Detroit, last week, and formulated a bill which they propose to bring before the legislature next winter.

The prospect for next Tuesday's election is figured up as follows:

How to Vote.

There are persons who, not understanding the new method of voting, may feel timid about attempting it.

The following explanation and directions enable Republicans to vote correctly:

WHERE TO GET THE BALLOT. All ballots are printed by the public, and when the voter goes to the poll, an election inspector will hand him one ballot.

THE BOOTH. Having got his ballot, the voter will go into one of the booths, or closets, where he will find a desk, some rubber stamps and an ink pad.

The tickets of all parties are printed upon the ballot, side by side. The Republican ticket may be known by the picture of Benjamin Harrison, and the words "Republican Ticket" at its head.

A small square will be found underneath the picture.

HOW TO MARK. In order that the inspectors may know which of the four tickets up on the ballot to count, the voter must mark his ticket.

Under President Harrison's picture, at the head of the ticket, thus: [X] By so doing, he indicates that he wants to vote the Republican ticket and no other.

Upon the back of the ballot, in one corner, are written the first letters of the name of one of the inspectors of election.

The ballot must be so folded that no part of the face can be seen and so as to have these letters on the outside, so that they can be seen by the inspectors, that they may know it to be a genuine ballot.

After folding the ballot the voter goes out of the booth at the opposite side from which he entered, and hands the ballot to the inspector of election who puts it into the box in his presence.

RECAPITULATION. 1st. Get ballot from inspector of election. 2d. Take it to the booth.

3d. Mark the [X] at head of Republican ticket with an [X]. 4th. Fold the ballot so that the letters upon the back can be seen.

5th. Give the ballot to the election inspector. TAKE NOTICE. Do not confuse the words ballot and ticket.

The ballot means the paper furnished by the inspector. It contains all four tickets. The whole ballot must be voted. Only the ticket which is marked will be counted.

We have heard considerable said about rebel war claims, and when ever mentioned, democrats in this section invariably make light of it as a republican bugbear.

Colonel Sibley was an army officer, a colonel long before the war. He went out among the Indians, and finding out that they were not to be trusted for so many years, and the one that was adopted to their wants, went back to Washington and got out a patent for a tent modeled after the Indian's.

Dana on Cleveland. The Western Spirit, a lively (Dem.) journal conducted by Mr. B. J. Sherman, at Painesville, Ohio.

Why does the Sun that, since the day of threatened imperialism of Grant, has been the strongest newspaper, offensive and defensive, in behalf of Jeffersonian Democracy, light Grover Cleveland, the Second Democratic President of these United States, elected since 1858, and the first one to take his seat?

A frank, fair answer to this question would probably be published by thousands of Democratic papers East and West.

1. Because Grover Cleveland is not a Jeffersonian Democrat. 2. Because he is not a Democrat at all, but first, last, and exclusively a promoter of Grover Cleveland.

3. Because, though elected President of the United States as a Democrat, his Administration was not conducted in the interest of the Democracy, but for the personal aggrandizement of Grover Cleveland and the exaltation of his own preposterous self.

4. Because, in pursuit of his own rank and whimsical notions, he adopted the anti-Democratic Chinese system of literary examinations as the test of admission into the civil service of the Government.

5. Because he wrecked the Democracy in 1888 by interjecting into the platform of the Democratic Party, the Australian scheme for the abolition of the well-established Democratic policy of universal suffrage.

6. Because he is now professing to regret the abolition of the Australian scheme for the abolition of the well-established Democratic policy of universal suffrage.

7. Because, in the language of Mr. Tilden: "He is the most selfish politician I have ever known."

8. Because, under his lead, if he could lead anything but the schemes of his own ignorant, narrow, and fruitless self, the Democracy would be led to fatal defeat.

If these reasons do not seem sufficient to our Kansas contemporary it will not be difficult to add to the number.—N. Y. Sun, 1888.

EDITOR RECORD.—In your paper last week you said some one wrote to Dr. Baker at Lansing saying, "There had been 200 cases of scarlet fever in this community during the last two years."

We wrote that statement. Dr. Derrick says he has had 75 cases, but calls it Rosolia, or is in doubt about them, but is anxious to have the community protected as far as possible.

Dr. Dodd says he has had some cases of scarlet fever, and many cases of which he is in doubt. Dr. Brock says he has had 100 cases, calls it scarlet fever. Dr. Henderson 100 cases, calls it scarlet fever. This makes at least 300 cases which, at $10 each for doctors' bills, makes at least $3,000 paid doctors by this community inside of three years for this disease.

The Atwood case, which Dr. Belknap says is "ten years old" and not suffering from scarlet fever, is five years old, and in our opinion had been there from scarlet fever, brought the disease from there here. The child was taken sick about Oct. 18 and is still very sick; has jaundice, which is a trouble of some kind, and some dropsy, and is peeling off freely. Under these symptoms are proof positive of scarlet fever. We advise everybody to keep away from all cases of scarlet fever, and from people broken out with any red eruption. The State Board of Health says, "Scarlet fever, scarlatina, scarlet rash, canker rash, or rash fever are all the same."

G. L. BAILEY, M. D. ROBERT HENDERSON, M. D. All of this discussion has had reference to the action of Dr. Knight as health officer of the village, and the letter which Drs. Henderson and Bailey acknowledge having written brought from State Secretary Baker a command that the village council call a physician from a neighboring town to investigate the matter.

They employed the Senior Dr. Belknap, of Niles, whose report is on file with the village clerk. During the time mentioned, Dr. Henderson has reported to the health officer five cases of scarlet fever; Dr. Bailey reported two and two to the state board. The penalty for not reporting is a fine of not less than $50 and not more than $100. Granting the truth of the above letter, Dr. Henderson owes about $9,500, as penalties for not reporting 90 of his 100 cases, and Dr. Bailey $4,000 for 46 cases. The public is not interested in any personal quarrel, but prefers to have fully stated the case of each of any other disease reported as scarlet fever, and the prescribed precautions taken, to have one case of scarlet fever go unattended. Make all of your mistakes on the side of public safety.

A friend in need is a friend indeed, and not less than one million people have found just such a friend in Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds.

An honest Swede tells his story in plain but unmistakable language for the benefit of the public. "One of my children took a severe cold and got the croup. I gave her a teaspoonful of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and in five minutes later I gave her one more. By this time she had coughed up the gathering in her throat. Then she went to sleep and slept good for fifteen minutes. Then she got up and vomited, and she went back to bed and slept good for the remainder of the night. She got the croup the second night and I gave her the same remedy with the same good results. I write this because I thought there might be some one in the same need and not know the true merits of this wonderful medicine." CHARLES A. TROTT, a miser and miserly sufferer from the croup.

These remedies have won their great popularity through their merit. W. F. Runner, Druggist.

THE BUCHANAN RECORD.

SUPPLEMENT.

JAMES G. BLAINE HAS SPOKEN.

He Replies to an Impromptu Call by West Chester Villagers.

A STERLING REPUBLICAN ADDRESS.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 14.—James G. Blaine has spoken. A big crowd from the villages of West Chester County went to Ophir Farm to-night and heard the man from Maine. Politicians had tried to obtain the same result but failed. The ex-secretary, however, yielded to popular enthusiasm and spoke. The demonstration was spontaneous and arranged on short notice. The idea was started this morning. By nightfall the news that such an affair would take place had spread all over the southern part of the county. The Republicans gathered in all their strength and went to Reid's home. Upon arriving at Ophir Farm, the bands which accompanied the party played several selections and Mr. Reid appeared upon the verandah. He was followed by the distinguished party which had gathered to meet the ex-secretary. After a few words of introduction Mr. Reid presented Mr. Blaine. As the popular son of Maine stepped forward he was greeted with round after round of cheers.

Mr. Blaine spoke as follows: "Fellow Citizens of New York: I should be churlish indeed if I did not make response to your call after you have come several miles to this beautiful home of Mr. Reid on this pleasant October evening. At the same time I am not making speeches in the canvass, for reasons which are well known to my friends and which have no connection whatever with politics. Generally, administrations in presidential elections are challenged on account of the condition of the business of the country, and I submit that the Republican administration of President Harrison can triumphantly endure such a test. [Applause.] I doubt it, since the government of the United States was instituted, anybody at any time has seen what we call good times so general, taking in so many interests and spreading prosperity throughout the whole domain of trade. I might appeal to New York if the city has ever passed a season more satisfactory in financial results than for the past two years, or one in which the general effect on capital and labor has been more prosperous. [Applause.] "The opponents of the Republican party always represent New York as a commercial city and not a manufacturing one, and yet the product of the manufacturers of the city alone is $700,000,000. Anything that would cripple that great interest would cripple the metropolis seriously and to a very hurtful extent. More men in New York get their living from pursuits protected by the tariff than from any other source. I know that New York is the center of our commerce, the great entrepot of our trade, but all the men engaged in commercial affairs in and about New York are smaller in numbers than the men engaged in manufactures. Nor if you go West, where the Democrats this year are making considerable effort and doing a vast amount of boasting [laughter], will you find it different.

Misstatements About the West.

"Take Ohio, take Michigan, take Indiana, take Illinois and the products of manufactories are greater in pecuniary amounts than the products of agriculture in these four great agricultural states; so that I think, when it happens to Democrat orators who are on the wing, trying to arouse the hostility of these states against the protective tariff, they will encounter a sentiment of which they have not dreamed. We learn from the Democrat party that these western states are in a desperate condition. The amount of their farm mortgages rolls up into millions. You would suppose it fabulous that the amount of money they embrace could ever have been so invested. This is not so among the farmers in New York. It is not so among the farmers in New Jersey. It is not so among the farmers of Connecticut. It is not so among the farmers of Pennsylvania. It is not so among the farmers of any state near by, those conditions can be easily learned, but by a singular fatality it is the western states that have got all these farm mortgages burdening them and taking the life out of the people.

"I do not like to say that gentlemen have voluntarily misrepresented the facts, but before accepting them as such you will do well as wisely to demand the proofs. The tariff, so Democrat papers say, is the origin of a plutocratic government when wealth shall rule and poor men shall not get their rights. I shall venture to challenge all statements of that kind and I shall make the Democrat accusers the judges in the case. A careful examination of the list of wealthy men in the country has been published and has demonstrated the fact to be quite the reverse, to such an extent indeed that in the city of New York, taking the first 150 great fortunes, not three, not two, not more than one would be considered as derived from manufacturing investments.

"I have a word to say about the Irish vote. I see it is stated that the Democrats boast of having the mass of them in their ranks this year. It is one of the mysteries of our politics that a question which interests England so supremely; which is canvassed almost as much in London as it is in New York, should have the Irish vote on the side of Great Britain. If the Irish vote were solidly for protection, they could defy the machinations of the Democrat party for free trade and throw their influence on the side of the home market of America against the side of the foreign markets of England.

"I know this appeal has been frequently made to the Irish voters, but I make it with emphasis now, for I am unwilling to believe that with the light of knowledge before them they will deliberately be on the side of their former oppressors. I think I shall rely on my good friend Egan, the brilliant and successful minister to Chile—whom I feel especially glad to meet at Mr. Reid's table this evening—I think I must rely on him to intercede with his countrymen—his countrymen in two senses, not to aid the Democrat party in lowering the standard and the wages of American labor by their potential votes and their potential numbers." [Continued applause.]

THE FOURTH DISTRICT.

The political situation in the Fourth congressional district of this state is interesting, not to say incongruous. The Republicans have nominated Dr. Thomas, the Democrat Layer Yapple. The former is a loyal and able Republican, and stands on the platform of protection, reciprocity and honest money. The latter wears not only a suit of the Democratic stripe, but also a suit of the People's party stripe. He is a sort of nondescript politician, blindly seeking office through whatever means may be at hand. Mr. Yapple, voters of the Fourth district, is not a Democrat. He is a "Yapple" man. If elected to a seat in the Fifty-third congress, he has pledged himself to use all his efforts to secure the passage of a bill providing for the free coinage of silver; of a bill to provide for the issue of an unlimited amount of paper money; of a bill to abolish national bank money, the safest and best in the land; of a bill to provide for the purchase and control by the government of railroads, telegraph and telephone lines, etc. In fact, Mr. Yapple, if elected, is expected to upset the established condition of affairs as much as possible. In supporting the free coinage of silver Mr. Yapple favors the establishment of a gigantic silver trust and monopoly whose treasury he proposes to fill at the expense of the people. Mr. Yapple, we repeat, is not a true Democrat. He has departed, to a great degree from the Democratic doctrine, and is running with an out-and-out Weaver elector as a mate. The fight in the Fourth District is really between the Republican and the People's parties. The "combination" elector, if elected, will vote for Weaver. Cleveland is not "in it" in the slightest degree. Let every honest Democrat in the Fourth District view carefully the true situation. A vote for Yapple is a vote for every wild "ism" in the catalogue, and a vote for the so-called Cleveland elector is a vote for Weaver. Will the strict party Democrats so stultify themselves and sacrifice their principles as to help elect this outrageous and ill-matched combination?—Kalamazoo Telegraph.

H. F. Thomas will prove a magnificent vote winner and will be triumphantly elected to congress in November next. The issue is made up, Harrison, Reid and Thomas—protection, honest money, free and fair elections—of both men and measures, the party may well be proud and enthusiastic.

President Benjamin Harrison.

PATERNALISM.

The People's party, under the lead of George L. Yapple, "advocate that all money be issued, and its volume controlled by the government, and made a legal tender for all debts, public and private." They do not advocate to whom the government shall issue money, but from the class of persons who advocate "government issue" it is presumed they mean themselves. They certainly do not mean the thrifty people who are getting and laying up money without government aid. If the government is to issue money to the crazy people, what is it to be issued for and how much of it is to be "issued"? Do each of them want enough so that they can wrestle with Vanderbilt, Jay Gould, the Standard Oil Company or any other great gathering of capital in the country? Do these people—each of these financiers—want a sky-scraping block and unlimited bank account, so that without effort, they may roll around like big capitalists? If the government may rightfully issue any money to these people, it may as rightfully issue enough to each to buy out Vanderbilt. Some people like to talk of and consider the government as a sort of paternal establishment which should look after people who do not succeed in taking care of themselves, much as a father is obliged to take care of his improvident or lazy children. There may be very personal reasons why Mr. George L. Yapple should be an admirer and advocate of "paternalism."

The picture of Dr. Henry F. Thomas is adorning our Republican exchanges since his nomination for congress, and he is pronounced a good man for the place, and a strong candidate. He was a delegate to the national convention in 1884, and held various offices of honor and trust in all of which he has acquitted himself honorably and with satisfaction to his constituents. He is in every sense "a manly man" well equipped for and worthy of the position to which he will be elected in November. In an honest, manly contest with the Democrats of the Fourth district, he would be elected "hands down," but it is on the boards for the Democrats to endorse the candidacy of him "who stoops to conquer," free trade coffin shadowed George L. Yapple. He is no mean competitor on the hustings and is being pushed in the race by all the power and device known by the combined opposition, in the forlorn hope to win. Mr. Yapple is making a supreme effort to carry water on both shoulders, to ride two horses over widely divergent roads at the same time, and will find it no easy task to make his straddle broad enough to prevent his being unhorsed and the water buckets overturned. He can't complete the contract. It is too large.

By nominating a Weaver elector, the Democratic bosses of this Congressional District serve notice on Grover Cleveland that he will not get a vote in the 4th district, and on the Democratic voters that they (the bosses) have said who to vote for, and they must take the medicine.

INGALLS SUMS IT UP.

In his recent speech at Topeka, Kas., ex-Senator Ingalls summed up the characteristics of President Harrison in a concise and masterly way. It adds to the strength of the eulogy that, as he says in the preface, he has never been an idolator of the President. Mr. Ingalls said:

"I give no ear, ladies and gentlemen, to that monstrous and incredible whisper that any part of the Republican vote of this State shall be given to Gen. James B. Weaver for any part of the Republican ticket. I have never been, ladies and gentlemen, an idolator of President Harrison. I am under no personal obligations or official obligations to him. Therefore I have no occasion for idolatry. But I affirm that the administration of President Harrison, for the wisdom of his administration of the affairs of the nation at home and abroad, is without parallel or peer in the whole history of American citizenship. [Applause.] He is the only man who has sat in the presidential chair for the last half century that could take every department himself and run it without assistance. [Applause.] He is an eminent lawyer, and he was a gallant and heroic soldier. He has been an efficient and trained legislator. It is not often that a man grows after he is 50 years old. Ordinarily by that time a man is gauged, scrutinized and weighed, so that his specific gravity and cubic contents are known as they will continue to be to the end of time. President Harrison is distinctly greater in intellectual stature and in mental vigor since he has passed from the Senate than he was before, and he stands to-day immeasurably higher in the estimation of the American people than he did when he was first sworn into office, nearly four years ago. [Applause.] The series of speeches that President Harrison made in the campaign preceding his election, and the series of speeches that he has since made in his tours across the continent in response to the invitation of the people, and that he has made at various gatherings to his comrades upon various occasions, have never been surpassed at any time in political literature. I affirm that for versatility, for lofty patriotism, for beauty and grace of diction, force and vigor they have never been excelled, and I believe he has no superior in the compass of political oratory, either ancient or modern. He is a courageous man, he is not afraid to do right; he is a patriotic man; he believes in the American people, and he spells the word 'Nation' with the biggest letter N there is in the alphabet."

Dr. Henry F. Thomas, of Allegan was nominated for member of Congress at Allegan in August after an exciting contest, and will be elected in November. He is a man of splendid physique, a staunch republican, an able representative man, bears an honorable army record, has had considerable legislative experience, and is well equipped for the honorable position. He will make the campaign hot for the great straddler from Mendon, from start to finish.

DEMOCRATIC DISGRACE

Old Line Democrats will not Submit to the Ignominious Surrender of Principle Proposed at Their Congressional Convention.

In the preamble of the People's party platform appears the following language:

"The conditions which surround us best justify our co-operation; we meet in the midst of a nation brought to the verge of moral, political and material ruin. Corruption dominates the ballot-box, the legislatures, the congress, and touches even the ermine of the bench. The people are demoralized; most of the states have been compelled to isolate the voters at the polling places to prevent universal intimidation or bribery. A vast conspiracy against mankind has been organized on two continents, and it is rapidly taking possession of the world. If not met and overthrown at once it forebodes terrible social convulsions, the destruction of civilization or the establishment of an absolute despotism. We have witnessed for a quarter of a century the struggles of the two great political parties for power and plunder, while grievous wrongs have been inflicted upon the suffering people. We charge that the controlling influences dominating both these parties have permitted these dreadful conditions to develop without serious effort to prevent or restrain them. Neither do they now promise us any substantial reform. They have agreed to ignore, in the coming campaign, every issue but one. They propose to drown the outcries of a plundered people with the uproar of a sham battle over the tariff. They propose to sacrifice our homes, lives and children on the altar of Mammon; to destroy the multitude in order to secure corruption funds from the millionaires."

This is a terrible arraignment of both the Republican and Democratic parties, neither being spared in the denunciations of the platform. In reply the Republicans boldly challenge these assertions and prove by incontrovertible statistics the material growth and welfare of the country and the falsity of the charges made by the calamity howlers. On the other hand, the Democrats of this, the Fourth Congressional District of Michigan, in convention assembled, silently submitted to these accusations and kissed the hand that smites them, by adopting a series of resolutions in entire harmony with the principles enunciated in the Omaha or People's party convention and opposed to the platform adopted by their own party at Chicago, and by nominating for Congress George L. Yapple, who had announced himself squarely as endorsing and standing upon the Omaha platform, and who out-Herod's Herod in his denunciation of the old parties. As though this was not enough they completed their degradation and ignominy by refusing to nominate a presidential elector who would vote for Cleveland, but instead endorsing the nomination of Edward Hutchins, who makes no secret of the fact that he is in entire harmony and accord with the declarations of the Omaha platform and, if elected, will cast his vote for the nominees of that convention, Weaver and Field.

We do not wonder that such an abject surrender of principle and virtual plea of guilty to the charges made by the People's party has brought forth a storm of indignation from honest Democrats in all parts of the district and that many are openly repudiating the disgraceful barter and sale effected by their leaders and prefer to vote for H. F. Thomas and Philip Colgrove rather than a man in full fellowship and harmony with those who accuse Democracy of everything that is base and venal.

We expect to see this revolt grow and strengthen in this district as it has in other sections until in November those Democrats who regard party traditions and party principles as of higher value than the defeat of a Republican will boldly denounce this political miscegenation and cast their votes against its success.

One of the jokes of the season is the organizing a Cleveland club in this congressional district where no one can vote for Cleveland. Many life-long Democrats openly repudiate the hole their leaders have put them in and will not vote for the Weaver elector. People admire the pluck of a quare fighter even if beaten, but political chicanery always gets a black eye.

YAPLE'S SELFISHNESS.

Honest, genuine Democrats, how do you feel to have no part nor lot in a presidential election? No marvel that you are so mum. Under the present arrangement made by Mr. Yapple and his pals you can not vote for Cleveland in this congressional district, though you wish to do so ever so much. Mr. Yapple, to secure his own election, has selfishly debarred you from voting the Democratic ticket for president. He has simply swapped you off—sold you to Weaver to gratify his own selfish ambition. At the Democratic convention that nominated him an apostate to the Weaver ranks, the Weaver elector was also endorsed, thus leaving you no alternative but to vote for Weaver for president, or for Bidwell or Harrison! There is no contingency by which you can cast a Cleveland ballot. This is Yapple's doings, for his own benefit. Think it all over candidly and see how you like it. You may carry a torch, and tramp and huzza for Cleveland, but you can not vote for him, can you? You know you can't. How do you relish it? How do you like the bargain that requires you to barter your vote for president for a vote for Mr. Yapple, who is a candidate of a party that professes to "keep in the middle of the road" to avoid jostling against your party or have any dealings or intercourse with it. It allows you the privilege of voting for its candidates; that is all. This you are bound to do for president, vice-president and congressman, if you carry out the contract that the intriguer has marked out for you. He has sold you for a consideration for himself, made merchandise of your votes—bartered away your franchises; bound you hand and foot, and made it utterly impossible for you to vote for the man of your choice and guaranteed your support to Weaver. Can he deliver the goods? Will he succeed in filling his contract? How do you like having your votes mortgaged without your consent?

"Cleveland Struck the Beggars."

The pension fraud is theft, and we repeat that no man can honestly defend it. The south has been taxed to death to pay this grand army of rascals—these battle-scarred bums who reach out the empty palm; and when Cleveland struck the beggars in the face he did a good business job. We hope to God that he may have a chance to hit 'em again. Vagrants and mendicants should be both vigorously slapped and kicked.—Durham (N. C.) Globe.

This is the latest expression from the chivalry of the "loyal south," whose representative gave notice in congress some months ago that the south would not much longer bear a tax to be paid as a perpetual reward to the men who fought and defeated them.

Last week Dr. H. F. Thomas, Republican candidate for Congress, made three speeches in Van Buren county, at Bangor, Grand Junction and Lawrence. At each place he was enthusiastically greeted and made many friends. Meanwhile Geo. L. Yapple spoke at Lawton, making a regular populist harangue, alienating many Democratic supporters and admirers. If the boy from Mendon will only continue his hearty support of Weaver and Field, Dr. Thomas will be elected by a marvelous majority. Van Buren's 2,000 Democrats object to being controlled by a handful of populists, and even Yapple's personal magnetism will not hold them in line. Dr. Thomas has the qualifications for an active, useful member of Congress, and his canvass will be clean-cut, aggressive and successful.

The Democratic war cries in this congressional district: "Hurrah for Cleveland! We are going to vote for Weaver!" "We are in favor of sound money, therefore we will vote for George L. Yapple, the rag-baby idol of alliance people's party." "We have principles, therefore we will vote for the election of men to office who are opposed to our principles." "We are the true Andrew Jackson, Thomas Jefferson democrats in principle, and of the most consistent inconsistency in practice."

Dr. H. F. Thomas, of Allegan, the Republican nominee for Congress in the Fourth district, is a U. of M. boy, having graduated with the medical class of '68. He is also a former Normal school student. He enlisted in Co. D., 7th Mich. cavalry, on his 18th birthday, as a private, and served all through the war, coming home lieutenant. His regiment belonged to the famous Custer brigade which saw such lively service. Dr. Thomas will be elected and be a representative that Michigan will be proud of.

Mr. Yapple and His Speech.

The Hon. George L. Yapple, nominee of the People's party for Congress in this district, makes substantially the same speech in all parts of the district, but he varies his lecture or essay to suit his hearers. If in a purely rural community where there are no Democrats, he does not hesitate to eulogize Gen. Weaver, the People's party candidate. If in a city or any of the large villages where his audience is made up of Democrats he gives Gen. Weaver the go-by, but in no instance, so far as we know, has he uttered one word in favor of Grover Cleveland, or of the Democratic party. Mr. Yapple is a gentleman who has always had the personal respect of his political opponents. He is courteous and civil, and does not deal in abuse. But, while his manner is above criticism, the subject matter of his address falls very far short of satisfying thinking men. It is the easiest thing in the world to find fault, to grumble because the sun does not shine every hour of every day; because the mills of the gods do not pour the riches of their coffers into our pockets unceasingly; because we are not prospered every day in every way, even if we sit in our offices, in our stores, in our shops or on our plow beams, and do nothing but wail and lament. This class never prosper, of course, but content themselves with thinking that the times are out of joint, and that something must be done. But they cannot tell what. Just so with Mr. Yapple. He thinks things do not go right, but he has nothing to recommend but his own election to Congress. He is opposed to monopolies and greedy trusts. Who is not?

Mr. Yapple denounced the Standard Oil Trust, justly and severely, but he failed to tell his hearers that the party he wants to elect him walked over the prostrate bodies of Allen G. Thurman and Geo. H. Pendleton, the ablest and best two Democrats in Ohio, and elected Mr. Paine, the head and front of the Standard Oil Company, to the Senate, and when his time was out elected Calvin B. Brice, one of the greatest railroad monopolists in the country, to succeed him. Mr. Yapple forgot, or more probably neglected, to mention these facts. Why? Did he fear to tell his hearers the whole truth?

Mr. Yapple argued in favor of the government running the railroad, telegraph and telephone systems, just as it runs the postal system. But he neglected to even suggest how the government could get control of these monopolies, that would cost untold billions. The government hasn't the money to buy them; it would be unconstitutional and dishonest to confiscate them. Mr. Yapple expressed himself as opposed to issuing more bonds. How, then, is the government to accomplish this result? Mr. Yapple fails to suggest a feasible plan. His political friends and allies, who have had control of the House of Congress almost all of the time for twenty years, have failed absolutely to inaugurate any legislation in the least calculated to bring about the political millennium. Then why elect Mr. Yapple? There is no good reason, and the people have no idea of doing any such rash act. The people want practical men for legislation, as they do for any other work. Mr. Yapple is not a practical man; he is a theorist, a dreamer, a passivist, a political dyspeptic. A dyspeptic never feels well, and never lets any one about him feel comfortable or happy. Things are not right, but how to remedy them he does not know.

Mr. Yapple does not like the currency of the country, the best ever issued in the history of the nation, because no man ever lost a dollar of it unless he fooled it away by his own folly. He wants the government to issue money direct to the people, but he failed to show how or with what the government could redeem it when once in the hands of the people. But then, Mr. Yapple is not practical.

"There is no subject that can enter with greater force and merit into the deliberations of Congress, than a consideration of the means to preserve and promote the manufactures which have sprung into existence, and attained an unparalleled maturity in the United States."—James Madison.

The book set by the Democratic-alliance leaders in this district is nicely baited with Cleveland to catch "gudgeons" for Weaver. They have hoisted the Cleveland flag but only give their blind followers a chance to vote for Weaver. The leaders, lacking principle themselves, treat the rank and file as destitute of principle and ready to do as directed without even thinking for themselves.

LORD SALISBURY'S CONFESSION.

He Says Free Trade Has Nearly Ruined England—"It May Be Noble, but It Is Not Business"—Because Under the Free Trade System, All Valuable Commercial Weapons are Thrown Away, and the Nation Left Defenseless Against the World—Salisbury Says It Is Time to Abandon Free Trade.

The following extracts are taken from a speech delivered at the annual conference of the Home Counties Division of the National Union of Conservative associations held at Hastings, England, on Wednesday, May 18, 1892, by the Marquis of Salisbury, Prime Minister of England. The language quoted is an exact reprint of a verbatim report of a speech as it appeared in the London Times, weekly edition, of Friday, May 20, 1892. Lord Salisbury spoke as follows:

"We cannot look abroad into the territories occupied by the great industries of this country without a feeling of sorrow and misgiving. It is painful to think that the men who should be working with the capitalists—who should enable them to work in order not only to promote their own well-being and the industry of the class that depend upon them, but the prosperity of this mighty empire—are so divided that industry is paralyzed and misery stalks abroad. I deeply wish that some means of appeasing this war could be found. I earnestly desire that such a state of labor could be established as would give to the laborer sufficient for his maintenance and comfort [cheers], and sufficient time for the cultivation of his moral and intellectual being. [Cheers.]

"Every nation is trying how they can get the greatest possible protection for its own industries, and, at the same time, the greatest possible access to the markets of its neighbors. I want to point out to you that what I observe is that while A is very anxious to get a favor of B, and B is anxious to get a favor of C, nobody cares two straws about getting the commercial favor of Great Britain. What is the reason of that? It is that in this great battle Great Britain has stripped herself of the weapons by which the battle has to be fought. The weapon with which our all fight is admission to their own markets—that is to say, A says to B, 'If you will make your duties such that I can sell in your market, I will make my duties such that you can sell in my market.' But we begin by saying, 'We will levy no duties on everybody,' and we declare that it would be contrary and disloyal to the glorious and sacred doctrine of free trade to levy any duty on anybody for the sake of what we can get by it. [Cheers.] It may be noble, but it is not business. [Loud cheers.] If I may aspire to fill the office of counsellor to the public mind, I should ask you to form your own opinions without reference to traditions or denunciations—not to care two straws whether you are orthodox or not—but to form your opinions according to the dictates of common sense. I would impress upon you that if you intend, in this conflict of commercial treaties, to hold your own, you must be prepared, if need be, to inflict upon the nations which injure you the penalty which is in your hands, that of refusing them access to your markets. [Loud and prolonged cheers, and a voice, 'Common sense at last!'] There is a reproach in that interruption, but I have never said anything else. [Laughter.] But there is a great difficulty. The power we have most reason to complain of is the United States, and what we want the United States to furnish us with mostly are articles of food essential to the feeding of the people, and raw materials necessary to our manufactures, and we cannot exclude one or the other without serious injury to ourselves. Now, I am not in the least prepared, for the sake of wounding other nations, to inflict any dangerous or serious wound upon ourselves. You cannot raise the price of food or of raw material, but there is an enormous mass of other articles of importations from other countries, besides the United States, which are mere matters of luxurious consumption [cheers]; and if it is a question of wine or silk, or spirits, or gloves, or laces, or anything of that kind, I should not in the least shrink from diminishing the consumption and interfering with the comfort of the excellent people who consume these articles of luxury for the purpose of maintaining our rights in this commercial war, and insisting on our rights of access to the markets of our neighbors. [Cheers.] This is a very heterodox doctrine, I know, and I should be excommunicated for maintaining it. [Laughter.]"

"The Republican party did not organize for spoils; it assembled about an altar of sacrifices and in a sanctuary beset with enemies. You have not forgotten our battle cry—'free speech, free press, free schools, and free territories.' We have widened the last word; it is a free nation."—Benjamin Harrison.

For the first time in the history of the Democratic party in this Congressional district, it is barred from voting for a Democratic candidate for president. 'Twas a nice bit of financiering on the part of Mr. Yapple to have the Democratic Congressional convention endorse the People's party candidate for presidential elector as well as himself for Congress. Old line Democrats will not be long in choosing for whom to cast their ballots, as between Harrison and Weaver.

"We should become a little more Americanized, and, instead of feeding paupers and laborers of Europe, feed our own."—Andrew Jackson.

"The saddest thing in life to me is to see a poor Confederate veteran as he drags himself from his cabin to the fields to earn bread for his family, and to realize that one-twelfth of all he makes must be taken from him to pension some camp follower or bounty jumper."—Congressman Bankhead, of Alabama.

It Galls the Old Bourbons. Some of the old-line Democrats of Van Buren County who have stuck by their ticket through thick and thin for some thirty years or more, are feeling quite chagrined at being forced to knuckle under and play second fiddle to the little People's party. Not only have the leaders of the party fixed matters so that Cleveland can't get a vote in this district, but they have put up as candidate for congressman a man who has been vilifying the Democratic candidate and platform all summer in order to get the People's party nomination.

Encouraging Outlook.

The political outlook is more than encouraging to the Republicans. The ablest and most conservative men in the party profess themselves as confident of President Harrison's re-election by an increased majority. There is but little, if any, doubt about the Republicans carrying every State carried by them four years ago, and the probabilities are that West Virginia, Delaware and New Jersey may swing into line. The Democracy carried West Virginia by only about four hundred at the last Presidential election, and the Republicans have since carried Delaware. There are strong indications that we may secure New Jersey, but by a close vote, if at all.

The sentiment in favor of the Republicans all over the country is growing. The attempts at coalition are growing in disfavor, the Democrats in many quarters professing disgust at such rotten combinations. In some of the Western States many Democrats have openly withdrawn and announced their determination to vote the Democratic ticket or none.

John T. Rich, Republican nominee for Governor, will be elected by a large majority, and the other candidates on our State ticket will not be much, if any, behind him. Judge Morse certainly made a big mistake when he left a good thing on the bench and made a bid for an uncertainty. He is not running for the bench on an off year, and he is certain to find himself without a job after the election.

Dr. Henry F. Thomas is in no danger of defeat by Mr. Yapple, as many Democrats will not vote for a man who will not vote for Mr. Cleveland, and who openly advocates the election of Gen. Weaver. If Mr. Yapple does not declare for Mr. Cleveland, hundreds of Democrats will not support him. If he does so declare the Farmer's Alliance people will knife him.

The tin plate production of the first full year under the McKinley law was nearly 20,000,000 pounds. In the last year of the old law the production was 0. This information is from sworn statements of manufacturers.

Dr. H. F. Thomas of Allegan has been chosen by the Republicans of the new Fourth District as their candidate for congress out of a multitude of aspirants for the honor. Notwithstanding the long contest in the convention the utmost harmony and good feeling prevailed, and at the last the unsuccessful contestants, with true Republican spirit, pledged their fealty to the nominee. Dr. Thomas is one of the most popular men in the district. He has held various positions of trust and honor with credit to himself and his constituents, and has for many years been an active worker in the party ranks. As the new Fourth District is normally Republican, Dr. Thomas will carry it by a safe majority. There can be no doubt of Republican success with so excellent a candidate as Dr. Thomas, representing the substantial principles of Republicanism, as against the erratic notions of George L. Yapple and the fanatic People's party.—Detroit Tribune.

"Congress has repeatedly, and not without success, directed their attention to the encouragement of manufactures. The object is of too much consequence not to insure a continuance of their efforts in every way which shall appear eligible."—George Washington.

Four years ago there was a Democratic national administration in power, the electoral ticket in this district was Democratic, and the Democrats generally were running an infernally active and aggressive campaign, and the Republicans were in the position of the under dog in the fight. The conditions are not the same to-day as four years ago. The Democratic candidate for president is the same, but the Democrats in this congressional district, by the action of their congressional convention, are deprived of the right to vote for Cleveland.

Hon. George L. Yapple, the combination candidate for congress in the fourth district, has deserted the Democratic party entirely and gone over into the People's party camp. In his speeches he openly espouses Gen. Werver's cause and urges the Democratic voters to unite upon the man who embodies the "reform" ideas in which Mr. Yapple believes. Mr. Yapple makes no reference to the gentleman a Buzzard Bay, nor to the Democratic party and its principles. The party to which Mr. Yapple owes allegiance is completely lost in the shuffle. How do you old-line Democrats like that?

Balance on the Right Side Now. Until the adoption of the Republican system there was seldom a year in which the balance of trade was not against us in our commercial relations with the world. Since the era of protection began there has seldom been a year in which the balance was not in our favor. Last year, under the McKinley law, the balance was over $200,000,000 on our side of the ledger.

The Fourth Congressional District.

The opposition to the Republican party think they are playing their trump card for Congress in this, the new Fourth District, and the leaders are trying to gull their followers into the belief that Mr. Yapple can be elected. They know better. They know full well that Mr. Yapple cannot carry the full vote of the People's and the Democratic parties. He will not secure the full vote of the People's party, to say nothing of the Democratic. The Democrats, in many, if not all parts of the district, are howling mad because of the stultifying position in which they have been placed. Mr. Yapple is an out-and-out Weaver man, and studiously avoids saying a word in favor of Mr. Cleveland, or any of the Democratic nominees on the State ticket. Is it any wonder then, that the Democrats feel indignant at having placed on their ticket for a high office, a man who will not support that ticket. Mr. Yapple will not vote for Mr. Cleveland. He will vote for Gen. Weaver.

It makes but little difference, however, Dr. Henry F. Thomas, the Republican nominee, will be elected by a good, round majority. The counties now forming the Fourth Congressional district gave Luce, for governor, in 1888, 6,029 over Burt, Democrat, and in 1886 Luce, Republican, beat Yapple, who had the combined Democrat and Greenback vote in these same counties, 2,590. The Republicans are always stronger on a presidential year than on an off year. With a full vote out, which there will be, this year, Thomas will beat Mr. Yapple by a large majority.

Dr. Thomas is worthy and well qualified for the important office of congressman. He is a practical man, a successful man in every position in which he has been placed. He is in the full strength of mental and physical vigor, thoroughly equipped for the duties of the office for which he has been nominated, and to which he will be elected.

Dr. Henry F. Thomas, of Allegan, the man selected to lead the Republicans of this congressional district against the fusion hosts in November, bears a striking facial resemblance to our old congressman, Hon. J. C. Burrows. He is a splendid specimen of physical manhood, and possesses a fertile and highly cultivated intellect. He is ripe in years and experience, thoroughly in touch with the people and sympathetic in nature. He has a strong, manly face, and a whole-souled and genial smile that will win friends wherever he goes. He will poll the whole Republican vote in the district and be triumphantly elected in November.

DR. HENRY F. THOMAS.

HENRY F. THOMAS, was born in Jackson County, this state, 48 years ago, and when about 12 years of age his parents moved to Hastings, Barry county, where for 4 years his father, a Methodist minister, had charge of the Ottawa Indian mission. He received his early education at the seminary at Richland, Kalamazoo county, and at Albion college. At the college he had nearly completed the classical preparatory course for the University when the war of the rebellion commenced and before his eighteenth birthday he enlisted as a private soldier in company D, 7th Michigan cavalry. He was mustered into the service as a sergeant, and afterwards promoted to orderly sergeant, then second lieutenant. The seventh cavalry belonged to the famous Michigan cavalry brigade commanded by Gen. Custer, and was connected with the army of the Potomac during the war. During the entire service Sergeant Thomas was only absent from his company a few months, at which time he had charge of quartermaster's supplies for Remount camp at Harper's Ferry, and he had the honor of being present with his company in nearly all of the memorable campaigns in which it was engaged, and was discharged with his regiment in the fall of 1865. He renewed his studies at Ypsilanti normal school during the following winter and spring, and the next October entered the medical department of the university and graduated in the spring of 1868. He commenced his practice at Constantine, St. Joseph County, remaining about a year, when he removed to Allegan and has continued to reside there till the present time. In 1873 he was elected a member of the legislature, and, in the language of the Lansing Republican, "was one of the leading members of the house." He was chairman of the committee on university and normal school, and a member of the committee on public health. His abilities were recognized by the Republicans of the county by an election to the senate. As a member of that body he was chairman of more committees than any other member, viz: University and normal school, insurance, public health and library. He was known as a working member, and did credit to himself and constituents. He has been president of our village, member of the school board, a delegate to the Republican national convention from the Fifth District, chairman of the Republican county committee, and filled various other positions of honor and trust and has always proved worthy of the honor bestowed, and given the most perfect satisfaction to his constituents. In his profession Dr. Thomas has been successful; he has been president of the Western Michigan Medical Society, and a member of the state and national societies. In 1882, recognizing his ability and worth, Albion college conferred upon him the degree of Master of Arts.

By his firmness and decision of character, and outspoken frankness, Dr. Thomas has won the respect of men of all parties and has made for himself hosts of friends of the class that admire an able, brilliant and fearless personality. He will make a vigorous campaign and will undoubtedly be elected in November.

BISMARCK ON PROTECTION. He Declares that the Progress of the United States has been Mainly Due to the Protective System.

"The success of the United States in material development is the most illustrious of modern times. The American nation has not only successfully borne and suppressed, the most gigantic and expensive war of all history, but immediately afterward disbanded its army, found employment for all of its soldiers and marines, paid off most of its debts, given labor and homes to all the unemployed of Europe as fast as they could arrive within its territory, and still by a system of taxation so indirect as not to be perceived, much less felt. Because it is my deliberate judgment that the prosperity of America is mainly due to its system of protective laws. I urge that Germany has now reached that point where it is necessary to imitate the tariff system of the United States."

What Rainbow Chasing Did. Four years ago Calvin S. Brice conducted a rainbow chasing campaign in the northwest. Following is the result, as compiled by the New York Sun:

Iowa	Rep. maj.	1884	19,433
	Rep. maj.	1888	37,721
Wisconsin	Rep. maj.	1884	14,698
	Rep. maj.	1888	21,321

	Rep. maj.	1888	27,833

	Rep. maj.	1888	22,918
Kansas	Rep. maj.	1884	64,274
	Rep. maj.	1888	80,159

We commend the attentive study of these figures to the amusing gentleman who has been given the congenial job of chasing rainbows during the present season. What will the Republican majorities in these states amount to after Don M. Dickinson has ravaged the country with free trade tracts in seven different languages?

PRETTY RANK BOURBONISM.

"The North Carolina Globe, (Democratic) is a newspaper with opinions on the question of pensions, and no false modesty nor delicacy in expressing them." It says;

The whole business is Theft Pure and Simple.

We wish to God that there had been enough Democrats in Congress to have slapped the Lousy Beggars Of the North in their Dirty faces.

This would have served them right. They received pay for their red-handed and wicked work—they should now subside.

We presume, however, that this sort of thing will have to be tolerated until progress, intelligence and Republicanism have made an impression upon the dense ignorance and bigotry of the North Carolina Bourbons."—Albany Journal.

GEO. TICHNOR CURTIS,

Who has been considered the ablest constitutional lawyer in the Democratic party, has openly repudiated the stultifying utterances of the Democrat National convention and the Waterstonian theories generally on the tariff question, and has repudiated Cleveland and will vote for Harrison. Mr. Curtis says:

"In common with many other Democrats, I cannot follow the leaders of the party in denouncing Republican protection as a fraud upon the labor of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of the few; nor can I subscribe to the doctrine that a protective tariff is unconstitutional. I have no pecuniary interest in manufactures, but I know what protection has done and is doing in this country. If it operates for the benefit of the few, I am not one of that few; I am one of the many; one of the great majority benefited by it, including those who denounce it for the sake of obtaining political power. If the leaders of a political party assembled in national convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for the presidency and vice-presidency, choose to satisfy themselves by falsifying history, they cannot expect to be followed by others who have any habits of independent thought and action."

"We lead all nations in agriculture; we lead all nations in mining; and we lead all nations in manufacturing. These are the trophies which we bring after twenty-nine years of protective tariff. Can any other system furnish such evidence of prosperity? There is no country in the world where individual enterprise has such wide and varied range, and where the inventive genius of man has such encouragement."—Wm. McKinley, Jr.

Mr. George L. Yapple has never attempted to put any of his fine theories into practice. His ambition does not run that way. Wherever and whenever and under whatever circumstances any of his theories have been sought to be put into actual use they have proven flat failures. His theories have been tried by, or during every generation since man advanced from barbarism, and failed every time. Mr. Yapple has not shown himself practical in any capacity whatever. He had never engaged in any business in which he succeeded. His deluded followers and worshippers affect to believe that a man who has never shown any ability to take care of himself is just the man to manage their business and take care of their interests.

A PARTY of swindlers are working the northern part of Indiana in grand shape. The advance man leaves plans at the residence of farmers, and then takes a paper to show that he has left the instrument, and in a few days along comes the second man who has really a note of demand. Of course the farmer in some cases kicks, but when he is threatened with a suit in the United States courts he settles. When people wish to buy a piano or in fact anything of so much value they should make it a point to deal with men of known business integrity—Niles Star.

The majority of the American people prefer dealing with a stranger to dealing with one they know, and the worse they get swindled the better they are pleased. So what is the use trying to teach them differently?
