The Incubation of Crinoline.

If there is one human being that I despise more than another, it is a man miliner. Ladies' dress is a mystery to me, and I am in regard to it as some vague. But as newspapers are raising an outcry against crinolines I will venture to explain their incubation.

They were due to the desire in an abnormal list of common sense of women to have a dress of common sense.

Either the queen or one of the princesses wore, or was said to wear, at Balmoral tight boots coming high up the leg. All loyal women insisted upon following this example and wearing "Balmoral boots."

The ladies had no objection to show these boots, and still being under the influence of common sense, objected to their dresses trailing on the ground when they went out walking. The next step was to have a skirt petticoat over the flannel and other underclothes.

This skirt petticoat came about half way down the calf, and over it was worn a skirt which fell to the feet when indoors, but which when out walking was drawn up by a cord in fastenings, coming little above the knee.

This costume were added stockings of some bright color and a blouse with wide sleeves and a waistband, with over it a corset set of jacket. What I cannot say is that the result was a little exaggeration set in, a cage, but merely one detail in a pretty and practical costume.—London Truth.

A Novel World's Fair Idea.

It is worth while to offer a suggestion for the next world's fair assembly in Chicago—this of May, for example. It is worth while to see the American people thinking about the difference between what appeals to the eye and what to the ear? If it be, let the value of the pageant be considered. Let us imagine a vast room, or a great space in the open air, with a dais, on which the colors should be effective and harmonious. Let there be standards and floral decorations in abundance, arranged by some artistic hand.

When the few chief dignitaries have been received, let other representative people be brought forward in groups bearing emblems or symbols which indicate their claims to consideration. Let delegations of the various professions and arts, in their appropriate robes, uniforms or traditional dresses, be introduced.

Let the workmen in every craft—the workers in wood, iron, brick, stone, the architects, sculptors, painters, decorators, manufacturers, engineers, carriers—all who have been concerned in making the exposition a success—send their representatives to participate in the opening ceremony. A simple act, the bestowal of medals, wreaths, flags, would give point to the assembly.

A collection of the most noteworthy official, a collect and a doxology would express all that language need say on such an occasion.—Professor D. C. Gilman in Century.

Electric Heating.

Electricity generated for heating or for any other purpose must be produced at the cost of the expenditure of some other form of energy, such as the burning of coal or the forcing of falling water.

As the latter form of power is hardly available for use in New York, it follows that if electric heating is to become a commercial phase of life in that city, current electricity must be generated from central stations in which coal is burned under the boilers, precisely similar to existing plants for the supply of light and power. The conversion and transmission of heat by this process is not economical, and current from coal is the only feasible method.

For heating could only be used by the wealthy, to whom its convenience and cleanliness would commend itself.

It is apparent, however, that the "coal barons" would have nearly as much to say about the supply of fuel to such stations as individual consumers at present, although it is probable that the mere cost of coal and labor would be proportionately reduced by the use of cheaper grades of fuel and by centralization of the industry.

Electricity, however, is a great future, but at present it seems to be principally available in localities where water power can be utilized in the prime movers.—Chicago Western Electrician.

The Ratemaking Power.

This is what Aldace F. Walker, chairman of the joint committee of the Trunk Line and Central Traffic associations, says about railroad rates in The Railway Age.

"The fact is, and it is so overlooked that it is almost impossible to state strongly—the ratemaking power of a railway company is its highest corporate function. It is a charter power. Its control rests ultimately with the stockholders, and in the meantime the power is universally conferred upon the boards of directors—the highest seat of corporate authority. It should have been treated with seriousness and as representing the most important duty of the directors. But instead of this, the country has been treated to a carnival of rates—rates—rates. Hundreds of thousands of tariffs have been filed in Washington during the last five years. The directors of every corporation have practically abdicated their power to make and have left it in the hands of subordinates, who have patiently developed a most ingenious confusion through which they alone are competent to pick their way."

The Color of the Waistcoat.

Life learns from private sources that when a gentleman goes to an entertainment, he should wear a white waistcoat. But this is not the rule, and he would hardly like to advise a hostess to eject from her house every man whose waistcoat is not in perfect harmony with his invitation.

It is not to be expected, however, that his waistcoat will be as warm as it is. Should he be, for instance, a distinguished author, a high church dignitary or an eminent scientist, the hostess might allow him to sit in the kitchen rather than ban him ejected from the premises.—Life.

A Historic Edifice Demolished.

The old castle of St. Cloud, where the wife of Louis XIV. died, has been demolished and begged on her knees to Napoleon III not to leave her husband in Mexico to the mercy of his enemies, and where so many other historic events took place prior to its being accidentally destroyed by fire.

The castle was destroyed in the year of 1870, has completely disappeared from the face of the earth. The ragged walls, the deserted terraces and the melancholy-looking statues, which have remained up to now in the midst of the lovely scenery, are the only remains of the castle on the banks of the Seine, are being rapidly carried away.

Their place will be taken by ornamental beds of flowers, for the construction of which a sum of 45,000 francs has been voted by the town council. For the present the place will be left to the people who snap so eagerly at the pieces of bread and cake thrown into them daily by pleasure seekers who stroll in the grounds, will be allowed to remain.—Paris Cor. London News.

A Two-pound Baby Girl.

A 2-pound baby girl was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Kuesel of Waltham, Mass. It has since gained eight ounces in weight. It is perfectly formed, cries loudly and takes good food. It is a doll's nursing bottle with rosette. It is too small to be dressed, and lies in an incubator rolled in cotton, with the temperature at 80 degrees. There are two other children in the family. One weighed at birth only 34 pounds. The other was born on 8-pound baby, but did not grow much until it was 18 months old. Mr. Kuesel has three brothers and two sisters in Germany who are dwarfs, and who are well known in Europe as members of a dwarf orchestra.

President Cleveland knows where to find talent. Half of his cabinet are editors.

President Cleveland appears to be the most fruitful source of unexpected things this country has ever known. His first act, when arriving in Washington to cast conservation through the ranks of his party was to announce that no man who drinks need apply for an office with the expectation of getting it. Perhaps this may account for a Republican being in the cabinet.

A prominent New York democrat politician has discovered the proper way for his party to revise the infamous tariff laws. After careful and mature deliberation, he declares the proper thing is to amend the tariff law by cutting off the name "McKinley," and calling it the "National tariff law." This would certainly relieve the people of the onerous burdens of the robber so much complained of for the people by that party during the last campaign.

The New Presbyterian Church.

The Presbyterians of Buchanan congratulate themselves upon the Dedication on March 5 of their new church, which is conceded to be one of the finest church edifices in this part of the country, and will compare favorably with many of the more expensive churches in our large cities.

The church stands on the north-west corner of village lot No. 2, in Block C, Central, adding to the north, on Front street. The lot is four rods front by eighteen rods deep, and was purchased of Mr. Levi Redden in 1880 for $1000. The location is very convenient, as the residences near by are handsome, which gives the church a home-like appearance, and being not far from the business centre, it gives the society an opportunity for usefulness and service, both religiously and socially, that otherwise it could not have.

The church is of the Romanesque style of architecture, of brick veneer, with stone basement. The basement is to be finished off for church parlors, with a kitchen, which will give rooms for social gatherings, Sunday school and prayer meeting. The building is heated from the basement by a furnace, put in by Roe & Kingery, representing a Milwaukee firm. There is also in the basement a well and a pump, which will be convenient for the kitchen department.

The building is 53x33 with an annex on the south-west corner for the pipe organ and choir, and a tower on the north-east corner, thus placing the entrance diagonally opposite the rostrum, with a five foot aisle through the center, the church being seated on the amphitheater plan, with an incline of eighteen inches. There are two shorter aisles at the right and left, three feet wide, and an aisle going around at the sides two feet wide. The exterior of the building is not a plain brick surface, but is broken up by timbered panel work, the brick surface colored and stenciled. This last is to be completed in the spring, and when all finished will give the exterior a very artistic and pleasing appearance. Entering the church by the vestibule, and coming into the tower, at the left is a stairway leading to the study, one of the coziest and pleasantest rooms imaginable, frescoed and carpeted, having the north-east portion all taken up with a handsome five paneled bay window of stained glass. Above is the bell tower, where the sweet-toned bell, the gift of Mr. J. D. Ross, placed in the old church, then new, in 1850, still peals forth its invitation to all people to turn to the sanctuary. Forty years of service have not brought any crack nor discord into the makeup or music of the old bell, and our prayer is, that in this, the old bell in the tower may be a type of the church, which it has so long served, that never to the end of time shall there be any division or discord.

Descending from the study we pass through green baize doors into the main audience room, which is fifty feet square, finished off in Georgia pine, giving the room a very light and cheerful appearance.

The ladies have carpeted the entire church in a very tasty and beautiful way, in perfect harmony with the rest of the furnishing.

The frescoing is simply elegant. The frescoer, Mr. J. R. Knight, of Coldwater, did himself, as a high-class artist, full justice. It is first-class work in every respect, the best material known in the business being used for distemper work. The ceiling is in delicate tints, with hand-painted scroll designs, edged and gilded, divided with stenciled borders and lines. Over the pulpit is an elaborate arch embellishment, with the motto above: Praise waiteth for thee, O God, in Zion. Above the waistcoat all about the room is plastic modeling, with a free hand running design, all gilded in attractive style; and a liberal amount of gliding appears throughout the work. It is but the simple truth to state that there is very few audience rooms in a church of such moderate cost, can compare with this in neatness of design and harmonious blending of colors, all the furnishings and decorations being in perfect harmony.

The pews are by the Globe Furniture Co., of Northville, of kiln dried oak lumber, best hard oak finish, in antique color. They are finished without cushioning, and are comfortable for sitting and perfect in finish.

The pipe organ, obtained very largely through the energy of Mr. and Mrs. John Graham, is not only an ornament to the part of the house which it occupies, but an important aid in the service of song. It was not to be expected that it would be made to do any justice to itself in its cramped quarters.

The west window is in memory of Mary Arthur and her mother, long faithful members of this church, put in by Mr. John Arthur and wife. The emblems below are an open Bible and dove, and above a cross and crown, with the words, "Life's work well done."

The windows are all beautiful, so much so, as to elicit favorable comment from all who see them. They are the workmanship and design of Messrs. McCully and Miles of Chicago.

The church is lighted by one large centre chandelier, suspended seventeen feet from the floor, and is an elegant piece of work, by the American Bell Co. of Chicago.

The plans for this neat and commodious house of worship were drawn by Geo. W. Maher, of Chicago; the builder was George Rickman, of Kalamazoo. Excavation for basement was in June; work on the building began in August; the corner stone was laid Sept. 17, 1892, and the work on all parts was finished March 4, 1893.

The closing services in the old church were held on Saturday and Sabbath

ABSOLUTELY PURE

The colored girl named Snelling, of Cassopolis, arrested in January for her connection with the part of a child found in the milliard there, has been sentenced ten months to the county jail. She confessed being the mother of the child, but claimed that it was born dead.

The Republicans of Van Buren and Kalamazoo counties have re-nominated Judge Brock for Judge of that circuit. Under the license system about 25 United States liquor licenses were taken out by Van Buren county dealers in wet goods, this number including the druggists of that bailiwick. Local opinion has increased the number to 65.

One Lainsburg woman has not allowed her fingers to rust out this year. She has picked and dressed for market 1,500 chickens, 41 turkeys and 11 ducks, all since the little new year '93 was born.—Detroit News.

Mrs. C. B. Palmer is a Van Buren county lady who owns a clock that was made at Hartford, Connecticut, about 100 years ago. When her grandmother moved to this state, years ago, this clock was brought along on a trip around the lakes and landed in Lake Michigan, where it roosted for many months. It was finally rescued, and still ticks off time with the precision of a $300 regulator.—Detroit Times.

A St. Ignace man bought a $22 coffin for his wife. He and a friend took the corpse to the cemetery for burial, sitting on the coffin on the way. Upon arrival at the grave the man concluded that he might just as well save some money. He buried the woman in a rough box and took back the coffin.—Detroit News.

FROM GALLIEN.
O. D. Rhodes has purchased Schlapp's stock of groceries, dry goods, etc., and has rented his store, and will soon open up business at Schlapp's old stand.

The Three Oaks crowd played their "High dink a dink" at the Town Hall, Tuesday evening. A good-sized audience greeted them and paid them well for their trouble.

The High school cleared over $30 at their Washington banquet, which goes as a payment on their organ. They are now preparing a concert into which he has now entered. The inscription is, "Life's crown well won."

The section on the right is by the Ladies' Aid Society. The name on the lower panel encircling a dove, the emblem of innocence and peace. The Ladies' Aid Society is deserving of great credit, for had it not been for the faithful, tireless energy of the ladies, this beautiful house would never have been begun, saying nothing about completion.

On the left is the King's Builders section. In the lower panel are lilies with the inscription "The King's Builders." The new church is built around the King's Builders' window, for they began to raise the money for it before there was much assurance we ever would have a church. They earned the money by their own efforts, and are worthy of highest praise.

The north window is in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel French, for many years most faithful members of this church. For 32 years Mr. French was a most faithful Elder, closely identified with the church interests, always on hand to steady the ark of God. The sheaf of wheat and the cup and grapes are the emblems below, while above is the very appropriate inscription, "Their works do follow them." In the sheaf of wheat are the words, "I am the bread of life."

The west window is in memory of Mary Arthur and her mother, long faithful members of this church, put in by Mr. John Arthur and wife. The emblems below are an open Bible and dove, and above a cross and crown, with the words, "Life's work well done."

The windows are all beautiful, so much so, as to elicit favorable comment from all who see them. They are the workmanship and design of Messrs. McCully and Miles of Chicago.

The church is lighted by one large centre chandelier, suspended seventeen feet from the floor, and is an elegant piece of work, by the American Bell Co. of Chicago.

The plans for this neat and commodious house of worship were drawn by Geo. W. Maher, of Chicago; the builder was George Rickman, of Kalamazoo. Excavation for basement was in June; work on the building began in August; the corner stone was laid Sept. 17, 1892, and the work on all parts was finished March 4, 1893.

The closing services in the old church were held on Saturday and Sabbath

When she became a Woman, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

That old established cough remedy, Down's Expectorant, is more than holds its own in the public estimation, despite sharp and active competition. It is a "home remedy" and in this locality needs no words of praise from us, so well and favorably known is it. It is the standard remedy for coughs, colds and all throat troubles, with great numbers of our people, and their continued use and unsolicited recommendation of it speaks volumes in its favor.—Burlington Vt., Free Press, Jan. 26, 1892.

With expenses paid, will come handy to any one who is now out of employment, especially where no previous experience is required to get the position. If you want a position, see advertisement in this paper headed, "A Chance to Make Money."

The true source of income in farm stock lies in performance and product.

Having had occasion to use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, it gives me pleasure to state that I found it to be the best remedy for a cough I ever used; in fact, it cured me of a cough that had baffled several other cough medicines.—N. R. Burnett, Atalissa, Iowa.

WATERWORKS MEETING.

The Common Council has called a public meeting, to be held in Rough's opera house tomorrow (Friday) evening, for the purpose of thoroughly discussing the contract which has been entered into between the Common Council and Mr. Peter English, in order that there may be no misunderstanding of the matter before the vote is taken on the bond question, next Monday. It is necessary that all voters in the village who are interested attend and hear what is to be said.

INTEREST in democratic politics in this county continues to increase. Niles Recorder and Benton Harbor Banner have taken to calling each other liars, and many of their readers will believe that they are both acquainted.

LAST week we received from the secretary a two column report of the proceedings of the Sunday School Convention, held in Niles, too late for publication. Two weeks too late.
Such things are not news after the fact.
They have been kept so long they get musty.

NILES SUN tries to get even by saying that Niles has two power printing houses to Buchanan one. Well, we made no mention of "power" printing offices. Niles has had three "power" offices for several years, and until Mr.
Ross brought some life into the town,
the "power" was black and walked out for his meals. We are glad to note the business of the town is coming to life.

THE Republican Judicial Convention, held in the parlors of the Galt house in Niles, Tuesday, did an excellent work in making the unanimous choice of Hon. O. W. Coolidge, for the office of Circuit Judge of this district.
Mr. Coolidge is one of the finest legal scholars in Western Michigan, and no man in the district is better fitted for the position than he. He is well-known to nearly every voter in the district, and respected as a fair minded man.

Just as Chas. Babcock, a Benton Harbor butcher, was looking the receipts of the day's sales in the safe he was surprised by being struck over the head with a sandbag. When he came to he found a man standing over him with a knife. Something frightened the chap away and as Mr. Babcock had thrown the combination he failed to get the cash.
