"Which, please, is the way to the Brooklyn bridge?"

"To your left," he replied, indicating the direction with his hand.

"Thank you," said the woman as she moved toward the door.

"But you don't go to the left to get there," the man added hastily.

"No? But how then?"

"To your right."

"But wouldn't that take me to—"

"I mean to say you go to the right out of the station, then to the right again and then to the left and then down the street, and you will find the bridge."

"The young woman was half indignant, but she ventured to ask one more question, "Which half must I follow?"

"Oh, well, of course you should follow the Brooklyn half," said the man with a look of scorn.

"With a look of scorn the inquirer went on, leaving her informant blushing, and I sympathized with him, for there are no words in the language, even with a diagram, to describe the way from the cars to the bridge."

But the young woman got through all right. Everybody does.—New York Herald.

Women the Great Discoverers. Grant Allen in his endeavor to prove that women are not in the race says that no woman was ever a discoverer.

To this a clever woman answers that all her spare moments she has spent in the study of the male members of her family.

When Mrs. Columbus told her husband that he would find her father's chart and manuscripts in the right hand corner of the top drawer, does anybody believe he found them?

Doubtless he came to the head of the stairs and shouted over, "Come find them for me."

Planimarian can find any planets, but he can't find his own spectacles. Stanley could find Livingston, but who doubts that Mrs. Stanley finds his pencils and mislaid manuscripts?

Who can find so many virtues as a woman can find in her husband? Could he ever, unaided, find his own faults? "And," concludes this lady, "if Mr. Allen has a wife, doubtless she finds in him more than any man ever could."

Exchange. Magical Effects of the Sapphire. To the sapphire has been ascribed the following magical properties: That it prevents wicked thoughts; that it is such an enemy to poison that, if put in a glass with a spider or venomous reptile, it will kill it.

St. Jerome in his exposition of the nineteenth chapter of Isaiah says that the sapphire procures favor with princes, pacifies enemies, frees from enchantment and obtains release from captivity.

This gem was sacred to Apollo and was worn when inquiring of the oracle at his shrine. It was esteemed as a remedy against fevers.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Woman Who Travels. When the modern woman comes into a crowded railway station, she comes with a magnificent, resolute, manly bearing.

She knows exactly what she wants; is not flurried; she does not need to go about nervously asking questions of stupid men.

She has her watch and her timetable and quietly takes her place and her rights. Only one thing she has not learned, and that is how to break into the head of a line waiting at the ticket office or the postoffice window.—Philadelphia Times.

Altogether Too High. Jinks—Don't you think that the intentions of French dualists are more honorable than is generally conceded?

Filkins—Oh, yes. As a rule they aim high.—Brooklyn Life.

Nursing Malarial Fever. Malarial fever begins, as many acute diseases do, with a chill followed by fever, which subsides after a time and is followed by a second chill.

These recur at regular intervals and give the fever one of its names, intermittent or remittent. The doctor usually prescribes large doses of quinine or smaller doses often repeated.

The nurse must try to promote a reaction during the chill by hot bottles or hot water bags at the feet and under the arms, covering the patient with warm blankets, giving warm drinks, warm lemonade, hot milk, etc., but no stimulant without the doctor's permission.

When the fever comes on once and cold water may be given. A cooling laxative is usually ordered, as citrate of magnesia. The body may be sponged if the temperature is very high.

A cloth wet in alcohol and wrung out in warm water and applied to the forehead will help to relieve the headache, helping it without removing it when it becomes dry.

When the fever decreases, the invalid begins to perspire profusely. The whole person should be gently dried from time to time, a flannel nightgown put on, the room darkened and the sufferer allowed to sleep.

The doctor should be consulted, and proper treatment is necessary to prevent, if possible, a recurrence of the attack. In all forms of fever the efforts of both nurse and physician are directed to reducing the temperature and sustaining the strength of the patient.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Rules for Keeping the Teeth Clean. One of the most skillful dental surgeons gives these rules for the care of the teeth:

"Use a soft brush and water the teeth up and down in the morning, before going to bed and after eating, whether it is three or six

It appears that the attempt of the last Legislature to make a tax law that shall clear the records of all tax titles, is likely to prove a miserable failure. For one thing, the law requires work for the county treasurer that will give at least one man in every county steady employment, and makes no provision for paying for it either by fee or salary. The rule is that people who do work either for the public or for individuals is entitled to receive pay, and treasurers are not making out certificates required by law. Since there is a heavy penalty for recording deeds without the certificate no deeds are being recorded.

The issue that this is a Union from which no state can secede was not settled and established by the war. The only issue that was settled was the South was not strong enough to stand by itself against the resources of the North—Charles V. News and Courier.

Mr. A. C. BRECEE passed through Niles Thursday on his way to Chicago with a Latin Bible printed in 1470. This Bible is bound in oak covers with leather hinges. The capital letters are all done by hand, and the whole book of 303 leaves was printed one letter at a time. This ancient Bible is the property of Mrs. Jacob Grandall, of Milton township, Cass county, who inherited it with a number of other ancient books from her father, Mr. John Brewer, who was a cleric and not settled in any ward. Mr. Brewer studied for the ministry, but on account of voice failure, was forced to stop. For a long time these books have been boxed up, as Mr. Brewer would not allow them to be sold during his lifetime. Mr. Brecee will exhibit this Bible, also a directory of Cincinnati of 1834, at the World's Fair. This Bible is valued at $1,000 and will be sold at that price if a buyer is found. Mrs. Grandall has a number of old books at her home which she will be pleased to show at any time.—Niles Recorder.

THERE were thirty-four prisoners in jail yesterday. Of this number twenty-nine are plain vags, and all but two of the whole crowd are from Benton Harbor and St. Joe. It is an infernal outrage. If these towns can't manage to let up in any other way, let them kill their tramps before they bankrupt the county. If the law don't allow them to be set at work, let the ordinance will do it, and they have been being about such action for a long time. Now let them act.—Tza.

VENERABLE BROTHERS—Greeting and the Apostolic Benediction, Leo, bishop and servant of the servants of God; be it remembered by posterity that he who is Omnipotent in heaven and on earth had confined his church, which One, Holy Catholic and Apostolic, and out of which there is no salvation, to one man upon earth, namely to Peter, prince and apostle, and to the bishops of Rome, his successors, with full power to rule over it.

This pontiff alone hath been constituted head over all nations and kingdoms, and invested with power to destroy, to separate, to scatter and subvert, to plant, build up, link together by mutual charity, to order to preserve the faithful in the spirit of unity, and surrender them whole an entire to their Savior.

In order to fulfill the duties imposed on us by the Divine Goodness, we labor incessantly to maintain the unity of the Roman Catholic religion, which God hath visited with heavy conflicts, to the end that his own may be tried, and for our correction; but the numbers and powers of the wicked have so long prevailed, that no portion of the earth has escaped their attempts to propagate their infectious and detested dogmas being supported, among others, by that slave to every species of crime.

The American republic under Protestant rule is with the worst enemies of the church, where security is offered, this republic having seized upon the lands discovered by Christopher Columbus, a discovery which usurped the authority and jurisdiction of the supreme head of the united church, the United States is filled with obscenity heretics.

church, or to obey its ordinances and canonical decisions.

Naturalization oaths have been demanded in order that the subjects of the true church might be able to subscribe to the United States constitution, with its impious laws and nefarious teachings, to compel them to renounce the true authority of the Catholic pontiff; to disacknowledge him to be the head of both the church and the state, whereby those who have been preserved in the faith have been compelled to suffer spiritual afflictions.

The Catholic bishops and clergy have been deprived of vast lands, and this is known to all nations, and so clearly proved by all nations, argument or protest in any part of the United States is unavailing.

We find, moreover, that persecution against the religion of Rome has been redoubled by the Protestants dwelling in the United States of America.

With deep sorrow we are now constrained to have recourse to the arm of justice, and are obliged to take action against a nation that has rejected the Pope as head of all church and state governments.

In virtue, therefore, of the divine authority by which we have been placed on this supreme throne of justice, an office so superior to our capability, we do, in the plenitude of apostolic power declare that all heretics and the encouragers of heresy, together with all adherents, have incurred the sentence of excommunication, and they are hereby cut off from the unity of the body of Jesus Christ.

Moreover, we proclaim the people of the United States of America to have forfeited, a right to rule said republic, and also all dominion, all rights and privileges appertaining to it. We likewise declare, that all subjects of every rank and condition in the United States, and every citizen of the same, be they Catholics or Protestants, shall be absolved from said oath, as from all other duty, fidelity, or obedience on or about the 4th of September, 1893, when the Catholic congress shall convene at Chicago, Illinois, as we shall excommunicate them from all engagements, and on or about the 4th of September, 1893, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, it will be the duty of the faithful to exterminate all heretics found within the jurisdiction of the United States of America.

As the circulation of this bull, by sending to all places, would become a matter of great difficulty, it is commanded that copies of it be taken and signed by Jesuit notaries, subscribed by a bishop, and sealed with the seal of our court; they will then have the authority and efficacy as these presents here.

Given at St. Peter, Rome, on the twenty-fifth day of December, 1891, the fifteenth year of our Pontificate. LEO XIII, Pope.

The above letter has been the subject of a great amount of comment since its appearance in print, something like a year ago, whether authentic or not, it is one of a long line of circumstances pointing in the direction indicated by the letter and should receive more than passing attention.

CHICAGO visitors to this place are very enthusiastic for the proposed electric road to St. Joseph. Such a road running along the highway, and such a course as would keep it away from the river hills, would certainly have a heavy summer business, in freight from along the line of the road, by handling their fruits and produce to the lake market.

Mr. JOSEPH GREYER is reported badly hurt. The story as we have it is, that during the heavy storm Tuesday he was drawing a load of straw to Niles, and went under the load to get out of the heavy rain. A COUPLE of Chinamen drove over from Niles, Sunday. One of them took Lee Joe in for a ride, started up Front street hill, and after going about ten rods changed his mind and turned around on a space about ten feet square. Our railroad prospects are showing a bright side once more. A proposition has been to this place to build a standard gauge road, equal in every respect to the Vandavia road, through this place, for the small sum of $10,000. The proposition has been accepted, and by the first day of next June we are to have what we have worked so long and hard and spent so much money to secure. The road will likely take a south-western course through Bakertown; will run through Berrien Springs, and terminate in Benton. This has no connection whatever with the St. Joseph Valley road, and as the managers of that line claim to have a lien by which they expect to extend that, there may be among the possibilities a second road for us. There are very few expectations being built upon that, however.

DEMOCRATS in this vicinity are trying hard to believe that Grover Cleveland should not be blamed for cutting and slashing in the pension bureau as he has nothing to do with it. No. He just places the department in the hands of a red hot confederate, and Hoke Smith does the rest. It's easy enough.

Special credit must be given to Junior Class No. 2, for the manner in which they conducted the erection of a monument, representing five features required to the "building of christian character."

SNOW ticket advertising is a great bonanza to country publishers. The RECORD is in receipt of an offer of three tickets to a circus, good only in a distant Indiana town, and one ticket to a Saginaw "hoss trot", both not transferable, under penalty of forfeiture, and subject to a long list of red tape to be available. All for something like six dollars' worth of advertising. We shall not see either the circus or the trot.

THE administration is doing a wholesale job of economizing on the pension list, and there is consternation among the veterans. A number have been cited to appear before the examining board for examination, and Mr. Robert Covell has received notice that his name has been stricken from the rolls for a time, if not permanently. "This notice was not given until after the time for the payment of the last quarters dues had past.
