An Insolent Employee. An unusual instance of the impudent manner of some of the street car conductors occurred on a Market street car the other day. It was on one of the open cars, and a gentleman and boy jumped on the car as it was passing a street. They were going together, but as it happened they could not get seats together. The conductor first went to the gentleman for his fare and was handed a 10 cent piece in payment of the two fares. The conductor handed back 5 pennies. "I don't want those pennies," remarked the gentleman, and without giving him time to explain the conductor pertly replied, "Well, you'll have to take them whether you want to or not." This reply angered the gentleman, and instead of explaining then he simply again refused to accept the pennies. The conductor then threw the pennies on the floor of the car and turned to the boy for his fare. "Why, he paid my fare," said the boy, pointing to the gentleman. The conductor then went back to the gentleman and said, "Why, you didn't tell me you were paying two fares." "No," replied the gentleman, "but you didn't give me the chance." The conductor picked up the pennies that he had scattered on the floor.—Philadelphia Press.

Superstitious Firemen of Company No. 13. "The fire commissioners could do a popular thing by changing the name of Engine company No. 13," said a member of the paid fire department last night. "The men who were killed at the recent disastrous fire belonged to Engine company No. 13, and some of the men look with dread on that number.

"Let them just change the number. Have no such number in the dep. tment. It is just as easy as not. The numbers could jump from 12 to 14 as properly as the companies in the army jump from I to K. You never hear of Company J, do you? Of course not. That letter is dropped as a matter of expediency, because I and J look so much alike. So, for expediency's sake and to relieve some of the boys from superstitious dread, No. 13 might be changed into the next higher number in the list. It would do no harm and would please the crew that is tired of carrying the unlucky number."-San Francisco Examiner.

This Happened In New York City. A Third avenue car was running through the Bowery when it came to a stop near Grand street. The driver fastened the reins to the brake and walked into a neighboring shoe store. The car was crowded, and after a lapse of five minutes the passengers became impatient. The horses began to stamp, and a young man with a red tie essayed to quiet them. He was assisted by the conductor. Three minutes more passed, and the driver came slowly out of the store with a bundle under his arm. He did not hurry, but in a methodical way untied the reins, said "Geet ap!" and started down town. He had been buying a pair of shoes.—New York Times.

A Remarkable Lock of Hair. The New Berne (N. C.) Journal tests its readers' belief in its veracity with the following story: Mrs. S. E. Credle, the clever keeper of the boarding house in the Howard building on South Front street, has a curiositya lock of hair that has grown to several times its length it was when severed from the head. It was sent to her by a friend two years ago, and was then only about 11 inches long. Since then it has grown constantly and is now over a foot long. It is in vigorous growth and has a live look.

There has been considerable discussion as to who invented spectacles and who had the pleasure of wearing the first pair. The honor is generally awarded to an Italian named Salvino Armati, who died in 1317.

Rowing on a City Lake. Just why the mortality in Prospect park is not greater than it is is well nigh a miracle. This is intended to have application to the rowing on the lake. There are a great many boats to be hired. A great many people hire them. Of this number the greater part know as much about rowing as the veriest landlubber can be expected to know. That, however, does not deter them from attempting it. Young men who never splashing, jerking and catching crabs until they have splattered water all over themselves and every one within a radius of 20 feet. It is a rare thing for a boat to upset. it does for the oarsmen. Right under what is called the second bridge-that well known spot which so persistently refuses to freeze over in the skating seasonthe passage is narrow. Here, on any atternoon, especially Saturdays and Sundays, one may see a mass of boats, flying oars and arms and hear 30 or 40 people all yelling at once, each telling all the others to "Pull on your right," "Haul in your oar," and "Stop soaking me, you chump." And yet nobody gets hurt, and every-

A Good Dog Story. rope left their house in charge of an old man who was to look after it during the absence of the family. They also left behind them a large dog. There was an armchair in the back room in which the dog frequently took a nap. The old man also found the chair very comfortable, but as he did not feel like taking any risks he resorted to strategy. He would go to the window and mew like a cat. The dog would then jump out of the chair and rush to the window to bark at the cat, whereupon the old gentleman would quietly take possession of the chair. One day when the old gentleman was in the chair, the dog came into the room. Taking in the situation, he put his forepaws on the window sill and barked furiously. The old gentleman, thinking there was somebody in the yard, got out of the chair hurriedly and went to the window to see who was in the yard, whereupon the dog jumped into the chair and kept possession of it, growling ominously whenever the old man came near him. Abraham Lincoln once remarkel that every man about to marry should stand over a doctor with a club and make him tell the truth in reference to the chosen partner for life, if there was no other way of getting it out of him. SELLING A SECONDHAND STOVE. Experience of a Man Who Decided to Give Up His Flat. "Did you ever try to sell your heating stove when you gave up your flat to send your missus out into the country?" pathetically inquired a married man. "Well, if you're any way proud or stuck up, it will be good for you. You go to the stove dealer to whom you paid $5 for 20 cents' worth of Russia iron pipe and half an hour's work. You say you guess you'll move into a steam heated flat in the fall, and you don't care about storing the stove. General Schenck's Last Game. Of course every one knows that General Robert E. Schenck was a poker player. Just a week before his death he sat around a table in his own house with General Schofield, General Rucker and two United States senators. It was a jackpot. Everybody had passed up to Schenck, who promptly opened it for the limit. One of the senators raised, the general raised him back, and the senator staid. Each drew one card. ITALIAN MACARONI IN ITALY.

How It Is Served There, For It May Be Made In Your Own Kitchen. In one of the largest American cities there is an Italian restaurant with real Italian service that has among its chief patrons many who have lived half a dozen years in Italy, more or less, and are judges of purely Italian viands. In this particular restaurant they find their favorite dishes cooked and served in the genuine Italian manner. There is macaroni, for instance. Now, macaroni here in Italy and macaroni in America are two very different articles. It was only recently that I heard a pretty New York girl say: "It is so strange that at home I can't bear macaroni, and here I can hardly get enough of it.

Do you know the reason?" I did, and I told her, and I will tell you, so that with your perfect dish of macaroni you may put palms or great clusters of small pink roses or yellow orchids on your table, bottles here and there and pretty side dishes filled with pats of unsalted, creamy butter stamped with flights of doves and clusters of flowers, or even the legendary wolf, and quite imagine you are again in Italy. Such macaroni is not made at a tremendous factory, nor with coarse flour and water, but in one's own kitchen and thus:

Heap a little more than half a kilo -about 2 pounds-of best flour on your marble pastry slab or your hard wood molding board, make a hole in the center of the flour somewhat like the crater of a volcano, and into this break 7 or 8 eggs. A Narrow Escape For a Bald Head.

"It has always been a mystery to

There is in society circles in our section a young married man whose cranium is not prone to an overproduction of hair, but it would xem that what his head lacks his face makes up for. The young man aforesaid is not partial to beards nor barbers and acts as his own tonsorial artist. The other day he made all arrangements for a comfortable shave and had taken his position before the glass, razor in hand. Now, in his toilei room there are two large mirrors placed opposite each other, and as the young man stood with his back toward one the reflection of his bald head shone as a secondary image in the mirror which he was facing.

"As absentminded people are accustomed to look rather into the distance, the young man overlooked his face and saw only the secondary image of his bald head. Without thought and with a dexterity that seemed born of practice .the young artist began lathering the back of his head with a good coat. He was just about to proceed to use the razor when his wife stepped into the room and by her ejaculation of surprise aroused the husband to a sense of the ludicrous position he was in. He tells the story himself with a great deal of gusto."—St. Louis Republic.

A Surprised Foreigner. A good joke in connection with the custom prevalent in Washington society of having professional caterers furnish the china and other table service at big dinners has just leaked out. It occurred when a distinguished foreigner who attended several swell dinner parties remarked to a Washington friend: "You Americans have many peculiarities, but no one of them has struck me with more force than the remarkable similarity in taste among your wealthy people. I have attended three dinner parties this week, and at each of them the identically the same pattern." The Washingtonian was strongly tempted to explain, but upon consideration he concluded to let it go at "similarity in taste." The reason he kept the joke until now was that he did not care to have it get out until his foreign friend had returned home.—Washington Cor. Springfield

Society Islands Oranges.

The wild oranges of the Society islands, which are now an important article of export, owe their origin partly to Captain Cook, who brought hither slips from Brazil, and partly to the early missionaries from the Australian colonies, who introduced another variety. It is these two kinds, though left untended - for there are no plantations of oranges in the islands-which have by acclimatization and self propagation gradually merged into the one variety so favorably known in the market as the Tahiti orange. The fruit, which varies from oblong to oval in shape, is large, thin skinned, very heavy, sweet and full flavored. The propagation of the Tahiti orange tree is accomplished by "raiders," such as rats and other animals, who scatter the seed, which, owing to the moist, warm climate, germinates with certainty and rapidity. * The Object of University Extension. The fundamental object of univers y extension is perhaps, after all, not scholarship, but the arousing of an interest which may lead persons to set about the acquisition of scholarthip, the setting of persons on the high road toward scholarship, the guiding of them in the right direction, thus enabling them to aid others who have the desire and ability to become scholars—in other words, the strengthening of all the latent and open forces and influences which tell for scholarship.—Chicago Tribune.

A Famous Aqueduct.

One of the most imposing architectural relics of western Europe is the aqueduct of Nismes in southern France. After the lapse of 16 centuries this colossal monument still spans the valley, joining hill to hill in a nearly perfect state. The highest range of arches carries a small canal just wide enough for a man to creep through and still retaining a thick lining of Roman cement. The height of the structure is 188 feet and the length of the highest arcade 872 feet. Its use was to convey to the city of Nismes the water of two springs 25 miles distant. The only modern structures worth mentioning in comparison are the Croton aqueduct and the waterworks of Lisbon, Leghorn and San Francisco.

Charleston News and Courier. It is a law of good society in China that young widows never marry again. Widowhood is therefore held in the highest esteem, and the older the widow grows the more agreeable does her position become with the people. Good Temper In Traveling. We hear of a good many requisites for traveling in comfort, but none of them surpasses good temper, especially in hot, dusty weather. To be indifferent to the crying of cross and tired babies, to draw a shawl or a wrap over the shoulders when some fresh air fiend persists in sending a current of cold wind from an open window, or equally to be patient when you want the window open and somebody else wants it shut, to be ready to accept delays without grumbling and to be as sweet at a journey's end as at its beginning, this is to be indeed good fem-

to her house.—Exchange.

If one travels easily and is not made faint and ill by the rapid motion of the train or seasick by the roll of the steamer, there is little credit in keeping amiable. But many women suffer fearfully from jolting and jarring. Their heads ache, their stomachs rebel, their nerves are on edge. It is nothing short of saintly to be pleasant in these circumstances, but some people achieve it, and they are held in pleasant memory by their fellow travelers.—Harper's Bazar.

Gen. W. P. Innes, of Grand Rapids, a prominent Mason and leading soft money statesman, died on Wednesday of last week.

The cotton factories of Fall River. Mass., have gone Democratic by a large majority. 700,000 spindles were stopp ed last Saturday, to not start again to an indefinite time.

Sour of the more sensible of Northern Democrats are calling a halt on the work of the ex-confederates in the pension office, claiming that if continued it will wreck the party.

The democrats of Obio have been searching in vain nearly three months for a democrat who wants to be Governor of that state next year, but have thus far failed. Ohio democrats have formed a sudden dislike for office that is remarkable.

The President's message will be found on our fourth page. So far as it goes it is sound, but the RECORD believes that the President has not found the main cause of the degression of business. The views of Hon. J. C. Burrows and Hon. Win. Mckinley, published in these columns, would give him pointers that his party would do well to heed.

The New York Press is publishing the views of the leaders of the Republican party on the present condition of business in our country, and the remedy, which is good reading for everybody. Hon. J. C. Burrows, who is recognized as one of the leaders, writes as follows:

"I am not one of these who believe that the present deplorable condition of business throughout the country is attributable chiefly or in any considerable degree to the Silver act of 1890. While I have no doubt that the continued purchase of silver on a rapidly de-clining market, and the necessity of redeeming in gold the constantly in creasing volume of silver notes, has in some degree aggravated the situation, yet I am equally confident that the main cause of the widely spread business depression springs from the attitude of the Democratic party toward the protective policy. Under that pelity untold millions have been invested in great industrial enterprises. When the party in power threatens every domestic industry and all the labor em-ployed therein with unrestrained, violent competition and consequent ruin, ordinary business sagacity prompts a reduction of expenditures, curtailment of plants and general suspension to await the blow. It is this waiting, this fear, this dread of an impending revaluation which is causing much widespread public depression and calamity You ask me the remedy. It is simple. Let the party in power publicly repudiate its Chicago platform of free trade oney and promise to le the tariff alone, and maintain sound currency and public credit. Business activity will take the place of stagnation just as soon as the public can be made to believe in the sincerity of such

Gov. Wm. McKinley, of Ohio, sums up the situation and gives the remedy, as follows:

"We have nothing to fear but ourselves. We have got everything now that we had last year except confidence and prosperity. We have the same rich country, the same wealth of resources, the same money, the same people. What we have this year which we did not have last year is the new management which the reople last November put in charge of the govern-ment a management pledged by every party obligation to the abandenment of a protective tariff, and which obligation the Democratic leaders still insist they must keep. The business people of this country, believing that the Democrats will keep their solemn pledges, are forced to prepare for the change. There is nothing so sensitive as capital and business. They anticipate future conditions. Assured the storm is to come, they try to get out of it and under shelter. If the new political management does not mean to carry out the policy as premised, and I sincerely hope it does not, good conscience and good morals demand that it allay the universal alarm by premptly announcing that it has abandoned it. The administration cannot afford longer to keep the country in suspense.

It would be the highest act of patriotism if the Democracy would make public preciamation that they will not earry out their free-trade pledges. There are those who honestly believe the new administration will not materially change the tariff. If that were the universal belief business would speedily return to its normal condition. The change from protection to a tariff for revenue only is so great, so sweeping, that every thoughtful man knows that it will be followed by a revolution in values and in wages of labor. To make the change at a time like this of every one to help bring the country back to the prosperity it so recently lost. Politics should not be permitted to deter any of us from performing a plain duty. The polities which interferes with the return of good times and the well-being of the country should be reformed. No pride of opinion, no theory, or party obligations should stand in the way. Our country first is the true American sentiment. All should join in a patriotic effort to restore confidence, give steadiness and integrity to our finances, employment of our millions of workmen and the country an opportunity for its greatest development. The Congress assembling on Monday has a rare opportunity to serve its country and its countrymen.

Ashamed to Do It. The story comes to us of an honest old farmer, near Wonewee, Wis., who sold his wool crop of '91 at 22 cents a pound, but listening to the arguments of the political "outs" that if the farmers should down the tariff and get the afterwards turned up at Geo. Yaring-"markets of the world,", wool would a lyance to 32 cents, he was induced to went into the yard where he was milkvote the Democratic ticket. This year he took his wool to the same market Mr. Yarrington jumped over the fence, and was obliged to sell it at 12 cents and as the mad beast attempted to per pound. Meeting a Republican come through after him he killed it friend in the street the latter after learning the facts asked Mr. Farmer what he now thought of the "markets of the world" as a strengthener of prices, and received this lugubrious re-reply: "I'll tell you, my friend, in years past I have always sheared my sheep from head to tail, but this year I have reversed the operation, for to tell the truth, I was a shamed to look a sheep in the face, after that vote last fall". - Westfield Central Union.

GEORGE TARLEY, of near New Buffalo. Mich., just over the line, loaded hay the other day. In a fork full of hay he lifted a large blacksnake which coiled about Traley's neck and would have choked him to death in a minute or two more had not two men come to the rescue. Tarley had fallen to the administration, in speaking of no the ground when found.—South Bend Times.

A few of the woolen mills which altogether. The sequence of idle machinery is a dull wool market. The present depression in manufacturing circles is more severe than any that has preceded it for a generation. There is no panic, but the mills are being closed to escape a loss that cannot be avoided if the proposed program of tarisf revision is carried out. The New York Post, which is very close the subject, says: !It is not a mere possibility of tariff revision that confronts us; it is the certainty. If this means ruin, then ruin will come as surely as the sun will raise tomorrow." Statements of this nature from sources apparently well informed lead to the conviction that tariff revision of some sort will be adopted. A restoration of confidence would undoubtedly result from an official announcement that no tariff reductions would be made. Money is abundant, but owing to the prevailing alarm, it is withheld from circulation. Neither banks nor trust companies are making loans to any extent, and their funds are withheld from circula ion to such a degree as to have deranged the usual processes of exchange between localities. In manufacturing circles there is no difference of cpinion as to the cause of the present trouble; nor is there any doubt as to what action is necessary to set the spindles again in motion. Doubt as to the policy which will be substituted for the system of protection adds to the universal distrust. If the Sherman Silver Law (which many believe is the paramount factor that is causing the decline in wool) is repealed, it will then be seen that the cause for the present depression lies deeper, for other staples, such as cotton, for instance, not menaced by tariff changes remain steady, while the menace of free wool has caused merino grades to fall from 60c scoured on the 1st of March to 40c today because the free wool or Loudon value is only for scoured. Nothing can prevent a fall in American prices to the free wool level except the abandonment of the proposed changes in the duties upon wool and woolens, to which the administration has been so publicly committed.—Justice Rateman & Co's Circular.

The Sherman Act of July 14, 1890, He Believes To Be Responsible for the Trouble and Earnestly Recommends Its Repeal-Ho Refers Incidentally to the Tariff but Considers the Financial Ques-

WASHINGTON, Aug. S.-President Cleveland's message to congress in extra session was read in both houses and is as follows: TO THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES: The existence of an alarming and extraordinary business situation, involving the welfare and prosperity of all our people, has con-strained me to call together in extra session strained me to can together in extra session the people's representatives in con-gress, to the end that through a wise and patriotic exercise of the legislative duty with which they solely are charged, present evils may be miti-gated and dangers threatening the future may be neverted.

Our unfortunate financial plight is not the result of untoward events nor of conditions related to our natural resources; nor is it trace-able to any of the afflictions which frequently check national growth and prosper-ity. With plenteous crops, with abund-ant promise of remunerative production and manufacture, with unusual invitation to safe investment and with satis-factory assurance to business enterprise, suddenly financial distrust and fear have surung denly financial distrust and fear have sprung up on every side. Numerous moneyed institu-tions have suspended because abundant assets were not immediately available to meet the de-mands of frightened depositors. Surviving corporations and individuals are content to keep in land the money they are usually aux-ious to loan, and those engaged in legitimate business are surpris, d to find that the securities they offer for loans, though heretofic e satisthey offer for loans, though heretofo e satis factory, are no onger accepted. Values supposed to be fixed are fast be oming conjectural, and loss and failure have invaded every branch of business.

I believe these things are principally chargeable to congressional legislation touching the purchase and coinage of silver by the general government. This legislation is embodied in a statute passed on the 14th day of July, 180 which was the culmination of much agitation on the subject involved, and which may be considered a truce, after a long struggle and those intending to be more conservative Undoubtedly the monthly purchases by the government of 4,500,000 ounces of silver, enforced under that statute, were regarded by those interested in silver production as a cer-tain guaranty of its increase in price. The result, however, has been entirely different, for immediately following a spasmodic and slight rise, the price of silver began to fall after the passage of the act, and has since reached the lowest point ever known. This disappointing result has led to renewed and persistent effort in the direction of free silver coinage. Mean-while, not only are the evil effects of the eperation of the present law constantly accumulating, but the result to which its execution must inevitably lead is becoming palpable all who give the least Leed to financial subjects.

This law provides that in payment for the 4.50,000 ounces of silver bullion which the seretary of the treasury is commanded to purchase monthly there shall be issued treasury notes redeemable on demand in gold or silver rotes redeemable on demand in gold of silver coin at the discretion of the sceretary of the treasury, and that said notes may be reissued. It is, however, declared in the act to be "the established policy of the United States to maintain the two metals on a parity with each other upon the present legal ratio or such ratio as may be provided by law." This declaration so controls the law." This declaration so controls the action of the secretary of the treasury as to action of the secretary of the treasury as to prevent his exercising the discretion nominally vested in him, if by such action the parity between gold and silver may be disturbed. Manifestly a refusal by the secretary to pay these treasury notes in gold, if demanded, would necessarily result in their discredit and depreciation as obligations payable only in silver and would destroy the parity between ver, and would destroy the parity between the two metals by establishing a discrimina-tion in favor of gold.

Up to the 15th day of July, 18%, these notes had been issued in payment of silver bullion purchases to the amount of more than forty-seven millions of dellars. While all but a very small quantity of this bullion remains uncoined and without usefulness in the treasury, many of the notes given in its purchase have been paid in gold. This is illustrated by the statement that between the 1st day of May, 1822, and the 15th day of July, 1833, the notes of this kind issued in payment for silver bullion amounted to a little more than fifty four millions of dollars, and that during the same period about forty-nine millions of dollars were paid by the treas-ury in gold for the redemption of such notes. The policy necessarily adopted of paying these notes in gold has not spared the gold reserve of SUO,000,000 long ago set aside by the govern-ment for the redemption of other notes, for this fund has already been subjected to the payment of new obligations amounting to about one hundred and fifty millions of dollars on account of silver purchases, and has as a consequence, for the first time since its crea-

We have thus made the depletion of our gold easy, and have tempted other and more appreciative nations to add it to their stock. That the opportunity we have offered has not been neglected, is shown by the large amounts of gold which have been recently drawn from our treasury and exported to increase the financial strength of foreign nations. The excess of exports of gold over its imports for the year ending June 30, 1856, amounted to more than eighty-seven and a half millions of more than eighty-seven and a half millions of dollars. Between the 1st day of July, 1899, and the 15th day of July, 1893, the gold coin and builton in our treasury decreased more than one hundred and thirty-two millions of dellars, while during the same period the silver coin and builton in the treasury increased more than one hundred and forty-seven millions of dollars. Unless government bands are to be constantly issued and coldment bonds are to be constantly issued and sold to replenish our exhausted gold, only to be again exhausted, it is apparent that the opera-tion of the silver purchase law now in force leads in the direction of the entire sul stitution of silver for gold in the government treasury, and that this must be followed by the payment of all government ob'igations in depreciated

At this stage gold and silver must part com-pany and the government must fail in its es-tablished policy to maintain the two metals on a parity with each other. Given over to the exclusive use of a currency greatly depreciated according to the standard of the commercial world, we could no longer claim a place among nations of the first class, nor could our government claim a performance of its bbliga-tions, so far as such obligation has been imposed upon it, to provide for the use of the peo-ple the best and safest money. If, as many of its friends claim, silver ought to occupy a larger place in our currency and the currency of the world through general internat onal co-operation and agreement, it is obvi-ous that the United States will not be in a position to gain a hearing in favor of such an arrangement so long as we are willing to continue our attempt to accomplish the result single handed.

The knowledge in business circles among our own leople that our govers ment cannot make its flat equivalent to intrinsic value, nor keep ferior money on a parity with superior mo by its own independent efforts, has resulted such a lack of confidence at home, the stability of currency values that capital refuses its aid to new enterprises while millions are actually withdrawn from the channels of trade and commerce to become idle and unproductive in the hands of timid owners. Foreign investors equally alert not real duality to provide America sequential only decline to purchase American securities but make haste to sacrifice those which they already have. It does not meet the situation to say that apprehension in regard to the future of our finances is groundless and that there is no reason for lack of comid-nee n the purposes or Lower of the government in the premises. The very existence of this ap prehension and lack of confidence, however caused, is a menace which ought not for a mo ment be disregarded. Possibly, if the under-taking we have in hand were the main--nance of a specific known quar silver at a parity with gold, our ability to do so might be estimated and guaged, and perhaps in view of over unparalleled growth and resources, might be favorably passed upon. But when our avowed endeavor is to maintain such parity in regard to an amount of silver lner, using at the rate of $50,000,000 yearly, with no fixed termination to such increase, it can hardly be said that a problem is presented whose solution is free from doubt.

The people of the United States are entitled to a sound and stable currency and to money recognized as such on every exchange and in every market of the world. Their government has no right to injure them by financial experiments opposed to the policy and practice of other civilized states, nor is it justified in permitting an exaggerated and unreasonable reliance on our national justified in permitting an exaggerated and unreasonable reliance on our national strength and ability to jeopardize the soundness of the people's money. This matter rises above the plane of party plities. It vitally concerns every business and calling and enters every household in the land. There is one important aspect of the subject which especially should never be overlooked. At times like the present, when the evils of unsound finance threaten us, the speculator may antic pate a larvest gathered from the misfortune of others, the capitalist may protect himself by hoarding or may ever find profit in the fluctuation of values; but the wage-earner—the first to be injured by a depreciated currency and the last to receive the benefit of its correction—is practically defenseless. He relies for work upon the ventures of confident and contented capital. This failing him, his condition is without alleviation, for he can neither prey on the misfortunes of others, nor hoard his labor. One of the greatest statesmen our country has known, speaking more than fifty years ago, when a derangement of the currency had caused commercial distress, said: "The very man of all others who has the deepest inter st in a sound currency and who suffers most by mischievous legislation in money matters, is the man who carns his daily bread by his dai y toil."

These words are pertinent now as on the day

toil."

These words are pertinent now as on the day they were uttered, and ought to impressively remind us that a failure in the discharge of our daily at this time must especially injure those of our countrymen who labor, and who because of their number and condition are entitled to the most watchful care of their government. It is of the utmost importunce that such relief as congress can afford in the existing situation be afforded at once. The max m.

applicable. It may be true that the embarrassments from which the business of the country is suffering arise as much from evils apprehended as from those actually existing. We may hope, too, that calm counsels will prevail and that neither the capitalists nor the wage carners will give way to unreasoning pante and sacrifice their property or their interest under the influence of exaggerated fears. Nevertheless, every day's delay in removing one of the plain and principal causes of the present state of affairs enlarges the mischief already done and increases the responsibility of the government for its existence. Whatever else the people have a right to expect from congress they may certainly demand that legislation condemned by the ordeal of three years' disastrous experience shall be removed from the statute books as soon as their representatives can legitimately deal with it.

It was may purpose to summon congress in succial session early in the coming Soutomber deal with it.

It was my purpose to summon congress in special session early in the coming Sentember that we might enter promptly upon the work of tariff reform, which the true interests of the country clearly d mand—which so large a majority of the people, as shown by their suffrages, desire and expect, and to tho accomplishment of which every effort of the present administration is pledged. But while tariff reform has lost nothing of its immediate and permanent importance, and must in the near future engage the attention of congress, it has seemed to me that the financial condition of the country should at once and before all other subjects be considered by your honorable holy.

learnestly recommend the promit repeal of the provision of the act passed July 14, 1890, authorizing the purchase of silver bullion, and that other legislative action may put beyond all doubt or mistake the intention and the ability of the government to full its pecuniary obligations in money universally recognized by all civilized countries.

(Signed) Grover Cleveland.

REPULSED A MOB.

Four Men Killed by Two Plucky Indiana Corypon, Ind., Aug. 7.- Startling news has reached here of the slaughter of a lynching party by two men whom they were trying to lynch for the alleged murder of their father. The fearful affray took place near Laconia, about sixteen miles from this place. Four men were instantly killed, one fatally wounded and several others more or less injured. William and Sam Conrad were the alleged murderers whom the mob intended to string up. Several months ago the father of these men was foully murdered. His dead body was found in the woods with his skull crushed. Suspicion at once fell on the sons, who, however, had always borne good reputations. They were arrested, but on the prelim nary hearing were discharged for want of evidence. Indignation ran high among the people and finally a mob gathered for the purpose of lynching the

The house where the men lived was attacked, but the Conrads were prepared. As the mob advanced on the house they poured a deadly volley into its ranks. Four men drapped dead in their tracks and several fell wounded. The Conrads then fled, while the unharmed were caring for the dead and dyi g. The four men killed are—Ed Hustin, John Timberlake, Will Wiswan and Isaac Howe. Will May was fatally wounded. Excitement runs high, Armed bands are scouring the country for the Conrads. If caught they will be instantly killed. At the trial of the Conrad boys the testimony against them was entirely circumstantial and no strong at that. On the contrary the mother's testimony corroborated the story told by her sons.

OPENING OF CONGRESS.

Burrows Challenges Richardson's Right to a Seat. WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.-About the only ripple that has disturbed the monotony at the opening of the house in extra session was the challenge by Burrows of Richardson's right to the seat for the Fifth Michigan district. When the call of the roll of states had reached Michigan and the members from that state lined up Richardson was in the line. Burrows caught the speaker's eye and said: "I object, Mr. Speaker, to the oath of office being administered to Mr. Richardson, whose name appears on the roll. It is customary in such cases for the member to stand aside for the present."

"Mr. Richardson will stand aside until the conclusion of the organization of the house," said the speaker, and Richardson retired to the rear. After the oath of office had been administered to all the members, O'Ferrall of Virginia moved that George F. Richardson be now sworn

A Supreme Court Decision. Burrows in opposition offered resolutions declaring the fact that the credentials held by Richardson have been voided by the decision of the Michigan supreme court, and that the Michigan state board Belknan was elected from the Fifth district of that state; also resolving that Belknap be sworn in as the member from that dis trict. The business was then postponed for the day. After the election of officers, the senate having adjourned, the house proceeded to draw for seats. RELEASED BY A MOB. The Wife of an Illicit Whisky Dealer-

A riot occurred when the officers attempt to prevent the mob from taking her, and about twenty shots were fired on both sides. One of the rioters named Hickman was shot through the hand and two others were wounded, but were taken away by their friends.

Quarantine at Work Again. NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The passengers of the steamship Karamania, from Naples, have been put in quarantine at Swinburne Island, where they will be kept until it is safe to let them land. CHICAGO, Aug 7 .- With the object of averting another fine for contempt of court the World's fair directors admitted whoever went to the World's fair yesterday and paid admission. The total paid attendance was 16,066. No attempt was made to entice people to the park. 'Few of the buildings were open, no machinery running and there was no music. The Plaisance was the principal attraction.

SCENE IN GERMAN VILLAGE -PLAISANCE. Saturday the paid admissions climbed up to 104,291. The general opinion among lawgates can be shut under Judge Stein's in junction and decision in the contempt case and that the gates will be open to the end, unless the directors pay their fines, which alone would give them standing in court. The directors of the World's fair are considering the advisability of continuing several of the most attractive departments for another year. These departments, so a well defined rumor has it, are those of fine arts, fisheries and horticulture, with probably some others. Ever since the fair opened it has been suggested that steps be taken toward the continuance of the exposition for another year. It was argued that six months with its varying weather and other obstacles was too short a time to accommodate all who wanted to see the Wednesday will be Pythian day at the fair and an attractive programme has been arranged with a magnificent display of fireworks at night. Congresses of juris-prudence and law reform, civil service reform, suffrage in republic, kingdom and empire and the government of cities will occupy the Memorial Art institute this week. Prominent jurists of this country and foreign nations will make addresses, among them Judges Cooley, Grossenp and

Geo.ge Francis Train went to the fair Saturday on a tally-ho coach and was dired at the White Horse inn. There was no end of speeches, in which George took a prominent part. It turns out that ex-Swiss Commissioner

The objectionable features of the oriental dances on the plaisance are being weeded out. The famous Washington artillery, of New Orleans, has arrived to take part in the Louisiana festivities on Thursday. This morning the League of American

FIVE PEOPLE KILLED.

ND SEVERAL HURT IN OHIO BY RAILS SPREADING

Including Ryan, of the Chicago Base Ball Club-Kittridge Also Injured-A Big Four Train Takes a Sixty-Foot Plunge at Dauville, Ills., Causing One Denth. CLEVELAND, Aug. 7 .- Train No. 9 of the Lake Shore railroad left here for Chicago on time: The train was composed of three conches, three baggage cars and five sleepers. It left Fremont, O., ten minutes late and was running at a high rate of speed for Toledo. When the train was about ten miles out of Fremont at a small station called Lindsey the sleeping cars left the track and crashed into a freight train that was waiting on a siding for the passengers train to pass. The first part of the train got by in safety, but the sleeping cars rolled over the ties some distance. finally swerved from their course and hit the engine of the freight train with tremendous force.

Five Victims Dead or Will Die. Tht sleeping cars were practically re duced to kindling wood and that any one escaped is a miracle. The following persons were killed outright: E. Lafferty engineer of the fie ght train, Elyria, O. Charles Spaine, brakeman of the freight train, Clayville, N. Y.; -- Robertson, porter of the sleeping car "Buffalo." The following were seriously injured: Professor B. H. Emerson, of Amherst college. Gloucester, Mass., will die; — Pel-monn,porter of the sleeping car "Orinoco," will die, residence unknown; J. B. Hamilton, Pittsburg, Pa., injured internally; Bruno Kniffler, Cleveland, O., injured about the head; A. H. West, Chicago; - Stevens, porter, residence not known; James Ryan, center fielder of the Chicago base ball club, badly cut about the head and body; M. Kittredge, catcher Chicago base ball club, badly cut about the head

A Score Slightly Hurt. When the train crew and citizens of the little town began to remove the wreckage to release the injured and recover the dead their efforts were expedited by the groans that came from all parts of the debris. Many people were buried in the wreck and were not seriously injured. Their hurts consisted principally of bruises and scratches, and it was not a hard task to free them from the beams that held them o the earth. They were taken care of hy the town physicians and were ready to resume their journey by the time the train started on its way again to Toledo. Perhaps fifteen or twenty were more or less hurt in that way whose names were not given to the local authorities. Deeper in the wreck were the dead and more seriously hurt, and it was many hours before the former were recovered, it requiring a wrecking crew to do this. The Unlucky Base Ball Players. The injured fared better, but when Prof. Emerson and the porter, Pelmonn, were found it was evident that the physicians could not help them. Emerson's chest was fearfully crushed. The members of the Chicago Base Ball club were in the Cleveland sleeper, which was the last on the train, and to that fact they owe much of their immunity from more serious injury. As it was, Ryan, the center fielder of the club, and Kittredge, the best catcher, were cut badly and bled profusely. Other members of the team were bruise and cut, but not so us to interfere with the continuance of their journey.

Sprending Rails Once More.
A special train left Toledo soon after the report of the accident with the Lake Shore officials on board to make a thorough examination of the track and ascertain what caused the wreck. The only theory given is that the rails spread and let the heavy sleeping cars through to the ties. The remainder of the train passed the bad spot in safety, but the sleepers were well filled with people bound for the World's fair, and the added weight was too much for the poor spot in the track.

COSTS ONE HUMAN LIFE. And the Big Four Railway Over $100,000

DANVILLE, Ills., Aug. 7 .- A wreck that will cost the Big Four railroad over $100,-000 occurred here. In east bound freight train broke in two, and while it was being coupled together on the iron bridge over the North Fork river, another east bound freight train came arougd the sharp curve to the west of the bridge and a tremendous collision occurred. The shock knocked two spans of the bridge off the piers into the river, sixty-three feet below. Engine 582 and twenty-eight cars, composing the second train, and four cars of the first train, went down with the bridge. All of the crew of the first train succeeded in getting out of the way before the trains came together.

Engineer Daniel O'Connor, of the second train, jumped off his engine before the bridge was reached. He was unfortunate enough to land on a barbed wire fence and was severely scratched, but received no serious injuries. His fireman, Frank Flannegan, went down with the engine. In some miraculous way he Louis, capital of Mauritius, has been de- cleared the wreck and wa found wading around in the water in a nearly unconscious condition. He is not seriously hurt. Conductor Grow had his limbs crushed and has severe internal injuries. Head Brakeman Stone lies buried at the bottom of the wreck. A tramp bricklayer named Charles Jackson was badly hurt. He claims that several other tramps boarded the train at Urbana and were killed in the wreck: Died After a Mill in the Ring. DENVER, Aug. 7 .- The "Sailor Kid," whose correct name is differently given as Bobby Taylor and Lon Turner, who fought in a pugilistic encounter at the Ramblers club rooms, River Front Park, died the next afternoon. By order of the district attorney state warrants were promptly sworn out for all those concerned in the mill. "Kid" or William Robertson, colored, was the "Sailor Kid's" opponent.

Scaled the Penitentiary Walls. JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 5 .- Four convicts scaled the walls surrounding the penitentiary. The names of the men who escaped are: Frank Emison, Edward Burgess, James E. Hudson and William Tay-lor. The men were inmates of the hospital and took with them a stretcher used for transporting the sick.

Postal Clerks Want Relief. Sr. Paul, Ang. 5.—At the business s sion of the postal clerks Mr. Walker presented the relief bill. A resolution was passed placing the bill in the hands of H. K. Wheeler, of Illinois, to father it in congress, and a committee, composed of John son, Bullock, and Pitt, was appointed to confer with him upon the subject.

Prehistoric Trepanning. One can understand how that if a piece of skull had been regarded as in contact with a demon or spirit it would be respected as an amulet, and that so the rondelles removed from the heads of men who had been sub ject to epileptic fits would acquire a virtue in the eyes of the ignorant and superstitious and be employed as charms. And this seems to be both the simplest and most intelligible explanation of the phenomena of hole pierced heads and of the wearing of the portions removed from those heads by men and women who had not themselves been trepanned.-Popular Science Monthly.
