wherein I was not found a footfold. In Asia, the so-called "cradle of the human race," there are now about 800,000,000 people densely crowded over an average of about 120 to every square mile.

In Europe there are 320,000,000, averaging 100 to the square mile, not so crowded as Asia, but everywhere dense, and in many places overpopulated.

Java's Boiling Lake of Mud. One of the greatest natural wonders in Java, "the fire island," a large lake of boiling mud, is situated almost in the center of the plains of Grobogan, 50 "pans" to the north of Solo. It is about two miles in circumference, and in the center immense columns of soft, red mud may be seen continually rising and falling, like great black timbers thrust forth and then suddenly withdrawn by a giant's hands.

An Anecdote of Their First Appearance Together on the Stage. Personal anecdotes are always interesting. One is told by Mrs. General Lander of Washington, one of the most original and attractive women of the capital.

Formerly Mrs. Lander was an actress known as Jean Davenport, and once when playing "Camille" in California she was supported by Edwin Booth in the role of Armand. Booth had not reached the age of 21 at the time, and Mrs. Lander was some what annoyed that she was obliged to have so young a "leading man."

Booth had proved keen and bright, anxious to learn and to please the star actress. At rehearsal he said: "Miss Davenport, how shall I kneel in the death scene?" "Be sure to kneel before me, so that I can look down upon you," was the reply.

The story of the performance should be told in Mrs. Lander's own words. "The evening came. The opera house was packed. My boy, to the astonishment of all played with the very soul of genius. He fairly trembled with emotion. He forgot all my careful directions and acted his part with the self forgetfulness and abandon of an old actor whose intuitive knowledge is sufficient to him,

H. BINNS,

OPPOSITE HOTEL.

I came near forgetting myself in the admiration I felt for my lover—my boy lover. The death scene came, and Armand was missing. I looked behind me, and there, instead of kneeling at my feet with his head before me, he had bowed himself in anguish on the back of my low couch. There was no time to move, to speak or change a word in position. I simply turned so I could look at him. His stricken attitude was pitiful. Never had I seen grief so naturally portrayed. I was carried out of myself. I stretched my arms toward his bowed head, and the house rose with applause. He lifted his face to mine, and I moaned aloud from real pity and pain.—New York Sun.

"I hear you have been moving?" she said as she found herself in the same seat with an acquaintance on a Michigan avenue car.

"Yes. We are down on Twelfth street now."

"And do you like the new place?" "Quite well, but the family next door is just awful. There's about a million young uns, and the woman solds, and the man gets drunk, and my husband declares he'll have the whole lot arrested."

"It's too bad you get alongside of such people. What did you say your number was?" "No. —"

"Why, my sister lives at No. —, right beside you! You must have forgotten to her!" "Dear me, but—" "I don't understand!"

"Excuse me, but I have to get off here. Do come down and see me. We were never so pleasantly situated. It is one of the nicest neighborhoods in all Detroit, and I'm almost lonesome to hear a child crying."—Detroit Free Press.

Old Mike Shays was arrested and brought into the Sixth precinct station at midnight for the night for the fifteenth consecutive time in a fortnight.

"What is your name?" asked the sergeant, merely by way of formality.

But Mike was above the sphere of the commonplace, and drawing himself up proudly replied: "My name is Mervel. On the ramparts of hills my father feeds his flocks, a frugal swain!"

"What's that about swine?" inquired the sergeant sternly.

"Oh, he didn't mean anything personal," said the station keeper deprecatingly. "That's just Marc Antony's address to the Romans."—Washington Post.

"What causes the greatest number of fires in dwelling houses, according to your experience?" asked a person of an inquiring turn of mind of an insurance adjuster.

"Friction causes about as many as anything else," replied the insurance adjuster.

"Friction?" repeated the other.

"Yes, friction," returned the insurance adjuster. "But perhaps not what you're accustomed to call friction. What I mean is the result of rubbing a $1,000 policy on a $600 house."—Argonaut.

Gentlemen—See here! You are the boy who came whining around last night, saying you were stuck on some papers, and I bought them. Boy—Yes, sir. Much obliged. "But those papers were a week old."

"Yes, sir. That's why I was stuck on 'em."—Good News.

Never speak to a person who is running up a column of figures. It will be useless, for he cannot hear what you say. Nothing so deaf as an adder.—Boston Courier.

A new form of marriage ceremony is practiced by a Georgia justice of the peace. He concludes as follows: "By the authority vested in me as an officer of the state of Georgia, which is sometimes called the Empire State of the south; by the fields of heaven that surround us; in snowy whiteness around us; by the howl of the coon dog and the gourd vine, whose clinging tendrils will shade the entrance to your humble dwelling place; by the red

SPECIAL meetings at the Christian church will continue all of this week, and perhaps longer. The meetings are largely attended and increased in interest. Accessions thus far, five. Subject for next Sunday evening, "Baptism." Bring your Bibles.

REV. J. F. BARNES will hold quarterly meeting at the U. B. church, Olive Branch Circuit, 2 1/2 miles south of Galien, Saturday and Sunday. Preaching on Saturday at 1:30 p. m.; quarterly conference immediately after preaching. Preaching and communion on Sunday.

THE regular monthly meeting of the Buchanan S. S. Union will be held in the M. E. church, next Saturday afternoon and evening, Nov. 18.

SUBJECTS at the Presbyterian church next Sunday: Morning, "A lost son"; evening, "The Balm of Gilead."

REV. H. BARNEY, of New York, will preach this (Thursday) evening at the Methodist church.

THE United Brethren church in Eau Claire was dedicated to the worship of God on last Sunday, Nov. 12. Bishop N. Castle conducted the service in his usual happy manner. After an eloquent sermon the Bishop called for $500 to relieve the church from debt. The people responded most heartily, and very soon $554 was secured in cash and subscriptions, after which the church was formally given to God, and the key to the president of the board of trustees, Rev. Barnum and Rev. J. S. Miller were present to assist in the services. The church is well built and finished in the most modern style, with carpet, alcove and elegant stoves, and beautifully lighted with a Bailey reflector. Great credit is due Mr. T. Evans and others for the noble work done.

MR. WM. SWARTZ of this township and Miss Lizzie Fetterly, of Niles township, were married on Wednesday evening of last week, the pastor of the German church of Galien officiating. A large company was present, and the bride was the recipient of many useful presents.

THOSE who are bored by farce comedies and dramas may have a sigh of relief, for manager Rough has secured the great California Opera Co. for one night, Monday, Nov. 20. This company gives a superb rendition of that soul inspiring opera "Said Pasha." No railroad scenes, tanks or fire engines about, but rather pretty girls, ecstatic music and funny comedians.

THE indiscriminate exchange of lead-pencils among school pupils is condemned by the Minnesota Health Commissioners who say that putting the pencil in the mouth is a very common habit, and that diphtheria and other diseases are often transmitted in this way. The same danger exists in regard to pen-holders, etc.

UNDER-SHERIFF W. A. PALMER has issued postal cards offering $25 reward for the arrest of one Dr. Elisha A. Guy, who operated in the vicinity of Galien about a year ago selling a patent gate hinge. He obtained $250 of a widow in that village, to whom he was paying marked attention, and then skipped. Now she wants to see the rogue peeping through the bars of an iron cage.

A MOST pleasant company gathered last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Conrad, in this place, to witness the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alma, to Mr. Henry Schwartz. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Geo. Johnson, pastor of the Evangelical church. After congratulations had been offered and a feast partaken of by the party dispersed, the new family going directly to their home, on a farm on Portage prairie, where they will be at home to their friends hereafter. They were presented with a large collection of valuables as mementoes of good wishes. It was a very pleasant start in life.

IN removing gravel from the pit of the Power and Electric Co., on the Myler place, clam shells in perfect form were found twenty-five rods from the river and fifty or sixty feet above the water level, and buried about three feet under soil and gravel. They were about one-half inch in length and crumbled easily in handling. As clams are not noted as dry land climbers, the presence of these shells in that position carries with it a peculiar lesson. The changes in the surface at that point since the clams located have not taken place in a week. Stone fossils of other water inhabitants are found in abundance in the same bank, which show evidence of being several times as old as the clam shells.

FRANK WELLS resides on the Joel Gillette farm, three miles west of this city. His esteemed neighbor, Geo. A. Correll, owns a two-year-old boar that is vicious enough to chase after horses, and even men. That boar made havoc among Mr. Wells' horses, last Saturday, biting one so badly on the hock joint that only for Dr. T. A. Bunbury taking up the arteries the horse would have bled to death. The boar attacked another horse of Mr. Wells and scratched it badly. Sam Richie, Mr. Wells' hired man, took after the boar with a club, but was obliged to retreat and only saved himself by climbing on the topmost notch of a high fence. The boar was finally rescued and taken home.—Niles Star.

THE FUTURE SUNDAY

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE VICTORY FOR THE DAY AT THE FAIR.

Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., continues his New Series of Sermons on "The Prophecies of the World's Fair"—"Man Needs Ever More Hours For Rest."

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., continued in Association hall this morning the new series of sermons on "The Prophecies of the World's Fair." The subject of the discourse today he called "The Future of the American Sabbath," as indicated by the Sunday Opening Minutes.

THE QUESTION AT CHICAGO. Grave were the fears of the faithful that would be the outcome of a national struggle on this question at Chicago.

At this World's fair, for the first time since the republic was founded, the whole nation came together in one place with one purpose.

THE FACT IS, we have cause for congratulation after all, for in the end God has taught the nation with a new emphasis a great and solemn lesson.

THE DIRECTORS were, after all, fallible men, and in trying to increase their revenue at the expense of the national conscience by opening on Sunday they collided with the nation's honor.

AND BEFORE the gathering storm of a nation's indignation the managers retreated and closed their gates.

THEY TRAGEDY the sense of honor and decency of the nation.

THEY TRAGEDY the sense of honor and decency of the nation.

THEY TRAGEDY the sense of honor and decency of the nation.

emphasized the truth of the Christian Sabbath—namely, that one day's rest in seven is not the invention of priestcraft, but is the primal ordinance of humanity.

First, we say they have reaffirmed the true basis of the Sabbath an ordinance of God, the gift of God to the people.

What any nation of the old world has found a fitting rest for the human body is a double necessity to the people of America.

Every attempt to break down the rest of the Sabbath in the name of the American workman is a subterfuge and a lie.

subject their rest to the Sabbath. "We do not keep the Sabbath day because we are commanded in so many words to keep a specific day."

WHY WE KEEP THE SABBATH. We keep the Sabbath day because it is our privilege—a God-given and Christ-given—of resting one day in seven.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance.

Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children.

Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will have the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones.
