SLUMBER SONG.

"Sleep into my arms, my baby dear, And mother will sing to you, soft and low, A little song you'll play to her, And over the hills that seem so high."

And over the hills that seem so high, The moon is the mother sheep, my dear, The stars are her little lambs, and they follow her, follow her, there and here, In the wide sky meadow, they lead and play."

And over the hills that seem so high, Rock-a-bye, baby, and go to sleep, The little star lambs will sleep grow And all lie down with the moon to sleep Till the sun goes down, bright, and so goes to sleep."

The moon and her little white lambs go by, Go to sleep, Watch over her lamb, like the old moon sheep, Like the youth's companion."

A LUCKY "SPEC."

A black horse was working its wicked will in the harbor of Alexander, the capital town of one of our colonies, as we steamed into it on board the Oneco on the 27th of February, 1874.

"I am glad to see you, sir," said the professor, and here for a minute or two I was fairly enraptured.

"Yes, I represented the Post and was there on his show."

"I thought it would give you a specimen of what I can do, and if you'd like it I am quite prepared to go through the whole entertainment."

"I explained that there was no occasion for my going, but without seeing at all—perhaps better."

THE CURIOUS LEMMING.

A Remarkable Animal Found in the Highlands of Norway and Sweden.

Very nearly related to the field mice are the lemmings, which are rather wary among the mountains of animals.

They are about five inches long, with very short tails. Dwelling in the highlands of the great central mountain chain of Norway and Sweden, they build their nests of raw lined with hair under stones and tussocks of grass.

They are very pugnacious. When disturbed, instead of trying to escape, they sit upright, hissing and showing fight. Certain cultivated districts of Sweden and Norway, where these creatures are ordinarily unknown, are occasionally at intervals of from 5 to 25 years, overrun by armies of them, which steadily and slowly advance, always in the same direction, regardless of all obstacles, swimming across streams and even lakes several miles in breadth and committing great devastation. In turn they are pursued and harassed by crowds of beasts and birds of prey, such as bears, wolves, foxes, wildcats, weasels, eagles, hawks and owls. Even domestic animals—cattle, goats and reindeer—join in the hunt.

None of these migrant lemmings ever returns by the course from which it came. The onward march of the survivors never ceases until they reach the sea, into which they plunge, and swimming onward in the same direction as before perish in the waves.

As a matter of fact, the lemmings which perish in the sea are eating the same kind of food as those which previously to cross smaller pieces of water in safety. No survivors of the migrating hordes ever live to transmit their final and fatal experience to subsequent generations, and so this gigantic mistake is periodically repeated.

Abnormal increase of number and consequent necessity for food bring about the migration from the highlands to the lowlands, winding up in the ocean. The animals only travel at night and the snow melts and water is plentiful. Exhaustion of the food supply compels them to proceed. "Naturally" they would not turn back on their tracks, the region behind being eaten clean.

These journeys they multiply rapidly and even more rapidly than at home. Such a migration lasts from one to three years.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

On Business Principles. Years ago a young man named Clark Vallette of the Coates House spent his midsummer vacation in a little town that is situated in the most obscure part of Kansas and boasts of a population of 125 lone hole citizens.

The day after he had returned he telegraphed the Kansas editor that there was a personal and an invitation to subscribe to his paper. Vallette paid $1 for a year's subscription and thought no more about it.

As the month would say, the weeks deepened into months and the months into years. Every month brought a fresh copy of the Kansas paper. Vallette seldom saw it and never read it. He never renewed his subscription and even forgot the editor's name.

The other day the collector of a local bank called at the Coates House and informed the astonished clerk that he had come to collect a draft for $16.

The clerk called to pay the draft and telegraphed the Kansas editor that there must have been some mistake, as he owed him absolutely nothing.

Yesterday Vallette received a marked copy of the Kansas paper, which contained the account of his subscription and eloquent editorial leader: "The meekest man on earth is the man who receives and reads his weekly paper for a number of years and then refuses to pay for his year's subscription."

ENGINEER MENSON has arranged two oil burners to use under the water works boilers in case of fire. About 300 gallons of oil are kept on hand for that purpose to do service on short notice. The fires for the regular pumping are kept up with sawdust which costs nothing but shoveling it into the furnaces. So long as the arrangement can be continued the fuel expense of operating the plant will be very light.

IF there were no other argument against the removal of the County Seat, the very condition of affairs financially should be sufficient one, with everybody struggling to his utmost to get a bare living, with no idea of saving a competence. Everything is in the worst possible condition for taking on additional taxes, and property owners who will have the bills to pay should be very cautious about the move they make at this time. Fifty cent wheat and laborers out of employment will not go far toward building expensive court houses.

JIM CLARKE and "Doc" Ballengee, of St. Joseph, were here Saturday looking after the county seat question. They didn't find the greatest consolation in that line. It is currently rumored that their share of the St. Joseph campaign fund had about played out when they reached this part of the trip, and Niles must be reached in some way. They had returned Big 4 tickets. The walking between here and Niles has not been very good for a few weeks.

Fred Gray, Fred Hall and Harry Perrot were charged with violating the game law by drawing a seine in the St. Joseph river and not properly securing the land line to a post on the shore, as required by law, but by dragging the seine in the usual way. The case was adjourned one week. If the regulations of the law were strictly followed regarding seining there would be very little fish caught in the river. That way would be all well enough in a lake where there was no current, but in a St. Joseph river current it would be a very unsatisfactory business.

W. G. BLISH had a bit of experience yesterday. He visited the Buchanan electric light works, and on coming away found that his knife, steel rule and eye-glass frame were all strongly magnetized, and a customer's watch he had forgotten to remove from his pocket refused to go any more. Frank Matford's watch also managed to get twenty minutes behind.—Niles Recorder, Monday.

Church Notices.

MISS MESSIE GEORGE will give the people of Buchanan an eloquent entertainment, on the evening of March 28, at the Evangelical church. A full program will appear next week.

"The church of the 20th century," will be the theme at the Methodist church, Sunday morning. Evangelist—"The great revival in Great Britain and Ireland in 1789 and '40."

THE United Brethren have changed the hour of their Sunday school from 9:15 to 12 o'clock.

THE Evangelical church was reopened to the public last Sunday, large audiences attending each service.

IN the United Brethren church Sunday: Morning subject—"The Divinity of Christ"; in the evening, "Christian benevolence. How? Why?"

THE new carpet for the Evangelical church arrived today, and everything will be in place by next Sunday.

THE S. S. Institute, held in the Presbyterian church Saturday afternoon and evening, was a decided success. The normal work, from 2 to 4 p. m., was full of interest. The teacher, Rev. Q. J. Roberts, is a practical instructor. No one can afford to miss the lessons. The class now numbers seventy-five, an increase of twenty-five in the last two weeks. We must push the list to one hundred in this month. This is the largest Bible normal class in the state. The evening service has proven quite popular and very interesting. The usual song services opening, followed by recitations by a representative from each Sunday school. These recitations were excellent.

MR. WM. OSBORN is not discouraged at the prospect of the democrat party in this place, and tells of being a democrat when the party had to "re-represent" its stock in order secure proper representation in the county conventions. He and Capt. Geo. H. Richards and Daniel Terriere would meet at caucus appoint themselves delegates and instruct the chairman to cast the full vote of the delegation which was several more than the whole number of democrats in this township. One who can carry the standard of his party under such circumstances can probably stand a full term of Clevelandism and not get discouraged, however gloomy it may appear.
