BUCHANAN RECORD.

BUCHANAN, BERRIEN COUNTY, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, APRIL 26, 1894. NUMBER 14.

Do You Use Salt?

It will pay you in numerous ways to use the salt that's all salt. This is especially true as to the butter maker. You recognize the difference in butter. You can point you out a difference in taste. You strive for the best milk, why not search for the best salt? Test, compare, ask questions. Investigate what Diamond Crystal Dairy Salt has done for others. There's no secret about it. Write and get particulars. We grant that salt is cheap, but we tell that a good reason why you should not have the best? Look fairly and fairly into the salt question, and you will find that to better flavored butter, and better prices through our Dairy Salt. Independent of cooking and table use also. Write us about it. DIAMOND CRYSTAL SALT CO., St. Clair, Mich.

THE FIRST SNOWDROPS.

As Eve sat mourning all the happy past, Her tears down dropping fast, Her eyes were dimmed with still her pain, And after sweet discourse, Now she took heart again, Now, since the fall in Eden grew no flower, But thicker hour by hour, Fast fall the snow, as though to form a pall For earth's untimely end.

WHEAT AS FOOD FOR STOCK.

A Growing Conviction That Live Stock Returns the Biggest Profits From Its Use. For the past year farmers in almost every western state and as far east as Ohio have been feeding wheat in a way that has produced a better market for the wheat than do the elevators at the country stations or the mills at the nearest towns, to say nothing of the great markets. Then, too, the conviction is growing in the minds of many farmers in the west and a few in the east that it will pay to grow wheat for stock food. A great many farmers now take but little interest in the daily market quotations for wheat. They realize that their pigs, calves, lambs and even their old sheep will give them better prices than the consuming world offers, and while they are not clear as to whether it will pay to grow wheat for a stock feed, they are particularly anxious to get paid for it at present prices better than to sell it. The Iowa Homestead says: Should this conviction become general, as we believe it will in time, it will have the effect in a few years of taking the entire surplus of America from the market of the world except at a price from 10 to 20 cents per bushel higher than it is at present. When a half dozen brood sows, well bred and well cared for, will furnish me a better market for my wheat than the miller or the local buyer," he is likely to feel very careless about the wheat market at the railroad station. In illustration are cited extracts from a paper read at a swine breeders' institute at Dayton, O., on the profits of feeding wheat to pigs. It is a fact, which an Ohio pig raiser told me, that in 1883 he tested the feeding of whole wheat and corn to hogs and ascertained that the wheat fed to pork, which was sold at 2 cents per bushel, was worth 10 cents more than the corn for the wheat and 5 cents for the corn. At no time since would that wheat have brought him more than 63 cents for the corn more than 60 cents. As to methods of feeding, he regarded wheat that steamed and then fed dry, and especially adapted for brood sows that were suckling and for pigs after they were weaned. At the same time he regarded wheat fed dry in wide lots, though from a distance. Another Ohio breeder states that he has fed wheat for the last four years in an experimental way, that one experiment netted him 32 cents per bushel, and another 78 cents per bushel, and $4.50 and $4.35 respectively. As a horse food he regards 6 cents' worth of wheat equal to 10 cents' worth of corn. It is scarcely necessary, however, says the writer, to state that the profit of feeding wheat depends largely upon the class of stock to which it is fed and on the ration of which it makes a prominent part. It should not be fed to hogs during the finishing period except that the heavy weight hogs in the same lot. It can be fed most profitably to young and growing stock, especially pigs and lambs, and as a part of the ration of sheep when finished for the market. As many pig raisers employ a lot of hogs fed to lean or in other words, bacon hogs. We have called attention to the fact heretofore that wheat fed hogs during this winter have commanded a premium over corn fed hogs in the same market, and that if otherwise of good quality they have almost invariably topped the market.

With this number I close my work and connection with the Record and with journalism, after a continuous service of nineteen years which have been in many ways pleasant, and in some ways unpleasant.

In 1858 J. M. Patton moved a printing office from New Buffalo to Buchanan and started the Buchanan Indicator, the first paper published in the village. After four years he absorbed the Independent, then owned by Alonzo Bennett, and sold the plant to Lloyd & Turner, who changed the name to Buchanan Weekly Union, and continued its management until 1867, when they sold to Daniel A. Wagner, and the next name was Berrien County Record. Mr. Wagner continued alone until 1870, when he sold a one-half interest to W. D. Kingery, who was at that time practicing law here. In May, 1874, Mr. Wagner sold his remaining interest to Willard Marble, who owned it one week before trading it to Ashbury Lindley for a farm. On January 25, 1878, the writer bought Mr. Lindley's half, Mr. Kingery holding his interest until the time of his death, August 18, 1875, and the month following both interests came once more to one ownership, and have thus far remained so. During 1887 the name was changed to Buchanan Record, which held the paper now bears. That the venture has been in a measure successful is shown by the fact that in the second year of my ownership the entire output of job work amounted to but $500; that department has been built up to a business of $1000 per month.

On May 7, 1874, an entire change was made in the business, all accounts being new. On May 1, 1894, twenty years later, lacking six days, the same will occur. All accounts for advertising and job printing, and all amounts due on subscription to May 1, 1894, belong to me. Those who have paid their subscriptions in advance will be furnished the paper under the new management for the time paid for.

Mr. D. H. Bower, the new proprietor, is a gentleman of good business ability and large newspaper experience, having been engaged in the business in one capacity or another all of his life, and the readers of the Record may expect a better service than heretofore. I commend him to your friendship and solicit for him your patronage.

South and North.

A Brave Southern Answer to Abe Hewitt.

"Now that Abe Hewitt has raised this question about southern politicians having brains, I have to say that I want to tell the truth about this thing with no Eli Perkins imagination. The fact is, we Southerners have always had brains enough to control this government. Think of it—our Congressmen actually make a tariff for New England. We control Congress. We are the nation today, and these mudsill Yankees are sitting down in the hall."

"Why, do you know that little brainy South Carolina, with 462,000 people has seven congressmen, while Massachusetts, with 2,215,000 people, has only 12?"

"She's got 844,000 people and seven congressmen, while Pennsylvania, with 3,148,000 people, has only 28. In one district in Georgia 20,000 southern people for 2,500 white voters, make a congressman. But you've got representation according to your brains—small brains, small representation."

"But do the negroes vote?" asked a northern congressman.

"I should say not, and they never will. Your Yankee idiots made them citizens—made them voters—but do you think we brainy southerners will ever count their votes? I should say not. You Yankees in Kentucky, Tennessee and the border states, but they will never vote in South Carolina, Mississippi or Louisiana, where they are in the majority. It wouldn't do."

"Then the 20 congressmen representing Louisiana, South Carolina and Mississippi are fraudulent?"

"No, sir, it's southern brains. We know how to manage."

"Why, he got 45,000, and $6,000 in Mississippi, and $8,000 in Louisiana, but they made him President, and they're running the Yankee government."

"What would you old rebs do if we Yankees should elect a President fraudulently in three northern states as you did in the south?"

"What! You disfranchise a Democrat! You Yankees haven't nerve enough to do it. You haven't brains enough to stand by your own disfranchisement in the south. If you should put in a President fraudulently, we'd paint FRANK on his brow, as Dana painted it on Hayes', who was really the last President honestly elected in the nigger states. But you Yankees are afraid to do it. We old rebs would have some respect for you if you had nerve enough to write Frank on Cleveland. But you are afraid to do it. That's why the brainy men of the south run this government, and you can carry the news to old Abe Hewitt."

Ruled Out.

The difficulty of driving a spike team, two horses at the pole and one in the lead, is recognized by all horsemen and is finely illustrated by your administration.

The Cleveland turnout, which paraded on election day in 1892 with such eclat, was the worst kind of a "spike" to manage. The two wheelers, the Tammany and Tammany, had worked together before, sometimes in the past, but more frequently tandem. The trouble with them as a first was that instead of pulling evenly, one was and the other was trying to get ahead, thus keeping up a jerky saw saw progress, which although sometimes effective in drawing heavy loads over very rough and miry roads always kept the driver in a twitter from fear one of the other might break the break and fly the track. Because of this the driver was always liable to a fit of nervous prostration before his job was over, and however bravely he might start to get up to come out "just worth a frazzle."

You may remember that since the two were first hitched together, in 1893, sixty-six years ago, only one driver, except yourself, has ever been able to make two trips with the beasts. In 1892 you were given the strings, with the South and Tammany at the wheel, and Free Trade, a filly by Mug-wump out of Slavery, and Populist, a rascal by Socialist, who thought him likely to go wild. He proved a stout fellow, however, and he and the old black mare, dressed in Free Trade, who was found to be weak in the joints, along at a great rate.

The Republican nags, Protection and Grandfather's Hat, were in bad condition, having been worked for all they were worth in a race against me in 1890. They were not in it after the start, and it looked as if you were going to win with the whip in the socket in the best time on record. But before the second heat was over Populist broke on Free Silver. You lost your temper and began to use the whiplash. Then Tammany balked on the inside turn and kicked Free Trade, leaving her to hobble on three legs. The owner of Tammany threatened to take his horse out of the traces. Tillman, Donnelly & Co, the owners of Populist, threaten to run an all-time race, and it looks as if you would have to make the other heats with The South and Free Trade, unless you hitch Bond Issue and Deficit in the lead and try to make them snaffle the crippled filly through.

Taking any view of the chances they are not bright. The South never has gone straight except with Tammany, and Free Trade never was a nag to bet on. The chances are she never would have made a record if Populist had not pulled her through. Despite the colt's bad pedigree, he has lots of bone and muscle and a most incredible wind. The chances are she never would have made a record if Populist had not pulled her through. Despite the colt's bad pedigree, he has lots of bone and muscle and a most incredible wind. The chances are she never would have made a record if Populist had not pulled her through. Despite the colt's bad pedigree, he has lots of bone and muscle and a most incredible wind.

On the 15th of April a pleasant party might have been seen on the old Sixth Sherwood farm (now occupied by Mr. John Sears) one mile north of Moccasin Bluff, assembling themselves to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the arrival of Mr. Seth Sherwood and family as some of the early pioneers of Buchanan township. They came all the way from Huron county, Ohio, with an ox team and wagon, nearly all the way a howling wilderness, arriving in Cass county in February, 1834. The family consisted of Mr. Sherwood, his wife and three sons. Stopping in Buchanan county one year, they came on to Buchanan, which was then called McCoy's Creek, and settled on the old Sherwood farm, where eight children came to bless their home, of whom but two survive their parents, whose remains are resting in peace in the cemetery on the old homestead. Of the two sons who are still living, one lives in Nebraska, Mr. Alonzo Sherwood; he claims to be the oldest one living of those who settled in Buchanan at that early date. The other son lives in Sodus, and is the one who came April 15 to the old homestead to celebrate with his children on the spot, as near as he could remember it, where his father set some wooden forks and poles against some trees for a rude temporary place to live or stay in, cooking their food by a burning log heap, until they could build a log cabin. There was not a white family within three miles in one direction, and between his house and Buchanan was located an Indian village of 200 or 300 Indians, presided over by a chief named Moccasin Bluff. Mr. John Sears received the unexpected company cordially and expressed the wish that he would like to have known of their coming sooner. One of the party, Mr. John Sparks of Berrien Springs, was born on the farm adjoining Mr. Sherwood's, which was owned by his father in pioneer days. Among others of the company were Mr. Fred R. Gray and wife, Charles Gray and wife, sons of old settlers. The day was as pleasant as could be wished for, and all enjoyed the occasion.

Michigan DEPARTMENT OF STATE Lansing, April 20, 1894. The State census is to be taken in June of this year. The law seems to be very explicit, but as it is not in the hands of every one, there is much inquiry as to its provisions. The inquiries relate mainly to the appointment of enumerators, and are all answered by the first section of the census law, which is act 178 of 1893. It provides:

1st. That enumerators and assistants shall be appointed after the annual township meeting, and on or before the first Monday in May.

2d. That they are to be appointed by township boards in townships and common councils in cities.

3d. That if not appointed before the first Monday in May, the appointment is to be made by the Governor. And

4th. That enumerators are to be appointed for each assessment district. It is clear from the above.

1st. That appointments made before the annual township meeting are illegal.

2d. Appointments by any other than township boards in townships and common councils in cities are illegal.

3d. Appointments after the first Monday in May can be made by the Governor only. Enumerators and assistants are to be appointed before the first Monday in May. In case a sufficient number of assistants are not appointed before that date, the additional number required must be appointed by the Governor.

4th. Enumerators and assistants are to be appointed for each assessment district. If a township, a city, or a ward is divided into more than one assessment district, there will be one chief enumerator and one assistant, and a number of assistants as may be necessary to complete the census within the time prescribed by the law. Neither an incorporator, nor an unincorporate village, can have an enumerator unless it constitutes a distinct and entire assessment district. In other words, where the township forms one assessment district, there will be one chief enumerator for the entire township, including the villages within such township. An assistant may be appointed to take the census of the village or ward, but a supervisory assistant of the chief enumerator, or the chief enumerator may take the census of the village, and the assistant the census of the city.

The division of territory in townships and wards made by the township board, and in cities by the common council, but in case it is not so made, then it is the duty of the chief enumerator to make such assignment of territory.

WASHINGTON GARDNER, Secretary of State.

FROM BERRIEN CENTRE.

April 25, 1894.

Mr. Joseph A. Becker is on the sick list. Dr. J. W. Gunn is in attendance. John H. Fisher is also reported sick.

Billy Willis was very low for several weeks still lingers. Mr. Willis is now in his 83d year.

William B. Howard, of Niles City, is visiting his Berrien Centre relatives and friends.

Our farmers are very busy sowing oats, planting early potatoes and plowing corn ground.

Mr. James Hoyt has vacated his village home and moved onto a farm near Niles.

POEM.

Upon an evening bright and fair, The senior class was on a "year," The humble sergeant, he was there, So were Brewer, Bronson, Thayer.

This famous class of '94, With hearts so high and feet so sure, Came tramping up to Platt's door, Where they had never met before.

Straight to business then they went, With their fertile minds and tongues, Much they missed their "quorum" went, And their worthy "quorum" went.

Kelsey, Slocom, both were out; Doug, but he was not a doubt, To a place much more devout.

Next the business at an end, Next an hour they did spend, And their voices they did blend, To a place much more devout.

Jennie, Mae and Harry too, Charmed with tales both old and new; "Old Madrid" and "Waterloo," "Gates" Ajax," the encore too.

Light, and Row, and Dambolton, Always ready to oblige, To make a rhyme they then began, And to the rescue all did run.

Thus it went, the rhyme of glee, No, no, critics, do not sneer, A monument for all to see, Now and for evermore.

Ball's "rah! rah!" and "rah! rah!" Buchanan High School '94!!!!!! New York.

Ernest Sprague has a lamb which has head and ears like a pug dog. His legs are short and large like those of a dog, but he has two like a lamb. He is spotted all over and looks as much like a dog as he does a lamb.—Vermonth Echo.

When a white man shoots at a Mayor or is suspected of doing so, he is not arrested, he is expelled from the city. A bond of $7,000—but when a "coon" actually shoots and wounds a harmless old soldier, $1,000 bonds is all he must give as guarantee of appearing to answer to his man's grand assault. (Quest done by Benton Harbor chosen men.)—Golumbia Courier.

A Cool Physician.

Dr. Schwabinger, the trusted physician of Frank Bismarck, is a doctor who is respected by the rank of his patients. His specialty is obesity, which he treats with such success that his patients flock to Berlin from all parts of Europe. The chancellor tried mineral springs and other remedies to reduce his flesh, and having found them useless sent for Dr. Schwabinger, a young man of 34. The doctor, indifferent to his patient's rank and prestige, coolly put him through an exhaustive professional examination.

Bismarck is fond of asking questions, but does not like to answer them. He became impatient, then irritable, and finally declared he would not answer another question. "Very well," calmly replied the cool physician, "but if you do not want to be questioned you had better send for a veterinarian to take the place of the young doctor caused the chancellor to remain dumb for a moment; then he grimly said, 'If you are as skillful as you are impertinent, young man, you must be a great physician.'"—London Million.

Lines of the Hand Change.

Walter Besant, in the "Voice of the Flying Day," says: "From the number of the Palmist and Chronological Review before me I learn two or three things of interest. The first is that the lines of the hand alter. I had always thought them unchangeable as the fate which they represent. No; it seems that they alter from time to time. In one hand 'the line which first seen four years ago was not broken three times, twice closed, and some time afterwards formed an island.' Should not the consideration that lines alter lead us to hope that fate may change her mind and give us unexpected good things?"

They Gave In.

At an assizes in the south of England the jury could not agree and were locked up. After a long discussion a division was taken. Ten were found to be for conviction and two for acquittal. Another long debate followed, and eventually a big, burly farmer, who was leading the majority, went over to the dissentive individual, who, with a companion, formed the minority, and assuming his most aggressive attitude said, "Now, then, are you two going to give in?" "No!" defiantly replied the small man. "Very well," was the answer, "then us 10 will!" And they did.—Essex (England) Standard.

Japan's Multitude of Gods.

Shintoism is the old, vague, Japanese religion—a pretty, childish folklore, which was long overshadowed by Buddhism. At the time of the revolution of 1868 it came to its own again and is now widespread throughout the empire. "Shinto" means "the way of the gods," and those gods are unnumberable. The worshiper chooses those he will suit his purpose from among them and leaves the others, as far as he is concerned, almost neglected. Its sects do not worship an identical god in different ways, but rather adore different gods in an identical fashion. Some practice possession—that is, they call down the divinity by throwing one another into trances, in which the god is supposed to visit the body of the person possessed. Others have the custody of the great shrine, yearly visited by hundreds of thousands of pilgrims.—Percival Lowell.

The One Real and One a Phantom.

The young man in the dress suit had intended a festive social gathering in the Auditorium building and was slowly wending his way home ward.

"Officer," he said, addressing a policeman at a street corner, "we where c'n I get a cab?"

"If you will go to two blocks west and one block south," replied the officer, "I will find you a cab. I'll first one. The other one won't be there."—Chicago Tribune.

Gabby's Sarcasm.

Upon one occasion two ladies paid a caddy a shilling for the distance they had ridden with one fourpenny bit, two threepenny pieces, one penny and two halfpence. When they looked at the coins, he smiled drolly and asked:

"Well, how long will it take you to have been saving up for this little treat?"—London Judy.

He Unearthed a Law suit.

The inquisitiveness of a boy in Allentown, Pa., one day resulted in the finding of $900 and will cause a lawsuit. The personal estate of Silas Camp, a rich old bachelor, who died a month ago, was sold at auction. Among the goods disposed of was an old safe, which was knocked over by the auctioneer, and been used by Camp, but after his death it was opened by his relatives, and everything of value was taken out, as they supposed. Before the purchasers had an opportunity to take it away, however, a small boy, Chas. E. Johnson, happened and opened the door. While examining the interior he pulled out a private drawer, and out rolled a pile of goldpieces. When counted, they were found to amount to nearly $900. The money was taken in charge by a brother under the protests of the new owners, who say they will bring suit for the gold.—Allentown (Pa.) Enquirer.

CHARLES STRAUP while plowing on his farm in section 32, in this township, unearthed a lump of pure copper about the size of a hen's egg. Probably deposited there during the glacial period.

WILL U. MARTIN, the piano tuner, has fitted music to a song called "Coxey's March to Washington", which is expected to create a great craze. If the music be as crazy as Coxey's undertaking it will certainly do it.

THE Ladies' Aid Society of the Evangelical church will serve a chicken supper to the public, in the Sanders' building, on Front street, Saturday afternoon, from 5:00 to 8:00. At 8 o'clock a beautiful autograph quilt will be sold to the highest bidder.

THANKS.—We wish to make public expression of our thanks to the neighbors and friends for the many kind services at the death and burial of our mother, Mrs. Ellen Boye.

THE chart will be used at the Christian church on next Sunday, both morning and evening, to illustrate Roman Catholicism and Sectarianism. The reformation beginning with Martin Luther will be shown fully. The Pope of Rome, Martin Luther, Henry Maud, John Wesley, at 10:30 a. m., and John Calvin, Roger Williams and Alex. Campbell, at 7:30 p. m.

We admire the manhood which prevents a young man from accompanying his girl to an entertainment, but causes him to hang about the front door and about the windows of a private dwelling waiting for her to appear, to be escorted home. It is so nice to see three or four young men hanging about a house two or three hours on such occasions, as occurred in this place Tuesday evening.

TO DELINQUENTS.—I have published the RECORD nineteen years without publishing a dun for delinquent subscriptions. The business now passes into other hands, starting new accounts on my profits and I want them as soon and with as little cost of collection as possible. If you are owing me, you know it and should not wait for the next invitation. Pay up early if you want to keep me good natured. If you do not have the money I want your note.

DEGREE OF HONOR.—Mrs. M. C. Dodge, of Jackson, Grand Chief of Honor, was in this place and instituted a lodge of the Degree of Honor, an auxiliary to the Ancient Order of United Workmen, last evening. The new lodge starts out with twenty-six charter members. It will be known as Dodge Degree of Honor No. 40.

JAMES ALMON, of Niles, was driving past W. H. Chubb's, one week ago last Sunday evening, and found a load of straw standing on a wagon by the roadside, when an idea struck him, and he threw a lighted match into the straw. It made a fine bonfire but when he came before Esquire Gardner and found the bill to be $97.50 the romance of the thing all vanished.

MARRIED, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Feather of Oronoko township, at high noon, April 25, Mr. Fred E. French to Miss Adaline A. Feather, by Rev. O. J. Roberts. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a company of over a hundred invited friends; the presents were many and valuable; the feast of good things was all that any one could desire. In a few weeks Mr. and Mrs. F. E. French will be at home to their many friends at the old homestead, in Bertrand township.

FOLLOWING is a list of teachers in Buchanan schools for next year:

4th, Miss Emma Grover;
5th, Not supplied;
6th, Miss Anna Treat;
7th, Mrs. Nellie Fast;
8th, Miss Alma Fisher;
9th, Miss Sara L. Farmer;
Preceptress, Mrs. Anna Irving;
Superintendent, A. J. Swain.
Miss Farmer is the daughter of Hon. Wm. Smythe Farmer, of Benton Harbor, and a graduate of Michigan State Normal School.

LAST Saturday evening there was a dance at John Springsteen's, near Gallien. Henry and Wm. Klanser, Pete Rittenhouse and Willis Fox attended and tried to clean out the ranch in true Gallien style. On Monday Under Sheriff Palmer went after them with a charge of riot, and brought all but Henry Klanser before Justice Gardner, where they gave $200 bail each to appear May 3 for trial. Klanser took a trip for his health.

It is becoming quite a fad to dispose of property of slow sale by the lottery plan, in this place. Those who have been interesting themselves in this kind of sales have evidently not read Section 931 of Howell's Annotated Statutes, or they would let it alone. The penalty for having anything to do with such things, either as a ticket seller or in any other way, is a fine not to exceed $2,000, or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed one year.

TUESDAY Sol. Ulery was walking along Front street when A. Jordan's dog came near him and he knocked the dog down with a cane. He was arrested and taken before Esquire Gardner, who charged him $1 fine and costs, $4.55. Mr. Ulery put on a long face and plead all kinds of poverty, and so worked upon the feelings of the Justice that he reduced the bill to $1.50, which Mr. Ulery paid. The price was cheap, considering the amount of valuable education received.

LAST week one of Ed. Brant's farms, in Watervillet township, was sold at public auction and bid in by the county treasurer to satisfy the bond of Robb, the Benton Harbor tough, who was arrested for attempting to murder Ex-Mayor Hobbs. Until the attempt to secure a release from the bond failed, no attempt was made to find him. It is now announced that he has been found serving a three years term in a California state prison, for robbing a stage and that it will be about eighteen months before he can spare time to attend to matters in Berrien county. W. F. Sesses, of St. Joseph, visited the penitentiary and identified Robb as the genuine Benton Harbor article, although he was sailing under a different name.

THE Board of Supervisors met Tuesday to canvass the vote on county seat removal election. They elected Geo. F. Stewart, of Bainbridge, chairman, and proceeded to do business. The first move was to vote down a resolution introduced by Mr. Peck, of Niles, to investigate the frauds in the election, and then a vote of 14 to 12 to confirm the election vote as shown by the returns, in favor of removal. Since the Board of Supervisors is supposed to be a sort of court of last appeal in such cases, this is supposed to quiet title in favor of St. Joseph. The next move on the checker board will be for the Board to put a vote for money to buy land to put the county buildings on and for the erection of the buildings, and next to pay the bills. This will be the most interesting part of the program, and the audience is requested to remain until that part is reached.

IN Memoriam.
JEANNETTE MOWREY was born in Frederick county, Virginia, March 20, 1814, and gently fell asleep in Christ in Buchanan, Mich., April 18, 1894, being at the time of her death 80 years and 28 days old. When about 19 years old she was married to John W. Hewitt, who passed away July 22, 1883. In 1885 she came with her husband to Buchanan, Mich., and here they made their home during the balance of their lives. Mrs. Hewitt leaves seven children, five sons and two daughters to mourn her departure, one daughter having preceded her to the grave. Four brothers and two sisters are also still among the living. In her youth she became a member of the Methodist church, and soon after coming to Buchanan she united with the Christian church, of which she was an honored member till her death. Her loving disposition won the respect of all who knew her. She was a kind and generous neighbor, a loving wife and mother, and a sincere and faithful Christian. The funeral services, conducted by Elder Wm. M. Roe, assisted by Elder C. H. Brown, were held at the Christian church April 21, and afterwards her body was gently placed in the grave to await the glorious morn of the resurrection. W. M. R.

A BLACK horse was stolen, about ten miles south of South Bend, last week. The thief stole a rig at another place and drove to Benton Harbor. From there he went to Eau Claire where he sold the outfit for $105 in gold, and took the Big 4 train for a trip for his health. He was captured Monday, about eight miles east of South Bend, and nearly all of the money recovered.

The great possibilities for a man of pluck and energy in this country are well illustrated by the career of a man named Eason who in 1863 worked in the Gallien woods by the day cutting cordwood. He afterwards became a barber and worked in Chicago, saving his earnings until he became proprietor of the shop he worked in. Later he fitted up the Palmer House barber shop and made it famous by the elegance of its furnishing and laying silver dollars as corner pieces in the marble floor. He is now owner and manager of the Great Northern hotel, on Dearborn street, which is one of the most elegant moderate-priced hotels in Chicago. The building is fourteen stories high, and the one item of marble used in its construction cost $128,000 before being put in. The daily expenses of the hotel amount to $15,000 and the single item of incandescent lights amounts to $3000 per month. Mr. Eason takes personal charge of the affairs of the house. One dollar pays for a good room and bed, but if you want to pay more, he stands ready to accommodate in proportion.

The water works stand pipe was equipped this morning and a large valve is being put in so that the engineer can shut off the supply from the stand pipe by means of electricity from the power station. THE quarterly S. S. convention met in the A. C. church on Saturday last. The normal lesson in the books of the New Testament was very well sustained in interest and profit. State Secretary Reynolds gave helpful answers to teacher's questions, and an instructive address in the evening on Normal work. On Sabbath afternoon Mr. Runner conducted a Bible reading, and Prof. Swain gave a very helpful address on Education, full of good practical points. On Sabbath evening two large meetings were held, one in the A. C. church addressed by Sec. Reynolds, and one in the Presbyterian church, addressed by Elder Callis and Rev. H. H. Flory. Changes were made in the constitution, so that three conventions a year will be held, and no monthly meetings, excepting a Normal Institute on the first and third Saturday afternoons of each month from Oct. to June.

VOICES AND VISIONS.

In youth, behind the lonely sea, Voices and visions came to me.

And from my father's face I saw, Some half-articulate whisper came.

In every wild I felt the stir Of some celestial messenger.

They followed me from street to street, The dreams that made my boyhood sweet.

As in the silence haunted glen, Strange lights my errant fancy led, Strange watchers stood beside my bed.

Ill fortune had no shafts for me, Nor one by one the visions fled, And one by one the voices died.

More faintly the accents ring, More frequent the receding wing, Full dark shall be the days in store, When voice and vision come no more.

QUEER THINGS SOMETIMES HAPPEN.

A Short, Fat Man Who Was Ready to Ask "Where Am I At?" When It Was Over.

A tall, slim man with a silk hat and a red nose and a short, fat man walked into an up town barroom the other day.

The tall, slim man intended to buy a drink.

He did buy it, and when it was consumed ordered another. That was disposed of, and the two men leaned against the bar and began to talk.

The tall man had the check for the drinks in his right hand.

"Say," said the fat man, "you've got a great splash of black on your cheek."

"Where?" asked the tall man anxiously.

"Under your right eye."

The tall man unbuttoned his overcoat and searched through his pockets.

"I declare," he said, "I haven't got a handkerchief with me. Let me have one, will you?"

The fat man unbuttoned his overcoat and looked through his pockets. Finally he pulled out a white silk affair.

He handed it to the tall man and held out his hand as if waiting its return.

The tall man took the handkerchief and wiped his cheek vigorously.

Then he put it in his pocket and placed the check for the drinks in his friends open hand.

He looked under the room and said suddenly, "Excuse me; here's a man I want to see for a moment."

He walked rapidly out of the room.

The fat man looked at the check in a dazed manner for a moment and then walked over to the cashier's desk and paid it.

Meantime the tall man walked slowly down the street.

The fat man rushed out and followed the tall man.

"Where?" he puffed as he overtook him, "you've got my handkerchief."

"What?" said the tall man.

"You've got my silk handkerchief, I say."

The tall man looked through his pockets.

"Why, to be sure," he said, "so I have." Then he paused and thought a moment.

"But," he continued, "I didn't give you anything when I borrowed your handkerchief."

"You gave me a check for 60 cents that I had to pay," answered the fat man.

"Ah, yes, I remember now. So I did. Where's the check?"

"Why, I paid it and gave it to the cashier."

The tall man looked annoyed.

"Haven't you got the check, eh?" he asked coolly.

"Then, sir, you don't get your handkerchief. I took it from security when I gave you the check. Good afternoon."

And it was 20 minutes before the fat man could think where he was.—Buffalo Express.

AN EARTHQUAKE SHOCK.

The Phenomenon Is Caused by a Series of Intricate Twists.

Strangely enough, the true conception of the nature of an earthquake shock is of very recent origin.

It is only within the past 10 years that the nature of the measurement of earthquakes has been placed on a sure basis, and it is hardly more than a generation since the first steps were taken in this direction.

From the time of the ancients until the middle of our own century the phenomena of earthquakes had been observed and described on a casual basis.

But if any one will look over the pages of Humboldt's "Cosmos" (published in 1844), which summarizes the then existing knowledge on this subject, he will find almost no sign that earthquakes are to be studied like other mechanical motions.

The effects of the great Neapolitan earthquake of 1876 were so damaged by Robert Mallet, a distinguished engineer, and his most interesting work in two profusely illustrated volumes is perhaps the first in which an attempt is made to attack the problem from its mechanical side.

"Ah, yes, I remember now. So I did. Where's the check?"

"Why, I paid it and gave it to the cashier."

The tall man looked annoyed.

"Haven't you got the check, eh?" he asked coolly.

"Then, sir, you don't get your handkerchief. I took it from security when I gave you the check. Good afternoon."

And it was 20 minutes before the fat man could think where he was.—Buffalo Express.

AN EARTHQUAKE SHOCK.

The Phenomenon Is Caused by a Series of Intricate Twists.

Strangely enough, the true conception of the nature of an earthquake shock is of very recent origin.

It is only within the past 10 years that the nature of the measurement of earthquakes has been placed on a sure basis, and it is hardly more than a generation since the first steps were taken in this direction.

From the time of the ancients until the middle of our own century the phenomena of earthquakes had been observed and described on a casual basis.

But if any one will look over the pages of Humboldt's "Cosmos" (published in 1844), which summarizes the then existing knowledge on this subject, he will find almost no sign that earthquakes are to be studied like other mechanical motions.

She Is Lavish In Dress and Fussy About Her Appearance.

Queen Victoria has a very pretty face despite her bulky, unwieldy frame. They are smaller and daintier than the feet of any of her children. She always wears an old-fashioned congress gaiter, and her last in the keeping of the provincial boot-makers at Windsor and Balmoral, as well as the court maker in London.

WE ARE GOING TO DO BUSINESS IN LUMBER AND SHINGLES.

At cheap prices. We have a complete stock of Pine and Hemlock Lumber at prices to suit the times.

Times are dull and we are going to make business if prices will do so.

This Astonishingly Small Amount of Time Measured by Electricity.

Instantaneous measurements have made us familiar with the fact that very minute subdivisions of time are possible. Successful negatives are now frequently taken where exposure lasts only the one-thousandth part of a second.

BEELIAN PRISONS.

Solitary Confinement as It is Enforced in the Two Thousand Years Old System.

The second method of inflicting irksome and more or less prolonged imprisonment is claimed by those who practice it to be the most consistent and the most largely effective of all penal systems.
