BERRIEN CENTRE.

From our Regular Correspondent. Aug. 20, 1894.

For want of time your Berrien Centre correspondent, "C," has missed the privilege of communicating many important and interesting items worthy of publication. Berrien Centre is still alive and active in all things pertaining to her social, religious, educational and various other interests.

Mothers, J. A. Becker and A. J. Smith pass and to their beautiful residences over substantial cement walks now.

Mrs. Nancy, relict of the late Daniel S. Ward, died last Friday, aged 65 years, and was buried in Maple Grove cemetery Sunday. The funeral was conducted in the U. B. church at Eau Claire by Rev. L. O. Oylor.

Elen, daughter of James and Lettie Jenkins, was born in Fayette Co., Va., May 24, 1830. In the same year Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins came to Michigan and settled in Berrien township, then an unbroken forest inhabited by savages and wild beasts. Elen was married Oct. 11, 1849 to Mr. Joel Layman, who now mourns, but not without hope, the death of a most excellent wife. She was converted and received into the Christian church in 1879 under the labors of Rev. Reese Davis. She was taken sick April 24 last, and died Aug. 25, 1894, aged 64 years, 8 months and 21 days. The largest concourse of relatives ever convened at Berrien Centre Union church attended her funeral on Monday, which was conducted by Rev. Chas. Ager of Niles who preached from Gen. 25:8. Six of her nephews, William, Lewis, James, Almon, Joel and Ora, sons of her brother, the late Isaac Jenkins, conveyed her remains to the grave, where she now rests, in the beautiful Berrien Centre city of the dead.

SERIOUS FACTS ABOUT FOOD.

The recent cases of poisoning from Alum Baking Powders.

The recently reported cases of poisoning, in Wisconsin, from the use of alum baking powders have awakened the public to a serious danger which threatens the health of the people of this country to the numerous brands of these goods now being urged upon the consumers.

It is a serious question as to the detrimental effects of the alum baking powders upon the system. Every Board of Health, every physician, will tell of the unwholesome qualities they add to the public the serious danger which utterly prohibited the sale of bread containing alum.

Even small doses of alum, given to children, have produced fatal results, while cases of heartburn, indigestion, griping constipation, dyspepsia and various kindred gastric troubles from irritation of the mucous membrane caused by the continuous use of food prepared with the alum or alum phosphate powders, are familiar in the practice of every physician.

It is not possible that any prudent housewife, any loving mother, will knowingly use any article of food that will injure the health of her household, or cause the death of her children.

How shall the dangerous alum powders be distinguished? And how shall the danger to health from their use be avoided?

Generally, alum powders may be known from the price at which they are sold, or from the fact that they are accompanied by a gift, or are disposed of under some scheme. The alum powder costs but a few cents a pound to make, and is often sold at 20 or 25 cents a pound, and is never given with it, the price may be 30,
