OUR STATE TICKET

Is a good one, headed by the right kind of a man, with the right kind of a man next to the head of the ticket, and so on to the last man on the ticket. Gentle reader, vote the straight ticket with the name of JOHN T, RICH for Governor at its head, and you won't regret it.

EWDIN S. WILLIAMS.

Our neighbor Niles has considerable interest in the candidate for Representative in this district, and that city has a right to take an interest in the matter, for EDWIN S. WILLIAMS will represent this District well and faithfully, and we all want to give our neighbor such a lift that every timber in Democracy's poor old free trade hulk will creak a dismal prophecy of its impending doom.

HENRY F. THOMAS.

The name of Dr. Thomas will be found on the official ballot, just opposite the words "For Representative in Congress, Fourth District," and you want to take a stamp and mark a cross in the square ahead of Dr. Thomas' name, even if you are a Democrat. If vou stamp the square, Dr. Thomas will do the rest 1878 by Dr. Nelson P. Houlst, of Milwaukee, now general manager of the of the Pewabic Co. The first ore was shipped to market in 1880. The output that year amounted to 34.556 tons. Since then then the Chapin has placed in the market a grand total of 520,647 tons of ore.

For many years it has been considered one of the most valuable iron properties in the world. A few years ago it was sold to Ferdinand Schlesinger, of Milwaukee, for $2,000,000 in cash. It has always been a money maker, and even under the reckless management of the Milwaukee plunger, has earned as high as $700,000 in a single year. The profits on the Chapin were used by Schlessinger in acquiring other properties, many of them worthless. He also built a railroad from Iron Moun-A. N. VOTE THE WHOLE REPUBLICAN TICKET

And Thus Perform a Patriotic Duty .are. So get out, every kepublican This is Business This Year, and Not Politics .- There Should be no Republican Stay-at-Homes.

When you go into the booth on Tuesday next you will find the following vignette at the head of the Republican column on the official ballot:

The kindly face of the martyr Lin-coln who first led the Republican party to victory; the stars and stripes you love so well; your patriotism and your personal interests, will all demand of you a vote for the whole Republican ticket. In this way you will register your condemnation of Clevelandism, of the last two awful years of blight and distress in the United States: you will protest against that masterpiece of "perfidy and dishonor,"-the Wilson-Gorman-Sugar Trust Tariff Billwhich strikes so severe a blow at the farming, mining, manufacturing and all other interests of Michigan: you will put yourself on record as in favor of the United States and of a return to better times than we have had since

It is an easy and a pleasant thing to do-

Just stamp or mark a cross (X) in the circle under the Republican vignette. That is all. If you desire to vote a straight Republican ticket nothing further need be done.

draws national actention to a subject of commanding interest. The vast region to which the name arid America is properly applied comprises the whole of the United States lying west of the ninety-eighth meridian, with the exception of northern California and the portions of Oregon and Washington west of the Cascade range. Seventeen states and territories lie wholly or in part within its confines, which embrace two-fifths of the national domain. The distinguishing characteristic of this region is its aridity, but it also differs widely from the eastern states and the middle west in soil, in climate and in the range of productions, writes a New York Sun correspondent who has investigated ter how unsightly the job of plowing may leave it. Slow, hard work it is, to be sure, this tearing of dry stubble soil, but better put four horses on one plow than leave the work undone, no matter how small an area is daily turned over. It is not really turned over, rightly speaking, for the field looks as if an earthquake had caused a simultaneous eruption over the entire surface, but the soil is exposed to the weather, and that is the main thing, no matter how unsightly the field may appear to the farmer that likes to see neat work. Were it possible to explode a dynamite cartridge upon every square yard of stubble land that has been plowed and cropped year after year the result would doubtless be marvelously good. Old, worn farm land requires a vigorous shaking up, and it would be well could such an active agent as dynamite be used for the purpose. Down south they plant apple trees in holes blown out by dynamite and report that trees so planted make twice as rapid growth as those planted in holes dug with a spade. The reason for this is simply that the subsoil is thoroughly shattered, so that the roots may ramify in every direction in search of food. The fall plowed stubble broken up when the soil is dry appears a mighty aggregation of huge hard lumps, but by spring these have disappeared, having been "weathered" down by the action of frost, thaw, rain. etc. The soil is now in a condition many believe, are millions of families to find homes and a degree of prosperity and industrial independence heretofore unknown among the agricultural classes. Irrigation is to be the great factor in the founding of this new empire. Storage reservoirs must be built to husband every drop of the precious water, and canals must be dug to convey it to the thirsting earth. What individuals and corporations have been doing in favored localities in various parts of the arid region must be done on a vast scale.

Many are advocating the cession by the government to the several states of the public lands within their respective borders that each may undertake for itself the work of reclamation. Others see grave objections to such a plan.

To the majority of people irrigation is a new idea, but it is as old as civilization. Long before the conquest of America the Indian and the Mexican had built canals and reservoirs upon the arid plains of what are now New Mexico and Arizona. For the beginning of irrigation in the United States by the white man we have to go back but 25 years. During this period a vast deal has been accomplished, though bearing but an insignificant ratio to the whole gigantic task. According to the census of 1890, a total of 3,630,000 acres was under irrigation in the states composing the arid region. This was less than one-half of 1 per cent of the total area of the arid region, but the value of these irrigated lands, with their water rights, was found to be $290, $50,000, or almost three-fourths of the value of all the gold and silver mines in the Michigan products. The reports of these inspectors to the bureau also show that those 100 factories, when running full, employ 2,919 men, but that they actually employ only 1,817 people, or a falling off of 1,102.

These 1,817 men who have work have received, monthly, $17,173, or an average of $39.17 each, while the loss of wages, suffered by those 1,102 idle employes, at the same ratio, would aggregate the handsome sum of $43.165.34 Here is a loss to labor, in these Democratic good times, of 38 per cent in one industry alone; enough to comfortably care for the poor of Detroit for the next four months.

But this does not complete the story. Those 100 carriage factories would run 6,000 hours per week if running full time, but they run in fact, only 5,374 hours per week. Here is a loss to labor of 426 hours, or 4214 days each week, as compared with full time. Figured by the same ratio, the loss from this source is $275 per month; and this amount added to the $43,165, lost by the men who are compulsorily idle, gives us a total loss from labor unemloyed of $43,440 a month in these 100 factories alone.

It is all very nice for unprincipled demagogues and Democratic news-papers to bloviate about "good times" and "revived industries," to the people but in the light of these hardheaded authority for their assertions of busi-ness revivals in Michigan industries or ceased to stand before their audiences as convicted liars. It may be added to this already damning showing that the operatives in these 100 carriage factories have suffered the same average reduction of wages, since April, 1893, as the furniture workers, viz., eleven per cent. Every workingman in Michigan is interested in these facts, and should not only read them, but show them to his neighbor.

Money for Wilson.

The following statement made by the correspondent of a Democratic paper, who has recently spent ten days in Representative Wilson's district, shows what class of persons are most interested in the Democratic tariff bill:

"I have never seen such an open use of money to influence elections as can be daily witnessed on behalf of Mr. Wilson in his district, and 1 am a very old campaigner. There seems to be an abundance of money. There is common report that the money is from Mr. Isador Straus, of New York, who has made large collections among the importers of that city who, possibly, brought with him from London. where he accompanied Mr. Wilson on his trip, a considerable amount of British money. The rest of the money is attributed locally to the sugar trust as a corporation, but in greater part to the individual members of the sugar trust. That organization is understood to be exceedingly anxious to aid the Democratic party in preventing the defeat of its leader and champion, the chairman of the committee on ways and means. Wherever the money comes from there is an abundance of it."

Everybody Vote.

The "oldest inhabitant" cannot recall a campaign when everything pointed more surely to a sweeping Republican victory than at the present time. Even Democrats, when they are indulging in common honesty rather than political clap-trap, admit that this is a Republican year, and that the only hope for their party is to keep the Republican majority down to the lowest figures. To accomplish this, if possible, they are resorting to misrepresentations, canards and howls.

When the $10,000 cash drawn from the state treasury are deducted from the receipts the actual earnings are found to have been only $219,494.13, just $3,374.21 less than the disbursements-THE SAME OLD DEMOCRATIC DE-FICIENCY

The claim that the prison turned over to the state treasury $15,000 profits can not be substantiated. To make a showing of profits, the report of Warden Davis, the Democratic incumbent utterly ignores the fact that the sum of $10,000 in cash was received from the state. He acknowledges the receipt of the special appropriations and their expenditure, ex-cept a balance of $10,146.34, but never word is spoken of the sum that entered into the general running expenses of the institution.

None but a Democratic administration would ever think of drawing cash need no comment. from the state treasury and paying it back under color of profits. But this who do not know that they are will case is in strict accord with the ap-fully and wickedly deceiving honest propriation, by the Democratic ad-voters to serve their own personal ends: case is in strict accord with the ap-865.66 received from the general govbut in the light of these hardinated ernment, and the subsequent channed facts, which are open to public inspectors is o much saved to the taxpayers. It is so much saved to the taxpayers. It is a dishonest appropriation of others' a dishonest appropriation of others' credit. It is dishonesty sublimated, refined and reduced to Democratic application. And this is the kind of ad ministration of a state institution that the Democratic party is now trying to idealize. With these kind of statements the Democrats go before the people and fondly imagine that voters can be deceived into turning the state and its great interests over to their care. The people know better. -----

Marketing the Honey Crop.

The advice of The American Bee Jour nal is to cultivate local markets. There are many risks in shipping comb honey, especially to distant markets, with the facilities and skill for crating properly possessed by the average beekeeper. But little comb honey ever reaches its destination without damage and loss to the producer. The authority referred to says: "For some years we have made special effort to introduce extracted honey in our own local markets, and by having our goods of the very highest quality we have in three seasons easily estab-lished a demand for all the liquid honey we can produce. The same can be done in each locality, provided none but first class, properly cured honey is offered. We advise taking a sample of the honey for testing, visiting the best families in town and country, taking orders and delivering the goods, being careful to have the honey equal or better than the sample. In this way we find a market for all our extracted honey at 121/2 cents per pound. Comb honey can be sold in Every possible precaution should be taken in order to hasten maturing and ripening before frost, and, by the way, I approve a more thorough and systematic use of smudges as a protection against frost. White Fyfe is a first class wheat, but needs a sharp soil. Consider it one grade below Red Fyfe, with which it is mixed for milling. Red Fern is a good hard wheat, being probably the nearest approach to Red Fyfe of any we have. It is the same as what some call Eureka and ranks next to Red Fyfe in freedom from rust. Golden Drop is a soft wheat and liable to smut. White Russian is a good yielder, but soft, and sells from 3 to 8 cents below Red Fyfe. Speaking from a milling standpoint, I can say nothing of Ladoga. The article narrates some of the incidents of the so-called "Red Sea Trade." which consisted in exchanging with the pirates of the Indian Ocean cargoes of rum, food, gunpowder and other necessities of piracy, for silks, spices, pre-cious stones, and "deep toned, yellowred Arabian gold." This trade was exceedingly profitable to the merchants of New York, and attended with fewer risks than piracy at first-hand, in which some of them engaged. How the Red Sea trade was finally broken up and William Kidd hanged as a horrible example is entertainingly told by Mr. Janvier. Five pictures by Howard Pyle illustrate the article. A New York dispatch of Oct. 25, says: "The Chicago & West Michigan Railway company has issued a circular letter to the bondholders of the Chica-

The census shows an extraordinary increase in horses. The department of agriculture indicated it in annual estimates before the census enumeration very accurately. The fall in prices attested in a disagreeable way the same fact of increase. The reduction has been gradual and has now reached a point which renders common horseflesh an unprofitable commodity-a "drug" in the market.
