"Columbia Gem of the Ocean."
A Record Breaker.

The United States cruiser Columbia, which left Southampton July 26, at 12:30 o'clock p. m., was sighted from Sandy Hook at 10:35 a. m., Aug. 2, and reached quarantine at 10:35 a. m. Her log gives her time of arrival at the bar at 8:30, and the time of passage from the Needles to Sandy Hook lightship as 6 days 23 hours and 40 minutes. Her day's runs were 405, 400, 473, 458, 455, 433, and 405 knots. Total distance, 3,100 knots; average speed, 18.41 knots. The Columbia on her official four hours' trial in November, 1893, averaged 22.81 knots an hour and attained a maximum of 23.30 knots an hour over a distance of nearly eight knots.

The Southampton record is held by the American liner New York, and is 6 days 7 hours and 14 minutes, being about sixteen hours better than the cruiser Columbia's time. The St. Louis left Southampton about twenty four hours after the Columbia. Her western record is 6 days 18 hours and 47 minutes, made on her last trip. To equal this time the St. Louis was due to arrive off the Sandy Hook light ship at 3:27 on the morning of August 3.

Among men-of-war there is nothing to compare the Columbia with, as none of them has ever made such a run, and none could, not only because they do not carry the coal, but because they have not the power. The Navy Department, however, has the report of a twenty-four-hour trial of the British cruiser Royal Arthur, made in the Pacific some months ago, and her maximum speed for four hours was only eighteen knots, while for the twenty-four hours of the trial it was only 16.5 knots. This vessel is officially rated as the same displacement as the Columbia. Of the other fast British cruisers none of them has done anything at all comparable with this performance of the Columbia. In fact, the cruiser Blenheim, on which the British plume themselves, made only a maximum of fourteen knots when returning from Halifax after having carried the body of Sir John Thompson there for interment.

"Remember what, dear?" inquired the perplexed bridesmaid.

"That everything I have on is new. I did remember that if I married in white, you have chosen all right, but I forgot the other:

"Something old and something new, and your clothes will be new. Every stitch I have on is new, and I just will not stir a step until I have something old added to my dress."

"Take my handkerchief," suggested one of the girls.

"What could I do with that?" whined the poor girl.

"Brides don't have pockets; neither do they carry handkerchiefs in their hands. It would look as if I expected to cry."

"I have a happy thought," said the bridesmaid. "Exchange shoes with me."

"Why, that's fine. My feet are two sizes smaller than yours."

"Thanks, awfully. Haven't you a pair of your own Cinderellas?"

"Yes, I have," said the bride, jumping up in a hurry. "Your head is level, dear. Look in the pink box in the chiffonier, or in the blue one. Oh, they won't do, they're so awfully soiled!"

"Get me some bread crumbs and a box of powder," said a practical soul in the party. "Quick! I'll have them white in a jiffy."

"You're just dear," said the grateful bride. "Now I shall feel that I'm properly married, and that everything has been done to insure my future happiness. Just one thing more for luck:—

"Hurry to a shoe."

After moon-down.

When the bride descended the stairs leaning on the arm of George Edward, the sweet serenity of her face was a subject of favorable comment. Her friends felt that she was not entering unprepared upon the future awaiting her, and she felt that way herself.—Detroit Free Press.

The village of Edwardsburg, Cass county, is to have a new town hall building.

The bodies of Coats and Stillson, builders of the yacht Artist, who were drowned near South Haven by the capsizing of the yacht on its initial trip, three weeks ago, have been recovered.

Secretary Smith last Friday admitted Myron H. Walker, of Grand Rapids, and Carl O. Markham, of Eaton Rapids, Mich., to practice before the interior department as attorneys; and Charles F. Setlifer, of Cassopolis, and Erwin S. Marsh, of Cambria, as agents.

On the grounds of the fruit experiment station at South Haven are 300 varieties of apples, 147 of grapes, 111 plums and 90 of pears. In berries there are 200 kinds of strawberries, 23 of blackberries, 21 of raspberries, 32 of blackberries and 72 of gooseberries. A large number of the apple and pear trees are not yet in bearing.

George Henwood, a baker and moulder of Dowagiac, committed suicide late Saturday night by taking carbolic acid. He was a married man, but has no children. A $2,000 policy in the Macabees goes to his widow. Domestic troubles are said to have been the cause.

U. S. Weather Crop Bulletin.

GENERAL REMARKS: The general outlook for an exceptionally fine corn crop continues flattering. Except in the Dakotas and Minnesota where it is somewhat late and in Indiana where it is coming slowly, the crop is generally in advance of the season and early corn is now practically made in the southern portion of the corn belt. Kansas and Missouri report much of the crop made and in Missouri, the largest crop ever raised in that state is reported. Six hundred Iowa reports, all counties being represented, show the condition of corn as much above the average, in 61 counties above average in 8 counties, while 30 counties promise a crop below the average. In Nebraska corn is in excellent condition in the southwestern part of the state and in the counties along the Missouri river; but has been much injured in the southeastern section. In the River counties in Indiana, which corn is maturing slowly, it is in good condition. In Ohio, the outlook is less favorable being poor in the uplands and on clay soils. Kentucky reports corn crop unrepresented. No favorable reports respecting corn are received from the southern states except from portions of Texas and the Carolinas where in some counties drought is proving injurious.

Light local frosts occurred in northern Indiana on July 30th and 31st and in northern Maryland and in the mountains of West Virginia on Aug. 1. No damage reported except slight injury to corn in Maryland. Drought continues in Ohio, Pennsylvania, southern Texas and in portions of Maryland and the Carolinas where crops are being injuriously affected.

MICHIGAN: Rainfall light and insufficient. Drought in the western peninsula, elsewhere more ample and very beneficial showers. Potatoes in fair condition. Pastures still very poor. Berries of all kinds scarce but fruit will be plentiful.

THE STORY OF A POLTICE.

After They Got It on the Boy Had Something to Say.

Family discipline is still maintained in some American families, as of course it should be in all. The Herald, which is a small boy got a silver in his foot, according to The Herald, and his mother expressed her intention of putting a poltice on the wound. The boy, with the natural foolishness which is bound up in the heart of a child, objected to the proposed remedy.

"I won't have any poltice," he declared.

"Yes, you will," said both mother and grandmother firmly. The majority was two to one against him, and at bedtime he was in bed with a poltice on his foot.

The patient was not ready. On the contrary, he resisted so stoutly that a switch was brought into requisition. It was arranged that the grandmother should apply the poltice, while the mother, with uplifted stick, was to stand by the bedside when he needed it. He "opened his mouth" he would refuse to have anything that would keep him quiet.

The hot poltice touched his foot, and he opened his mouth.

"You!" he began.

"You" still in all the Herald's shaking stick, while the grandmother applied the poltice.

Once more the little fellow opened his mouth.

"I!"

In a minute more the poltice was firmly in place, and the boy was tucked in bed.

"There, now," said his mother. "The old fellow will be drawn out, and Ed will be in all the Herald's shaking stick, while the grandmother applied the poltice."

"You've got it on the wrong foot."

Stevenson's City for Beggars.

Stevenson's pity was a very marked quality, and it extended to beggars, which is, I think, to go too far. His optimism, however, suffered a rude shock in South Andley street one summer afternoon. We met a strolling beggar, whom I refused to aid. Louis, however, was very kind, and finally handed him a nickel. The man pocketed the coin, forbore to thank his benefactor, but fixing his eye on me said in a loud voice, "And what is the other little gentleman going to give me?" "In future," said Louis, "I shall be as good as dead."

"Personal Memories of Stevenson," by Edmund Gosse, in Century.

Sir John Millais.

It is said of Sir John Millais, the artist, given to a brier wood pecker, a comfortable chair, and a pocket watch with which to play "patience," he is serenely satisfied with existence for the time being. Millais is one of the rare prodigies who attained distinction in later life. He won a medal for drawing when only 9, and at 11 he was a student in the Royal Academy. In the fullness of his fame he is a man of surprisingly simple tastes and habits.

In the year 1738 that master of the artistic art, Colley Cibber, wrote, "the man who is not a beggar, but who would raise will talk to a sleeping angel."

In 764 the cold at Constantinople was so severe that the Black sea was frozen for 60 miles from shore.

ON THE ROAD TO RUIN

STORIES OF THE TEMPLE OF MAMMON AT MONTE CARLO.

Some of Them True, Many False, but All Highly Interesting.—Bacon and the "Wellington Boot System"—A Talk With Mr. Spectator, a Man Who Knows.

But who should this be sipping some iced vermouth at the marble table with an old friend whom I will call Mr. Spectator? He is a man of 40, he has passed a few seasons here, he has plenty of money, he goes to the Casino every day and every evening and he never plays a cent. It is his occupation in life to be an observer of things and to mark the ways of man and woman and child. He has seen and heard them at Aix-les-Bains, at Lausanne and at Trouville. He knows everything about what is going on just now at "Monty," what Russian princesses pawned her diamonds last week and what Cuban sugar planter did not do of appropriate to a man of his rank and position himself with prismatic acid.

"He was a fool, sir," quoth Mr. Spectator. "Why didn't he go to the administration? Why didn't he make his declaration? Why didn't he tell the world that he had lost 200,000 francs in the course of a week? He should have done so, traveling and hotel expenses back to Paris, or back to Brazil, for the matter of that. He was a fool, sir!"

Mr. Spectator went on to explain that when a cleaned out player made a candid admission of his impotency the administration gave a certain amount of money sufficient to defray his journey by railway to the place whence he came and his incidental expenses en route. He mentioned one case in which a whole family of five persons were allowed 15 francs apiece to take them from Monte Carlo to London, the sole condition attached to the largess being that the recipient should not re-enter the Casino unless he or she recouped the administration for their outlay. In the case which he cited, one of the party, a lady, who had not gone farther than Nice, returned to her home in England, and she went back blithely to "Monty," repaid the 15 francs, re-entered the Casino, and backing the dozen, did not forgetting zero, won £360. "You are not to be envied," added Mr. Spectator, "a title of the noblest kind, but it is a title which ruined gamblers hang themselves to trees in the gardens, or blowing out their brains in the reading room." The majority of these gamblers are set on foot by obscure French newspapers which have not been subordinated or bribed by the administration of Monte Carlo.

One of the pleasantest characteristics of my friend Mr. Spectator is that every time you meet him he has a fresh story to tell you about an infallible system for winning at roulette, and this time he regaled me with a succinct narrative of the case of a certain French nobleman who had ruined gamblers hanging themselves to trees in the gardens, or blowing out their brains in the reading room. The majority of these gamblers are set on foot by obscure French newspapers which have not been subordinated or bribed by the administration of Monte Carlo.

THE STORM CENTER.

The great lakes and the St. Lawrence valley have more storms per annum than any other portions of this country. This is due to the fact that storms originating west of this district move directly east, while many originating farther south move to the northeast.

A HOTEL GHOST.

The Narrative of a Singular Experience of Lord and Lady Dunraven.

Aprons of a report that the Brevoort House was to be closed, which was denied, however, there is a story that Lady Dunraven has been known to tell about the famous old inn. The countess is described as one who knows her own man much more inclined to common sense than to ghost haunted Cook Innes, even with Dr. Johnson's authority. She used to tell the facts in the tale simply for what they were worth.

It was more than one decade ago, years before the Valeris was thought of, when Lord Dunraven was first interested in the mining regions of northern Michigan. He and Lady Dunraven were staying in New York for a few days before starting west and had taken rooms at the Brevoort—pleasant rooms, with a view of the avenue and a nice glimpse of Washington square. The first night, being tired with their voyage, they went early to bed, but, as it happened, not so early to sleep. Both the earl and countess were blessed with heavy English constitutions. They were not at all accustomed to lying awake till the small hours.

They wondered what they could have done, what they could have eaten or drunk to afflict them with such gratuitous vigilance. Just at a venture finally they bundled themselves out into the adjoining room for relief. They began to think they should have to leave for home, but they had planned, for they would not for the world have made any pretext to shift chambers.

The explanation of the mystery, if it was an explanation, came out by chance. They had a call before long from an old time New Yorker whom they had met in England. Lady Dunraven had been told that he had been in the city pertaining to the town's minor history. "I wonder," he remarked casually, "that they should have given you these rooms. You know it was in that room there, not so long ago, that a Mr. X—hanged himself. It was in that room that the English Lady Dunraven had been told that he had been in the city pertaining to the town's minor history. BASE BALL.
The Best Game Yet.
Last Saturday the best game of ball this season was played here between the Buchanan Blues and the Auburn Parks of Chicago. Both sides played for all there was in it and the game was by far the best witnessed here this season. The following is the summary:

Team	R	H	SB	PO	A	E
Buchanan Blues	3	12	0	12	12	0
Auburn Parks	1	10	0	10	10	0

Buchanan has a lot of progressive merchants, who are always alive to the interest of the town. This week they have combined their respective space in the Record, for the purpose of "booming" the coming Young Peoples' picnic, to be held August 14. The names of those contributing are as follows: Geo. W. Noble, H. Binns, Treat & Marble, B. R. Desenberg, Bro. Wm. Trenbeth, Geo. B. Richards, H. E. Lough, Dodd & Son, C. H. Boardman, Treat & Redden, C. H. Baker, Otis Bros. S. P. High, E. S. Roe, J. Godfrey, Carmer & Carmer, W. F. Runner, D. H. Bowler.

E. Stuart of St. Joseph committed suicide by hanging, on Saturday, July 27, and his body was not found until four days later, when his wife found it hanging in a shed in the rear of the house. The funeral took place last Sunday. Rev. Geo. Johnson, formerly of this place, officiating. While the people were congregated in the house to attend the funeral, a portion of the floor suddenly sunk, throwing the people in a huddle in the center of the room, though no one was seriously injured. The ceremonies were then concluded in the yard.

A Horse Deal.
Some two or three weeks ago, a good natured looking man arrived in town with a horse claimed to be of fine imported stock, and a pedigree as long as the side of the barn, more or less. The stranger gave the name of Robert L. Corey and claimed that the horse was worth $2500, and he proposed to talk a number of farmers and business men hereabouts into taking stock in the animal, dividing the $2500 into 25 shares at $100 each. He succeeded in getting all the shares taken. Eleven of the shareholders gave their notes in payment of their stock, four of the shareholders turned over other horses or property in payment for their shares, and some three others refused to sign notes or to take their shares. Corey left town Saturday, and some of the shareholders immediately commenced to do a little thinking. This thinking resulted in Mr. John McFallon swearing out a warrant for Corey's arrest. This was given to Deputy Sheriff Hathaway, who saw Corey in Elkhart. Corey agreed to meet him in Niles on Monday, which he did, and Corey came back to Buchanan to clear up the matter. In the meantime some of the other shareholders began to get uneasy, and Fred W. Howe, who had turned over a horse in part payment of his share, got out a writ of replevin for his horse which was still at Batchelor's livery barn. Corey has commenced suit against Mr. Levi L. Redden who refused to sign the notes, and taken all in all the thing is about as mixed up mess as any one ever saw.

Resolutions.
WHEREAS, Sir Knight Edward R. LeGar has been called to surrender his spirit to God who gave it; Therefore
Resolved, That we the members of Order No. 3147, O. T. M., will cherish the memory of our brother who has gone before and that we will be admonished that we too are hastening on the level of time to that undiscovered country from which no traveler ever returns;
Resolved, That to the bereaved wife and children we tender our heartfelt sympathy, and record our grateful thanks for the expression of their fraternal regard will be followed by a substantial token, a result of our brother's foresight and care. But above and beyond all we can say or do, we commend to Him who has promised to bind up the broken hearted and to be a father to the fatherless;
Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of our order, and a copy given the family.
All of which is respectfully submitted.
I. L. H. DODD,
W. F. RUSSELL, Com.

Where to Economize.
Do not allow a difference in rate to deter you from selecting what you consider the best medium. Remember that the most expensive space is the cheapest. How many dollars worth of goods you sell in proportion to the cost of your ad. and how much does it cost you ad. cost per line, is what you must consider. If you must economize, do it in space—not on medium. Small space in a reliable paper is better than large space in an inferior one. —Shoe and Leather Journal.

Resolutions.
WHEREAS, Sir Knight Edward R. LeGar has been called to surrender his spirit to God who gave it; Therefore
Resolved, That we the members of Order No. 3147, O. T. M., will cherish the memory of our brother who has gone before and that we will be admonished that we too are hastening on the level of time to that undiscovered country from which no traveler ever returns;
Resolved, That to the bereaved wife and children we tender our heartfelt sympathy, and record our grateful thanks for the expression of their fraternal regard will be followed by a substantial token, a result of our brother's foresight and care. But above and beyond all we can say or do, we commend to Him who has promised to bind up the broken hearted and to be a father to the fatherless;
Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of our order, and a copy given the family.
All of which is respectfully submitted.

Where to Economize.
Do not allow a difference in rate to deter you from selecting what you consider the best medium. Remember that the most expensive space is the cheapest. How many dollars worth of goods you sell in proportion to the cost of your ad. and how much does it cost you ad. cost per line, is what you must consider. If you must economize, do it in space—not on medium. Small space in a reliable paper is better than large space in an inferior one. —Shoe and Leather Journal.

BASE BALL.
The Best Game Yet.
Last Saturday the best game of ball this season was played here between the Buchanan Blues and the Auburn Parks of Chicago. Both sides played for all there was in it and the game was by far the best witnessed here this season. The following is the summary:

Team	R	H	SB	PO	A	E
Buchanan Blues	3	12	0	12	12	0
Auburn Parks	1	10	0	10	10	0

Buchanan has a lot of progressive merchants, who are always alive to the interest of the town. This week they have combined their respective space in the Record, for the purpose of "booming" the coming Young Peoples' picnic, to be held August 14. The names of those contributing are as follows: Geo. W. Noble, H. Binns, Treat & Marble, B. R. Desenberg, Bro. Wm. Trenbeth, Geo. B. Richards, H. E. Lough, Dodd & Son, C. H. Boardman, Treat & Redden, C. H. Baker, Otis Bros. S. P. High, E. S. Roe, J. Godfrey, Carmer & Carmer, W. F. Runner, D. H. Bowler.

E. Stuart of St. Joseph committed suicide by hanging, on Saturday, July 27, and his body was not found until four days later, when his wife found it hanging in a shed in the rear of the house. The funeral took place last Sunday. Rev. Geo. Johnson, formerly of this place, officiating. While the people were congregated in the house to attend the funeral, a portion of the floor suddenly sunk, throwing the people in a huddle in the center of the room, though no one was seriously injured. The ceremonies were then concluded in the yard.

A Horse Deal.
Some two or three weeks ago, a good natured looking man arrived in town with a horse claimed to be of fine imported stock, and a pedigree as long as the side of the barn, more or less. The stranger gave the name of Robert L. Corey and claimed that the horse was worth $2500, and he proposed to talk a number of farmers and business men hereabouts into taking stock in the animal, dividing the $2500 into 25 shares at $100 each. He succeeded in getting all the shares taken. Eleven of the shareholders gave their notes in payment of their stock, four of the shareholders turned over other horses or property in payment for their shares, and some three others refused to sign notes or to take their shares. Corey left town Saturday, and some of the shareholders immediately commenced to do a little thinking. This thinking resulted in Mr. John McFallon swearing out a warrant for Corey's arrest. This was given to Deputy Sheriff Hathaway, who saw Corey in Elkhart. Corey agreed to meet him in Niles on Monday, which he did, and Corey came back to Buchanan to clear up the matter. In the meantime some of the other shareholders began to get uneasy, and Fred W. Howe, who had turned over a horse in part payment of his share, got out a writ of replevin for his horse which was still at Batchelor's livery barn. Corey has commenced suit against Mr. Levi L. Redden who refused to sign the notes, and taken all in all the thing is about as mixed up mess as any one ever saw.

FIRST ANNUAL CONVENTION
Fifth District Sunday School Association.

First Annual Convention of the Fifth District of Michigan State Sunday School Association, consisting of Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties, was held at Crystal Springs campground, July 31 and Aug. 1, 1895. Rev. O. J. Roberts of Buchanan presided. In absence of the secretary, the assistant secretary, Miss Edith Beardsley of Buchanan of Buchanan was appointed secretary.

Promptly at 1:30, Wednesday afternoon, an interesting song service was conducted by Mr. Wm. Tamlyn, and was soul-inspiring. Prayer by Rev. I. Wilson. Realizing that many Sunday school workers of the Fifth District could not be present and the helpfulness of the press, it utilized, so that every part of this field, if possible, might have a report, a press committee was appointed, consisting of Rev. Frank Fox, Three Oaks; Miss Edith Beardsley and I. L. H. Dodd, Buchanan; Miss Mary Bisbee, Benton Harbor; Bertha Barrett, Niles; J. Douglas, Cass; E. B. Cady, Berrien Springs; Mrs. Brady, St. Joseph; Mrs. Finch, Mr. Thomas and Mrs. Barton. A finance committee was appointed consisting of I. L. H. Dodd, Buchanan; W. C. Dowagiac; L. G. Stewart, Deatur. The enrollment committee appointed was, Miss Anna Mead, Buchanan; Miss Cora Haines, Edwardsburg.

The president stated on account of ill health B. S. Reed, of Cass county, could not be present to take his place upon the program. "The Purpose of the Convention" was presented so concisely by Rev. Mr. Roberts. Purposes, represented by one word, "uplift." To accomplish this: 1st, awaken interest; 2d, to arouse enthusiasm—a man not having it not worth much; 3d, to point out defects; 4th, outline principles; 5th, show what has been done; 7th show what needs to be done; 8th, show how to do it; 9th, push near the advance line; 10th, to put the Fifth District in the very first place, in Sunday school work.

After singing, "Revive us again," the president gave to this Convention of workers a motto, as found in II Tim. 2:15, "Study to show thyself approved unto God; a workman needeth that not to be ashamed rightly dividing the word of truth."

In the free parliament, under the head of "Ten One Minute Guns" the different speakers were: Mr. M. H. Reynolds, Owasco, State Secretary; Rev. I. Wilson, Mr. I. L. H. Dodd. The first speaker enlarged upon the purposes of the Convention; the second, upon the motto; the third, upon practical work—how to reach the non-attendant.

After singing, "Stepping in the Light," "Better Methods and Organization" was presented by Mr. L. G. Stewart of Deatur. He told us the fact that in the Fifth District there are 54 townships, 36 organized and 8 unorganized, of which 6 are in Van Buren and 2 in Berrien counties. It was moved and supported that a committee be appointed to have these townships organized. Messrs. Stewart, Bowler and T. B. Allen for Van Buren county and the Superintendent of Berrien county, O. J. Roberts, to look after the Berrien townships. Rev. Roberts then gave some helpful thoughts on how to arouse and awaken an interest in districts not having Sunday schools. Back of all methods, we must have the Spirit of Christ and Divine Help from on high. The president at once called for a waiting before God in prayer for just these blessings that we needed to carry forward the work.

After singing, "Nearer, my God, to Thee," Mr. Reynolds gave us his opinion of three qualities a successful worker must have: 1st, efficient consecrated personality; 2d, plan well the work; 3d, push the work.

"Missionary phase of our Sunday school work," was presented by Rev. W. H. McElroy of Cassopolis which was ably handled.

"Practical Methods of Teaching," by Mr. E. K. Warren of Three Oaks was most unique. The method used in presenting the subject illustrated just the point which was truly practical, and a splendid method. One truth clearly brought out: Cannot possibly prepare skin milk and teach cream, neither can one live on milk and teach cream. Another truth: The very best practical lessons come to us during class hour. He emphasized thorough preparation on the part of the teacher.

After closing remarks by the president, urging all to be much in prayer, and the singing of "Blest be the tie that binds," benediction was pronounced.

WEDNESDAY EVENING.
After song service, we were led in prayer by Mr. Reynolds, singing, "Glory to His name," an address, "The Signs of the times and our Lord's second coming, was ably presented by Rev. Frank Fox of Three Oaks. We wish we might give the address in full, but space forbids. The earnestness on the part of the speaker thrilled every one with the importance of doing now the work committed to us.

"Oh, can we say we are ready," was sung with much feeling and heart searching. "The needs of this convention on financial interests," were presented by the chairman of that committee, I. L. H. Dodd.

Then came another grand treat, an address, "Primary work," by Miss Mabel Hall of Chicago, an experienced train worker. The address was full of good suggestions, and the speaker clearly demonstrated to her hearers the importance of being full of the Spirit of Christ, a hungry desire to feed the longing soul of each little one. More of the talk may be reported at another time. Every primary worker in the District should have heard her.

After singing and benediction, the Sunday school workers were entertained for the night by the many tent holders who took us in.

THURSDAY MORNING.
Thursday being the great day of the Convention and perfect weather for such a meeting fully, 3000 people were in attendance.
