Republican State Convention.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 21st, 1896.
 To the Republican Electors of the State of Michigan.

The State Conventions of the Republicans of Michigan is hereby called to meet at 12 o'clock noon, on Thursday, May 1st, 1896, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of electing delegates to the National Convention to be held at St. Louis, Mo., on June 18th, 1896, for the purpose of selecting a Chairman of the State Central Committee and members thereof from each congressional district and the transaction of such other business as may properly come forward.

The delegates from the several counties in each Congressional District are requested to meet in District caucuses at 10 o'clock a. m. on the day of the State Convention, and select candidates as follows: One delegate to the National Convention, and one alternate delegate to the National Convention, to be chosen at District Conventions, held with not less than twenty (20) days public notice, and not less than thirty (30) days before the meeting of the National Convention.

The delegates from the several counties in each Congressional District are requested to meet in District caucuses at 10 o'clock a. m. on the day of the State Convention, and select candidates as follows: One delegate to the National Convention, and one alternate delegate to the National Convention, to be chosen at District Conventions, held with not less than twenty (20) days public notice, and not less than thirty (30) days before the meeting of the National Convention.

Under the resolution of 1893, no delegate will be entitled to a seat in the Convention who does not reside in the County he proposes to represent. In accordance with the system of the Michigan county will be entitled to one delegate for each five hundred of the total vote cast for Governor at the last State election. (Not more than one additional delegate for every fraction amounting to three hundred, but not exceeding one county will be entitled to at least two (2) delegates.)

The Republican county convention is in session here today, with three prominent lawyers in the field: Messrs. Hamilton of Niles, Fyfe of St. Joseph and Gore of this city.

The West Michigan Nursery will plant 100 bushels of peach pits that came from Georgia.

Fine April showers, yesterday, did an untold amount of good and were followed by much cooler weather.

As usual, fruit growers are nervous for fear frosts will kill the buds, which the unusual weather has brought so far forward.

A tailor of our city, H. A. Foltzer, has secured the contract for the new uniforms for the train men on the Michigan Division of the Big 4.

State organizer, Mrs. Clara Richards of Buchanan, organized a camp of Royal Neighbors, with thirty-two charter members, it will be known as the Harbor Camp.

Forty children were confirmed at John's church, last Friday morning, and thirty-five at St. Joseph church, in St. Joseph, in the afternoon. Bishop Foley of Detroit conducted the services.

The Passion Play, as described by Rev. Lewis, last Friday evening, was intensely interesting, and the accompanying views was by far the finest we have ever seen. He should have had a large house.

The three "Cities" of the Graham & Morton fell will all be painted white. The Milwaukee is still larger than the Chicago, and the latter is about as can turn around in the elbow of the canal.

Miss Minnie Spaenke, the plaintiff in the Grace case, was put on board the Mabel Bradshaw, last Wednesday night, and taken to Chicago where, it is thought, she was placed in some hospital to be treated for hysteria.

U. S. WEATHER BULLETIN.
 Week Ending April 20.
 General Remarks--The unusually warm weather throughout the central, eastern and southern portions of the country has been advanced the season, which has been unusually backward, and has been very favorable for farming operations and growth of vegetation, which has been remarkably rapid. Winter wheat has shown marked improvement, and reported as doing well in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and in portions of Missouri, and while crop improvement has been noted in Kentucky and West Virginia, the condition of the crop in these states is poor, some having been plowed up. In sections of Missouri and Texas, winter wheat is suffering from want of rains. Spring wheat and corn are doing well in Southern Minnesota, and is about finished in portions of eastern South Dakota, where some of the early sown up. In North Dakota, no seeding has yet been done. Experiments for corn planting have been pushed rapidly during the week, and in the more southern sections planting has continued with little interruption. Some corn has been planted in Illinois and Nebraska, and planting will be begun in Iowa this week.

Indiana--Warm weather has rapidly improved all growing crops. A few showers fell and rain is much needed. Wheat, barley, rye, clover and grass have advanced rapidly; oats nearly all planted. Corn is coming on well in Switzerland for corn continues. Michigan--Abnormally high temperatures and plentiful showers have rapidly advanced all vegetation and from the north west, heavy rains and grass are doing finely; plowing, and oat and grass seeding in progress. Early potatoes have just begun.

LITERARY NOTES.
 The Lincoln paper in the May 1896 issue contains some very interesting unpublished letters and anecdotes, showing Lincoln's rare tact and sagacity in political matters, even as a young man. It will also describe Lincoln's life in Washington, D. C., in 1847-1849, and his reproduction from the newspaper in which it was published at that time. It also contains a new account of Lincoln's death in New England in 1835. A number of rare pictures will appear with the paper.

The Corporation for April 20th contains an article on the proposed Agricultural Bank of Michigan, which first conceived the idea of setting up a bank for the purpose of financing the planting of each farmer in the State. Each farmer in the Corporation contains one or more articles of exchange, which are the most and best known man and woman of the age.

R. H. Woodcock, of Buchanan, Md., announced in the Banner-Register, that he had written a book, "Nathan C. Green, the first American to be elected President of the United States," which is beautifully illustrated with nearly 1000 engravings and is sold by subscription.

Hawaii, the "Pearl of the Pacific."

The Twelfth of a Series of Letters by JOHN R. MUSICK.

Author of "The Columbia Historical Novels," "Brother Against Brother," etc. (Copyright, 1886, by Funk & Wagnalls Company, New York.)

The Rebellion of 1895, and How It Was Put Down.

A feeling of uneasiness oppressed the people of Hawaii from the overthrow of the monarchy in 1893 to the attempt at its restoration in 1895. It was a nervous day. Troops were hurried from Moiliili Road to the foothills and to Diamond Head; a few prisoners were taken and many guns were picked up, twenty rifles that had never been used being found in a little fort near Waialea.

At Manoa, Wilcox and Lot Lane had probably about seventy-five men, located near the high peaks, where they hoped to hold out until they could make terms with the government.

The forces of the government were assailed against them at this point, and the conflict raged for some time at long range, but artillery and the long distance guns of the government drove them from their hiding place. Wilcox left ten men behind a cover and went into Panoa valley. Two natives came in under a white flag. One had an ear cut with a bullet, and they led the way to where a third lay dead with a bullet in his brain. Wilcox and his forces then retreated into the mountains where they reduced to the driest water, supplies being entirely cut off. They had no houses or tents, and were compelled to sleep on stones or in caves. On Jan. 14, Nowlin, Greig, Widemann and Marshall were captured. They were found in a thicket, and on being summoned came out, dirty and ragged, with their faces and hands scratched. Marshall, a mere boy, was the only one who seemed cheerful.

The war was now a man hunt. The rebellion was broken, and the only question was the capture of the fugitives. Robert Wilcox was taken and sent to prison, and then the hunt for Lot Lane began. He was regarded as the most dangerous of the rebels, but was easily captured. Lot Lane was said at that time to be one of the finest specimens of physical manhood on the islands. He was over six feet tall, well proportioned, possessing herculean strength. His father claimed to be a descendant of the king of Ireland, and his mother had the blood of the Kamehamehas in her veins.

The Provisional Government decided to arrest the ex-queen as the chief instigator in the conspiracy. Bombs and arms were found buried in her house, and the confession she made captured were sufficient to implicate her. Marshal Hitchcock and Adjutant-General Soper were sent for at 9:30 a. m., Wednesday, 10th, and a warrant placed against her hands for the arrest of Mrs. Liliuokalani Dominis, the ex-queen, and deliver her to Colonel Fisher, commanding the militia at the Executive Building. They left on the Washington Place, the ex-queen's residence, in two hacks. There were a number of native guards around the house who did not even challenge the officers. The ex-queen was taken to the Executive Building, and she was lying on a sofa in her bed-chamber, but arose at once and came into the reception hall to meet the officers. Mrs. Dominis is a strong woman, and her lady friends were permitted to visit her. She addressed a letter to the President renouncing any claim on the throne of the Hawaiian people since her arrest, and before her trial. After a few months she was released, and returned to her home at Washington Place, where she now lives, surrounded by splendor and elegance, but shut herself up and refusing to communicate with any one save her most intimate friends. She says the Republican cannon be overthrown, and all she asks is to be permitted to live, undisturbed as plain Mrs. Dominis.

President Dole has pardoned all the political prisoners. The wounds that followed the revolution and rebellion that followed are being rapidly healed, and all look forward to a long era of prosperity in the islands.

The Hinsdale (N. H.) Valley Record contains a long article relative to the death of Mr. Jonas G. Beaman of Buchanan, who was a former resident of that section. From the article in question, we call the following items that will be of interest to many of our readers: Mr. Beaman was born in Westminister, Mass., in 1834, and in 1837, removed to Hinsdale, N. H., which place he made his home for 54 years, or until 1891, when he moved to Buchanan. Mr. Beaman learned the machinist's trade, and for forty years was in the employ of Messrs. Newhall & Stebbins, the latter part of his time as master mechanic and foreman of the shops. He was a violinist of more than ordinary ability, and had acquired great proficiency in the rendition of classical violin music. In speaking of the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Beaman from Hinsdale, the Valley Record says that it was "a matter of universal regret in this village, when, five years ago, he and his excellent wife announced their intention of seeking a new home."

St. Joseph's Permanent Cures. St. Joseph, Mich., March 1896.—I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for kidney and liver affection from which I suffered for a long time, and have received much benefit. Two years ago I took medicine from physicians, but they did not cure me as much relief as Hood's Sarsaparilla. It has permanently cured me. Asa Coleman.
