Governor Pingree's Message.

Governor Pingree's message was read to the legislature on Tuesday afternoon and was an exceedingly comprehensive document.

I recommend that you authorize the appointment of a State board of five, to be non-partisan if the Constitution permits, which shall be empowered to make a just and equitable valuation of the franchises and other property of railroad companies, express companies, telegraph and telephone companies, at their true cash value, and to ascertain the average rate of taxes paid by the other property of the State for State, county and municipal purposes, and to assess the property of these companies at that rate, the moneys collected to be paid directly to the State Treasurer and by him distributed in the same manner as the moneys now collected from specific taxes.

In conclusion I desire to earnestly urge this duty upon you in the name of equality and justice. I trust that the people of our great State will have no part in your deliberations. Michigan should be absolutely just. Natural and artificial persons, whether rich or poor, resident or non-resident, are entitled to the same treatment before the law.

VERY MUCH ALIVE. Anyone who stepped into the rooms of the Buchanan Commercial Club last evening would have been impressed with the fact that this club was a very live institution. After refreshments the party spent some time in social conversation and then dispersed to their homes.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

God's Thank You.

A kind act is never lost, although the Cousin Jack or other person for whom we do it may not thank us. The door always receives a reward, as this little story illustrates.

"Little Jack was a 4-year-old and a great pet of mine, with yellow curls and blue eyes, and he had sweet, affectionate little ways. One day his cousin, a boy of 16, set Jack to work for him. He told him to pull up some weeds in the field while he finished his story. Little Jack worked away until his fingers were sore and his face was very hot.

I was working in my room when a very tired little boy came up to me. "Why, Jackie, what have you been doing?" I asked.

"The tears came into his eyes and his lips quivered and for a moment he did not speak. Then he said: "I've been kind to Cousin Jack. I worked drearily hard for him, and he never said thank you to me."

"Poor little Jackie! I felt sorry for him. It was hard lines not to have a word of thanks after all his hard work. But this night, when I had put him in his little cot, he said to me, "Auntie, this morning I was sorry that I pulled the weeds, but now I'm not sorry."

"How is that?" I asked. "Has Cousin Jack thanked you?"

"No, he hasn't, but inside me I have a good feeling, as always comes when I have been kind to any one, and do you know, I've found out what it is?"

"What is it, darling?" I asked. "And throwing his arms around my neck, he whispered to me, "God's thank you. —Our Gospel Letter."

Good Manners. These few remarks upon good manners will be indorsed by every boy and girl. Golden Days says:

"God's thank you" is among the greatest charms a person can possess, and everybody should cultivate them, especially young people. They are something money cannot purchase, for there is only one way of obtaining them, and that is by habitual civility.

We know a good mother who used to say: "Always use good manners at home, and then when you go among strangers you need never be ashamed, for it will be perfectly natural to you to be polite and respectful."

This is true, and we have always thought that the best and easiest way to do anything right was to get into the habit of doing it right.

Hardly anything is of more consequence than good manners and politeness in a boy or girl. They render those who possess them favorites with their relatives and friends, and prepossess strangers toward them. Politeness costs nothing and at the same time is of the greatest value.

Dancing in a Bubble. This is a soap bubble ballroom, with orchestra complete, if you please. It is made by stretching a violin or harp string lengthwise along a rule. Put a needle in the bridge underneath, and there is your orchestra. Now for the dancers. They are cut out of an old cork and painted as gorgeously as possible with oil colors. The dancers are mounted on the string. The bridge of the violin is used as a support for the string. The bridge of the violin is used as a support for the string. The bridge of the violin is used as a support for the string.
