Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet has sailed from Havana to look for the Spanish fleet.

The results of the engagement that have taken place in the war with Spain have been such as to make Spain feel like the man who had been fooling around with a gun and "did'nt know it was loaded." The magnificent victory gained by Commodore Dewey at Manilla has caused great enthusiasm in town, and details are anxiously awaited. Many who had friends with the fleet are waiting with fear as to the losses sustained by the Americans for there can be no doubt but that many sad hearts will beat in American homes when

The following address to the Michi gan Naval Reserve on their departure for the front explains in a great measure the secret of Gov. Pingree's nearness to the hearts of the people of tnis state.

Officers and men of the Michigan Naval Reserve: You are about to leave the State and enter into the service of the Nation. You will not be forgotten by your State which will watch your career with affectionate anxiety. If anything is needed to make your service less burdensome, or for your families and those dependent upon you, make your wants known, and rely upon prompt and energetic response. #### SMOKED WOODMEN Entertain their Friends with Songs and Jokes.

Monday evening was a great levening for the members of Buchanan Camp No. 886 M. W. A., who have been practising for a month back for a minstral performance and on that evening their friends enjoyed the results of their work. The Opera House was well filled and the performance gave general satisfaction.

Fred Eldridge acted as interlocutor and Messrs. Charlwood and Woodworth, bones, and Messrs. Diggins and Stanton, tambos. Miss Blanche Hunt represented Columbia, Miss Mame Hoffman, Cuba, and Mr. E. H. Bliss, Uncle Sam. The chorus was very good indeed, and was followed by a number of good solos interspersed with some pretty warm roasts on well known citizens.

Woodworth's song "Fly you Blackbirds Fly" was well rendered. "I aint obliged to stan' no fooling" by Diggins was also good. Park's Quartet gave a pleasing selection. Herbert Roe's solo, "My Old Kentucky Home" was rendered as only Herb can render it. Will East gave in magnificent style "Asleep in the Deep."

Part II opened with a Monologue and Song by Woodwrtoh, followed by Grotesque Clog. Dance by Harry Stowe. A very pleasing violin solo with piano accompaniment was rendered by Misses Vesta and Edna Pollock. One of the best exhibitions of the evening was the Horizontal bar work of Messrs. Hosterman and Charlwood. Geo. Stanton's Irish character sketch was excellent and was followed by C. C. Diggins in a "Stump Speech." Frank Bacon performed some clever feats at juggling, and the performance wound up with "The Coon's Picnic Party"

The audience were well pleased and the Woodmen feel well repaid for their work.

The M. W. A. Band made their appearance at the entertainment and have been highly complimented for their careful work.

The proceeds of the entertainment will be about $25 and will be used in the interest of the band which will be a permanent institution.

CHICAGO, May 3, Lower cables caused a marked recession in wheat at the opening to-day. the July option selling as low as 921, but later in the day came the announcement that the French duty had been taken off, and on this the price advanced steadily until the highest point of the session, 944, was reached, and at the close the bullish feeling was still very pronounced, The present difference in prices here and abroad affords an opportunity for the legitimate employment of capital in the shipment of wheat, and on this account some stronger intesests are said to have recently come into the market on an extensive scale. As to corn, it seems to follow wheat with strange fidelity up or down, and in consequence was in good demand at the close to-day at higher prices than had prevailed earlier in the session. A good many people are impressed with the idea that the weather this season will be unfavorable to the best levelopment of corn, and they also assert that country stocks are much smaller than is generally believed, so that they feel bullish at bresent prices, Provisions were strong to-day on heavy buying by large interests, The

The Board of Trustees of the Michigan Club met at the Club Rooms on April 25th to take action relative to the absence of Secretary Bingley R. The Board very magnanimously granted Mr. Fales leave of absence as long as he was in the service of the United States, and by resolution pledged itself that his salary for the year would not be affected by his absence. F. L. Brooke, one of the directors of the Club was chosen temporary secretary, and accepted such appointment on condition that his services would be without compensation. Horses which had been generally defeated were lobster horses, and as this colloquial expression got to be more general in use on the race tracks, it began to be applied not only to horses but to men and things as well. A lobster car was a car that made slow time; a lobster boat was a boat in which rapid time could not be expected. A lobster calculator was a man who took too long, in the judgment of his critics, to add up an account, and so gradually the name lobster has come to be accepted as a designation of sloth or infer crity and "he's a lobster" has come to be recarded as a phrase of disap-

All the indications of coming fashions tend to show that dressy gowns of every sort will have trimmed skirts, but many of the tailor gowns are made with pain skirts. Of course there are excelt as, where rows of stitching, cloth i inds, or braid are used, but the skirt which is nearly if not quite plain is recommended by the most fasiionable tailors as the only means of giving a distinctive, ladylike elegance to your gown, since the shops are so filled with tucked, corded, and Tucks are still and will continue to be a conspicuous feature of the silk blouse waists, being made by the thouand for spring and summer wear, but the latest fancy is the fine tucks, no wider than the tiny lines in an infant's gown. It is evidently the quality of the handiwork which is to distinguish the elegance of our gowns this season, and it cannot be too well done for the approval of fashion. The tucks can be arranged in horizontal or perpendicular groups, in squares or diagonal clusters, but they must be daintily fine. Rumor says that one of the fads in dress for the coming summer will be the silk waist of some dainty plair color, worn with a white pique skirt or one of white mohair prettily tucked or stitched in tiny cords.

This is one of the branches of the poultry business which is entirely neglected by the farmers of this vicinity and one which, if improved, would add greatly to the profits of the poultry department of the farm.

The reason for this neglect is the lack of knowledge of this branch of the poultry business and the belief that only the favored few may suc-

Besides for a small fee the services of price. An ordinary Plymouth Rock cockerel will weigh, when fit for market, about eight pounds, and a good price for him is seven cents per pound. As capon he may be made to weigh ten to twelve pounds. The lowest price I have ever seen quoted was fourteen cents per pound in Chi-

New York. It does not require much of a mathmatician to figure out the difference in profit between eight pounds at seven cents and ten pounds at fourteen to thirty-two cents, with no greater cost for food or care. The best breed for this purpose is the one that will develop a good-sized bird

One of the worst pests the poultry keeper has to contend with, is the small louse or mite which always remains on the roost. They may be found in crevices about the roosts during the day, and the minute the chichens go on the perches these fellows come forth in swarms, and before morning are a solid mass of blood. It might be interesting to figure out just how much corn it takes to keep a quart of these lice in a good healthy condition. You will be astonished at these figures. The more interesting subject is how to get rid of them. Simplest thing in the world: A teakettle full of boiling water and a soup laddle. A shower bath does the business. The International Congress. A. H. Stevens and assistant, H. D.

Otis, from Lansing, State Examiners from the Insurance Department, were in the city Friday and made a thorough examination of the books and records of the International Congress, at the conclusion of which was placed the O. K. stamp upon this excellent order, pronouncing their financial condition perfectly sound and healthly. Mr. Stevens has been making sad ravages among the unsafe com-panies of Michigan but the International Congress, as might be expected, receives the official O. K. of the authorities who look after this work for the commonwealth of Michigan. In making these examinations the officials are most thorough, as in this case they checked up every available report and record to the present date. The report made by this order to the state commissioner of insurance, Milo D. Campbell, on January 1st, last, was most flattering for an order of its age, and was as follows: Balance in benefit fund, $3,157.85; cash on hand in general fund, $871.32; assets not amitted in report, including office fixtures, supplies, etc., $844.80 This makes the total net assets to that date, $4,873.97, with no liabilities whatsoever. There is no question but that the record of the International Congress is one which has never been equalled in the history of fraternal insurance. The order has nearly doubled since the first of January last, and its growth seems to take on increased impetus as its age increases. To have the Supreme Body of the International Congress in Dowagiac is of considerable worth to us,

THE KIND YOU WANT.

You don't buy wash goods simply because they wash. You want dainty summer wear because they are dainty, pretty, serviceable and will wash if need be. If you want the prettiest of the pretty wash goods that are in vogue, reliable as well as beautiful, come here for them. We have them all: Organdies, Dimities, Zephyrs. All the dressy sweets that make summer the gayest season of all the year.

BLACK THAT IS BLACK.

If excellence has any value in your eyes, you will find it in our Black Dress Goods. We recognize the essential features that make quality. Reliable color first of all, stainless black that neither crocks nor spots, a bright fast black.

We buy none but reputable makes; goods with a reputation to sustain. We commend them to you on the strength of the manufacturers and our own reputation, with the assurance that they cost no more than the commoner goods.

THEY'RE CHEAPER NOW.

Time was when a handsome pair of Portieres cost a handful of money, and a cheap portiere was a cheat. A pair had to last a lifetime then. About one-fourth of what they used to cost, that is the cost to-day. No house is furnished without them. No other bit of furniture is so filling or adds so much to good looks for so little cost. $3.00 buys a rich pair of portieres here. A little more price gets a little more richness.

"She is all I have to give, Merriam," he presently said, "but she is all the world to me."

And so when Merriam returned to Solowiek to face the volleys of congratniction and the cecasional shakes of the head with which his seniors said to him: "She's a heap too good for you, man," he could not but be aware of the trend of public sentiment, and though time and again he had said as much to her, to her parents, to himself, it must be owned that here was a case where it was not entirely flattering to find the world of his own expressed opinion. It netited him not a little, and even Whittaker and Mrs. Hayne could not entirely comfort him. It was all very well to say: "You must remember that Florence has been the pet of our regiment ever since she was born. I declare, it makes me jealous at times for my own lables," as Mes. Haynedid. It was gratifying and complimentary to his taste that the commendation of his gentle ilquece was so general, but, no matter how conscious a man may be of his own shortcomings, is it ever a comfort to find that all his friends are equally aware of them? It must be owned that there were moments when Merriam grew impatient of these comments upon his unworthiness, expressed or implied, even while his heart rejoiced over the enthusiastic interest displayed by all the garrison in his wife that was to be.

And he was a very devoted lover, too. Only twice a week did the mail rider go out to the cantonment, but Randy wrote to her long, crowded pages every day, and her letters came even longer and brimful of love and sunshine and happiness. He had sent to St. Louis for her engagement ring, and her delight over it and its beauty was something delicious to see, though she properly rebuked him for his extravegance and warned him never again to spend so much money in jewelry for her while he was yet a poor Boutevant. By and by, when he became a great general, as surely he must, then it might be permissible, but no vector how great or distinguished he might become, nover could she be prouder of him or of his love than now, never, never!

As the late autumn vyce on it was arranged that the wedding should take place at Sedawlek, and both riflers and troopers, the -th foot and the -th horse, were to give the happy couple a glorious send-off. Both beide and groom-elect had seen much of the east and south offlin the ten years preceding this of 1.1, and Merriam suggested southern Collineals, Corerado Pench. Santa Parbara and Monterey for their honeyme on trip. Placence would have gone without question had he raid Humchatka or Timbuctoo. Once-twice during the numer of lanceletters had conclude him from Ned Parvy-letters ever which he pondered gravely. I'm and . To bluself had not eared to go, and did not call upon the Luppy couple or upon their revered mele when, as it happened, he did have te wa. "Mr. Mellon has rever vuiden me since my letter to him telling bim why I call not attend the westing," wrote Parry. "Yet I and I have get to have an a conting, and in the year future, too. Fill come by way of Sedgwick, and Charlotte-will not be with us.

And, though Merriam soon answered that letter, he made no mention of his ensugement. Cards in due lover were ison d in January just a fern light before the ceremony, and that via Parry's first inclination of "the impending erisis." Charlette was astonished. Both were rejuiced on one account, yet both wished, for the girl's sale ocain, that he had not been so precipitate. Each believed that the old leve still smaldered and could be fanned into flame. They sent a leautiful gift to the bride -some rare cut-glass pieces over which Florence almost cried with delight, and for the first time in long weeks Churlotte Parry wrote to her fall sister in Gotham and teld her of Mr. Merriam's engagement to such a charrily girl. the only daughter of a distinguished officer, the pride and beauty of the regiment, the toast of all the ear dry and other elaborations, some of which, it must be owned, Mrs. Perry coined, but most of them she compiled and evolved from the letter Merriam wrote to her two days after he had posted the cards.

The wedding was levely, as army weddings usually are. The day was perfect, the music grand, the assemblage all that could be desired; the ceremony, despite the mist of tears in many eyes and Tremaine's manifest emotion, had gone off without a jar. The reception at the Haynes' was simply perfect, as everybody said, and then, though it was a manifest "giveaway" of the young couple, and probably very bad form indeed, dezens of men and women had ridden to the junction to meet the west-hound train and see them off; and hardly had their fond faces faded in the distance than another, a very different one, a radiant, smiling, beautiful face, was unveiled to the startled vision of the bride, and the woman who was said to have wrecked Randolph Merriam's life a few months gone by was there in most bewitching guise, despite the dust, and grime of railway travel, to overwhelm her with pretty speeches and charming compliments—and complete dismay.

CHAPTER VI.

Merriam's intention had been to go direct to San Diego. Leaving the ladies together, after a cold and embarrassed acknowledgment of Mrs. McLane's greeting and a most unwilling presentation to "my wife," he hurried into an other car to be alone and collect his thoughts. It was sundown by this time, and only sundown. For hours yet poor Florence might be at the mercy of that merciless woman, who Merriam now believed could be capable of anything. The thought was unbearable. From the conductor he learned that the McLanes were bound for Coronado Beach, and that settled it. Hastily writing a few lines he folded the paper compactly and walked briskly back to the Pullman. Both faces lighted at his coming, Floy's with infinite relief, Fanny's with laughing triumph. "Not another moment's leave, sir,"

That in case of threatened war or invasion of this state, or of the United States, the governor of this state is authorized by the issuance of the proper or-ders to cause any or all the companies of the Michigan national guard to be in creased to a strength of not exceeding 150 enlisted men for each company. Section 2. Whenever a company is ncreased in accordance with the preceding section to a strength of 160 men or more, such company shall be officered by a captain, one first lieutenant, and one senior and one junior second lieutenant. The non-commissioned officers of a company shall consist of five sergeants of the line, and one commissary sergeant and eight corporals. When a company shall consist of over 100 men, there shall be eight sergeants of the line, and twelve corporals. In such case there shall be three musicians. Section 3. In case troops of the state of Michigan are called into the field, for the purpose of recruiting them originally and of keeping the organizations up to maxi-mum strength, the governor may appoint and commission recruiting officers and pay masters, and assign them to duty at such points in the state as he may designate. Such officers may be of any rank not higher than major, and shall be paid the pay prop-er of officers of like grade in the United States army or navy.

Section 4. . It shall be the duty of such officers to enlist and muster recruits for the organizations from this state that may be in the military and naval service unde any order of the president of the United States, and for those which are being prepared for such service. Such officers shall pared for such service. Such officers shall organize, instruct, drill and discipline the troops and naval forces enlisted in such manner as they shall from time to time be ordered to do by the governor in accordance with military and naval laws, regulations and customs of service. Section 5. In case the recruits so enlisted for the infantry arm of the service shall service, or in case it shall be advisable to organize volunteer regiments, the governor by and with the advice and recommendation of the state military board may organize regiments of eight companies each, each company to consist of not less than 100 men nor more than 150 enlisted men, with the same number of non-commissioned officers and musicians, and the same number of company officers of the same rank as are provided for in section two of this act.

Each regiment shall consist of two bat-talions of four companies each. The field officers of a regiment shall consist of one colonel, one lieutenant colonel and two majors. The staff shall consist of one surgeon with the rank of major, one assistant surgeon with the rank of captain, one chaplain with the rank of captain, one adjutant and one regimental quartermaster, each with the rank of first lieutenant. Skeleton regiments may be formed and recruited.

The non-commissioned staff shall be the same as that of an infantry regiment of the United States army.

The commissioned officers of regiments so organized shall be appointed and commissioned by the governor.

Regimental bands may be enlisted and mustered and shall consist of the like number of musicians as the band of an infan-try regiment in the United States army at the present time.

Officers and enlisted men shall be paid from the time they are placed on duty with the pay of like grades in the United States Artillery and cavalry and naval organizations may be enlisted and, in case they shall be, these arms of the service shall be organized in the same manner as the reg-ular establishment of the United States army and navy are organized in time of war, and the foregoing provisions as to recruiting and recruiting officers shall ap-ply to their organization. Camps of instrucion may be ordered. Section 6. Wherever the organization of troops or naval forces, under this act, is not herein specially provided for, such organization shall, as nearly as may be, conform to the laws, regulations and customs of service of the United States army or navy. Section 7. Whenever, in the discretion of the governor, the necessity for an increased strength of the companies of the Michigan national guard then within the state of Michigan shall no longer exist he shall reduce such companies to the maximum strength provided for under the laws in force prior to the passage of this act. Such reduction shall be accomplished by mustering out all men unfit for service, and in the discretion of the governor all who shall apply for discharges. If these cases fail to reduce any company to its maximum strength under laws in force before the passage of this act, then such enlisted men as shall be recommended by their company commanders for muster out, shall be discharged.

If four company officers still remain to the companies, the jumor second lieuten-ant shall be mustered out. All such musters out and discharges shall be honorable, unless reasons exist under military laws for musters out and discharges of a different nature in individual

Section 8. In case of a tie vote on an election for officers in any organization of the Michigan mational guard, the proceedings at the election shall be at once returned to the adjutant general, and the commander in chief shall appoint and com-mission officers to fill the positions for which such election was held; such appointments shall be for the same term as if such officers had been elected, and the appointees shall take rank from the date

f appointment. Section 9. In case the congress of the United States shall pass laws applying to the military or raval forces of all the states, or the president shall call for dif-ferent organization of troops from that herein provided, this law shall be in force only so far as it is not in conflict with the laws of the United States, or with the call of the president. In either case above mentioned, troops shall be organized in ac-cordance with the laws of the United States or the president's call as the case may be Section 10. Officers of the line, staff general staff not on duty outside the state may be assigned to active duty in connecder the provisions of this act in accordance with their rank, and when so assigned shall with their rank, and when so assigned shall receive the same pay as officers of like grade in the United States army.

Section 11. All acts and parts of acts heretofore passed by the legislature of the state of Michigan in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

This act is ordered to take impossible to the state of Michigan in conflict with the act are hereby repealed.

A New York veterinary surgeon has announced that he would gladly give a capable woman constant work as an assistant in his treatment for injured and ailing horses. Still there are few if any sick animals. Germany and Russia boast of women veterinarians, but England has to plead guilty to no women declaring themselves thus practically on the side of suffering dumb creatures This is especially queer when it is remembered that the women of the merry island are proverbially fond of dogs, cats and horses, many of the leading ladies of title finding their greatest pleasure in the chase and the kennels The field of work for women among pet cats and dogs should be a very large one At the present moment, strange to say, the rank and file of the physicians who attend animals are better paid than their counterparts who attend human beings. The system of long credit that prevails in regard to people does not seem to hold when accepted as indicative of the fact that people are less grateful to the man who cures their children than to the one who treats the pony or the pet dog Rather is it a sign that the physician's profession is overcrowded, while that of the veterinary surgeon is not.

Here, then, is one more outlet for the activity of healthy, fearless girls. Of course it requires an immense amount of study and hard work—what profession does not? And it offers no field to dreamy people with shivery nerves and an artistic temperament—so much the better.

The great advantage is that when the studies have been completed and the veterinarian is ready for the struggle there is an excellent prospect before her of well paid work to do. Can any one say as much in regard to music, painting or literature?

There is no large farm or cattle range or ranch where there is not frequent need of the skill of the veterinarian. There are hundreds of settlements today where their sole dependence in a veterinary way is some Indian or half breed.—Philadelphia Press.

Old Ab Drake was one of the "odd sticks" that flourished in a Vermont rural neighborhood a good many years ago. His wife was a meek, obedient. spiritless woman, over whom Ab tyrannized for fifty years, when she quietly slipped out of this world. Old Ab's pan gyrles on his dead wife's virtues were loud and long. Before the funeral he said to one of his neighbors: "She was the best woman on the top of this earth. I jess thought the world and all of her-yes, I Ad! I always thought it, and hanged if there wa'n'i times when I come mighty near telling her so! Yes, sir! an' I would of told her so, only I've always held, and 1 still hold, that it ain't safe to praise anything that wars petticcats, 'Captin' for that, I would of told 'Lizy Ellen what I thought of her many a time -yes, I would!"-Beston Journal.
