Riverside Camp Meeting.
The meeting is progressing finely and with great interest. The three sermons delivered by Bishop Breyfogle on last Sabbath were an inspiration and were very highly appreciated by the people. The speakers over the coming Sabbath are Rev. Joshua Gill of New England and Rev. Geo. Johnson of Naperville, Ills. The number of tents and tenters is the largest in the history of the association. Long live Riverside Camp.

We have just received the annual announcement of the Veterinary Department of the Detroit College of Medicine. On reviewing it, we are pleased to note the thorough course of instruction which is given in the various branches of Veterinary Science and especially commend the daily provision which is made for the practical application of the subjects in the different class-rooms. We can supply catalogues to those who desire to enquire further into the details of the workings of this institution, as a number of extra copies have been sent for our distribution. The college year begins on Tuesday, Sept. 27, 1898.

The Democrats Nominate.
The County Convention of the Democratic party was held Monday at Berrien Springs. The following is the list of men who will lead the forlorn hope this year.
For Sheriff—Fred Collins, Benton Harbor.
For Clerk—W. Webber, St. Joseph.
For Register of Deeds—L. H. Kempton, Weesaw.
For Treasurer—James M. Babcock, Niles.
For Circuit Court Commissioners—David Bacon, Niles; John C. Coveny, Buchanan.
For Coroners—G. L. Freemyer, Benton Harbor; J. Kreigher, St. Joseph.
The convention endorsed the candidacy of Roman I. Jarvis for Congress, and then adjourned. It is estimated that this ticket will be about as badly defeated this year as any ticket ever put up.

A Cool Thief.
When Mr. John Morris opened up his store, Friday morning, he did not, at first, notice anything unusual, but as he proceeded with his work he noticed that something was amiss, and that two large panes of glass were broken in at the rear of the store. Upon investigation he found that someone had deliberately fitted himself out with an entire new suit, shoes, hat and underwear, at Mr. Morris' expense. The thief was real obliging, for he left the box from which he took the shoes and also the tag from the coat, in order to let Mr. Morris know what he had taken. The shoes were size 10 1/2, the hat 7 1/2 and the coat 40, and the underwear boxes had been overhauled to get just the right size and kind of underwear to suit his fastidious taste. Deputy Sheriff Jao. C. Wenger at once took charge of the case, and is busily engaged in running down the various clues to the thief or thieves.

A Pretty Home Wedding.
On Wednesday evening, August 17, Oscar L. Wright and Harriett E. Davis were joined in wedlock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis. Only the immediate relatives, numbering about 25 were present.
At 7:45 the appointed hour, all the guests having assembled in the parlor, Mrs. Bennett rendered the wedding march, by which the couple entered and took positions under beautiful decorations of vines at one side of the room. A simple and most impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Bennett.
The bride looked very pretty attired in a light tan gown with silk and chiffon trimmings. Both the bride and groom wore beautiful bouquets of white chrysanthemums.
After hearty congratulations the guests repaired to the dining room and partook of a beautiful wedding supper.
A number of useful and valuable gifts were bestowed upon the happy pair as tokens of high esteem.
Several well rendered solos by Rev. Bennett added much to the evening's enjoyment. Shortly after ten the guests departed feeling that great credit was due Mr. and Mrs. Davis for the hospitable manner in which they had been entertained.—Three Oaks Press.

In Camp and On the March.
CAMP, NEAR THORNTONVILLE, MICH., Aug. 18, 1898.

DEAR EDITOR:—I will write you a letter, this time, and give you a detailed account of our experience as U. S. Volunteer soldiers on a long march.

At 9:30 p. m. on Monday, Aug. 1, we all turned in for a good sleep, and the entire camp (this was Camp Alger) was snoring so loud that Jim and I thought it was the Modern Woodman Band of Buchanan at practice when, at 11:30, an orderly from headquarters came into camp with the orders to break camp at 3 o'clock in the morning for a long march to the mountains. The camp at Alger was getting so unhealthy that the war department decided to move the camp.

We fell into line at 5:30 a. m., Aug. 2, in heavy marching order ready to start. When a soldier is equipped in heavy marching order, he has a rifle belt and side arms, a sack filled with his mess-kit, and provisions (if he has any) for the march, a canteen of water or coffee, a knapsack in which he carries his clothing and woolen blanket, and then he does his pup tent and poncha, or rubber blanket, in a roll and fastens it to the top of his knapsack, the whole outfit weighing about sixty-five pounds.

The column formed at 3:45 a. m., and started on our long march. During the first day the thermometer reached 104 degrees, and out of the 24,000 men in line, 3,100 fell out and the rest were good and tired when we reached Burke station, sixteen miles from Camp Alger. We laid over at that point one day, and all we had to eat that day was six hard tacks, and we got nothing more until the next morning. We left there at 5:30 on the morning of Aug. 4, for a thirteen-mile march to the old battle field of Bull Run, where the second battle of Bull Run was fought. The camp of the 33d was on the ground where the Ohio Reg. made their charge in that battle. The old breast works are still plainly visible. This day the boys went without anything to eat, so as soon as we got our tents pitched the boys went foraging and when they got back to camp you could smell fresh beef and pork and all kinds of fowl that the boys were cooking. Jim and I got two turkeys and one chicken, beside a lot of corn and potatoes. To make matters worse it rained every night that we were on the march. We would go into camp, put up our pup tent, then get a lot of fence rails, and straw from neighboring stacks for our beds, and then dig a ditch around our tents with our bayonets, which is no small task.

On Aug. 7, we left Bull Run for Manassas, a distance of fourteen miles. On the following day the 33d was put out on post duty, so there was no sleep for the boys for that 24 hours. It was still raining continuously which, of course, was very pleasant for the boys. On the 9th we broke camp and started for our present camp, a distance of twenty miles. The road was one continuous up-hill, and it started to rain shortly after we left camp, and it never stopped once during the day. By noon the road was almost impassable. We were the rear guard, and after the entire army of 24,000 men had marched through that wet, red Virginia day, you can imagine what the roads were like. We were walking in mud up to our knees and going up-hill with our load on our backs, and the worst of it was they would not let us rest long enough to eat what little we had with us. I tell you it goes pretty hard to get up and start off again, just after you commence to eat a hard tack. In the last day's march there was not one boy in the 33d that fell out; every man came into camp with his company. We have the reputation of being the best walkers in the Division.

Our camp is up in the Blue Ridge mountains, 4,500 feet above sea level. Our orders are to stay here one week, and then we start on a march of 150 miles, to Middleton, Pa., where our next camp will be. From there we go to Montauk Pt., L. I., where we will join our old regiment. It spite of all the hardships of the last ten days, the boys are in good spirits and, best of all, in good health. We are in the 2d Division of the 2d Army Corps, and are under the command of Major General Davis, a man whom all the boys like. The American Tobacco Co. made every man in camp a present of a 1/2 lb. plug of Battle Axe, a pack of Dukes Mixture Smoking, and a good briar pipe.

Our Captain, whose name is Fred Griesel, from Saginaw, Mich., is going to take the boys up the mountains, so I will close in order to go with him. Hoping to hear from the folks at home, I remain yours truly, and his pard Jim.
WM. O. STRAUER,

Little Edith, a fresh-air-fund girl, while taking her daily walk in the country, noticed a brilliant butterfly alight on the ground before her. "Isn't it too bad," she exclaimed, quickly, "that somebody's sweet pea flower got broken off and blown so far away out of the garden?"—Demorest's Monthly.

Not Pleasant.
"Did you take that bouquet to Miss Lardi?" "Yes, sir." "What did she say?" "She said as how a fool and his money is soon parted, sir."—Ally Sloper.

More Money in Five Acres.
It is a significant fact that the possibilities of close or intensive cultivation of small areas of land, say five acres, as against the ordinary cultivation of large tracts, say one hundred acres, is not realized by farmers and others. Five acres of garden crops under careful cultivation will yield, every time, a larger income than one hundred acres as ordinarily worked. For instance, in strawberries alone, one-quarter acre should easily yield 1,000 quarts, which in a local market, should fetch five to six dollars. How many acres of what off the farm will it require to bring in the same returns? American Gardening, P. O. Box 1097, New York, is offering some wonderful strawberry plants as a premium, and our readers can obtain sample copy and full particulars free on application, also pamphlet entitled, "A Fortune in Strawberries, or, How a Poor Boy Became Wealthy." We advise all who have ground to send for it.

The Omaha Exposition.
When the World's Fair at Chicago ceased to exist, it was supposed that we should never look upon its like again. However, the Trans-Mississippi Exposition at Omaha has effectively reproduced in similarity all of the buildings which made the White City so attractive in 1893.

It does not now take weeks to wander through grounds and structures of all kinds, but chief among them is a jumble of ideas for the marvelous resources of the West, collected together in the chief city of Nebraska.

Even the new Midway, a reproduction of the far-famed Street of All Nations of 1893, with many improvements upon the original.

The electric lighting of the buildings, grounds and lagoon at night makes a scene of enchanting beauty, alone worth traveling a thousand miles to see.

The means of communication between the city and the grounds are ample, and the distance to be traversed is short.

The ways of reaching Omaha are innumerable, but chief among them is the direct Chicago and Omaha short line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, with its electric lighted, vestibuled trains, leaving Chicago every night at 10:15 p. m., and arriving Omaha at 8:30 the next morning.

Dining car service en route.

Excursion tickets are on sale at every coupon ticket office in the United States over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway through Northwestern Illinois and Central Iowa, as well as at 95 Adams St., and at the Union Passenger Station, Canal and Adams streets, Chicago. 3t

STOMACH TROUBLES.
Indigestion—Dyspepsia.
Medical Science has Produced a Cure at Last.
The increasing prevalence of dyspepsia has been the cause of the gravest concern to the medical profession, and for years leading scientists have been experimenting to produce a remedy. Constant effort in this direction has introduced many preparations which barely afford temporary relief to sufferers. It remained for Prof. Drake, a chemist of many years experience, to produce a treatment which has proved to be a positive cure for the disease in all its manifold forms, which is known as Drake's Dyspepsia Cure and Nerve Restorer. In order to obtain a common disadvantage to sufferers—that of buying medicine which has lain perhaps for years in drug stores and is necessarily of the case where all druggists handle the same article—the manufacturers are placing Drake's Dyspepsia Cure and Nerve Restorer with a limited number of druggists, consequently you are sure to always receive the treatment fresh, although being put up in tablets and tightly sealed boxes, it will retain its freshness longer than in any other form.

If you are troubled with indigestion, sour stomach, acid fermentation, or any form of nervous dyspepsia, call at W. F. Bradley, leading druggist of Buchanan and ask for Drake's Dyspepsia Cure and Nerve Restorer. A book on Stomach and Nerve troubles, their symptoms and cure, given free for the asking at the above-mentioned store.
