Going past at the rate of 20 a minute, 1,200 an hour during the entire year, the reviewer at his post would only have seen the sixth part of the infantile host. In other words, the babe that had to be carried when the tramp began would be able to walk when but a mere fraction of its comrades had reached the reviewer's post, and when the year's ness of Hon. Roscoe D. Dix, of do all in their power to "push it Berrien Springs, who will be en- along." dorsed for renomination by the Republican convention held at Niles today. That "Our Roscoe" will be renominated and elected is already conceded by everyone in the state that has paid any attention to the able and efficient conduct of this department under the direction of General Dix The general verdict has been one of universal satisfaction over the manner in which "Our own Roscoe" has handled the vast and extensive duties of this responsible position.

Who will be Renominated for State Senator in This District.

We present to our readers a cut of the Hon. Edwin A. Blakeslee, of Galien, who will be renominated at the Senatorial convention to be held | you not far from sixty cents. Mix at Niles next Tuesday. Senator Blakeslee has served one term in the Senate at Lansing and with credit to himself and his district. He has held important places on committees and has unhesitatingly declared himself in favor of equal taxation, as provided for in the so-called "Atkinson Bill" having also voted for that measure in the special session of the the legislature last spring. That Senator Blakeslee will be elected no one who has looked over the ground will question for a moment. That Senator Blakeslee will perform his duties in a manner that will be satisfacto y to his constituency is also a matter that cannot be for an instant a question of doubt.

Civic-Philanthropic Conference. The second annual session of the Civic-Philanthropic Conference will be held at Battle Creek; Mich., Oct, 18 to 23, 1898, of which Rev. David J. Burrill, D. D., New York City, is president, and J. H. Kellogg, M. D., Battle Creek, Mich., is vice president. Philanthropists, educators, and ministers of all denominations will participate in the conference to consider economic, hygenic, sanitary, philanthropic, and patriotic questions, with the hope of evolving some practical methods of reform. For complete program and particulars, address S. Sherin, Secretary, Sanitarium, Battle Creek, Mich.

The M. C. R. R. company will sell on September 16, 17 and 18 excursion tickets to Boston. Mass., at one firstclass limited fare for the round trip. Limited to return not later than September 30th. G. H. BLACK'S PROPOSED FACTOR ON NORTH PORTAGE STREET. IT'S A GOOD THING.

Some time ago a petition was presented the Common Council, asking that North Portage street be widened the full legal width. The petition was referred to the Street Committee for investigation and report. It may be of interest to our readers to know that this request is made with the idea of fostering a new factory in town. Mr. Geo. H. Black now owns the machinery formerly used in the Black & Willard factory, and expresses a willingness to put up a fine brick factory, as outlined in the above diagram, for the purpose of making furniture or other wood work, provided the village will open up Portage street, north of River street, to the full width. This request is certainly not unreasonable, it would seem, if it would add another factory in our town, and the street can be widened easier now than at a later time. If the matter can be arranged there is no doubt but that our village trustees will arrange it, and the wheat crop of 1898 calls for extraordinary effort on the part of Michigan wheat growers to prevent a repetition of the loss from this source next year. It is now wellknown that smut is a disease carried forward from one year to another in the seed wheat. The disease converts the kernel into a black, ill smelling mass of spores which, when the smutty kernels are broken up by the thereshing machine or by handling, attach themselves to the sound kernels. When wheat so infected is sun, the keinels and these spores of smut germinate at the same time. The smut plant grows inside the wheat stem throughout the season, and when the wheat is ripening it turns the kernels in the head of wheat into the well-known smut kernels. The spread of the disease may best be prevented by treating the seed wheat. The remedies are neither expensive nor laborious in application.

TREATMENT No. 1, FORMALIN. Buy at a reliable drug store a pound of formalin. It should cost with fifty gallons of water. Put the seed wheat in a pile on a floor which has been swept clean and sprinkled with the same solution of formalin. Spray or sprinkle the wheat with the formalin solution, shoveling the pile over meanwhile until all the surface of every kernel is wet. Do not use an excess of the liquid or it will hinder germination. Leave in a pile for 24 hours and sow at once or dry and sow later. The bags and other utensils with which the seed wheat comes in contact should also be treated.

TREATMENT To. 2. Substitute one pound of corrosive sublimate for the formalin in the above remedy and treat the wheat otherwise exactly as explained above. Remember that corrosive sublimate is a deadly poison and neither of these solution should be left where stock can possibly gain access to it. The corrosive sublimate is rather hard to dissolve and the solution should be prepared by dissolving the pound of the drug in three or four gallons of hot water and adding later a sufficient quantity to bring the total amount up to the required fifty gal-

TREATMENT No. 3, BLUE VITRIOL. Dissove one pound of blue vitriol in four gallons of water and spray the wheat as in the treatments above. The four gallons should wet thirteen bushels of wheat. This method is as good as neither of the preceding since copper sulphate, or blue vitriol, as it is variously called, injures the germination of the wheat.

TREATMENT No. 4, HOT WATER. Soak the seed wheat for ten minates in water at 133 degrees F. Use a tested thermometer only. Provide two vessels large enough to hold twenty gallons each, if possible. One sack or wire basket. Keep it there until warm, then plunge into the second vessel, lifting it out occasionally and shifting it about in the scalding water until every kernel has been exposed to the temperature. Remove from the second vessel at the end of tures, a general and decided deficienten minutes, and cool immediately, either by spreading on a clean floor in a thin layer or plunging in a barrel of cold water. Dry and sow or sow broadcast at once.

Buying Laying Hens. When you wish to procure a flock of laying hens never buy them from the coops that reach the city markets as such fowls are usually collected from many farms and may cause lice and disease to appear, although the fowls may apparently be healthy. Even when buying nearer home, and from reliable parties, examine the premises and the conditions under which the birds were kept, and then carefully examine each bird before taking it to your yards. If this course is adhered to there will be less liability of disease, as it is safe to assert that a large majority of failures with poultry are due to lack of care in procuring the fowls. The best way is to raise your hens, but if this cannot be done, then make it a Postponement durwhich must be guarded against.

RIDDING FOWLS OF LICE. It is difficult to rid fowls of lice by dusting them with powders, though some of the remedies advertised are excellent. One method is to use strong scapsuds dipping the fowl therein and rinsing in clean water. If a teaspoonful of carbolic acid is added to the suds it will he au advantage. Dusting can be done by the hens themselves if they are given an opportunity by having at than in the very best of all past their disposal sifted dry dirt. Keep | years, and yet there is every prospect the poultry house clean and the hens will keep their bodies clear of lice.

HENS LOSING FEATHERS. When the hens begin to lose their feathers they will require but little attention if kept dry and free from dampness. Give them all the grass mess at night of ground grain, ground meat, and bran, adding an ounce of linseed meal and a teaspoonful of sulphur to every pound of the grain mixture, and allowing a quart of food to fifteen hens. The mixture is an excellent one to promote the growth of new feathers. P. H. JACOBS.

* * * * U. S. Department of Agriculture, Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, Michigan Section, for the week ending September 8d, 1898.

The mean temperature for the week ended Saturday, September 3d, 74.1 | nally, acting directly upon the blood degrees, was 10.7 degrees warmer than the normal. This is an abnormal departure. The excess of temperature during the last 4 days of the week daily ranged from 15 to 17 degrees more than the normal; the early part of the week was cooler. Maximum temperatures of over 90 degrees have occurred in all parts of the state.

The average total precipitation, 0.18 of an inch, was 0.38 of an inch

The sunshine has averaged 80 per cent of the possible amount.

The past week has been character ized by abnormally high temperacy of precipitation, and a large amount of sunshine. Corn has matured very rapidly, too rapidly for best results. Many farmers have cut corn earlier than they expected in order to save the stalks for fodder; corn has eared fairly well but the cars are somewhat shrunken; corn cutting is now quite general in the principal corn counties of the lower peninsula. Generally late potatoes have done fairly well and will yield a fair crop. Bean harvest is about completed but the yield is only about half a crop. In the northern counties of the lower peninsula and in the upper peninsula pastures are green and affording excellent fodder, but in the southern half of the state the hot dry weather has burnt them up and considerable stock is being fed. Fall plowing and preparations for wheat seeding have progressed steadily, but farmers are waiting for rain before generally commencing wheat and rye seeding although much of that work has already begun. Reports concerning peaches, pears and grapes are very encouraging, but plums, although abundant, are rotting on the trees. Reports regarding apples are about the same early ones poor and fairly plentiful -late ones scarce.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Review says: "The smallest failures ever recorded in any one month for five years were those of August. No other month rule never to procure a fowl that is since the monthly reports were commenced, by Dun's Review exclusively, has shown defaulted liabilities as small within $1,000,000, and the ratio of such defaults to solvent $108.70 in $100,000, is smaller by 26.5 per cent. than in any previous month, the clearings having been month. The enormous volume of ing the months of war of some contracts and purchases which have now. come forward explains part of the increase, and the strong absorption of securities explains part, but there has also been a great decline in the average of prices for all commodities so that it takes a much larger volume of business in tons or bushels to make up transactions amounting to a million than in 1892. It is therefore strictly true that business is larger of much further increase."

THE TOUR OF MR. BRYAN

His Views Gained From a Palace Car Window.

AT VARIANCE WITH THE FACTS.

Mexican Government Officials, and He Misrepresentation of the Conditions.

[This series of letters is the result of a perl'Inis series of letters is the result of a per-sonal visit to Mexico made by the writer early in 1898 as a special representative of the Michigan Republican Newspaper Association to investigate the monetary system of that

The statements made by Mr. Bryan soon after his return home from his visit to Mexico vary so widely from the actual facts as they exist today, admitted and known by all, regardless of relation to the country or interest in its welfare, that it is charitable to accept the explanation made to the writer by a conductor on the Mexican Central railway that "Mr. Bryan's visit to Mexico was only a Pullman palace car tour. Wherever he went he was met by government bands and feasted and flattered by government officials and representatives of Mexican investment interests. He refers to the laboring classes of Mexico, but what he says of them shows he found out nothing about them. He was extravagantly entertained in Mexico, and he returns the favor by an extravagant misrepresentation of conditions as he could have found them if he had tried to find out the trnth about them." Whatever may be true of the conductor's explanation as to the statements made by Mr. Bryan, certain it is that some of the more important of them bear little or no relation to the conditions they assume to present. In my I will not present individual contradiction or personal denial, but will make use of the authorities which Mr. Bryan himself would probably have accepted, even though he might not have desired to make use of them. More than ordinary interest attaches to Mr. Bryan's statement concerning Mexico because of his position as the accepted leader of the free silver factions of the United States, in which interest his views were evidently induced, and because of his unqualified statement that what he had seen and learned in Mexico would add to his effort to secure the adoption of the Mexican free silver system by the American people. This statement was made by Mr. Bryan: My observation as well as my reason leads me to believe that the use of silver has been of material advantage to Mexico, and I am more than ever convinced that the best interests of our people demand the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1 with-out waiting for the aid or consent of any other

Mr. Bryan's personal interest in the matter involved evidently has much to do with the formation of his opinion as to what is for "the best interests of our people." Mr. Bryan further says: The free coinage of silver is entirely satisfactory to the people of Mexico. They have had a chance to test their system thoroughly and to compare it with the systems of the United States, England, France and Germany, and I find no disposition either among the officials er among the people to favor the gold standard. The today of the people of the systems of the s ard. The federal government pays about $6,000,000 annually on gold obligations, and, while it is compelled to collect over $12,000,000 in silver to cover this interest account, it has no diffi

Mr. Bryan's reference to "the people of Mexico" and his suggestion as to comparison with the United States and other countries would be amusing if the subject was less serious in view of the fact that "the people of Mexico" are in the most unsatisfactory condition of any of the civilized nations on the globe, judged by any of the elements of life which civilization would accept as satisfactory. They are the poorest paid. the poorest clothed, the poorest housed and fed of any of the people of the leading nations of the world. Although Mexico had what historians refer to as an advanced civilization before the United States government was formed there are today 20 states of the Union either of which surpasses all of Mexico in accumulated wealth, industrial, agricultural and commercial importance and in every respect save population natural resources and extent of territo-

Matter of Grave Concern If comparisons are odious, however, in the present instance, permit me to quote from The Mexican Financier of the first week of February of the present year relative to Mr. Bryan's assurance as to the government having "no difficulty because of the prosperous con dition of the nation's industries:'

At the time silver dropped so sharply every interest here was affected, and the currency question was a matter of, and the currency question was a matter of grave concern to the government, which has a heavy gold interest to pay abroad. The young and capable finance minister of this republic, Limantour, gave all his time to a careful consideration of the matter, and the conclusion was finally reache that Mexico must stand by silver.

Here we find it stated by the leading business journal of Mexico, itself an advocate of free silver, that every interest was affected by a fall in the price of silver and evidently the question as to whether or not Mexico could longer endure its free silver system became a matter of grave concern to the government. If a fall in the price of silver denaralizes every interest and causes grave concern to the government, Mr. Bryan himself can be quoted as to how blighting and prostrating would be any change in the opposite direction, which would make the currency of the country much dearer and harder to get. In further reference to Mr. Bryan's statement as to the government ease in meeting the extra burdens created by free coinage, I quote further from The Mexican Financier, from an article which the latter journal had taken from the London Financial News and approvingly headed, "Favorable Opinion of a London Journal:"

For 1898-9 the Mexican budget estimates the expenditure at $52,109,500. The growth of the expenditure, which is some $1,600,000 larger than the estimates of the budget commission for the current year, is accounted for as to $1,172 by the larger amount that will be required for the service of the external debt, taking the Mexican dollar at 23 pence as against $2 pence, the figure for the current year. The difficulties with which the government has to charges are too apparent to need explanation, and, although there was a cheerful tone in the last message of President Diaz to congress with

The above information suggests why it was a matter of grave concern, which was given careful consideration before the conclusion was reached that Mexico should continue to stand by silver. The fact that the free coinage of silver reduces by half the price of labor and thereby invites capital desiring to take advantage of such conditions was probably the determining factor in the problem as to whether or not Mexico should stand by silver. Labor Conditions

In order, however, that there shall be no question as to whether Mr. Bryan's statement that the conditions perpetuated by the free coinage of silver are "entirely satisfactory to the people of Mexico" is at all justified we give the following quotation from an editorial published in The Mexican Herald, the leading daily paper of Mexico, a paper extremely friendly to Mr. Bryan and, as will be noted, an advocate of the continuance of his peculiar financial policy in Mexico for a time at least. In an issue of the last week in February, some time after the visit of Mr. Bryan to Mexico and after the publication of his views as to affairs here, The Herald

Meantime Mexico will push forward, aided by her cheap money and the consequent protection of the gold premium, which acts as a bounty. But the time will come when it will be desirable that our money shall be made good money abroad. Labor conditions here will slowly change, and the children of the peon, educated in the public schools, will develop those wants which are at the basis of what we know as civilization. When these children become men, they will not work, as their dren become men, they will not work, as their fathers have, for a small wage and be content.

There is no possibility of mistaking the meaning of this declaration or of denying its justification. The free coinage of silver in Mexico with its attendant results can exist only until those wants are developed which are at the basis of civilization. The children educated in the public schools will not endure the effects of free silver as their fathers have endured them. Mr. Bryan says the Mexican dollar will buy almost as much as it would in 1873, and he refers to a yard of cloth which could have been bought with a Mexican dollar in 1873, now increased in price to $2.10, with transportation and tariff added as an illustration of the bad effects of the monetary standard of the outside world rather than that of Mexico. But with the silver in which this cloth price is to be paid now being profitably produced for from 30 to 40 cents per ounce, measured by the same gold standard of value as is the cloth. whereas in 1873 silver was held by its producers at $1.03, his illustration becomes a mere childish play upon words with evident desire to deceive. He says that wages are higher on an average in Mexico than ever before and still rising. I have a Mexican publication before me which quotes from an official report addressed to the Belgian department of foreign affairs to the effect that labor in the most profitable investing and producing districts of Mexico "rarely exceeds 25 centavos per workingman per day," and Mr. Bryan knows that the rate of wages which is rarely exceeded is usually above the average. Twenty-five centavos per day is worth between 11 and 12 cents in American currency. I was told at the Zacatecas mines and at the Aguas Calientes smelter and at La Aurora woolen factory in the same city, and the 🔌 same information has been many times repeated in the City of Mexico, that wages for the same line of employment had not increased in Mexico during the past ten years.

· Americans In Mexico. Mr. Bryan says he found the productions of our protected manufacturers ev erywhere in Mexico, selling in competition with their European rivals. He could have further said, had he been well informed on the subject, that American protected productions have invaded Europe itself, recently increasing our exports in that line to totals never before attained, and that, too, without the aid of the almost prohibitive nonrevenue producing "wall to keep out foreign competition" which Mr. Bryan approvingly refers to as one result of free coinage in Mexico. He says that Mexican exporters have a great advantage over competitors living in gold standard countries. They most assuredly have, and that great advantage is the cheap labor they secure as a direct result of the free coinage of silver. It is an advantage not shared by the Mexican producer who sells for silver, nor by the Mexican laborer who works for silver, but is monopolized by the exporter who sells for gold and with it buys silver, as he would tobacco, at its lowest market price and doles it out to the laborer and small producer.

Mr. Bryan says he found Americans in Mexico who stay there. There are probably not a dozen Americans engag ed in any form of common labor in al of Mexico. They would starve to death on the wages paid and could not equal a Mexican laborer in performing the labor expected of them or in enduring the many privations necessarily incident to the lives of the working class in this land of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. And this is the land and these are the conditions and this is the system observation of which from a palace car window and information of which gained from eulogistic banquet speeches "more than ever convinced" Mr. W. J. Bryan that the free coinage of silver should be adopted by the American peo-Perry F. Powers.

A watch is the smallest, most delicate machine that was ever constructed of the same number of parts. About 175 different pieces of material enter into its construction, and more than 2,400 separate operations are comprised in its manufacture. Some of the facts connected with its performance are simply increditable. when considered in totals. The roller jewel of a watch makes every day -day after day-432,000 impacts against the fork of the lever; 157,-680,000 blows in a year, without stop or rest. These figures are beyond the grasp of our minds. But the marvel does not stop here: It has been estimated that the power that moves the watch is equivalent to four or five times the force used in a fica's jump. One-horse power would run about 2,700,000 watches. The balance wheel of a watch is moved 1 43-100 inches with one vibration-3,558 miles in one year. It requires one or two drops of oil to lubricate a watch. Is it reasonable to expect such a small machine to run year after year on two drops of oil. The oil will get hard and, with dirt and grit in the jewels and pivots, it will ruin the best watch in time unless cleaned and oiled. If you let your watch run years without cleaning and it is ruined, don't blame the watchmaker, but yourself Take your watch once a year to a good, honest workman and have it cleaned and

SPECTACLE VIEWED BY THOUSANDS.

The Number in Line Estimated at from 25,000 to 30,000—Many of the Veterans, However, Were Too Feeble to March.

Cincinnati, Sept. 8.-The great annual pageant of the grand army was the event Wednesday. The veterans began assembling early for the parade and were too tired for meetings or anything else after the ranks were broken shortly after four o'clock. The parade occurred under the brightest blue sky and with everything in its favor it surpassed all expectations.

JAMES A. SEXTON, OF ILLINOIS. (Candidate for Commander in Chief.) While there were marked demonstrations all along the line of march, yet the scenes of the greatest enthusiasm were witnessed as the different divisions passed the reviewing stand and were saluted by the distinguished gentlemen on the platform. Seats had been provided for a distance of three squares along the park, and in addition there were many thousands in Large Number in Line. The parade started promptly at ten a. m., and was completed at 3:25 p. m. The average time in passing given points was a little over four hours, and the general estimate of the number in line was between 25,000 and 30,000. It was noticed that very many who wore the uniform of the order were among the spectators along the line of march. est of them did not feel able to parade, although the day was as cool and bracing as in November. The parade was purely one of the grand army, as the naval veterans gave their street demonstration Tuesday, and the usual floats and daylight fireworks and other attractions were reserved for the peace jubilee to-day. The Denver drum corps, with 53 pieces, and the band of the rough riders, from Dayton, with 100 pieces, were the leading attractions in their line. The Pittsburgh band, which alternated instrumental with vocal music, possibly caught the crowd more than others, and the singers from Kansas were also loudly applauded.

While the Ohio division outnumbered others, yet the Illinois department, headed by Gen. John C. Black and staff, made an excellent appearance as the first division of the great procession. It ranked next in numbers to the Ohio division, which brought up the rear. In the Illinois department was Columbia post, from Chicago, with a combination of the military and naval jackets, making a very fine appearance. Post 384 from Detroit appeared with all members in Prince Alberts and as erect as if in parlors. The posts from Louisiana had sugar canes with cotton ornaments; those from the Dakotas, Iowa and Kansas displayed with attractive effect their samples of corn and grain. Outside of the parade itself the order was excellent. Although there were several stampedes and several private platforms broke down, no serious injuries are reported.

A Serious Accident. The first thing to mar the proceedings of the morning was a serious accident to Gen. Curtis, one of the police commissioners of Buffalo. He was riding with the police commissioners of this city and of other cities, who were on the staff of the chief in charge of the police that headed the procession. His horse slipped and fell, and in the fall the animal fell on Gen. Curtis in such a way as to injure his spine. It was at first thought that he would not recover, but later in the day-his condition improved. Still it is believed that Gen. Curtis is crippled for life. Previous to the parade there were many reunions and some business sessions, including the Ladies of the G. A. R. and the Woman's Relief corps. Business Sessions to Follow.

With the demonstration Wednesday the series of festivities is almost closed and the business sessions of the G A. R. and its auxiliaries begin to-day. During this afternoon there will be a civic and industrial parade of unusual dimensions with a peace jubilee, out the business of all of the organizations will proceed in the morning and continue until Friday night.

Cincinnati, Sept. 8 .- During the G. A. R. campfire at Music hall Wednesday night Gov. Pingree, of Michigan, was hissed and hooted off the stage because of his criticism of the management of the Spanish war. There was a great disturbance.

Conspirators Explode Gas at Moscow and Kill Three Persons-Many

New York, Sept. 8 .- A London cable to the World says: A report is published here of a daring plot to assassinate the ezar of Russia at Moscow last week. The plan of the conspirators was to allow gas to escape into a house on the route of the czar's procession until the atmosphere in every room had become saturated. One of their number was to remain in the house and strike a light when the czar was passing, in expectation that the house would be blown to pieces and the czar killed by the flying debris. The conspirator would perish himself as a sacrifice to the cause. This duty fell to the lot of Alexander Kolanoff. In his agitation Relanch seems to have made an error, as the explosion was mistimed. Where it occurred a stad officer and his wife were driving past the house and they instead of the ezar were killed. Their coachman will probably die of his injuries, and about 39 other personwere more or less seriously injured. Kolanoff's mangled only was found among the ruins. The exar and exarina drove by just 25 minutes later. Many arrests have been made in Moscow, but the Russian press has been forbidden to refer to the matter. LOSES HIS JOB.

Li Hung Chang, the Fameus Chinese Statesman, Is Removed from Power,

Peking, Sept. 8.—Li Hung Chang has been dismissed from power. It is presumed it was done in accordance with the demand which, it was rumored, the British minister here, Sir Claude M. MacDonald, was instructed to make on account of the alleged general partiality of the great Chinaman to Russia, culminating in Great Britain being deprived of the contract for the Peking-Hankow railroad by giving the Russo-Chinese bank financial control of the road.

Have Reached Spain. Santander, Spain, Sept. S .- The Spanish transport Satrustoqui has arrived here from Santiago de Cuba. There were 83 deaths on board her during the royage. Gen. Linares, the former commander of the Spanish forces at Santiago de Cuba was a passenger on board the Satrustoqui.

Pingree, of Michigan, was hissed and hooted off the speakers' stand. As Gov. Pingree, of Michigan, was compelled to take a train at 10:30 for Detroit, he was given the first place on the programme. Gov. Pingree in his prologue stated that owing to imperative business he must leave at once because the state of Michigan was preparing to send a hospital train through the south to gather up the sick soldiers of that state. The governor referred to the mismanagement and destitution of the soldiers. "We must not place the blame upon any one man, but we can charge it upon an obsolete system of red tape that is still in vogue." He cited several cases of abuse and suffering due to the delay of "red tape," and became very vehement in denunciation of such formalities at the sacrifice of is a quality some newspapers have lost sight of in these days of ""ellow" journalism. They care little for truth "and a great deal for temporary sensation.

It is not so with THE CHICAGO RECORD. The success of THE RECORD rests upon its reliability. It prints the news-all the news-and tells the truth about it. It is the only American newspaper outside New York city that has its own exclusive dispatch boat service and its own staff correspondents and artists at the front in both

> It is the best illustrated daily newspaper in the world. Its war news service is unapproachably the best. Says the Urbana (III.) Daily Courier:

"We read the war news in the other papers, then we turn to THE CHICAGO RECORD to see how much of it is true."

SPANISH WAR PENSIONS

No New Legislation Necessary to Authorize Their Payment-Claims. Already Filed Washington, Sept. S .- No new legislation will be required to authorize the payment of pensions to the soldiers who were disabled in the Spanish war, and the widows of those who fell victims to bullets or fever. Commissioner Evans, of the pension office, has had prepared a statement showing that up to September 2 there has been filed with his office a total of 246 claims for pension on account of this war. Of these 45 per cent. are invalid pensions. Joseph Chamberlain Arrives New York, Sept. 8.—Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the British colonies and Birmingham's representative in parliament, arrived here Wednesday evening on the White Star steamship Majestic. He was accompanied by his wife and Miss Chamberlain. They left later for Massachusetts, where they will visit the Endicotts, of which family Mrs.

Chamberlain is a member. MONKEYS HARD TO "TAKE." Agile Little Creatures Refuse to Look the Camera Fairly in

"One of the most difficult brutes to photograph is the monkey," said a man who makes a business of taking the pictures of all sorts of animals and birds, to a Washington Star reporter. "You may try as much as you like, but you will never succeed in making a monkey look straight into the center given the idea up, the world has lost a of a camera for even a second. Its good deal of laughter. One can imagine | glance always shifts off from one side or the other. Nor will it ever catch your eye full or fix its own upon churches open and publics closed on | yours, and I have come to the conclusion that a monkey cannot look at a camera any more than it can a human being in the face. "Take a dog's head in your two hands and look into its eyes. The beast will return your gaze, not for long, perhaps, for the contemplation of human intelligence distresses all animals. But it is not so with the monkey. I Hold its head as patiently as you please between your hands, and it will cast its eyes up to the ceiling and keep on winking, or cast them down at the floor, as if asleep, or twist them around in a most absurd fashion to look over to one side or the other, but never, even in passing by it. will it catch yours. "Why is this? I don't know, unless it is that the anima! has some secret regarding our own origin that it does not wish us to find out. However, if they are bashful, they are very inquisitive, and if I were to leave my camera unguarded for ten minutes in a care containing a dozen monkeys half the family would be busy taking photographs of the other half."

A Fireman Killed. Duluth, Minn., Sept. 8.-Wednesday, while going to a fire, one of the hook and ladder trucks, running down Lake It may not be generally known that hill at a terrific speed, tried to avoid were injured.

Loss of Life by a Storm.

Towanda, Pa., Sept. 8.—A terrific cyclone swept over Springfield township, in the northern part of this county, late Tuesday night, killing three men, six horses, 14 cows and destroying a number of barns and outbuildings. The details of the storm are hard to get on account of the crippled condition of the telegraph and teleohone wires.

A Disgraceful Scene.

KHARTUM AND OMDURMAN, TAKEN BY BRITISH EIGHTEEN YEARS AFTER GORDON'S DEATH.

Gov. Pingree never finished that sentence. He could not proceed. And even with the most persistent efforts of Chairman Melish the governor was unable to utter another word. A voice in the audience cried: "Hurrah for Alger." The cry was taken up in a boisterous chorus. The governor attempted repeatedly to proceed, but the audience refused to listen to another word. The three words "If Secretary Alger-" had left a wrong impression. The audience interpreted these three words to be the beginning of a strain of censure and criticism and absolutely refused to let the speaker proceed. Gov. Pingree continued his efforts to resume, but this only inflamed the audience more and soon shouts of "Amen," "Take him off," "We don't want to hear him" and the like were heard throughout the hall. Chairman Melish made repeated futile attempts to quell the disturbance, but those who started the racket persisted in keeping it up. The governor then retired. Gov. Pingree was reading his speech from manuscript and proceeded but a short way with the document when he was cut off by the noisy and uncontrollable interruption. Hisses Turned to Cheers, After the governor had left and quiet had been restored, Chairman Melish finished the sentence which the audience had refused to permit Gov. Pingree to read. It ran as follows: "If Secretary Alger had been given full power such things would never have happened." The transformation of the audience was then humiliating complete to all who were present. The hisses of derision were turned into cheers and repeated calls for Gov. Pingree, but he had left the hall and refused to return. Chairman Melish, in a very appropriate speech, expressed his regrets for the misunderstanding and proceeded with the programme. After this treatment of Gov. Pingree the succeeding speeches had the most attentive audience.

Soldiers Drowned. Camp Wikoff, Montauk Point, L. I., Spet. 8.-Thomas H. Wheeler, son of Gen. Joseph Wheeler, and Second Lieut. Newton D. Kirkpatrick, First cavalry, were drowned while bathing here Wednesday afternoon.

Named for Congress. Davenport, Ia., Sept. 8.-Republicans of the Second Iowa district nominated Joseph R. Lane, of Davenport, for congress, by acclamation, to succeed George M. Curtis (rep.), who declined a renomination.

A QUEER REPTILE. The Iguana of the West Indies Serves as Food and Tastes Like Chicken. A Milwaukeean who spent several years in Cuba before existing hostilities were dreamed of tells of a queer little reptile-a native of the West Lndies and other tropical isles-that serves as food, and to the unintiated might readily pass for chicken. The iguana, as the creature is known among savants of animal lore, belongs to a harmless branch of the lizard families and outwardly bears a resemblance sufficiently close to make it repulsive in appearance. The iguanas are characterized by the peculiar form of their teeth, these being round at the root, and beadlike. with separated edges toward the tip. resembling in this respect the gigantic extinct reptile iguanodon. The typical forms belonging to this family are distinguished by the large dewlap or pouch situated beneath the head and neck, and by the crest, composed of slender, elongated scales, which extend in gradually diminishing height from the nape of the neck to the extremity of the tail.

The species of the family in Cuba atthey are a peculiar greenish shade, corresponding with the foliage and underbrush, into which they dive and hide. They live on the luxuriant tropical vegetation, and get sleek and fat from excessive eating and sleeping. Naturalists say that the iguana is a most timid creature and equally defenseless.

Leaves Camp Wikoff. New York, Sept. 8.—The First Illinois infantry left Camp Wikoff, Mantank Point, L. I., at nine o'clock Wednesday night for Long Island

force. Chairman Blood, A. M. Stevenson and other leading silver republicans openly charge Sheriff Boynton, of this county, and Internal Revenue Collector Frank Howbert, of Denver, with leading the attack. Sheriff Boynton states that he. Mo

Howbert and Chief of Police Gathright did not go to the opera house until the battle began and then only to take possession of the place. Five men were arrested in the opera house and one, it is claimed by the police, had a smok-ing Winchester in his hands. The prisoners are Walter Russell, J. W. Lupton, J. J. Long, A. C. Smith and A. F. Monge, all of Cripple Creek. They are charged with the murder of Harris and informations were filed in the district court against them. A guard of 20 men under Boynton and Gathright hold the opera house and the Teller people are refused admission. Lived Only a Short Time. Harris died soon after he was shot. Another man was struck in the cheek by the same bullet that killed Harris. Sheriff Boynton and Chief Gathright took control of the opera house and made a thorough search. The sheriff said they discovered a whole arsenal in the building. The officers seized six Winchester rifles and ten revolvers.

"At 4:10 a. m.," said ex-Mayor Plumb,
"we were inside the opera house. There were 22 of us. Suddenly a fusillade of shots were fired through both the front and side doors. Then in a second the doors right were in the front ranks of the at-tacking party." that the attack was made entirely by men brought from Denver. They say they only rushed in after the attack began. It is a peculiar fact, however, that they were all on hand. More Fighting in Candia. London, Sept. 8.—The Athens correspondent of the Daily News, telegraphing Wednesday, says: Reports have been received here of further fighting in the streets of Candia and of a brisk bombardment by the Camperdown. Nearly 100 British soldiers are among those already killed or wound-

MINE OF TIMBER. A Walnut Forest Buried by Earth-

ay that within the last two months a vast forest of walnut had been unearthed in southeast Missouri. In 1811 an earthquake in that part of the state resulted in the sinking of large tracts of land. Since then, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, there have been annual floods in that district, each year adding to the accretions. Less than. two months ago two farmers walking through a part of the district noticed what to their eyes seemed to be the ends of walnut trees sticking out of the sunken places and tipped over. Remembering that vast amounts of cedar wood have been dug up in various places, the farmers reported their observations, and the ground was explored. It was found to be rich in trees diameter.
