The 14th annual reunion of the Old 15th Michigan Veteran National Infantry was held at Cassopolis, Sept. 15 and 16, and upon arriving we were met with a right royal welcome. The day was spent in visiting; a camp-fire was held in the evening, which lasted until a late hour. The second was a parade to the cemetery, and a business meeting. At 12 m we marched to the M. E. church, where the ladies had prepared a grand banquet, second to none, and we were soon convinced that the people of that place knew just how to entertain the old soldiers; and great credit is due the people of Cassopolis. This occasion will long be remembered by the boys of the old 15th.

How Hollanders Care for Cows.

Hollanders have always been famous for their success in breeding fine cows, for the perfection of care which they bestow upon their cattle. Some of the most famous artists of Netherlands have immortalized both themselves and the superb cattle of their country in great painting, in which the Hollandish bulls and cows are the principal features. Visitors to Holland are today surprised to see the care bestowed by the thrifty Dutchman upon their stock. Among recent American visitors to Holland is Eleanor H. Patterson, who calls that country "The Cow's Paradise". She says of the care of cattle there:

"Washed, combed, groomed, petted and luxuriously stabled in winter, like the finest of our race horses, and p t to graze in flowery, well-watered green fields in summer, the cows of Holland can envy no animal the world over upon the heraldic shield of the Netherlands might well be replaced by two black and white Holstein-Friesian cows, for the masses of people worship cows. Cows they watch sometimes with more care than they give their children, cows they nurse through sickness, cows they save their money to buy, and of cows they talk while awake and dream while asleep! Children are brought up with the parental reverence for cows, and no member of the human family is thought too good to sleep under the same roof with the beloved kine. The traveler landing in Holland, during the spring time, will see vast herds of fine cattle in every stretch of green meadows, and green meadows are everywhere in this flat and almost treeless country. Every shapeless field is defined by a stream of pure water flowing between trim, flowery banks to keep the cattle within bounds.

A grotesque sight, to people from countries where cows are not of the first importance, is the spectacle of the most delicate and valuable cows enveloped in canvas covering. The costly creatures, lately freed from their warm winter quarters, are apt to take cold from the inclemencies of the early spring, hence their blankets are not removed until the weather becomes safely warm. The cattle remains under the blue vault of heaven, day and night, from the first of May until the first of November, then they are taken into the cow houses to remain the cold Holland winter. During the summer, the cows are milked twice a day in the field.

Cow stable is to us a name for a humble and unclean edifice, but a cow stable in Holland has another meaning. No parlor is purer or more carefully tended than the habitation of the much-loved kine. The best Dutch farmer does not usually care to give any of his time to curiously seekers, and it is not always easy for the stranger to gain admission to his household, but we secured a letter to a farmer near Brook, in North Holland, which admitted us to his cow house and to his residence at the same time. Both were under one roof. Cow stable and parlor adjoined, and one is quite as clean as the other. We were conducted to the stable first, which, in reality, was a wide hall with a strip of oil cloth down the center.

Rows of tiny square windows, high up on both sides, are curtained with spotless lace or thin white net tied back with ribbon; pots of blooming flowers are set on the sills of the windows looking south. Beneath each curtained window is a cow stall. There are twenty-six in all—such luxuriant and dainty little places! On the floors, which are of porcelain, a thick layer of clean, white sawdust is placed, and this is stamped into patterns of stars and wheels and various geometrical designs. Of course the return of the cows from the fields to their winter quarters breaks these pretty, sawdust designs into a confused mass, but, during the summer they are carefully preserved thus.

Before and behind each row of stalls runs a trough of clean water, the first for the cows to drink, the second to wash away all impurities. In the ceiling behind every stall is fixed a kind of iron hook, whose strange and ludicrous office is to hold high in the air the cow's tail, that she may not soil that carefully combed member. One wonders that the cows' tails, after many generations of this trying up process, do not grow straight up. One extravagant book of travels tries to make us believe that the tails are often tied with blue ribbon, but this is found to be an exaggeration.

It's not an exaggeration to say that, the cattle, every day during winter, are washed off with warm soap suds, dried, rubbed, combed and talked to as if they were children, that the air of the stable is as pure as the atmosphere outside, and that no pains are spared to keep them healthy and comfortable. Under such kind treatment, they become such plump, glossy and gentle animals, that they repay their owners by an enormous quantity of milk. Leading us from the cow stable into an adjoining apartment, the farmer's wife, showed us long rows of cheese-presses, which would be ready to remove from their molds after thirty-six hours of pressure. Every press, every bowl, every churn, every linen cloth, every pot and pan used in the making of this cheese, spoke of the most absolute cleanliness and told of the hours of washing and scrubbing and rubbing.

After seeing the sweetness of the cheesemaking process in Holland, I made a vow to eat Dutch cheese whenever I could get it. In cleanliness and purity, it can be excelled by no other manufactured article of food in the world. Clean, clean, clean, we repeated again and again, and the lady farmer's wife smiled with pleasure. Clean was one English word she could understand.

She invited us in the living room, just in front of the cows' apartment, and offered us milk. As we drank, we looked around the room and sniffed the air suspiciously, but although the stable was adjoining, not the slightest odor of cows could we detect in that clean little room. The only elegant piece of furniture here, was a tall, carved Dutch chest. Our hostess opened the doors of this and disclosed piles of white linen therein—enough to start a shop. Opening another door, which we had supposed led into another room, we saw it was simply the door to the bed, which was just a shelf in the wall piled high with feathers and linen. Whether the Hollanders shut themselves entirely in these curious beds, or leave the doors ajar while asleep, I could not learn. "Perhaps they are the cows' beds," suggested the giddy one of our number. "Ask her." The smiling little woman shook her head in reply to the question, though after what we had just seen, we should hardly have been surprised if she had told us that on cold winter nights the cows curled themselves in these downy niches in the wall."

BUCHANAN SCHOOLS.

The patrons of the Buchanan schools are kindly requested not to send their children to school till the ringing of the first bell in the morning. The teachers do not take charge till the ringing of the first bell in the morning and hence trouble may arise if pupils are permitted to come earlier than the first bell. It is the rule of the school that town pupils are not allowed on the school grounds till the ringing of the first bell in the morning.

The High School enrolls 104 pupils. Miss Alta Wright, a graduate of the Allen High School, was the last to enter.

Nearly 100 pupils are studying Civil Government in our schools. Supt. Warriner, of the East Saginaw High School, recently writing for the School Review said that a friend of his was about to graduate from the University of Michigan who had never studied the government of his country. The young man mentioned had passed regularly through one of the best graded schools in the state yet, had not received any training along the line of civics. The course of study in the school did not require the study of civics, so he did not take it. It is best that each one should know all he can of his own government, and therefore the Buchanan school requires much work in civics and American history.

EIGHTH GRADE.

Mabel Kissinger entered Monday, making an enrollment of 43 pupils.

The following non-resident pupils are enrolled: Adah Brocous, Rose Batchelor, Grace Mutchler, Charles Mutchler, Jay Wells.

Leah Ray and Cleve Brant won in the geographical contest Tuesday morning.

Several pupils are making an effort to stand 100 in each study this week. The names of the successful ones will appear in next week's paper.

NOTES.

The 4th grade enrolls 42. Several new pupils entered this week.

Edna Bates and Edith Simmonds are new pupils in the 3d grade this week.

We're glad to have Richard Henderson in school again after a week's absence.

The Superintendent requests that teachers in the grades submit the names of the pupils, their ages, and their parent's name, at the time they send in the monthly report to him. This is for the purpose of ascertaining by comparison with the list in the director's possession, whether there are pupils in the district who are by law required to be in school.

LIFE IS TOO SHORT.

To bother with slow and tedious printing processes. That is why we make this unheard of offer to introduce the new Velox Photo (can be printed day or night). Will make a $4.00 Mantello Cabinet for $2.19 per doz. for the month of October. Don't miss the chance.

H. E. BRADLEY, Two doors west of post-office, Buchanan, Mich.

COUNTY SEAT NEWS.

The porches of the county jail are being repainted.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Mary J. Swearingin, through her attorney, N. A. Hamilton, has filed a bill of divorce from her husband, Geo. Swearingin. They were married in October, 1891, and lived together until about November, 1894. On or about the 17th of February, the husband was convicted in the Berrien county Circuit court of assault upon Augustus G. Vetter with intent to murder and was sentenced to Jackson for 15 years.

People vs. Victor Plummer, withdrawn plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty. The defendant was charged with the larceny of $150 worth of precious stones from the home of Frank J. Millar of Buchanan. Sentenced to seven months at Ionia, Friday.

The jury in the case of the People vs. Ray Davis for assault upon Clyde Curtis with intent to do bodily less than the crime of murder, rendered a verdict of guilty, late Wednesday. The trial of Chas. Brown for obtaining money from Geo. W. Closson under false pretenses was commenced last Thursday morning. Verdict of guilty rendered and defendant sentenced to four months at Jackson.

People vs. William Gant for burglary at Niles, sentenced to eight years at Jackson.

People vs. John Cleary for assault on Eva Spitzer, sentenced to five years at Jackson.

People vs. Frank Russell for larceny of tools, fifteen months at Ionia.

People vs. Bill Brown for raising a check, fifteen months at Ionia.

In the case of Albert McClung for keeping saloon open on Sunday, a fine of $120 was imposed on defendant. This is one of the grand jury indictments.

In the case of the Brazil Coal Co. vs. the M. B. H. & C. R. R. a judgment of $277.78 was rendered in favor of the plaintiff.

Lyman Raschbaum through his attorneys, O'Hara & O'Hara, has issued a summons against Reuben D. Parker on account of damages sustained by falling in a hole back of Mr. Parker's house.

Court adjourned on Friday noon until Monday.

The case of the people vs. Jacob M. Schwenk, for the murder of a man named DeVinney at New Buffalo, early in the summer, began trial Monday. The entire morning was consumed in obtaining jurymen who would be impartial in the case, and Attorney James O'Hara instructed the jury concerning the cause of the assault and other points whereby the defendant might not be guilty of murder. It will probably take three days to try the case. Prosecuting Attorney Valentine and Attorney D. Breece of Michigan City are for the people and O'Hara & O'Hara and V. M. Gore are for the defendant. The question as to the guilt of Jacob Schwenk will not be decided until late this afternoon, when the jury will render their verdict or will possibly. Yesterday afternoon and this morning was taken up with the arguments of the lawyers, who spoke in the following order: Breece (people) Thomas O'Hara, James O'Hara and V. M. Gore (defense) and Valentine (people). After the charge of the court the jury went out about noon.

Judge Coolidge has decided the case of the Bell Telephone Company vs. City of Benton Harbor. He finds that no contract relations ever existed between the parties, that the complainant had acquired no vested rights except as to poles and wires actually in use, and the city has a right to regulate the telephone company's further operations. The suit was dismissed and costs taxed to the plaintiff.

George Franz, through his attorneys, Hammond & Hammond, has filed a declaration against Sarah Buckman to obtain $5,000. Franz claims the defendant alleged that he stole several turkeys, thus damaging his reputation to the extent of $5,000.

Monday morning, Judge Coolidge handed down an opinion in the case of Sands & Maxwell Lumber Company vs. Rogers Sands. Last Tuesday, Mr. Robert M. Roe of Niles, Dr. J. M. Roe, Elders Wm. M. and Dr. J. R. of Buchanan, together with their wives and Mrs. Melissa Glute of Greeley, Iowa, visited the homes of their youthful days, on the east side and near Portage prairie, Ind. The house in which Mr. Eli Roe, Sen., lived was removed many ago, but its former exact location can still be detected. The old orchard is all gone, except a few lonely trees dying and bending over, whose appearance is sadly missed by the devastating light of time. These trees seem fittingly to represent the members of the family once occupying these grounds. Change, death and decay seem written on everything. The family of Mr. William Roe vacated their old home forty-eight years ago. Here, too, change is seen on every hand. The sentiment of the visitors seem to prevail, that no time is like the old time.

AUTUMN CONVENTION.

An Interesting Series of Meetings.

The autumn convention of the Buchanan and Bertrand S. S. Union was held at the Portage Prairie Evangelical Church, September 24 and 25, 1898.

The first session of this convention was held Saturday afternoon, opening at 2:30 o'clock with devotional exercises led by the pastor, Rev. F. Koehler. Half an hour was spent in song, prayer and scripture reading, after which the regular work of the program was taken up.

The first subject was "Methods of Teaching Quarterly Review." This was ably presented in an address by Rev. F. C. Berger, and was followed by a practical review of the lessons of the past quarter.

Mr. L. D. Rough read an exceptionally good paper on "Needs of the S. S. in Rural Districts." This paper was followed by remarks by the members of the convention.

The Normal Lesson, in the absence of Rev. James Provan, to whom the subject was assigned, was taught by Rev. F. C. Berger. Subject, "The Books of the Bible."

EVENING MEETING.

At 7:30 the convention was again called to order and was opened by a song and praise service, conducted by the chairman.

Rev. H. L. Potter was not able to be present on account of sickness, Rev. J. Provan preaching an excellent and inspiring gospel sermon. It was a fitting close of the evening, and all felt benefited by the first day's services of the convention, which closed with song and benediction.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

Convention was again opened with a devotional service conducted by Mr. Louis Cauffman.

Miss Wray was not in attendance to present the second topic of the afternoon, "The Home in its Relation to the Primary Department," and this number was passed without discussion.

The Primary class was ably taught by Mrs. Riley Scott, the pupils showing that much of the previous Sunday School work had been retained.

The responses to the next subject, "The Enumeration of Difficulties by Primary Teachers," demonstrated that the greatest difficulty of the primary teacher is irregular attendance through neglect of parents in bringing or sending children.

The topic, "What New Features have been Introduced into your Sunday School?" proved a most interesting one. The numerous responses were both instructive and varied. Rev. E. R. Black showed by humorous remarks that some new features were not beneficial.

This session closed with music by the Portage Prairie orchestra and songs.

EVENING SESSION

Opened with song and devotional service led by Rev. F. C. Berger, followed by a testimonial service.

The sermon by Rev. E. R. Black addressed particularly to young people was an incentive to all toward Christian life and work.

The session closed with remarks by the chairman, a consecration prayer by Rev. F. Koehler, singing, collection and benediction.

Union services were held in Buchanan Sunday evening in the Advent Christian church, which, since its remodeling is very attractive and convenient.

The Young People's meeting was in charge of Miss Edith Beardsley, the attendance was large and the service interesting and helpful.

Rev. H. L. Potter conducted the overflow meeting. The sermon was by an aged servant of Christ and member of the Advent church, Mr. J. Smith, of Aurora, Ill.

The attendance at the convention was good, particularly so at the Sunday evening services.

Mrs. A. B. Sewell furnished special music at the meetings held on Saturday, Miss Fannie Rough on Sunday, and the choir of the Advent church at the overflow meeting.

The collections were unusually large, amounting to $7.48, being a generous response to a plea for money to purchase song books which are much needed by the union.

It was remarked that these conventions are the fire-sides of the Sunday School worker, the interchange of thoughts binding the workers more closely together and promoting more aggressive Christian work.

To accommodate those who wish to attend the Kalamazoo street fair the Michigan Central R. R. Co., will run a special train west from Kalamazoo, leaving Kalamazoo at about 9:30 p. m., Oct. 4th. A SINGULAR FACT.

Thousands of People have Dyspepsia and Don't Know It.

Dyspepsia is the cause of about nine-tenths of all diseases, yet in most cases the wrong thing is treated and the true cause overlooked, simply because dyspepsia produces symptoms resembling many other diseases. It weakens and disturbs the action of every organ and nerve in the body. A weak and diseased stomach causes heart trouble, kidney disease, weak lungs, and nervous debility. The nervous system cannot stand the wear and tear, unless supported by well digested food.

Keep the stomach in good order with Drake's Dyspepsia Cure and Nerve Restorer and you need not fear disease. The reason why this remedy is unfailing in the treatment of stomach and nerve troubles is because it is designed for these peculiar troubles only, being a combined method treatment. A great mistake is made by persons thus afflicted in neglecting to treat themselves at this season of the year, thus the advantages of summer are neglected, because through the deceitfulness of the disease they are led to believe themselves free, until the inclemency of winter deprives them of proper exercise, together with a change of diet, when they find themselves worse than they were the preceding year. Drake's Dyspepsia Cure and Nerve Restorer is prepared in tablet-form, is pleasant to take, and is agreeable to the most delicate stomach. Any one suffering from Indigestion, Nervous Dyspepsia, Stomach, Headache, Acidity, Gases, Belching, etc., will find this treatment not only a quick relief, but a radical cure.

MANY SHOTS FIRED.

Labor Troubles at Pana, Ill., Culminate in a Riot.

FULLY 200 SHOTS ARE EXCHANGED.

A Number of Persons Wounded, and Some May Be Dead—Miners, and Sympathizers Clash with Negroes and Deputies.

Pana, Ill., Sept. 29.—The long-expected clash between the miners and their sympathizers on one side and the imported negro miners and deputy sheriffs on the other occurred Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock, when a riot occurred, during which fully 200 shots were exchanged. But how many persons were wounded or killed cannot be learned at this hour, and will probably never be known. It is known, however, that Chief Deputy Sheriff William Baldwin came near losing his life and Special Deputy H. E. Bishop had a leg almost dismembered by bullets.

As usual, the blacks from the stockades at the Springside and Penwell mines were making demonstrations on Second and Locust streets, principally in the streets of the city by grading heavily armed. The union miners were in session at their hall, being addressed by a Chicago labor leader. One of the negroes appeared at the foot of the miners' hall and immediately started a riot. The miners immediately arrested the black and was escorting him to jail when he was closed in on by a posse of blacks, who, pointing their revolvers at Smith, threatened to kill him if he did not release the negro under guard. The negro stood his ground and continued on his way to jail with his prisoner. Union miners and others meanwhile went to Smith's assistance and the negroes were driven back. Smith took his prisoner to the Springside stockade, Penwell's store, and under Penwell's guidance for the black's fate he was released.

Line Up for a Fight. Before Smith had released his prisoner, David McGraw, leader of the union miners, clubbed one of the blacks over the head with a revolver. For half a block McGraw forced the negroes to retreat and the shooting began. The negroes quickly retreated to the stockades, and several miners' chests furnished them by the operators returned to Locust street and challenged the miners for a fight. The two factions lined up in the street, the negroes with Winchester and the miners with shotguns, rifles and revolvers. All business houses were immediately closed, the lights extinguished and the occupants hurried home.

Bullets Do Effective Work. Firing between the miners and negroes continued for ten minutes, during which time bullets rained through the streets. The first shots were fired by the blacks, but at the ending of the battle the negroes were compelled to retreat, carrying with them their weapons. The miners followed, following the first encounter between miners and blacks, citizens filled the streets, armed with whatever arms they could secure, hurrying to the scene of action, and the excitement was at fever heat all during the night. All business houses were immediately closed, the lights extinguished and the occupants hurried home. Several blacks were wounded, as surgeons were dispatched to the stockades. The miners had full charge of the business streets at midnight and in detachments were parading the streets. It is considered unsafe for anyone to walk the streets.

Outbreak at Pana. The miners' strike at Pana, which led to the outbreak, began in April last, when the coal operators refused to pay the miners the wages agreed upon at the convention. They claimed that they must cut wages or go out of business. The miners promptly laid down their tools and refused to work until the operators agreed to the terms of the convention. During the summer the miners' board of directors reported a compromise scale slightly less than the one they had demanded. The miners were firm and matters remained unsettled until a new strike was called. The operators determined to resume mining with negroes imported from the south. There followed a riot in Pana since the first load of negroes arrived, but until last night no serious outbreak of violence. Stockades were built at the Springside and side mines and the negroes were housed within them. Deputies were sworn in by the sheriff to protect them. The situation became so threatening that the sheriff made a call on the governor for troops to suppress the riot, but after extensive correspondence by wire the executive declined to send the aid asked for, and censured the operators for bringing troops to the mines. For two weeks the situation has been reported as critical, the bearing of the blacks being such as to excite the people of Pana, as well as the strikers, with whom they sympathized, and it has been said that only a pretext has been needed to precipitate a conflict.

Wool Exchange Closed. New York, Sept. 29.—The wool exchange, of this city, which was established about two years ago with a capital of $1,000,000, did not open its doors today, owing to the lack of interest in the undertaking. The exchange as a corporation is solvent, its building has been a good real estate investment.

They Indorse Roosevelt. Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The colored republican state convention was held here Wednesday, Samuel M. Jones, of New York city, presiding. Resolutions were adopted indorsing the action of the republican state convention and promising the undivided support to the entire republican state ticket, headed by Theodore Roosevelt.

RED UNIFORMS HARD TO HIT. It Has Been Proven a Fallacy That Scarlet Is Particularly Obtrusive.

Scarlet, it has always been supposed, was the worst color possible for the purposes of the battlefield, says the Army and Navy Gazette. It has been said so with such frequency, indeed, that nobody of late years has dared to dispute the fact. We owe it to some very practical experiments carried out in Germany that the battlefield color now been put on a more satisfactory basis. A squad of ten men, two dressed in light gray, two in dark gray, two in scarlet, two in blue and two in green, were lately ordered to march in an open country. Their movements were closely watched. The first men to disappear from sight were those in light gray, immediately afterward the scarlet, then the dark gray and finally the blue and the green.

Here we have all well-known theories upset. Experiments carried out on the rifle range showed that mark for the rifle. Twenty men, all good shots, were used for the purpose of the experiment. After they had fired a given number of rounds it was discovered that scarlet was far the most difficult color to hit. For every miss at the other colors there were three in favor of scarlet. We will not assert that these experiments were conclusive evidence in favor of one color or another, but they certainly go a long way to justify its retention. There is much to be said in these days of quick-firing guns in favor of a uniform which is difficult to hit, and in this particular respect scarlet is undoubtedly all right against all other colors.

MR. BAYARD IS DEAD

The Delaware Statesman Passes Away at Dedham, Mass.

THE EVENT HAS LONG BEEN EXPECTED

His Remains to Be Taken to Wilmington, Del., for Interment at the Site of His Career and Service to His State and Country.

Dedham, Mass., Sept. 29.—Thomas F. Bayard died at half past four o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Karstein, the summer residence of his daughter, Mrs. Samuel D. Warren, after an illness of six weeks. His death was without pain. His wife, his two daughters, Mrs. Warren and Miss Florence Bayard, and his son, Thomas F. Jr., and his daughter, Constance Lauenhaup, were on her way to Dedham.

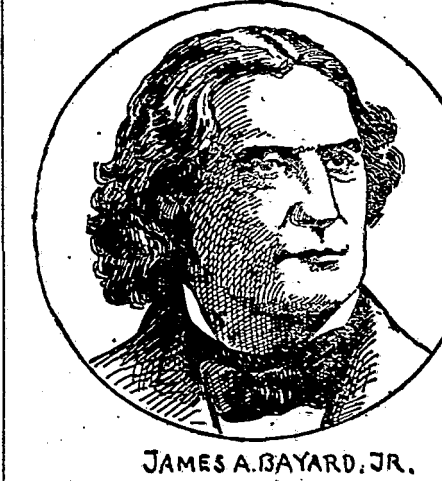

Karstein lies off the Needham road. Here about the middle of August came Mr. Bayard, to be the guest of his daughter and son-in-law. He was sick, but it was given out that his illness was merely due to declining years. He steadily grew weaker, however, and had spells of semi-consciousness and of delirium. A consultation of physicians was held August 26, and they agreed that Mr. Bayard was suffering from arterio-sclerosis and a general breaking down incident to age. He suffered no pain to any noticeable degree, and the chief tendency was to sleep.

During the first few weeks of his illness Mr. Bayard was able to sit up, but the days passed he became gradually weaker and three weeks ago laid himself on his bed and never again rose from it. At times he would rally to some extent, but the relapse carried him always nearer the end. His wonderful constitution, which had survived the ravages of disease for a surprising

FAMOUS BAYARD FAMILY, NOW EXTINCT.

JAMES A. BAYARD, JR.

THOMAS F. BAYARD.

With the death of Thomas F. Bayard passes away the last representative of one of the most distinguished families in America. The state of Delaware seems to have lost a great son. In 1836 James A. Bayard, the father of the recent ambassador to London, was elected to the Delaware senate. On the same day, this incident has no parallel in American history. James A. Bayard, the first, grandfather of the present statesman, was elected to the Delaware senate in 1836. James A. Bayard, the second, father of Thomas F., was United States senator from 1858 to 1863, secretary of state from 1868 to 1869 and ambassador to England from 1870 to 1871. He was elected to the Delaware senate in 1870 and to the Delaware assembly in 1871 and to the Delaware senate in 1872 and to the Delaware assembly in 1873 and to the Delaware senate in 1874 and to the
