OUR LANSING LETTER.

LANSING, MICH., Jan. 17, '99. Special to Buchanan Record.

Rather than a week of legislation since our last it has been one of preparation, alignment and experiment.

It is yet very uncertain as to how the all important measure will fare in either House from the fact that a considerable number in each branch of the legislature yet occupy a middle ground.

In fact it is now certain that a large number of the shrewdest and most industrious law makers have decided to consistently pursue this policy as the best means of compelling for their local constituents the recognition and favor of both factions.

The first factional fight in the House was a draw having been compromised last Wednesday afternoon.

It was precipitated by a motion for a special committee on House file No. 1 introduced by Mr. Cheever of Wayne which is a slightly modified copy of the original Atkinson bill.

The fornicous encounter was the most notable of the session and gave ample evidence that this House is not below the average of many years either in oratory or logic.

The struggle of the next day in the Senate precipitated by the other factions was a victory for the Antis who swept all authority as to committees out of the hands of the presiding officer enlarging and embellishing the committee to suit the fancy of the most radical Anti-Pingree men.

The third and last decisive parliamentary struggle occurred after the re-convening Monday night of the present week and is characterized as "first blood" for the Pingreeites.

This was when Chamberlain introduced a voluminous resolution directing and empowering the special Atkinson bill committee to make a thorough investigation covering every form and vestage of property in the state as to valuation, taxation, etc.

The Pingree leader moved to table alleging that this matter had already been thoroughly canvassed for more than two years and campaigned upon twice, that the members were sent here to act, not to quibble, that their commission had been signed by the people at the polls and that if representatives could ever act intelligently along these lines they could now do so.

This motion to table on a ye and nay vote carried by 30 to 36.

Your correspondent assumes readers will be more interested in the gist of what is done than in the more routine of committees appointments, etc., and will therefore epitomize a few of the measures presented and noticed up to this time.

A bill by Bruch to increase the number of words sendable at the minimum charge by telegraph from 10 to 15 has promise of good support.

The bicycle bill by Heineman of Wayne to punish encroachments upon side paths also promises to be popular.

The joint resolution by McLeon favoring the national eight hour law and the bill known as the Barber's bill putting that trade on the basis of a profession were two measures distinctly in union labor interests.

Sen. Blakeslee's bill relative to the formation of a board of metropolitan police commissioners is a very radical change from the present system in vogue, and will interest a large number of the smaller towns and growing cities of the state.

It seeks to remove police officers from politics abolishes the office of city marshal in such places, empowers the city to board its own prisoners, wipes out the feyssystem in the service of papers making of arrests, etc., and its advocates claim will inaugurate a wonderful reform.

The plan is to furnish one patrolman for every thousand inhabitants salaries ranging from $450 to $900 per annum according to the importance of the position held. All fees going into the department and every service contemplated by the act to be paid for by the regular salary.

This law which is virtually copied from an Indiana statute enforced several years is one of the most sweeping changes so far proposed.

Senate bill No. 14 enabled county of Midland to borrow $50,000,000 was passed under suspension of the rules Tuesday and given immediate effect.

Some time was spent in the Senate Tuesday pronouncing eulogies upon Judge Williams Humphrey deceased.

Sen. Holme of Adrian is credited with having delivered a most eloquent address upon this occasion.

Appropriate resolutions upon the death of Hon. A. N. Dingley of Maine, father of Rep. E. N. Dingley of the present Michigan House of Representatives were passed Monday night.

Sen. Graham has taken a shy at the fly-in-the-night auction stores by the introduction of a bill for the taxation assessment and immediate collection of taxes upon all such stock of goods.

Sen. Pearson of Sanilac has presented an important bill, taxing bequests and devised property.

A special committee of five, headed by Phillips of Van Buren, has been appointed to make a thorough investigation of the manner in which the half-million war loan was expended by the state administration.

This work will begin next Thursday morning.

Charles H. Chapman of Chippewa county who is first Lieut. Co. Infantry has resigned as Probate Judge.

Gov. Pingree on Tuesday appointed John A. Couch of Sault Ste. Marie to the Probate Judgeship to fill the vacancy.

The matter of sending out Legislative Journal came up for the second time Tuesday afternoon and

New Way to Arrest Bleeding. By the electric hemostat of Lawson Tait bleeding is arrested without the use of a ligature. It is practically a pair of forceps for nipping the artery, but the forceps contain a platinum wire heated by electricity, and the compressed artery is cauterized in a few seconds, thus preventing further escape of blood.

Against His Principles. "Why did that Kentucky capitalist withdraw from the company just as it began to pay big dividends?" "The directors decided to water the stock and he couldn't stand it."

BUCHANAN RECORD.

D. H. BOWER,
PUBLISHER AND PROPRIETOR.

THURSDAY, JAN. 19, 1899.

John Russell Young, the well known author and librarian of Congress died at Washington Tuesday morning.

The Republican State Convention for the nomination of a candidate for Supreme Judge has been called for March first at Jackson.

We are under obligations to President James B. Angell of the University of Michigan for a copy of the President's report to the Board of Regents for the year ending Sept. 30, 1898.

Hon. Augustus Jewell of Dowagiac died at his home in Dowagiac on Monday night. He was prominent in political circles and represented Berrien and Cass counties in the State Senate at one time.

The editor of one of our exchanges printed a strong editorial on the duty of being loyal to home industries. He received a letter of thanks from one of his town merchants written on a letterhead printed in an adjoining town.

Representative Nelson Dingler, father of Editor E. N. Dingley of the Kalamazoo Telegraph, died at Washington last Friday night. Mr. Dingler was chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and his death will be a great loss to the entire country.

It has been computed that if the United States continues to build up its navy upon the plan begun at the last session of Congress which involves an expenditure of about $30,000,000 a year for new ships, the cheapening in the cost of construction that could be effected in our shipyards through the passage of the bill now now in Congress providing bounties and other compensations to American merchant ships, would reimburse the Government for every dollar it expended upon our merchant marine.

R. G. Dun & Co's Review says:—Contrary to the French saying, the expected has occurred. Rapid advance in prices of iron and steel products have their immediate effect, perhaps not to the lasting benefit of the industry, for there is the same reason for doubt as to its permanence as in 1895; when shrinkage of buying and reaction soon carried prices lower than before. But there is now larger demand for many other products, and without unwieldy combi-

POULTRY YARD

Readers are invited to send in any questions on this subject, and any suggestions concerning poultry will be received with pleasure and will be fully discussed in this column.

DESIGN FOR A POULTRY HOUSE.

No one can give a design of a poultry house that will be acceptable to all for the reason that ideas differ regarding poultry houses, as they do of dwelling houses. The kind of poultry house, to be constructed depends upon the cost—or rather, how much one is willing to invest in it. A person can have any luxury preferred if he is willing to pay for it.

But how much room can one get at the lowest cost? A poultry house should have, first of all, the most room possible on the floor, it should be ventilated without draughts of air, and it should be warm in winter and cool in summer. The size depends upon the number of fowls in the flock. Bear in mind that while a house may afford a roosting place for a large lot of fowls, yet the main point is to afford plenty of room for exercising in winter, and another point is that fowls will remain outside exposed to the storms before they will seek refuge in a dark house. They love the light and they are partial to the open air if they can have a "windbreak".

It should be, for a flock of 15 fowls, about 10x20 feet, the roosting place being 8x10 feet and the shed 8x12 feet. If made deeper it will be an advantage. The roosts may be placed along the rear or at the east side, the house supposed to be facing the south. It should be 8 feet high at the front, and 6 or 7 at the rear, tarred paper roof. The nests should be under a platform with the roost over the platform.

The advantages of this house are as follows: While not elaborate it costs but little (according to location); The front of the shed can be enclosed with wire netting in summer, and used as a cool roosting place; it is warm in winter, the shed serving as a windbreak for the roosting portion when the wind is in the west; the hens can work and scratch under the shed in winter, being certain in the open air, and a muslin curtain (which admits the light) may be suspended in front during stormy days. The floor of the house may be of dirt, boards, or cement, but the floor of the shed may be of dirt, covered with cut straw, leaves or other litter.

It may be claimed that we allow but a small flock for such a house, but the way to get eggs is to give plenty of room. It is better to have a few hens that lay than to have a crowded flock that produces nothing. This house which is simple, cheap, can be built almost by anyone, and in some places can be made larger, extended, or more elaborate, as preferred.

HIGH PRICES.

When eggs are high seems to be the time when the hens "go on a strike", and it is then they become costly luxuries because they produce nothing and require more care. It is vexatious to own a flock of beautiful birds that do not lay when prices are high and eggs scarce, but much of the disappointment is due to lack of proper food (not a sufficiency), in order that the hens may have the material for producing eggs. "Cheap corn" is the dearest kind of food when it does not promote egg laying, but when corn, meat and cut clover are given, so as to provide a variety, the combination may be cheap because it makes the hens lay, though everyone must guard carefully against feeding too much or too often.—P. H. Jacobs in American Gardening.

To have the men who have demonstrated their organizing ability by great business successes tell their secrets of organization, is the object of the editor of The Cosmopolitan. That he is succeeding is proven in the January issue by the article from Clarence B. Frost, who is regarded in New York as one of the three or four article organizers in America. He is president of the Rubber Trust and the head of the great mercantile house of Platt, Eddie & Co., which has its significations in almost every part of the world. Mr. Frost tells very openly what makes for success in the organization of business. His article may be read with interest by the Rockefeller, the Arnolds and the Wanamakers as well as by the humblest clerk seeking to fathom the secret of business success.

In the same issue is an article, also in the January Cosmopolitan, telling how Mr. Platt organized and conducted the campaign for the election of Roosevelt. It is by a gentleman who was actively engaged in the Republican headquarters during the campaign, and who gives a vivid picture of the perfection to which political organization has been carried in New York state by the most astute of managers. The wary old Senator who has been a lifetime in politics and the youngest political aspirant will alike find food for reflection in Mr. Blythe's article.

WILL TRY GEN. EAGAN

"Make-Up of the Court-Martial Is Announced."

CONSISTS OF FOURTEEN OFFICERS.

Gen. Merritt Placed at the Head—Will Convene in Washington Next Wednesday—Specific Charges Not Made Public.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The detail for the court-martial which is to try Commissary General Charles P. Eagan on charges growing out of his statements before the war investigation commission last week, in which he severely criticized the military and naval authorities at the war department, Wednesday night. The court is made up of 13 army officers, of whom Maj. Gen. Wesley Merritt is at the head, and a judge-advocate, and it is to meet in this city on Wednesday, the 23d inst., or as soon thereafter as practicable, this qualification being necessary because a number of the members are at distant points and will require some days to adjust their affairs and reach the city. All the officers composing the court save one are from the regular army, a number of whom, however, during the war accepted volunteer rank and still hold those commissions. They are as follows:

Maj. Gen. Wesley Merritt, U. S. A.; Maj. Gen. James F. Wade, U. S. A.; Maj. Gen. Matthew C. Butler, U. S. A.; Maj. Gen. Samuel M. B. Young, U. S. A.; Brig. Gen. Royal T. Frank, U. S. A.; Brig. Gen. George M. B. Young, U. S. A.; Brig. Gen. Richard C. Smith, U. S. A.; Brig. Gen. George M. Randall, U. S. A.; Brig. Gen. Jacob D. Cox, U. S. A.; Brig. Gen. Richard C. Smith, U. S. A.; Col. Peter C. Hains, corps of engineers; Col. George C. Davis, corps of engineers; Col. Charles R. Suter, corps of engineers; Col. Francis L. Guehrer, fourth artillery; Lieut. Col. George E. Davis, deputy judge-advocate general, judge advocate of the court.

Maj. Gen. Butler is the only one who is not connected with the regular army. Gen. Corbin stated that the order for the appointment of the court-martial would be delivered to Gen. Eagan. It is expected that he will be either an officer or an employe of the adjutant general's office. His receipt and acknowledgment by the commissary general will be tantamount to the relief of that officer from his present duties and he will then be in a position to act as a designated to act by the secretary of war or to the officer next in charge in the department.

May Not Be Arrested.

Gen. Eagan may not be placed under actual arrest and deprived of his liberties pending and during the trial, but will be subject only to constructive and technical arrest during that time. In the case of officers of high rank this is occasionally but not often done, and this course does not in any way invalidate the trial or findings of the court. Were the defendant a younger officer of an obnoxious character and in the field with his regiment the usual course of placing him under arrest and depriving him of his sword would not be followed. While the above is believed to be a general outline of Secretary Alger's idea of what should be done, yet no positive statement to that effect has been made, and it may be subject to change.

Adj. Gen. Corbin refused to make any statement regarding the form of the charges and specifications to be brought against Gen. Eagan or to say when they would be published. In view of the fact that the legislature of this state must be done very soon, and, indeed, it is altogether likely that the judge-advocate general of the army has already given some attention to this feature of the proceedings.

The Kansas City Times, one of Bryan's supporters, has taken a strong stand for the Missouri Senator.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 19.—In a leading editorial to-day the Kansas City Times, which has been a staunch supporter of William Jennings Bryan, urges the candidacy of United States Senator Francis Marion Cockrell for the democratic presidential nomination in 1900. Senator Cockrell, who has been elected to the Missouri legislature, and who has just elected to his fifth term in the United States senate, will be put forward as "an old-fashioned democrat who stood for what the Chicago platform contains long before that platform was promulgated."

An Extraterritorial Treaty.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The president has sent to the senate a new extradition treaty which has been drafted by Brazil. It was referred to the committee on foreign relations and at Wednesday's meeting of that committee was taken up and referred to a subcommittee.

The treaty is a formal document providing for the exchange of criminals charged with offenses on the usual lines.

FLOATS OVER MORRO.

The Historic Flag Was First Hoisted in Philadelphia During the Civil War.

Few American flags have a more interesting history than attaches to the banner which was hung to the breeze over Morro castle, Havana, on New Year's day. It first flew over the Corn Exchange national bank, Philadelphia, when the famous Corn Exchange regiment of volunteers was organized for the war of the states. It flew over the bank during nearly the whole of the war, and then secured by the late ex-United States Senator Alexander G. Cattell, then an officer of the bank. He took it to his residence in Merchantville, N. J., and stored it away as a sacred thing. While President Grant was in the White House, he presented the historic banner to a pole over the senator's mansion—an act that added materially to the historic value of the stately emblem. After that the flag was again stored away as a prized relic. When ex-Senator Cattell died it was practically forgotten until George W. Alger procured it from the estate and presented it to the government for the purpose to which it was put at Havana.

If one were to gauge the worth of newly arrived immigrants by the amount of money they bring with them, those who come from Germany would take first rank. England would hold second place and Italy the last.

The Italian, who is the poorest of all, brings $9.58, but it is safe to say that he returns to his native land the wealthiest of all who go back if his propensity for saving is a thing to judge by.

The Turk who comes to America brings $35.60 with him, and stands well toward the top of the list. The average Irishman comes over to stay, with a capital of $15.26, while the Russian, according to the annual report of the commissioner general of immigration, brings $12.10.

THURSDAY, JAN. 19, 1899.

John Russell Young, the well known author and librarian of Congress died at Washington Tuesday morning.

The Republican State Convention for the nomination of a candidate for Supreme Judge has been called for March first at Jackson.

We are under obligations to President James B. Angell of the University of Michigan for a copy of the President's report to the Board of Regents for the year ending Sept. 30, 1898.

Hon. Augustus Jewell of Dowagiac died at his home in Dowagiac on Monday night. He was prominent in political circles and represented Berrien and Cass counties in the State Senate at one time.

The editor of one of our exchanges printed a strong editorial on the duty of being loyal to home industries. He received a letter of thanks from one of his town merchants written on a letterhead printed in an adjoining town.

Representative Nelson Dingler, father of Editor E. N. Dingley of the Kalamazoo Telegraph, died at Washington last Friday night. Mr. Dingler was chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and his death will be a great loss to the entire country.

It has been computed that if the United States continues to build up its navy upon the plan begun at the last session of Congress which involves an expenditure of about $30,000,000 a year for new ships, the cheapening in the cost of construction that could be effected in our shipyards through the passage of the bill now now in Congress providing bounties and other compensations to American merchant ships, would reimburse the Government for every dollar it expended upon our merchant marine.

R. G. Dun & Co's Review says:—Contrary to the French saying, the expected has occurred. Rapid advance in prices of iron and steel products have their immediate effect, perhaps not to the lasting benefit of the industry, for there is the same reason for doubt as to its permanence as in 1895; when shrinkage of buying and reaction soon carried prices lower than before. But there is now larger demand for many other products, and without unwieldy combinations all are doing well. Throughout the country was never in so strong a financial position as even Governors of London banks admit, one stating that as London has financed America heretofore, now for the first time New York is financing Europe. No evidence of weakness is seen in the other branches of industry, nor in those upon which the great excess of export most depends. "Wheat and cotton still go out largely."

Europe is buying because it has needs, and New York is lending to Europe nobody knows how many millions because there is for the present no need to call loans. The receipt of $2,500,000 gold from Australia is announced at San Francisco.

Michigan Crop Report.

JANUARY 1, 1899.

The ground in the principal wheat growing sections of Michigan was fairly well covered with snow until the latter part of the month. The common opinion among correspondents is that wheat suffered only a slight injury, if at all, during December.

In answer to the question, "Has wheat during December suffered injury from any cause?" 110 correspondents in the state answer "yes" and 508 "no," and in answer to the question, "Has the ground been well covered with snow during December?" 163 correspondents in the southern counties answer "yes" and 230 "no," in the central counties 89 answer "yes" and 105 "no," and in the southern counties 61 answer "yes" and 11 "no."

The total number of bushels of wheat marketed in December is 1,698,000, and in the five months, August-December, 9,760,100, which is 735,112 bushels more than reported marketed in the same months last year.

The average condition of live stock in the state is reported as follows, comparison being with stock in good health and thrifty condition: Horses, cattle and sheep 97 per cent, and swine 95 per cent.

The average prices January 1, of some of the principal farm products in the markets where farmers usually market such products, were as follows:

The average price of wheat was 63 cents per bushel; of corn 36 cents, and of oats 27 cents, and the average price of hay $6.21 per ton.

The average price of fat cattle was $3.58 per cwt., of fat hogs $3.08 per cwt. and of dressed pork $4.00 per cwt.

Deafness Can't Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. It is a matter of ten days caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by Catarrh, if you cannot cure it by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

For county school commissioner, it has been given out that there will probably be in the convention more than one candidate. The popularity of Ernest P. Clarke, who has proven the support of any other school commissioner in South-western Michigan by placing Berrien county schools in the lead, holds a strong place with the voters of Berrien county and his renomination, probably by acclamation, is a matter of ten days caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.
