School. Other Grades Entertain. The various graduating exercises of Buchanan Public Schools were held the past week and that the public school was dear to every Buchanan citizen was evident to even the most casual observer who noted the attendance upon each of the various grades. The greatest interest of course centered on the graduating exercises of the High School Class of 1899. These exercises occurred at Rough's Opera House, last Thursday evening and was witnessed by a crowded house of friends of the graduates. The hall was charmingly decorated by the Juniors or class of 1900. The principal decorations were flags and bunting, which were relieved by palms and other foliage plants. Above the stage was the class motto "The Measure-Deeds not Years" with the figures '99 suspended beneath. The programme was rendered as follows:

With such an excellent class it would be almost a hopeless task to attempt a decision as to the relative merits of the orations rendered and papers given, as all of the class tasteful profusion. The bride wore showed that a vast amount of care and thought had been bestowed upon their productions. We take great pleasure in printing the following paper on "Class History" as prepared by Mr. J. O. Butler knowing that and combined the useful and the our readers would be pleased to have an opportunity of reading the same.

CLASS HISTORY. If we turn back the pages of the Buchanan school record, we shall find that on the pleasant morning of Sept. 5th, 1887 there appeared at the door of the first grade room, fifty little tots about to begin little girl dressed in her best outfit, which probably had been mad especially for this memorable event. Besides there were two boys each of whom was wearing a new kilt, of which they were very proud.

Now the three just mentioned were Kittie Wells, George East, and myself, the last two named have remained with the class from the beginning up to the present time. Kittie left us in the eighth grade to go to Manistique, Mich., but rejoined us in our Junior year and has since been one of onr most industrious workers.

When a year had passed we entered the second grade with Miss Edith Beardsley as our teacher. It was also at this time that we lost a few of our class-mates. but ever the less we found in this grade two Cora Imhoff and Florence Mead. Again we advanced a step, this time going up stairs to the third grade to be taught by Miss Simmons. who, on account of her ability, still retains that grade.

It was while under her care that we were joined by Esther Devin, who had just returned from Col.; we are glad she was not needed in the west any longer, for, as a class we appreciate not only her high standing, but also her obliging ways and sunny disposition, We now felt as if one chapter in our lives was ended and an entirely new one begun, when at the beginding of the fourth year we were sent up to the 'big school" and put in care of Miss Marquisse, now of Berrien Springs, Mich. The next term Clyde Voorhees joined us and continued as a valued member of the class until the middle of this last year. We were sorry to lose Clyde because we felt that the average ability of the class was reduced thereby. Besides, it left two boys-small ones at that—to defend themselves against a much larger number of fully fledged young ladies. During this term we were taught by Miss Emma Grover, at present Mrs. Frank Bressler of Elkhart, Ind. The following term found us in a very prosperous ondition in charge of Miss Eisie Kinger who on account of her success in that grade now holds the responsible position as teacher of the eighth. Georgie Stephens joined us here but soon afterwards left to go to Chicago. Since her return to valued member of the class of '99. It was while in the seventh grade that we obtained our great reputation as definition givers a few illustrations as follows will display our ability in this line, pigmy was reported to be a little pig, while vocabulary was pronounced vo ca-bull-ary and was said to pertain to cattle, and again espohagus was leclared to be a Greek God. Mrs. Fast taught us at this time, but afterwards was obliged to resign her position on account of ill-health. The following year in the eighth grade Arlie Baker and Myrtle Muchler were added to our number, who for earnestness of purpose and diligence in their school work, have no superiors in the class. The next step in our school life when we would enter the High School was anxiously looked forward to, it came at last and with it came harder study. Three years passed by very swiftly, the only thing happening to mar our pleasure was

As a class we have journeyed together for twelve years some of the time with the thought of the present evening to beckon us on. I think I can truly say that we have endeavored to bring no discredit up-or the institution to which we are so deeply indebted. To all who have taught us, we at this tiple give our thanks.

EIGHTH GRADE. Second only to the graduating exercises of the Senior Class were those of the Eighth Grade of Class of 1903. These exercises took place in the High School room Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock under the direction of their indefatigable teacher, Miss Elsie F. Kingery. The room was tastily trimmed with flags, the class colors of Pink and Green and the class emblem and motto, "Out of the Harbor, into the Deep." The school room was crowded to its utmost ca-

The recitations were excellent especially the rendition of "The Quarrel between Brutus and Cassius" as given by Misses Theoda Treat and Orma Babcock The class history as given by Clevie Brant and Jesse East was novel and amusing. The drill with dumb bells by six of the scholars was a pleasing innovation and well received. In fact it would be a hard matter to determine what part of the program was the best as all did so well. At the conclusion of the exercises the class and teacher were the recipients of many compliments and congratulations.

The school year that has just passed has been one of marked success. Under Supt. L. G. Avery the work in all the grades has been thoroughly revised and new and up-to-date text books have been introduced so that the course of study is now as complete as in any graded school in the state. The school is on the university entrance list in the Latin and Scientific courses for two years. The committee that was sent from the University to inspect our school stated that had the English teaching been satisfactory that course would have been admitted also. This failure no doubt will be remedied the coming school year.

One very encouraging feature of the school was the graduation of so large a class from the eighth grade. some thirty nine which will give the high school another year a good healthy tone if they but continue the impetus their excellent teacher. Miss Kingery has given them.

OBITUARY.

JOHN S. TAYLOR, was born in Weesaw township, January 16th, 1879. and departed from this life at Edgemont, South Dakota, June 6th. The funeral services were held at the M. E. church, Buchanan, on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. H. L. Potter officiating, assisted by Rev. J. R. Neirgarth. Interment was made at Oak Ridge cemetery. The childhood of John S, Taylor, was the childhood of many other | PEARSON'S boys, in like circumstances. He was not able to enjoy the advantages of MAGAZINE secondary education, which lack he often lamented, but determined, that this lack should not deter him from making all of life that was for him possible. Filled with this determination he began to contribute his strength and earnings to the support of his home. Manhood early greeted him with all of her ideals and aspirations, he made his selection, "To serve God and love all" men."

Last winter at the altar he confessed his need of Divine pardon, and receiving that blessed assurance, that such had been given him, he testified of his Faith in God, hope of imortality, and love of Jesus, went in and out of the Lord's house with sunshine in his soul. After careful and prayerful consideration of all that seemed to relate to his future, he was led to leave his native state and childhood home, and cast his fortune in that part of our land which seemed to extend better opportunities for promotion in that department of life's labor which he felt he was best fitted to enter. He left us early this spring, and while he failed to find the opening that he sought after, yet true to the manly nature which prevaded his whole being he found, that which so many fail to find "honest toil," and it was while in the preformance of his duties that his young life was crushed out, and the spirit released from the limitations of mortality. Of his earthly home he leaves to mourn his departure, a father, mother, two brothers and one sister.

John Taylor was a promising young man, one of those whom the world at the present day has great need of, and had he been permitted to fill out the alloted days of a man' earthly service, me thinks the world would have greatly enriched by his life of faithful and loving toil. While we fail to understand why he should be called, yet because of our love and faith and hope which abideth when the fashion of this world fadeth away, we turn to that One who is the giver of every good and perfect gift and say "The Lord giveth, the Lord taketh away, blessed be the name of the Lord."

CHURCH NOTES.

METHODIST.

The Epworth League devotional meeting will be held Sunday evening from 6:15 to 7:15 o'clock. Subject: "Intemperate Pleasures." Ref. 2nd Tim. 3, 1-7. Leader Clyde Devinney. This subject ought to arrest attention are we "lovers of pleasures rather than lovers of God?" The lesson of last week shocked us into the knowledge of the uncertainties of life. Loving hearts prompted tender service to the poor crushed body of our fellow leaguer, John S. Taylor, and we gratefully remember he had accepted Jesus as his personal Savior so while we laid his body away in the silence of the grave we believe his soul has gone to Him who has promised "I will never leave the nor forsake thee."

The daily papers for the past two days are filled with harrowing accounts of death-dealing cyclones in the west. Monday a cyclone struck New Richmond, Wisconsin, and one hundred lives were lost, 200 buildings wrecked, and a loss to property of over $500,000. Tuesday night the town of Herman, Neb., was wiped killed and scores injured.

The sign of the times on the industrial and business horizon are outlined in the June number of the American Monthly Review of Reviews. In the department of "The Progress of the World" the editor discusses the new era of prosperity, the restored wages of labor, the tendency toward the consolidation of capital, railroad amalgamation, the relation of modern monoplies to the heaping up of great fortunes, the value of franchises and purposed tax reforms, and other conditions and problems of the day in the business world. Mr. Bryon W. Holt contributes an article on "Trusts -The Rush to Industrial Monopoly," in which he sets forth the facts in connection with the recent startling development of the trust-forming mania, as it is beginning to be called. A feature of Mr. Holt's article is a carefully prepared list of more than one hundred and twenty five industrial combinations now operating in this country, each of which is capitalized at not less than $10,000,000.

R. G. Dunn & Co's. Review says: The past week has brought a rise in prices not equalled in any other week of many years, Iron products have advanced 8.82 per cent in one week, and pig iron 4.8 per cent., following advances of 8 per cent. in pig, and 4 per cent. in products during May. Cotton has advanced 1 per cent., and cotton goods 1.8 per cent, during the week, with woolen goods .8 per cent., and boots and shoes 1 per cent. A little reaction of .6 per cent. appears in leather, and .7 per cent. in hides, but the characteristic of the time is that expectation of higher prices induce buying far in advance of requirements for consumption. It is needless to say that this is a symptom of danger, and the most conservative manufacturers, especially in iron and steel, have striven to avoid it, but actual inability to deliver products demanded leaves them little power, while speculation in wool and other

Some of our farm papers are discuss-vocates of rye as a manurial crop. I have been growing rye as a winter

cover crop for many years, plowing it under at different stages of growth, and can easily understand how farmers may differ widely in their esti-mates of its value. The objects in view when using rye as a crop for green manuring are these: First, to give the soil a cover, because a mulch of any sort adds to the fertility; second, to prevent leaching, the roots go-

For many years there was one thing that I greatly missed in my household and on the farm; namely, a set of good sieves of various sizes of mesh. Of course, it is rather coarse, there being only three meshes to the inch, but it sifts pottingsoil and soil for the greenhoase bench very nicely. I have still coarser sieves for that purpose, however. I do not care to have the soil sifted too fine, except just a thin layer, say an inch deep on the surface, in which to sow the seeds. This soil is very light and fibrous, consisting largely of vegetable mold, and is sifted through a sieve having six or eight meshes to the inch. I also have a coal-ash sieve, being an upright box with a hopper, and a slanting sieve having two and years by plowing under a heavy coat one-half meshes to the inch. up to tons in weight. Every month there rush upon the flying globe at least twelve billion iron and stone fragments, which, with lurid accompaniment, crash into the circumambient atmosphere. Owing to the resistance offered by the air, few of these solid shots strike the earth. They move out of space with a possible velocity of 30 or 40 miles a second, and, like moths, plunge into the revolving globe, lured to their destruction by its fatal attraction. The moment they enter our atmos phere they ignite; the air is piled up and compressed ahead of them with inconceivable force, the resultant fricvalue equal to that of half a dozen bushels of potatoes, but the potatoes may be so used that they may have a food value much greater than the bare analysis indicates. Succulent food of this character, given in the winter when an animal has otherwise only dry feed, aids in the digestion of the grain and coarse feed. In the case of cows where silage is not used a gallon of potatoes, fed immediately after milking, does not materially affect the flavor of the cow's milk, and increase the amount. A peck of sound potatoes is often given, though this amount is hardly safe when the best milk and butter are required. Horses are benefited by an occasional feed of potatoes For hogs the potatoes should be cooked. Small potatoes can be utilized in this way, and in limited quantities are worth ten cents a bushel in a year of average prices of feeding-stuffs.

Romance of Young Lady Who Posed For "Trilby."

Had it not been for a mortgage on Missouri homestead the world would never have seen Astley D. M. Cooper's wonderful painting, "Trilby." There might have been a painting of that subject by the same artist, but it could never have been the masterpiece the present painting is. It was that mortgage that gave Mr. Cooper his beautiful model Some years ago this young woman was living the happy life of a country girl on her wealthy father's farm in western Missouri. She grew up wild and free, unrestrained in spirits and form, living very close to nature. No corsets ever encircled her waist, and no tight shoes distorted her feet. She grew to womanhood an unfettered child of nature, beautiful in face and form. Then came misfortune for her father. The grasshoppers devastated his fields, and he was compelled to mortgage his homestead. The father sickened and died, leaving his wife and daughter without resources and with a mortgaged home. They went to Kansas City, where the mother secured employment as a cashler in a department store, and the daughter as cloak model in the same establishment. Their common purpose was to save money enough to pay off the mortgage on the homestead. As they came and went to their work they began to attract attention, and soon all eyes were upon them. The young woman soon became known as the "Living Venus," and as such was known to many people who knew nothing of her life. At this time an artist friend wno lived in Kansas City wrote to Mr. Cooper that he had seen the woman of goddess-like form, who alone would serve for a model for a perfect "Trilby," knowing that Cooper was searching for such a model. The artist went post-haste to Kansas City. He managed to secure an introduction to the beautiful girl, and with all possible tact suggested his purpose. She indignantly refused his offer, but Cooper was so impressed with her beauty that he would not be content with a refusal. He argued with the mother, persuaded her, and promised a price that would raise the mortgage, and endeavored to show the daughter that there need be no sacrifice of her maidenly modesty. He told her that her mother could go with her and be with her all the time she was posing. Finally she yielded. At Cooper's beautiful home in San Jose, Cal., during the following four months, she was the sole model, and furnished the inspiration for their great picture. When the picture was completed both mother and daughter returned to Kansas City,

"Lofting's thimble, and in fact all thimbles, were made of either iron or brass, and specifiens of them extant. many of which are preserved as heirlooms, are crude and clumsy looking things compared with the commonest thimble of to-day, although their cost was many times as much. "To-day gold, silver, iron, ivory, steel, sometimes glass, and even pearl and celluloid are utilized in making thimbles. Since art needlework became fashionable thimbles of elaborate workmanship and great value, to accompany the rich and costly implements and materials wealthy needleworkers affect, have found a large

His Own Time. Georgia is excited over the adjustment of a possum dispute between a white man and a negro, whom he employed to cut down a dead tree in the front yard. About 12:30 o'clock said negro was detected walking off the premises with two possums slung over his shoulder. "Where did you get those possums?" asked the owner of the place. "Outen dat tree, sah, whut I cut down." "What do you mean by taking them away? Don't you know they belong to me?" "I thought de possums alius belong to the nigger whut cotched 'em, no matter on whose land dey wuz, sah." "But you are not possum hunting now; you are hired by me to cut up wood, and in the ordinary course of a day's labor, for which I am paying you, you found the possums." "But, boss, I cotched dem possums 'tween 12 and 1 o'clock, when

I wusn't working for you, but wuz supposed to be eatin' my dinner." "That makes no difference. They are my possums. Fetch them back." "But, boss, I cotched de possums in my time, not in your time. Easier and Cheaper. Wrinkles are caused naturally by age, by the gradual absorption of the little cushion of fat under the skin. They are caused prematurely by loss of sleep, by worry, by ill-nature, by the very ugly contortions of the features which so many people indulge in while talking. Look in your mirror, laugh violently, scowl, etc., and see where the wrinkles form! If women would only learn to let their words express their meanings instead of aiding them by tying their brows, eyes and mouth into knots, if they would nut expression into their eyes instead of vainly trying to make expressions out of lines about the eyes, if they would laugh lightly and pleasantly instead of with the loud guffaw "that speaks the vacant mind," if they would sleep erough, they could escape wrinkles, which may be "honorable," but surely are not attractive, for years longer than they now do. Wrinkles can be helped by feeding the skin. They can be removed by skin specialists, who take off the skin of the face and charge goodly sums for doing so. They can be prevented to a large extent by judicious care of the skin. Prevention is easier and much

The First Anniversary. It is just a year since the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul road inaugurated its celebrated Pioneer Limited passenger train service between Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minncapolis. This service marked a new era in the railway world in the line of passenger accommodations. At a cost of a quarter of a million dollars that progressive company furnished the traveling public, in its Pioneer Limited train, comforts and facilities the best ever produced. This train has been described many times in newspapers and magazines, but should be seen and examined to be appreciated. In beauty of finish richness and elegance of furnishing nothing equal to it has ever been attempted by any other road. The car builders were nearly a year in completing the Pioneer Limited trains (there are two-one leaving Chicago for the West and the other leaving the Twin Cities for the East every evening in the year) and they stand today a monument to the builder's art. No regular passenger train service in America is as well known as the Pioncer Limited. From the standpoint of passenger traffic the past twelve months have been the most successful in the history of the St. Paul road, made so very largely by the Pioneer Limited. The patronage of this service is a striking illustration of the fact that the public appreciates a good thing.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely clos ed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous

The Death List at Herman. Neb., So Far as Known, Numbers Ten.

Damage to Property Will Reach One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars.

Cloudburst in the Mountain' Regions of Texas Causes Some Loss of Life.

Thirty-Two Bodies Buried at New Richmond, Wis.-Supply of Coffins Fails.

Four Bodies Found in the Ruins Wednesday - Several Persons. Die of Their Injuries.

Herman, Neb., June 15.—Ten were killed and about 25 injured in Tuesday night's tornado. It is thought all are now accounted for unless the storm has been more disastrous in the country than now anticipated. Not a single building in the town is left. A partial list of the dead and wound el is as follows: DEAD; D. B. Hopkins; Mrs. D. B. Hopkins, Herman; A. Hopkins, their son; Mrs Kelso Pender, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins; W. S. Richards, postmaster of Rerman; Mr. Hawkins, home four miles west of Herman; child of S. M. Davis; Lauis Clausen, machinist, Missouri Val-fer; Earl Petersen. Died at hospital since the storm. Thomas Hines, plasterer. Blair. Property Loss.

The loss of property aggregates $150,-M, which means something appalling for the inhabitants of the peaceful lit tle village. One hundred buildings have been completely destroyed. Only six structures remain intact, three in the north and the same number in the south part of the town. These comrise four residences, the schoolhouse and one church. The population is in a pitiable condition. Those who lost their homes, and there are about 500 of them, are absolutely without resources and must depend on public charity for sustenance and a chance to begin life over again. The few who escaped without injuries or loss of property are so completely dazed that they know not what to do. Relief Work.

The work of relief has already begun, and in a substantial manner. About a hundred of the unfortunates are housed at Blair. The latter town raised $200 as a relief fund, and the Washington for the same purpose. Two dozen tents were sent out from Blair and are occupied by the homeloss. The Blair fire department has been on guard at the scene of the disaster, keeping depredators are disaster, keeping depredators. Hough there is nothing county authorities appropriated $500 the steal. Household goods and everything went to pieces in the wild swirl that obliterated the town. Advices from Blair state that most of the injured there are doing well. The dead will be buried to-day. It is hoped that in a few days the work of rebuilding will begin. Offers of assistance are pouring in from all quarters.

known that Prior was in the saloon of Bullen & Greeley at the time the storm broke, and workers in the ruins kept an anxious outlook for his body throughout the morning. It was found about 1:30 o'clock, buried under a great mass of rubbish. The body of Patrick Early, a boy of 12 years, is in the same mass of wreckage as that in which the body of Prior was found, but it could not be located. Two of the injured died Wednesday, Mrs. Joseph Brockway and Thomas Stevens. Mrs. Brockway was severely injured internally and her hip was broken. She was so badly hurt that little hope of her recovery was entertained. Stevens was badly crushed by falling debris, but it was thought for a time that he would recover.

Clearing Up. The work of clearing up the town was undertaken in a systematic manner Wednesday morning, and decided progress was made. The numerous dead horses that were lying around were all buried early in the day. All the fires thich had been smoldering for 36 were extinguished, and a num-

Even people who wished to go and look at the remains of their own houses were turned back by the soldiers unless they could prove that they wished to do something more than gaze at the ruins. Supplies have been coming in from all directions, and there is no scarcity of anything to eat. edding is not too plentiful, and blants are needed. Food was so plentiful

Tenders of Relief. The relief committee has received tenders of money from various sources, amounting to about $5,000. Enough additional money is in sight, it is said, to supply all immediate demands for cash. A building and loan association plan has been talked of for the rebuilding of the town. The plan has not progressed in any degree as yet, but it is said that outside capital has expressed itself as being willing to advance the funds necessary for rebuilding the town in better shape than before the disaster. No names of those willing to advance the money could be learned, and it will probably be some days before the first definite move in this direction is made. Estimates of Missing Vary. The number still in the ruins is variously estimated, some estimates running up to 100, and others being placed at 50. O. W. Mosher, who has been at the head of the relief work, says that fully 65 children were still missing, and a large number of adults as well. This estimate is generally considered as being too large.

CLOUDBURST IN TEXAS.

Disastrous Effect of a Storm in the Mountains-Some Loss of Life. St. Louis, June 15 .- A special to the Republic from San Autonio, Tex., says: A cloudburst occurred in the mountains north of Spofford Junction Tuesday night about midnight. The immense volume of water rushed down the mountain side, sweeping everything before it and converting dry arroyas and small creeks and rivers into raging torrents and completely flooding the valley and level country below. At the sheep ranch of M. L. Butler every living thing was swept away and the entire Butler family, consisting of father, mother and two children, are reported to have perished. Henry Carver, on the cattle ranch lower down, was drowned. The Southern Pacific track was washed away in half a dozen places and two large bridges were completely destroyed. The water is flowing four feet deep over the track in many places. The Southern Pacific west-bound Mexico and California trains were turned back at Cline Wednesday morning. The trainmen report that the wires are down and that the water is still pouring over the track with tremendous force. The distance between the two main washouts is about 20 miles, and it is impossible to gain any idea of the extent of the damage between these two points. There are many rumors of loss of life below the railroad, but it is impossible to get particulars until the water subsides.

Washington, June 15.—Though gratified to learn that Lord Salisbury and Ambassador Choate have succeeded, as reported from London, in arranging a modus vivendi relative to the Alaskan boundary line, the state department had no official confirmation of the report up to the close of business Wednesday. The British embassy also was without information on the subject from any official source, but there is no disposition to discredit the report, as it is realized that the issues between the parties had narrowed to almost insignificant proportions, and it was believed to be a matter of only a few days before the agreement would be reached. The point of interest in the matter is that any modus that is signed by the United States ambassador will leave the whole of the Lynn canal within the United States lines.

BLAMES THE TARIFF.

Henry O. Havemeyer Declares it Responsible for the Existence

Washington, June 15 .- Henry O. Havemeyer, president of the American Sugar Refining company, was examined by the industrial commission Wednesday in connection with its investigation of trusts. His testimony related almost wholly to the sugar industry, and he opened with a vigorous attack upon the customs tariff, which he declared was the "mother of all trusts." becoming such by providing "inordinate protection to manufactured articles." This attack was made in a written statement which the witness had prepared before making his appearance before the committee, and which he read in a ringing voice. ALMOST PASSED.

Single Tax Law Comes Within One Vote of Passing in the Michigan Legislature.

Lansing, Mich., June 15.—Application of the single tax to Michigan cities escaped enactment by the Michigan legislature Wednesday by only one vote. A bill providing for submission to the people of any city of the proposition to assess city taxes upon the land values, upon petition of 20 per cent. of the taxpayers of the city, which had passed the senate, was defeated in the house by a vote of 50 yeas to 41 nays, 51 being a majority of the members-elect. It is understood that Gov. Pingree would have signed the bill had it been passed. Single tax advocates are elated over the large vote the bill received compared with that obtained for similar measures in former years.

The Buffalo Strike. Buffalo, N. Y., June 15 .- Fully 3,500 men are on strike or have quit work along the docks for various reasons, and outside of the elevating of grain no work is being done. The freight handlers held a big meeting Wednesday night and decided to remain out until the demand of the Erie housemen for an increase of one cent an hour in wages is granted. Thirty Lives Lost, Vancouver, B. Bacoor Evacuated. Bacoor, June 15.—Gen. Lawton, with a troop of cavalry, advanced Wednesday morning and entered Bacoor, finding the town deserted. It had been badly wrecked by the bombardment of the warships Tuesday. Two smooth-bore cannon and a quantity of ammunition were found concealed in the town. A Spanish prisoner who had been left behind said that the insurgents had retreated to Imus in a fearfully demoralized condition. They brought back

The Next Battle. Manila, June 15.—Filipinos retreated southward after Tuesday's engagement to the strongly-fortified town of Imus. The shelling of the American warships drove the rebels from Bacoor, so the Americans control several more miles of coast. The next battle will probably be fought at Imus. The American troops will soon control the coast to Cavite. The American officers estimate that 100 insurgents were killed and that 300 were wounded during the engagement Gen: Lawton, with his staff and a troop of the Fourth cavalry, started to ascertain the nature of the insurgents' position. He rode five miles along the coast to Bacoor without discovering the enemy. He found the town full of white flags, but there were no soldiers there. The women and children, who had fled to the woods during the bombardment, were camping in the ruins of their homes. The shells had almost knocked the town to pieces. The big church was wrecked and many buildings were ruined. Even the trees and shrubbery were torn as by a hailstorm. Several hundred women and children came into the American lines for refuge and the road from Bacoor was covered all day long with processions of them on foot and in carts, driving animals and carrying goods on their heads. WIFE FINDS A WAY.

Smoker's Habits Are Changed Without His Knowledge by the Faithful Woman.

A woman will invariably solve the most perplexing of problems, and solve it, too, tactfully and well. A little creature lives in Chicago whose husband is an inveterate smoker, and when they went to housekeeping he furmished a charming little den in which he and his cronies could smoke. Now, a man is never quite as companionable as when he is smoking, and his wife soon found it out, and while he was smoking his post-prandial cigar, which usually lengthened itself into several, they both missed one another. He liked to tell her between whiffs of all the witty things he had said to the fellow with whom he had eaten lunch, and she liked to hear him tell them. One day she had an idea—she frequently had them-and so she rigged up a little table in the library, "just a makeshift for the den, you know," she said, "where you can finish your reading while you smoke." The table is just the prettiest affair. It is an ordinary mahogany small table with a linen cover, which can be frequently llaundered, and upon it are half a dozen boxes of tobacco, a silver lighting and cutting arrangement, wax matches, boxes of cigars and a tray with several odds and ends. A pretty pipe rack in burnt wood decoration is placed above the table, and it has simply come to this: The gentleman sits down to smoke one cigar while he finishes a story, his wife stitching meanwhile, and he seldom leaves until it is time

RELIGIOUS CAT BACKSLIDES. The Scusitive Animal Refuses to Attend Prayers After Murder of

Her Offspring.

In Susquehanna, Pa., is a household made up of an old man, his housekeeper and their old cat. Family prayers are the rule each evening in the household, and the cat fell into the habit of regular and punctual attendance. No other of the cares that proverbially crowd a cat's life was ever allowed to interfere with this religious cat. At the signal for prayers she would even leave a mouse half caught or give a doomed bird a longer lease of life and decorously compose herself in the lap of the housekeeper with an air of attention to the service that was highly edifying. At the first "amen" she went briskly about her business.

But in an evil hour there came a kitten that was deemed superfluous, and sentence of death was pronounced upon it. The head of the household undertook the execution of the sentence, and, unknown to him, the cat was a witness of the scene. From that day the cat refused to attend the evening service, and cannot now be induced to listen to the prayers of one who has shocked her sensibilities and murdered her offspring. She faithfully performs all other duties as before, and sociably purrs for the family on all secular ocasions, but rigidly draws the line on family pravers. Tenantless Swiss Prisons.

A correspondent writes from Lansanne that the district of Lavaux, situated between Lausanne and Vevey, and having a population of 10,000, is at this moment in the proud position of being able to boast that in the several prisons in the district there is not a single prisoner. A white flag floats over every prison in token of this praiseworthy fact, and virtue reigns supreme in the canton of Vaud.

Sheep-Shearing by Machinery. The sheep-shearing experiment that is being tried in Sycamore, Ill., is proving successful, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. A gasoline engine of four horse-power runs ten clippers, which shear on an average 1,000 sheep a day. One of the advantages of the experiment is that about half a pound more wool is realized from each sheep. The test will be given to 15,000 sheep. The sheep are sheared, the wool tied and packed in large sacks holding several hundred pounds each and ready for shipment at once. The success met with in this experiment will revolutionize the sheep-shearing business.

THE TOWN OF BETHLEHEM. What One Sees Who in This Day Visits the Most Historic Spot in Judea.

J. James Tissot, the great French artist, who has made the remarkable illustrations for the "Life of Christ." writes of "Christmas at Bethlehem," in Century:

"The town of Bethlehem is shaped in the form of a crescent, descending, in the form of a crescent, descending, terrace by terrace, the side of the hill on which it is built. On one of these terraces are grouped the massive buildings of the Latin and Greek convents, between which stands the basilica, charming the eye by the peculiar grace of its lines. All the houses are distinctly Jewish in appearance, with flat roofs capped by cupolas, and many of them have pointed archways which offer. them have pointed archways which offer pleasant places for repose in hours of sun or shade.

"This creeping of the houses down into the very gardens of the valley heightens wonderfully the beauty of thelandscape; while in the background, toward the Dead sea, the mountains of Moab tower majestically above the gentle undulations of hill and vale. Every feature of this never-to-be-forgotten scene is full of sacred significance. In front of the city you are shown the field where Ruth and Boaz met, and near by is the spot where the shepherds were told of our Saviour's birth. At a point still nearer the crescent-shaped city is the well from which David so desired drink after doing battle. A little farther on, and quite by itself, is the tomb of Rachel, beyond which are other battle fields mentioned in the Bible."

The Paris papers are telling an interesting story of a newly-elected member of the French senate. M. Bassinet. like many of his colleagues, is a selfmade man, and began life as a journeyman mason. In that capacity he was employed to renovate the sculptural facade of the Luxembourg palace, when the architect, noting his skill and industry, said to him by way of encouragement: "Why, you couldn't be making a better job of it if it were wour own house." The young workman smiled, and is said to have answered: "One never knows what the future may bring forth." He had at the time no political aspirations, but all the same he now sits as senator in the building he helped to adorn.

I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since l commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints

Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take.

I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have
