VOLUME XXXIII.

BUCHANAN, BERRIEN CO., MICH., THURSDAY, AUG. 17, 1899.

NUMBER 26

WANTS TO KILL PINGREE

CRANK THREATENS THE GOVERNOR WITH A BULLET.

DISAPPOINTED OVER FAILURE TO SECURE EXECUTIVE ASSISTANCE.

MATTER IS IN HANDS OF POLICE, WHO THINK MAN INSANE.

Lansing, Aug. 16.—For years the governors of Michigan and the attorney-generals have received occasional letters from Thomas Meese Siddons, of Harrison, N. Y., who claimed to have a grievance against a Grand Rapids gentleman, whom he accused of having drugged him and deprived him of his property. Attorney-General Maynard at one time investigated the charges and found them unreasonable and without foundation. It was apparent that Siddons was mentally unbalanced. The officials who received his letters put him off the best way they could, and recently Gov. Pingree wrote him that his only remedy was through the courts, and if he could not get an attorney it was because he was unable to pay the attorney's fee or because he had no case.

Chief of Police Sanford has now received a letter from Siddons in which he threatens to put a bullet into the governor the first time he sees him. Siddons writes as follows: "What do you mean? I have applied, and the law says you are the person to bring the case into court, as I am not applying for damages. The president says so. Surely you are not taking bribes in the case. After this if you refuse me a trial you are, as I have said, rotten, as you insinuate I am too poor to employ a lawyer, and if you do not cause justice to me done you are rotten."

"I send this by the chief of police and if you refuse me justice you are corrupt. The first time I see you I shall put a bullet into you."

PILL DRIVERS CONVENTION.

Pharmacists of Michigan Meet at Jackson.

Jackson, Mich., Aug. 16.—The opening session of the seventeenth annual meeting of the Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association convened in this city Tuesday afternoon. The attendance was rather small. Secretary Charles F. Mann, of Detroit, called the meeting to order, and H. J. Brown, of Ann Arbor, was made temporary chairman. Mayor Loennecker was introduced and extended a hearty welcome. A. S. Parker, of Detroit, responding, Secretary Mann presented his annual report showing that a great deal of work had been accomplished during the past year. The association has a membership of 253 and is in an excellent financial condition. A. C. Schumacher, of Detroit, presented the annual report of the secretary of the state board of pharmacy.

In the evening the delegates were given a reception at the Jackson City Club and the ladies were entertained by Mrs. A. E. Gulson.

The White Inquest at Marshall.

Marshall, Mich., Aug. 16.—The inquest over the body of Penton White was resumed Tuesday at the office of Coroner Church. Five witnesses were sworn, the testimony being nearly the same. All agreed that White was in Finley's (the Vestibule) saloon on the afternoon of August 4 and that he was intoxicated. He did not call for liquor, but Charles Hunter, the bartender, it was claimed, gave him several glasses of whiskey in succession, remarking that he'd fill him up for once. During the taking of the testimony Hunter appeared to be very nervous. Mr. Finley was also present, but seemed very unconcerned. Prosecuting Attorney Hatch gives out the information that warrants will be issued for Finley and Hunter as soon as the jury comes in at the conclusion of the inquest, on the charge of illegal selling of liquor. Mr. Hatch says this is already proven by the evidence so far given. On account of the illness of one of the jurors the inquest was again adjourned until Monday next.

Price of Fish Goes Up.

Menominee, Mich., Aug. 16.—The Green Bay Fishermen's Association, organized last winter and which handles nearly all the catch in this vicinity as well as the east shore, had a meeting this afternoon. After a general discussion on the prospects for fall business the price was advanced to $1 per package for salt herring. This is an increase of six cents over summer prices. The price will be advanced still higher before the fall catch is put on the market. The association has made some large sales lately to eastern parties and now has 10,000 packages on hand.

Michigan Pensions.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Michigan pensions were granted Tuesday as follows: Original—Barzela Foot, Nelson, $8; Wm. J. Dishong, Morley, $6; Northmer F. Belding, Ithaca, $10. Increase—Harvey A. Dakin, Three Oaks, $6 to $10; Richard Tea, Vicksburg, $6 to $8. Widows—Mary Ann Ainslie, Charlevoix, $12.

NOT ENOUGH RAIN.

Corn Has Been Affected the Past Week.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 16.—The United States weather-crop bulletin, issued Tuesday, says: "Generally the weather of the past week has been dry and hot. The lack of moisture has been felt the most in the southern counties, where pastures are drying up rapidly and corn has rolled considerably; the ground has also been too dry in those counties for fall plowing. Corn, beans and late potatoes are, however, in generally good condition and have made fair progress during the past seven days. The present condition of corn indicates that it will be safe from frost about September 10 in the southern counties, and about September 15 in the central and northern counties. Beans have made fair progress and are beginning to ripen. The oat harvest is very near completion in most counties and most of the crop has been secured. Sugar beets continue to grow finely and are in a promising condition."

A TERRIBLE CASUALTY.

Mrs. Earl Wilson Instantly Killed in a Flint Runaway.

Flint, Mich., Aug. 16.—Tuesday afternoon Mrs. John M. Russell, of this city, in company with Mrs. Earl Wilson and Mrs. S. A. Wilson, of Harrison, were driving along Court street when their horse shied at a dog and ran away. Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Wilson were thrown from the carriage with such force that the latter died within fifteen minutes. Mrs. Russell was picked up in an unconscious condition and carried to her home, where she lies unconscious and with little hope of recovery. Mrs. S. A. Wilson was badly shaken up, but it is thought she will recover. Mrs. Earl Wilson was 27 years old and leaves a husband and one son.

SHOWS A MARKED DECREASE.

Population of Michigan State Prisons This Summer.

Petoskey, Mich., Aug. 16.—The joint state prison board began its annual session Tuesday at the New Arlington. Wardens Chamberlain, of Jackson; Fuller, of Ionia, and Freeman, of Marquette, and Messrs. O. M. Barnes, of Lansing; Amos Musselman and P. E. Carroll, of Grand Rapids; N. E. Hayes, of Muir, and W. H. Bills, of Allegan, were present. There has been a marked decrease in the population of the prisons this summer, Jackson showing a decrease of thirty-nine and Ionia seventy-four. Paroles have been issued to fifteen men at Jackson, to ninety-four at Ionia and to six at Marquette. The food expense at Jackson has been eight cents per capita and at Marquette ten cents and three mills. The other members of the joint board are expected to-night and the work may be completed to-morrow.

Veterans of Two Wars.

Saginaw, Mich., Aug. 16.—Tuesday afternoon a meeting was held in Bliss hall for the purpose of organizing a National Union Veterans association. Delegates were present from Chicago, Detroit and this city. The committee of constitution and by-laws made a report and discussion of the important provisions followed. The organization will be perfected to-day. It is proposed to incorporate the association and to obtain from the national government the right to issue charters. Veterans of both the American civil and the Spanish wars will be eligible.

Senator Stricken Down.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 16.—Senator M. L. Hayward was stricken with apoplexy Tuesday at Brownville, Neb., where he had gone to deliver an address at the Modern Woodmen picnic. He was apparently in good health and spirits up to the moment of attack, and was sitting on the platform chatting pleasantly with friends while awaiting his turn to speak. Just as the presiding officer was about to introduce the senator he was seen to sway in his chair, and then fell helplessly to the platform. At 4 o'clock the senator was somewhat weak, and, while the doctors have not abandoned hope, they admit he is in a very precarious condition.

Steamer Vigilance Overdue.

Havana, August 16.—Some little anxiety is felt by the agents of the Ward line here at the non-arrival of steamer Vigilance, which left New York last Wednesday afternoon for Mexico, by way of this port. The steamer was due off Jupiter Inlet about the time the cyclone arrived there, but the agents think it probable that her captain, who is an old hand, on finding a cyclone approaching, would, in accordance with universal customs at sea, get as far away as possible. This may be believed to be the cause of the delay.

Yellow Fever at Havana.

Havana, Aug. 16.—Mr. Mills, a clerk at headquarters of Gen. Brooke, who was stricken with yellow fever Tuesday, has been removed to the hospital. Other clerks having rooms at the house where he lived have been quarantined and their effects fumigated. The total number of cases of yellow fever officially reported in Havana this year is thirty-six, of which only twelve have proved fatal. This is considered a remarkable record.

CUBANS CAN'T VOTE YET

SECRETARY ROOT CONFERS WITH THE ISLAND OFFICIALS.

SPANISH RESIDENTS HAVE A YEAR TO BECOME CITIZENS.

GEN. BROOKE ORDERED TO WASHINGTON FOR CONFERENCE.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Gen. Brooke will be called to Washington to consult with Secretary Root concerning affairs in Cuba. The secretary desires to have the benefit of Gen. Brooke's knowledge of the condition of things in the island before he reaches any definite conclusions as to a future policy for Cuba. No date has been set for Gen. Brooke's visit, but it will not doubt be determined by the developments of the situation and before the secretary begins his annual report to the president.

As to elections in Cuba, Col. Kennon, of the Thirty-fourth Infantry, on duty at Havana but now in Washington, has told the secretary that he thought the time was still somewhat distant when they could be held to advantage. By a provision in the peace treaty the Spanish residents in the island were given one year from the date of exchange of ratifications in which to declare their preference as to citizenship. Elections could not be held, he said, until after the year elapsed, in justice to this class. The desirability of leaving the matter open was apparent, said Col. Kennon, because a large proportion of the property was owned by Spanish subjects, and if it could be demonstrated to them that their interests were in becoming Cuban citizens it would be better for the future of the island.

The matter of suffrage is one, the colonel said, that must be carefully considered. The disadvantages which a great proportion of the people have been under, and which have prevented them from being educated will make it extremely hazardous to grant universal suffrage when the time comes for holding an election. Secretary Root was very much gratified with the information which Col. Kennon conveyed. The secretary has been receiving a great mass of documents and data upon Cuba and Porto Rico. Some of the alleged facts are diametrically opposed to each other, and the secretary is now trying to reconcile the differences and sift the truth.

MICHIGAN FLASHES.

He was arraigned before Justice Clarke this morning, waived examination, and was committed to jail to await trial at the next term of the Circuit Court.

William Powers, an alleged expert pickpocket, was arrested at Benton Harbor on circus day charged with flying his trade. Tuesday afternoon occurred his trial before Justice Graves. At an alarm of fire the justice, attorneys and officers thoughtlessly ran out of the room to watch the fire department go by, and the culprit seized his opportunity and made good his escape.

A GRIP ON CHINA.

Russia Makes Public Her Hold on New Harbors.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 16.—Emperor Nicholas has issued the following imperial order to the Russian minister of finance, M. De Witt:

"Owing to the great possessions of Russia in Europe and Asia it has been possible, with the help of God, to effect a rapprochement between the peoples of the west and east. Through the friendly attitude of China we have succeeded in attaining our historic aim, having obtained the use of two Chinese harbors, Ta-Lien-Wan and Port Arthur, with a large territory, whereby an outlet for the Siberian railway to the Yellow Sea is secured. "Thanks to the wisdom of the Chinese government we shall, through railways in course of construction, be united to China, a result which gives all nations the immeasurable gain of easy communication and lightens the operations of the world's trade.

"In our unwearied care for the general weal we have deemed it necessary after completing the railway, to declare Ta-Lien-Wan a free port during the whole period of the treaty for the merchant ships of all nations and to build a new city in the neighborhood of the said port."

GUERIN IS AN OUTLAW

RESISTING ARREST MAKES HIM ONE IN FRANCE.

FORTY OF HIS FOLLOWERS ARE IN LIKE PREDICAMENT.

FRIENDS TRY TO RESCUE THEM FROM CAPTIVITY.

Paris, Aug. 16.—The warrant for the arrest of M. Guerin, president of the anti-Semite League, who, with sympathizers, has been barricaded since Saturday last in the offices of the league, has been placed in the hands of Magistrate Fabre. Guerin is now regarded as an outlaw in a state of rebellion since his notification of the issue of the warrant. He cannot claim the right of a citizen of exemption from arrest from sunset to sunrise and the persons garrisoning the headquarters of the league, numbering about forty, are in the same box. Strict orders have been given to arrest everyone attempting to enter or leave the building. Three of Guerin's friends who attempted to leave the place were arrested. They all carried six-chambered revolvers and hatchets, and what Frenchmen designate as "American knuckle dusters," otherwise brass knuckles.

M. Guerin in the evening displayed in anti-Semite tricolor flag on the roof of the anti-Semite headquarters. On the flag was a motto reading: "France for Frenchmen."

Joseph Lascas, anti-Semite deputy for Gers, who was furnished with a similar permit, visited Mr. Guerin at 9 o'clock last evening and conferred with him for three-quarters of an hour, making every effort to persuade Guerin and his associates that further resistance was vain and dangerous. At about half past 10 M. Lascas went to see M. Waldeck-Rousseau. In the premier's absence he was received by his chief of cabinet. In the course of an interview afterward M. Lascas denied that he was in charge of any negotiations or represented either side. He said he was simply acting on his own responsibility because he was anxious to avoid a strike.

"I believe," M. Lascas continued, "that the matter will be arranged to-morrow. M. Guerin and his friends are over excited. They are exhausted by sleepless nights and the momentary expectation of a police coup." There was considerable excitement accompanied by demonstrations and scuffles in the Rue Chabrol in the course of the evening and the police made several arrests.

THE EDMONTON SURVIVORS.

Smith, Grant and Bastian came from Black Mud River, on the Upper Liard, 110 miles from the Dease, where they had wintered. About 110 men wintered above them on the Brule portage, continuing on through the spring.

Great Race Horse Dead.

Glens Falls, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Tuesday was the opening day of the Grand Circuit races. The attendance was large, the track fast. The stallion Grand Baron (2:12 1/2) was being worked out by his owner, H. J. Marshall, of Greenview, Ill. The animal dropped dead of heart disease. He was sold as a 3-year-old for about $3,000. Twelve thousand dollars was recently refused for him.

Military operations in the Yaguav, ley culminated on Friday in a series of engagements and the final rout and dispersal of the Indians. The Yaqui in rebellion had concentrated their forces at Vicam, on the south bank of Gen. Torres began offensive operations on Thursday. After a sharp engagement the Indians fled, leaving 30 dead on the field. The Mexican loss was 10 killed and 22 wounded. The Yaqui are now scattered in small parties and it is not likely that they will re-concentrate again. The rest of the campaign will probably consist of hunting out the renegades from their hiding places.

McKINLEY ON EXPANSION.

President's Ringing Address to a Throng at Cliff Haven.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 16.—President McKinley accompanied by Private Secretary Cortelyou left Hotel Champlain Tuesday morning at a few minutes past 11 o'clock and was driven to the auditorium on the grounds of the Catholic summer school of America, at Cliff Haven, on Lake Champlain. As the president entered the auditorium the spectators arose and sang a song composed for the occasion. Rev. M. J. Lavelle, president of the Catholic summer school, introduced President McKinley. As the president arose the audience applauded, cheered, waved flags, handkerchiefs and parasols until he made a motion for them to desist. He said in part:

"Whatever the government of the United States has been able to accomplish since I last met you here has been because the hearts of the people have been with the government of the United States. Our patriotism is neither sectional nor sectarian. We may differ in our political and religious beliefs, but we are united for country. Loyalty to the government is our national creed. We follow, all of us, one flag. It symbolizes our purposes and our aspirations; it represents what we mean to maintain, and wherever it floats, it is the flag of the free, the hope of the oppressed, and, wherever it is assailed, at any sacrifice it will be carried to a triumphant peace."

MORE AGGRESSIVE TACTICS.

Gen. Otis Will Penetrate the Interior of Luzon.

Washington, August 16.—Secretary Root is giving his attention largely to army matters. He had a long consultation Tuesday with Adjt.-Gen. Corbin relative to the army, its strength, equipment and supplies, these being considered in connection with the statements which have been furnished by the heads of the different bureaus. The question of enlisting and the selection of officers for additional volunteer regiments also was under consideration, but it was stated that no decision to call for more troops was considered. While it is said that five regiments will be organized, the number has not been definitely determined upon. Neither is it settled whether all shall be infantry regiments. It has been suggested that another cavalry regiment or two may be of great advantage in the Philippines. The only objection to organizing two cavalry regiments is said to be the great difficulty and cost of transporting horses to the Philippines. The recruiting now going on will continue. The new regiments may be organized at some other posts than where the first ten have been stationed, as several localities are anxious to have them.

POULTRY YARD

Our readers are invited to send in any questions for information on this subject, and any communications bearing on poultry will be received with pleasure and will be fully discussed in this column.

PLYMOUTH ROCKS.

Among the best breeds we have are the Plymouth Rocks. The breed originated by crossing the Dominicks with Black Java hens and is considered one of the best for practical purposes. They are hardy, easily reared, lay well, mature somewhat early, and attain large size as well as being excellent table fowls; they are clean legged, with yellow skin, and make an attractive market fowl, excelling as market chicks. Crosses from this breed on large bodied hens have attained the weight of two pounds at ten weeks of age, but this was of course under a high system of feeding. That they will reach one and a half pounds is well known, but too much should not be expected unless they have the benefit of care. While they have tall combs yet they are not as objectionable in that respect as the Leghorns, and rarely suffer from frosted combs. There is one objection to them, however, which some contend is an advantage, which is that they easily become too fat; but such is not the case when they run at large and have an opportunity to forage. They are as near the "perfect" fowl as any breed.

ingenious, meritorious, useful. There may be something funny about the idea of applying such a device to a hen, but it doubtless serves its purpose in a very efficient manner. The device is shown by Fig. 1, reproduced from the inventor's original drawing.

In order to prevent poultry from scratching up flower beds and garden seed a piece of wire is bent upon itself centrally to form a loop to pass around the leg of the hen, and the two ends extend out backward to trail on the ground. When the hen raises her right foot to scratch, the ends of the wire strike the ground and push her forward. If she insists in scratching, the fetter will push her out of the yard, and she will then have to make her way back by trailing the fetter. It may be funny, but it works.

To prevent hens from sitting is a subject which the inventor has given some attention. Bill Nye once said that the man who could cure a hen of her burning passion to sit deserved a monument. He also said that he once set a hen on a white door-knob and raised a country villa.

Quite an ingenious device, and one which appears to be practicable, is shown by Fig. 3. This invention consists of a hoodwink, or blindfold, to be applied to the hen to prevent her from flying upward to a nest. The blindfold is made of soft leather, and is so constructed and applied that the hen is permitted to look downward in order to feed, but cannot look upward. The inventor says in his specification: "When a hen is provided with one of these improved hoods she can see neither to the right nor to the left nor upward, and she is thus prevented from flying to any elevated position. All nests in the modern construction of henneries are located at an elevation from the ground, and as a fowl will not fly in a direction in which it cannot at first look, the hen will be prevented from flying up into the nest. This device will also prevent fowls from flying over fences and into gardens and the like.—E. P. Bunyan.

Boys on the Farm. Lots of boys are driven from the farm by the treatment they receive there. You cannot work a boy from ten to fourteen hours a day, begrudging him a day off and depriving him of an opportunity to make a little money, and have a little fun on his own account, and then expect that he is going to stay on the farm. Boys are not built that way. But if you treat them right, encourage their originality and foster their development and the doing of things for themselves, the average boy is level-headed enough to realize the advantages offered by rural life. Some fathers make the mistake of trying to drive boys instead of working with them, or fail to recognize the rapidity with which a bright boy gains knowledge and experience between 12 and 20, and how quickly he may know more or have better judgment in some matters than his father. The parents are quite as often at fault as the boys in those cases where the complaint comes that the boys won't stay on the farm.—Journal of Agriculture.

Splendid Farm Drink.

"If ice cannot be had, I recommend that the Yankee drink called 'Switch-ell' be used as it is palatable and will quench thirst when quite warm. It is made by sweetening water and putting enough ground ginger in it to make it stimulate a little and enough good cider vinegar to give it a pleasant acid taste and to prevent it from souring on the stomach. It is a refreshing and wholesome drink and one which never harms the one who drinks it, and if mixed in the right proportions is palatable to most of the men. As boy and man I have used it for more than fifty years, and I heartily recommend it."—EX.

The advantages possessed by Pekin ducks are hardness, large size, and adaptability to more confinement than other kinds. That they need water to swim in cannot be denied, for all ducks need water to a certain extent, despite all claims to the contrary, but the Pekins can thrive with fewer privileges than any other breed. It is a loss of time to give room to puddle ducks when the Pekins require no more space, nor cost any more to raise. They are equal to any variety for laying, and though not as beautiful as the Rouens, are more easily attended to. They can be hatched under hens, the time required being about four weeks, and if not allowed to go near the water until fledged will do as well with a hen as with a duck. Ducks are great scavengers and devour many articles that would not otherwise be serviceable, except for feeding to them, and they also pick up many little stray bits that other kinds of poultry would not notice.

THE PROFIT FROM TURKEYS

Turkeys are nearly all profit. They are great foragers, hunting their own food, willingly subsisting on many substances that hens will not touch. In the tobacco field and among the tomato vines they keep down the large green worms that do so much mischief, and as they are very fond of grasshoppers a plague of that kind is to them a blessing and a means of surfeiting. They do not reject any kind of insects that birds naturally devour, and they also eat the seeds and tender shoots of many obnoxious weeds. Considering that they demand but very little care, and sell at a very high price per pound, they yield a larger profit than any other kind of poultry, although they are not easily raised when very young unless carefully watched and kept free from dampness. If the young ones can be given the proper attention required until they are feathered they will then be able to take care of themselves. They then begin to be profitable, as they can find enough by foraging.

Love's Deserted Palace.
Regard it well, 'tis yet a lovely place,
Palace of Love, once warmed with sacred fires,
Sounding from end to end with joy of
lyres,
Fragrant with incense, with great lights
ablaze.
The fires are dead now; dead the festive rays,
No more the music marries keen desires,
No more the incense of the shrine
Aspires,
And of Love's godhead there is now no
trace.
Yet if one walked at night through those
dim halls,
Might it not chance that ghostly shapes
would rise,
And ghostly lights glide glimmering down
the walls,
That there might be a stir, a sound of sighs,
And gentle voices answering gentle calls,
And gentle, wandering wraiths of melodies?
—Philip Bourk Marston.

"THE DAFFODILS."

He had just moved into his new lodgings and had endeavored to make the bare, cheerless rooms a little more homelike, but, though the photographs
were scattered about, his piperack nailed over the mantel shelf, surmounted by a neat and effective border of unpaid bills, sundry writs, and County Court notices, he was yet unsatisfied
with the general effect.

Of course, there was a vast difference between the luxurious quarters
in Murray Hill which he had just vacated and these small, stifling rooms,
with their cheap horsehair furniture,
but he was somewhat of a philosopher
and his motto was to go with the tide.

This time, however, the current had been too strong, and he found himself at last stranded with a beggarly allowance of a thousand a year, the last remnant of the handsome fortune that had once been his.

The fault was entirely his own. He frankly admitted it, though most men would have laid the blame on the woman who was the primary cause of it all; but he did not condemn her.

He also had been to blame. She was poor, and he made love to her under false colors—had led her to believe he was a poor government clerk at a salary of $700 a year. His object at first had been purely for his own amusement, but she was not he kind of woman fitted to be a man's plaything, and the game had ended in deadly earnest.

Therefore, it was with some trepidation that he had written confessing that which he had concealed from her,
and asking her to marry him. He was sincerely prepared, however, for the cut reply that came: "I am going away to-day. Good bye."

Mechanically he opened the drawer
of the writing table by which he stood.
It was full of papers and little womanly trifles, evidently the property of the former occupant of the room.
Unconsciously he commenced to read the paper in his hand—the writing was blurred and irregular, as though written by some one in ill-health:

"Why do I think of you to-day? It seems as though you must be near, or is it because it is springtime, and my room is full of yellow daffodils? I am writing a letter to you, one that you will never receive—for all I know you may be dead or—even married. It does not seem so long since we met, though I know it is years ago. I wonder if you would be glad to know that to-day I am thinking of you—that out of the desolate gray comes a vague, sweet dream that brings you near to me. To-morrow it will be winter again—winter in my heart—and I shall tear up this letter; but to-day the dreariness has faded. There is no touch of scorn to freeze my heart, no kisses
cold as death to chill my lips—no silence that aches round me with its worldless pain. . . . I hear the whisper of spring that breathes of hope, I feel the touch of clinging hands—your hair against my cheek—whom I might not know were I to meet you now—do you doubt my love,
that you let me go out of your life
without a word or a sign that you cared—"

Here the writing terminated abruptly. The reader stood as in a dream, staring straight before him into the dingy street. Her handwriting rising! It was as though a ghost had risen to confront him.

A knock at the door aroused him
from his stupor, and the landlady bustled in with the tea tray; her quick eyes caught sight of the open drawer. "Good laws, I meant to clear that out, sir!" she exclaimed, "but the poor young lady being taken away so suddenly like, clean drove it out of my head."

"Is—she dead?" he faltered. A deadly fear had taken possession of him, his face paled to an ashen hue.
"Lor' no, leastways not yet," said
the good woman, cheerfully. "I went to see her last week at the 'orspital, but the doctors don't give any hope of her gettin' better."

As she spoke she swept the contents of the drawer into her apron, and his hand closed convulsively on the letter
he held.

"Which hospital was she taken to?"
he asked, steadying his voice with an effort.

"The one just round in the square, sir," answered the woman. Then, in hastened apology: "You'll be wantin'
your tea, sir; you look tired."

As the door closed on her portly form he dropped his head in his hands. "Good God!" he groaned, "a whole week has passed; she may be dead!"
It was visiting day at the hospital,
the ward was bright with spring flowers, and brighter faces lit up by that pathetic, wistful expectancy characteristic of the sick. There was an eager hum of voices, too, hushed occasionally by an admonishing word from the nurse in charge. In the same ward, railed off by a curtained screen from the other patients, a girl lay asleep. No visitor ever came for her save the doctor, and sometimes this woman where she had once lodged, but the nurse, in kindly sympathy,

had placed a bowl of fresh daffodils
where her tired eyes could see them on awakening. The doctor gave no hope of the patient's recovery, and so, with womanly pity, she tried to make the girl's last days as happy as possible. Before the afternoon was half over a gentleman called and asked to see No. 20. "She is not expected to live," said the nurse, studying the white, anxious face before her. "Are you a friend? She has no relatives, I think."

"Yes—a friend. That is, I knew her years ago," he said hesitatingly. "Perhaps you had better break it to her first; it might startle her."

As the nurse went back the girl opened her great brown eyes, her ears
caught the sound of merry laughter,
and her gaze wandered to the daffodils; a longing look crept into her eyes. "Who brought me the flowers, nurse?" she asked in a kind of breathless wonder, and a sudden idea took possession of the nurse. "A gentleman, a friend who knew you years ago," she replied. A deep flush dyed
the girl's white cheeks. "Is he here?"
she said eagerly, and the white,
wasted hands opened and closed convulsively.

"Yes, and if you'll promise not to excite yourself, you shall see him for a few minutes," said the nurse, soothingly, and forthwith ushered in the visitor.

With a stifled cry he fell on his knees by the bed. "Damaris!" he said,
and the girl touched his rough curls.
"You have come back," she whispered with half incredulous joy; the nurse dropped the curtain and left them together.

"I knew you had come when I saw the daffodils," she went on with a tremor of eagerness. "Don't you remember how we met in the time of daffodils, and how happy we were?"

He took the little trembling hands and kissed them passionately. "You didn't receive my letter that I wrote
six years ago asking you to marry me and telling how I had deceived you,"
he said.

"Did you deceive me? It doesn't matter," she smiled; "nothing matters
now you have come back to me."

He kissed the small white face.
"You will get better, Damaris," he pleaded, "for my sake, sweetheart, though God knows I don't deserve it."

She took his face in her two hands.
"How could I die and leave you all alone?" she asked pathetically.

Thus after many years they took up the severed thread of their lives, and love, "who will not be denied," smoothed out the tangle and wove in its stead his golden mesh.—Buffalo News.

The Nightingale.

Here comes a singer indeed, who has neither equal nor second, says the Gentleman's Magazine. If its song is unknown to any who read this, I would say, wait until you hear music solemn and yet jubilant as ever came from a bird; a voice of transcendent sweetness, variety, and with a supreme power of impressing itself on the very inmost fiber of our minds, and bringing us into some mysterious sympathy with things beyond our understanding, and when you hear it you may know you are listening to the nightingale. That song has been described over and over again; poets have loved to sing it, and Milton, in his "O nightingale that on yon blooming spray," has, with his curious and accurate felicity, found just the word that expresses one of its chief charms
—its "liquid notes." Wordsworth's,
"Those notes of thine, they thrill and pierce, Tumultuous harmony and fierce,"
express other of its beauties.

Keats' famous ode has in it less of the nightingale than of his own feeling on hearing the nightingale, but yet his epithet, "full-throated ease," hits that carelessness of utterance, that unpremeditatedness joined with a supreme finish, which places it above and beyond all bird artists. But if I were asked what is its best, its most wonderful achievement, I should say it was the marvelous crescendo on one note, almost human in its artistic perfection. This is "the one low piping sound more sweet than all" of Coleridge—Coleridge, who has so defined the bird, against the charge of melancholy that all other defenses can be but a plagiarism of his.

"'Tis the merry nightingale
That crowds and hurries and precipitates
With fast thick warbles his delicious
notes."

Indeed, I do not know how the fable of the melancholy nightingale has crept into the minds of men; not only is the song exultant but every movement of the bird is full of verve and joyousness.

Advance in Hawaii.

The pearly group of islands of the Pacific which last fall unfurled the stars and stripes as its national emblem is reaping the substantial fruits of its enterprise. From the darkness of the uncivilization, which overshadowed these islands like a pall a few years ago, they have risen to a position of importance in the eye of the great commercial nations of the world.
In one year they have jumped from a volume of trade of $23,704,403 to $27,715,560, a gain of $4,011,157, or nearly 17 per cent; their shipping has increased in that period of 12 months
by 102 vessels with a tonnage of 90, 703 tons, entered and cleared. The number of persons who took the opportunities 1898 offered of visiting the islands was 24,542, as against 17,883
during 1897, and of these 9,916 remained to swell the permanent population.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Few Americans, indeed few Europeans, have as comprehensive and,
at the same time, as intimate an acquaintance with the commercial and political situation in the Far East, as Mr. John Barrett. While representing the United States in Siam, he travelled not only throughout that country, but in Japan, Siberia, Korea, Manchuria, China, Formosa,
Indo-China, the Malay Peninsula,
Borneo, Java and the Philippines,
and studied minutely the conditions existing in the regions. In an article on "The Paramount Power of the Pacific," which Mr. Barrett contributes to the August number of the North American Review, he surveys this interesting and extensive field, pointing out that if they lose their present opportunities wisely,
American manufacturers and producers will reap the largest share of the advantage to be gained from the vast expansion of commerce soon to take place in the East. In that event, Mr. Barrett predicts that the United States will dominate the Pacific, and possibly, after the completion of the Nicaragua Canal, the Atlantic Ocean also. Mr. Barrett offers a number of practical suggestions as to the steps which should be taken to reach this goal.

The Trinity in Redemption.

(Written by Rev. W. W. Wells.)

Thou Trinity God—we come to thee
Thou Three in One and One in Three Thou Father, Son and Holy Ghost
Thou art all our joy and boast.

We praise Thee for the scheme of grace
Destined to save our fallen race
In which the Godhead all unite With infinite wisdom, love and might.

The Father loved the world so well
He gave His Son for those who fell
That whosoever believeth in Him
Should escape the penalty and power of sin.

The Father's purpose to fulfill The Son delights to do, his will Endured the cross, despised the shame
To glorify the Father's name.

And when His work on earth was done
And man's redemption fully won
He took His place upon the throne
To intercede for all His own.

The Father and the Son combine
To send the Spirit all divine
To finish the work which Christ begun
While successive ages end.

The Spirit now performs His part
Convicts the conscience—molds the heart
He leads to Christ the sinner's soul
To make him wise and truly whole.

To make and keep him pure within
From every form and stain of sin
For him on earth to intercede
While Christ in Heaven doth ever plead.

What more than this could we desire
To give us hope—our souls inspire
All Heaven engaged in saving man
All doing all they wisely can.

All this is prompted by infinite Love
He that infinite wisdom can devise
Is freely given from above
Whatever may be the sacrifice.

Who would not bow to such a God
And in love await His nod
Who would not respond to His every claim
And make His will his chiefest aim.

The most striking feature of the Century for September, which will be a Sail-Water Number, is the first instalment of Captain Joshua Slocum's
"Sailing Alone Around the World."

This is the narrative of a daring voyage of circumnavigation, undertaken by the author in 1895, in a forty-foot sloop built by himself in Buzzard's Bay, and taken back and forth across the Atlantic and thence around Cape Horn and the Cape of Good Hope,
without assistance or companionship.
The distance traversed was 46,000
miles, and the accuracy of the navigator's landfalls throughout was a thing to marvel at, his chronometer
for most of the time being a little tin clock of the cheapest kind. Captain Slocum was a thoroughly seasoned sailor when he started on his adventurous singlehanded cruise, but his unique achievement was not without difficulties and perils, that taxed to the utmost his strength, endurance and ingenuity. Other contents of this number of The Century are "The Way of a Ship," by Frank T. Bullen, author of "The Cruise of the Cachot";
"The Atlantic Speedway," by H.
Phelps Whitmarsh, author of "The World's Rough Hand"; and "Salvage," by Morgan Robertson, author of the forthcoming volume of sea
tales "Where Angels Fear to Tread."

The International's Paris letter for August is devoted entirely to advice
for those who intend visiting the Exhibition of 1900, and who have been to Paris before. The writer, Alys Hallard, tells of how to attend to one's baggage on arriving; how to engage a cab and how much to pay for it; how and where to lunch and dine,
and devotes some space to the shops and shopping. Next month, she promises, she will go more into detail as to the shopping matter, and also as to what one should see in Paris, aside from the Exhibition. Later on she means to give exhaustive information as to lodgings, etc. Her suggestions as to tips, or fees, are good,
and will be appreciated by intending visitors to Paris.

In the Monthly Review of Reviews
for August the editor comments on educational conditions in the South, with reference to the future of both the white and colored races. In the same magazine is the address delivered at the Capon Springs, W. Va., conference in June by Dr. J. L. M. Curry, one of the foremost educational leaders of the South and an active executive officer of the Peabody and Slater funds.

State Head Consul Byrns, of Ishpeming, Mich., and Supreme Head Consul, W. A. Northrup; of Greenville, Ill., will address the county picnic of Modern Woodmen of America in Benton Harbor September 4—Labor day. There is to be a parade, speaking, sports and other amusements and a large crowd is expected. Mr. Northrup is the present lieutenant governor of Illinois and is a fine speaker.
 Ivy Leaf camp, of that city, which is arranging for the county picnic, is one of the most flourishing camps of the whole order. It has a present membership of 255 and there are 25 more applications on file. The order is one of the best and strongest of the fraternity organizations and offers reliable beneficiary insurance at the lowest possible cost to its members.

The "burn out" of the power generator of the Light and Power department of the Beckwith estate proved more serious than was at first supposed. It was found that the insulation had been burned off from the coil and this necessitated the sending of the armature to Chicago to be re-wound. As a consequence of the plant not being equipped with duplicate machinery all who have been users of power were without the same, and were perfectly helpless until the machine is returned from Chicago. The machine was sent away Friday and has not yet been returned. It is to be hoped that the break will soon be repaired, and that there will be no further trouble with the circuit as the recent stoppages have been rather annoying to say the least.

It is President Wells.

An immense gathering of pioneers from Southern Michigan and Northern Indiana attended the annual picnic at Clear Lake, southwest of Buchanan. Addresses were made by Congressman Hamilton, of Niles and others.

The following officers were elected: Charles Wells, Buchanan, president; Geo. W. Rough, Niles, first vice-pres.; L. A. Lydick, German township, secretary; Edward Miller, South Bend, treasurer.

The "Buchanan Blues" went to Cassopolis Wednesday to have a game with the Cassopolis base ball nine. The score was on the wrong side of the book, being 17 to 1 in favor of the Cassopolis boys, but the boys say it is all right as long as it wasn't "16 to 1."

Mr. Wm. Van Meter opened his new restaurant and bakery on Monday and everything about the place presents that "spick and span" appearance which is characteristic of "Van". There is no doubt but Van's Restaurant and Bakery will be a success.

Advertisers should note the fact that the BUCHANAN RECORD is one of the 156 that are not afraid to let their customers know just what they are buying.

After dinner Mrs. Weisgerber called and took Mrs. Batson for a drive and during her absence twelve of her old time friends quietly assembled at Mrs. Batson's home and when she returned, she was informed that they had come to spend the afternoon and take tea. It is needless to add that every one had an enjoyable time for who could not amid such surroundings. ## Uncle Josh Spruceby.

The attraction at Rough's Opera House for one night, Aug. 18 will be "Uncle Josh Spruceby." This celebrated New England comedy drama has become very popular. The scenes of the play were taken from Vermont. The principal character in the play is "Uncle Josh," an old "down East" farmer, and an opportunity is presented for some very strong dramatic situations, as well as pure comedy, and wholesome fun. In these days of "farce comedies" it is a relief to witness a play of this kind.

A carload of special scenery is used and the great Saw Mill scene is presented. Songs, dances and many unique specialties abound. The company carries 35 people. A big parade will be given at noon that day. The musical features include two big bands and a splendid orchestra of twelve pieces.

HE HAD A GOOD PLACE.

Jimmie's Mother Thought Her Sailor Son Had Gone to Work for a Minister.

"One of the nicest, most motherly old ladies I meet in my rounds," remarked a traveling man who sells goods through the southern states...

"Oh," she responded with a smile that would make anybody glad to have her for a mother, "Jimmie is doing so well now. He don't always get into the best places, and I am afraid that sometimes he gets into real bad ones, but he is turning over a new leaf, I guess, for he has gone to work with a preacher. He didn't mention what denomination he was, but that don't make any difference, so long as Jimmie just works for him."

"I don't know, except that his name is Rev. Cutter McCulloch. I'll show you Jimmie's letter."

WOMAN'S SPHERE.

An Incident of the Days of Anti-Slavery Agitation in Connecticut.

During the days of the anti-slavery agitation the women took a rather prominent part in the work. Once, after Abbey Kelly, the talented young Quakeress, had spoken publicly at Torrington, Conn., a local minister denounced her as a "Jezebel," and called a meeting in the town hall to protest against the outrage on public decency.

Cubans Readily Take to Horse Racing, Baseball, Golf and Other Amusements.

"If Capt. Bellairs is as well posted in Tattersall rules as we believe him to be, no doubt he could get up a series of exercises involving the Balaklava melee and pegging, participation in which would be healthful and instructive to those who witnessed it."

TIME FOR FANCY WORK.

Hours Not Otherwise Occupied Can Be Profitably Spent.

If your time hangs wearily upon your hands here is a pleasant way in which to employ it...

First, make an apron long enough to reach to the hem of the dress skirt.

Set the apron upon a pointed yoke and lay as few gathers as possible at the front.

After the apron is completed put it aside and proceed to embroider the trimming to go upon it.

It requires a great deal of time and patience to accomplish this piece of art.

Mannerism.

We all have our pet characteristics. Just think a minute, perhaps your vanity takes the form of a too pronounced assertion of your poverty...

Then there is Mr. Smith; he explains public affairs to your husband as though he (your lord and master) were a little schoolboy of tender years...

The woman who calls on you and talks exclusively and fast of her own affairs, she means well; but do not weakly try to insert in the conversation any grievance or interest of your own...

Oddities in Necklaces.

Necklaces of all sorts are worn with the low-cut gowns. The strings of colored glass beads have found many admirers, and I notice that they are being worn with day as well as evening gowns.

The Tailor Skirt. The tailor skirt is a trial to the woman who laments the fact that she has "no hips," and it is equally trying to the woman who is too much the other way.

A Curious Gift. Queen Victoria accepted a curious present the other day at Windsor castle—a bit of the wooden post to which Sir Rudolf Skita was chained when a captive at Omdurman.

WHENCE THE OPAL'S FIRE.

Source of This Popular Stone's Scintillating Beauty.

The poet's question, "Whence comes the fire of the opal?" has been answered by scientific facts, but the question also brings to mind a pretty legend—one rarely seen in print.

In a lonely wood a nightingale had built his nest amid the branches of a bush, at the foot of which lay a large white stone.

At the dawn of day, when he fled back to fill his post in the sky, he passed a little moonbeam, whom he told of the nightingale's song and the pleasant resting place beside the white stone.

At night the sorrowful moonbeam returned to the sky and again passed the sunbeam on his way to earth.

He awoke in fear, and cried, "Oh! Alas! Alas! The sun is high, and I can never return! Away from heaven I shall surely die."

Night came, and with it the bird's song, and by the side of the white stone the sunbeam and his moonbeam fell into a deep sleep.

Towards morning a traveler passed through the wood, and hearing the nightingale, sat down to rest upon the white stone, which he accidentally rolled aside.

Beautiful Ornaments.

Old jewels, of rare setting are now more sought after than modern gems. A bride recently married had a very fine collection.

DRIER FOR MY LADY'S HAIR.

The discomfort of carrying a wad of wet hair on her head and the time consumed in drying it frequently deters a woman from enjoying the delights of a shampoo.

eral hours to dry it, and unless great care is exercised, the risk of catching cold during the drying operation is very great.

Necklaces of all sorts are worn with the low-cut gowns. The strings of colored glass beads have found many admirers, and I notice that they are being worn with day as well as evening gowns.

The Tailor Skirt. The tailor skirt is a trial to the woman who laments the fact that she has "no hips," and it is equally trying to the woman who is too much the other way.

The stout woman is a hopeless case; there is nothing the tailor can do for her except to advise her to diet and ride a bicycle.

The unframed prints which many people are fond of sticking upon their walls are much improved by a mat of charcoal paper in soft tint.

FOLD UP YOUR WHEEL.

The Latest One Can Be Doubled Into Small Space.

They have a folding bicycle now. It probably came into life as a convenience for those hapless individuals who live in a flat.

The man who invented the baby carriage which could be flattened out and placed under the bed, or stood against the wall behind the sofa, worked a great benefaction.

The folding bicycle is pivoted in the center and by pressing the two spring bolts (thus releasing the locks) the front part of the machine can be swung around against the rear.

For military purposes the folder can be packed with everything that is carried by a soldier mounted on horseback; while it can be hung on the shoulder and allow the soldier the free use of his hands.

CORRESPONDENCE

BENTON HARBOR.

August 15, 1899.

This city has purchased a new street sweeper.

Miss Myrtle Hogue returned Friday from a two years stay in Nicaragua.

Opie Read, the novelist, was in St. Joseph the other day, looking up a place to spend his vacation.

It is only just to say that Schrader, the divine healer, who left here dead broke, sent back money and paid his bills like a man.

The Congregational Sunday School will picnic at Somerleyton tomorrow going on the Tourist. The Methodist school will go next Saturday to Oldfieldz, three or four miles farther, on the Map Graham.

N. A. Hamilton's house in St. Joseph was struck by lightning last Friday evening, but the only damage done, was the smashing of a mirror. The Central school building was also struck and the bell melted a little.

The council met last night to consider the application of W. C. Hovey, for a franchise to build a street railway, from L. L. Gap into the city, along the west side, and out south on Colfax Ave. The road may be extended to connect with South Haven.

During the big circus parade last Friday, two houses in town were entered and $200 and a watch were stolen from one and $115 from the other. It was evidently done by parties who knew just where to lay their hands on the money.

The annual county picnic of the Maccabees will be held in St. Joseph next week Thursday, Aug. 24. Any couple can be married free of charge, by having the ceremony performed on the veranda of one of the big hotels. Fifteen couples have already applied.

Fifteen couples from Chicago were married at Clerk Needham's last Sunday. There was to be one more couple, but when they got within a block of the court house, the young man asked the lady to wait under the shade trees while he delivered a message, that he had just rem mbered to some one at the dock. That was the last she saw of him, so she returned home on the evening boat, disconsolate.

The big circus did not give an evening performance last Friday on account of the severe storm. It is a part of Mr. Sells' business to keep posted on storms and he gave orders for the big tent to come down in a hurry and it was done none too soon. Even the elephants were pressed into service to help move the heavy wagons about. When the storm broke in its fury, those big animals were so frightened, that they had to be chained together for safety. There were twelve or fifteen of them. Great damage and loss of life would probably have resulted if the big tent had not come down, for people were so anxious to see the show one thousand had been unable to get seats at the afternoon performance.

THREE OAKS.

Aug. 15' 99.

Work on the town park commenced last week.

The Misses Wynn, of Kalmazoo are visiting friends in town.

Geo. Currier and wife are contemplating a trip to Bay City some time this month.

Grace Bradley has returned from California where she has been visiting for sometime past.

Laura White, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. White, died last night. Mrs. Leigh is visiting her father, Mr. A. C. Copeland.

The annual picnic of the Farmer's Club will be held at Lake Michigan, on August 17.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Dr. F. R. Belknap a Candidate for the Secretaryship.

Dr. F. R. Belknap of this city has announced himself a candidate for secretary of the state board of health. At the meeting of the Berrien County Medical society at Buchanan on Thursday resolutions were adopted favoring his appointment.

Dr. Belknap has entered the field in earnest; and his chances of getting the appointment are very good. He will make a splendid secretary.—Niles Sun.

The Record takes great pleasure in publishing the above clipping and we trust our friend Dr. Belknap will succeed in his candidacy, for he will make a good official.

Have Removed to Indiana.

Mrs. S. J. Fisher and daughter Eugenia, left on Tuesday for Bristol, Indiana, where they will make their home. Mrs. Fisher goes to take care of her mother who is an aged lady of 81 years and who is quite feeble in health besides, having recently met with an accident causing a dislocation of her shoulder and causing her great discomfort.

Josh Spruceby.

The musical features of the "Uncle Josh Spruceby" company are a splendid operatic orchestra of 12 soloists. All the new and popular music is rendered, as well as high class numbers. The two big bands are composed of musicians of merit and the concert which will be given at noon is very popular and attract large crowds. The company will play at Rough's Opera House for one night only August 18.

A Correction.

A provoking typographical error occurred in last week's Record and we take great pleasure in correcting the same. In our account of the recovery of Mr. W. Cauffman's Hartford bicycle, we meant to say the wheel had been sold in South Bend by Wesley Womer, but our types got it Wilson Womer, the name of a gentleman who has been dead for sometime, and was highly respected by all who knew him. In justice to his memory we make this correction.

Advertising in The Record Pays.

Last week we published a little advertisement of a pair of gold bowed spectacles which had been lost by Mr. Wm Wilson of Chicago while on a visit here with friends and relatives. This week we can chronicle the fact that the spectacles have been found and returned to their rightful owner through the medium of the advertisement in last week's Record. The case and spectacles were picked up by Mr. Thos. McNally on the Dayton road near the Koenigshtof place and Mr. McNally sent them to the Record office by a neighbor who was coming to town. Advertising pays, if it is done in the Record.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. R. A. Green died at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. O. Aikin, in this village, August 5th, 1899, after a long illness, aged 61 years. The funeral was held Monday forenoon, at 8 o'clock, at the residence, Rev. E. N. Prentice officiating, after which the remains were taken to Buchanan for burial.

Mrs. Green was born in New York in 1838, and in 1860 was married to Myron Green, who passed away several years ago. Several months ago she and her father, Paris Sprague, came to this village from Chicago, to remain during the absence of her son, Harry Green, in Alaska. She was the mother of two children, one of whom is dead.—Edwardsburg Argus.

M. E. Conference.

The Michigan Methodist conference convenes at Iona September 13th. Bishop Charles H. Fowler, of Buffalo will preside over the hundred ministers who make up the largest conference in Methodism. This will be the year for the election of lay and ministerial delegates to the general conference which meets in Chicago next May. In the choice of Lay delegates the Michigan conference is entitled to the regular number, two, and five more provisional, who, on the action of general conference adopting the plan of the annual conferences will be entitled to a seat in the general conference at the May session.

Ionia is easily reached by the people of Southwestern Michigan and many will be in attendance at this annual gathering. The coming general conference at Chicago will find the greatest gathering of Methodism ever known in the west.

A Good Meeting.

The County Medical Society held an interesting and well attended session at Buchanan last Thursday afternoon.

Dr. Henderson, of Buchanan, read a paper on antitoxin treatment of diphtheria in which he quoted statistics carefully gathered from the epidemics formerly occurring at Galien, Buchanan and thereabouts.

Dr. J. A. Garland read a scientific paper, subject, "Acute anterior poliomyelitis." The names of Drs. F. M. Gowdy, of St. Joseph, and G. S. Greene, of Berrien Springs, were added to the list of membership.

An interesting discussion followed the papers and was participated in by Doctors Goudy, Walker, Witt, Bell Latton and others of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, Greenamyer and Fred R. Belknap, of Niles; Mason and Green, of Berrien Springs; also Curtis and Colvin of this place.

Before adjourning the society adopted resolutions favoring the selection of Dr. F. R. Belknap, of Niles, as secretary of the State Board of Health.

The next meeting will be held in St. Joseph the second Thursday in October.

The Michigan Central R. R. Co. will run a special train from Jackson to Chicago on Saturday Aug. 19, passing Buchanan at 10.34 a. m. and reaching Chicago at 1.10 p. m. Tickets good for return on all regular trains leaving Chicago up to and including train No. 6 Monday, 6.45 a. m. Aug. 21. Fare from Buchanan and return $1.25.
