

THE PROPYLAEA.
Majestic Architectural Ornaments at the Pan-American.

The Propylaea at the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo in 1901, will mark the northern boundary of the Plaza and the extreme northern limit of the Grand Court. This elaborate and beautiful architectural ornament will serve the purpose of a colossal screen, shutting out from the Exposition the noisy and smoky reminders of the toil and care of our every-day life. The Propylaea is a magnificent creation, treated with fine artistic skill. The combined work is 500 feet long, consisting of two massive arched entrances or gateways at the extreme eastern and western ends of a long, gracefully curved colonnade. These gateways are 36 feet wide and 54 feet high. Two open towers surmount the sides of each arch, and above the 20 tall Ionic columns that form the colonnade is a pergola or arbor over which growing vines will wind their delicate tracery of green. Behind the colonnade will be the railway station reached by a broad promenade. In the spaces between the great columns statues will be placed, showing their outlines distinctly against a background of color.

The electric street railway cars as well as the steam roads will unload many of their passengers at the station opposite the Propylaea which is reached from the tracks by a spacious subway. The visitor will thus enter the grounds through the high arches on either hand of the Propylaea and obtain at once one of the grand views of the great group of Exposition buildings. On the right and left of the Propylaea are the Midway and the Stadium in front the Electric Tower and sunken gardens and Court of the Fountains; the Electricity building and the Agricultural hall are on either side; farther along the Machinery and Transportation building and that of Manufacturers and Liberal Arts; and in the distance the Temple of Music and the Ethnology building. The visitor thus plunges at once into the midst of the Exposition.

THE FALLS OF THE NIAGARA.

Greatest Auxiliary Attraction to the Pan-American Exposition.

The importance of the great Falls, Rapids and Gorge of the Niagara River as auxiliaries to the many and varied attractions of the Pan-American Exposition to be held in Buffalo, May 1st to Nov. 1st, cannot well be over estimated. In its immense flow of waters, its grand scenery and its historic lore, the Niagara is one of the most renowned rivers of the world. Its great cataract has defied the descriptive powers of poets and philosophers and baffled the delineative skill of painters and photographers. The grandeur of their environment renders the Falls perennially interesting at all seasons of the year and very few of those who visit the Pan-American Exposition but will desire also to visit them. The trip from Buffalo can be made in half an hour. There many points of view and places of interest and the visitor can plan his itinerary according to the leisure of time at his disposal. If time will permit, the cataract should be viewed from both sides of the river and trips should be made the length of the Gorge, either along the cliffs above or over the trolley road which runs close to the water's edge. Perhaps the most comprehensive near view of the Falls are those obtained on the Canadian side of the Gorge, especially that from Falls View station. Here is seen a complete panorama, embracing the rushing and turbulent currents of the upper rapids and the whole sweep of the falling waters, reaching from end to end nearly four-fifths of a mile, with the great Horseshoe Fall in the foreground separated by Goat Island from the American Fall, which is 158 feet high and 1,881 feet wide. In the river below plies the little steamer, "The Maid of the Mist," carrying visitors close to the foot of the Falls at various points and affording splendid views of the descending waters. The State Reservation on the American side and Queen Victoria Park across the river in Canada are delightful observation grounds, both open for the enjoyment of the public free of charge. To the scientific visitor the electrical power development at the Falls will be especially interesting. On the American side there are two corporations utilizing the current of the Niagara river for developing electric power used by many industries at the Falls. The power thus generated by one of these corporations is also transmitted to Buffalo, 25 miles distant, for use for the electric lighting of the city, for operating a great trolley car system and in many important manufacturing establishments. The power thus transmitted will likewise be extensively used for the purpose of the Exposition.

Among the thirteen articles in the June Forum, there are at least seven which will be widely quoted and discussed: Consul-General Ho Yow's vigorous criticism of "The Attitude of the United States Towards the Chinese"; "Do We Owe Independence to the Filipinos?" by the Hon. Charles Denby; Sir Charles W. Dilke's paper on "U. K., U.S., and the Ship Canal"; "The Present Position of the Irish Question," by the man best qualified to speak; J. E. Redmond, M.P.; Edward Emory Hill's essay on "Teaching in High Schools as a Life

LOTION FOR TAN.
 How to Enjoy Outdoor Life Without Injuring the Skin.

THE remedies employed for keeping freckles in the background are not always effective in sunburn. Where the subject tans gradually, the skin taking on a healthy brown, through which the red glow of health shows delightfully in the cheeks, I should advise my readers not to attempt to defeat a really becoming condition.

A summer girl is never more irresistible than when she looks brown and rosy from long days spent in the open.

It is to the unhappy matrons and girls who blister and peel and get red, swollen noses I offer a little advice and some simple remedies. First of these is a wash which is particularly useful during the summer months in exposed situations, as, for example, at the seaside, where the skin frequently becomes irritable and much inflamed.

Formula for Lotion for Sunburn.—Milk, 1 pint; carbonate of soda, 1 oz.; glycerine, 1 oz.; powdered borax, 1/2 oz. Use several times a day if required.

An emulsion easily made and frequently successful in arresting the burning sensation produced by the sun is prepared as follows:

Sweet almonds, blanched, 1 oz.; bitter almonds, 1-3 oz.; pound the almonds to a paste in a mortar with pestle; add rose water, 8 ozs.; strain through cheesecloth and add benzoate of soda, 15 grains.

An emollient poultice will work almost a miracle with a half-blistered face. The poultice must be renewed before it begins to get dry, and is composed of equal parts of rye and linseed meal, with enough warm water to make a rather thin paste. A mask is made of this same paste also and worn for several hours at a stretch. It has a wonderfully healing effect. It is indispensable that the poultice or mask should be kept moist.

A preparation called milk of roses is excellent and if used every day will keep the sunburn from ever becoming painful. Make it as follows: Blanched almonds, 1/2 oz.; oil of almonds and white soft soap, of each, 1 dram; rose water, 12 ozs. Make an emulsion. To the strained emulsion add a mixture of essence of roses, 1/2 fluid dram; alcohol, 2 1/2 ounces; rose water sufficient to make the whole measure 1 pint. More alcohol is often ordered and used, but too much of it is apt to cause a separation of the ingredients.

Four Ways of Cooking the Potato.
 Boil some veal bones, a knuckle bone of ham and a bunch of vegetables in three quarts of water until reduced to about half. Chop an onion finely and add to the stock. Peel and boil three large potatoes, and when cooked mash them, mixing in gradually one breakfast cupful of cream or cream and milk. Mix the potato cream with the stock; strain it through a colander into a soup tureen, season with salt, pepper and one tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley.

Cut four good-sized potatoes into shreds; sprinkle salt and pepper over these. Butter lightly some tartlet moulds, cover the bottoms with grated Parmesan cheese, arrange a layer of potatoes on the top, sprinkle more cheese over them, and continue till all are filled, finishing by sprinkling cheese over the top and putting a little clarified butter over all. Set on a very hot stove for two minutes, then bake for twenty-five minutes in a hot oven. Serve on a folded napkin.

Bake some large potatoes in the oven. When tender cut a slice off the top of each and carefully scoop out some of the interior. Rub this through a fine sieve and mix with it one ounce of butter, one tablespoonful of cream, salt and pepper. Stir in steppan over the fire till hot. Then move it on one side and add the beaten whites of two eggs. Fill the potato skins with this mixture and brush them over with warmed butter. Place them on a fancy dish paper on a hot dish and garnish with parsley.

Mash one pound of the pulp of boiled potatoes; add the yoke of two eggs, set the bowl over the fire, stir until the potatoes are quite dry. Form it into a case or shell, brush it over with the yolk of an egg, put it into the oven and bake to a light brown. Meantime put one gill of white sauce into a sauce pan and mix in one teaspoonful of lemon juice, half a teaspoonful of essence of anchovies and the flesh of a lobster. Heat the mixture without letting it boil. Pour this thick sauce into potato case and serve.

Thoughts.
 We do not make our thoughts; they grow in us, Like grain in wood; the growth is of the skies, Which are of nature; nature is of God. The world is full of glorious likenesses. —Bailey.

Address Letters.
 A gentleman is entitled to the suffix "Esq.," although "Mr." is always used on notes of invitation. Doctors are addressed as "Dr.," or "M. D." The President of the United States should be addressed "The President, Executive Mansion, Washington."

A letter by one of her subjects to Queen Victoria would be addressed to the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty. A cardinal of the Roman Catholic Church: "To His Eminence (Christian name), Cardinal (surname)." An archbishop is addressed: "The Most Reverend Sir." A bishop as: "The Right Reverend."

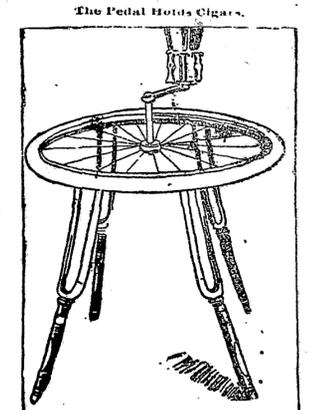

A clergyman is addressed: "The Reverend." A member of Congress or a Senator is addressed as "The Honorable." By common usage the same title is permitted to State Legislators and officials of even lower rank.

FILLIFINO GIRL'S KIMO

A Soldier Describes His First Experience With This Article of Wear as Apparel. It is a shirt waist with enormous sleeves, and reaching the waist line, but is not belted down. It is made without buttons, and until I got accustomed to it was the most exasperating article of feminine wearing apparel I ever came across. The opening at the top is cut square, and if the maid should hold her arms closely to her body something would surely drop.

My experience with the aforementioned "kimo" was one evening I paid my respects to an old gentleman whose acquaintance I had made and with whose daughter I had learned to play the local bellies. After the salutatory introduction and a general conversation, I asked the daughter of my host to "play the piano" for me. The girl about 18 years old, was rather a pretty girl, but too decidedly of the brunette type to suit my Mississippi birth. She was in full evening costume, but the waist affair was what caught my eye. As long as her arms were "kimo" or her hands at some distance apart on the keyboard the affair held up, but when she crossed her hands I felt I should sure have to make my main beg-a-rabli (good night) with my back turned. But your Philippine maiden is equal to the occasion. With an involuntary twitch of the arm she hid just the slipping "kimo" and a slight exposure of a brown shoulder is all.

Beauty's Month.
 The month is the frankest part of the face. It can the least conceal the feelings. We can neither hide our temper with it nor good. We may not feel what we please, but affections will not help us. In a wrong cause it will only make our observers resent the endeavor to impose upon them. A month should be of good natural dimensions, as well as plump in the lips. When the lips are among their best, they, made mention of small mouths and lips, they meant small only as opposed to an excess the other way, a fault very common in the South. The saying in favor of small mouths, which have been the ruin of so many pretty looks, are very absurd. If had better be the liberal one. A pretty, pursed up mouth is fit for nothing but to be left to its complacency. Large mouths are often found in union with generous dispositions than very small ones.

This odd table adorns the reception room of a West Philadelphia "wheel" club. The legs are made of the forks of wheels, while the top represents the wheel itself, having a real rubber tire. The pedal holds cigars.

Lip Salve That is Healing.
 Take four ounces of spermaceti ointment, which you can purchase at the drug store, or, if you prefer, a good cold cream will answer as well; one dram alkane root. Put the ointment or cream into the inside kettle of a custard boiler. Add the alkane root. Keep them at a gentle heat—not boiling—until the ointment has acquired a rich, deep red color; then pass it through a coarse strainer. When the liquid fat has cooled a little add twenty drops of balsam of Peru. Beat until cold, and during the beating add also eight drops of oil of cloves. This makes a very excellent lip salve and is also healing.

HARRIET HUBBARD AYER.

Train the Children to Have Joyous Faces If You Wish Beautiful Sons and Daughters.
 A woman physician, who points with pride to the charming faces of her three beautiful youngsters, declares that it is the parents' fault if children have not beautiful, frank and sunny faces. I am very much of this lady's opinion. Children reflect the emotions, the manners and characteristics of their elders. If we watch them carefully—these little ones—we will find them reproducing our own pictures, or the pictures that we present to their infantile minds. If we remove from baby life all painful sensations, all deceit and trickery, we shall be repaid by little faces that will be frank and open, the outward symbols of fearless and happy confidence. Occasionally I receive letters from "distracted" mothers who tell me most extraordinary tales of baby depravity. Recently one such afflicted parent wrote me that her little daughter, eight years of age, was so headstrong and so untruthful it would be impossible to keep her at home. This mother, in the letter, assured me that this example of juvenile turpitude was an inexplicable problem in her family. She proposed to send the child to a school of correction, and the very manner in which she suggested effecting this arrangement proved to me conclusively that the little girl had seen trickery enough in her own family to have made her an adept in duplicity. We all of us want truthful, loving and confident children, but I do not think it can be said we deserve them with these noble attributes if we do not set them ourselves an example. Children are so wonderfully clever, so marvellously imitative. They take all of their impressions from us. If we never give them any but truthful and ennobling ones we shall not receive in return deceit and hypocrisy from our small imitators. Before a child reaches the age of twelve the general expression of the face has been impressed upon it. If the eyes have acquired a deceitful look and the mouth has learned to pout and assume sullen lines or a sneer; if the nose has been contracted or dilated at the nostrils through successive fits of anger or apprehension, the seal has practically been set upon the countenance for life, and although it is still possible to diminish the undesirable expressions somewhat, it is more difficult as each year goes by, and I assert with all possible confidence that it is positively not to be done while the characteristics which have produced the repellent expression still dominate the subject. Mothers who wish beautiful sons and daughters would do well to remember these facts.

Harriet Hubbard Ayer. The Stylish French Roll. That ultra-fashionable mystery known as the "French Roll," which stretches across the head of so many beds in dainty feminine apartments nowadays is not, as many persons think, a substitute for pillows, but is made of pasteboard covered with some pretty material, which is tied or knotted loosely at the ends. It is removed before the bed is used and is purely ornamental.

Mother's Superstition.
 Women are naturally superstitious and, therefore, it goes without saying that charms of all sorts are to be found in the nurseries of different nations. In Roumania mothers bind red ribbons round the ankles of their babies to keep them from harm. In Ireland a strand of woman's hair is placed in the cradle for the same purpose, and in Holland a mother takes care to have bread, steak, salt and garlic placed in the cot of her new-born child. Welsh mothers place their faith in a knife or a pair of tongs as a charm against evil to their infants. Among the Vosges peasants a child born at the new moon is supposed to have a well-hung tongue, while a child born at the last quarter will have keepers of reason. American mothers know well that a child's future depends much on the day of birth, and the following rhyme foretells his destiny.

"Monday's child is fair of face,
 Tuesday's child is full of grace,
 Wednesday's child is full of woe,
 Thursday's child has far to go,
 Friday's child is loving and giving,
 Saturday's child must work hard for his living,
 The child of Sunday and Christmas day
 Is good and fair and wise and gay."

To Gain a Plump Arm.
 Thin, scrawny women will have a hard time this summer unless they begin at once to make themselves ready for warm weather frocks. "We are no only promised collarless gowns, but elbow sleeves as well, and she of the thin arm is looking aghast. Here is an exercise to make the arm plump: Stand erect and carry the arms straight out at the sides parallel with the shoulder. Clinch the hands and make the muscles tense the entire length of the arm. Now twist the arms very slowly from the shoulder to the hand as far forward and backward as far as possible. This will strengthen and develop the muscles the entire length of the arm but it must be practiced very slowly. If repeated regularly three-times a day giving fifty twists each time, it will increase the arm perceptibly in a month.

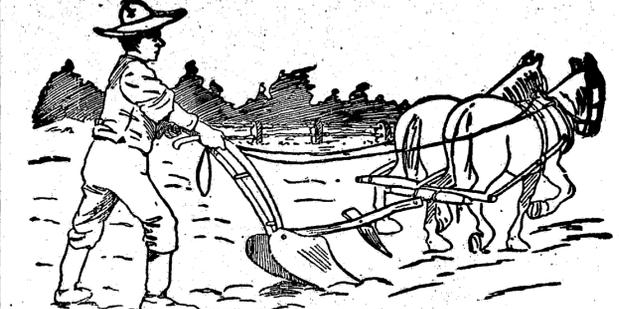

"Gentle Spring."
 At 8 the skies are bright and gay,
 At 9 o'clock it snows,
 At 10 it's like a summer day,
 At 12 a blizzard blows.
 The sun returns again at 3
 And shines to beat the band.
 At 4 the tempest howls anew
 And winter rules the land.
 And one will keep where he goes—
 If he's a prudent man—
 His winter and his summer clothes,
 And overcoat and fur,
 His gauze and flannel undersuits,
 His flimsy ones and thick,
 His outing shoes and far-lined boots
 Where he can grab them quick.

Relieve Constipation
Cure a Cold.
25 Cents Per Box.
AT DRUGGISTS.
 Manufactured by Cathart Remedy Company, Limited, 15 North Jefferson Street, Battle Creek, Mich.

I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of had health that it is a S.S. will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. Quinine relief. Save the word "S.S." on the package and accept no substitute. R.F.F.A. 200, in 5-cent or 10-cent packages for 25 cents may be had of any drug store. Ten samples and one bottle and testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., 100 N. Spruce St., New York.

What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

A Very Enthusiastic and Harmonious Gathering.

Hon. E. L. Hamilton Unanimously Nominated.

The convention was promptly called to order at 11 o'clock by Geo. E. Bardeen of Otsego. Prayer was offered by Rev. Leroy Haywood of St. Joseph. Very excellent music was furnished by the Niles band. Victor M. Gore of Benton Harbor was made temporary chairman and in an eloquent and typically Republican address, covered the successful administration of the party, and the victory which awaits it at the coming election.

Hon. E. L. Hamilton

Mr. W. P. Sutton of Allegan county was elected temporary secretary. The officers were then sworn.

The roll of counties was called and the committees on credentials, permanent organization and resolutions were named.

Com. on credentials—Allegan, F. P. Heath; Berrien, H. L. Hess; Cass, C. E. Sweet; St. Joseph, John J. Davis; Barry, B. A. Shelby; Van Buren, John Macreay.

Com. on permanent organization—Allegan, E. E. Brown; Berrien, W. J. Gilbert; Cass, C. H. French; St. Joseph, C. C. Edwards; Barry, W. R. Cook; Van Buren, J. E. Chandler.

Com. on resolutions—Allegan, G. A. Sherwood; Berrien, G. M. Valentine; Cass, B. S. Green; St. Joseph, J. M. Harvey, Jr.; Barry, Hal Kenyon; Van Buren, H. H. Chapin.

Adjourned to meet at 1:30.

At 1:30 the convention was called to order and the report of the committee on permanent organization was submitted and adopted, making the temporary organization permanent.

The committee on credentials reported that all counties in the district are represented and recommended that the delegates present be seated. Report adopted.

The committee on resolutions reported the following which was adopted.

We, the Republicans of the Fourth Congressional district in convention assembled, wish to congratulate the people upon the unprecedented prosperity of this county. As a result of the operation of the wise policies of the Republican party, the products of the mills of this country have entered the markets of the world, while the silver of the world has been shut out of free coinage at our mints.

We commend the wise and patriotic administration of President McKinley whose party and politics have brought happiness and prosperity out of the chaos and panic wrought by four years of our predecessors in national affairs. We further most heartily endorse the course of our present congressman, the Hon. E. L. Hamilton, whose career in congress has been marked by honor to himself and loyalty to his party and district.

We commend the foreign policy of the present administration, and especially praise the course pursued in the Philippines.

We deeply deplore (?) the absolute failure of all prophecies made by the "Boy Orator of the Plate" four years ago. Instead of seeing gold at premium; factories closed; labor unemployed; and all farm products greatly reduced in prices, we rejoice that the wise policies of our party have brought about the reverse of these dismal forebodings.

We denounce all corruption in state affairs and demand the closest scrutiny and investigation of all state expenditures and the punishment of the guilty parties, no matter whom they may be, nor how exalted their station.

We congratulate the Republican party upon its attitude in regard to trusts and combinations, and denounce the Democratic party in Congress for its recent vote, whereby it defeated the proposition to regulate trusts and monopolies by an amendment to the Federal Constitution. We most heartily endorse any legislation that will bring about equal taxation, advocating laws that are founded upon justice and equality to all.

M. L. Cook of Hastings then placed Hon. E. L. Hamilton in nomination for congressman. The nomination was carried by an unanimous vote and Mr. Hamilton was declared the nominee.—St. Joseph Press.

A Deserved Recognition.

In the renomination of Hon. Edward L. Hamilton for another term as Congressman, the republicans of the Fourth Congressional District have not only shown their appreciation of the sterling worth and ability of the talented young member from this district, but they have followed out the wishes of every republican in the new counties.

Few congressmen have developed such a faculty for real downright hard work in the interest of his constituency than has Congressman Hamilton. That he will be triumphantly re-elected in November, the Record has not the slightest doubt, and citizens of the Fourth District can congratulate themselves that they will be well represented at Washington in the coming two years as they have been in the past four years.

Hon. E. L. Hamilton will add fresh laurels to his wreath in the coming term, and his district is proud of their representative.

New M. C. Time Table.

A new time table went into effect on the Michigan Central last Sunday. All West bound trains are on the same time at Buchanan except the mail which will leave at 8:39 p. m. instead of 8:18 as before. A new express is put on which passes here about 8:20. The time of the East bound trains are not changed, except the accommodation which leaves at 6:55 p. m. instead of 7:22 as heretofore. A fast East bound express has been added which passes here about 7:30 o'clock.

Public Service First.

The time is rapidly approaching when the Republican party will make its selection of nominees for county officers, and while there are numerous candidates for the various offices and much work is being done by them, there seems to be a general feeling that so far as the office of Probate Judge is concerned, Hon. J. J. Yan-Riper, the present efficient judge will receive the endorsement of the party by renomination.

It is conceded by the people generally, that he has made an exceptionally good official. He has been kind and courteous to all who have had business in his court, and he has at all times given careful attention to the justice of all matters brought before him, and his decisions have never been open to criticism on the grounds of fear or favor.

The only point that has ever been raised, and this one has never been seriously urged, is that of a third term. In this connection it is only justice to say that in the important relation which this office bears to the public, the objection is more to his advantage than otherwise.

Everyone who is familiar with the settlement of estates, know that many of them drag along for years, always requiring the supervision of one who is familiar with the several stages to which they are carried, and this being true it is absolutely necessary that the judge who is to determine their legal standing should not only be familiar with the law, but the actual conditions of each case.

This familiarity can only be acquired by long, close investigation, or by the fact that all previous proceedings have been had under his direction. The hundreds of guardians and administrators know how true this is in regard to matters in which they are interested.

In many counties the office of Probate Judge has wisely been filed by one official for from ten to twenty, and even more years; in some instances until incapacitated by ill health, and in every instance it is noted that such service has always been to the advantage of the public.

The Press does not pretend to urge that no other man in the county is competent to fill this office, but it does believe that the present judge is equipped by past service for the care of matters now in his court better than any other man could be no matter what acquirements might be as a lawyer. This question has received the careful consideration of men in all parties in the county and it is generally believed to be true.—St. Joseph Press.

SUPPLEMENT

BUCHANAN RECORD.

JUNE 21, 1900

Honor their Dead.

Buchanan Camp No. 886 M. W. A. observed last Sunday as a memorial day for members of the camp who had died since its organization. The Neighbors met at Woodman Hall at half past two o'clock where wreaths and bouquets had been prepared and forming in line under direction of Jacob Arney as marshal, proceeded to Oak Ridge Cemetery where the graves of Neighbors Al. Hunt, Claude Moulton, Geo. Hess, Byron Sawyer. After the graves had been decorated the Woodmen assembled at G. A. R. monument where the exercises were held, consisting of prayer by neighbor Jas. Provan, music by Woodmen quartette comprising Messrs. Boardman, Monro, Roe and Guy, following which neighbor Jas. Provan delivered an excellent memorial address, at the conclusion of which the quartette again furnished music. After the exercises were concluded the line reformed and the Woodmen marched back to the hall where resolutions were passed thanking the visiting neighbors for their co-operation, and then the camp was dismissed. The camp has an enviable record as only four members have died since the institution of the Camp.

Mr. J. A. Webster has sold the Dowagiac Herald to Mr. Raymond Curtis who took possession of the paper this week. Mr. Webster will engage in newspaper work in another field.

Mr. E. P. Waldron of St. Johns who has been mentioned as a candidate for auditor-general has withdrawn from the race in favor of Hon. Perry F. Powers, of Cadillac for whom Clinton county (Waldron's home county) has been intrusted.

The only way to build up a town is for all to go hand in hand, every man to the wheel. Banish all feelings of discord, let harmony prevail and you are sure to prosper. Talk about your town, push it, speak well of it, encourage your people at the head of municipal affairs, choke the croakers, beautify the streets in every way, patronize its merchants, refrain from sending outside for anything, advertise in the newspaper in favor of home enterprise always, if you can't say something good, keep quiet. You are all hustlers—keep it up. Be courteous to strangers who come among you so they may go away with a good impression. Always cheer up the men who go in for improvements. Don't kick about "unnecessary" improvements because they are not right at your door or just in your notion, or for fear your taxes will be raised a few cents. Let every body labor in sympathy and harmony and you will not only get to the front but stay there.—Exchange.

Christian Endeavor Convention.

The young people of the Presbyterian and Christian Churches of Buchanan entertained the Berrien County Christian Endeavor Convention in the Presbyterian Church June 15 and 16.

The weather was all that could be desired. The church was beautifully decorated with the society colors, red and white and with their motto, "For God and the Church." The members wore white badges printed in red and tied with red ribbon.

Not as large a delegation were present as was desired, yet the session from first to last was a pronounced success.

The convention was called to order by the president, Mr. A. L. Weatherwax, of St. Joseph. Opening prayer service was conducted by Miss Clara Hubbell, of Buchanan. Miss Kittie Wells gave the address of welcome to which the president ably responded.

Friday evening a large gathering listened to an address by Rev. C. E. Taggart, of Three Oaks on "Equipment for the New Century."

The following papers were very interesting and instructive:

"Religious life as expressed in fellowship and communion with God," Rev. S. A. Long, Watervliet.

"Influence of the Christian Endeavor in deepening the sense of obligation of the young people to Christ and the Church by the pledge and consecration meeting," Miss Lulu Weatherwax, St. Joseph.

"The Christian Endeavor in Politics," Rev. W. J. Cady, Benton Harbor.

"The Christian Endeavor in Society," Miss Deering, Buchanan.

"The Christian Endeavor in Church and Home," Rev. E. A. Hoffman, Benton Harbor.

We are greatly indebted to Bro. Hoffman for the spirited manner in which he led the singing and the many helpful suggestions he gave in reply to questions asked him along the line of practical work.

The most impressive of all the services was the hour of quiet devotion led by Rev. S. A. Long, of Watervliet. All felt that the time assigned to it was far too short.

Rev. E. A. Hoffman, chairman of committee on resolutions, offered the following:

"The Y. P. S. C. E. of Berrien County, in the convention assembled, would give expression to a grateful appreciation of the cordial welcome extended by the Endeavor societies of Buchanan and their friends. We recognize the generous impulses which have prompted all the kindly ministries that have made our stay so pleasurable. To all who have contributed in any way to the interest of this convention we tender our deepest gratitude. Beyond this expression of grateful feelings we can only pray that the kind Father in heaven may bestow his best and richest blessings upon all."

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Rev. C. E. Taggart, Three Oaks; Vice-President, Mrs. Wm. Ball, Coloma; Secretary, Miss Elsie Kingery, Buchanan; Treasurer, Mrs. E. D. Hunt, Baroda; Bible Superintendent, Rev. W. J. Cady, Benton Harbor; Junior Superintendent, Miss Lizzie Bowe, Watervliet.

The closing service conducted by Rev. Thomson, of Buchanan, was very impressive. Testimonies were brief, direct and full of the thought, "This convention has been an inspiration to me and I am going home to work for Christ as never before."

We wish every convention as full a share of enthusiasm and spiritual blessing as we of Berrien County have just received.

More Liquor Cases.

The liquor question is again being agitated. On Thursday, President Mead swore out a warrant against M. J. Kelling for maintaining a saloon contrary to the ordinance, and Kelling was arrested by Deputy Sheriff J. C. Wenger and brought before Justice Keller who bound him over for trial. In the meantime, Mr. Wm. Burke whose bond was refused by the board, has begun mandamus proceedings to compel acceptance of the bond, and a hearing set for yesterday at Niles. As the Burke case would prove the question of legality of the ordinance passed, the Kelling case was discontinued on June 18th. The hearing was had at Niles yesterday and postponed until Saturday. The outcome of this will be watched with interest by all our citizens.

Will Locate at Denver.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Parkinson have decided to remove to Denver, Col., and will dispose of their business interests here at once. Mr. Parkinson is already at Denver and his wife will go as soon as business can be settled up, which she expects will be about August first.

We are under obligation to Mrs. W. W. Waterman for a plate of very fine honey.

Mrs. Anna Butler sustained a painful fall last Saturday at her home in Day's Avenue, bruising herself quite badly, but is now able to be a round.

Children's Day exercises were held at the Methodist church, Sunday morning at half past ten o'clock. The attendance was very large, and the decorations elaborate, comprising festoons, palms, potted plants, cut flowers and ferns. Suspended back of the pulpit was the motto "Christian Education." The exercises were essentially a "children's day" exercises as the class exercises, songs and recitations were all given by the children, and were appropriate to the day.

Mr. John Gifford who resides at Baroda died very suddenly Tuesday as the result of an accidental fall, while looking over a barn he had just completed. His funeral was held this afternoon.

Mr. Sol. Rough had a very fortunate escape from a serious accident on Tuesday while at his berry patch. He undertook to back his horses, but they did not act to suit him, and he struck them with the whip, causing them to start up suddenly overturning the wagon completely with Mr. Rough and a young lad named Mittan under the wagon. The horses started to run, but fortunately fouled with a grape post and enabled Mr. Rough and young Mittan to get out. Mr. Rough was quite badly bruised, but is able to be out.

Mr. Montague's two daughters Misses Etta and Gertrude were riding in the buggy together with a gentleman friend. All were thrown from the buggy sustaining more or less severe injuries. The buggy was badly demolished, but the horse was not injured, being captured out near the Glover place.

Cabinet Shop Fire.

Friday afternoon about half past four o'clock fire was discovered in the dry kiln of the Buchanan Cabinet Company, and an alarm was sounded by the factory whistle. The entire fire department were promptly on the scene and for some time it looked as if a serious fire was imminent, but the efficiency of our fire department was again demonstrated. The kiln was filled with lumber and as the structure was ceiled, the fire being between the ceiling and rafters it made a difficult one to fight. Holes were chopped in the roof and the two lines of hose soon extinguished the fire. How the fire originated is a mystery. The loss will be about $250 but is fully covered by insurance. The kiln is being repaired and the mishap will cause no serious delay in the factory.

Three Oaks' Big Day.

Great preparations are being made to fittingly celebrate the unveiling of the Dewey Cannon at Three Oaks one week from to-day. Our bustling neighbor is going to have a big time and from the talk we hear about Buchanan our entire population will take a day off and help in the celebration. The Michigan Central has given a one-fare rate from all points within a radius of one hundred miles, and a large crowd is expected to be present. The Record will go to press on Wednesday so that our force may be at liberty to join in the demonstration.

A feature of great interest will be a large chorus under direction of Prof. W. B. Chamberlain of Chicago, the solo work to be rendered by Miss N. Estelle Harrington of Chicago. Preliminary rehearsals are under way, but the committee will accept any vocalist who will be on hand for the final rehearsal on Thursday morning at ten o'clock and all of the chorus will have a block of choice seats reserved for them at the afternoon services. That there will be a big crowd present, there is not the slightest doubt as the fame of Three Oaks is national.

The commencement exercises at Albion College were held last week and were very interesting. Among those who graduated this year was Mr. J. Clyde DeVinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. DeVinney of Day's Avenue. Clyde's many friends will be glad to know that he graduated with honor, receiving the degree of B. A. After a few months spent in study and rest Mr. DeVinney will join the Methodist Conference and will be assigned to a charge by that body.

A ROMANTIC STORY.

ADVENTURES OF THE REGICIDES' GOFFE, WHALLEY AND DIXWELL.

Concealed Near New Haven When the Kings Messengers Were Searching for Them—The Old Well From Which They Drank.

A few days ago laborers at work tearing down a block of old houses in New Haven, at the corner of Grove and Collee streets, to make room for the big group of buildings which Yale University is about to erect to commemorate the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of the college, came upon a peculiar old well. One of the laborers mentioned the incident to an old stone mason. The latter looked at the well and declared that it was the one which almost two centuries ago was built around what was known as "The Regicides' Spring." This statement furnished plenty of ground for conjecture among the "oldest inhabitants." Little by little a story was evolved that this spring was originally discovered and dug out by Goffe and Whalley, the two regicides who first came to New Haven, and later on used by John Dixwell, the third of the regicides, who sought safety in New England. There is a tradition that Goffe and Whalley, who reached New Haven two years before Dixwell, lived during the early part of their hiding in the New Haven colony in a hut in a marsh nearby the spot where the old well has been discovered. There is some ground for this story.

It is a fact that Dixwell lived almost directly across the street from this spot. Dixwell was known in New Haven as James Davids. He took up his residence at the corner of Cholege and Grove streets, with a widow, whom he married. It was while living in this house that he became intimate with the Rev. Mr. Pierpont, one of the first clergymen of the colony. That the well which was discovered beneath the back door entrance of the old house on College street was built two centuries ago is quite evident from the nature of its construction. It is built of substantial masonry, and very few of the stones show any trace of the mason's chisel. It is also a very narrow well, not quite two feet in diameter. The wells that were dug by the early settlers were of this character, because the digging of a well was then a very expensive piece of work. A well was a luxury, indeed, that only the most prominent settlers possessed, and from which the entire neighborhood often drew water.

Before the restoration of Charles II., in 1660, to the throne of his ancestors he had issued a "declaration" promising to all persons but such as should be excepted by Parliament a pardon for offences committed during Cromwellian times. In the Parliamentary Act of Indemnity which followed such as had been directly concerned in the execution of Charles I., were executed. Colonel Whalley and Colonel Goffe were members of the High Court of Justice which convicted and sentenced him. It was soon known that they had fled from England, and a Captain Breeden reported that on a trip to New England he had seen them in Boston. The Ministry promptly sent an order to Governor Endicott, of Massachusetts, for their apprehension and transportation back to England.

No one of the New England colonies had formally expressed approval of the execution of Charles I., but still these regicides had a notably friendly welcome extended to them in this country. At the end of four months intelligence reached Massachusetts of the act of indemnity, and that Whalley and Goffe were among those excepted from its provisions, and that they had been marked for vengeance. Still for three months longer they lived at Cambridge, affairs had been growing critical between Massachusetts and England, and though some members of the General Court of Massachusetts assured them of protection, others thought it more prudent that they should have a hint to look to their safety in some way which would not imply an affront to the royal government on the part of the colony.

The Governor called a Court of Assistants in February, and without secrecy asked their advice respecting his obligations to secure the refugees. The court refused to recommend that measure, and four days more passed, at the end of which time, whether induced by others or by their own conviction of the impropriety of involving their generous hosts in further embarrassment, they set off.

the ministers and the local magistrates. But they had been scarcely three weeks in New Haven when tidings came thither of the reception at Boston of a proclamation issued by the King for their arrest. To release their host from responsibility they went to Milford (as if on their way to the New Netherlands), and there showed themselves freely in public; but, like foxes, they doubled on their trail and returned secretly to New Haven and were concealed in Dr. Davenport's house. Thence they were led to a spot called Hatchet Harbor, about as much further in a northwesterly direction, where they lay for two nights more. Meanwhile, for fear of the effect of the large rewards which the messengers had offered, a more secure place of hiding had been provided for them in a hollow on the east side of West Rock, five miles from the centre of New Haven at that time.

In this retreat they remained four weeks, being supplied with food from a lonely farm house in the neighborhood, to which they also withdrew sometimes in stormy weather. They caused the Deputy Governor to be informed of their hiding place, and on hearing that Davenport was in danger from a suspicion of harboring them, they left it, and for a week or two showed themselves at different times in New Haven and elsewhere. After two months more of concealment in their retreat on the side of West Rock, they betook themselves just after the middle of August to the house of one Tomkins, in or near Milford. There they remained in complete secrecy for two years, after which period they ventured to indulge in some freedom of movement, and even conducted the devotions of a few neighbors assembled in their chambers.

But the arrival at Boston of plenary Commissioners of the King with extraordinary powers was now expected, and it was regarded as likely that they would be charged to institute a new search, which might endanger the fugitives, and would certainly be embarrassing to their protectors. Just at this time a feud between the churches of Hartford and Wethersfield had led to an emigration to a spot of fertile meadow some forty miles up the Connecticut River. Mr. Russell, hitherto minister at Wethersfield accompanied the new settlers as their pastor. The General Court gave their settlement the name of Hadley. In this newest and remotest frontier of New England a refuge was prepared for Whalley and Goffe. Then, except for a remarkable momentary appearance of one of them and except for the visits of a few staunch and confidential friends, the regicides remained lost forever to the view of men. Presents were made to them by leading persons among the colonists and they received remittances from friends in England. In the tenth year of his abode at Hadley Whalley had become extremely infirm in mind and body, and he probably did not outlive the year 1674. The house of Mr. Russell stood until about 1895.

On the first day of September the people of Hadley kept a fast to implore Divine protection in their distress. While they were engaged in worship a sentry's shot gave notice that the stealthy savages were upon them. Hutchinson in his history relates what follows, as he had received it from the family of Governor Leverett, who was one of the few visitors to Goffe in his retreat:—

"The people were in the utmost confusion. Suddenly a grave elderly person appeared in the midst of them. In his mien and dress he differed from the rest of the people. He not only encouraged them to defend themselves, but put himself at their head, rallied, instructed and led them on to encounter the enemy, who by this means were repulsed. Quite as suddenly the deliverer of Hadley disappeared. The people were left in consternation, utterly unable to account for this strange phenomenon. It is not probable that they were ever able to explain it." In the first years of the retirement of "the Colonels," at Hadley, they enjoyed the society of a former friend, who did not feel obliged to use the same strict precautions against discovery. John Dixwell, like themselves, was a colonel in the Parliamentary service, a member of the High Court of Justice and a signer of the death warrant of the King. Nothing is known of his proceedings after the restoration of the monarchy till he came to Hadley, three or four months later than Whalley and Goffe. After a residence of some years in their neighborhood he removed to New Haven, where, bearing the name of James Davids and affecting no particular privacy, he lived to old age. The English government never traced Dixwell to America, and though among his acquaintances it was understood that he had a secret to keep, there was no disposition to penetrate it. He married twice at New Haven and by his second wife established quite a family, which for many years was prominent in local and State affairs. In testamentary documents as well as in communications while he lived to his minister and others, he frankly made known his character and history. He died just too early to hear the tidings, which would have renewed his strength, of the expulsion of the House of Stewart. His monument is a prominent object in New Haven.

the ministers and the local magistrates. But they had been scarcely three weeks in New Haven when tidings came thither of the reception at Boston of a proclamation issued by the King for their arrest. To release their host from responsibility they went to Milford (as if on their way to the New Netherlands), and there showed themselves freely in public; but, like foxes, they doubled on their trail and returned secretly to New Haven and were concealed in Dr. Davenport's house. KEEP YOUR TEMPER.

Bursts of Passion and Worry Do Make Women Prematurely Old.

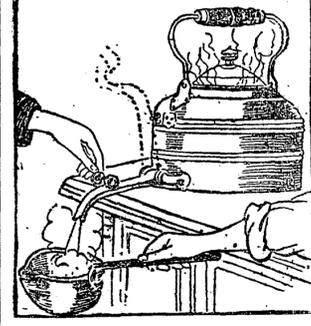

Bad temper and worry make more wrinkles in one night than hot and cold bathing and massage and complexion brushes and cream and lotions can wash out in a year's faithful application. Physicians assert that an immense amount of nerve force is expended in every fit of bad temper; that when one little part of the nervous system gets wrong, the face first records it. The eyes begin losing the lustre of youth, muscles become flabby, the skin refuses to contract accordingly, and the inevitable result is wrinkles, femininity's fiercest and most insidious foe.

Indulging in a fit of temper not only makes a woman old and ugly before her time, but actually shortens life. More over, every time she loses control of her temper she unbinds a moral brain-cell and weakens by several degrees her capacity for self-control. The offender she permits herself to indulge in what she believes to be righteous indignation the more frequently she finds such occasions presenting themselves, for life is full of such irritating opportunities.

It is these bursts of passion that prevent women from growing old so beautifully that they seem to retain their youth and like a tree, becoming more attractive with age. A mouth that learns how to set itself in an aggrieved or hard line soon settles in a grim curve that writes years of age upon a woman's face and deep lines an accusing and disfiguring wrinkle. There is no use attempting to reason with a woman about the evil effects of ill-temper while she is in an ugly mood. She knows perfectly well that it is bad form; that it savors of the coarse and undervalued; that it is weak and belittling and immoral, and that it hurts her cause to lose her temper. But she does not stop at just that time to think about it, and to remind her of the fact only adds fuel to the flames.

Tenkettle Improvement.

A drop spout tea kettle has been invented. By its use it is possible to draw any quantity of water from the boiling kettle without disturbing it, simply by turning the spout down to a point below the level of the water in the kettle. The spout is fed at the bottom by two asbestos packed tubes, which makes the joint perfectly tight. At the upper end of the spout is a heat proof knob for manipulating it as desired, and a hook by which it is fastened in an upright position.

What Children Can Earn in Vacation.

In the summer there is every opportunity for bright girls and boys to add to their pocket money, or even by something toward their winter clothing. In the country near a railway junction or along a highway much frequented by bicyclists is this especially easy. A summer boarding-house or hotel in one's vicinity also affords material for lucrative employment.

Fresh flowers or home-made candies, peddled on certain days of the week, are always salable. They must be fresh and daintily put up. Chocolate fudge is always a good-selling candy, and should be made as follows:

One-half a cake of bitter chocolate, two and a half cupsful of fine granulated sugar, a scant cupful of milk and a small piece of butter. Scrape the chocolate and mix it with the milk and sugar. Set over the fire and add the butter. Allow it to come to a boil and boil hard for nearly five minutes. Stir and beat it hard while cooking, and continue beating after taking from the fire until the fudge is cold and heavy. Add a teaspoonful of vanilla after taking from the fire. Pour the fudge on a buttered plate about three-quarters of an inch in depth and mark in squares.

A little stand by the side of the road where bicyclists can buy cold lemonade will earn many a stray penny for the youngster who keeps it.

Raising vegetables, picking berries and catching fish to supply big hotels are other enterprises worth mentioning.

Keeping bicycles in order is remunerative, and a bright boy can find plenty of this work in the summer-time.

How to Dust.

Not one woman in ten knows how to properly dust a room. Feather dusters are the only implements some women use, and they are worse than useless, because the dust is merely disturbed, not removed. The best duster is a piece of cheese cloth, for it is soft, will take up the dust and can be easily washed. The polished case of a piano should be treated to a soft silk duster, and for pieces of furniture a soft, thick paint brush which will go into all the crevices is necessary. It is well to have dusters for each room, and they should be shaken out of the window frequently during the operation of dusting. Some careful housekeepers hem these pieces of cheese cloth and provide soft bags to hold them when they are not in use.

For the Kitchen.

The whites of eggs should be beaten with a clean knife. Eggs may be roughly tested by placing them in cold water; the fresher the egg the more rapidly it will sink. Stale bread is delicious for breakfast if it is quickly dipped in milk and heated in the oven. This may be done either with whole small loaves or with bread cut in moderate pieces.

ETIQUETTE OF THE HAT.

It Plays a Greater Part in the Interchange of Others Than of Americans.

WALKING UP Fifteenth street recently," said a Washingtonian who has traveled extensively, "I observed the Secretary of State remove his hat to two gentlemen, who returned the salutation in the same manner. They were members of the Diplomatic Corps.

"As we all know, the American style of salutation when two or more gentlemen meet is an inclination of the head or a wave of the hand. The hat is doffed to the gentler sex only. On the Continent it would be an insult for a gentleman to pass an acquaintance without removing his hat. If they are friends the salutation is even more formal and includes a shake of the hand and the exchange of a few complimentary remarks.

"The French are accounted the most punctilious and ceremonial of people. I think the Belgians are even more so. Their customs are French, however. They have a language of their own, but the names of the streets in Brussels are in both French and 'Belge' on the same sign board.

"I spent a week in the Belgium capital, where a member of the American Legation piloted me about. I made the acquaintance of many Belgian gentlemen, and the salutation between my diplomatic friend and those he met was something like this:—

"Ah, Count, I am delighted to greet you." (cordial smile, a ceremonious lifting of the hat, a hearty shake of the hand and an inclination of the body in a polite bow.)

"My dear Col. —, the pleasure is wholly mine. I am rejoiced to see you. I trust you are very well." (Same formula.)

"My friend, Mr. — of Washington." (Same formula on my part and that of the Count.)

"After an interchange of mutually complimentary remarks the ceremonies attending the introduction were repeated as we respectively said 'au revoir,' and replaced our silk hats for the last time upon our heads. It was a novelty at first, but when I repeated it eighteen times an hour I experienced a crick in the small of my back.

My friend explained to me that continental gentlemen of high social position were not pressed by political and financial affairs as are Americans in similar walks of life, and the hurry and haste we display is unknown to them."—Washington Evening Star.

ON THE THRESHOLD.

I have found flowers at my door—
Sill growing.
Windflowers come when no wind is blowing.
Late and pale,
Cowslips that wait for the nightingale
To leave his thorn for my elder-tree,
Friendly ivy that plaits for me
About my doorposts of ivory,
Folding my foolish dreams together,
Against the trouble of windy weather.
Near the door of my dreams there grows
A rose of roses—a tall red rose,
With dreamy dew she is thick beset,
A fire in bud, she is folded yet.
I shall enter in Love's untrod garden that rose to win.
On a day to come when my dreams will go Straight to the heart of that rose, I know.
And the heart of the rose will beat so high
That I shall hear it—aye, even I.
And the bud will shiver and flush and break
To a splendid rose for Love's dear sake.
Ah, dreams, go swiftly! Dear rose, awake!

Salt Useful in Many Ways.

A strong solution of salt and water may be used to clean bedsteads. The cleansing properties of the brine make it efficacious. Willow furniture may also be cleaned in the same manner. Rub it with a nailbrush and dry thoroughly. Salt dissolved in alcohol will remove grease spots from cloth. Salt dissolved in lemon juice is invaluable for removing stains from the hands. Salt sprinkled about the garden walks and places frequented by snails will effectually remove those creatures. Ink stains in linen can be removed if they are first washed in a strong solution of salt and water, and then sponged with lemon juice. A brine of coarse salt and water will destroy weeds.

A Formula for Cold Cream.

Thankful.—There are a number of different formulas for cold cream. I give you one that I consider extremely good.

Cold Cream.—Almond oil, 3 ounces; lanoline, 1 ounce; spermaceti, 1 ounce; white wax, 1 ounce; tincture of benzoin, 1 dram; rose water, 4 ounces. Melt the almond oil, lanoline, spermaceti and white wax together. You would better use the custard boiler for this operation. When the four ingredients are incorporated take off the stove, pour into a large bowl and beat constantly with an egg beater, adding slowly the benzoin and the rose water. This makes a delicious cream, and will keep sweet if not exposed to constant heat and dampness.

To Remove Egg Stains.

Egg stains can easily be removed from silver spoons by rubbing them with a little salt after they have been washed with soap and water, but there are other stains on which salt makes no impression. These will generally disappear when rubbed with whitening mixed with ammonia; but a still more effective remedy is to be found in whitening mixed to a paste with sweet oil. After the stains have disappeared, wash in hot soapsuds and polish with a soft cloth.

THE SUMMER GIRL.

MORE SENSIBLE AND MORE ATTRACTIVELY DRESSED THAN EVER.

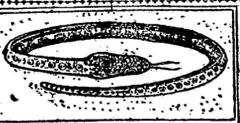

Clothes for the Athletic Girl—Some Pretty Outing Hats—Puckers and Plaits Multiply—A Surpassing Gown for the Summer Girl.

Athletic girls are not noticeably different from other girls this year; that is, as to their clothes. Of course they will be brown and brawny and all that but every sort of summer girl takes on as much color as she can, so that is not a distinguishing mark. But the abbreviated skirt has dropped almost to the ankles, whether for golfing or bicycling, and the ballet skirt rivals of a few years ago will be almost as rare and startling this year as when they first appeared in public. The skirts are almost invariably of the double-faced cheviot or other heavy cloth which requires no lining, but the jarring plaids are little seen the colors being more on the tones of the outer surface. For instance, a black or gray cloth has an inner surface of black and white or gray plaid, a brown cloth corresponding shades of brown with lines of black or white.

The circular skirt, which was satisfactory at first, sagged so sadly that it has been given over for one cut with just the right flare to look shapely and to stay that way. The bottom of the skirt usually is finished by a strip of cloth, held in place by from six to twelve rows of stitching. None of the fancy shirt waists should allure the athletic maid into donning them for her sports. The plainer the better is still the motto for these. Madras, cheviot, linen and flannel are all good materials and solid colors are always in the best of taste. The manish collar and cravat no longer are insisted upon, for which all women should offer a thanksgiving. So infinite is the variety of stocks and neckwear that one hardly can go wrong as long as she gets something that is pretty, comfortable and simple. A sock and tie of the same material as the waist is much affected, also the Persian silk designs. Jackets to be worn with outing suits are for the most part modified Etons or coats coming just below the waist line.

Snake Necklace the Latest Fad.

The very newest thing in neck ornaments is to have a jewelled snake coiled about the throat. Diamonds, rubies, emeralds and sapphires with here and there a pearl and opal go to make up the bauble—and the bill. The setting of the stones is very wonderful, indeed. They are arranged on fine gold wires, adjusted so as to give with every movement of the neck—the effect is precisely that of a live serpent wriggling around a beautiful white throat and is quite gressome enough to write a horror novel about. The fad is not likely to become common owing to the price of the necklace, the one made for the Princess Letitia Buonaparte, costing $45,000.

Outing Hats.

In outing hats there is a decided tendency toward the normal, and an avoidance of the stiff effects that came in with the knee skirt. Some of the prettiest of these hats are of silk or linen, stitched so as to give them a corded effect, made in soft shapes with moderate crowns and brims and trimmed with a loose arrangement of a Rumchunda scarf or of soft silk or crepe de chine. The protruding quill and even the wings and breasts without which no hat seemed complete in the not far distant past are lacking, rather conspicuously. Belts and girdles are of many kinds, but nothing is more effective than the braided leather cinch belts fastened in real cowboy fashion.

Puckers and Plaits.

Puckers and plaits multiply as the hours pass, and the sewing machine runs incessantly. For no sooner have the modistes added extra fullness to our costumes than they fit it down as firmly as though the plait or pucker had never been. Choicest and finest fabrics are hand-sewed into permanent place. But machine stitching has gained surprising vogue, considering the former disfavor in which this form of stitching was held. The quantity of it required for the decoration of many woolen and some silken gowns no doubt accounts for its cachet. Amateurs at the machine wisely do not undertake extreme amounts of machine stitchings.

Village Gowns.

A village gown, as the French call these simple cloth frocks, is from ciel blue veiling, the front and sides of the skirt tucked and stitched vertically at intervals of four inches. The back is made with a box plait, which is covered half the length of the skirt with narrow plaits finely stitched. The waist follows the same general plan, even to the plait at the back, which extends even to the collar. A border of ciel blue and white panne outlines the small jacket and completes the costume, unless the armful of white roses—wonderful white ones, of the Mme. Plantier variety—is counted. Another village dress shows gray light-weight cloth, made on severely simple lines, and stitched at intervals with gray silk cord on a bonnaz machine. This trimming may be done at the small tailor's shop and that of the man who does plaiting and button-holemaking. The skirt opens in front over a white taffeta piece let in. Black silk lacings cross the white taffeta and precede to hold the sides of the skirt together. More white taffeta makes a vest, and more black lacings close the sides of the jacket.

A Surpassing Gown.

Violets—the bluish purple sort—are the floral inspiration of a foulard gown which surpasses most models in its coloring and symmetry. Cut to allow for flowing effects, fine vertical tucks at the belt, black and front are stitched flat to define the figure. bluish violet panne forms the shaped girdle.

An odd note about the bodice is the lower portion, formed from an openwork white taffeta. The short bodice is tucked, stitched and scalloped, the scalloping reproducing the line of the openwork taffeta. A piping of bluish violet panne and two rosettes of it add color to the slightly waisted, while the openwork taffeta, reappearing as small yoke and high collar, gives elegance.

It might be mentioned that the sleeves are stitched and tucked and made loose at the wrist before gathering into a white silk cuff. Such a vagary—a bishop sleeve on an afternoon gown—is another evidence of what the great people in the dress world tell us: That "style" does not exist; women who dress tastefully wear what is suitable.

Engaging Inclinations.

Called by whatsoever name you will, certainly there are tendencies in women's dress which most of us hope to respect and further. One of the engaging inclinations of dress at present is toward the modes of 1860, shorn of their exaggerations. A costume of mulberry-lined silk poplin is done with a skirt cunningly full at the belt and trimmed, not in true Trelawney mode at the hem, but in Trelawney method simplified. Puffings of poplin are strapped into regular place with stitched pieces of taffeta matching the costume. Bell sleeves reproduce the form of decoration used on the skirt, while undersleeves of lawn give the white touch at the hand which is always womanly. The round jacket of 1860 is so like that worn this season by the majority of women, that it hardly represents novelty at all, the sleeves aside. The lace turned-down collar made in that precise shape is reminiscent. Neatly parted hair, rolled at the ears and gathered in a slightly chignon at the back of the head, is in the new version of an old fashion which has been caricatured exceedingly. Worn with a bow of velvet jauntily at the side of the parting, this arrangement is so attractive one wonders that our women can wear bulging pompadours, even for an hour. This revival of the costumes of 1860 has not gone further in gowns than those for the house. In hats it is seen in a remarkably smart example from champagne cloth with great sleeves opening over white under sleeves. The decoration of the palette is of fine velvet in castor color.

He says: "To anyone who has seen Ladysmith the wonder grows not only that it was ever relieved, but that it was ever defended."

Republican Convention Adjourns Without Naming the Candidates.

LODGE PERMANENT CHAIRMAN.

Escorted to the Platform by Governors Shaw and Roosevelt—The Vice-Presidential Issue.

Philadelphia, June 21.—The convention at 3:15 p. m. adjourned to 10 o'clock Thursday, when the order of business reached was the call of states for nominations for president. This change in the programme was reached after a conference of Senators Hanna, Lodge, Foraker, Cullom and others.

Philadelphia, June 21.—It was almost 11 o'clock when the advance guard of the great army of visitors crossed the Schuylkill and besieged the doors of the convention hall for the second day's session. The renomination of President McKinley was to be the event of the day and every road led toward the Export Exposition building.

Shortly after 11 o'clock the big municipal band of Philadelphia took its place in the gallery opposite the stage and a few minutes later the strains of one of Souza's stirring marches crashed out.

Roosevelt Enters the Hall.
As on the first day Governor Roosevelt received an ovation when he entered the convention hall. While the Roosevelt demonstration was in progress the eyes of the multitude were suddenly directed by a strange spectacle in the center of the stage, as the Chinese minister, Mr. Wu Ting Fang, resplendent in rich oriental silks, and accompanied by Mr. Chung, secretary of legation, also richly robed in silks, came down the middle aisle of the platform. Minister Wu was first greeted at the entrance by Senator Burrows, who introduced him to several of the distinguished public men crowded about, and then to prominent men in the body of the hall.

Convention Called to Order.
At 12:30 Chairman Wolcott called the convention to order and the delegates stood up while the band played the Star Spangled Banner. Rev. Charles M. Boswell opened the proceedings with prayer. Few of the delegates rose. The survivors of the 1856 Republican convention were presented on the stage and were received with cheers. This incident over, the chairman recognized Representative Sereno E. Payne of New York, chairman of the committee on credentials, who mounted the platform and read the report of the committee.

The friends of J. E. Addicks of Delaware were in evidence when Mr. Payne read of the victory of the Addicks over the Dupont faction in that state.

Put Through Without Debate.
The report read, Mr. Payne demanded the previous question. Senator Sewell, on behalf of New Jersey, and Mr. Martin, on behalf of Indiana, seconded the demand which was ordered. Under the rules under which the convention was operating, twenty minutes on a side for debate, but no one demanded the floor and the report was put through with a whirl.

The convention, which evidently felt relieved at this quick disposition of the contests, signified its approval with applause. General Grosvenor of Ohio, chairman of the committee on permanent organization, then presented that committee's report. This report was also put through with a whirl.

The temporary officers, with the exception of Senator Wolcott, were re-elected.

The Permanent Chairman.
"The chair announces as a committee to escort Permanent Chairman Senator Henry Cabot Lodge to the chair," announced Mr. Wolcott, "Governor Shaw of Iowa and Governor Theodore Roosevelt of New York."

A cheer went up, strong and long continued as this group of names fell from the chairman's lips. Apparently, Governor Roosevelt had not expected to be thus designated, and his face showed signs of annoyance. With Governor Shaw, he stepped to Mr. Lodge's seat, and with the permanent chairman between them, they marched up the platform. The cheers echoed continuously until Mr. Lodge, after greeting Mr. Wolcott, turned to the audience and began his address.

Lodge Frequently Applauded.
Mr. Lodge's voice showed splendid carrying power, promising well for the trying task of presiding over such a gathering. His oratory is not of the florid type, but its intense earnestness, the beauty of diction and the frequent tributes to the achievements of the party appealed to his audience and brought constant and long continued applause. His reference to Hawaii and the presence of representatives of that new acquisition brought the delegates to their feet in a lusty greeting to the Hawaiians. When he referred to the "infamy" in Kentucky the delegates from that state yelled their approval and the other states added a sympathetic demonstration. Mr. Lodge's references to the policy of the government toward Cuba and the Philippines brought out frequent manifestations of approval. His brilliant tribute to the American soldiers fighting in the tropics closed with the well rounded sentence:

"They are our soldiers and we will sustain them."

It was the signal for a hearty demonstration, in which General Gibson of Tennessee was seen amid the delegates, waving aloft his cane topped by a silk hat.

Demonstration Over Quay.
General Bingham presented the report of the committee on rules. Ex-Senator Quay offered an amendment to have the representation on the basis of votes cast for president at the previous election. During the discussion of the amendment to the rules Quay was called to the platform and one of the most enthusiastic demonstrations yet heard in the convention occurred.

The Quay amendment and the Rules 1 and 12 went over until next day, the remainder of the report being adopted. With this out of the way Senator Fairbanks of Indiana, chairman of the committee on resolutions, was recognized to present the platform to the convention. The Indiana senator received a flattering reception as he mounted the stage, but when he began to read the declaration of principles scores of delegates and alternates got up and began filing out of the hall. The confusion became so great that Senator Fairbanks was unable to proceed, and Senator Lodge was compelled to come forward and appeal for order.

While the hum of conversation continued throughout the reading of the platform, interest in the document manifestly increased as the reading proceeded. Senator Fairbanks made strenuous efforts to make himself heard.

Platform Adopted.
He concluded the reading of the platform at 2:50 and moved that the platform be adopted and on that motion demanded the previous question. The demand was seconded by Senator Hainsbrough of North Dakota and Senator Sewell of New Jersey. The demand was agreed to, and the motion was declared by Chairman Lodge to be unanimously adopted.

The announcement of the adoption of the platform was received with enthusiastic cheers. Chairman Lodge then called for announcements from the various delegations of national committeemen and vice presidents. Senator Foraker of Ohio was in the center of the main aisle with his hand raised for recognition.

"I was about to move to adjourn, Mr. Chairman," said he, "but I withhold the motion until the roll of states can be called."

The call was begun then, each of the well-known and prominent men, as their names were announced being greeted with applause. When the call was completed the convention at 3:15 adjourned until 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

WISCONSIN FOR ROOSEVELT.
Hanna Says West and South Must Not Be Too Fiercely Combated.

Philadelphia, June 21.—At 11 a. m. the Wisconsin delegation held a meeting. Hardly were the doors closed, when Mr. Payne arose, and in a vehement speech, declared that Roosevelt would be the nominee of the convention.

"It is time this factional business in New York state should be settled from the outside," he said. "This is a national, not a state gathering. We are here to nominate a national ticket, not to dicker over New York state's personal affairs." (Applause.)

Then, raising his hand, he said in an impressive and impassioned manner: "Before Wisconsin is reached on the roll call, willing or unwilling, Theodore Roosevelt will have received 75 per cent. of the votes of the convention. I move that Wisconsin join the popular column and vote for, not New York's son, but the nation's son, Theodore Roosevelt."

Amidst a burst of applause the resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote. Senator Hanna is by no means assured that the Roosevelt candidacy is ended. When seen, he said, significantly, "It all depends upon the man upstairs."

"Which man?"
"Roosevelt."

"During their conversation in the morning Hanna asked Woodruff what game New York was playing.

"It's on the square," said Woodruff. "I am a candidate, with New York behind me, and supporting me loyally."

"All right, then," responded Hanna. "We will make it a free fight, and the best man will win."

At the same time there is a prevalent belief that the convention will nominate Roosevelt in spite of all that has been done to prevent the stampede.

At 11 o'clock Senator Hanna went into a conference with Senators Lodge and Spooner. B. B. Odell was present part of the time. For the first time the Ohio senator, having heard of Wisconsin's vote to support Roosevelt, showed signs of weakening. He is reported to have said almost as soon as the vice presidential matter was mentioned:

"Gentlemen: We do not want to lose sight of the fact that this Roosevelt sentiment is much greater than the combination of Quay and Platt for it. The west and south are likely to force it and I don't feel that their wishes should be combated too fiercely."

"The conferees declared when they adjourned that they had arrived at no conclusion, nor the fact that Mr. Hanna seemingly not so enthusiastic in his work against the Roosevelt boom would indicate that Mr. Roosevelt is again the prominent candidate for vice president."

Killed by a Live Wire.
Galena, Kan., June 21.—City Marshal Milford Parker was instantly killed late at night. A telephone wire had fallen across the sidewalk and he picked it up to wrap it around a post. He walked a distance of about thirty feet with it in his hands, when he suddenly pitched forward dead. In pulling the wire to tie it up, it touched a live wire which connected the current.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

Principles Upon Which the Party Will Go Before the Country.

ADMINISTRATION IS INDORSED.

Declarations for Sound Money and Exchange—Restriction of Trusts—Other Planks of Interest.

Philadelphia, June 21.—The platform as adopted by the Republican national convention starts out by taking a look backward at the record of the McKinley administration, which is indorsed, and the restoration of prosperity under the guidance of the Republican party, and continues:

We renew our allegiance to the principle of the gold standard and declare our confidence in the wisdom of the legislature of the Fifty-sixth congress by which the parity of all our money and the stability of our currency on a gold basis has been secured. We recognize that interest rates are a potent factor in production and business activity, and for the purpose of further equalizing and of further lowering the rates of interest, we favor such monetary legislation as will enable the varying needs of the season and of all sections to be promptly met in order that trade may be evenly sustained, labor steadily employed and commerce enlarged.

Money Circulation.
The volume of money in circulation was never so great per capita as it is today. We declare our steadfast opposition to the free and unlimited coinage of silver. No measure to that end could be considered which was without the support of leading commercial countries of the world. However firmly Republican legislation may seem to have secured the country against the peril of base and discredited currency, the election of a Democratic president could not fail to bring once more into question the intention of the American people to maintain upon the gold standard the parity of their money circulation. The Democratic party must be convinced that the American people will never tolerate the Chicago platform.

Trusts and Monopolies.
We recognize the necessity and propriety of the honest co-operation of capital to meet new business conditions and especially to extend our rapidly increasing foreign trade, but we condemn all conspiracies and combinations intended to restrict business, to create monopolies, to limit production or to control prices, and favor such legislation as will effectually restrain and prevent all such abuses, protect and promote competition and secure the rights of producers, laborers and all who are engaged in industry and commerce.

We renew our faith in the policy of protection to American labor. In that policy our industries have been established, diversified and maintained. By protecting the home market the competition has been stimulated and production cheapened. Opportunity to the inventive genius of our people has been secured and wages in every department of labor maintained at high rates, higher now than ever before, always distinguishing our working people in their better conditions of life from those of any competing country.

Reciprocity Favored.
Enjoying the blessings of American common school, secure in the right of self-government and protected in the occupancy of their own markets, their constantly increasing knowledge and skill have enabled them finally to enter the markets of the world. We favor the associated policy of reciprocity, so directed as to open our markets on favorable terms for what we do not ourselves produce in return for free foreign markets.

In the further interest of American workmen we favor a more effective restriction of the immigration of cheap labor from foreign lands, the extension of opportunities of education for working children, the raising of the age limit for child labor, the protection of free labor, as against contract convict labor and an effective system of labor insurance.

Dependence on Foreign Shipping.
Our present dependence upon foreign shipping for nine-tenths of our foreign carrying is a great loss to the industry of this country. It is also a serious danger to our trade, for its sudden withdrawal in the event of European war would seriously cripple our expanding foreign commerce. The national defense and naval efficiency of this country, moreover, supply a compelling reason for legislation which will enable us to recover our former place among the trade carrying fleets of the world.

The nation owes a debt of profound gratitude to the soldiers and sailors who have fought its battles, and it is the government's duty to provide for the survivors and for the widows and orphans of those who have fallen in the country's wars. The pension laws, founded in this just sentiment, should be liberal and should be liberally administered and preference should be given wherever practicable with respect to employment in the public service to soldiers and sailors and to their widows and orphans.

The Civil Service.
We commend the policy of the Republican party in maintaining the efficiency of the civil service. The administration has acted wisely in its efforts to secure for public service in Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii, and the Philippine Islands only those whose fitness has been determined by training and experience. We believe that employment in the public service in these territories should be confined as far as practicable to their inhabitants.

It was the plain purpose of the fifteenth amendment to the constitution to prevent discrimination on account of race or color in regulating the elective franchise. Devices of state governments whether by statutory or constitutional enactment, to avoid the purpose of this amendment are revolutionary and should be condemned.

Public movements looking to a permanent improvement of the roads and highways of the country meet with our cordial approval, and we recommend this subject to the earnest consideration of the people and of the legislatures of the several states.

We favor the extension of the rural free delivery service wherever its extension may be justified.

Free Homes on Public Domain.

In further pursuance of the constant policy of the Republican party to provide free homes on the public domain, we recommend adequate national legislation to reclaim the arid lands of the United States, reserving control of the distribution of water for irrigation to the respective states and territories.

We favor home rule for, and the early admission to statehood, of the territories of New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma.

The Dingley act, amended to provide sufficient revenue for the conduct of the war, has so well performed its work that it has been possible to reduce the war debt in the sum of $40,000,000. So ample are the government's revenues, and so great is the public confidence in the integrity of its obligations that its newly funded 2 per cent. bonds sell at a premium. The country is now justified in expecting and it will be the policy of the Republican party to bring about a reduction of the war taxes.

Government Ownership of Canal.
We favor the construction, ownership, control and protection of an isthmian canal by the government of the United States. New markets are necessary for the increasing surplus of our farm products. Every effort should be made to open and obtain new markets, especially in the orient, and the administration is warmly to be commended for its successful effort to commit all trading and colonizing nations to the policy of the open door in China. In the interest of our expanding commerce, we recommend that congress create a department of commerce and industries in the charge of a secretary with a seat in the cabinet. The United States consular system should be reorganized under the supervision of this new department upon such a basis of appointment and tenure as will render it still more serviceable to the nation's increasing trade.

The American government must protect the person and property of every citizen wherever they are wrongfully violated or placed in peril.

We congratulate the women of America upon their splendid record of public service in the Volunteer Aid association, and as nurses in camp and hospital during the recent campaigns of our armies in the Eastern and Western Indies, and we appreciate their faithful co-operation in all works of education and industry.

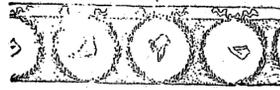

Conduct of Foreign Affairs.
President McKinley has conducted the foreign affairs of the United States with distinguished credit to the American people. In releasing us from the vexatious conditions of a European alliance for the government of Samoa, his course is especially to be commended. By securing to our undivided control the most important island of the Samoan group, and the best harbor in the southern Pacific, every American interest has been safeguarded.

We approve the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States. We commend the part taken by our government in the peace conference at The Hague. We assert our steadfast adherence to the policy announced in the Monroe doctrine. The provisions of The Hague convention were wisely regarded when President McKinley tendered his friendly offices in the interest of peace between Great Britain and the south African republic. While the American government must continue the policy prescribed by Washington, affirmed by every succeeding president and imposed upon us by The Hague treaty, of non-intervention in European controversies, the American people earnestly hope that a way may soon be found, honorably alike to both contending parties, to terminate the strife between them.

The War with Spain.
In accepting by the treaty of Paris the just responsibility of our victories in the Spanish war, the president and the senate won the undoubted approval of the American people. No other course was possible than to destroy Spain's sovereignty throughout the Western Indies and in the Philippine Islands.

That course created our responsibility before the world and with the unorganized population whom our intervention had freed from Spain, to provide for the maintenance of law and order, and for the enlistment of good government and for the performance of international obligations. Clark Delegation Denied Admittance.

Butte, Mont., June 21.—The state Democratic convention, called to convene at noon, was postponed until 5 p. m., announcement to that effect being made by Chairman Cockrill of the state central committee. The Clark delegation from Silver Bow county gathered at the appointed hour, but were denied admittance to the hall by deputy sheriffs. A fight in the state central committee over contested delegations from five counties will result in leaving the Clark men out of the temporary organization. This will give a temporary advantage to the Daly wing.

Beats Wife and Kills Himself.

Poplar Bluff, Mo., June 21.—William Arnett in a moment of anger chastised his wife severely. She fled from the house and when a short distance away heard the report of a revolver. Returning, she found her husband dead, he having committed suicide. It is supposed that remorse for his act caused him to kill himself.
