THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

near the coast of Trinidad, of yellow fever, contracted on the shores of the Orinoco river. He was thirteen years old when his father took him to sea in a small frigate, the General Greene. He served as midshipman on the frigate Adams, which sailed from Newport in 1802 to join Commodore Morris' squadron at Gibraltar. In 1809 he went to sea in command of the Revenge, an armed schooner employed in coast defence. He first gained distinction off the coast of Florida by the brigs Lawrence, Niagara, Caladonia, Scorpion, Ariel, Somers, Porcupine, Tigress and Trippe; fifty-four guns and four hundred and ninety men. In the beginning of the engagement the whole strength of the enemy was directed against the flag ship Lawrence. She was about to be dismantled when Perry left her in command of Lieut. Yarnall, crossed in a small boat under heavy fire to the Niagara, then in command of Lieut. Jesse Duncan Elliot of Mary-rescuing a stolen American vessel under the very guns of the British Man-of-war "Gore" of double his force. Later he was made master commandant of a flotilla at Newport. February 1813 he was ordered to join Commodore Chauncey with the picked men of his Newport flotilla. The next month he was assigned to duty on Lake Erie where the vessels which were to compose the naval squadron of the lakes were being built. He actively superintended their construction and in May three gun boats and two brigs were launched and equipped. He made a perilous trip, part of the time in a small four oared boat, May the 23rd, to confer with Commodore Chauncey about a pro-land. Elliot crossed over to the Somers and brought the smaller vessels of the fleet into the action and arranged them so as to bring a dead-cross fire to play on the enemy. The Scorpion was commanded by the sailing master, Stephen Champlin; the Ariel, by Lieut. John H. Packett; the Trippe, by Lieut. Thomas Holdup. In seven minutes after Perry took command of the Niagara, the British flag ship Detroit, the Queen Charlotte, Lady Prevost and Hunter were compelled to surrender. Captain Barclay was among the killed. The Chippewa and Little Belt endeavored to escape but were overtaken by the Scorpion and Trippe and surrendered an hour later. Perry wrote his famous dispatch to General Harrison on the back of an old envelope resting it on his cap.

"We met the enemy and they are ours. Two ships, two brigs, one schooner and one sloop. Yours will very great respect and esteem, O. H. PERRY"

Eighteen millions of prosperous people, one quarter of the entire population of the United States, are today American citizens under the Star Spangled Banner in the great region which Perry's victory wrestled from the control of gallant Barclay and his men on that day, Sept 10, 1813. Rhode Island may well be proud to claim the day as her own.

RHODE ISLAND DAY

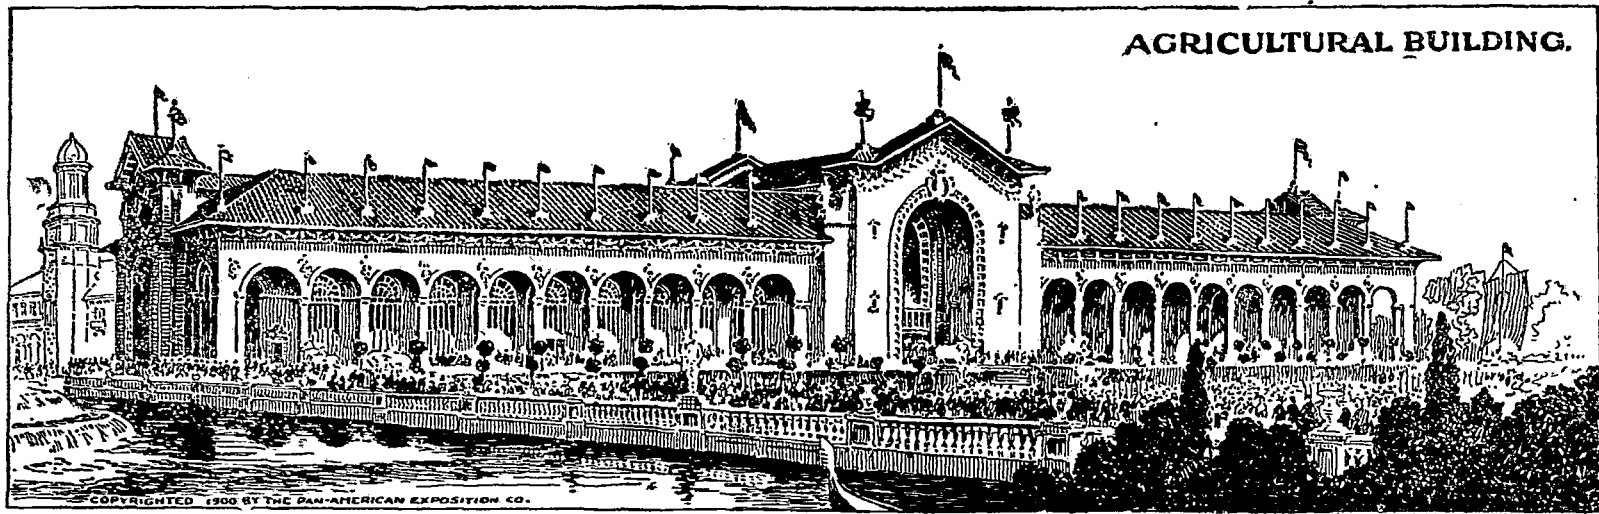

Anniversary of the Battle of Lake Erie "Little Rhody" will Celebrate in Style, The Governor and his Staff to be Present

Rhode Island day, September 10th, will be celebrated with imposing ceremonies, at the Pan-American exposition. It marks a notable epoch in the history of the United States. September 10th, 1813, Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry won a signal victory over the British squadron in Lake Erie. The British commander, Captain Barclay was killed and every ship of the enemy's fleet was taken and added to the American navy.

Rhode Island is preparing to celebrate the day in fitting style. Gov. Gregory, his staff and a Rhode Island regiment will be there. They will be ably assisted by the Pan-American commission, the vice-presidents and the honorary members of the board of Woman Managers for Rhode Island. Few battles of the Revolution were pregnant with more important results. After winning a battle against a superior force and better guns Commodore Perry and his lake squadron went to the coast of posed attack on Ft. George, he spent the night of the 24th in the city of Buffalo. The result of this expedition was the opening of the Port of Black Rock and the collecting of five additional American vessels which

Michigan and assisted the army in driving the British troops from that state. A brief sketch of Commodore Perry and his officers and a condensed resume of the battle has especial interest at this time. The celebration

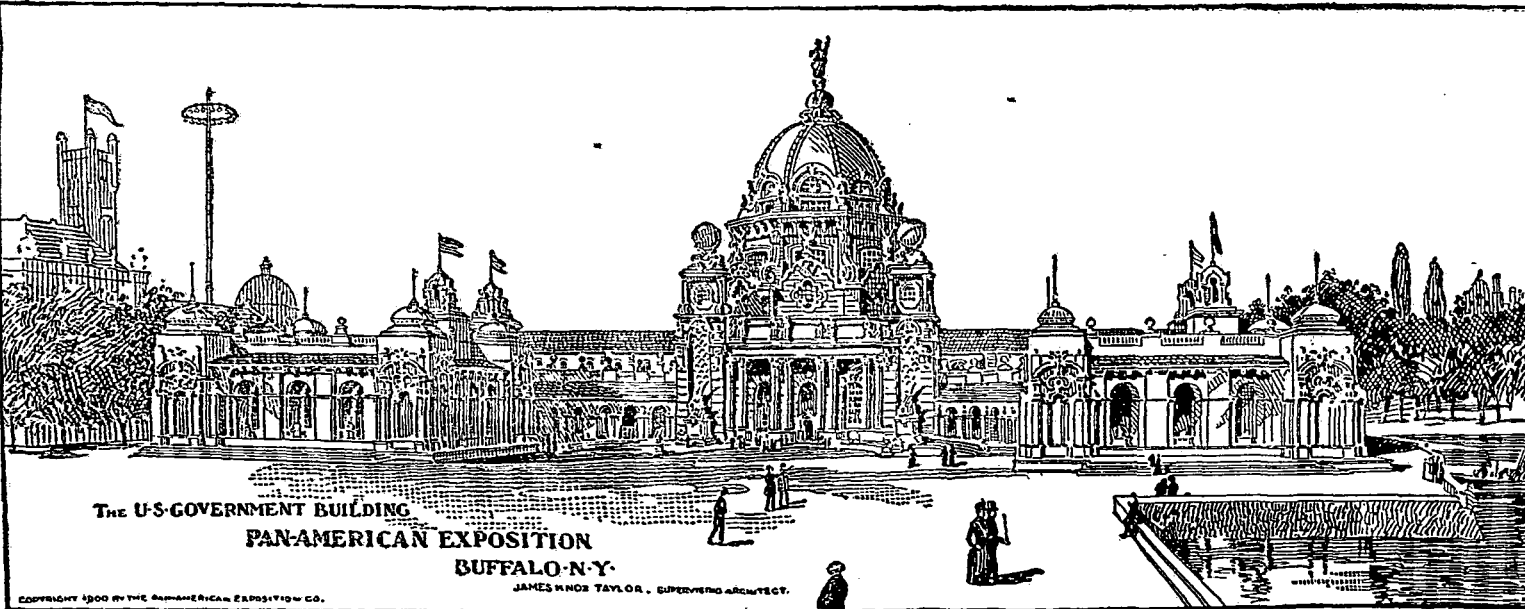

he conducted to Erie and added to own fleet.

September 10th the American fleet lay in Put-in-bay near Sandusky when Perry discovered the British squadron in the offing and went out

Collecting "Corpse Rings." The Dublin Freeman's Journal calls attention to a very novel and somewhat gruesome development of the collecting fad. A Ballyshannon man has, it states, made a collection of sailors' "corpse rings." Seafaring men of most nations possess in common the habit of wearing a thick silver ring on the little finger. These rings are engraved inside with the owner's name and port, and serve to identify his body in the event of death by drowning. The collection of "corpse rings" is a fairly large one, and every ring has, it is stated, been obtained from the relations or comrades of the drowned sailor. The fad of a well-known statesman, no longer living, for the collection of false teeth is beaten in its singularity by this phase of the collecting fever.

Expensive, Living or Dying. Two tramps were trudging along a dusty road in Jersey. "I'm goin' to New York," said one. "Fool!" cried the other. "You'll be ruined." "Don't you know what it costs to live there? Five cents to sit in the shade, $2 to split in a car and if you travel on t' ferries there is danger of a bath, which may cost you your life. Life passes us out of reach and free seas for t' sun are all the rage there now. I know. The sight of that last wouper has made you mad."

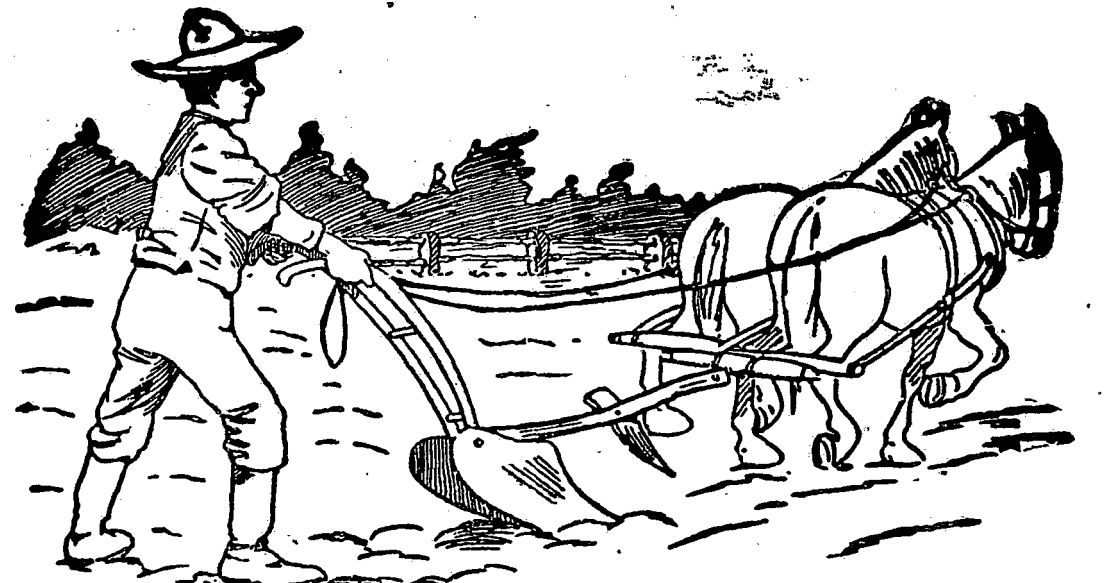

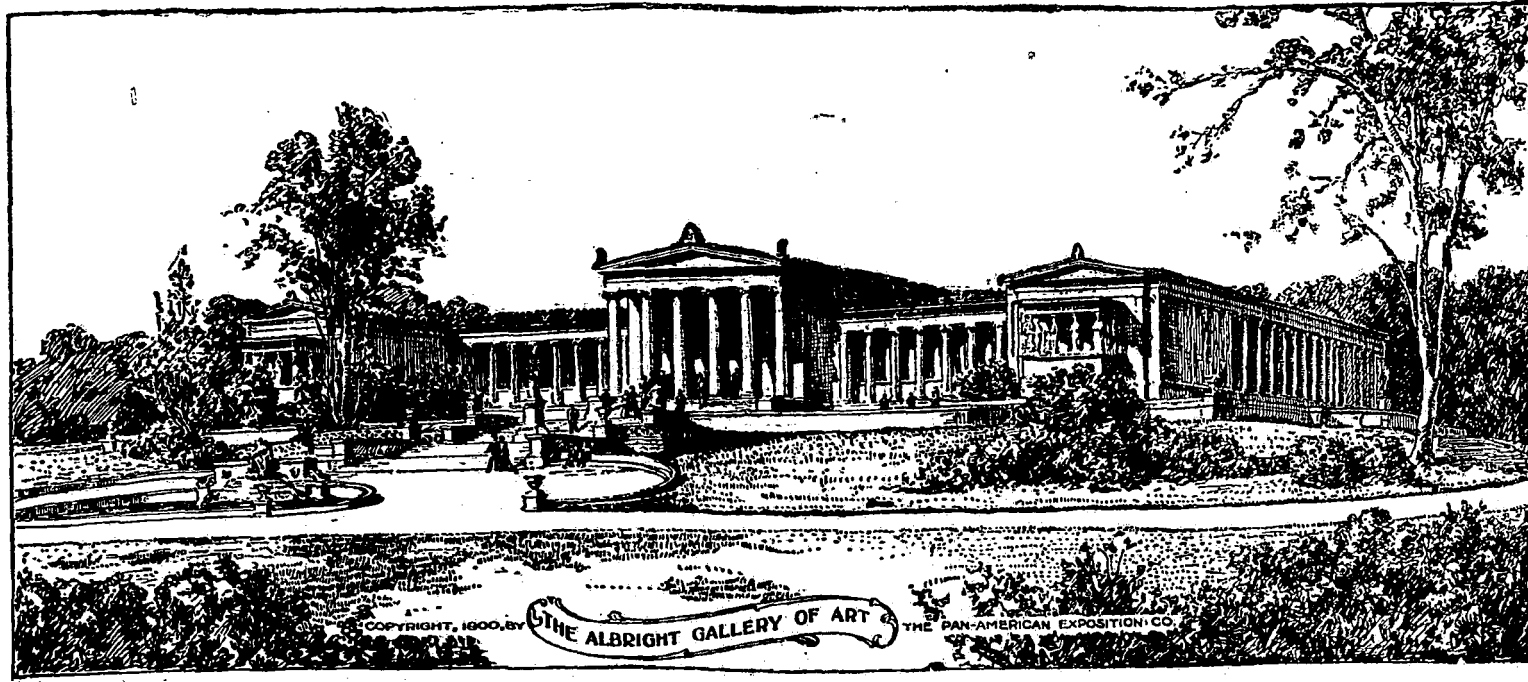

Island. For several weeks Hon. George N. Kingsbury, who is also a resident commissioner, has been actively promoting plans to make the day a conspicuous success both as to the attractiveness of the program and size of the crowd. Rhode Island should be heartily joined by her sister states in making this notable anniversary a great day at the Pan-American exposition. Lieutenant Elliot of Maryland was second in command in the engagement and was voted a medal and sword by Congress. Captain Hugh Nelson Page of Virginia distinguished himself for bravery in the fight and was voted two jewel-hilted swords, one by Congress of the United States, the other by the legislature of Virginia. Other commanders from other states also bore conspicuous parts in the great battle, but to Rhode Island mainly belongs the palm of victory. Her citizens were in the majority, both as to offi-

of September 10th as Rhode Island Day naturally revives memories of the gallant band who fought the battle and added a signal victory to the list of American triumphs.

Oliver Hazard Perry was born August 23rd, 1785, at Newport, Rhode Island, and died August 23rd, 1819, to meet it. Captain Barclay, the British Commander, had the war ships Detroit and Queen Charlotte, the schooner Lady Prevost, the brig Hunter and two smaller vessels, the Chippewa and Little Belt, numbering sixty-three guns, five hundred and two officers and the men. Perry had

I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tablets, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tablets will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"
