TAGALSWINAVICTORY

United States Troops Surprised at Breakfast and Only Twenty-Four Escape.

ELEVEN OF THEM ARE WOUNDED

Company Contained Seventy-Two Men When It Was Attacked.

News of Such a Disaster Creates a Sensation at Washington—
Facts About the Scene of the Fight.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The war department has received the following dispatch from General Chaffee:

"Manila, Sept. 29.—Adjutant General, Washington: Hughes reports following from Bassey, southern Samar:
"Twenty-four men of the Ninth regiment, United States infantry, wounded,
have just arrived from Balangiga; remainder of company killed. Insurgents secured all company supplies and all rifles except twelve. Company was attacked during breakfast, morning Sept. 28; company seventy-two strong; Thomas W. Connelly (captain), Edward A. Bumpus (first lieutenant),
Dr. R. S. Griswold (major surgeon) escaped."
(Signed) CHAFFEE."

Fight Was Most Disastrous.

Manila, Sept. 30.—A disastrous fight between United States troops and insurgents occurred Saturday in the island of Samar, near Balangiga. A large body of insurgents attacked Company C, Ninth infantry, only twenty-four members of the company escaping. All the others are reported to have been killed. The company was at breakfast when attacked, and made a determined resistance, but the overwhelming numbers of the insurgents compelled them to retreat.

Of the survivors who have arrived at Bassey eleven are wounded. According to the latest returns the strength of the company was seventy-
two. The survivors include Captain Thomas W. Connelly, First Lieutenant
Edward A. Bumpus and Dr. R. S.
Griswold, surgeon. Captain Edwin V.
Brookmiller, of the Ninth infantry, reports that General Hughes is assembling a force to attack the insurgents.
The insurgents captured all the stores and ammunition of the company and all the rifles except twenty-six.

Another Severe Engagement.

Manila, Sept. 30.—Captain Lawrence
J. Hearn, of the Twenty-first infantry, reports a severe engagement with insurgents near Candelaria, the Americans losing one killed and two wounded. The insurgent loss has not been ascertained. The Americans captured 30,000 pounds of rice and several hundred rounds of ammunition.

NEWS CREATES A SENSATION

Island on Which the Fight Occurred Never Occupied by the Spaniards.

Washington, Sept. 30.—News of the disastrous fight between troops of the Ninth infantry and the insurgents in the island of Samar Saturday was sent promptly by General Hughes, commanding in that island, to General Chaffee at Manila, and by him transmitted to the war department. It reached the department during the early hours yesterday, and Adjutant General Corbin, realizing its importance, at once made it public, after sending a copy to the White House.

The news created a sensation in official circles. It was the first severe reverse that has occurred for a long time. Still the officials were not unprepared for news of just this character from Samar, in which the revolution started by Aguinaldo still continues. Samar is a country about as large as the state of Ohio, and the American forces of occupation number in all between 2,000 and 2,500 men.
These are distributed among various posts in the island, a large number being located at the more important centers. Spain never made any effort to occupy Samar, and it only has been for probably three months past that the United States has undertaken that work.

The latest report made by General Hughes to the war department was that the number of insurgent rifles in the island aggregated about 300. The Filipinos carried on a guerrilla warfare, and operations against them were difficult. Immediately upon receipt of the dispatch Adjutant General Corbin cabled General Chaffee to send a complete report of the fight and a list of the casualties.

A well-known official of the government, in speaking of this outbreak
against the American forces in Samar, said he regarded it as a consequence of the assassination of President Mc-Kinley. In all probability the insurgents had received, he said, only meager reports of the tragedy, and possibly believed the shooting to be the result of some popular outbreak against the president. The natives had seized the opportunity in the flickering hope of retrieving some of their lost ground.

Killed on His Last Day of Toil.

Belvidere, Ills., Oct. 1.—George W.
Davey, section foreman, was killed
here by a fast freight train. Davey had been in the employ of the road
for forty years and had told his wife
as he went to work in the morning that the day was the last day upon which he would do any work, as it was the anniversary of his coming on the road forty years before, and that he would retire and be given papers for a pension before he came home at night. Forty minutes after he left his home he was struck by the train and instantly killed.

Outbreak in Hayti.

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 30.—Reports of a revolutionary outbreak in Hayti have reached here by the German steamer Alene from New York via Jamaica. According to the statements of those on board the Alene a large number of prominent men in Jamaica have been arrested on the charge of conspiracy and immediately removed to Port-au-Prince and imprisoned. The situation in the interior of Hayti is reported to be serious, owing to the opposition to President Sam-

continuing to retain office.

Judge Advocate Lemly's Sister Cremated.

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 1.—Miss Laura Lemly, 45 years of age, a sister of Judge Advocate Lemly, of the navy, was burned to death at her home in Salem, N. C., yesterday. Her clothing caught fire from a kitchen stove, and she was so badly burned that death
resulted in four hours.

Many Ships Wrecked.

Lisbon, Sept. 26.—The governor of the Azore islands cabled to the government saying that many ships were wrecked during the hurricane that swept over those islands a few days ago, and that there was great loss of life.

SHAMROCK IS DANGEROUS

Though Beaten in Saturday's Race She Causes Apprehension.

New York, Sept. 30.—The Columbia,
in the first race of the America cup series—fifteen miles to windward and return—defeated the Shamrock II by 39 seconds actual time and 1 minute and 22 seconds corrected time. Both yachts sailed well, and the Shamrock led at the turn of the outer mark by 41 seconds. The wind at the start was blowing nine to ten miles an hour, but after the outer mark was reached it dropped to seven or eight miles. As it dropped the Columbia showed her heels to the Shamrock II.

During the race Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht Erin was struck by the revenue boat Gresham, and J. J. Astor's yacht Nourmahal was struck by the liner
North Star. Some damage was done, but no lives lost.

Sir Thomas Lipton admits that the defeat was square, but is praying for more wind next time. It was the closest and most thrilling race ever sailed for the cup, the yachts being within speaking distance of each other during the whole run.

The race was so close and the improvement of the Shamrock with a good breeze so noticeable that it was and anxious lot of yachtsmen that gathered yesterday at the New York Yacht club for a talk about the chances of the Columbia in her next contest with the Shamrock II tomorrow. The wind, although stronger Saturday than Thursday, was not very brisk, as can be seen when it is known that the boats only made on the average 6.6
miles an hour Saturday.

LINCOLN'S REMAINS SAFE

First Official Act of the Acting Governor of the Prairie State.

Springfield, Ills., Sept. 27.—The first official act of Acting Governor John J.
Brenholt was to officiate yesterday as chief executive of the state at what is intended to be the final removal of the remains of Abraham Lincoln. The casket was taken from its resting place
in the monument to Memorial hall, where it was opened and the remains viewed by the state officers, who are members of the Lincoln Monument association, and some members of the old Lincoln Guard of Honor, and the contractors. After viewing the remains the casket was closed and then removed to the new vault.

The body now rests east and west,
the head being toward the west. Two feet of concrete protects the bottom of the casket. Surrounding the casket is a steel cage, around which will be placed a solid wall of concrete. The location of the new resting place is immediately beneath where the car-cophagus formerly rested. It is understood that the remains were not in a very good state of preservation, but were easily identified. Brenholt was present at the burial of Lincoln.

The removal was conducted with great secrecy, no newspaper representatives having knowledge of the removal until after it had been accomplished.

DEATH TO SEVEN MEN

Explosion of an Oil Tank While It Was Under Process of Cleansing.

New York, Sept. 27.—Six men, and possibly seven, were killed and seven injured by the explosion yesterday of an oil tank of the Essex and Hudson Gas company at Newark, N. J. The known dead are: Lawrence Kirch (employed in the works), William Meyer, Otto Newman (foreman at the works), Alfred Snyder, Nicholas Miller and an unidentified man. Many witnesses say there is a body in the river, as they saw it hurled high in the air and thrown in that direction.

The tank which exploded was one of a number of immense steel reservoirs which was undergoing its periodical cleaning, it having been emptied of its oil in the morning. The tank was twenty feet deep and Kirch, Meyer and Newman entered through the manhole without taking the precaution of having ropes tied about them. They were immediately overcome by the fumes. Men then began with chisels to cut a large ring in the tank. It is supposed one of the chisels, in striking the steel, caused the emission of a spark, and that caused the explosion.

NIGHT PROWLERS AT TOMB

Sentinel Guarding McKinley's Remains Attacked by Masked Men.

Canton, O., Oct. 1.—The soldiers
guarding the vault in Westlawn cemetery, where the body of President McKinley lies, were startled at night by a visit from two prowlers, whose purpose is believed to have been to blow up the vault with dynamite. Seventy regulars from Fort Wayne, Mich., are stationed in the cemetery, and twenty of the number are constantly on guard about the vault. The sentinel on duty on top of the vault saw one strange man, who refused to heed his challenge. He raised his gun to shoot, when his gun was struck by a second man, who wore a mask. The two had a struggle, during which the masked man attempted to stab the guard.

Military regulations prevent either the officers or the men of the post from being quoted on any matter connected with their service, and for this reason Captain Biddle, who is in command, was obliged to decline to be quoted at the camp. He will make a full report to his superiors at once.

Crowd Exposed to Smallpox.

LaCrosse, Wis., Sept. 30.—Claud
Davis of LaCrosse has been quarantined at Eokah with smallpox. He spent much time here and in Mount Prairie, mingling with crowds.

BANISHING THE BOERS

Kitchener Begins the Policy Outlined in His Recently Issued Proclamation.

REPLIES TO GEN. SCHALK-BURGER

Whose Letter on Peace Is Sent to England—King Who Wants to Know.

Pretoria, Sept. 30.—A pamphlet has been published here under Lord Kitch-ener's authority containing a notice of the permanent banishment of several Boer leaders captured since Sept. 15,
and also a long letter from Lord Kitchener replying to a communication from Acting President Schalk-Burger, received Sept. 5. Lord Kitchener promises to send the Schalk-Burger letter to the imperial government, which, he says, reciprocates the Boer statesman's desire for peace. Lord Kitchener then proceeds to explain that the responsibility for the war rests with the burghers, "whose invasion of unprotected British territory opened the saddest page in South African history." He quotes a letter from a member of the Volksraad to a member of the Cape Colony assembly, declaring that "the time is ripe to drive the English from South Africa."

Must Keep Faith With the Loyalists.

In conclusion Lord Kitchener declares that having annexed the two republics to Great Britain he cannot break faith with the people who have shown loyalty to the new regime, and that so far as clemency to Cape rebels is concerned, this is the prerogative of the ruler, which must be exercised with unfettered discretion. A proclamation has been issued providing for the sale of properties of burghers still in the field, in accordance with the terms of Lord Kitchener's previous
proclamation.

King Takes an Active Interest.

London, Sept. 30.—"Immediately on his return from the continent," says
The Daily News, "the king summoned
a meeting of the council to consider Lord Kitchener's position. It is understood that his majesty assumed a very strong attitude, and closely questioned ministers upon their proposals." The Daily Express publishes a report that Lord Kitchener has asked for 25,000 more seasoned mounted men,
and for power to hang rebels, traitors
and murderers, without reference to the home government.

John Watching the Persian Gulf.

Bombay Sept. 30.—The Bombay Gazette says it believes that a British protectorate will soon be proclaimed over Koweyt, the proposed terminus of the Bagdad railroad on the Persian Gulf, as a result of the Anglo-Turkish dispute. A British naval force is concentrating in the gulf. Three warships are already on the spot, and they will be reinforced by three other vessels.

Ladysmith, Natal, Oct. 1.—The British success at Fort Italia is now known to have been greater than was at first reported. Two hundred Boers were killed, and more than 300 were wounded or captured.

In the fight General Botha, with 1,500 Boers, attacked the fort, keeping up the attack for the whole day.
He was repulsed. The garrison lost an officer and eleven men killed and five officers and thirty-eight men wounded. Besides these sixty-three men are missing, and it is believed either killed or wounded. One of the dead Boers of the nineteen left on the field was Commandant Opperman.

INDIANA TO GO TO WEST INDIES

Will Be Available for Service in Venezuela and Columbia.

Washington, Oct. 1.—An American battleship will be in the Caribbean sea in another month, available for service in Venezuelan and Columbian waters should her presence be required in the developments in the relations between these two republics.

Orders have been issued by the navy department directing Indiana to sail on Oct. 15 for the West Indies. The Indiana has been fitting up as a training ship for landmen, but she will also have on board a well-trained force of officers and bluejackets, and would be able to land a strong body of men should it be necessary for the United States to protect the isthmus from invasion. The Marietta is being put in condition as rapidly as possible, and should be able to sail for Venezuela
during October.

Soldiers' Home Destroyed.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 1.—The Confederate soldiers' home, just east of this city, was destroyed by fire at 9:30 in the morning. There were no lives lost. There were about seventy veterans who were inmates of the building, some of them being invalids who were rescued by their comrades. The loss is estimated at $25,000, covered by $22,000 insurance. The home was opened for the ex-Confederate veterans of the state June 30, and was built by popular subscriptions.

Fight at Purdue University.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 30.—At 3 o'clock in the morning there was a general rush between sophomore and freshmen of Purdue university in which clubs were used. Several were injured, and it is feared that Edward Owner Quinn of San Antonio, Tex., and James Hudson of Pittsburg will not recover.

HOME DEPARTMENT

For the Autumn Table.

CORN PUDDING—The few last "nubbins" of sweet corn, not shapely enough to boil, may be turned into a delicious supper dish. Cut each row down the middle with a sharp knife, and with a dull one scrape out the inside of the kernels. Almost all of the tough hulls will remain on the cob. To two cupsful of this, add one of bread-crumbs, one of milk, salt, pepper and a beaten egg. Bake in a buttered dish, sprinkling the top with fine crumbs and dotting with bits of butter. Serve with broiled ham and baked potatoes, and you have a most enticing autumn supper to which may be added a—

FRUIT BETTY—For this use two cupsful of sliced apples, or half a dozen late peaches, pared and halved. Put them in a buttered baking dish, and pour over a batter made from half a pint of milk, a spoonful of melted butter, a little salt, and flour to make a batter (about a well-rounded half pint,) with a rounded teaspoonful of baking powder. Bake for half an hour, and eat with sugar and cream, or with a sauce of butter and sugar.

CORN MEAL SOUP—Put into a bowl a rounded tablespoonful of cornmeal and one of flour, with a level teaspoonful of salt; mix to a thin paste with cold water and stir into a quart of fast boiling water; stir and boil fast for five minutes and set in a double boiler to cook half an hour longer; thin with milk to the proper consistency and add butter size of a walnut, or, use cream and omit the butter; season with paprika or pepper and celery salt, and pour over croutons. These last may be simply made by buttering slices of bread cut half an inch thick; trim into dice and brown in a quick oven.

TOMATO AND CUCUMBER SALAD—A couple of cucumbers and half a dozen tomatoes which Jack Frost may have left, will suggest a salad. Scald, peel and scoop out the centers of the tomatoes and fill with very thin slices of cucumbers; cover with a French, boiled or mayonnaise dressing.

FRIED TOMATOES—Half-green tomatoes may be fried. Cut in thick slices without peeling, roll in flour and fry in hot fat (drippings, oil or butter, but not lard) lay on a dish; stir a level tablespoonful of flour into the fat left in the pan and make a sauce with milk; season to taste and pour over the fried slices of tomatoes. If righty seasoned this a good accompaniment to cold meat.

HOT MOLASSES CAKE—Put one cupful of half lard and butter into a mixing basin and pour over a cupful of sugar; rub to a cream; add a cupful of molasses, one of hot water and flour to make a thin or soft batter; lastly stir in a teaspoonful of ginger and a level teaspoonful of soda dissolved in boiling water. Bake in shallow pans and gem pans. The gems may be kept for another day, as, if the batter is thin enough, they will be crisp and delicious. The corn meal soup, salad or fried tomatoes with cold meat, and molasses cake eaten hot, form a second cold weather supper that will delight the children who come in with rosy cheeks and appetites sharpened by the frost.

MOCK DUCK—Here is a dish which may be new to many. Cover two cupsful of hominy grits with a quart of cold milk and soak over night; the next morning cook in a double boiler until tender and of the consistency of rather stiff mush. On a buttered baking-pan arrange some of the hominy nearly an inch thick, and as much the shape of the back of a trussed and dressed duck as your artistic abilities will allow. Put through your meat chopper three cupsful of nuts, preferably almonds and pecans; mix this paste into a dressing, with salt, a minced hard-boiled egg, chopped parsley and a little melted butter; form into an oval mound on the hominy and cover with more of the latter; brush over with melted butter and beaten egg, and bake one hour, basting with butter and water. Transfer to a hot dish, and make a cream sauce with the drippings in the pan.

CODFISH CUTLETS—Try these with bacon and corn-meal gems for an autumn breakfast. Choose a solid piece of good codfish; pick one pound into shreds; throw into cold water and wash in several waters; cover with fresh cold water and set over a slow fire until it almost reaches the boiling point, when drain and press free from moisture; mix with an equal quantity of mashed potatoes, season with pepper, a tablespoonful of melted butter and the beaten yolk of an egg. Form into cutlets; brush over with the beaten white, dust with crumbs and fry in smoking fat. Serve with a cream sauce.

As eggs are apt to be scarce and high in autumn, try a corn bread made without eggs. Sift two cupsful of meal with one of flour and three rounded spoonfuls of baking powder; stir to a soft batter with milk; add a teaspoonful of salt, one of sugar and one of melted butter, and bake in hot greased gem pans in a quick oven.

Ideas for the Kitchen

Use a pancake lifter to place cookies on the tin, and to remove them when they are baked.

Cold boiled potatoes are more appetizing if a little flour is sprinkled over them while frying.

It saves strength in heating bread to use a spoon with a perforated bowl. Cost 10c.

Put worn-out pie tins in the sink cupboard and use them to set crocky kettles in.

Rub a little butter on the fingers and on the knife when seeding raisins, to avoid the stickiness.

If there is not batter enough to fill the gem pan put cold water in the empty space before setting the pan in the oven.

Crockery ornamented with gilt bands or figures should be washed quickly and drained dry, never wiped even with a soft cloth.

Rub the inner casing of windows that shove up and down hard with a little hard soap; treat bureau drawers in the same way.

Use cheap varnish to attach labels to maple syrup cans, to cans of tea and coffee, to boxes of spices, starch, etc., and all glass bottles. Never leave a glass bottle without a label.

To clean a kettle in which onions or other rank vegetables have been cooked, rub with a cloth dipped in hot, strong soda water, then wash in soapy water.

When black spots appear on doughnuts, drop a slice of raw potato in the fat and leave it while the next relay is frying, and repeat.

Two one-burner oil stoves are more convenient than one with two burners; they are lighter to handle, take up but little room, and the burners can be used to better advantage.

Make covers for kitchen holders in form of bags with a pointed flap at the open end to slip over a button at the other. Canton flannel is the best material for this purpose.

Melted beef drippings or clean tallow is well nigh equal to paraffine for covering jelly, if, when it is cold, a little is run around the edge where it has shrunk away from the glass.

Canned fruit which shows signs of fermentation can be saved by adding more sugar, some spices and a little vinegar. If it has soured in the least, put in a little soda and cook until it thickens. Use as a relish with cold meat.

Keep pulverized borax on hand in hot weather. Borax water keeps the dish cloths sweet, cleans silverware, is used in boiled or cold starch, sets red table linen and saves soap. Borax powder sprinkled over fresh meat will keep it sweet longer, and will preserve dried meats from the attacks of insects.

Use clean, soft rags to remove the grease from kettles and frying-pans before washing. Wipe all the grease from the meat dishes with rags or paper. Clean grease spots from the stove with paper, and save all to start the kitchen fire. Put your hand in a paper bag when you black the stove.

To protect the work-table from hot kettles and pans, make a mat or rack with lath. Cut pieces the length of the table, then cross-pieces, and nail together about an inch apart. This secures a circulation of air underneath and protects the table from the heat.

After clearing the table, place a folded towel under any spots that have been made during the meal; if from grease, rub with a cloth wet with gasoline. Other spots may be removed with a cloth and clear hot water, using as little as possible; then rub gently with a dry cloth until nearly dry.

To make boiled vegetables look white and delicate, put plenty of water in the kettle and add salt; when the water boils briskly skim, and quickly drop in the vegetables.

and remove the minute they are done. Cooking vegetables after they are tender darkens them and detracts from the flavor.

It is economy to have pint jars on hand in canning-time for what is left over after filling the one or two quart cans. It is better to fill a pint can than to repeat. New rubber rings are not necessary every season. Those that have been used, if hard, can be softened and made pliable by boiling in a solution of water and ammonia.

Receipts for Breakfast Cereals.

The cheapness of production and the wide area over which grain can be procured, commend its use to the majority of people who need a nutritious and an economical diet. A greater available amount of nourishment may be obtained from cereals than from any other food source. The question, what kind of cereals shall we eat? is of less importance than the question, how should the cereals be cooked in order to get the nourishment which they contain?

All starches should be thoroughly cooked. More starch than is required for perfect nutrition is contained in the average white bread, and less mineral matter and nitrogen. This is true also of potatoes and rice. But in the majority of cereals we get about the proper amount of all the necessary food elements. Oats are rather rich in fat, while the wheat grain contains a little less fat than is required by nature, hence the fashion of buttering bread. On wheat foods, then, a little cream may be used on oats, milk is more hygienic.

Select for winter use oats and cornmeal, hominy grits, whole hominy alternating with other cereals, such as Vitos, Shredded Wheat, Royal Health, Ralston Breakfast Food, and Grape Nuts. For summer, use farina, Farinose, Cracked Wheat, Yucco, Malt Breakfast Food and wheat preparations, omitting corn and oats.

The rolling of oats and wheat reduces their thickness or bulk, and therefore they require less time in cooking.

Our method of hurried living every one is trying to save time. The time saved in cooking, however, is generally at the expense of digestion. The time saved in cooking, however, is generally at the expense of digestion.

The Indians have a wise saying, The more the fire eats starch, the less we have to eat it.

Let the fire eat the starch in the cereal for quite a little time, and you will have to spend less time in digesting it. Do not stir cereals. Cook them in a double boiler, which will remove the necessity of stirring, and also all danger from scorching.

BREAKFAST PORRIDGE—Partly fill the lower vessel of your double boiler with boiling water; adjust the inner vessel. Put in one quart of freshly boiled water and a pint of Quaker Oats; stir this slowly until free from lumps, seeing that each grain is moistened. Add half a teaspoonful of salt. Cover and boil continuously for an hour or two, preferably two.

Any left over porridge may be used for cream soups, or served with apples, raisins, or figs as a dessert for luncheon. The receipt given above will answer for Friends' Oats, Mother's Oats, Rolled Avena, Hornby's Oatmeal or for rolled oats.

OATMEAL BROWN BREAD—This is one of the nicest of all brown breads. Personally I have used it for a long while, and like much better than the so-called Boston brown bread.

Mix in a large bowl a pint of Quaker oats and a pint of Pettijohn's, half a pint of whole wheat flour and a pint of yellow granulated cornmeal. Put into another bowl one pint of thick sour milk and half a pint of molasses. Dissolve a level teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda in two tablespoonfuls of warm water; add this to the molasses and sour milk; stir until foaming; then add it to the dry ingredients and mix until every grain is moistened. You may, if you like, add a teaspoonful of salt. Turn into a greased mould and boil or steam continuously for four hours.

Stand in a moderate oven for thirty minutes, and it will, then be ready to use. This may be toasted on the second day or warmed over in the oven, or it may be used cold.

Toasted it makes an acceptable breakfast bread.

ROLLED OATS SOUP—Into a saucepan put one chopped onion and a teaspoonful of butter; cook carefully, without browning the butter, until the onion is perfectly soft; then add a saltspoonful of celery seed, a bay leaf if you have it, and half a pint of left-over porridge. Stir for a moment; add a pint of water and a pint of milk. If you have stock in the house, add a pint of stock and a pint of milk; bring to the boiling point and strain; add a teaspoonful of salt a saltspoonful of pepper, and send at once to table. This makes a palatable and wholesome soup for a child's luncheon, or it may be served with toasted bread as a night meal for children. It makes a delicious soup for grown people, and may also be given to invalids.—Mrs. ROBERT in Ladies' Home Journal.

RAPIDS IN THE DEAD RIVER

MICHIGAN'S NORTHLAND IV

Marquette the Beautiful

Our train over the "Marquette Route," (as the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway is called) was expected to leave at nine o'clock and a few minutes before that time, we cast a lingering farewell look at the canal and locks and started for the depot. We found our train was made up and on the track but no news yet from the Canadian Pacific train for which we were waiting. Finally as we were contemplating camping out on the floor for the night we saw the lights of the distant train as it pulled out from the Canadian shore and slowly crossed the international bridge over the St. Mary's river. We boarded train leaving him to follow as well as his "tanglefoot" would permit. When the train was well under way she discovered that she had her husband's coat with the tickets and all his money, but her husband was left behind. The conductor left one of the tickets at the next station, wiring him to come on as best he could while his family were about 24 hours ahead of him. The family were bound for Iron Mountain but at the "Soo" instead of taking the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie train she boarded the D. S. S. & A. train for Marquette, and was riding along in blissful ignorance of the fact. The conductor told us that he would take her on to Marquette and send her over to Iron Mountain in the morning, and that her husband by our first view of town and were delighted with the beautiful vista spread before us. In our pocket we had a letter of introduction from that of Mr. J. M. Longyear, who is counted the wealthiest man in this city of millionaires. His residence is built from the lake Superior stone and is a beautiful edifice, the grounds occupying an entire square, and built around the grounds is a stone wall which is said to have cost the owner some $60,000. Mr. Longyear came to this section a poor boy but with wise foresight invested his earnings in lands which have been found rich in minerals. He does not operate a single mine on his property, but leases the rights to various companies who pay a royalty upon the ore mined, Mr. Longyear's income from this source last year being $650,000.

In the business portion of the city are many fine buildings which tower many stories upward. One of the features of the town is the beautiful Peter White Library, which was giv-our train, secured comfortable seats, and then proceeded to enjoy the coming and going of the passengers and their friends, and in watching the travellers we almost spoiled one good by kiss, owing to the faint hearted young man, who halted under our window, while walking with his lady friend, and supposing himself unobserved started to say good by when glancing up he saw two pair of dancing eyes looking down, but remembering how it was in our courtship days, we considerably turned our backs, to the window hearing as we did so some most peculiar sounds. Our car soon became crowded with passengers many of whom were French Canadians who had been attending the festival of "Saint Anne" at Montreal and were returning to their homes. We became quite interested in watching them as they jabbered away among themselves. One woman with two boys was a source of much amusement to us, as she came into the car with an air that plainly said "you can't lose me" and pre-empted the seat of a travelling man who had left his valise and overcoat to secure the seat. When the travelling man returned he attempted to expostulate and the woman offered to co n p on ise by sharing the seat with him, but one look at her face, which reason of her mistake would be home first and waiting for her. We presume the reunion was a very touching affair.

As it was dark we saw nothing of the country from the Soo to Marquette but had a very pleasant chat with the conductor, who was in charge with a relief crew, the travel at this time a year over this popular line being very heavy. We reached Marquette at 2 a.m. tired and sleepy. On inquiring our way to the Hotel Clifton, one of the police who was at the depot very kindly piloted us to the hotel carrying our baggage for

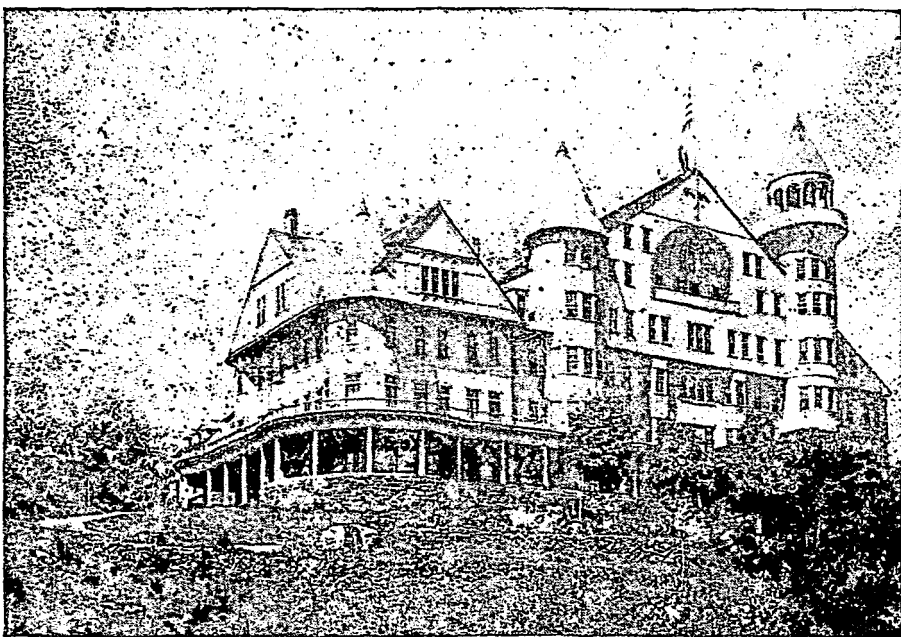

Mrs. I. L. H. Dodd to her brother Rev. J. M. Rogers pastor of the Presbyterian church. We had no difficulty in finding Mr. Rogers' residence and soon were busy visiting and giving news regarding Buchanan relatives and friends. Our intention had been to go on to Calumet that same day but Mr. Rogers and his estimable wife urged us to abandon that part of the trip and spend the time we had to spare at Marquette instead. We finally concluded to do so, and we owe a very pleasant day to the generous hospitality of Mr. Rogers and his family. We spent the forenoon on the city by Mr. Peter White who still makes his home in this city. While in this part of the city we inspected the general offices of the D. S. S. & A. Ry, and found them a veritable hive of busy workers, and had a pleasant chat with General Passenger Agent G. W. Hibberd whom we found to be very courteous and genial gentleman and a thorough railroad man.

In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Rogers called for us and both families drove over the beautiful Presque Isle Park, located about two and one half miles north of the city, but connect-would not have taken a beauty prize, was enough for him and grasping his coat and valise he fled to the smoker. We afterward found out that the woman had started with her husband from the place she had been visiting and when they had reached the junction with the main line of the Canadian Pacific he had filled in the time while waiting for the train, by "filling up" on fire water and when it came he was sound asleep in the depot with his coat for a pillow. His wife woke him up and grasping his coat and hat she rushed on board the us, while we "toted" the youngest member of our family who was in a state of physical collapse from the long ride. Arriving at the hotel we found every room full owing to the Grand Army reunion that had been held that day. This prospect was encouraging, but the obliging night clerk hustled around and fixed up the room belonging to the proprietor who was absent and leaving orders not to call us we turned in tired, but thinking that ye poor printer was in luck for once in his life. In the morning after a fine breakfast we had very pleasantly in looking over the residence part of the city, and visited Light House Point and the water works pumping station. The city is beautifully located upon a bay which is protected upon the south, west and north by high hills and eastward an immense concrete breakwater is built making the harbor one of the finest in Lake Superior. Light House Point juts out into the bay eastward and on its extreme eastern point is a United States light house. The view from this point was grand affording a fine view of the city as it rose in ed by electric cars, and a fine boulevard over which we rode crossing Dead River, a famous trout stream, while en route. This boulevard runs for nearly a mile close to the water front and owing to the heavy storms and thick ice in winter, a sea wall about six feet high is necessary to protect the road. Presque Isle is a beautiful park and according to the conditions under which it was deeded to the city, it is kept as nearly in its primitive state as possible.

The Banner Register of Benton Harbor was fourteen years old last week and the Record extends felicitations to Bro. J. N. Reed who is running an excellent weekly and we wish him abundant success for at least another fourteen years.

To-Day Detroit's wide awake paper was one year old on October 1st and in commemoration thereof issued an Anniversary Number of fourteen pages. To-Day's management can look with satisfaction upon a growth that is wellnigh phenomenal.

We are in receipt of The Oaks from our neighboring village of Three Oaks. It is our old friend The Acorn after it had "evolved" and is an innovation in the staid journalism of the county. It is published in magazine form 8 columns to a page each column 9 inches in length, and is well arranged, carefully edited and neatly printed. We who still issue the 6 column quarto form, are watching with bated breath for the next evolution. The citizens of Three Oaks should appreciate the enterprise and money that the proprietors are spending in giving them a good paper.

Mr. Dudley is not only one of the best printers in the county but he has seen a longer continuous service than any other man now engaged in the business. He will make a success of his new venture and take with him the good wishes of Berrien county.

SOME GUN CLUB SCORES.

Those who are interested in reviving the old Buchanan Gun Club had a "little shoot" Tuesday morning at clay pigeons. The scene of the conflict was the base ball ground just east of town and the scores were as follows: Ed. I. Bird 3 hits out of 14 birds; Frank S. Lamb 5 hits out of 16 birds; Dr. Curtis 7 hits out of 18 birds; Chas. Snyder 8 hits out of 18 birds.

London's Passion Is Luxury.

The tendency among the British middle classes is rather to live above their incomes than within them, says an Amsterdam newspaper. There is also a passion for luxury in London and a desire to display, which seems a particularly stupid and use's desire in a huge city, where one seldom knows one's neighbors. And so, too, the cordial "pot-luck" dinners of a generation ago have given place to ceremonial champagne functions, in which a man out of dress clothes is out of place.

Dr. Stryker's Alma Mater.

W. C. Stryker, '84, writing from Hanford, Cal., encloses the following from a paper of that state, as showing the position that M. A. C. holds there: "But what we were going to say is that one of the first agricultural colleges ever established in the United States as a state institution was established in Michigan. It is a college that has won a standing in the whole country. It has a 'Michigan Agricultural College Association' at Washington, and this is made possible because in the Government Department at the capitol there are employed forty-two men and women who were graduates from that college. The demand for people in the agricultural department of the government has of course been increased by the creation of a Cabinet position known as the Secretary of Agriculture. The field of usefulness is annually widening for the educated agriculturist, however, out side of the services demanded by the general government. In the Michigan institution, which by the way, has a friend and graduate here in Hanford in the person of Dr. Stryker, the dentist, there were 652 students enrolled the last term. This shows that Michigan is up to snuff in the line of agricultural education."

Primroses Entertain.

Primrose Camp, Royal Neighbors entertained their husbands, brothers and sweethearts last Friday evening at Woodman Hall. A large number were present and a fine time enjoyed. Pleasing solos were rendered by Mrs. D. H. Bower, and Mrs. Bird Lister. The Forester team under direction of Chief Forester A. W. Roe entertained the ladies with a sample degree of the Woodman initiation which edified the audience in great shape. Refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served and each gentleman present was given a photograph of some lady present and instructed to find the original as his partner in the ice cream and cake contest. As the photos were the earliest ones taken of the ladies in question much sport was evolved in the search. After refreshments were served an enjoyable time was had with music, and social conversation until a late hour.

BALLOON ASCENSION

At the Berrien Springs Fair, Saturday, October 5.

The Fair Association has secured the services of three aeronauts of large experience, Prof. Gil Martin and wife, and Prof. Quaintance.

These aerial artists do the most perilous and daring mid-air feats known to the profession, such as the flying rings, all sorts of trapeze, rope ladder and sailor performances, including the famous cannon act. In the latter the aeronaut is placed in a cannon and is not seen again until fired from the gun up in the clouds. When the smoke clears away he is seen a long distance from the balloon descending with the parachute. Billy, the notorious fox terrier, frequently comes in for his share of the perilous work in daring leap and parachute descent. Billy has a special chute for himself and is very proud of the part he plays.

This will be one of the greatest attractions ever exhibited in Berrien Springs and the Fair Association are to be congratulated in securing it. The ascension will take place just previous to, or immediately after the races, which also promises big treat. This year's fair will certainly be the best of all.

MATRIMONIAL

MILLER-BRONSON

At 8 o'clock on the evening of September 25, J. Ellison Miller of Chicago, son of J. E. Miller of Buchanan was united in marriage to Miss Lena May, second daughter of Mr. L. S. Bronson at the home of the bride's father, three miles east of town. Mr. Robt Richards and Miss Hattie Bronson assisted the contracting parties to the altar and Elder E. R. Black pronounced the binding words, using the ring ceremony. Miss Clara Hubbell officiated at the piano. The bride was beautifully attired in a white oragdie gown and carried white roses. The bridesmaid carried white carnations and wore a blue and white organdie.

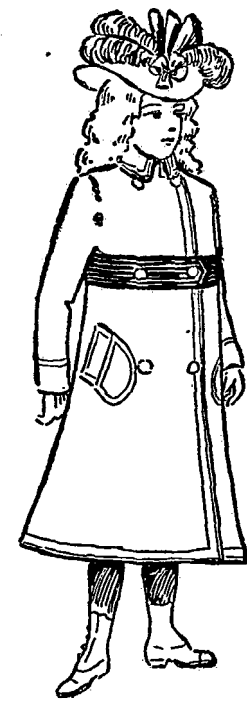

The rooms were tastefully decorated with evergreen, ferns and maple, white Chinese lanterns added to the general beauty without.

In addition to immediate relatives there were present from a distance Mrs. Cooper of Dowagiac, Mrs. M. Smith of Chicago, and Mrs. H. Miller of Three Oaks.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sewell of Niles and Misses Clara Hubbell and Mabel Lindsley served the 25 guests with a delicious luncheon. The bride received many beautiful gifts from friends present and absent. A very interesting feature of the evening but not on the printed program was the sudden disappearance of the bridal party and the most diligent search failed to discover their whereabouts. However Mr. and Mrs. Miller returned to Buchanan safely Saturday morning, and are at present arranging for the removal of their effects to Chicago where they will reside. Their many friends will wish them a happy voyage on the matrimonial sea.

BEAUTY OF AN EMPRESS

Was Maintained at an Outlay of $220,000 Annually.

The Empress Josephine of France was allowed at the beginning of her reign $72,000 a year for her toilet, and later this was increased to $90,000. But there was never a year during the time that she did not far overreach her allowance and oblige the emperor to come to her relief. According to the estimate Mason has made, Josephine spent on an average $220,000 yearly on her toilet during her reign. It is only by going over her wardrobe article by article and noting the cost and number of each piece that one can realize how a woman could spend this amount. Take the simple item of her hose—which were almost always white silk, often richly embroidered or in openwork. She kept 150 or more pairs on hand, and they cost from $4 to $8 a pair. She employed two hairdressers—one for every day at $1,200 a year; the other for great occasions, at $2,000 a year; and she paid them each from $1,000 to $2,000 a year for furnishings. It was the same for all the smaller items of her toilet.

DID NOT TELL SCHLEY

Admiral Did Not Know the Location of the Spanish Fleet.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Captain W. C. Wise, who commanded the scout Yale during the war with Spain, was on the witness stand in the Schley inquiry during most of the time and testified that he did not inform Commander Schley that the Spanish fleet was in Santiago harbor, notwithstanding the fact that he had positive orders from the secretary of the navy to so notify every vessel of the flying squadron. Captain Wise notified Captain Philip of the Texas just as the flying squadron was starting for Key West to coal, and so far as was developed this important fact was not communicated to Schley.

After Wise had been excused Admiral Cotton was recalled and asked to relate a conversation on the morning of May 31 when he went on board Schley's flagship to deliver dispatches. He said: "He informed me that it had been ascertained that some, at least, of the ships of Admiral Cervera's squadron were within the harbor of Santiago; that they had been seen and were in sight, and, as a matter of fact, one of them was then in sight at the entrance to the harbor. In language as nearly as I can remember he said: 'After dinner I am going to hoist my flag on board the Massachusetts, and take her and the Iowa and go in and have a pot shot at those fellows.'"

Washington, Sept. 28.—During the examination of Lieutenant John Hood, who commanded the Hawk during the Spanish war, the navy department in the Schley case desired to prove that Hood delivered verbal instructions from Sampson to Schley in addition to written instructions, and the court decided to admit the testimony to prove the same. Schley was then at Cienfuegos and Sampson had sent him a dispatch which read: "Spanish squadron probably at Santiago—four ships and three torpedo-boat destroyers. If you are satisfied that they are not at Cienfuegos proceed with all dispatch, but cautiously, to Santiago, and if the enemy is there blockade him in port, etc."

The Schley counsel objected vigorously to the introduction of evidence of a verbal instruction which would convict the applicant of disregarding the orders of his superior officer, the commander-in-chief; while the department desired also to get in the conversation Hood had with Sampson at the time he was given the orders. This conversation was ruled out.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Captain James M. Miller, who commanded the collier Merrimac off Santiago in May, 1898, gave testimony before the Schley court of inquiry yesterday calculated to throw light on the contention of Admiral Schley that he could not coal his ships in those waters the week before the sea fight. Briefly he said he could have coaled them, but it would not have been an easy task. He especially did not like to coal battleships because of their roll—in all weather; not only in a rough sea. He produced his log, which showed that he had coaled ships both before and after the date when Schley said it was necessary to go to Key West to coal.

But Captain Robley D. Evans, who was next called, was the star witness of the day—and this without reference to who was hit by his testimony; it was the straight, sharp way he gave it, as well as its pertinence to the issues. He said he was captain of the Iowa in May, 1898, and joined Schley at Cienfuegos the 22d of that month. He carried sealed dispatches to Schley, but denied all knowledge of their contents.

"What was done by Admiral Schley's flying squadron to ascertain if the Spanish fleet was at Santiago?" asked Captain Lemly.

"Nothing that I know of," said Evans briskly, and went on to say that the shore batteries were in range of the Iowa's guns, but that no order was received to open fire.

Evans described the attack on the Spanish vessel Colon. He saw the Massachusetts' shells fall short, and elevated the Iowa's guns until they fired at a range of 11,500 yards. One shot fell near the stem of the Colon, but no damage was done.

"Why did you not take the Iowa nearer the Colon?" asked Captain Lemly.

"Because my instructions were to follow the flagship," answered Evans. On the question as to coaling the admiral agreed with the other testimony given—that it could have been done off Santiago.

HAS A MONTH TO LIVE

Czolgosz Sentenced to Die in the Electric Chair Next Month.

Buffalo, Sept. 27.—Leon F. Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley, was yesterday sentenced to die in the electric chair in Auburn state prison during the week beginning Oct. 28, 1901. Before sentence was passed the assassin evinced a desire to speak, but he could not get his voice above a whisper, and his words were repeated to the court by his counsel. "There was no one else but me," the prisoner said in a whisper. "No one else told me to do it, and no one paid me to do it. I was not told anything about the crime, and I never thought anything about that until a couple of days before I committed the crime."

Czolgosz then sat down. He was quite calm, but it was evident that his mind was flooded with thoughts of his own distress. At this point Judge Titus came over to the prisoner and bade him good-by. Czolgosz replied very faintly, letting his eye rest upon the man who has been his counsel.

"Good-by," he said weakly. Czolgosz was then hurried down stairs and through the "tunnel of sobs" to the jail, where he will remain until removed to Auburn to pay the penalty for his crime.

Sheriff Caldwell and sixteen men left at 10:06 p. m. yesterday with Czolgosz for Auburn prison. Auburn, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Czolgosz, the assassin, en route here chatted with his guards, smoked cigars and said he was sorry he had killed the president; that he would not have done it if he had not been out of his senses. Up to his arrival in the prison he kept up his courage, but after passing the threshold he screamed, groaned and utterly collapsed, so far as nerve is concerned. He recovered his nerve later and was the same apparently indifferent man he had previously been.

Gloves and Their Care.

If the French woman devotes more time to one part of her toilet than to another it may be said that the gloves receive that attention. The care taken with this article of dress perhaps is largely responsible for her fresh appearance. One should be careful about the length of the fingers, for nothing spoils the appearance of a gloved hand more quickly than fingers that wrinkle from tip to base, showing room to spare in the length. Quite as bad a fault is the finger that is too short, for then the whole hand is deformed. With the thumb kept out for the last, have the fingers fitted and worked gently down from the front and back. Never push the glove down between the fingers; if there is ever a difference in the weight of the material it is there that the thinnest parts are placed. The glove as it should look on the hand is without wrinkles, "fits like a glove," smoothly in every place, and yet permitting the free use of the fingers.—Chicago News.

Short Talks on Advertising

By Charles Austin Bates.

Every advertisement that goes into a newspaper ought to contain some definite information.

People are hungry for knowledge. It is an inquisitive age. The advertiser who supplies the most pertinent information will get the most trade, other things being equal. Every advertisement should tell the why of something. If a price is low—why? If a quality is excellent—why? If better nutmegs come from Connecticut than Indiana—why? Give a reason for everything.

The small boy of to-day opens his drum to see where the noise comes from and what makes it. He dissects his watch to find the "tick."

Men are only boys grown up.

It is easy enough to make an advertisement interesting if one only thinks a little. The advertising of the future will always be so.

Advertisements are read more now than ten years ago, because they are more readable. The advertisements of many stores contain as fine writing and is as intensely entertaining as any other column in the papers.

"Men are only boys grown up."

Tell something—tell it true, and in the best papers—and it will pay every time.

"People are hungry for knowledge. It is an inquisitive age."

Advertising is becoming more and more honest every day. It pays better every day. When people really understand that advertising is a necessary and legitimate part of every business, that it is merely a store bulletin, it will pay still better.

It is facts that people want. I have heard a merchant say:

"Oh, it don't pay to advertise because people don't believe the ads. Mr. So-and-So always lies in his ads, and people measure us by his standard."

He was wrong, of course. People soon find out the truth-telling place, and trade gravitates that way with absolute certainty.

Tell something—tell it true, and in the best papers—and it will pay every time.

POULTRY

Editorial Notes and Comments.

BOTH CAPITAL AND EXPERIENCE.

The poultry business is not a sick man's job. The person who is unable to endure considerable hard work need not hope to succeed in handling fowls, whether for pleasure or profit, or both, unless he can have some one to do the work for him. Entirely too many have the opinion that any old place, kept any old way will do for hens. This is far from the fact. Keeping poultry for profit is a business much like live-stock-keeping of any kind. It requires capital, strength and experience to succeed. Strength, coupled with experience, will succeed better without the capital than will capital alone. Too many hold the opinion that all they need to do is to go into the business and sit down and let the hen do the rest. On such ventures, sickness and lice usually get the whole outfit, and the business the blame for the loss. Good common sense, health and experience, combined with enough capital to carry on the plant, will succeed and pay a good percent profit, provided all three are well applied. Often the same methods used in a bank, on a farm or in a store that are applied to the hen business would make any or all of them a failure. The man, the methods and the capital usually combine to make or break any business, and it is just the same with poultry.

GOOD FOR GAGES.—It is said that oil of sassafras will destroy the gape worm if introduced into the wind pipe, where it is lodged. Not more than a drop or two should be placed in the windpipe from the end of a straw. It is easy to try, and the results in one chick that is afflicted will prove its efficiency. Oil of sassafras is also good for head lice on young chicks, if used carefully. Another cure for gages is to put the chicks that are affected with the ailment into a small box, tie or hold some muslin over the box, put some fine slaked lime on the cloth, and rap it gently so that the fine lime will sift through on to the chicks. It is said that this will make the young chickens sneeze and throw up the gape-worms. Both can easily be tried. When tried it is well to use caution at first, and watch results.

SNAKE DESTROYER.—They have at Elmwood Farm, N. J., a tiger-striped cat that is an open enemy to snakes. He has killed seventeen so far this summer, among them a black snake about four feet long. He hunts for them both day and night. When he catches them, they show the most evident fear for their heads, curling them under their bodies, as if to save from injury. The first grab must injure the spine of the snakes caught, for when brought to the house—which is always done—they do not seem to have the power to coil or strike. The cat does not show any inclination to eat the snakes, though he is as a cat can be.

NAMING FOWLS.—The early naming of fowl followed the country from which the fowls came; as with the Shanghai, the Cochins, the Java, the Leghorn and the Hamburg. In some instances confusion followed. We of this country are duplicating and adding to our breeds so very fast that some set rule for naming should be adopted. If possible, the application of the same title or name to any two varieties or breeds should be avoided. While the name or title may be of importance to a few, it is of but little consideration to the many. At the same time it is ridiculous to the majority to have the names of the fowls and of the several fowls themselves only distinguished, one from the other, by the style of comb, or with reference to the shanks having feathers or not.

WHY NEGLECTED?—Almost all of the many varieties of turkeys have been neglected for the Bronze, which is today the most generally bred. In chickens, we have breeds and varieties. When it is found that one kind will not do well in any locality.

Why is it not the same with turkeys? Why do not some of our readers, who have so much trouble with their young turkeys, purchase a setting of turkey eggs of the several kinds, hatch and rear them all together, and see which will do the best? If this were done, less trouble would be experienced in the culture. More attention should be given to the study of local influences on all of our livestock.

DOMINIQUE COLOR.—With us, the black and white, or grey and blue barring was called Dominique color;

in England it is called cuckoo color. The English and Cuckoo Cochins and Dorking, also Cuckoo Bantam of several kinds, all of which come as the result of crossing black with white fowls. There is well under way, in this country, a strain of what are called Cuckoo Cochins Bantams, which have come from the black and white Cochins Bantams. These little fowls have the shape of the Cochins Bantams and the color of the Dominique or Plymouth Rock. They must attract considerable attention as a novelty, as have the Scotch Grey on the other side. These Bantams have been bred by a few breeders in England. Some of very inferior quality were brought to this country a few years ago, but they attracted very little attention; from the fact that the quality was bad. It might be reasonably supposed that when they are brought forward, in even a fairly good quality, they must prove attractive, as well as popular, among those who love the little Bantams. In addition to their being a novelty, this new variety are most prolific layers, and the eggs they yield are more than usually fertile; both are the results of the recent crossing of the two varieties, to gain the cuckoo barring. They also have in England a cuckoo colored Bantam that is shaped very much like the Rose Comb Bantam, and quite as stylish. A few of these were brought to America about a year ago, and have attracted some attention under the name of Plymouth Rock Bantams. The same Bantam in England is called the Scotch Grey Bantam.

The Uses and Value of Green Bone.

In early December about six years ago, I first noticed in the columns of my agricultural journal an advertisement of a "green-bone cutter," stating that said cutter could be easily manipulated, and that green bone was the best of egg-foods.

I had theretofore in different seasons and at wide intervals pounded up fresh bones and found the fowls very eager consumers of them, but the process was so tedious and unsatisfactory that I had never continued the feeding regularly enough to effect any noticeable change in egg production.

At this time, only about one-sixth of my fowls were laying. They had large warm quarters, good plenty of exercise and good food. They looked healthy and were mostly the spring's hatch. I had already decided to try some-egg food, and the literature from this green-bone cutter company seemed based on hard "horse" sense. I could get fresh bones from the butcher in town for a mere trifle.

Ere the end of a fortnight I had concluded that the bone-cutter was the proper thing and acted accordingly. When the machine came, it was immediately installed, grinding its stint that noon and every second morning thereafter through the winter and spring and fall during moulting. On use, I found it valuable for several things besides egg-production. But first of all I learned that the large beef shank bones did not pay to cut when others were plentiful owing to the great wear on the machine knives.

A too generous feed of bone, I discovered later, caused fowl disease. Also it should not be fed clear. Feed it with some coarse food, as cut clover or bran. My preference is to mix it in a mash of the latter.

On Candlemas day over 60 percent of my fowls were laying, against a scant 17 percent forty days earlier. About two weeks after the first spring hatch came off, I thought to try it on the chicks, and found by grinding it as fine as possible, which is not necessary in feeding grown fowls, they would eat it ravenously.

The first year it was fed to alter nate broods. In the fall I found that those fed with it were stronger in frame, not troubled with leg-weakness and the pullets earlier layers than those not having it as chicks.

It is now my choice to feed it to all my chicks from the first to the fourteenth week. During the moulting season I feed it regularly to all year old birds and find it stimulates and invigorates the fowls sufficiently to reduce the "moulting languor" period a full week.

From my experience therefore I can not speak too highly of green bone, but not until one has tried it can one have a proper conception of its real value. And like everything of real value it can be misused and overused.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Items Which Are of Special Interest to Our Readers.

Happenings Throughout the State Received by Telegraph and Put in Type.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 30.—Prof. L. A. Harreden, who conducts a "correspondence school of hypnotism" in this city, is interested in the arrest in New York, of an alleged graduate of his school on a charge of placing a girl under a hypnotic spell and then abducting her. The alleged abductor's name is Bartolo Capuano, and his victim is 15-year-old Emilia Cibelli.

Testimonial from the New York Sun. The New York Sun says: "If half of what Emilia says is true Svengali wasn't in it with Bartolo as a first-class hypnotist. Bartolo is a barber. The Gerry agent searched Bartolo's room and found a diploma of elaborate design from Professor L. A. Harreden's correspondence school of 'hypnotism,' Jackson, Mich. It certifies that Bartolo is a 'perfect hypnotist; that he is fully competent to give hypnotic exhibitions, cure diseases and teach the art of hypnotism.' In witness of all this, Professor Harreden has attached thereto a printed facsimile of his own signature as well as the beautiful golden seal of his college."

Miss Cibelli Adds Her Certificate. Miss Cibelli says that it was five weeks ago since she first fell under Bartolo's spell. She says she was completely under his hypnotic sway, and had to do whatever he commanded. She couldn't even tell her father as to her whereabouts when she stayed out late at night. Every time she opened her lips she saw the barber's eyes fastened upon her out of blank space, and they were sealed. The spell was broken the other day, and as soon as the girl's father heard her story he caused Bartolo's arrest.

Prof. Harreden Alone Is Skeptical. Professor Harreden is unable to find Bartolo's name among his list of graduates, but he says undoubtedly the man had a certificate from his school. He expressed the belief, however, that the story is simply a newspaper yarn. "It is impossible," he said, "to hypnotize a person against his will, and if the girl had been hypnotized it was simply because she wanted to be, and she told the story as related to shield herself. No person under a hypnotic spell can be compelled to do a criminal act."

ROBBED THE PEOPLE'S BANK.

Bold Burglars Get $300 Before They Leave on the Run.

Bloomington, Mich., Sept. 27.—The People's bank, owned by S. B. Monroe, was robbed of $300 Monday night. The burglars had blown open the door of the outer safe and were at work on the money chest when they became frightened at the appearance of a Mr. Harrison at the window of his residence, opposite the bank, and fled. They secured the $300 from the outer compartment of the safe.

The money chest contained a couple of thousand dollars. Harrison says that when he appeared at the window one of the gang, who was on watch, threatened to blow up his house with a stick of dynamite if he made a move. His appearance frightened the robbers, however, and they soon abandoned the job.

Attempt on an ex-Judge's Life.

Cassopolis, Mich., Sept. 30.—Ex-Judge H. D. Smith was Saturday night shot in the throat by an unknown person. Smith had been in Chicago on legal business, and was returning on the Grand Trunk. Just before reaching South Bend a bullet smashed the window where he was sitting, cutting a gash in Mr. Smith's throat. No clew to the miscreant. The wound is serious, but not necessarily fatal.

State Fair on the Boom.

Pontiac, Mich., Sept. 27.—A seething mass of people poured through the main building at the state fair all yesterday and all seemed deeply interested in the displays. Northern Michigan has come down to Pontiac with the bountiful products of their orchards. Alpena, Cheboygan, Emmett, Charlevoix, Oceana, Grand Traverse and Marquette counties have fine exhibits.

Carrie Is Not in Demand.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 27.—Carrie Nation's manager has written the Washtenaw County Fair association, making a proposition for her appearance here during the event. He wants $100 to exhibit her, and pledges that no saloons will be smashed if the money is forthcoming. However, Carrie's sentiments on the shooting of President McKinley have made her persona non grata here.

Two Bodies Identified.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 28.—The bodies of two of the crew of the Hudson, cast up on the beach on the east side of Leveena Point, at Little Travers Bay, have been identified. One is identified as the body of Donald Glass by a pass book in the pocket. The other is unknown, but evidently a cook, as it still had on a cook's apron. The bodies were taken to Lake Linden.

Arrested as a Firebug.

Allegan, Mich., Sept. 28.—During the past few months several mysterious fires have occurred in Allegan. Most of them were believed to be of incendiary origin, and last Monday Harry Ross, a local painter, was arrested on the charge of arson. He waived examination before a justice and in default of $5,000 bail is in jail awaiting trial at the October term of the circuit court.

His Attempt Probably Successful.

Hillsdale, Mich., Oct. 1.—John Riley, aged 29 years, attempted to end his life with a revolver. Riley had just returned from Buffalo. He stepped into the back yard of his home and fired a shot from his revolver, evidently to test it. A few seconds later he turned the muzzle of the weapon against his abdomen and pulled the trigger again. He will probably die.

STILL HOPES FOR THE JUPITER.

Believes the Missing Craft Well Turned Up All Right Yet.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 28.—W. D. Brown says he was shipwrecked on the missing steamer Jupiter thirty years ago and was reported lost. He was missing fifteen days before his friends heard from him. Jupiter had weathered the gale and found shelter on the Canadian shore. He believes that history will repeat itself in the present instance and that Jupiter is safe; also her owner, W. D. Ragan.

Captain Hansen, of Jupiter, who took to the yawl with his family, and Mate Oleson, says that before he left the schooner Ragan went into the cabin and, borrowing a pencil from Mrs. Hansen, wrote a letter to his wife. This letter, with his eye glasses and money, he put into a small glass jar and corked it tightly. He then put it into a pall of water to ascertain if it would float, as it proved to do. He then wrapped a piece of canvas around it, explaining that the canvas was to protect the jar in the event that it was washed against the rocks. He doesn't know when Ragan set it adrift. This letter was picked up near Warton, Ont., last Saturday.

RUNNING FIGHT WITH THUGS.

One Satisfactory Result Is That There Will Be One Thing Less Soon.

Armada, Mich., Sept. 30.—Three burglars broke into the general store of D. H. Barrows, where the postoffice is located, early Saturday and dynamited the safe. The explosion awakened the town and a number of citizens was soon on the street. In the battle which followed one of the burglars was fatally wounded. He gives his name as John Graham, and says his father lives at 112 Root street, Cleveland. The burglars left the store and started for the railroad track after several shots had been fired into them by citizens.

A running fight ensued, in which Graham was wounded. His companions carried him after he fell, and all three started down the track on a hand-car. Lenox, the next station on the road, was notified, and a posse of deputies was waiting when the hand-car came in sight. When they discovered the officers the unwounded men took to the woods, leaving Graham on the car. They escaped after a running fight with the officers, in which many shots were fired. The men secured no booty in the Armada postoffice. John Graham died yesterday.

Juror Who Inspires Confidence.

Owosso, Mich., Sept. 27.—There is a peculiar circumstance in the trial of the slander suit of Lafayette McDevitt vs. James Hell. Supervisor Warren Jarred, of Antrim township, who was subpoenaed as a witness in the case, is also a member of the jury which is trying the case. The attorneys on both sides have such confidence in Jarred that they allowed him to stay on the jury.

Baby Had Bled to Death.

Frankfort, Mich., Sept. 28.—Rosa P. Smith, of Howell, a guest at the National hotel, gave birth to a child. The hotel proprietor, upon her non-appearance for breakfast, broke into her room and found the infant in a satchel. Investigation by the coroner's jury showed that it had been born alive and that the child had bled to death.

Fire in a Leather Factory.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 30.—Fire broke out in the drying and curing building of the Grand Rapids Leather company, at Mill Creek, four miles north of this city, on Grand river, at 1:30 Saturday morning and destroyed it and a large stock of cured leather and machinery. The loss is estimated at $100,000, partly insured.
