There is some significance from a socialogical point of view, in the census bulletin on the manufacture of alcohol and alocholic liquors. The figures show that the actual value of alcoholic liquors intended to be used as beverage is declining, although an increasing production is shown for alcohol and the liquors in to which it enters. From the report it looks as though the American people are each year using a relatively smaller amount of alcoholic liquors as an intoxicating beverage.

Mrs. J. Godfrey Struck by the Mail Bag Thrown from the Fast Mail.

Mrs. J. Godfrey the popular ticket agent at the Michigan Central depot had a very narrow escape Monday evening As the fast mail train was going past the station at a very rapid rate, Mrs. Godfrey was going from her home to the station, when the mail bag thrown from the car struck her on the back and shoulders; she saw the bag coming but not in time to save herself. ·

It is not the usual practice to throw the bag at this point but a little further on hence Mrs Godfrey was not looking for it.

Dr. Peck was called and found the patient suffering terribly, the eatire pody was bruised but, fortunately no bones were broken. The Dr, found it necessary to give an opiate and yes terday reported that while she is sufering great pain there is no present indication of more serious nature.

With Awful Possibilities in Unexplored Entries is the Mine Disaster Story.

FOURTEEN LIVED THROUGH IT ALL

But One Died as He Reached the Light of the Sun.

Brave Men Face Death to Rescue the Living and Recover the Dead and See Terrible Sights.

Johnstown, Pa., July 12.—It can be stated that of the 600 men supposed to have entered the month of the Rolling Mill mine Thursday ninety are known to be dead and twenty-two rescued. Four hundred escaped, leaving eighty-eight still to be accounted for. Some of these are alive, but the majority is believed to have been killed. . There are said to be at least fifty-two bodies yet in the mine, making the total death roll 142.

Johnstown, Pa., July 11.—Yesterday was a day of heroic rescues at the fated Rolling Mill mine of the Cambria Steel company. Thrilling experiences attended the efforts of the forty brave and daring fellows who went down into the bowels of the earth with a very faint hope to spur them that still they might be in time to restore to life some of those who are entombed. Death lurked everywhere around them, but undaunted they went forward, swayed with the noblest of human purposes. The reward of their efforts was the saving of the lives of fourteen of their fellow men. Dead and mutilated bobdies were located, but no effort was made to bring them out of the vast theater of death until it was certain that nothing except dead were in the mine. Eighty-Seven Dead Brought Up.

Eighty-seven dead bodies were recovered from the mine between daylight and nightfall. Still a party of officials and miners battled on, three miles inside the mine. Occasionally word would come to the surface by some mysterious means that another heap of remains had been found. There remain dangerous headings in the Klondike section of the mine vet to be explored. No one knows how many more dead bodies will be found there. The mine officials refrain from guess work on the subject. The impression prevails among the outsiders and certain employes of the mine that 150 is a low estimate of the casualty list. Work of Rescue Was Difficult.

It is difficult to picture with any degree approaching its full worth the work of rescue and the attending scenes and incidents of the day-how brave men went into the jaws of death in its mest horrible form, encountered their fellows transformed into raving maniacs by hours of waiting in the pitch darkness, lifted them moaning from their beds of fallen rock, and then, bending and crawling on all fours, carried them a quarter of a mile underground to where cars could be reached to take them outside.

STARTLED BY MANIAC LAUGHS Where the First Living Victim Was Found

-How They Saved Themselves. It was in No. 4 left heading that the first life was found. The rescuers here were suddenly startled by maniacal laughs which emanated from a blackened form that rushed at them out of the darkness. The man grasped firmly a pick handle and tried in his frenzy to beat down his rescuers. He was overpowered and dragged back to the main heading to the cars. Thirteen other living men were found in this chamber, and physicians were quickly taken to the spot. At 3 p. m. eight of them were at the surface and half an hour later the other six were also outside, but one died just as he reached sunlight. At that time three more headings believed to be filled with the dead were unsearched. Thirty-nine bodies were lying within reach of the main heading. These were brought out at 4:35 p.m. The bodies were piled high in the coal cars and covered with canvas. These remains were in a terrible state, showing that there had been slow death in each case. One of the men had his mouth and nose tied about by a towel. The rest of his face was burned beyond recognition. The bodies of all were twisted in horrible shapes, most of the arms being crooked so as to shield the face. The only one | Hugo a majority of 4. The court held who could be identified at the pit mouth was Fire Boss Joseph Tomlin-

One of the volunteer rescuers who came out with this load of dead stated that fire was raging in parts of the mine that would take some time to quell. Most of those who were brought out alive had saved themselves by crawling into a chamber and turning the functions of a casualty bureau for a valve on the compressed air pipe line the Boer forces, the total losses of the which runs along the entry. One man was found dead with his hands clutched so tightly about a monkey wrench that it could not be removed.

TOTAL KNOWN DEAD NINETY.

Names of Some of Them, and of Part of Those Rescued Alive. At this writing the number of known dead is ninety; number of injured in hospitals, eighteen; number of injured who were able to go home, four. The names of only nine of those rescued alive yesterday can be ascertained! They are: Jacob Oivic, John Dudko, John Ihilka, Joseph Pal, A. M. Kahler, Vichi Kahler, George Salla, Albert Shepa and John Kanuskic. At the conclusion of the day's work Mine Superintendent Robinson was asked what the plans were for continuing the work of getting out all of the bodies. He said: "We will work night of King Edward will take place beand day and will not stop so long as there is a single body in the mine. The fact that the fire damp is all out of the mine now will facilitate the work." Robinson added: "The disaster was not due to any special amount of gas in the mine. That is shown by the little damage done to the property. The explosion seems to have produced an unusual amount of fire damp that I cannot account for. There is not a mine car in the workings that is damaged or broken. Usually in such an accident as this cars are wrecked and burned. The mules used for moving the cars from the different rooms to the leads were all dead."

Robinson would not discuss the presence of gas in the mine, beyond saying that it was never considered sufficient to give alarm. The company had five fire bosses and one assistant employed continually, and had taken every precaution to prevent disaster. He had never heard any of the men express fear of accident, and did not think statements to the contrary were reliable or correctly reported. State Mine Inspector Evans is also puzzled at so slight an explosion proving so deadly. He says the damage to the mine is not more than $25,

The official list of the bodies identified up to this hour included the following: John RoThomas, Sr., 60, labor boss, of School Place; John C. Whitney, fire boss; William Blanch, assistant foreman; Joseph Tomlinson, fire boss; William Lees, Daniel Lees, Michael McCann, Phillip McCann, John Cook, Frank Chestnut, John Sadler, John Holly and Thomas Bishop. There are also fifty-eight Poles in the list. EDUCATORS HAVE ADJOURNED

All Attempts to Settle the Freight Handlers' Strike Seem Doomed to Failure.

RAILWAYS SAY THEY ARE READY

To Take All Freight That Comes, and and That It Is Up the Shippers Now.

Chicago, July 15.—Negotiations for the settlement of the freight handlers' strike came to naught shortly after noon yesterday, and President Curran declared that the strike was still in force. At 3 p. m. President Curran said there would be no more committees sent to confer with the railroad managers. "If the managers wish to negotiate further," said Curran, "they must come to us." Indications that a settlement would be reached continued to be bright until after the general managers had held a meeting in the Monadnock block. Managers Call on the Shippers.

At their meeting the railway managers remained of the mind that 17 cents is a proper compromise between the 16 cents paid and the 18 cents asked originally by the truckers. This unanimity of opinion among the managers is taken in explanation of the failure of the conferences which followed. Of the managers' meeting F. A. Delano, of the Burlington, said: "We discussed the situation at length. We talked tentatively of the wage problem. We consider that we have performed our full duty to the public. Our freight houses are manned and we are ready to do business. If the Lord Salisbury's Public Services men want to go back to work they can do so. It is up to the people who have goods to ship to get them to the freight houses. That is the way we look at the situation."

Why the Shippers Don't Ship. But that is where the difficulty comes in. Here is a specimen of the a wagon to deliver goods to the railsafety there is for any one who drives ways: A driver in a light wagon succeeded in delivering two small packages to the Santa Fe. When it became apparent to the striking pickets that New Chinese Minister Appointed to he was headed for the warehouse they made a rush for him. A squad of policemen came to the rescue and the driver reached the warehouse in safety. "Better come inside, where you'll be safe," one of the non-union freight handlers advised. Several hours later the wagon still stood empty where the ship of Great Britain, and Right Hon. driver had left it. The latter remained A. J. Balfour, the first lord of the Forty-five meetings of the depart- in the warehouse, while pickets guard- treasury and government leader in the

Gov. Yates Becomes Interested. Two telegrams received from Governor Yates by F. W. Job, chairman of the state board of arbitration, read as follows: The first-"Tender services of the state board of arbitration in the freight handlers' strike." The second -- "Lose no time in tendering impartial services of your board. Complaints are numerous that perishable goods are being lost." On receipt of the second telegram Chairman Job immediately set out to visit the teamsters, the freight handlers and the railway managers. The entire state board of arbitration is in Chicago today.

After the conference had adjourned to return to work in order to prevent the total loss of several hundred cars of fruit that is lying on the sidings.

The strike reached the rioting stage last evening, and it was only after the police had charged on the crowd repeatedly and arrested eleven men this last great statesman of the Victhat a semblance of order was restored. Night policemen who were sent with two teams from the Western Electric company to the St. Paul freight house at Carroll avenue and Union street were unable to extricate the drivers from the pocket into which they were forced by angry teamsters. A riot call sent to the stations was responded to by several wagonloads of an interview with Chamberlain and patrolmen, and after a fierce conflict with the obstructing crowd the wagons were rescued and the drivers, bruised by missiles, were able to reach a place of safety. Charges of bad faith are made by Secretary Driscoll, of the Chicago arbitration board, against President Curran, of the freight handlers. Driscoll says that is was fully understood night before last that the men were to ask 17½ cents an hour. Later, after the committees had met the managers, it was found that the committees had demanded 18 cents. The men made the demand under the approval of Curran, whose idea was to demand 18 cents and then if the managers objected to come down to 171/2. But it had been arranged that only 171/2 was to be demanded; this was what the Chicago arbitrators informed the managers. "That puts us in a nice position before the railroad managers," said Secretary Driscoll, bitterly. "President Curran has broken faith with us and has gone squarely back on his word.'
