The Rice-Belt of Louisiana and Texas.

The story of the "rice belt," which extends four hundred miles through southern and central Louisiana and southeastern Texas, from the banks of the Mississippi to beyond the Brazos river, varying in width from twenty to fifty miles is not unlike the story of wheat-growing Kansas. Here also is the prairie, with its scrubby vegetation which pastured the few herds of cattle and ponies owned by the natives, who little realized its possibilities. In fact, the great natural reservoir which lies beneath was only discovered by accident, after the pioneer Western settlers, by some freak of fortune, had ventured into the country, determined to discover what elements of wealth lay beneath the sod. Quick to perceive that the rice plant flourished even with the crude and scanty cultivation it received, they abandoned the intention of raising other grains, but applied methods to which they were accustomed in preparing the soil, seeding, and nurturing. Water they collected in reservoirs dug with plough and shovel. Their efforts were rewarded by harvests so abundant as to repay them in spite of the frequent failure of the reservoirs and the loss of a year's work by drought. The method of irrigation was changed; the native growers emulated their example, and discarded the primitive modes they had followed. The magnet of success attracted settlers not only from the middle west, but from far-away New England and New York, and even the hardy Swede and Norwegian from Minnesota. Just as clusters of cabins in Kansas and Nebraska have become towns and cities, and tract after tract of range land has been converted into an island sea of waving grain by the tide of humanity flowing out upon the plains from the East, so this Southern soil has been taken up and is being changed from one of the great waste places of the continent into a center of productivity.—From "The New Rice-Farming in the South," by Day Allen Willey, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for August.

During the stay of Mr. and Mrs. Murphy they ingratiated themselves into the hearts of those they met convincing them they were all they appeared. Mr. Murphy is interested in oil wells in Texas and we understand is disposing of some valuable oil stock in our community. He has some expectation of seeing us again on his return from Mt. Clements.

Crystal Springs Camp Meeting. An annual meeting for both physical and spiritual profit, is what the Crystal Springs camp meeting has proved itself to be. The meeting begins this year August 1 and is in session for 10 days. Some of the strong men of the M. E. Church will be there and it can not fail to be a place of improvement for body, mind and soul.

Band Concert. The crowd, the proper atmospheric conditions and the boys in good trim, combined to make the band concert Friday evening a fine success. It was a noticeable improvement to have a band stand for the boys, rather than their having the inconvenience of standing while playing. The boys are playing decidedly well considering the short time they have been practicing and the organization will be of constantly increasing value to our village.

Mrs. W. H. Miller of Chicago who has been very ill with appendicitis and who has undergone three operations, came to Buchanan Saturday morning to recover her health, spending her time with her father Mr. Martin. She was accompanied by her sister Miss Lillian Martin and by her physician Dr. Lamb.

ONE HOUSE LESS. To Make Room for a Better One. Fred M. Smith painter and decorator has purchased from Mrs. Geo. Searles the lots on the corner of Oak street and Dewey avenue. He has torn down at once the little old house on the corner and will then grade the lot taking from the higher ground and filling in on Oak street, making the lot 2 or 3 feet higher than the side walk. He will dig a cellar where the old house stood and move the house next to it on Oak street on the new foundation and improve the house for his residence. It will be a beautiful location and when Mr. Smith has completed his improvements he will have a home that will be a comfort to him and that the village may feel proud of. Let the good work proceed, who will be the next to be heard from?

Gone to Mt. Clements. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Murphy of Texas who have been sojourning in our midst for several months have gone to Mt. Clements on account of Mr. Murphy's health. When he came here, about the first part of June he was just recovering from a very severe spell of typhoid fever, and owing to the very rainy season his stay here did not seem to prove as beneficial as he expected it would, so he will try Mt. Clements for a while.

Crystal Springs Camp Meeting. An annual meeting for both physical and spiritual profit, is what the Crystal Springs camp meeting has proved itself to be. The meeting begins this year August 1 and is in session for 10 days. Some of the strong men of the M. E. Church will be there and it can not fail to be a place of improvement for body, mind and soul.

AGAINST THE NURSE

Famous Smith-Dibble Insurance Case has Been Decided by Judge Coolidge

CREDITORS WILL BE PAID

The Smith-Dibble life insurance suit has just been decided by Judge Coolidge. Dr. N. H. Smith, a well known physician of Niles died last April and just previous to his death he transferred all his property to Mrs. Nellie House, a pretty nurse at the hospital, and who was a favorite of the doctors. He also transferred to Mrs. House a large portion of his life insurance which was originally intended for his wife and daughter.

Not satisfied with cutting his wife and daughter out of his will, he drove them from his home. Shortly after he had made Mrs. House his beneficiary he found that the lodges would not pay the insurance money to other than a relative of the deceased and he made Mrs. Hannah Dibble, a country cousin, beneficiary on two policies of $3,000 each.

In the decision which he has just handed down, Judge Coolidge finds that the $6,000 was given Mrs. Dibble with the understanding that all of the creditors should be paid, and the court orders that 50 per cent of this money be divided among the creditors of the deceased at once, and that the remainder be held in abeyance pending the outcome of a suit which has been commenced by Mrs. Minnie Blodgett, who alleges that she was in the service of the deceased for several years and that the latter made her his beneficiary in an insurance policy for $3,000, and that she never received any recompense for her services, the agreement being that when the doctor came to die she was to receive the insurance but that the policy was conveyed to another just previous to the death of Mr. Smith.

The wife of Dr. Smith, who was in very frail health when the suit was commenced a year ago, died a few months later. The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Smith, Mrs. F. R. Harman, now resides in New York City. Five thousand dollars of life insurance which was left to Mrs. Smith became the property of Mrs. Harman upon the death of her mother.—St. Joseph Press.

TITLE A LITERARY ASSET.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's New One Booms "The Hound of the Baskervilles."

How much a title still counts for in this democratic country may be guessed at from the increased demand for Conan Doyle's latest novel, "The Hound of the Baskervilles," since the author was knighted. The public libraries in New York report the novel at the top of the list in the number of demands. This would not in itself prove that any interest in the author's new title had influence in the matter, but the fact seems conclusive when it is known that about half of those inquiring about the novel asked for "the new novel by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle." "The Hound of the Baskervilles," was shown on the general list of reports from booksellers in all parts of the country to be the best selling book last month. Since the revival of Sherlock Holmes, his creator has had many letters demanding further exploits and suggesting the nature of them. Several of the cases suggested are actual murder mysteries of past years which still remain unsolved. Some of Dr. Doyle's correspondents (presumably of the gentler sex) call loudly for a love story of which Sherlock Holmes shall be the hero. It is said, however, that the distinguished, author thoroughly distrusts his ability to handle love interests, and prefers to deal with models of a different kind.

ROAD ON NEW BASIS

New Management Is Improving the Milwaukee Benton Harbor & Columbus

OLD DEBTS ARE PAID

And the Road is Doing One-Fifth More Business Than it was Last Year.

When Fred M. Steele succeeded A. A. Patterson jr., as president of the Milwaukee, Benton Harbor & Columbus and the South Haven & Eastern system of railroads the promise was publicly made that radical improvements in methods and service would be inaugurated. At the same time that Mr. Steele was elected president, Edward Maher, the vice president, was made the general manager.

Every day since the change in management evidences have been given that this promise of improvement would be fulfilled. Last night General Manager Maher came over from Chicago to cash the monthly payroll which amounts to a considerable sum. When Mr. Maher succeeded to the general management the road was in arrears with its help and to catch up two pay days were made in January and three in February. The employees of the road now receive their pay regularly.

Mr. Maher brought with him from Chicago 10,000 large lithographs advertising the advantages to shippers of using the two roads of the company. These lithographs will be posted in every section from which the two roads can possibly secure freight. A few days ago this paper made mention of the tracts of land which the company had purchased for the enlargement of their station facilities at Benton Harbor, Berrien Springs and Buchanan. A large freight house has been constructed at Buchanan and the road is now getting a large portion of the product of the Buchanan furniture factory for shipment. New ties and new steel rails have been purchased in large quantities and the present road bed will be improved. There is a plan on foot for the extension of the road but Manager Maher is not at liberty to give out any particulars at this time as he says that his company has decided not to make a single promise that they cannot fulfill on time. The unfolding of the plans of the company will come to the people living along the road in the way of happy surprises. The company has great faith in the future of the roads and points to the fact that the business so far this year is 12-13 per cent higher than it was for the corresponding months last year.—Benton Harbor Evening News.

The Rev. Charles E. Marvin Called to Presbyterian Church at Houghton.

Houghton, Mich., July, 28.—A call has been extended to the Rev. Charles E. Marvin of Buchanan, Mich., to become the pastor of the Presbyterian church in Houghton. A meeting of the board of trustees was held a short time ago, when action was taken and it was the sense of the entire board that Mr. Marvin was the man needed here at the present time.

He has been here two weeks and has gained the highest esteem of all members of the congregation. He is a pulpit orator of ability, an excellent pastor and young man who is energetic and who will build up the new church.

The above is from the Milwaukee Journal of July 24 and is of interest to the many friends of Rev. C. E. Marvin here.

We mentioned last week that Rev. Marvin had had this call tendered to him but had not decided to accept. He is still undecided but may conclude to go.

does this year. Instead of the seared brown leaves and the dusty grass, one's eyes are delighted with the fresh, pretty green of springtime in all the foliage, and grass. To an unprejudiced eye the ride between our village and Benton Harbor certainly deserves the title of the short scenic line. The views along the old St. Joe are most inspiring and the flora is as varied as it is beautiful.

CORRESPONDENCE

BENTON HARBOR

The weather for the opening day of the Assembly was unfavorably, being very warm with occasional showers. Notwithstanding this, the big tent, which will seat 3,000 people, was about two-thirds full at the forenoon service, with good audiences in the afternoon and evening. After a prelude of songs and prayer, Rev. Hoffman, president of the Assembly introduced Rev. Biederwolf of Monticello Ind., who took for his text Job 14:14 "If a man die shall he live again?" He is a man of striking personality, with a fine voice and manner for public speaking.

His thoughts on the immortality of the soul were ably set forth and abounded in beautiful imagery quoted from Tennyson and other writers on the subject. Life after death is proved not only by the Bible, but by man's longing, his need and his instinct which are as surely God given as those of the bird or bee. God will surely honor the homing instinct of immortal souls. Another proof is the fact that everything is imperfect here below and "there must be another theatre for the administration of justice." The law of retribution would not allow Nero to torture and kill the early Christians and live such a wicked life as he did without some penalty afterward. Neither would Paul and others suffer martyrdom for the faith without receiving a just reward.

The subject of the afternoon sermon was the wrestling of Jacob with the angel, when his old name meaning deceiver or supplanter was changed to Israel. One of the fine thoughts brought out was, that people are so busy now days, that they do not give the Lord a chance to get at them. The text for the evening was "And Lot dwelt in a cave." Lot is a striking example of a half hearted Christian and by pitching his tent toward Sodom he entered upon a career which resulted in the loss of his property, home, wife, honor and happiness. He had "better have had the friendship of a man like Abraham, than the best corner lot in Sodom."

The speaker gave a fine admonition concerning worldly pleasures.

Monday forenoon was given to Bible study by Rev. Biederwolf, as the remaining forenoons of this week will be.

In the afternoon Rev. Geo. McNutt the noted Presbyterian minister, who left his pulpit and was a day laborer for five years, so as to learn the needs and conditions of this class, gave a masterful address on "Charity"

The evening was occupied by the Robertson Projectoscope Co. who gave the finest exhibition of moving pictures ever seen here, with musical accompaniment.

Rev. Biederwolf, who is familiar with the Chautauqua assemblies all over the country, says that our program contains the very cream of them all, as any thoughtful person can see by a glance through it, and Eastman Springs a mile from the city and connected by electric railway, with its thick shade, clean springs, electric lights, etc., is an ideal spot for such an Assembly. It is the wish and aim of its promoters to uplift and elevate the moral tone of the Twin Cities and give up a more enviable reputation, throughout the country than we now sustain. It will be a benefit far and wide, for if it can possibly meet expenses this first year it will be made a permanent institution. Come down Buchananites and help us.

Geo Wells of this city aged 81 years was instantly killed Saturday night by a freight train at Coloma.

Cyrus Curtis, formerly of Buchanan, the expert engineer at Spencer & Barnes factory is taking a month's vacation in Chicago and Detroit. He has not laid off before, but four or five days in 15 years.

The Sunday schools of this place have arranged for a big mass meeting next week Thursday, August 7, at Eastman Springs and all schools in the county are invited to attend. Rev. L. W. Munhall will preach at 10:30 a. m. and in the afternoon the African boys' choir will give an entertainment. The admission fee has been reduced to 10c for all members of schools.

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN BUCHANAN

How are you Showing Your Interest?

We are in receipt of the following from one of our subscribers at quite a distance from here.

"D. F. Bower Esq.
Dear Sir:—You will find enclosed $1.00 to apply on my subscription for the Record, I wish it sent to my address until I discontinue it, I may be in your city sometime this year and will call on you
I am interested in Buchanan and its future.

What is your opinion about Buchanan as to its building up in the near future?

What do you think the Electric plant will do for Buchanan?

I ask these questions as I hope to locate among you sometime if my calculations do not miss.

I congratulate you on the improvement of the Record since it has come into your hands I read it as thoroughly as I do my home papers."

The above indicates to a degree the interest outside people are taking in Buchanan, but what Buchanan becomes will depend on the interest of these in the village. Are we anxious to see our village grow? Let us invite those who are about to locate, to it, and arrange some plan to bring to their notice the advantages we have. Let us find out just what can be done and then when such inquires come to us we can make a definite statement.

Let us do something. We have talked with a number of business men regarding advancing the interest of Buchanan and find comparatively nothing being done along this line.

Charity

There is nothing more commendable than charity. We believe that very few virtues will receive a greater reward than charity, but we also believe there will be a goodly number of persons surprised when they find out some of the things they have done as charity were not so charitable after all.

We might mention a number but will mention only one. Some body wants to help the church, the band, or some association but he must have in return a supper or some thing that is worth at least twice as much as he gave. My brother, if you think that kind of charity is going to be of value to you, you are mistaken.

What we want we get. We want a good commodious park. Let us get it.

Would you believe any merchant in Buchanan would refuse to help the band?

That's right, if the boys play to amuse and please the people make them comfortable.

Has our band a name? It deserves one, give it a good one. Yes there is something in a name.

Show me the men who do the business or who are at the head any where and I will show you men who advertise.

E. B. Harkrider who took possession of the Niles Mirror and called it the Herald, about the time we came to Buchanan, has taken one more step forward in the newspaper business by the purchase of the Times at Benton Harbor. We wish him great success and hope our relations may continue as pleasant in the future as in the past.

It is doubtful if any one can remember when Berrien county or indeed the country at best ever looked so beautiful at the end of July as it

 Mr. E. J. Elson who had such a serious fall a few days ago is improving slowly. He was so thoroughly jarred and shaken up that it will be some time before he recovers entirely. He certainly had a close call and it is still a source of wonder he did not break his neck. He is unable to use his jaw to masticate food, and is living solely on liquids.
 One of the growing manufactures in Niles is the Kate Noble Chewing Gum factory. We dropped in the other day to see the process and found a number of bright, intelligent, young ladies engaged in this thriving business. One would wonder that an article that cannot be consumed, no matter how much masticating it receives, would have so great a sale.

It would be a singular sort of political economy that would prevent everybody from getting a living in order to prevent a few from getting rich.
