To have a ready made corset fit you perfectly is, as a rule, far more satisfactory and much less expensive than to have a corset made to order.

"La Vida" corsets are of fancy batiste or fine coutille, whale bone filled, lace or ribbon trimmed, are charming models for medium and slight figures, prices from $3.50 to $10 each.

"La Fleur" is the latest corset for full figures; it fits closely under the arms, brings the bust well forward and by reducing hips gives to the waist the much sought after perpendicular lines, prices are $5, $7 and $8.50.

Mail orders will receive prompt attention.

St. Joseph people are expecting a new daily paper soon. This will be the third daily and will be a morning publication.

President Roosevelt has again shown the man that he is, over and above president, soldier and politician, by the interest he has taken in the welfare of the people. He might well have pleaded that he had no authority to ask the disputants in the coal strike to Washington, for he had none; but he lays aside every other consideration and steps in, hoping to bring about a reconciliation, that the poor might be relieved of the burden now upon them. No doubt there are those who will measure him from their own standard, and say he only they never do anything for any one unless it benefits themselves they will think that of him, but that will not be true, for he certainly runs more risk of censure than of paise Let us give him honor for his interest in the welfare of the people.

eral Knox attended the conference between the president, the coal operators and Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, which began about 11 a.m. today. He was the only member of the cabinet present. Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of labor, who recently made an investigation of the strike situation, also attended on the invitation of the president. While every one connected with the administration is extremely reticent concerning the conference there is a feeling of hope among those close to the president that it is going to result in a settlement of the did that to benefit himself. Because strike. This hope is based on the acuteness of the situation and the necessity that exists for a settlement, along with the known determination of the president to bring about a settlement if such a thing be possible.

President Confers with Quay. Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania, was in conference with the president for an hour yesterday, and it is understood that he came here at the request of the president to discuss the strike situation. The president and senator were not interrupted, and two cabinet officers who called did not see the president while the conference was in progress. Under Goes a Change, but the Conclusion Is the Same.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 3. - Sentiment among the representttives of the coal operators here has undergone a change since Wednesday regarding the action of President Roosevelt in assuming the role of an intermediary to settle the strike. Wednesday they said the only effect of the president's action would be to put off the surrender of the miners as many days as there were in the interim between the first announcement of his intention to intermediate and the announcement of the result-or rather lack of result-of the conference. Yesterday these men said that the White House conference would hasten the end of the strike; that it will show the miners that no third party-not even the president of the United States-can budge the operators from their position, and that once this is realized the strikers will Indianapolis, Oct. 3.—The collection of the big defense fund for the anthracite strikers created a record breaking buisness for the money order department of the Indianapolis postoffice for the quarter ended Tuesday. Responses from all over country indicate that convention will be large and representative in character. We all hope your good offices in conference tomorrow may settle difficulties and render all other efforts unnecessary. If we could have earliest advices of result of your conference it would control our future action." If the strike is settled at today's conference the Detroit meeting will be called off.

He said he saw the president about several matters, and that during the interview the coal strike was alluded to. Then we began to call Mr. and Mrs. Helmick uncle Jesse and aunt Betsy, to designate them from so many of his sons who had married and were settled all near, and having familes of their own. hit I am happy today. I was at John Tobithas a few days after they adopted that little German girl, Ma Sophia. She could neither understand them, nor could they understand her, but she soon learned Eng- lutions, which were adopted and orlish and became as one of the family. She married and went to a home in the north where I visited her family. at And when she comes back she always visits me; making another link in the chain of Helmick friendship.

That beautiful hymn that I think some of us have sung together in the days gone by seems to express my feelings today, one verse especially:

'We are out on life's ocean sailing, Homeward bound, we quickly glide. We are out on life's ocean sailing, To a home beyond the tide.

All the storms will soon be over,

Then we'll anchor in the harbor.' I feel as though my barque had naerly reached the other shore, and I wanted to send you all a kind farewell greeting; you who know me know that it comes from my heart. These family reunions are pleasant and I think profitable, yet they bring many a heartache, for some one is Hiram and wife spent the day with us in Mr. Gray's last sickness, which showed their friendship. Now her barque is moored on the other shore; he is left a little longer. I appreciate the friendship that has existed so long in the Helmick family, which has extended down to the third and fourth generations of the family, being a period of 64 years.

We all felt pleased when father Helmick was elected one of the associate judges of our county court, which office he filled with honor to remedies strongly recommended but himself, his family and the public; got little if any results. I had so the office being unsought on his part.

I feel that I have outlived my usefulness. I am a useless, helpless cripple; have to be lifted off my bed box. I do not hesitate to say that I and off my chair; can't walk a step; feel like a burden to all who have to Report of the Historian, Mrs. Burns Helmick, showed investigations being made and progress reported. The history of the family has now been traced back to 1640, when two brothers came from Prussia to Virginia. At this time many interesting reminiscences were told and all had a good time. It was voted that the senior member of the family should be president for life, so John S. will be president as long as he lives.

It was also voted to change the time of meeting from Sept. 20 to the last Wednesday in August, so that it could be held before schools begin and allow the younger ones to come. They then sang Auld Lang Syne and God be with you till we meet again, and the meeting was adjourned.

LESSON I, FOURTH QUARTER, INTER-NATIONAL SERIES, OCT. 5.

Text of the Lesson, Josh. 1, 1-11. Memory Verses, S, 9-Golden Text, Josh. i, 9-Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

(Copyright, 1902, by American Press Association.1 1, 2. The Lord spake unto Joshua, the son of Nun, Moses' minister. This is to me the heart of these two verses and of the whole lesson and of the whole Bible-the Lord hath spoken. Note the thrilling words in Isa. i, 2, "Hear, O heavens, and give ear, O earth, for the Lord hath spoken," and compare Deut. xxxii, 1; Ps. l, 1; Heb. i, 1, 2. In Isa. lxvi, 2, we learn that the man whom the Lord regards with favor is the man with a poor and contrite spirit, who trembles at His word, not those who with the boldness of the devil dispute and criticise and minimize His word. Reiterating the assurance that He had given the land to Israel, He bids Joshua as their leader to arise and cross over Jordan. God is their leader, Joshua His servant.

3, 4. Every place that the sole of your foot shall tread upon that have I given unto you, as I said unto Moses.

And again He defines the boundary as in Gen. xv, 18. The purposes of God are, like Himself, eternal. His counsel stands, and He does all His pleasure (Eph. iii, 11; Ps. xxxiii, 11; Isa. xlvi, 10). He who from all eternity saw just what He would do and when He would do it desires men and women who will let Him work in them both to will and to do, having no plans, ambitions or aims, but just to be good clay in the loving and all wise potter's hands, believing His every word or, in the language of this passage, taking possession of all that He says is yours.

5. As I was with Moses so I will be with thee. I will not fail thee nor forsake thee. Joshua had seen as Moses' minister some of the Lord's dealings with him, and he would doubtless feel that this gracious assurance covered all he could possibly need or desire. Unto all Israel and to Joshua Moses had given very similar words of encouragement (Deut. xxxi, 6-8), but now God Himself speaks to His servant Joshua as He had previously spoken to him by Moses, and the words are the same as we shall see in these following verses. Some say, "Oh, if I could only hear God speak to me!" not believing that in His word He is as truly speaking 'to them as if they heard an audible voice from heaven.

6, 7. Only be thou strong and very cour-

See this command repeated in each of these verses, with the assurance that what God had sworn to do He would accomplish through Joshua. So there was nothing for Joshua to do but to believe and go obediently forward. He had no strength, but God who sent him had all strength, and Joshua had learned or was learning to say, "In the Lord have I righteousness and strength," and that it was his privilege to "be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might" (Isa. xlv, 24; Eph. vi, 10). There is much comfort in the assurance of Ps. xxix, 11, "The Lord will give strength unto His people, the Lord will bless His people

8. This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth, but thou shalt meditate therein day and night.

The first two psalms which form a preface to the whole book of Psalms, or, rather, to the five books of Psalms, begin with "Blessed is the man" and end with "Blessed are all they that put their trust in Him." The life of the godly man as set forth in the First Psalm was fully manifest in the man of Nazareth, the Lord Jesus Christ, and was never fully manifest in any other. Yet every redeemed person should manifest that same life as fully as possible. The life of Jesus should be seen in us (II Cor. iv, 10, 11). This can only be as we let His word dwell in us richly and meditate on it continually and are able to say, "Oh, how love I Thy law, it is my meditation all the day" (Ps. cxix, 97). He has said that if we love Him we will keep His word (John xiv, 23), and the only place to keep it is in our hearts. 9. Have not I commanded thee? Be strong and of a good courage. Be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed, for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever

The assurance that God sends us and that He is with us covers everything. It is the greatest that mortals can have. It was God's encouragement to Moses, and now to Joshua, and later to Gideon and to Jeremiah (Ex. iii, 10, 12; Judg. vi, 14, 16; Jer. i, 7, 8). It was also the great encouragement of Jesus Himself when here in His humiliation (John viii, 29), and before He returned to heaven He assured His followers that He had all power in heaven and on earth and that He would be with them all the days (Matt. xxviii, 18-20). If we believe His words, we shall neither be afraid nor dismayed nor discouraged.

10, 11. Within three days ye shall pass over this Jordan to go in to possess the land which the Lord your God giveth you

Thus Joshua commanded the officers of the people, for be believed God. The land was theirs as a free gift from God, but they had to enter into it and appropriate it. Jordan was before them to be crossed, and the walled cities and the giants were still there: but there are no difficulties to God or to those who. like Joshua and Caleb. see God only. In our own case as believers in Jesus Christ, redeemed by His blood, it is our privilege to appro priate His promises and by faith in Him live lives of victory over self and sin to His glory. HOW TO GROW PLUMP.

Some Pointers For Those Who Would

Increase Their Weight. If you want to be fat and of a merry countenance, says the Philadelphia Inquirer, read the suggestions of a wise man as they are given here:

In the morn, he says, you should drink a cup of chocolate or cocoa lying in bed before you rise for the day Then for breakfast eat eggs, a cutlet or chops and plenty of fruit.

With your dinner be careful to take plenty of vegetables, cauliflower, macaroni, asparagus, potatoes by preference, and fry to avoid pickles and any form of acid. Eat well of some dessert that contains plenty of sugar, eggs

All manner of foods that have starch and sugar are necessarily fattening if they can be digested. If-this diet is followed, there is promise of many additional pounds for the subject.

Milk has great value, and if the stomach can stand it two quarts a day may be taken with advantage. Limewater mixed with it makes it more easy of assimilation to most people. The best way is to drink milk slowly. Taken hot just before going to bed, it promotes restful sleep and so greatly helps the thin one to "lay on" flesh.

Cold baths are very thinning in their tendency and should be avoided by the would be plump person. Of course, violent or long sustained exercise will keep one slender in spite of all precautions. Never try to eat more than you have an appetite for, as merely loading the stomach does not mean that the food will ever be turned into good, useful tissue.

And constant worry is to be avoided, for irritation of the nerves would render useless even the most carefully selected diet.

How to Clean Embossed Leather. Embossed leather can be cleaned with turpentine applied with a soft cloth. This removes the stains, but slightly stiffens the leather, which must be made pliable again by rubbing briskly with crude oil. Use a very little oil and go over the piece with one of the clean cloths upon which no oil has been put, as care must be taken to get all the surface grease off to prevent soiling the clothes.

How to Make Iced Chocolate. Chocolate is so generally served hot that the cool summer drink is far less familiar than it should be. When carefully made and served, it is delicious as well as wholesome and can be safely Ar recommended for delicate children and elderly people. Put one ounce of unsweetened chocolate into a saucepan and pour on it gradually one pint of boiling water, stirring all the time. Put the saucepan on the fire and stir until the chocolate is all dissolved. Then add a pint of granulated sugar and stir until it begins to boil. Cook for three minutes longer without stirring and then strain and cool. Add one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, bottle and store in a cool place. When needed, put two tablespoonfuls of crushed ice in a tumbler and add two tablespoonfuls of the chocolate sirup, three tablespoonfuls of whipped cream, one gill of milk and half a gill of carbonic or apollinaris water. Stir thoroughly before drinking.

How to Make Celery Vinegar. Celery vinegar is useful for flavoring and may be made of pieces of celery covered with some pure cider vinegar or the celery seeds may be used. If the seeds are to be used, cover one ounce of celery seed with one quart of pure cider vinegar, and let it stand said at Friday to visit his brother. two weeks, shaking it every day. It will then be ready for use.

How to Cook Watercress.

It is possible to cook watercress as spinach is prepared, says the New York Evening Post. The cress should be picked over and the coarse part of the stems removed with the wilted or discolored leaves. Throw into a saucepan filled with boiling water and boil for fifteen or twenty minutes or until tender, adding a little salt to the water toward the latter part of the cooking. Remove to a colander, press out the water with the back of a large wooden spoon, return to the saucepan and toss in lightly with a fork a teaspoonful of butter. Arrange in a mound and serve with sliced hard boiled eggs.

How to Clean Windows. To clean windows, dissolve a little soda in water, dip into it a clean sponge and with it wash over the glass. Wipe and polish with clean, dry cloths. Old cloths should be saved for window cleaning, for the softer they are the better. Soft paper makes an excellent substitute for cloths for window cleaning.

Health of the Clever wiri.

The clever girl is not as a rule a sturdy girl. Under stress and difficulty she becomes irritable. If the strain be prolonged, she either backs out or breaks down. To be sure, her cleverness often enables her to do quickly what it takes her less excitable sisters longer to accomplish; but, take the clever girl as a whole, we are apt to find her efforts fragmentary, her course zigzag and her goal uncertain. But in the battle for life, alike for woman and for man, it is grit that wins.

There is no reason why a clever girl should not become physically as strong as one who is not clever, because a naturally delicate constitution may be hardened and rendered fit by proper training.

Carpet Patterns.

A carpet of small pattern is much more economical than a floor covering with a large, sprawly design. It can be mended, turned over and the small ing words of our lesson come home to large pattern is a very terror to the contriving housekeeper.

HER EXPERIENCE WITH ALLARD

Showing Her Bad Luck with Spouses -Old Crime Recalled by a Parole-Items.

East Tawas, Mich., Oct. 3.—As a result of the coroner's finding Ernest Scholtz, husband of the woman whose throat was cut Sunday morning, was arraigned for murder, and his examination set for Oct. 9. He was committed to jail without bail. In the county clerk's office records has been found a statement once filed by Mrs. Scholtz concerning her former husband, Allard, who had returned and was staying at the Scholtz home at the time of the woman's death. The statement declares, in part:

Unfortuate in Her Husbands. "One day, wishing to administer some medicine which she did not need, on her refusing to take it, he (Allard) seized her, placed one of his knees on her breast and holding her compelled her to take it. She became worse from this medicine, and was sent to Pontiac, as insane. She recovered and went to her mother's at New Baltimore, where she was followed by Allard, who promised better treatment. She returned to Tawas, and he was kind for a few weeks, until she refused to sell her sewing machine for an old

"Becoming angry, he threw a chair at her, and continued to treat her ill until she again went insane and was sent to an asylum. She again returned, and after a few weeks got money from her mother to get back to Tawas, where she found a widow and two children in her home. Allard, by threats to his wife, got her to convey the present home to him for a consideration of $1, but later found she still had a dower interest."

Murdered by an Insane Man. Menominee, Mich., Oct. 3. — The shooting of John Koucha, the Milwaukee road fireman who was killed in his cab, is no longer thought to be enveloped in mystery. The officers, who have been scouring the woods for several days past, have all come to the opinion that it was the dead of an insane man and that he is a tall, uncouth looking stranger, who has been about Amberg for two weeks past. He has been living in the woods and is the terror of the entire country thereabouts. Posses are now searching for

PAROLE RECALLS AN OLD CRIME

Man Who Has Been in the Pen for Twelve Years Gets a Commutation of Sentence.

Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 3.—The case of Robert Smith, who killed his brother, Jude Smith, near Linwood beach about a dozen years ago, was recently acted on by the pardon board which recommended that his sentence be commuted to twenty years and that he be paroled. Gover Bliss signed his parole Mr. Chas. K. Bowers, of Chicago, Saturday night. Jude Smith was a large, powerful man, a great fighter, and an expert axe thrower. It is said that he could throw an axe thirty or more feet and strike within four inches of the mark on the stump. Robert Smith, the paroled man, was of small stature, not given to sports, and peaceable. The brothers could not get along and one day Jude started to haul some timber from a piece of land in dispute between them. Robert was present with a gun and threatened to shoot Jude if he took the timber. This angered Jude, and seizing an axe, he was about to throw it at his brother. Robert was terrified, as he knew that if the axe left his brother's hand directed toward him it would surely strike, and he shot Jude before he had a chance to throw it. Robert was convicted before Judge Cobb at Bay City, and since then all connected with the trial have expressed a desire that he Owosso, Mich., Oct. 3.—Fred Meier, 45 years old, with a large family of children, lost his left arm in an accident in the Ann Arbor railroad shops. He operated a planer, the knives of which revolve 4,000 times a minute. He reached under the knives to pull out a silver. His arm caught and was clipped off like paper and hurled fifty feet against the side of the shop.
