WITH DUE CEREMONY

Corner Stone of Benton Harbor Carnegie Public Library Laid.

An ideal autumn day, an immense crowd of people and a fine program, were the features of the corner stone laying at the public library in Benton Harbor on Tuesday.

The ceremony was conducted by the officers of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Michigan the ritual of the order being used. The oration of the day was delivered by V. M. Gore and was eloquent and scholarly.

When completed the library building will be one that Benton Harbor may well be proud of.

General News.

The West Michigan State Fair held at Grand Rapids has proved a financial success, about $20,000 being netted.

The order of Eastern Star, of South Bend, celebrated their 33d anniversary of the order on Wednesday Chapters from LaPorte, Valparaiso, Mishawaka, Elkhart and Goshen were represented at a banquet given in the Masonic hall in the evening. Six candidates received degrees.

GOV. BLISS.

His Military and Civil Record Favorably Shown by Gen. Alger.

In reply to a number of attacks made on Gov. Bliss, as not being a strong character, a letter to the Detroit Journal says:

The constant talk of the weakness of Gov. Bliss, our candidates for governor, has led me to make a statement that should, I think, be carefully considered by every voter in the state.

The governor was born in New York, reared on a farm, and at a very early age was thrown upon his own resources, having no aid from others. He enlisted as a private in Co. D, Tenth New York Cavalry; was promoted to be first lieutenant, and later to be captain for bravery on the field of battle. He served three years and five months. He came to Michigan in 1865 and went into the lumber business, and that without means. He has amassed a handsome fortune. He has always been most generous with his money, his pocketbook and front door always open to those who need help.

Officially he served as alderman, on the board of supervisors in his city and county, a term in the state senate, one term in congress, has served one term as governor of the state of Michigan, and the records will show that his administration has been one of constant hard work by the executive, economical and well conducted.

Why should a man with such a record be called weak?

R. A. ALGER.

Robbery in Galien.

Wednesday evening, while peacefully slumbering in his own house at Galien, John Swem had no thought of what was going on in the house. Two burglars had forced open the windows and gained entrance into the house. They thoroughly ransacked the lower part of the house, securing $248 in money from one of the closets. They then proceeded to have a feast. They darkened the windows of the dining room with old coats, then began to see what the pantry contained. After securing all the good things to eat they desired they sat down to a splendid meal.

Then they thought they would investigate the up stairs. Mr. Swem heard them. As they were coming up stairs he secured a part of a curtain pole about 18 inches long, and waited for them. When they approached they flashed out their dark lantern and discovered him near by. They pointed a revolver at him and ordered him to hold up his hands. He held them up, and also held up the curtain pole, which he brought down upon the fellow with the revolver. The other man darted at him with a knife and slashed him several times. He was cut on the arm and chest and terribly frightened and screamed for help.

When the neighbors rushed in the robbers had disappeared, and the money with them; but they found Mr. Swem completely exhausted, lying on the floor; Dr. Conrad was called and after a short time Mr. Swem felt comfortable. The wound was not serious.

COUNTY SEAT NEWS

PROBATE COURT

The case of John W. Beistle vs. Cady, Andrews & Murdock assump sit, was called for trial at 1:30 Tuesday, L. C. Fyfe and A.C. Roe appearing for the plaintiff and Geo. W. Bridgman and Gore & Harvey appearing for defendant.

Deputy Sheriff John DeTampk took three prisoners to Jackson on Tuesday, Chas Stewart, the young Sodus farmer, who committed rape upon an eleven year old girl was sentenced to 15 years there; Jacob Nagle who stole goods by the wholesale received five years; and Frank Keagan the robber who entered the Catholic priest in St. Joe received three years. The combined sentences which these men will serve is 22 years.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

The Board of Supervisors will meet in regular session next Monday.

SUPREME COURT.

Yesterday the Supreme court handed down a decision in the case of Lucy Stickley vs. the township of Sodus. The Supreme court reversed the decision of the last jury in the Circuit court which awarded Miss Stickley damages. Miss Stickley was driving along the road leading to King's landing on July 27, 1900, she was precipitated over the bank for a distance of nearly 40 feet and was badly injured.

She brought suit for damages claiming negligence on the part of the township in failing to keep a railing along the roadside. The defense claimed that it was not a public highway but a private roadway, therefore the township was not liable. Justice Grant of the Supreme court held this opinion and all the other members of the bench concurred.

No new cases were started in their circuit court Wednesday a condition almost unprecedented.

COUNTY NEWS.

The gravel deal in Benton Harbor is proving quite a serious thing, and if nothing but innocence is proved on the part of those interested, at least it was unfortunate that the accounts were not more accurately kept. A committee is making a thorough investigation.

The Republican county committee held a large meeting Wednesday afternoon in St. Joseph. County chairman Woodruff of Watervliet presided.

The following dates have been arranged by the republican county committee for Congressman Hamilton's speeches:

October 16—Afternoon, Eau Claire; evening, Benton Harbor.

October 17—Afternoon, Three Oaks; evening, New Troy.

November—3 St. Joseph.

Hon. W. W. Wedemeyer of Ann Arbor will speak at Niles October 29. County Supervisor W. A. D. Rose has just returned from a visit to the redwood district of California, where he has been some time.

Frederick Remington's striking drawings of Western life are familiar to thousands, reproduced in black and white, but very few have had the opportunity to know how beautiful and artistic is the original coloring. In the October Scribner's four of Remington's best drawings called "Western Types" will be reproduced in their original colors.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.
LESSON II, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, OCT. 12.

Text of the Lesson, Josh. iii, 9-iv, 7. Memory Verses, 15-17—Golden Text, Isa. xliii, 2—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1902, by American Press Association.]

9, 10. Hereby ye shall know that the living God is among you.

The topic of our lesson is Israel crossing the Jordan, and the story is fully told in these two chapters from which our lesson is taken. By this great event the Lord would magnify Joshua in the sight of all Israel, that Israel might fear the Lord its God forever and that all the people of the earth might know the hand of the Lord, that it is mighty (iii, 7; iv, 14, 24). The symbol of the presence of God was the ark of the covenant, for it was from above the mercy seat between the cherubim that He had promised to meet and commune with Moses (Ex. xxv, 22), and at least seven times He is spoken of as dwelling between the cherubim. In the third chapter the ark is mentioned ten times and in the fourth chapter seven times, so that the ark of the covenant or the presence of the Lord in the midst of Israel is really the heart of our lesson.

11-13. Behold the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth passeth over before you into Jordan.

A study of Num. x will show that on the march the ark always had its place in the midst of Israel, six tribes preceding and six tribes following it, and it was distinguished from every other vessel by an outer covering wholly of blue (Num. iv, 5, 6), but on this occasion it went before all the people and preceded them by about 2,000 cubits that they might know the way by which they must go, for as the officers said, "Ye have not passed this way heretofore" (Josh. iii, 4). As we go on in the daily Christian life we must run with patience, looking unto Jesus, and we must see no one but Jesus only, for He is our only ark, and He alone can lead us in the way wherein we should go (Heb. xii, 1, 2; Mark ix, 8).

14-16. And it came to pass . . . the people passed over right against Jericho. Thus these three verses begin and end, and they tell us that as soon as the feet of the priests that bore the ark touched the waters of the river the waters from above where Israel was stood upon a heap, and the bed of the river became dry for Israel to pass over. The same living God who divided the Red sea before Israel in the days of Moses did this before the millions of Israel under Joshua that Israel might see that the Lord was with Joshua as He had been with Moses and that all the people of the earth might know the mighty hand of the Lord. The same Lord afterward divided this same river for two men and a little later for one man (II Kings ii, 8, 14). We little know what the living God would do for one man willing to be as wholly His as Jesus Christ was, but we do know that His eyes are searching the whole earth to find such people (II Chron. xvi, 9). On this occasion as God said it would be so it came to pass, and so it always does, and the believer may say with the utmost confidence, "I believe God, that it shall be even as it was told me" (Acts xxvii, 25, 44). Quietness and confidence honor God.

17. And the priests that bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord stood firm on dry ground in the midst of Jordan . . . until all the people were passed clean over Jordan.

As truly as every one of this great host of 2,000,000 or more passed safely over the Jordan while the priests bearing the ark stood firm, so truly shall every one of the Lord's redeemed pass safely through all this wilderness journey because of our High Priest, who is Himself the true ark of the covenant, the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth, who ever liveth to make intercession for us and who has said, "Because I live ye shall live also" (John xiv, 19). Yet we must not think of Jordan as typical of death or of Canaan as suggestive of heaven, for there are no conflicts in heaven such as were in Canaan after Israel entered it. The Israel story is suggestive of life here on earth. The bondage in Egypt tells the condition of all before they are redeemed, the blood of the Passover lamb sets forth the way of redemption, the ups and downs of the wilderness journey are an all too common experience of many saved ones, while the restful aspect of the Canaan experience is the privilege of all believers, though but few seem to enjoy it. They do not enter in because of unbelief. But those who truly believe and therefore cease from their own works do enter into rest (Heb. iii, 18, 19, and iv, 3, 6, 10). Seeing and knowing Jesus is rest.

iv, 1-7. These stones shall be for a memorial unto the children of Israel forever.

This chapter tells of twelve stones set up as a memorial in the midst of Jordan in the place where the feet of the priests which bore the ark of the covenant stood (verse 9), as well as of twelve stones taken from the place where the priests stood and set up in the land (verse 8). Jordan signifies the river of judgment, and these two heaps of stones under the waters of Jordan and set up in the land speak to me of the believer crucified with Christ and risen with Christ, judgment past and Christ at God's right hand our life forevermore. Until we see this there is no abiding rest and victory. Unless we thus live the people of the earth will not know the hand of the Lord that it is mighty, and God will not be glorified in His redeemed.

Enroute to Nome City, Alaska.
A letter from Mrs. J. R. Bians to her mother, Mrs. Wm. N. Keeler:
1400 miles from Seattle.
Dear little mother:—It's now about 10 o'clock in the morning of the 9th day. I have just come from the upper deck. Just now an awful big wave came in and soaked everything in here. The boat is rolling like fury. Now I'll relieve your mind about seasickness. I am having a perfectly splendid time. Nearly everybody on board has been ill—frightfully ill.
We have a very small passenger list. There is aboard a party of gentlemen who are going to Portage Bay. They have hired this boat to land them there. This will keep us much longer on board, and I presume they will be getting anxious before we get to Nome as no one knows where this boat is. We are entirely out of our course and will not arrive at Nome inside of 16 days. However as I am feeling fine I am glad to see another part of the world. We figure that tomorrow morning we will be at Unga—nothing much to see I guess, only it is land, and nine days from land is quite a time.
The tables, chairs, etc., have been lashed to the floor for three days and two nights. Most of the passengers have been strapped in their berths. Night before last I was not strapped in and I am black and blue on my right side from being thrown out of my berth to the other side of my state room. Very funny I think.
Saturday, Sept. 13.
Haven't touched this letter, been seeing things. We landed at Unga receiving clearance papers and then left in an hour. Unga is an island; the houses were white with red roofs. There was one store which is opened once a week. We reached Unga in the morning and the same afternoon reached Portage Bay where part of the passengers went ashore,—one French army officer who intends staying all winter and making weather observations. Four others started for a bay across the isthmus, where they have a steamer. The head of the party is looking up the land. There were copper mines there. I believe also they intend putting cattle on the island.
In regard to the scenery let me tell you it is most beautiful. Never any where have I seen such beautiful coloring in nature, wondrously beautiful. The flowers were in great profusion and the ground covered with a most beautiful moss. We were ashore an hour. One little hut was there and a man dwelling there. He was most crazy when we, Miss Johnson, a fellow passenger, and I landed. We frightened the doves, scared the gulls, gathered flowers and ran and raced. There was a donkey there and he ran and kicked up his heels. A horse was taken ashore and I guess he was mighty glad to land. If this party had not landed we would have seen very little of Alaska. As it was we have been running along the peninsula for a long time.
Since we have entered Behring's we have seen such numbers of exquisite rainbows. This morning there were four in the sky at once. I am wonderfully pleased with this section of the country. One day we passed islands with volcanoes smouldering on them. The peaks covered with snow and the dense black smoke bursting forth in great puffs. Everyone is taking pictures and I may be able to send you some.
We will land at Nome tonight at midnight, but will not be taken ashore as it is likely the surf will be running high. May not be able to land for three or four days. And mamma it doesn't seem far away here. Every one in Seattle speaks of Nome as being near. One day this week we had a very, very fine dinner. I am eating very little but sleeping splendidly. I have not had on any of my heavy underwear.
I thought of Carrie Williams a good deal last night. One of the gentlemen gave a lecture on A. B. C. Talked for an hour on A. B. C. using no other words at all. It was very excellent. Sometimes we laughed and others nearly cried. Carrie would so have enjoyed it. Miss Johnson is from Texas and see is going to Nome to marry a young chap up there. We all look after her. There are also a number of men who are going to Alaska to prepare fuel oil instead of coal. The head of that party has practically bought up the captain and they run many things. I like them very little. They are drinkers mostly and I should imagine were rather rough. I am seated at the Captain's table and get all the good things going. The first two or three days I drank only hot water—and ate crackers and eggs. I at present think I never wish to see another egg.

Sept. 19th.
Arrived O. K. Will write immediately by next boat. Am well, Joey in excellent health. Must hurry to get this in return boat mail.

MRS. C. CROTHER

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 7.—President John Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, slipped out of town before dawn yesterday for Philadelphia, where he met Carroll D. Wright, United States commissioner of labor, who is President Roosevelt's personal representative on matters pertaining to the anthracite coal strike. Mitchell returned here last night unaccompanied

GOVERNOR STONE and unannounced, and made the simple statement that he had met the labor commissioner. He refused absolutely to discuss his visit to Philadelphia, declining to say where in Philadelphia he met Wright or what passed between them. Subsequently he informed a representative of the Associated Press that he saw other gentlemen while there, but declined to disclose their identity.

What Is Supposed to Have Happened. On the strength of the fact that Wright is close to President Roosevelt there is a general impression here that the commissioner carried a message from the chief executive to Mitchell. A rumor which cannot be verified is in circulation here that President Roosevelt has appealed to Mitchell to end the strike in the cause of humanity. There is no one here in Mitchell's confidence except his three district presidents, and it is doubtful if they knew that he was in Philadelphia until they arrived here during the day and found him absent.

Confers with the District Leaders. Interest in Mitchell's mysterious trip was intense all day and evening about headquarters. All the local district leaders called, and scores of mine workers were in evidence. No one seemed to know anything, and all were of the belief that some sort of a move is contemplated. Immediately on the return of the strike leader he was besieged, but he refused to see any one until after he had his supper. He granted the newspaper correspondents a brief interview, simply telling them he met Wright and then he and the district presidents went into conference.

WHOLE OF PENNSYLVANIA'S GUARD Ordered into the Strike Region, and Why It Has Been Done.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 7.—Governor Stone has ordered out the entire division of the National Guard of Pennsylvania to duty in the anthracite coal regions. The soldiers are in the field today. The order calling out the guards gives the following as the reason for such action: "In certain portions of the counties of Luzerne, Schuylkill, Carbon, Lackawanna, Susquehanna, Northumberland and Columbia tumults and riots frequently occur, and mob law reigns; men who desire to work have been beaten and driven away and their families threatened. Railroad trains have been delayed, stoned, and the tracks torn up. The situation grows more serious each day * * *

"As tumults, riots, mobs and disorder usually occur when men attempt to work in and about the coal mines he [the commanding general] will see their all men who desire to work and their families have ample military protection. He will protect all trains and other property from unlawful interference, and will arrest all persons engaging in acts of violence and intimidation and hold them under guard until their release will not endanger the public peace; will see that threats, intimidations, assaults and all acts of violence cease at once."

MICHELL ISSUES A STATEMENT He Calls for Mass Meetings to Deny the Operators' Charges.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 7.—After President Mitchell had conferred with the district presidents last night he left for Buffalo, but before going gave to the press a statement, of which the following is the substance. It is addressed to district secretaries and mine workers in the anthracite field: "You have, no doubt, read in the daily papers the proceedings of the conference at the White House last Friday, in which your officers proposed an immediate resumption of work if the operators would agree with us to refer the questions at issue in the strike to the decision of the president of the United States and a tribunal named by him. You have noted the reply of the presidents of the coal-carrying roads, in which they responded to our overtures by denouncing your union, its members and officers in the most vehement and malicious manner possible.

"They also declared that a large majority of the strikers would return to work if given military protection, and they demanded that the president send United States troops to the coal fields. In order to demonstrate to the people of our country that the statements of the operators are unfounded, and that the mine workers are law-abiding citizens, the officers of all local unions should call mass meetings to be held in each mining town at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 8. We know that the mine workers are not restrained from going to work by fear of bodily harm; and if this is the sentiment prevailing at the meetings resolutions should be adopted emphatically declaring the statements of the operators to be untrue.

"We also advise that acts of lawlessness by the coal and iron police and by strikers be denounced, and the services of members of the union tendered the local authorities to preserve law and order. Great care should be exercised that those on strike do not permit themselves to be provoked by the coal and iron police into the commission of overt acts."

The resolutions are to be telegraphed Mitchell's headquarters, "collect," immediately on the adjournment of the meetings. The statement is signed by Mitchell, Nichols, Duffy and Fahy.

BRYAN INDORSES ROOSEVELT Says He Should Be Commended for His Efforts to Settle the Strike.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 7.—In a statement made last evening W. J. Bryan said President Roosevelt should be commended for his efforts to settle the miners' strike. He suggested, however, that since the operators decline to arbitrate the president's hands are tied, and urges him to call an extra session of congress. Five measures, Bryan says, should be recommended for passage. Summarized these are, in Bryan's language:

"A law establishing a national board of arbitration consisting of three to five members, to consider and report on all controversies between corporations engaged in interstate commerce and their employes; a law abolishing government by injunction; a law that will discriminate between the natural made man created by the Almighty and the corporate giant created by legislation; a law taking the tariff off coal; a law which will prevent railroads engaged in interstate commerce from operating coal mines except for the purpose of supplying fuel for their own engines."

Development at Washington. Washington, Oct. 7.—There was only one development of importance in the coal strike situation yesterday. Frank P. Sargent, commissioner of immigration, had a long interview with President Roosevelt and left Washington very soon afterwards. Sargent indicated that the interview concerned the coal strike, but he would not discuss the matter. It is thought Sargent went to Philadelphia, where he may have met Mitchell yesterday.

New Haven Aldermanic Idea. New Haven, Conn., Oct. 7.—After one of the hottest debates in the history of the city's municipal boards the aldermen passed a resolution to be sent to President Roosevelt calling upon the president to "immediately declare the coal lands public property, after due compensation, and to have them held so and worked by the government."

Whole Regiment for Glenns Falls. Albany, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Governor Odell has issued an order directing the entire Second regiment on duty to protect the property of the Hudson Valley Railway company upon whose lines a strike has been in progress for some weeks.

Chicago To Be Represented. Chicago, Oct. 7.—A committee was appointed last night by the city council to attend the coal conference called by Mayor Maybury, of Detroit.

Lost His Life for His Hat. Albion, Mich., Oct. 7.—William O'Hara, of this place, a passenger on the Michigan Central express, near St. Thomas, Ont., fell from the vestibule of a coach while reaching for his hat, which had blown off, and received injuries from which he died in the hospital at Ontario. He was en route to New York.

Coopers Are in Council. Louisville, Oct. 7.—One hundred coopers, representing every section of the country, assembled here yesterday to attend the biennial session of the convention of the Coopers' International union.

Another Winston Churchill in Politics. Cornish, N. H., Oct. 7.—Winston Churchill, the novelist, is going into politics, making his entrance through the medium of the Republican representative caucus, which gave him a nomination.

Reanimates an Infant's Heart. London, Oct. 7.—In a dispatch from Moscow the correspondent of The Daily Mail says a doctor (Koulatke) has succeeded in his experiments in reanimating the heart of an infant, which had died.

Berrien county fruit growers have harvested a crop this year that aggregates nearly $1,000,000 and even then the peach crop was not up to the usual heavy shipment. Much cause for thankfulness there is, even though the cry of too much rain has been constantly reiterated this summer.

We are sorry to again disappoint our subscribers by not getting the Record out promptly but it is not our fault, again we are deprived of electric power, but if you will be patient we promise you that in a few months, when the new power house is finished we will get the paper out promptly.

Lieut. Peary's determined belief that the north pole can be reached is being put forward more persistently than ever since his recent return. "It is a question of money. Not millions either $200,000 will do it," he is reported as having said. He will not return to the north but will resume his duties in the navy, reporting to the department at Washington soon.

The raising of the gutters on Front street makes a decided improvement on the street. While the street and sidewalks are being repaired would it not be a step in advance to remove the old posts and hitch teams elsewhere? By the way, Bro. Morris, as it is getting too cold to sit outside it might be a good idea to remove the bench, and perhaps by next summer rockers might be afforded.

Early Closing

It is a very difficult task to get a number of individuals, men or women, to agree on any one matter, and this seems to be the trouble in the early closing. Because one man thinks he cannot agree to the proposition all the others refuse to do so. Who is to blame? You answer the question. We know of no town of any size where the early closing movement is not a benefit, and it is seldom that all agree in the start; but a few start and it will not be long till others will see their way to follow. We could show you a town where four firms out of fifty or more made a start, and in two years every business house closed at 6 p. m. Gentlemen, do not be afraid, because one man cannot see how he can agree to close, to do so yourselves, even if you are the only one, and you will win.

To the Record Subscribers.

April 12, 1902, we took control of the Record office. We were then publishing an eight page paper on Thursday of each week and charging $1 00 per year. Since then we have increased the paper to twelve pages, and sometimes more, and issue it twice a week—Wednesdays and Saturdays—and will charge $1.25 per year; 65 cents for six months or 35 cents for three months. If subscriptions are paid promptly in advance we can make a liberal discount, but they must be paid promptly and in advance or we can not make any discount.

We are sending the above notice to each one of our subscribers whose subscription is due or will be due between now and Nov. 15. We had hoped to be able to call on every subscriber in the village and the country around instead of sending notices; but we find we can not do it so we send the above and make you an offer for prompt payment.

$1.00 is of more value to us in advance than $1.25 is later. We are making every effort to give you the best paper possible, but we must have your co operation. Many of our subscribers have spoken kindly of our efforts and we have no doubt that all appreciate them. We will from this time forward notify all subscribers before their subscriptions are due and hope all will avail themselves of the discount we will offer for prompt payment. We have no desire to discontinue any one's paper and if you do not pay when due we will continue to send you the Record as in the past unless you notify us differently, but the price will be $1.25 per year.

United Effort.

In the Wednesday's paper we published in full the letter written by Chas. A. Chapin to W.A. Palmer with a proposition to be submitted to the citizens of Buchanan. Mr. Chapin in that letter says:

"Because of the fact that I take an interest in the welfare of Buchanan, beyond the success of my own enterprise, I hereby authorize you to submit to those concerned the following proposition."

We are willing to believe that Mr. Chapin was honest in making that statement, and until his actions belie his words we will continue to think so. Let the people of Buchanan stand together, although they do not all think alike, do the very best to get good factories here, and they can get them if a united and judicious effort is made. Then if Mr. Chapin is not willing to make such concessions as will enable us to place good factories even if they do not employ 100 horse power, it will be time to doubt his sincerity.

The people of Buchanan ought to consider that this is their opportunity, by all means do all you can. You may be satisfied, thinking you have all you need and that the factories will not benefit you any. Do not be deceived. Should Buchanan lose the benefit of the power derived from the dam, your property will dwindle to nothing and you will then, when too late, know how much factories were worth to you.

United we stand. Divided we fall.

Charles Johnson.

Chief of Police Charles Johnson presented his resignation in order to allay any criticism on his devoting time to politics during his canvas for Sheriff, but the council unanimously refused to accept the resignation, but granted the faithful chief instead a month's vacation from duties.—Palladium.

What higher commendation could be spoken of the republican candidate for Sheriff, when the Benton Harbor council composed of both republican and democrats should unanimously grant him a month's vacation instead of accepting his resignation? What we want is just that kind of men to fill our public offices.

Catarrah Cannot be Cured

with Local Applications as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrah is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrah Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrah Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrah. Send for testimonials free.

TROUBLE BEGINS

At the Same Point with Buchanan People as Elsewhere.

Trouble begins with the first back ache. "This serious trouble too—kidney trouble. Neglect means other pains more dangerous. Urinary disorders quickly follow. Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills."

Mr. George W. Closson, Prop. of the large Livery Stable and Hack Line, at 137-139 West Main St., and residing at 330 Territorial St., Benton Harbor, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Harry L. Bird's drug have been used in my family and undoubted results were obtained. My wife first learned of them through her brother-in-law Mr. J. P. Mitchell employed as Mail Clerk on the Michigan Central R. R. between Detroit and Chicago. He advised her to use them and they proved to be an excellent remedy. I heartily join Mrs. Closson in endorsing this valuable medicine. To anyone complaining of backache or any of the incidentals which follow in the wake of that far too prevalent complaint kidney disease, my advice is, use Doan's Kidney Pills."

Just such emphatic endorsement is plentiful in Buchanan. Call at W. N. Brodrick's drug store and ask him what his customers report. For sale by all dealers, price 50c. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

The finest lot of ranges ever seen in Buchanan will be on exhibition at Adams' hardware store, beginning Monday Oct. 13.

REFORMING THE STAR

[Original.]

John Chrystie, president of the Star mine at Pine Hill, Nev., knew silver from copper if he did live in the east, and the general opinion was that he was level headed on all other matters as well. He not only shared in this opinion himself, but he knew that he was a philanthropist in his way and ready to do anything to make mankind better, except to increase the scale of wages at the Star mine. That couldn't be done without injustice to the stockholders, of whom he was one, but it was the duty of his fellow beings to be good on the wages of a dollar a day. The laborers at the mine, according to frequent reports from the resident superintendent, were not bubbling over with goodness. They swore and gambled and fought and went on strikes. So did the citizens of Pine Hill; likewise the cowboys who rode into Pine Hill to paint the town red.

The Star superintendent had included these facts in his reports, and there finally came a day when President Chrystie took a serious view of the social situation and mentally resolved that something ought to be done. Had it been a case of African heathens, missionaries and Bibles would have filled the bill, but the Star and Pine Hill were not Africa. Mr. Chrystie didn't care for the town, which was a mile from the mine, or for the cowboys who rode up from the plains five miles away, but he did sigh for some better influence among the shacks and shanties surrounding the Star. One day a bright thought came to him, and he rubbed his hands in glee. The remedy was woman. That's what ailed those 200 cussing miners—the lack of woman's influence.

Among his Sunday acquaintances, so to speak, was a young woman who had passed her thirtieth birthday without getting married because she was busy with a "mission." This was to lift up and better general humanity. She was interviewed and departed almost by first train, bearing a letter to the resident superintendent in which he was instructed to give her welcome and afford her every opportunity for fighting "cuss" words and whisky with sentiment. It is due him to report that, being a practical man, a driver and a profane official, he swore vigorously and wrote out his resignation and consigned Miss Amelia Wright to Jericho.

It is also due him to add that, being a man of sense, he finally tore up his resignation and found as comfortable quarters as circumstances would permit for the woman with a mission. Her advent at the Star created greater excitement than if all the hoisting machinery had suddenly fallen into the shaft and wages had been raised to $3 a day. At her home in the east even Miss Wright's best friends had criticized her nose, mouth, hands and feet and eyes, but on the slope of Wolf hill she at once became a goddess. Pine Hill was early on the ground to give its opinion. The whole town, Chinese laundrymen and all, marched over, with banners flying, to size up the new arrival, and the conclusion was that she was a "peach." News went down among the cowboys, and they came up by sixes and dozens to swing their hats and cheer and declare she was a "Jim Dandyess." Taken all around, it was a grand welcome, and it seemed to Miss Wright as if the soil was ready and waiting for her missionary work. On the fourth morning when the night shift came up not a man of the day shift would go down. They were cutting and combing their hair, washing their red shirts and blacking their red boots, and as one of them put it to the superintendent:

"We've got a lady in camp, and dash our eyes if we don't show her that we are gentlemen and know how to behave!"

They called upon Miss Wright one after the other to be introduced, and most of them promptly proposed for her hand. When gently refused, they assured her that they stood ready to break the lucky fellow's neck. Despite the protests and entreaties of the superintendent the men persisted in making a holiday of it, and there was no room to doubt that reform had begun. The Pine Hillers, however, returned home in disgruntled mood. They recognized the fact that they were a bad lot and in need of repairs, and if there was any reform going on they wanted to be counted in. It would be a blur on the escutcheon of Pine Hill to play second fiddle to the Star mine. At an early morning hour there was another general movement toward the mine, and on this occasion every man had his gun and a determination to conquer or die. A demand was made upon the Star for its goddess that she might spread her tender influence over the shacks and shanties of the town on the crest of the hill. Then followed a fight that lasted for two days and caused a new graveyard to be surveyed and opened. Everybody on either side was ready to die for the goddess, and a respectable number of them were duly accommodated.

The Pine Hillers were at length driven back, with their hopes of reform rudely shattered, and the Star folks were binding up their wounds and singing psalms of victory when the cowboys came swooping down. They were sighing for sentiment and woman's influence. They rode over the miners and captured their goddess and bore her away. Two hours later they bundled her aboard a freight train on the S. P. road, and their leader, lifting his sombrero, explained:

"As we have no grazing ground for a goddess out here, ma'am, we've got to let you go, but I'll be respectfully cussed and the other boys will be respectfully blowed if we propose to let any durned galoots up at the Star or Pine Hill get ahead of us on refinement!"

Sudden Death.

The sad news of the sudden death of the wife of Mr. W. J. Swayze, of Kansas City, has been received here by Mr. Swayze's sisters, Mrs. H. M. Broderick and Mrs. E. S. Dodd. A Kansas City paper says:

Mrs. Annie Swayze, wife of N. J. Swayze, a retired banker, died yesterday afternoon while taking a bath, at the family home, 1216 Cherry street. Her body was found in a sitting posture in the bath tub. Although the physicians asserted that life had been extinct for almost an hour Mr. Swayze clung to the hope that his wife was only in a trance. He dissuaded the coroner from holding an autopsy and said that in compliance with a bridal compact he intended to hold the body for several days without embalming it.

The body was brought to Grand Rapids for burial, where the parents of the deceased live. Mrs. E. S. Dodd started Friday for Grand Rapids and will attend the funeral which will occur Sunday.

Berrien County Medical Society.

The Berrien County Medical Society met in the Commercial Club rooms Oct. 11, 1902.

Dr. Henderson, president; Dr. Sonws, of Benton Harbor, sec. Those present were Drs. Carr, Greenamier and Simon Belknap, of Niles; Drs. Sonws, Casey, Chappel and Hill, of Benton Harbor; Dr. Sevesinger, lady physician, of St. Joseph; Dr. Robinson, of Berrien Springs; Dr. Conrad, Galien; and Drs. Curtis, Garland and Henderson, of Buchanan.

The society has about 85 members and more coming in. Many subjects of interest to physicians only were discussed. A paper of great merit was read by Dr. Carr, of Niles, "On the eye as a means of diagnosis in disease." The paper was well received. Dr. Hill, of Benton Harbor, led in the discussion of the paper followed by Dr. Belknap, of Niles, and several others. Dr. Willis, of New Troy, sent in a scholarly paper on "Endocarditis." The secretary read the paper in the absence of Dr. Willis. This disease, especially in its bacteriological aspect was put in a new and forcible light.

The society holds a joint meeting with the Cass County Medical Society the second Thursday in December in St. Joseph.

LIVER MEDICINE

A sallow complexion, dizziness, biliousness and a coated tongue are common indications of liver and kidney diseases. Stomach and bowel troubles, severe as they are, give immediate warning by pain, but liver and kidney troubles, though less painful at the start, are much harder to cure. The Draught's Black-Draught never fails to benefit diseased liver and weakened kidneys. It stirs up the torpid liver to throw off the germs of fever and acute. It is a certain preventive of cholera and Bright's disease of the kidneys. With kidneys reinforced by The Draught's Black-Draught thousands of persons have dwelt immune in the midst of yellow fever. Many families live in perfect health and have no other doctor than The Draught's Black-Draught. It is always on hand for use in an emergency and saves many expensive calls of a doctor.

Mullins, S. C., March 10, 1901. I have used The Draught's Black-Draught for three years and I have not had to go to a doctor since I have been taking it. It is the best medicine for me that is on the market for liver and kidney troubles and dyspepsia and other complaints. Rev. A. G. LEWIS.

The Timid Kitten.
There was a little kitten once.
Who was of dogs afraid;
And being by no means a dunce,
His plans he boldly made.
He said, "It is only on the land
That dogs run after me,
So I will try a cat-boat, and I'll sail away to sea."
"Out there from the dogs I'll be secure,
And each night, ere I sleep,
To make assurance doubly sure,
A dog-watch I will keep."
He bought a cat-boat, hired a crew,
And one fine summer day
Triumphantly his flag he flew,
And gaily sailed away.
But in mid-ocean one midnight—
"I was very, very dark—
The pilot screamed in sudden fright,
"I hear a passing bark!"
"Oh what is that?" the kitten said.
The pilot said, "I fear
An ocean greyhound's just ahead,
And drawing very near!"
"Alack!" the kitten cried, "alack!
This is no paltry pup!
An ocean greyhound's on my track—
I may as well give up!"

Edward Eggleston as Historian.
It has been laid down as almost an axiom that only a rich man can write history effectively, because of the costly research and the slow returns. But Dr. Eggleston, in that work to which he was most devoted, showed once more that some things can be done as well as others. He did not hesitate to expend freely whatever he had for the necessary research, and when funds were giving out, he laid the history aside and wrote something that would bring immediate returns. This was his reason, for instance, for writing "The Faith Doctor."

The doctor had all the qualifications for an admiral talker; a genial personality, a pleasant voice, a picturesque head and mobile face, a vast abundance of interesting facts at command, including a great many that were new even to the best educated of us, and a command of language that gave a rhythmic flow to his words. While the object of his search was solid and significant fact, he had a keen sense of humor and an eye for the picturesque which caused him to pick up all the incidental plums by the way.

Of that which he considered his crowning work, two volumes have appeared; "The Beginners of a Nation" and "The Transit of Civilization." Something has been done on a third, but how much I do not know. I fear that we shall look in vain for the man to take up the work and continue it in the spirit and manner with which he had so far carried it on.—From a sketch of Edward Eggleston, by Rossiter Johnson, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for Oct.

The Designer for November sets forth a tempting array of fashions and millinery for early winter and late autumn wear. Coats of all kinds for ladies, misses and juveniles are prominent in the display. "Stylish Shirt Waists for Winter Wear" and ladies' outing costumes are also given marked attention. "Old-Fashioned Quilt Piecing," by Jessie de Forest, is a quaint and interesting contribution to the literary part of the magazine. "American Cooking Schools," by Waldon Fawcett, is of equal interest but in different vein. "The Babes in the Woods," by Imogen A. Storey, is a charming little play and drill for small children, while "Selections for the Recitationist" offers several excellent Thanksgiving poems culled from various sources. "What Women are Doing," edited by the women readers of The Designer, increases in interest, the paragraphs this month recounting several odd and original ways by which some women make a living. The short stories are "Cinderella & Co., Limited," by Ida Preston Robinson, and "How Nina Earned Her Camera," by L. R. Ayers. "A Thanksgiving Turkey Party," by Mary Dawton, furnishes hints for entertaining on that holiday, and Mary Kilsyth tells how to fit up "Stairways and Halls." "Novelties in Knitting" supplies directions for making several useful and acceptable articles, and a half page is devoted to the fashionable dress decoration known as "French Knots." Under "Millinery" are given directions for making an autumn bonnet, and "Points on Dress making" treats of fur trimming. "Book Notes," "Toilet Table Chat," "Etiquette Hints," "In Motherland," "Floriculture" and "The Kitchen Kingdom" are other helpful and entertaining departments which always are given place in this magazine for the household.

November Delineator.
The Delineator for November is one of the most notable issues of the year and presents an inviting display of fashions, literary features and domestic matter. With the paper on Dante, one of the best in the whole collection, the stories of Authors' Loves end in serial form. In Thyra Varrick, Mrs. Barr's novel, the the action becomes rapid and dramatic, and the reader's interest is kept at high pitch. The character development of the chief personages is wonderfully fine. There is an admirably told story by Josephine Dodge Daskam, entitled, The Courting of Lady Jane. Another collection of Historic and Other Pitchers will delight china lovers, and those who have followed in the preceding issues the triumphs and the tribulations of Jill in the building of her artistic house will be further attracted by her bright account of how the plumbing was done. J. Parmly Paret, the well known player has furnished for the athletic series an article on Tennis for Women, which is one of the best-published on this subject. For the children the Pastimes are usually entertaining, and in addition to a natural history sketch, there is a delicious nonsense story by Carolyn Wells, illustrated by Strothmann. The various departments, fancy-work, housekeeping, etc., are up to their usual high standard.

Restful Reading.
Magazines are readers' friends, and like people, they have very decided characteristics and personalities. Some are serious minded and hard to get acquainted with, and sometimes tiresome, though full of knowledge; some are bright and vivacious; some are weird or romantic; and a thousand others have various peculiarities and idiosyncracies more or less well developed. At any rate, most of them are suited only to a habit or mood of the reader's mind. The truly popular magazine, that goes with everybody because it somehow partakes of and reflects humanity, is hard to find. Will Carleton's magazine, Every Where, for October, seems to adapt itself to a universal need to a remarkable degree. Every line shows human experience or human aspirations, and, above all, every line is restful and satisfying. Mr. Carleton contributes three especially graceful and charming poems on Autumn themes. Mrs. Margaet E. Sangster is also one of the contributors of verse. There is much good fiction and interesting miscellany. Fifty cents a year: Every Where Publishing Co., 308 Gates Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Real St. Louis Exhibition
On the eve of her exposition it may be that St. Louis will not take kindly to an article in the October McClure's by Claude H. Wetmore and Lincoln Steffens entitled, "Tweed days in St. Louis." St. Louis, however, shares her municipal shame with many others of our cities. What she can boast of is the solitary possession of a circuit (or district) attorney like Joseph W. Folk, the real hero of the article. Mr. Folk's work in breaking up the ring singlehanded is perhaps the most remarkable performance in the history of municipal reform movements; and (what is here more to the point) the manner in which Mr. Wetmore and Mr. Steffens recount his fight makes without exaggeration the most absorbing story in this issue of McClure's, or in any other October magazine.

Cookery for Early Autumn.
In addition to the fashion and literary features of the Delineator for October is a variety of articles that will appeal especially to the housewife. They include the cooking of poultry and game, with some new recipes. Edibles made from cider; pickles and catsups, sour milk cakes, two pages of illustrated cookery; and unnumbered minor suggestions that may be put to daily use.
No such thing as "summer complaint" where Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is kept handy. Nature's remedy far looseness of the bowels.
Fall Millinery.
See the bargains in millinery at Mrs. E. Parkinson's. Just think of a good street for $1.00, get one before they are gone for they are bargains, and see the trimmed patterns direct from Cleveland, they are beauties.

POLITICIANS PARTAKE

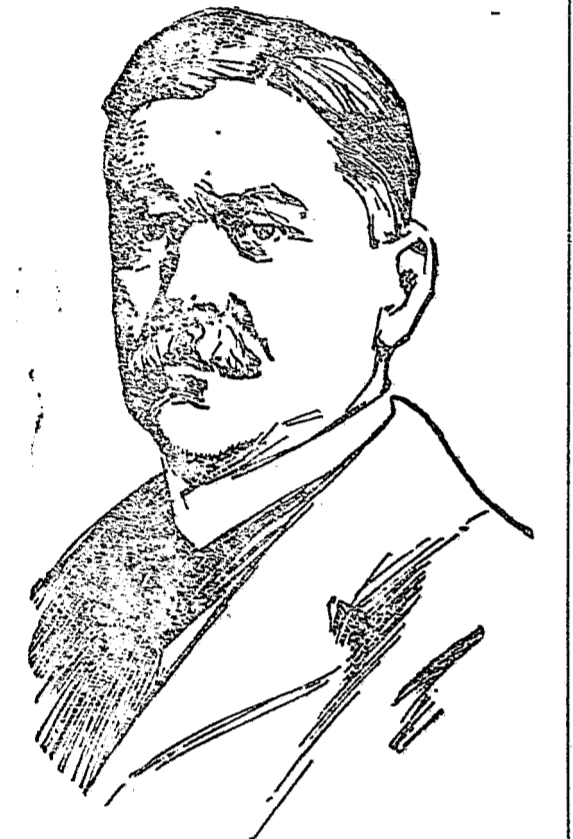

In the Conferences on the Coal Strike Proceeding at Greater New York.

PLATT, QUAY, PENROSE IN COUNCIL

With Odell and Others and in Communication with Mitchell—Roosevelt's Offer Rejected—Baer's Promise to a Priest.

Denver, Oct. 10.—Telegrams have passed between the officials of the Western Federation of Miners and President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, looking to a complete tie-up of all bituminous coal mines in the United States and Canada. Mitchell does not negative the proposition, nor does he agree definitely.

New York, Oct. 10.—Numerous conferences looking to the settlement of the anthracite coal miners' strike were held in this city yesterday, but last night there was no evidence given to the public that any results had been reached. Rumors of settlement flew thick and fast, but when any one of the conferences was approached his almost invariable answer to questions concerning the consultations was "I

WILLIAM H. TRUESDALE have nothing to say." The conferences are still going on, and a meeting was held at United States Senator Platt's downtown office at 10 a. m. today. The story of yesterday really centers about the meeting held in the afternoon at Senator Platt's office. Present at this meeting were Governor Odell, Senators Quay, Penrose and Platt, President's Gliphant, Fowler, Wilcox Truesdale, and Chairman Thomas, of the coal roads; John Markle, David Lamar and Edward Lauterbach.

By Various Routes They Get There. In reaching the room where the afternoon conference was held, in coming from their lunch, Platt, Quay and Penrose entered by means of the cellar, threading their way through a mass of boxes and piles of merchandise. At 3 p. m. they were joined by the operators of the coal mines. Lauterbach went back and forth from the office, and made a trip to J. P. Morgan's office. He did not see Morgan. Lauterbach replied to questions by saying that appearances looked very hopeful for a speedy settlement of the strike. He said he had seen President John Mitchell Wednesday night, and that he seemed disposed to act with a spirit of fairness. The conference ended at 4:30 p. m.

Strike "Might" End by Monday. When it was over the only thing the conferees would say was "I have nothing to say." Although President Mitchell apparently had no part in the conference between the senators and the operators his action was anxiously awaited. Early in the day he was joined at the Ashland House by ex-State Senator Moses W. Salomon, of Chicago. The Chicagoan refuses to say anything except that he is only a messenger. During the morning Mitchell had a long conference with his three district presidents. District President Nicholls said that his associates had not considered any formal or informal proposition from the operators. He said that the strike might possibly be settled by Monday, but intimated that it was improbable.

INSIDE VIEW OF THE MATTER Nothing at All Accomplished—Operators Will Have No Politics.

From what may be described as an inside and authoritative source it may be announced that the conference was absolutely without result, the operators refusing to consider the political aspect of the situation and maintaining the position that the question was one between employer and employe as to the management of the properties concerned.

According to the authority above indicated Senator Quay and Governor Odell expressed the opinion that if the strike continued for another fortnight or longer the effect would be to so impress the public mind with the one subject of the shortage of fuel that political duties would be neglected and the voters remain away from the polls on election day, with the natural result that the majority party in Pennsylvania and New York would be the greater sufferer. On their part the operators declared that the question at issue was entirely apart from party politics, and they refused to be influenced by representations as to the effect the strike might have upon the fortunes of one party or the other. One of the political conferees next suggested that to protract the struggle with the miners' union would be to open the way for the advocates of anti-corporation legislation at Harrisburg and Albany to move for the introducing of measures calculated to impair the value of railroad and coal properties, etc. These representations failed to move the operators, who declared that party politics should not be injected into the situation. The operators further expressed their confidence in the integrity of the courts and said they had no fear of the success of any attack that might be made through the state legislatures upon the property interests concerned.

BAER PROMISES FULL TIME Interesting Exchange of Letters with an Anthracite Region Priest.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 10. — Very Rev. P. C. Nagel, rector of St. Nicholas German Roman Catholic church, of this city, which has one of the largest congregations in northeastern Pennsylvania, among them being many mine workers, wrote a letter to President Baer a few days ago, appealing to him to do something for his people. This letter is, of course, in Philadelphia, but the reply to it having been printed here Baer was requested at Philadelphia to publish the priest's letter, which he has done, so a telegram from there says, and the following is the whole correspondence:

Letter from Rev. Mr. Nagel to President Baer, dated Oct. 7: "Dear Sir: Add to your fair propositions to the strikers the granting of full time, steady work, except by unavoidable accidents, and this promise will have a greater influence on the miners returning to work than all the soldiers or anything else. My miners do not complain about wages, but about losing too many days. If you can make this offer the strike will be settled without delay. "P. S.—I am forty-four years priest here in Wilkesbarre."

Here is President Baer's reply, received by the priest in yesterday's mail: "I am perfectly willing to promise the men full time and steady work, except when work is prevented by unavoidable accidents. I am quite sure the conditions are such that I can keep this promise. Will you kindly tell me how I can give this assurance to the men to make it most effective?"

ASKS TOO MUCH OF THE MEN

What Mitchell Thinks of the Latest Proposition from Roosevelt.

Washington, Oct. 10.—John Mitchell's reply to President Roosevelt's appeal to him to call off the strike was received at the White House yesterday. The president proposed to recommend both to congress and the Pennsylvania legislature through investigation of the whole anthracite business, if Mitchell would call off the strike. Mitchell says in his letter that the proposition he made when he and the coal road presidents were at the White House went more than half way and met the president's wishes; that he "must have been impressed with the fairness of our proposition," and that the miners feel that "the onus of this terrible state of affairs should be placed upon the side which has refused to defer to fair and impartial investigation."

Mitchell refers to the "malignant assault made upon us" by the coal operators in their statements at the White House conference, and says: "Having in mind our experience with the coal operators in the past, we have no reason to feel any degree of confidence in their willingness to do us justice in the future, and inasmuch as they have refused to accept the decision of a tribunal selected by you, and inasmuch as there is no law through which you could enforce the findings of the commission you suggest, we respectfully decline to advise our people to return to work simply upon the hope that the coal operators might be induced or forced to comply with the recommendations of your commission."

ACTION OF THE DETROIT MEETING

Pith of the Resolutions That Were Adopted on the Coal Strike.

Detroit, Oct. 10.—The 186 delegates, representing eleven states, who attended the interstate conference on the coal situation here yesterday adopted resolutions after much debate urging the president to institute civil proceedings looking to the enforcement of the interstate commerce act against the coal companies, and criminal proceedings against their officers; petitioning the governor of Pennsylvania to call a special session of the legislature of that state to condemn all the coal-carrying railroads and sufficient of the mines to supply the demands of the people. The resolution also petitions the president to call a special session of the house of representatives, and to recommend thereto the appointment of a committee with full power to investigate the cause of the strike and to place the blame therefor.

A supplemental resolution, offered by Judge Frank E. Garvin, of Indianapolis, was also adopted and ordered attached to the main resolutions. It urges that the president at once institute proceedings to dissolve "the present combination of the coal operators" and to have a receiver appointed to operate the mines. The supplemental report urges a special session of congress, if it is impossible at present for the president to take this action.

Mayor Maybury was made chairman of a committee to forward the resolutions to President Roosevelt. The committee was also made a permanent one to aid in the accomplishment of what the resolutions ask for.

MURDER IS INDICATED

Man's Body on the Track That Was Dead When Struck by a Train.

RAILWAY BUILDERS HAVE A TIME

With a Family That Objects to the Right-of-Way—Hargraves Convicted—Notes.

Ithaca, Mich., Oct. 10.—While on the way to attend church at Carson City Max Connell's boys found the mangled body of a man lying on the railroad track. The body was recognized as that of an umbrella mender who, with a companion, had been around the village the day before. At the side of the track were marks of a struggle. As the dead man's companion, who is a one-armed man, is missing, it looks as if there had been foul play.

Heard To Be Quarreling. The two men had been drinking freely Saturday afternoon, both becoming quite badly intoxicated. About 5:30 they started toward the station. On the way there they were heard quarreling over some money which the dead man had in his hand at that time. A short distance from the station they met the section men and asked them to take a drink from a bottle. Two men who were working near by the place where the body was found heard them talking. One claims they were quarreling. He called to them to get off the track. This was about 6 o'clock, and was the last seen or heard of them.

Intended to Camp Out. The only train which went through that night passed about 9 o'clock. A tin pail, a package of meat and several loaves of bread which they had purchased in the village were found on the embankment at the side of the track. It was evidently their intention to camp out during the night. The dead man's hat was found at the side of the track, and $1.30 in small change was found scattered along between the rails. Officers are looking for his one-armed companion. It is claimed he was seen in Sheridan Sunday. The name of the dead man is not known.

DIFFICULT RAILWAY BUILDING

Woman with a Pitchfork and a Mop Makes It Interesting for Track Layers.

Mount Clemens, Mich., Oct. 10. — There was a lively time at the Paquette farm when Rapid railway agents finally succeeded in forcing their way across the property and laying tracks on the land awarded to them in condemnation proceedings. The farm is located about fourteen miles north of this city. The strip condemned for the use of the trolley road is about forty rods wide, and two buildings projected over on the railroad company's land. The Paquettes were awarded $375 damages, which sum is on deposit for them, but they have refused to accept the award.

W. O. Wood, Andrew Paisley, construction boss; Deputy Sheriff Shanon, of Port Huron, and forty men, went to the farm prepared for battle. A woman on the place tried to spear Wood with a pitchfork, it is alleged, and later with a mop drove the workmen scurrying. In spite of these diversions, however, a stable housing several head of stock was torn down, and thirty feet cut off the end of a larger barn, the end of the structure being then housed up. The forty rods of right of way were then graded and the tracks laid.

For This Relief Much Thanks.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 9.—Those communities which live in dread of a visit from the state tax commission to see that property is assessed at its full value, may be relieved by the knowledge that the commission hold no reviews for the present year after this week. Next week the boards of supervisors meet to equalize the valuations in the townships and cities and therefore the tax commission can no longer interfere.

Came Near Getting Enough Sleep.

Mount Clemens, Mich., Oct. 10. — Alice Roberts, a girl working in the linen room at the Avery House, was found in her room with a handkerchief saturated with chloroform over her face. She did not come to till after 12 o'clock. She says she had a pain in the region of the heart, and wanted to sleep. A two-ounce bottle of chloroform was found half used.

Dead by His Own Hands.

Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 10.—The jury in the case of Emil Paulitz, who was found dead in the woods, rendered a verdict of accidental death at his own hands. It was shown that the boy slipped on a log, the gun sending a charge into his stomach.

Hargraves Found Guilty.

Traverse City, Mich., Oct. 10.—John A. Hargraves has been found guilty of manslaughter. Last April he choked his invalid wife and beat her to death with a club in a bedroom of their home in this city. His defense was that he was having a fit.

Hard Coal Prices Boosted.

Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 10.—Retail coal dealers boosted the price of hard coal from $8 to $10 a ton. Local dealers say that there is little hard coal in the city.

Two Pairs and a Queen.

Adrian, Mich., Oct. 10.—Mrs. Carl Crone presented her astonished husband Sunday with a second pair of twins.

THE WOMAN WHO WENT FOR A GLASS OF WATER

[Original.] When the Pacific railroads were new, a great deal of the property along the lines was a wilderness. It was often many miles between stations, and a station was frequently merely a place for people to come from a distance to get aboard the cars. One evening in December a train approaching one of these sheds—for that is all it was—was flagged with a bandanna handkerchief by four men. The engineer pulled up at the platform, and the men got aboard. They were for a time very well behaved, looking about them evidently with a view to observing their surroundings. The train consisted of a locomotive, a baggage car and a coach. The only passengers were two men, peaceable looking farmers, and two women, apparently their wives.

"See here, Mr. Conductor," said one of the party, "I'm the president of this company just now, and you're to look to me for orders. I'll trouble you to increase this funeral pace and snake us along to the next station across the divide. You go tell the engineer that I'll give him three hours to make the 112 miles."

"Who are you?" asked the conductor. "Who am I? I'm Simms." There was a grim silence. The two farmers cast glances at each other, and their wives got down under the seats. Simms and his gang had terrorized the region for months without being molested. No one either dared or felt disposed to make it his business to hunt them down. A few days before they had entered a town, plundered a bank in broad daylight and taken to the desolate region through which they were traveling.

"Now, we don't want nothing," continued Simms, "but to git on. There's no plunder aboard this train, and we don't want it if there is. Git us to B— by 9 o'clock, and neither you nor your passengers will be molested."

"All right," said the conductor. "I'll get you through without fail."

One of the gang went forward with the conductor to take position on the locomotive, another stationed himself in the baggage car, while the other two remained among the passengers. The train proceeded on its way as if nothing had happened. Simms at first remained in the coach, but soon got up and went forward, but not until he had called a man to take his place. He was very sharp with his men, cautioning them not to relax their vigilance because they had everything their own way, but they seemed to dread nothing, at least within the train, and indeed there did not appear to be anything to dread. The few train hands aboard moved about at their usual duties, while the farmers and their wives seemed to be dreading every moment that they would be murdered. Darkness came on, and one of the hands lighted the lamps. Simms came into the coach and talked in a low tone with the two robbers there. One of the farmers heard him say: "If this luck holds, we'll be where we can go in either of five directions. In this dreary region we'd git starvation sure." Then he went forward again.

It was about 8 o'clock. The two robbers in the passenger coach were sitting talking together. They had taken a position where they could keep the party of farmers before them. The farmers occupied two seats facing each other, the men facing the women and the robbers, the women with their backs to the robbers. The latter had walked down. One of them got up and walked past the outlays to the rear of the car. They followed her with their eyes till they saw that she had gone to get a glass of water, then ceased to pay any attention to her. Suddenly two words rang out sharp and clear above the rattle of the train: "Hands up!"

The order was shouted within a foot of the two robbers' ears. At the same moment the farmers each whipped out a revolver. The robbers' first impulse was to lock back. They saw a woman with a revolver in each hand, the muzzles within a few inches of their heads. Then the two farmers approached and disarmed the robbers, while the two women threw off their outside apparel and appeared in men's attire. One of the two robbers gave a yell as a signal for his fellows, but his voice was drowned by the rattle of the train. Two of the farmers now proceeded to the baggage car. One of them threw open the door, while the other stood with a revolver pointed into the car. The robber there was on the lookout and fired as soon as the door was opened, but as the man who threatened him stood beside instead of before the door he was uninjured. Simms at the time was on the locomotive. Hearing the shot, he was climbing over the coal in the tender to go to the baggage car when the engineer shot him dead. The robber in the baggage car, not receiving assistance, soon yielded to an order to throw up his hands. In five minutes from the time the supposed woman went to get a drink of water three of the gang had been captured and their leader killed.

A vigilance committee had for some time been trying to stop the depredations of Simms and his men, but had failed. The cashier of the bank they had last robbed, a very energetic man, attended to following the gang himself. He tracked them into a region from which he felt sure their quickest and surest plan of exit was to capture a train. This one was purposely prepared. The engineer, conductor and all train hands were armed, and the farmers and their wives were picked men disguised. The leader of the posse was the woman who went for the glass of water.
