GIDDY DOING

Little Folks and Big Folks have Jolly Times on Halloween.

The social world was thoroughly alive Friday evening, as parties of friends were gathered in various places in the village to celebrate halloween.

Mrs. C. D. Kent entertained a number of little people and their mothers, and a few other guests. There were present Mrs. H. H. Hosford, Donald and Kenneth, Mrs. Henry Kingery, Lyle and Richard, Mrs. E. S. Roe, Fred and Mildred, Mrs. Chas. Pears, Richard and Donald, Kenneth and Louise Porter, Mrs. Alfred Richards, and Mrs. Herbert Roe. The last named lady and Mrs. E. S. Roe presided over the candy kitchen.

The hostess had provided taffy, which the children had the fun of pulling, and making into nut candy; here was also chocolate fudge and cocoanut candy, nuts and popcorn. Halloween games and ping pong were played, and all pronounced Mrs. Kent a royal hostess.

Miss Gertie Montague also had a few friends come to spend the evening with her, and such strange and wierd things came to pass that the guests are somewhat mentally unbalanced yet. Each person was admitted by the back door and ushered in the most circuitous way through the dimly lighted house; and upon reaching the front of the hall a six foot ghost swept them with a broom up stairs. The house was decorated with black cats made from cloth, and the young men found their partners for the three course supper by discovering a young lady who had been given an animal similiar to the one he had. It was a decided hallowe'en party and many strange things were revealed by witchcraft.

Miss Jennie Miller entertained the T. B. C. O. B's. at the home of her sister, Mrs. Walter Boone, on Friday evening. There were ten members present. Games were played and refreshments served, and all enjoyed the evening.

Miss Nina Holliday entertained a number of her friends Friday evening at her home on Cayuga street. The evening was pleasantly spent in games and music. The guests from out of town were Messrs. Fischer and Hopkins, of Kalamazoo. The company was favored with some very fine piano solos by Mr. Fischer. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, and during the evening they were serenaded by the "Tater Quintette."

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Andrews very pleasantly entertained the J. C. club at their home Friday evening, Oct. 31. The house was prettily decorated with flowers and jack lanterns. Appropriate hallowe'en sports and cards were features of the evening. Favors were won by Issac Wells, John Wells and F. F. Rough. Oysters were served. The next meeting will be with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rowley, Nov. 14.

In order to keep up with the witches that are turned loose on the eve of hallowe'en the Happy-Go-Lucky club issued invitations to their gentlemen friends to a hobo party to be held at the last house in pig tail alley, which proved to be W. C. Porter's spacious barn, which was decorated with corn stalks and jack o' lanterns.

After all the guests arrived and were received by the committee in charge they all joined in a merry county dance. Music was furnished by the Hills Corners orchestra, which consisted of a violin and a dulcimer. All the costumes are worthy of description but must be seen in order to be appreciated. Miss Minnie Shafer and Mr. Sig Desenberg won prizes for having the best make up, while equal credit is due Mr. W. C. Porter, Gus Stearns and Geo. H. Black for being typical hobos. Hand outs were given at 11:30 and when all departed they were delighted with the jolly evening's pleasure.

GRADUATING RECITAL.

Miss Seymour Renders Fine Program to Large Audience.

"There was a good-sized audience last night to hear the graduating recital of Miss Cora E. Seymour in Normal hall. And that, notwithstanding the sweltering heat and the lateness of the baloon ascension, which drew the crowds elsewhere. Miss Seymour is a graceful pianist, who has learned well the art of skilfully interpreting the great masters. People usually come to endure piano playing. Last night they enjoyed it all, from the first chord of the opening concerto to the last tripping notes of the final number. The music was produced without apparent effort, too, thus showing the effect of a careful training and placing the audience at ease from the start. The concert was marked throughout by this characteristic.

Miss Mildred Fletcher of the Conservatory faculty, who assisted, added greatly to the pleasure of evening. Interest in her interpretations was thoroughly awakened by her first number and grew to an enthusiastic climax where she sang Elizabeth's Prayer from Tannhauser so beautifully.

Francis L. York, whose pupil Miss Seymour is, played the organ.

The stage was artistically decked with flowers and palms.

Miss Seymour looked very sweet in white silk crepe de chine, with a neck-lace of lovely pearls.

The above is from an Ypsilanti paper, regarding Miss Seymour's graduating recital a few months ago. The recital in the Presbyterian church next Friday evening will be given by Miss Seymour assisted by Mr. Phil Friday, impersonator, Mrs. Crossman, vocalist, the ladies quartette, and Miss Hubbell, organist.

An excellent program is prepared and a real treat awaits those who attend.

PIANOFORTE RECITAL

Musicians and Impersonator Will Entertain Buchanan People Next Friday Night.

The program arranged for the entertainment at the Presbyterian church next Friday evening, will no doubt be a source of much pleasure to all who attend.

Miss Cora Seymour will give several numbers taking selections from Hummel, Hasselman, Rubinstein, Chopin and Sternberg. She will be ably assisted by Mrs. Cora Crossman, vocalist; Philip Friday, impersonator and humorous; Miss Hubbell, organist and the ladies quartette.

Miss Seymour gives this recital that the people may have an opportunity of hearing her play and learn some thing of her ability and skill as a pianist, anticipatory to her forming a class of pupils for piano instruction. Mr. Friday will no doubt be heard to advantage in his readings, "The Typewritten Letter" and "Watchin the Sparkin'" and Mrs. Crossman and the ladies quartette will also prove a pleasure to all listeners.

Deer Shooting.

The prospects for deer shooting in Northern Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan the coming season are exceptionally good, and fine sport is assured. Reduced rates will be made for excursion tickets, from Chicago and Milwaukee to points on and via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry. A synopsis of the game laws now in effect may be obtained on application to Robt. C. Jones, Michigan Passenger Agent, Detroit, Mich.

Halt Comrades!

And stop at the home of Comrade Harry Couse with your wives, daughters, and sons Thursday evening Nov. 6th; picnic supper. Rally round the old camp kettle for jokes and songs.

Notice.

I will continue to run the rig to South Bend as usual Thursday of each week. I. N. BACHELOR.

AUTHORITATIVE INFORMATION.

Rev. Cole Speaks at the High School on Cliff Dwellers.

Geo. L. Cole, of Los Angeles, Cal. who has been making the cliff dwellers a study, gave a very interesting talk to the scholars of the high school and eighth grade on Monday morning. He has an illustrated lecture which he has been giving to the schools in Chicago and hopes to give here. The modern cliff dwellers are Pueblo Indians, but it is not known who the ancient ones were. There are now only fourteen of these communities or cities and they are disappearing at the rate of nearly two a year. The largest of the cities is now 2,000 inhabitants. In the fourteen colonies there are about 15,000 or 16,000 people.

He said that Lord, the author of "Beacon Lights of History," would never have written that art and architecture did not develop from the family if he had visited the cliff dwellers; for here was a very clear demonstration of the development of architecture. First there was only a mound, then a little further on a single dwelling, until there were found magnificent buildings with many rooms. Some dwellings had a thousand.

He described how the dwellings were set into the cliffs about midway between the top and bottom and how some could not be reached from the bottom at all, and how difficult it was to reach them from any way. He told of securing several mummies and of visiting Navajo Indians, and had with him a number of the native blankets.

He said the men owned the horses but the women owned the flocks of sheep and the children.

The lecture was very interesting and was enjoyed by all.

HOW OUT A PRINCE!

[Original.]

John Wren was an intimate friend of mine, and Amy, my wife, was as fond of him as I. He was constantly at our house, and we should have found it a great loss to give him up.

One day John went away, and when he came back he brought a wife with him. As soon as we saw her it was evident that John, with good natured, easy going proclivities, had been roped into a marriage with a woman beneath him.

Amy and I found ourselves in the face of a problem. We could not take Mrs. Wren into our hearts along with John, and we could not give John up. The only thing we could do was to treat her as cordially as possible. This we tried, but it proved a failure. She was constantly in trouble not only with us, but with others. Her associates were noisy, common people like herself, and she usually led them by the nose to make themselves more disagreeable than they were naturally. Amy and I had many a long talk as to what we should do to keep John's friendship, relinquishing that of his wife, but never came to any conclusion.

Having children who needed the country air, Amy and I concluded to build a suburban residence. We were much interested in its construction and when we got into it thought we were settled for life. My wife insisted on inviting John Wren to come up and stay over the first Sunday we spent in the house.

"Will you invite his wife?" I asked.

"No. John understands the situation perfectly and will come without her."

"Very well," I replied. "I trust she will be satisfied with our loving her husband and ignoring her."

John came. He said nothing about our leaving out his wife, and we did not mention her during the visit. He looked careworn when he arrived, but brightened up while he was with us. When about to return, he again relapsed into sadness.

Three months after we got settled Mrs. Wren wrote Amy asking some questions about the place of our residence, saying at the same time that she was urging her husband to build near us. "You are such friends," she wrote, "and John enjoys your society so much that I have not the heart to let him be separated from you."

Amy and I looked at one another in astonishment. What could we do to prevent this woman from coming among us? What did we do? Nothing. One morning we saw a load of lumber dumped in the adjoining lot and upon inquiring who was going to build there were told that it was a man of the name of Wren.

Well, we watched the house go up, every day losing interest in our own home now that it was to be in the shadow of Mrs. Wren's. When she moved in, she was profuse in expressions of friendliness—all on account of her husband—and was sure that it was the only thing that would save him from a chronic melancholy. As John left in the morning on an early train and never returned until near midnight it did not appear that the remedy would be effectual. Nevertheless whenever he was up from the city for the day he spent all his time with us. But if John was not often at home his wife's friends were there constantly. They would sit out on the piazza until late in the evening, talking and laughing boisterously.

We had never noticed any fondness for music on the part of Mrs. Wren, but now most of her friends played on some instrument. There were guitars, mandolins, 'banjos, tambourines and bones. The players seemed to have barely learned the rudiments of music and kept up an incessant hammering that would destroy the nerves of a dinosaur. One evening when Amy was suffering from a headache I ventured to inform the party of the fact from my piazza and ask a respite. They stopped playing immediately and sulkily. The next evening their concert was enlivened by a French horn.

"Amy," said I, "that woman came here to drive us out."

"I do believe it," she said, almost with a sob.

When the autumn came and Mrs. Wren announced that on John's account, his health demanding that he should remain near us, she would remain in the country, there was nothing for us to do but take a house in the city. We could only afford a flat, but we feared that Mrs. Wren would take another in the same building and over or adjoining us, so we rented a house standing by itself, feeling safe that she could not build another beside us before spring.

Mrs. Wren finally decided to spend the winter in the city, returning to her country place in the spring, only to find ours rented. She was preparing to return to the city, doubtless to discover where we were going for the season and follow us, when one afternoon a terrific thunderstorm came up. For five minutes the bolts flashed in rapid succession, and after one of the sharpest a servant appeared at the Wrens' front door calling for help. A neighbor went over and found Mrs. Wren lying dead in a room in which were kept a dozen or more musical instruments, to which had been recently added a snare drum.

When John married again two years later, Amy took pains to pick out a wife for him. She pleased him far better than he had pleased himself.

The principle underlying this story is: A married couple can't be bosom friends with a man and leave his wife out in the cold.

PERCIVAL MARSH.

TWO VALUABLE KISSES

[Original.]

General Marakoff, stopping at the country house of his friend Vladimir Kobolef, was pacing his room, pausing now and again to pick up a telegram lying on the table. Presently one of his staff who had been summoned entered.

"Captain," said the general, "I have received a message from the St. Petersburg police that a member of the Golden Circle, a nihilist club, has set out from the capital for the purpose of killing the czar, who is journeying in his carriage between the town of J—and the city of Moscow. Unfortunately there is no telegraph line along the route over which he moves, and one can only reach him by courier. Ride to him and warn him of the danger threatening him."

"Yes, general."

"If you fail—Siberia. If you succeed—anything you wish."

The young man hurried out, while Kobolef, who had overheard the conversation, hastened to the room of his daughter.

"Vera," he said, "Captain Alexis Vronsky is about to set out to warn the czar of an attempt to assassinate him. I shall contrive to send you with him that you may delay him."

Vera paled and caught at a chair for support.

Kobolef glanced uneasily at the girl and hurried away to the stables, where he found Vronsky in the act of mounting.

"Where go you, captain?"

"How do I proceed in order to strike the road from M—to Moscow?"

"I cannot direct you, but I can send some one with you to show you. No one here knows the route except my daughter."

And he ordered Vera's horse to be saddled.

"Oh, Vera," said Vronsky as they were riding side by side, "what happiness to have you with me! I must reach my goal in time or spend my life a prisoner in Siberia."

An expression of agony passed over Vera's face.

"Do you know why I am with you? Father sent me to delay you."

"A nihilist?" exclaimed the young man.

"Alas, in me principle is weaker than love! I have confessed to you instead of delaying you."

Kobolef, not content with sending his daughter to thwart Vronsky's effort, sent one of his tenants, Ivanovich, a devoted nihilist, to follow and shoot him if possible. As Vera spoke the last word they heard Ivanovich's horse's hoofs beating the road behind them.

"Ride on," said Vera, "for your life."

Vronsky hastily drew her toward him, pressed a kiss on her lips and dashed forward. Vera rode back and met Ivanovich.

"The courier?" she said. "Who sent you. What were you to do?"

"Kill the courier if possible."

"My father directed me to delay him."

"Yes, and for fear you would not succeed I was to shoot him. I know you have been trying to decoy him, for I just saw him kiss you. That kiss saved him. I could not shoot without hitting you."

"How unfortunate! I tell you what to do. Remain here while I ride on. By promising him another kiss I may be able to delay him. When I use this dog whistle, ride forward, and I will take care not to be in the way."

The man was persuaded, and Vera rode on. Vronsky had meanwhile pressed his horse to his utmost, and Vera did not overtake him till she had ridden for more than a mile, and then only because he had met with an accident. She found him standing in the road beside his horse, who had gone lame. Meanwhile Ivanovich, instead of waiting, was riding forward. Indeed, they could hear the sound of his horse's hoofs.

"Take my horse," said Vera.

"One more kiss."

"May it save your life as the last did."

With a quick embrace Vronsky sprang to Vera's horse, mounted and dashed away. In another moment the man following rode up.

"There it is again," he said. "I just came in sight of him and was about to shoot him when he kissed you."

"Give me your horse quick and take mine. It is faster than yours. Catch him."

Ivanovich jumped from his horse.

"Hold my foot while I mount."

In another moment Vera was riding away on Ivanovich's horse, while he ran to Vronsky's and, having mounted, discovered that the horse was lame. Vera joined Vronsky, and they met with no more delay till they reached a village where fresh horses had been ordered for the czar, and soon after he appeared with his suit. Vronsky gave the warning, and measures were taken for thwarting the assassin.

"And now, your majesty," said Vronsky, "I wish to commend to you notice this girl, who was sent out to delay me and instead delayed a man who followed to shoot me."

"What can I do for you?" asked the czar of Vera.

"Nothing. My associates will find means to kill me."

"Come with me. I will appoint you to service with the empress, and you shall live as we live, in the midst of guards."

Vronsky was made an aid-de-camp on the staff of the emperor, and he and Vera were married. Vera's father was arrested for his part in the plot against the czar and sentenced to death. He was pardoned on condition that he should refrain from any attempt to punish his daughter.

HOUSE IS VERY CLOSE

Republicans Seem to Have a Majority, with Only Eleven Doubtful Districts.

THEY GET 116 SURE IN THE SOUTH

No Contests in Most of the States Below the Ohio.

Republicans Hold the West and East, Carrying New York Over a Big "Greater City" Vote—Details.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Dispatches to the Associated Press up to 3:30 this morning show that the Republicans have elected 195 representatives and the Democrats 180, with eleven districts to be heard from.

Washington, Nov. 5.—At 2 a. m. Chairman Griggs, of the Democratic congressional committee, issued a statement claiming that the Democrats had elected 190 representatives.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Although the returns from the doubtful congressional districts were slow in arriving the indications at this writing are that the Republicans will control the next house of representatives by a narrow margin. In the present house, with a membership of 357, the Republicans have forty-one majority. Under the new apportionment the Fifty-eighth house will consist of 888 members, a majority of which is 194. The thirteen southern states, not counting West Virginia, but including Missouri, have 125 representatives.

Democrats Have 116 of Them. The Democrats have carried 116 of these districts and the Republicans probably five—two in Tennessee, one in Kentucky and two in Missouri—with two in North Carolina, one in Virginia and one in Alabama doubtful. To obtain a majority in the next house it was necessary, therefore, for the Democrats to secure seventy-eight votes in the north and west. In this territory they have at present fifty-two representatives. The latest returns indicate that this strength has been held with the exception of one seat each from Idaho, Montana and Nevada, as to which the returns at this hour are inconclusive.

Looks Like a Close House. Adding 40 to 116 gives the Democrats 156. The Democrats show that they have made a gain of three in Pennsylvania, one in Nebraska, one in Delaware, one in Wisconsin, two in Maryland, one in Colorado, and probably four in New York, swelling the total to 178. This leaves them sixteen short of a majority, with the result in five doubtful southern districts to be heard from and doubtful districts in the north and west from which the returns are as yet inadequate, as follows: West Virginia, 2; Ohio, 1; Indiana, 2; Illinois, 2; Iowa, 1; Nebraska, 1; Kansas, 1; Minnesota, 2; Michigan, 1; California, 2, and Utah, 1, a total of 21.

Senate Republican by Sixteen. The next United States senate will be Republican by at least sixteen majority, against the present majority of twenty. The present senate contains fifty-four Republicans and thirty-four Democrats in a total of ninety seats, there being two vacancies from Delaware, where the Republican legislature failed to elect. The terms of thirty senators expire with the present congress. There is also a vacancy from Michigan, caused by the death of Senator McMillan.

Democratic Elect Are 184. Later—Returns add one Democrat in New Jersey, one in Minnesota, one in Illinois, one in Alabama and two in North Carolina, to the Democratic representation, a total of six, making the Democrats actually elected by the returns thus far received 184. Other figures at this writing give the Republicans, 190; Democrats, 176, and independents, 3, with eleven districts in doubt.

FROM THE GREAT WESTERN STATES

Show General Republican Success at the Battle of Ballots.

New York, Nov. 5.—In spite of the phenomenally large vote in New York and Kings county for Bird S. Coler, Dem., the returns up to a late hour last night indicated the re-election of Benjamin B. Odell, Rep., to the governorship of New York state by a plurality of 11,804. Coler's plurality in the Greater New York exceeded 115,000, a surplus of 3,000 above the claim made by Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, but even that large vote was not sufficient to overcome the Republican majorities from up the state. Odell's vote in the country districts was lighter than two years ago, but Coler's was also lower than Stanchfield's in the same year.

In New York city Coler's plurality was approximately 117,500, made up as follows: New York county, 83,000; Kings county, 26,500; Queens, 5,500, and Richmond, 2,800. Figures from the congressional districts in New York city and the Long Island counties apparently show a loss of four members of the national house to the Republicans, the heavy Coler vote having carried the first nineteen districts in the state for the Democratic candidates. All returns indicate that Judge Gray, Democratic candidate for judge of the court of appeals, ran somewhat ahead of his ticket.

The Democrats made gains in the state legislature, but the gains were not sufficient to endanger the Republican hold on the seat in the United States senate now held by Thomas C. Platt.

ILLINOIS RETURNS ARE SLOW

State Is Republican by 45,000, but Some Districts Are Doubtful.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The Republicans have carried Illinois by a plurality of about 45,000. The Republican leaders claim that they have elected Busse for state treasurer by 47,000 and Mamer for clerk of the supreme court by 45,000. The Republicans will have at least fourteen representatives in congress, as against eleven in the last congress. The Democrats are sure of nine representatives, and may secure two more. The contest in the Sixth congressional district is exceedingly close, and it may require the official count to determine the result. Lorimer has a slight lead, but Durborrow was gaining slowly as the late returns came in. The election of Foss in the Tenth district is doubtful.

On returns on the election for members of the state legislature the best information is that the Republicans will have a majority of both the senators and representatives from this county, and control the legislature. In the city of Chicago the election was full of surprises. The Republicans triumphed in Democratic strongholds and the Democrats returned the compliment in fullest measure. The head of the Republican ticket, Busse, the candidate for state treasurer, has carried the city of Chicago and county of Cook by approximately 11,000, and at the same time Barrett, the Democratic candidate for sheriff, has undoubtedly beaten the Republican nominee by about 16,000.

FAIRBANKS' ELECTION IS SURE

Republicans Carry Indiana, Including the State Legislature.

Indianapolis, Nov. 5.—Indiana went Republican yesterday by from 25,000 to 40,000. The congressional delegation remained the same—with nine Republicans and four Democrats. The legislature will be about twenty-five Republican on joint ballot, and Senator Fairbanks will be re-elected to the United States senate. This estimate is based on unofficial returns received at the headquarters of the Democrats and Republican state central committees, and from the specials received from every county in the state. Throughout the state the Republicans legislative ticket led the local candidates.

State Chairman Goodrich, of the Republican committee, said: "Latest advices indicate that our plurality in the state will not fall below 30,000 and may reach 40,000. The result on the legislative ticket is unusually gratifying. We have not less than 30,000 majority on joint ballot, controlling both houses. Secretary Bailey, of the Democratic state committee, concedes the state to the Republicans by from 25,000 to 30,000.

BLISS IS AGAIN ELECTED

He Carries Michigan by Between 30,000 and 40,000 Plurality.

Detroit, Nov. 5.—The Republicans of Michigan have elected Governor A. T. Bliss and their entire state ticket, eleven of the twelve representatives and an overwhelming majority of the members of the legislature. The vote was tight throughout the state, and the Republican majority is estimated at between 30,000 and 40,000, although Republican State Chairman G. J. Diekmann insists that it will be nearer 75,000, basing his statement on advices received from the various county chairmen. Governor Bliss ran heavily behind his ticket—from 10,000 to 15,000, it is estimated. L. T. Durand, the Democratic candidate for governor, polled a correspondingly heavy vote, especially in Detroit, which he carried by from 4,000 to 6,000. All indications pointed to the election of Alfred Lucking, Dem., to congress from the First district.

HOW THE IOWA IDEA EMERGED

Falls Out of the Struggle with Probably 65,000 Republican Plurality.

Des Moines, Nov. 5.—On the basis of the precinct returns received up to this writing the Republicans have elected their state ticket by about 75,000 plurality. The reports from the congressional districts are meager. Enough has been received from the Third to indicate that Judge Birdsall, nominated by the Republicans to succeed Speaker Henderson, ran substantially with his ticket and will be elected by 4,000 to 5,000 votes over ex-Governor Folger. The returns indicate close counts in both the Sixth and the Second districts, but they are not numerous enough to base an estimate upon.

At Republican headquarters it is asserted that the Republican plurality in the state as a whole is sufficient to carry all the congressional candidates. Chairman Spence, of the Republican committee, said: "We have carried the state by at least 65,000. The figures indicate a larger plurality, but we are not claiming more at present. We have elected eleven Republican representatives."

Chairman Jackson, of the Democratic committee, said: "We are making no claims, but concede nothing." The Democratic committee did not receive returns last night.

BADGER STATE FOR LAFOLLETTE

Governor Gets There with at Least 35,000 Plurality, as Claimed.

Milwaukee, Nov. 5.—Wisconsin has gone Republican by at least 35,000 plurality and Governor Robert M. La Follette and the complete state ticket is elected. The Republicans will also control the next legislature, which will elect a United States senator to succeed Spooner. In addition the election of eight representatives is certain, with probably two more, if not the entire delegation. The candidates in the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth districts are having a close run.

Chairman A. F. Worden, of the Democratic state central committee, said: "The returns thus far have been very limited but gratifying, showing substantial gains over the vote of two years ago, but are insufficient on which to make any definite statement."

BUCKEYE STATE FIGURES ARE BIG

Republicans Claim 100,000 Plurality on the State Ticket.

Columbus, O., Nov. 5.—The Republicans carried Ohio yesterday by next to their highest plurality on record. Nothing above 70,000 had been predicted, but partial returns indicate that it will greatly exceed those figures. At the same time the Republicans are likely to lose a representative in congress. The present Ohio delegation consists of seventeen Republicans and four Democrats and the returns show sixteen Republicans and four Democrats elected, with the Twelfth district in doubt.

Chairman Dick said: "Returns to this hour do not change our estimate of 100,000 Republican plurality." During the campaign it was said that any reduction of the Republican plurality in Ohio would be considered a preliminary victory for Mayor Johnson over Senator Hanna in the senatorial contest of next year.

COLORADO ELECTS REPUBLICANS

Legislature Is Democratic and Teller Returns to the Senate.

Denver, Nov. 5.—Returns from the state indicate that Colorado has elected a full Republican ticket by small majorities. This is conceded by leading Democrats, though not by Chairman Smith. The Democratic congressional candidates are claimed to have run ahead of their ticket, and one or more of them may be elected.

The legislature will undoubtedly be Democratic on joint ballot, as there are seventeen Democratic hold-over senators. This insures the return of Teller to the United States senate, as he was endorsed by the Democratic state convention.

Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—Estimates from more than half the counties in Pennsylvania outside of Philadelphia and Allegheny county show gains for the Democratic state ticket. These gains are offset, however, by heavy Republican gains in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. The returns indicate the Republican plurality in the state of from 150,000 to 200,000. The Republicans will have an increased majority in the state senate and house, which assures the re-election of United States Senator Penrose.

Missouri's Position.

St. Louis, Nov. 5.—In several districts the fight for congress is very close, and definite results will probably not be known for hours. At Republican state headquarters it is claimed that there is a slight Republican gain in Missouri counties. At Democratic headquarters it is claimed the Democratic ticket will come to St. Louis with 15,000 to 18,000 majority, and here the Democrats have a big majority.

Connecticut.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 5.—Returns from Connecticut indicate the election of the entire Republican ticket by pluralities ranging about 15,000, and that Connecticut will return all four representatives, Republicans, and a Republican representative-at-large. The general assembly promises to be comfortably Republican, thus insuring the return to the United States senate of O. H. Platt.

Close on Governor in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 5.—Returns in Nebraska show the vote to be exceedingly close on governor, with the remainder of the Republican state ticket probably elected. The fusionists have gained a representative in the Second district—Hitchcock over Mercer—and the Republicans have probably gained in the Fourth—Hineshaw over Stark.

Rhode Island Elects Garvin.

Providence, Nov. 5.—The Republicans have undoubtedly secured full control of the senate, a majority decreased somewhat from last year in the house, and with the exception of the chief executive they have elected their state ticket. L. F. C. Garvin, Dem., defeating the Republican candidate for governor.

Minnesota Goes 20,000.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—The entire Republican ticket has been elected in Minnesota by a plurality of certainly over 20,000 and possibly by over 30,000. The legislature is Republican in both branches. On representatives the Republicans claim the entire delegation of nine.

One Republican from Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 5.—Returns indicate the probable election of Slomp, Republican, in the Ninth district. This would make the state delegation stand nine Democrats and one Republican. The vote throughout the state has been very light.

New Jersey.

Trenton, Nov. 5.—Chairman Stokes, of the Republican state committee, claims that his party has elected nine of the ten representatives in congress. Chairman Gourley, of the Democratic state committee, claims four.

North Dakota as Usual.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 5.—North Dakota has gone Republican by about the usual majority.

INCIDENT AT KANSAS CITY

Most Notable Was the Open Selling of Votes by Negroes.

Kansas City, Nov. 5.—Several fights occurred at voting places in the north end yesterday, two men were arrested for intimidating voters, and quite a number of negroes openly sold their votes. John Pryor, a Democrat, knocked Charles Riehl, assistant prosecuting attorney, a Republican challenger, down because Riehl, according to Pryor, interfered with a voter. Both were arrested, but released on bond.

The votes of several negroes were purchased at $2 and $3 a piece. Some of these votes were bought boldly at the entrance to the booths. At one booth a Democrat offered a negro $2, and was about to vote him when a Republican raised the price to $3. The Republican was knocked down.

County Prosecutor Hadley complained to Chief Hayes that Patrolman Bert Brannon was intimidating voters and the officer was taken off duty. N. P. Rogers, a young man, also was arrested for alleged intimidation and booked for investigation.

THEY ARE LEARNING ALL RIGHT

Woman Arrested for Repenting at the Polls at Denver.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 5.—For the first time in the history of Colorado politics a woman was arrested yesterday on the charge of repeating. When booked at the city jail she gave the name of Jennie Sanderson, but she was subsequently identified as Mrs. Harriet Hibbard, a widow 50 years of age.

She was neatly dressed and had the appearance of refinement. It is alleged that she was in the act of casting her third ballot when arrested. She admitted her guilt and said she could give no reason for her acts except her desire to make some extra money. She told the police she was a Republican.

On application of the Republican county committee Judge Palmer issued a blanket injunction restraining election judges and clerks from in any way preventing the free exercise of the right of suffrage. The injunction was served, but the Republican leaders alleged that in many instances it was ignored.

Coler Suggests "Heathen Chinese Business."

New York, Nov. 5.—Coler, the Democratic candidate for governor, was asked last night what he thought of the result of the election. He said: "You can quote me as saying that I don't give it up. I cannot imagine how, with the magnificent vote I received in Greater New York, there should be such a peculiar vote in the uppr state. I am convinced that there has been a little of that peculiar 'Heathen Chinese' business going on." That is all Coler would say.

REPEATERS THICK AT ST. LOUIS

So Much So That One Republican Judge Gives Up His Post.

St. Louis, Nov. 5.—While the election in St. Louis passed off in comparative quiet there were a number of arrests for repeating. Two Republican judges of election were arrested on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. Complaints from more than fifty voters who had not been allowed to cast their ballots were received at the office of the board of election commissioners.

Circuit Attorney Folk spent all of the day at his office listening to complaints and hearing evidence of alleged fraud, which will be called to the attention of the grand jury. P. F. Myers, a Republican election judge, resigned because, he declared, there was so much repeating, which he was powerless to stop, that he was disgusted and would not serve longer.

Garber, chairman of the Democratic state committee, this morning gave out a statement, in which he says: "In Hamilton county last year the honored and gallant veteran soldier, Colonel James Kilbourne, as the Democratic candidate for governor, made the Republican precincts of Cincinnati Democratic by 1,000 votes, and Louis G. Bernard today made the Democratic precincts there go Republican by 7,000 votes. Both John R. McLean and Bernard have resigned their commissions as Democrats. The next state convention will undoubtedly accept the same."

FATAL PYROTECHNICS

Accident at an Election Gathering Kills Twelve and Wounds About Fifty Others.

EXPLOSION IN A DENSE CONCOURSE

While the People Are Reading the Election Returns

Results in a Panic in Which Hundreds Are Imperilled—Some Victims Blown to Pieces—Dead Roll.

New York, Nov. 5.—By a series of explosions of pyrotechnic bombs and other fireworks last night, among the vast multitude gathered in Madison square to witness the ascension of an airship and the display of the election returns, twelve persons were killed outright, many being blown almost to pieces, and at least fifty injured, many of them fatally. It is estimated that at least 30,000 people thronged the square at the time of the explosions, which were succeeded by a frightful panic, in which hundreds were thrown down and trampled under foot.

Names of the Twelve Dead.

Five hundred policemen and all the ambulances in the city were instantly summoned, and the dying and those most seriously injured were removed to the hospitals. In addition to these many of the wounded were taken away by friends. Nine men in charge of the fireworks display were placed under arrest immediately after the explosion. The list of the dead is: Policeman Dennis Shea, William G. Finney, George Ritzke, Harold Jobley, six unknown men, unknown colored man, and an unknown colored boy.

Those Seriously Injured.

Plant That Caused the Horror.

The densest portion of the throng that packed the square was gathered along Madison avenue close to the place reserved for the discharge of the fireworks. Along the border of the square facing the avenue were arranged three groups of cast-iron mortars, twenty in each group, and loaded with heavy bombs.

SOME ONE BLUNDERED

Mortar Falls Over and Shoots Its Bomb into the Throng.

A few minutes after 10 o'clock the first row of mortars was touched off, but before the discharge took place one of them fell over on its side and the next instant the bomb was shot into the thickest of the crowd, where it exploded and hurled the people into heaps. The fall of the mortar and the concussion of the explosion knocked down the rest of the row of mortars and a thundering volley of huge projectiles plowed through the crowd.

Almost instantaneously the second group of twenty mortars about 100 feet farther up the avenue discharged their contents into the crowd, and a moment later the third group, evidently ignited by the showers of falling sparks, exploded in the same manner. In the panic that ensued thousands ran blindly across the square, tripping over the seats and benches, and falling were trampled on. The police were carried along by the rush and for half an hour the wildest confusion reigned.

After the smoke of the explosion had cleared away sixteen persons were found lying on Madison avenue between Twenty-third and Twenty-fifth streets. Scores of injured were scattered about the avenue and the square. Among the dead was a policeman who was standing close to the first mortar and whose body was frightfully mangled.

The following persons, connected with the fireworks company in charge of the display were arrested: Henry Temple, Frank Listvan, James T. Allen, Edward Smith, Herman Rogers, Charles Hollman, John Pullan.

Delaware Is Mixed.

Wilmington, Nov. 5.—The complexion of the next Delaware general assembly is in doubt. At this writing it is apparent that a deadlock on the two United States senatorial vacancies will be the result, as was the case two years ago.

Maryland Elects Four Republicans.

Baltimore, Nov. 5.—The election in Maryland, which was only for representatives, passed off quietly, and of the six representatives the Republicans elect four and the Democrats two.

Massachusetts Elects Bates.

Boston, Nov. 5.—Returns from the entire state of Massachusetts for governor give: Bates (Rep.), 105,961; Gascon (Dem.), 115,482—a Republican plurality of 37,479.

South Dakota.

Sioux Falls, Nov. 5.—The indications received from the state election at the Republican headquarters are that the state ticket will have a plurality of about 15,000.

Idaho's Returns Are Slow.

Boise, Ida., Nov. 5.—Scattering returns mostly from the southern part of the state show Morrison, Rep., for governor, running ahead of Hunt, Dem.

BUCHANAN RECORD.

D. F. BOWER,
EDITOR.

TERMS $1.25 PER YEAR

Entered at the Post-office at Buchanan, Mich.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 5, 1903.

Halloween is one of the events of the past but we are sorry to say there are those who are guilty of maliciousness, instead of having a pleasant time and playing harmless jokes they willfully destroyed property. Rev. W. W. Wells says some one in trying to take his gate off its hinges finding it riveted to the fence deliberately broke it off. Doorsteps were torn from the buildings where only an old lady lived with no one to replace it. We believe in having a good time but not at the expense of others.

Fund For the Needy.

Frequently there are worthy persons in the village who meet with misfortune and we all feel inclined to help, but it is always limited to a few.

It has been suggested to us by a lady that every one help and she suggests the following plan which she wishes to make known through the columns of the Record. She says if each person who has talent to help entertain either in vocal or instrumental music or in recitation or drama would pledge themselves to furnish some part of an entertainment, it could be given at a cost of 10 cents and all, even those of the most limited means, could attend and thereby create a fund which would be used to defray expenses of this kind. By this plan no one will be burdened; all will be benefited—those who give their talent, those who attend the entertainment and those who are helped; and she wishes that all who will furnish talent of any kind to leave their names at the Record office at once.

The Evening News is in receipt of a quaint letter from one, Zah Sah Nroo, a merchant of Shanghai, China, who wishes an ad inserted for a boy who will sell Chinese curios, with the assurance that "if he catch much the business, he earn many cash."

We regret to state that the Chataqua summer assembly is a complete financial failure. The business was closed up last Friday and the promoters are about $2,000 out of pocket, some $800 to $400 apiece. We are greatly disappointed and somewhat ashamed that our city did not support so laudable an enterprise.

The football championship of the lower peninsula now lies between Ann Arbor and Benton Harbor, for the former defeated Pontiac last Saturday and the same day our team beat Allegan after the hardest game they have yet played. The decisive game will be played here next Saturday and the winner will play Thanksgiving day against Ishpeming, the champion of the upper peninsula, for the state championship.

FRUIT AND FLOWERS

FOR INDOOR BLOOMING.

Hardy Shrubs That May Be Easily Flowered in the House.

The lover of hardy flowers who feels he cannot wait for the return of spring to enjoy their beauty of bloom can have the satisfaction of having them in flower in the snowy season if he will but put some small plants before winter sets in. There are several shrubs so impatient for spring to come that they may unfold their flowers and others that bloom after a few weeks of spring weather, and these may easily be brought into flower in the house without any particular care or trouble. Some or all of the following list would give good satisfaction:

Japanese maple, blood leaved; flowering almond, Japanese Judas, Magnolia stellata, Pyrus arbutifolia, Amelanchier alnifolia, Azalea amena, Chimonanthus fragrans, Corchorus japonica, Daphne mezereum, Deutzia gracilis, Exochorda grandiflora, Forsythia viridissima, Lonicera fragrantissima, Spiraea van houttei, S. thunbergii and S. reevesii; Viburnum plicatum, dwarf lilacs, weigelas and bush honeysuckles. Then there is the half shrub, half vine, the hardy yellow jasmine.

Besides these, many evergreens are attractive in the house, notably the evergreen euonymus and the evergreen Japanese privet, not to mention small plants of the Japanese cedars, the various spruces, arbor vites and pines.

Almost all shrubs which flower in the early spring months are available for winter blooming, but those named above have been found particularly good for the purpose. The way to proceed with them is to get young plants which can be placed in pots of reasonable size, looking to it to get those which have made nice young shoots the past season. Plants which have not done this are of no use, as flowers come from the shoots of the preceding season. Pot firmly and then put them in some cool place where they will not freeze and yet will be but a little above freezing.

The date of their introduction to heat will depend somewhat on the kind of shrub selected as well as on the time it is desired to have the flowers. The jasmines, chimonanthus, daphne and lonicera flower almost as soon as they are brought into heat. Most of the others require from four to six weeks, much the same time as they would were they out of doors in spring.—Joseph Meehan in Gardening.

FRUIT PICKING DEVICES.

A Third Hand Clever and Useful. Ladder Carrying Made Easy.

The cut shows some devices of the fruit harvesting season whose usefulness is worth considering by those to whom they are unfamiliar, with a view to taking advantage of it to lighten the labor of another year. Every one who has ever picked fruit from a ladder has longed for a third hand. A third hand is shown in a cut by New England Homestead. It is simply a piece of No. 9 wire bent as indicated. With it you can draw in a limb that is just out of reach and, hooking the other end to the ladder, can easily pick the fruit, or you can simply hold the limb. The device may be used to assist in supporting the ladder where the limbs are not sufficiently strong to bear its weight by hooking to another and stronger limb. It is also valuable in picking fruit with a pail. Hook one end over a limb or a ladder round and use the other for supporting the receptacle.

A Country Gentleman correspondent is sure that if the reader once used a ladder marked to indicate the center of gravity he would mark any he had occasion to use in the future in this manner. Without some distinguishing mark it is almost impossible to tell at what point you want to place it upon your shoulder in carrying it from place to place. If too much is behind you, it will trail; if too much is in front, you are much like a poked animal. A scratch will answer, a lead pencil mark is better, but is not permanent. A band of paint in some contrasting color is best, as it can be distinguished at a glance.

Storage of Apples.

It is the conclusion of fruit men that apples keep much better if they are hurried into cold storage as promptly as they are picked instead of being left in the orchard in piles or in barrels to sweat.

In the Fruit World.

A fine new shipping plum, deep golden yellow with crimson flush, is reported from Luther Burbank.

Better grading of apples was urged at the meeting of the National Apple Shippers' association.

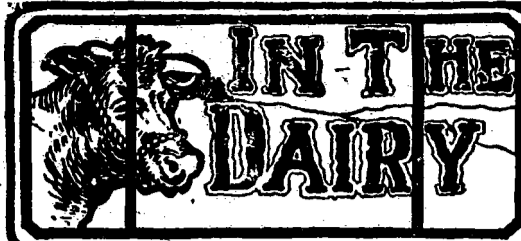

Mr. G. C. Husman, an authority on such matters, is convinced that Florida can grow a fine table grape for the early markets.

Michigan's apple crop is only "fair," according to the secretary of the State Horticultural society.

Wickson plum shows up well among the late kinds.

Black knot may be held in check by cutting out diseased branches in winter.

The number of olive trees in California is estimated at 2,500,000.

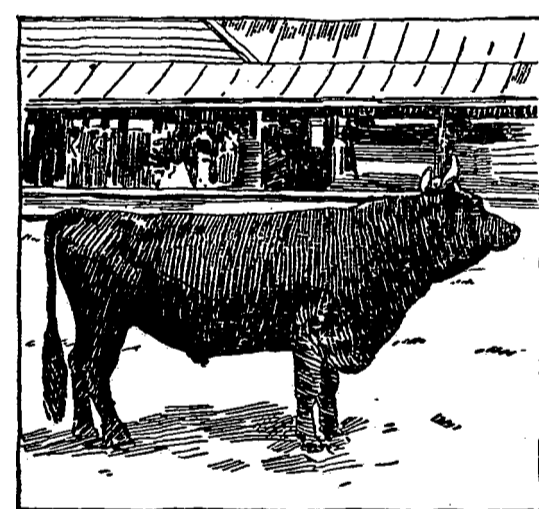

The value put on skimmilk by farmers differs very much. At some creameries to avoid trouble a slight charge is made for the skimmilk and a corresponding higher price is paid for the butter. The usual charge for skimmilk is from 6 to 10 cents per 100 pounds. In many cases I noticed farmers take back only a fraction of their share of the skimmilk, while a few enterprising ones would buy all the surplus and think they had quite a bargain. Why this difference of opinion among feeders? asks L. W. Lighty in National Stockman. Why is it that some men having calves and pigs to feed cannot pay 6 to 10 cents per 100 pounds for skimmilk when such eminent and successful feeders and experimenters as Mr. Gurley of Illinois or Professor Henry of Wisconsin place the value per 100 pounds at half as much as a bushel of corn sells for if fed in a proper condition and in the right combination of hogs? At some creameries the skimmilk is run into a slop tank that "smells unto heaven" and that ruins the milk for feeding purposes. In many cases the farmer has a swill barrel into which he empties his skimmilk and there it degenerates very rapidly. It is never better and its feeding value is never greater than immediately after it leaves the separator in a sweet and clean condition.

The Cow's Digestive Organs.

The digestive apparatus of the cow is something to carefully consider when buying a cow or when breeding. The powerful digestive system is needed in the dairy that the most may be made out of the feed. The large eater is the cow that makes the most money for her owner. Some cows have digestive systems of such weakness that they are easily foundered. They go "off feed" at every opportunity, and their milk yield is decreased in consequence, says Dairy and Creamery. On the other hand, there are cows that can eat any amount and never be disturbed by it. The writer once had such a cow. One night she got loose and found her way to the feed bins and boxes. She proceeded to fill up in the most complete manner. In the morning she met her owner at the door. She was evidently packed as full of cornmeal and middlings as she could be, with nothing but breathing room left. A foundered cow was the expected result of the feasting. The animal, however, experienced no inconvenience from the gorging and the next day was ready for her accustomed ration. She was a large producer of very rich milk.

Hardy Canadian Breeds.

Farmers in northern climates are interested in hardy breeds or dairy cattle. The growth in dairying calls for a cow adapted to the somewhat rigorous conditions of countries as distant as northwest Canada. Why not look up the merits of the French Canadian cattle? They are small, rugged, inured to the long, cold winters of Quebec and northern New York, are persistent milkers, producing 5,000 to 6,000 pounds a year, giving excellent returns for the feed consumed, are the very best of foragers, their chief weak point being lack of size. The illustration is of a French Canadian bull, considered a good specimen of the breed. It is the property of C. E. Coburn of New York.—American Agriculturist.

FRENCH CANADIAN BULL.

The Devons of Sleepy Hollow. In England Devon cattle are bred like Red Polls, for beef and milk both, and English breeders keep in the middle of the road pretty well. In this country some breeders have gone to one side or the other. As to the merits of Devon cattle for beef, milk and draft purposes there is no controversy. They are especially well fitted for some sections. And as to the enterprise of the Devon fraternity as a whole there is no controversy either; they don't have any. No breeder or association of breeders who fails to make use of modern mediums for pushing his business can expand it. The Devon will never be more popular than it is now so long as its breeders continue their present course. Sleepy Hollow is a pleasant place, no doubt, but it's no place for a business man or association.—National Stockman and Farmer.

The Ayrshire.

The tests at the Pan-American and other expositions have shown the ability of the Ayrshire to produce 6,000 pounds or more of milk in a year, containing about 4 per cent of butter fat, or about 300 pounds of butter in a year, and the cost of feed at Buffalo was but $4.24 per 1,000 pounds of milk against $4.18 per 1,000 for Holstein and over $5 for Shorthorn, Jersey and Guernsey. But it is as a milk cow that she excels. We do not know that the proportion of solids in her milk is greater than in other breeds, but we think it must be. We do know that after taking off all the cream that would rise the skimmilk from the Ayrshire seemed better than from any other breed, the Devon ranking next.—American Cultivator.

St. Nicholas for 1903.

Professor John Bach McMaster recently wrote to the editors of St. Nicholas: "Thank you very heartily for the pleasure and profit St. Nicholas brings to my boys."

Boys—and girls—are very much alike the world over. The delight and help that St. Nicholas is giving to Professor McMaster's boys, and thousands of other boys and girls it holds for every girl and boy who can understand English. Since the first number of St. Nicholas was published, nearly thirty years ago, many weekly and monthly publications for children have come and gone; but St. Nicholas still holds its place, the unrivalled "prince of periodicals for young folks." It was never more enjoyed by its reader than now, for in addition to the usual serial stories, short articles etc., there is a department called "The St. Nicholas League," in which the children themselves have an opportunity to take part. There are said to be nearly fifty thousand children now belonging to the League, and prizes are given out each month for the best stories, poems, drawing and photographs sent by the young members. Any reader of St. Nicholas may become a member. St. Nicholas announces that for 1903 "The Story of King Arthur," written and illustrated by Howard Pyles, a companion story to his famous "Robin Hood," but which reader of the manuscript think surpasses that in the strength and interest of the narrative and beauty of the illustrations. Two short stories by Miss Alcott, written for her own little nieces and never before published, will soon appear in St. Nicholas, with other stories and articles by the author of "Mrs. Wiggs of the cabbage Patch," by Ruth McEnery Stuart, Frank R. Stockton, Clara Morris, and scores of other well-known writers. St. Nicholas makes a specialty of papers of informations, richly illustrated articles on practical subjects, like the Navy Yard, the Assay Office, etc. The price of St. Nicholas is three dollars a year. The publishers announce that new subscribers who begin with January may receive the November and December numbers free, and so begin the volume and get commencement of all the serials. The publisher are The Century Co., Union Square, New York.

It contains the best literature from the very best writers, and is the only journal that tries to develop all the departments of the human mind and heart. ## ALL WRONG.

The Mistake is Made by Many Buchanan Citizens.

Don't mistake the cause of backache. To be cured you must know the cause. It is wrong to imagine relief is cure. Backache is kidney ache. You must cure the kidneys. A Buchanan resident tell you how this can be done.

Mr. B. S. Crawford, nurse, living on Clark street, says: "Some time ago I strained my back while lifting, waiting on a patient, and the injury has bothered me ever since. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills recommended so highly I thought I would test their merits, and I procured a box at W. N. Brodick's drug store. I am more than pleased with the result obtained. They acted very quickly and promptly, relieving the dull aching pain that had annoyed me so long. I have no hesitation in recommending so valuable a remedy to others." For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.

CUPID'S SUMMER SCHOOL?

[Copyright, 1902, by the S. S. McClure Company.]

Tommy Darling—it was Thomas Hendrix Darling on the hotel register—was in love. Now, in a way, this was nothing unusual, for Thomas was so frequently, so variously and so obviously in love that no one at the Sea View House took him at all seriously.

In other words, Thomas was a wholesale flirt who conducted his campaigns so openly that had he sat in solitude for an hour the entire summer contingent upon the island would have remarked upon the strangeness of the proceeding; not that such an event was probable when there were twenty-seven attractive and tractable young women at hand—that is, all were tractable except one. Tommy frankly admitted that he had been rejected by twenty-six out of the twenty-seven, but when urged to go ahead and make his volume of rejections complete he turned strangely reticent.

No one would have believed the truth—that the twenty-seventh was the real object of his adoration—and that, despite his vast experience in this instance, he became oddly incapable of uttering the words that would put his fate to test. With twenty-six of the "Sea Viewers," as he dubbed them, he was brave to the point of audacity, and not one of the girls felt her heart touched by the turn of so much as a feather's weight; but with Janet Marsden! Ah, that was different! She might not take him seriously either.

Tommy really loved this quiet, self contained girl, and his tongue stammered and grew slow when he tried to tell in all seriousness what he had oftentimes spoken in jest. In spite of his mercurial temperament Darling was not a flirt in the common acceptance of the word. Beneath his gayety was hidden a strong, manly nature that seldom manifested itself. Perhaps all unconsciously he had shown this better side to Janet, for he felt instinctively that diffidence in her presence was a desecration of the love he nurtured far below the surface.

The weeks sped by. Pretty girls came and pretty girls went. Moonlight sails and rides gave way to hops and amateur theatricals on dark nights. There were crabbing on the lake, clam bakes beyond the Point and picnics in the woods across the inlet, and of all these Tommy was the life, the bright and guiding star. But tomorrow it would all end. Janet was going home. Tommy gazed moodily toward the point of rock around which she had disappeared. Seven wasted weeks! He was an idiot, a—

Tommy kicked over a camp chair that stood in his way and strode down the steps toward the beach. He found Janet with her new magazines perched in a shady, sandy corner.

"Your mother tells me you leave for the mountains tomorrow. I'm tremendously sorry you are going."

Tommy was digging holes with the point of her parasol.

His voice was genuinely tender and earnest. The smile died on her lips, and her eyes softened; but, after all, his record was against him.

"Are you clever at figures?" she inquired.

She had the parasol now, and Tommy followed what she wrote in the sand:

"27—26—"

Like a flash he reached for what had now become Cupid's weapon. Under the question he wrote clearly "27—26—everything."

"The others don't count, you know," he added, looking out at the dancing waves.

"Very clever of you! What a time you must have thinking up all these pretty speeches. When do you have time to sleep?" Her raillery brought a flush to his cheeks, and he clasped his hands resolutely about his knees.

"To be honest, I haven't slept much lately. I've been trying to find a way to tell a girl that I love her, but I can't make it. She's not a 'summer girl,' you see, but the sort of girl one would want winter and summer—for all time." His flippancy had quite disappeared now, and Janet suddenly, shielded her face with her hand, though the sun had not yet crept round the rocky barrier behind them. "You see, no one believes I've a heart, for I've let the girls play football with it till everybody thinks it's worn out, but that was just a counterfeit, don't you see, and I want this girl to understand that the real thing is all hers, and I think it has been waiting for just her all these years. Now, if you could tell me what to say—how to convince her?"

His hazel eyes, from which all playful, teasing light had fled, were fixed on a distant dipping sail, and he did not see the expression on Janet's face. There was a moment's silence; then she drew a quick, sharp breath.

"You might"—her voice was very low—"you might tell her that you love her; simply that, nothing more—no pretty speeches, but as if you really meant it, and perhaps—perhaps she would believe you."

Tommy turned sharply and read that in her face which transformed the barren sands into a garden of Eden.

Half an hour later Janet gathered up her books and handed them to the radiant Tommy.

"You're a very docile pupil, dear, but the first lesson is over."

Tommy smilingly accepted the burden she offered him, but still held fast her outstretched hands.

"With such a teacher, sweetheart, I hope the book of love will never be closed. We must try to keep it open always, for this is to be no summer school!"

RIGHT HERE THEY HAD SOME FUN

Bishop, Judge and Others Don the Daily Habit of the Miner.

Here the commissioners had a little fun with one another. As the mine was wet and dirty the company officials provided rubber overshoes, overalls, jumpers and miners' caps for the entire party. Judge Gray and Bishop Spalding were the first to don the uniform of the miner, and good naturedly took the remarks thrust at them by their colleagues as to whether or not they belonged to the union. After the party had been rigged out and provided with miners' lamps, which they either carried in their hands or fastened to their caps, the descent of the 160-foot shaft was made.

At the foot (or bottom) of the shaft the president and another member of the Forest City local union of the miners' organization, who are employed in the mine, joined the party. The hospital at that point was inspected and then the commissioners got into a train of six mine cars and were hauled about a mile and a half under ground in a southwesterly direction. Accompanied by Superintendent May, President Nicholls, and one or two others, the commissioners went down a plane to what is known as a thin vein of coal, where they saw miners fire a blast.

The thin vein runs into the Clifford mine, adjoining the No. 2. In the Clifford a few hours before the commissioners arrived a Hungarian was killed almost instantly by the falling of a portion of the roof of the mine. He was doubled up and his lamp failing to go out, set fire to his clothes, almost roasting him alive. The vein was explained to the commissioners, who asked many questions of the miners working it. From there they returned to the main gangway and inspected an average vein—that is, a vein about six or eight feet thick. In going to some of the "breasts" the commissioners had to almost crawl.

THE OLD DOCKING QUESTION

Company Man and U. M. W. Man Argue It Before the Board.

The arbitrators had an interesting time at the Coalbrook breaker at Carbondale. They went to the top of the great, black building and inspected all the machinery, down to the ground. They were much interested in the men and boys who are employed in picking slate and "boney" from the coal. From the breaker the now tired commissioners were escorted to the chute where the coal, fresh out of the mine, is sent to the breaker by means of a "conveyor"—an endless chain arrangement of scrapers. It is here where one of the principal bones of contention between the employees and employer is found. The miners maintain that they are often unjustly docked by the docking bosses for the amount of slate, boney, or other refuse found in the coal.

A few feet away is the place where the cars of the coal are weighed. After the seven arbitrators had watched the weighing of coal for a while Clark inquired how many pounds constituted a ton at this colliery. Superintendent Bryden, of the Ontario and Western, thought it was about 2,800 pounds, but District President Nicholls said it was a little over 3,100 pounds. The two began to discuss this, each maintaining he was right. Nicholls said that granting that 2,800 was correct these figures are too high.

He said that when the companies fixed 2,800 pounds to constitute a ton so as to get out of it 2,000 pounds of pure coal the operators did not sell pea coal in the market. Now they have a market for pea coal, and about three other sizes below it, and the miners' ton of 2,800 pounds has not been decreased. Judge Gray was an interested listener to the discussion. While the discussion was on the colliery whistle blew the signal for quitting, and the discussion ended. The party then boarded the special train and reached the Hotel Jarmyn here at 8:30 p. m.

President Mitchell came up from Wilkesbarre last night. He was accompanied by Clarence C. Darrow, of Chicago, who has been appointed by Mitchell as attorney to represent the miners before the arbitration commission. The two had a conference with several members of the commission last night regarding the submission of testimony. Mitchell returned to Wilkesbarre this morning.

Daily Atrocity Where an Alleged Man, Murderously Jealous, Shoots a Woman and Himself.

Pueblo, Col., Oct. 31.—Frederick Roberts, owner of a foundry at Salt Lake City, shot Mrs. Charles E. Cooper, at a lodging house in this city shortly before noon yesterday and then committed suicide. The cause of the tragedy is said to have been Mrs. Cooper's refusal to marry Roberts. Mrs. Cooper, who is 30 years of age, was recently divorced from Charles E. Cooper, now of Wyoming.

She was named as co-respondent in a divorce suit brought at Salt Lake City about a year ago by Mrs. Roberts, but this charge was subsequently withdrawn and Mrs. Roberts obtained a divorce on the ground of cruelty and desertion. The shooting followed a quarrel. Mrs. Cooper was shot in the face. She will probably recover.

THE HOME DAIRY.

Those Who Follow the Apparent Tendency Must Avoid Old Faults.

The tendency to return once more to home dairying, instead of selling the milk and cream to large separator companies, appears to be the result of recent invention and perfection of small separators operated by hand. It is possible with these for the farmer and dairyman to handle his own product, make his own butter as formerly, and sell it to the market he considers best. It is also tending to increase the size of the average dairy. With a hand separator the farmer can handle more cream and butter than he could when he depended entirely upon old fashioned dairy methods, says C. L. Fardee in American Cultivator. It may be that the large creamery companies and large co-operative farmers' creameries will not be greatly affected one way or the other by this, as the supply of milk and cream is steadily increasing all over the country, but certainly it will make a change on the small farms and dairies. The question which must be considered of the most importance is whether the farmer operating at home can keep up the quality of his butter or will it degenerate and sell so much below the regular creamery butter that it will not be profitable to make it. A good deal of the dairy butter which comes to market is so inferior in quality that it rarely brings much more than one-half or two-thirds the price paid for best creamery. This is due to inferior methods used, and to the fact that old fashioned dairy butter making cannot produce as finished a product as the modern creameries. It is possible for the small dairyman to make almost as good butter with the small hand separators as that produced by the large creameries, but to do this he must observe the close rules and regulations enforced by the managers of the latter. Any laxity on their part will bring deterioration in the quality. The butter thus made, if not held too long, should then command a fair rating in the market. The old fault of the home dairyman was that he held his butter and cream too long. If he persists in doing this, he will not succeed under the new methods. There must be regular weekly shipments, even if it is necessary to increase the herd to make it worth while.
