SAVING OF THOSE WHO SURVIVE

Firemen Bring Some Down Ladders, but Many Save Themselves.

The first detachment of firemen was sent by the chief marshal into the building, but its ascent was checked by an impassable barrier of smoke. On the outside, from the roofs of the adjoining buildings, other firemen placed ladders, and climbing to the top floors smashed the window glass. In a short time the smoke had cleared sufficiently to permit the hardened firemen to venture back into the halls on the third and fourth stories.

Meantime the fire escape at the front of the building had become filled with sparsely clad men, who made their way to the ground with difficulty through the smoke clouds. Firemen on ladders broke top-story windows, pulled half-conscious forms from beds and carried them to the street. Mrs. J. Shepard, of Cairo, Ills., who had been carried to a window by her 10-year-old son Fred, fell from a swaying ladder at the side of the building to the roof of the Vogelsang restaurant structure, a distance of two stories. She was not seriously hurt.

Olaf Oldorf, an iron worker, who was asleep at the rear of the hotel, was one of the first to be awakened, and after vainly hunting a way down stairs until he was dazed he dragged himself to a window, raised it and put his head outside for air. Just below he saw an iron shutter, and thinking it was his only hope, he climbed out and swung down until he reached another shutter on the third floor. He kept on until he reached another on the floor below, and then he dropped into the alley comparatively unhurt.

MAN WHO PRAYED IS DEAD

Incidents of the Horror—Mrs. Shepard's Fall—Man with a Cool Head.

R. C. Hamilton was on the third floor when the fire broke out. He started in search of H. K. Woods, a wealthy cattle raiser from Lebanon, Ind. He failed to find him until he identified him among the dead at the morgue. One his way about the burning structure Hamilton found a door which he supposed led to the fire-escape. Putting his shoulder against it he burst the lock. Entering he saw a man kneeling on the floor by the side of the bed. He told him the house was on fire and he would better save himself, but the man preferred to continue praying. The prayer is also at the morgue.

A thrilling rescue was that of Mrs. J. Shepard. Her 10-year-old son caught her about the waist when dreading death by fire she was about to leap out of a fourth-story window. "Stop, mamma," he cried; "I know they will help us." The boy had only uttered this last remark when the firemen, under command of Captain Benjamin Conners, placed the ladder against the side of the building and started to the rescue. But as she stepped on the ladder it swayed and she fell two stories to the roof of Vogelsang's below. She was not badly hurt.

What can be done in a case like this by having a cool head is exemplified by what J. A. Westerland did. Edward Davenport occupied the same room with him. When he woke he threw a mattress to the roof of Vogelsang's and then forced Davenport to jump for it. Then he found E. G. Baker, of Nashville, Mich., and making a rope of sheets lowered him to the roof; Baker unconscious all the time.

Four of the wealthiest residents of Elkhorn, Wis.—C. P. Green, president of the Elkhorn First National bank; Walter D. Lauderdale, said to be the heaviest stock raiser and buyer in Wisconsin; E. E. White, sheriff of Walworth county, and Herman Yanke, a stock raiser and buyer—experienced narrow escapes. They succeeded in reaching the street, but saved few of their personal effects.

L. L. Brooks, of Northville, Mich., was the first man rescued by the firemen. He was asleep in a room on the third floor and was only awakened when some one ran through the hallways and cried fire. He became so frightened when he saw the mass of flames in the hall that he retreated to his room and hurried to the window to the window fronting Madison street. Brooks stood on the window ledge just as a ladder was being hoisted. Before the firemen succeeded in placing it against the wall he seized the topmost rung and started to climb down.

Emma Goldman Couldn't Speak

Milwaukee, Dec. 5.—Emma Goldman, who was billed for a lecture at the South Side Turner hall, found the doors locked upon her arrival and she was unable to gain admittance with a few who had come to hear her lecture. The hall had been rented from the janitor, but when a banner announcing that Emma Goldman was to speak was put up it was torn down at once by the president of the Turner society, who said the society was unanimous in refusing her the use of the hall.

DEADLY HOTEL BLAZE

Ends the Lives of Fourteen Persons by Catching Them in Their Sleep.

SMOKE CAUSES THE FATALITIES

Fire Discovered in a House Full of People at Chicago.

Most of Whom Were in Town Visiting the Great Stock Show—Names of Those Who Died or Were Hurt.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Fire in a building put up just as 90 per cent. of the buildings in Chicago are put up, situated at 176 Madison street, and known as the Lincoln hotel as to its three upper floors, cost the lives of fourteen persons yesterday morning just before 6 o'clock. Most of the victims were suffocated as they slept, or as they struggled through the narrow hallways in search of an exit. A few were killed by jumping from windows. Many other guests were carried out unconscious. For half an hour after the firemen found their way into the building they stumbled across insensate forms lying on the floors and on the stairways.

Those Who Were Victims.

Following is the list of the dead: I. C. Yocum, fire insurance agent, prominent in Davenport, Ia.; Samuel Yocum, son of I. C. Yocum, Davenport, Ia.; A. B. Coon, lawyer, Marengo, Ills.; F. L. Ewing, mail clerk, Marietta, O.; B. F. Boswell, Chicago; T. V. Slocum, machine dealer, Wauconda, Ills.; E. K. Woods, Lebanon, Ind.; Edward Toner, printer, Milwaukee; F. W. Corey, railway postal clerk, Bucyrus, O.; Ward Lowe, railway postal clerk, Sechlerville, Wis.; M. M. Handy, traveling salesman, Janesville, Wis.; C. P. Cowan, collector on the Wabash railroad, St. Louis; George B. Graves, compositor, Chicago; unidentified man, 5 feet 8 inches, 165 pounds, 45 years old, thin brown hair and mustache.

List of People Who Were Hurt.

J. S. Allison, Richland Center, Wis.; cut about the hands; Edward Davenport, Chicago, injured internally; W. G. Thomas, Cedar Rapids, Ia., badly cut and burned; William M. Snyder, Loom City, Ia., bruised; Mrs. June Shepard, Chicago, back strained, arms and hands cut and bruised; Robert C. Hamilton, Lebanon, Ind., hands cut; Cliff Ward, Battle Creek, Mich., cut about head, and hands lacerated; Fred G. Baker, Nashville, Mich., and Irwin Westerland, Chicago, feet burned; Olaf Oldorf, Chicago, hands lacerated.

Most of the dead, injured and surviving were visitors to the stock show, and, tired from a day of sight-seeing, slept so soundly that they were not awakened in time by the fumes which filled the building.

HOW THE BLAZE GOT A START

There Were Several Ways, According to Experts—Warning the Imperiled.

How the fire started is at this writing any one of several ways. One expert says it was from a pan of sulphur fired to drive vermin away. Another says a lighted cigar stump was thrown into some shavings left by a carpenter. However it may have been one thing is certain, and that is that before the fire was detected an immense volume of smoke had spread through the rooms on the fourth floor, suffocating and blinding those who slept there.

Coroner Traeger said: "The fire was undoubtedly caused by the explosion of an oil stove in the rear of the third floor. The building is very carelessly constructed, the fire-escape is worthless, the rooms are outrageously small, and it is nothing short of a crime that such a building should have been used as a housing place for human beings."

One hundred and one persons registered Wednesday evening, and these, in addition to the guests who arrived earlier in the week, filled the house. E. C. Weber was the night clerk, and it was just before 6 a. m. that Weber's nostrils detected the odor of smoke, and he looked about him. Down the stairway a thick cloud rolled and spread itself throughout the office. In a minute Weber was awake to the situation, and he vaulted over the counter shouting "Fire!" at the top of his voice. But it was too late to carry the warning back among the sleeping rooms, so Weber hurried down the stairs to a fire-alarm box.

Then the clerk and a policeman started back into the building to see what they could do toward waking the sleeping inmates. At the foot of the second flight of stairs they were driven back and were forced to stand in the office and shout in the hope that some of the guests would hear their voices. The firemen came finally. On the third and fourth floors white faces could be seen framed in the windows.

POW WOW

Wigwam the Scene of Merry Doings by 30 Club Culminating in War Whoop and War March.

The 30 Club held their Indian pow wow in the Pears-East building, Wednesday evening. There were about sixty guests present, nearly all of whom were in Indian costume.

The hall was beautifully and appropriately decorated. Seven Indian wigwams were placed in semi-circle around one end of the hall; these were equipped with blankets, bow and arrows, Indian pictures and other things necessary to complete a tepee.

A program was rendered as follows: Sun dance, Mrs. Blake, reading, Mrs. Kingery, recitation, with piano accompaniment, by Mrs. Cora Rough, an original story,—scene on the St. Joe, by Mrs. Hall. At the close of the program, Mr. Harry Weaver, being chief of the evening, gave the war whoop and all the other Indians followed him and had a war march.

Appropriate refreshments were served. The committee in charge, were Mesdames East, Blake, Rough, Searls and Miss Mansfield wish to thank the many friends who assisted and loaned them the many things that helped so much in their decorating.

The following petition was submitted by Mr. Austin:

BENTON HARBOR, MICHIGAN, OCTOBER 13, 1902.

To the Board of Supervisors of Berrien County:

In the latter part of April A. D. 1902, having a lease of the owner, Edward Brant, of the saloon room in the Hotel Benton Block, I filed my bond with the Council for a retail liquor dealer's license, the same was approved. I then took it to the County Treasurer's office and paid the license tax of five hundred dollars ($500.)

I had been informed that Mr. McAuley, although making no claim to lease this room, was intending to remain in possession until he could get some other place, so when I paid my tax to the County Treasurer, I notified him of this condition; however, the Council also approved Mr. McAuley's bond and the Treasurer accepted his money, thus licensing both saloons for the same room.

Rather than have a prolonged litigation, Mr. McAuley was permitted to remain in the room until October 1st, 1902.

In as much as the County has received double license money for this room and I have not been able to have the benefit of my license until October 1st, I ask your honorable body to refund to me a proportionate share, or five-twelfths (5-12) of two hundred and fifty dollars ($250 00,) being one hundred four dollars and sixteen cents ($104 16) for the time I have not been able to have the benefits of my license.

I trust your Honorable Body will regard this as but fair, as I feel that the City and County should not have licensed two people for the same room.

[Signed]

CHAS. F. WELSHANS.

On motion of Mr. Babcock, the petition of Mr. Welshans was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Holliday moved that the Chair appoint a Committee of three to fix salaries of the County Officers.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chairman appointed as such Committee Mr. Halliday, Mr. C. A. Clark and Mr. Babcock.

On motion of Mr. Babcock the election of County Superintendent of Poor and County Canvassers was made a special order of business for tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock.

On motion of Mr. Beall the Board adjourned to 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.
