INDIA.

Interesting Letter From Mrs. Stebbins Concerning Missionary Work.

DEHRA DUN, February 2.

Dear Buchanan Friends:—The last time I wrote you it was from Lucerne, Switzerland. Now I am at the foot of the Himalyas. From that time to this there has come to me a panorama of change in scene and action, to write about which I never lacked inclination but rather opportunity. The hills are so close that I can climb them, can find the picturesque ravines where the water tumbles down the mountains over the stones and rocks, can look up precipices and see the yellow primrose and jasmine. Beautiful large, rare ferns cover the hill sides. All that comes into view, inspires and uplifts in worship to the Master builder. Last evening we heard the wild deer bark, today saw monkeys and apes; tigers, leopards and bears are familiar with these haunts. There are no fears of them as they prowled about at night and are seldom seen in the day. As the special work to which I have been assigned, that of re-opening the training house in my old station, Dehra Dun, cannot begin until spring, I have this privilege of visiting villages during the winter months.

All over this valley surrounded by mountains, which is sixty miles from northwest to southeast and about twenty-five miles broad, the government has built substantial houses for the use of the canal and forest officers. We have permission to occupy these. We bring all our supplies with us. At this place Bhogpura, we are twenty-five miles from Dehra. From the last place we came fifteen miles in ox-carts. There are so many stones in the cart roads and so many wet and dry river beds that only ox-carts are strong enough to stand the strain without breaking. We are surrounded by mountain villages and pilgrims are constantly passing, going to one of the sacred shrines of India. Three catechists go before us and secure us an entrance. The people are afraid and run from us Europeans until they know something about us. After we have shown them some kindness and as is often the case, give them some medicine that has produced some cure, then they receive us. It is little we can do for the women until the men are reached. One of our catechists lived in this village over sixteen years ago when he was a Hindu. His friends are cordial in inviting him to their houses, they do not know that he has become a Christian or they would not. His presence and touch is now defiling. If he tells them at first they will turn a cold shoulder. He tactfully awaits his opportunity and then has a fine chance to give a reason for the hope that is in him. Today the men have gone off to mountain villages taking scripture portions and tracts in several languages. On returning they will give us accounts which I wish you could hear. I wish you could see and know these three men. None who know them could ever think that money given to missionaries in vain.

Each one is very different from the other. Natha Khun read the Kuran, the sacred book of Mohammedans, at the age of eleven. A passage troubled him. It was that God said, "I will put My spirit upon Jesus." Natha Khun asked many people for an explanation of this passage. Finally he asked a Christian; the answers led him to Christ. Soon Singh, who is of Chinese descent, is a gentle, earnest man whom all the people love. He reminds me of Jesus' remark about Nathaniel, a man in whom there is no guile. The third catechist Yunga Prachad was a high caste Hindu. He found no satisfaction; then read all the Mohammedan books and finally turned to the Christian religion. These three men from their own experience know how to meet with and deal with all classes of people. They know too, Jesus as the only one who can save from sin, and they preach Christ.

We cannot possibly visit all the villages this winter, or rather this month of February. After February the heat will not allow us to stay out itinerating.

We hope in time to have small houses put up in different centres all over the valley and that our doctor after she has mastered the language, will be able to visit these centres and dispense medicines. A Christian family could occupy half and the other half left for us missionaries to occupy when we can find time to visit these centres. If you dear people could see heathen darkness, as we see it your eyes would be open to the deplorable need, you would give us a larger share in your doctors, hospitals, schools and churches. You would realize that you, each one, are debtors to the barbarians.

I don't see how I can go back to the place where I left off, Switzerland, and tell you anything of the experiences of the last three months. Am sorry that I have not written before. It is my intention to do better in the future.

Sincerely yours,

ARBIE M. STEBBINS.

P. S. February 9. I found it impossible to get this letter mailed last week so can add a line. Miss Savage, who is an honorary missionary, one of our number, has at her own expense purchased some land and proceeds at once to put up the house I mentioned. The land is on the main road where the pilgrims pass, and at a fine centre for work in the surrounding villages.

You who know how to pray, will you not remember these efforts to make the gospel known in these regions?

COLLEGE CIVILIZATION

One of the Halls of Purdue University Bombaraded by Students with Clubs and Stones.

Lafayette, Ind., March 12. — The fiercest fought battle in the history of Purdue class fights occurred here last night when 300 freshmen bombarded with stones and clubs Columbian hall, where the sophomores were in session at their annual banquet; stormed the stairs, and succeeded in temporarily making up the gathering. This was not accomplished until about twenty of the attacking freshmen were more or less hurt. A riot call was sent in, but the twenty police who responded were unable to handle the crowd of rioting students.

Not until the city fire department was called and two streams of water brought into play did the freshmen disperse in order to a full understanding of the situation. A patrol wagon full of the ringleaders was arrested. All were subsequently released except M. L. Harmon. Most of the students' injuries were received at the hands of the police, who charged the crowd, using their clubs. A half dozen students with cracked heads were pulled out of the crowd by their companions and led or carried away.

CARD PARTY.

Mrs. Kent and Mrs. Richards Serve Supper and Provide Pleasant Evening for Guests.

Mrs. C. D. Kent and Mrs. Geo. Richards issued invitations for a luncheon and card party for last Monday evening and about forty guests were present. They arrived from 6:30 to 7:30 and were served with a two course luncheon upon their arrival, the hostesses inaugurating an early lunch in the interest of health and hygiene. The party was held at the home of Mrs. Kent.

After tea pedro was played the score cards at the close of the games showing that Mrs. Will Brodick had the largest number, and she was made the recipient of a beautiful china chocolate pot. The gentleman's prize was won by Mr. Frank Lamk, it being a deck of Napoleon cards, given thus to the conqueror of the evening.

It proved a pleasant occasion to all who were present.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS.

Because it's for one Thing Only, and Buchanan is Learning This.

Nothing can be good for everything. Doing one thing will bring success. Doan's Kidney Pills do one thing only. They're for sick kidneys. They cure backache, every kidney ill. Here is Buchanan evidence to prove it.

Mr. Henry Blodgett, of Main St., Prop. of the Tile and Brick Works, says: "After a careful and varied experience I have not the slightest hesitation in endorsing the claims made for Doan's Kidney Pills. At intervals for over two years I was not only annoyed but I actually suffered from severe pain in the small of my back and it was always worse if I did a hard day's work. Any cold I caught aggravated the pain, weakened my kidneys and too frequent action of the kidney secretions ensued. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills, got a box at W. N. Brodick's drug store and took them with the result that the backaches entirely disappeared and my kidneys were strengthened. Mrs. Blodgett also used Doan's Kidney Pills with the same good result. We both are pleased to recommend so valuable a remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name. Doan's, and take no substitute.

Frank Anderson's Success.

"The following item clipped from a New York City paper will be of interest to many Buchanan people as Frank Anderson is so well and favorably known here, much of his childhood and early boyhood days having been spent in this village.

By his own efforts he has attained a high position, commanding an excellent salary, and has practically made a place for himself in busy New York. The costumes worn by actresses in Floradora and many other of the popular plays, were designed by Mr. Anderson.

The following is the comment made by the New York paper.

The manufacture of costumes for Klaw & Erlanger's spectacular and musical productions has become so important a part in the enterprises of this firm that they have organized a costume making establishment of their own at 152 and 154 West Thirty fourth street, where they will give employment all the year round to nearly 200 people, and in the summer time, when new productions are being prepared, to double this number. This concern will be conducted by F. Richard Anderson, who has drawn the designs for the costumes for all Klaw & Erlanger's attractions since his work for Ben-Hur."

Mr. Wilson, a blind student, from Valparaiso College, spoke to the students of our high school Wednesday on the education of the blind. He first read a chapter from Matthew's Gospel by means of the raised letters. Mr. Wilson then outline the method of teaching the blind.

They are taught all of the branches included in our school course besides two trades. It takes a blind boy or girl about five years to finish the high school course. He said that it ought to be a great inspiration to the pupils who can see to know that the blind accomplish so much.

RESOLVED, That while we regret the parting, we shall always remember her as a loving sister, ever ready to extend the hand of sympathy and kind words to the discouraged. And that as a just tribute to our deceased sister we drape our charter for thirty day.

Teachers, Scholars, Pupils, Attention!

The most advanced teachers of the East have, after careful preparations, published three wonderful books.

In the first one they have put all of the common branches, twelve in all, and then have written each branch in questions and then answered each question in full making Five Thousand Questions with the Five Thousand Answers, completely exhausting Grammar, Geography, Arithmetic, History, Physiology, Spelling, Reading, etc., so that anyone, right at home, can become greatly proficient in all these branches without the aid of a teacher. This first book is worth fifty dollars of any one's money in preparing a teacher or student for examination, and the book complete sells for only $1.50.

The second book takes up twelve Normal branches in the same way, and the third book takes up the Higher branches and exhausts them in a like manner, so any one wishing to prepare for college can use this one.

Any of these books can be had for $1.50, and the authors have placed them with

"After my first baby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what it would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of generation for the ordeal of pregnancy and childbirth. It prevents miscarriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.

Magazine Reviews

The Delineator for April.
The April Delineator presents the usual up-to-date display of fashion and a delightful collection of literary features. In fiction there are two fine short stories: A Heathen Virtue, a tale of Virginia in Colonial days written by Martha McCulloch Williams, and illustrated by George Gibbs; and The Shoot-up at Laramie Camp, a breezy story of the plains by Minna C. Smith, with pictures by Harry Stacy Benton. In Thyra Var-rick, Mrs. Barr's powerful story, the interest is splendidly sustained, although the end of the serial is near.
The first of Hudson Moore's paper on flowers is given with beautiful illustrations, and a novel cookery series by Miles Bradford begins with An Internal Dinocr. There is a page of exclusive photographs of Mary Manning, the popular actress. An Out-of-town House, of moderate cost and of especially attractive interior arrangements is described and illustrated, and of further interest to the house is Dr. Grace Peckham Murray's article on Heating and Ventilation In Miladi, Clare E. Laughlin discusses the service problem, and Mrs. Birne presents a thoughtful paper on Child hood. The departments: The News-Books, Social Observances, House furnishing, The Kitchen, etc., are all interesting and helpful.

Save your money! We guarantee Coonley's Tonic Ext. of Sarsaparilla at 50c a bottle equal to any of the $1.00 Sarsaparillas made. It is a perfect blood purifier, curing Blood Poison, Syphilis, Pimples, Eczema, Dizziness, and Blood troubles of all kinds. Large bottles and small doses only 50c at E. S. Dodd & Son's.

There has recently been created by flat of the Czar at the eastern end of the Trans-Siberian Railroad a great commercial city, with modern docks and streets, modern business buildings, model dwellings, and all the equipment of a commercial seaport.
It is a finished city, waiting for inhabitants and is called Dalny—meaning "far away." Clarence Cary, the well-known lawyer, recently visited it and describes it, with many illustrations, in the April Scribner's.

A Boy's Wild Ride For Life.
With family around expecting

Ind., endured death's agonies from asthma, but this wonderful medicine gave instant relief and soon cured him. He writes: "I now sleep soundly every night." Like marvelous cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Grip

CONVICTS IN MICHIGAN

Committee Report on Their Labor Says There's Nothing in It for the State.

WHERE IT SHOULD BE A BONANZA

Debate on the Proposal to Pay Solons Salary—U. M. W. Fixing Up a Scale—State News.

Lansing, Mich., March 12.—Contract labor in state prison is strongly condemned by a report submitted yesterday to the lower house of the state legislature by the committee on the Jackson state prison. The report goes to show that prisoners are hired out to contractors for from 35 to 75 cents a day whose work would call for from $1 a week up to $4 a day at union rates of wages. The committee expresses the opinion that the contract system enriches the contractors at the expense of the state and says further in its report:

Things It Cannot Understand.
"We cannot understand why an institution of this kind employing from 500 to 600 men every day cannot be self-sustaining. We are informed that the demand from some contractors for articles manufactured is so great that the prison is unable to fill some of its contracts."

Salaries for the Solons.
To get the proposition of granting the members of the legislature a salary of $500 a year in lieu of all the present privileges, mileage, etc., before the people at the joint resolution before the house with a motion to place it on the immediate passage. Representative Rodgers maintained in debate that the passage of this measure and the provision to abolish the limit of fifty days for the introduction of bills would result in a great saving to the state.

Arguments for the Proposition.
"If the legislators had a fixed salary," he declared, "they wouldn't drag out the sessions with unnecessary weeks of fussing. We wouldn't be sitting here long into June changing the names of Mud lakes to Peaceful valleys."

"They say," said Representative
"Yarb" Higgins, "that the legislators aim to stay in session now until at the $3 a day rate, they have made enough to pay the expenses of their election campaigns."

He was interrupted by applause, and after his sentiments had been echoed by others, Representative H.
E. Powell moved the previous question, and the joint resolution was adopted.

MICHIGAN MINERS IN CONVENTION

They Will Formulate a Wage Scale To Be Presented to the Employers
Next Week.

Saginaw, Mich., March 12.—The first day's session of the annual convention, Michigan district, United Mine Workers of America resulted in the election of Stephen Corven as district president; Duncan Boyd, vice president; John Harris, secretary-treasurer, and E. S. McCullough, member of the national executive board.

The convention will formulate a wage scale to be presented at a joint meeting of operators and miners at Bay City next week. The report of Secretary-Treasurer Corven shows receipts from all sources to be $22,286.40 and disbursements $19,827.40, leaving a balance in the treasury of $2,459.
A gain in membership of 315 is reported.

Ice Jam Threatens Havoc.

Grand Haven, Mich., March 12.—A great ice gorge has formed in the Grand river above the railroad bridges, and there is grave fear that the Grand Trunk and Interurban Electric Railway company's bridges will be carried away, entailing a loss of $75,000. All efforts to break the ice jam have so far proven futile. The tug Bos in an effort to break the jam lost her wheel.
Forty thousand logs were carried away from a raft above this city Tuesday afternoon.

Given Away by Ah Sin.

Lansing, Mich., March 12. — Lee Sam, one of the Chinese confined in the city hall, charged with being unlawfully in the country, cannot talk English, but he tipped it off by signs to Deputy United States Marshal Abels that another prisoner was planning to escape. The prisoner sawed off two window bars and was about to get away when an officer stopped the game.

He Wants a Deserted Wife.

Bay City, Mich., March 12. — The poor master has received from E. T.
Whitney, of Mears, Mich., a request for a deserted wife, 20 to 30 years old, tall, slender, either French, Irish or Scotch, a church-goer and no dancer.
He wants the woman to cook his meals.

Would Close the Factories.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 12. —
Grand river gives signs of subsiding.
Tuesday noon the center of the big dam gave out and it is feared the entire dam will go, which would close all the water power factories here for the summer.

Not Kind of John Patterson.

Amont, Mich., March 12. — E. F.
King, 45 years old, a widower, took a 17-year-old girl from the school house to Lapeer and married her. The girl's father, John Patterson, thrashed his son-in-law with a cane next day.

FIVE BOYS AND DYNAMITE

One of Them Lights a Stick of the Explosive and the Result is Terrible to All.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 12.—Five small boys lighted a stick of dynamite which they found yesterday afternoon in the northern part of the city. The explosive went off with terrific force.
It is feared that some of the boys will die, while those that survive will be marked for life.

The injured are: Anthony Gerace, 5 years old, face, arms and neck lacer-ated; James S. Chorla, 8 years old, flesh torn from parts of body, internally injured, will probably die; Tony S.
Chorla, 6 years old, lacerated hands, legs and face; John Ferria, 9 years old, lacerations, internally injured; Tony Ferria, 6 years old, entire body, particularly face and hands lacerated, may be internally injured.

WHERE'S MISS GONZALES AT?

What She Wants the United States Supreme Court to Decide for Her Soon.

Washington, March 12.—In the United States supreme court a motion was made yesterday by Couderc Bros., of New York, to advance the hearing of the case of Isabella Gonzales. Miss Gonzales is a native of Porto Rico, about 20 years of age, who arrived at New York from that island on or about the 4th of August, 1902.

On her arrival she was detained at the Ellis island immigrant station and excluded from admission into the United States on the ground that she was an alien immigrant likely to become a public charge. She seeks to secure release on a writ of habeas corpus, on the ground that she is not an alien.

H. C. FRIEND SUICIDES

Tries His Gun on Passers-By, Stands On the Police, Plays a Piano, and Then Kills Himself.

Syracuse, N. Y., March 12.—After sitting in a window of a fashionable apartment house and taking pot shots at the people passing in James street below, Henry C. Friend held a party of policemen at bay for an hour with a big revolver last night. Then forcing the janitor to roll cigarettes, Friend played the piano with his left hand and held the gun in his right.

Soon thereafter Friend turned on the piano stool, placed the revolver at his breast, and sent a bullet through his heart. He was 20 years old and son of the late George S. Friend, once a prominent merchant here.

Why Funston Is at Washington.

Washington, March 12. — General Frederick Funston was at the war department yesterday in response to a summons from Acting Secretary Sanger, to discuss matters connected with his new assignment to duty as commander of the department of the Columbia. Sanger desires to acquire special information respecting conditions in Alaska, which is in the limits of General Funston's new command, and as the officer will soon be going to that territory, the acting secretary is charging him with subjects of inquiry.

Mad Mullah Is a Peach.

Aden, Arabal, March 12.—Advices received here from Obbia, Somaliland, say that during the recent fight between the followers of the Mad Mullah and the Abyssinians forces co-operating with the British the former lost 1,000 men. The Mullah, it is added, is maintaining his authority with ruthless severity, cutting the throats of male malcontents and mutilating women and children.

OUR NATIVE TREES

By THOMAS H. MACBRIDE, Ph. D., Professor of Botany, Iowa State University.

XI.—Planting Trees.

TO a great many people the starting of trees seems to be a matter of no little mystery. Such folks cannot quite make out how the tree is reproduced. In fact, in case of many of our trees the inflorescence is inconspicuous, the flowers so small that they are with difficulty seen at all. Besides, as we know, sterile and fertile flowers on different trees characterize certain species, so that it is really a fact that some individual trees never show fruit or seed at all. Accordingly, although everybody in the world knows that the seed of the oak is the acorn, there are people not a few who think that oaks sometimes appear without regard to any such germinal antecedent. For such people the earth brings forth of herself vegetation after its kind. Trees are a sort of natural effluence of the soil. Different soils produce different kinds of trees. A sandy soil in the north will push up a crop of willows, thousands upon thousands of them; an abandoned sandfield in the south will put up a peculiar species of pine, the "old field pine," in fact. In Pennsylvania a rocky hillside will spring up thick with chestnuts; in Iowa a loess ridge produces white oaks. Everywhere where a forest of pine has been cut away forthwith appears a new forest of deciduous living trees.

Let us see what all this means. In the first place, we may note that the seeds of some trees are extremely small. They are adapted to transportation by wind or water. Every spring, for instance, along our northern streams the air is filled with flying seeds of poplars and of willows. The seeds of the pine, the maple, the birch, the elm, are likewise so distributed. In time of storm the winds will often carry such seeds to distances almost unlimited. On the other hand, the seeds of some most common species are carried by the birds and dropped to come up in unexpected places. Such are the seeds of the barberry, red cedar and even of the oak, surprising to relate. A bluejay has been known to carry the acorns of a bur oak to a distance of three miles, dropping the nuts all the way along at various intervals. It is therefore not difficult to see that even the most surprising cases of the upspringing of forests may yet be explained by reference to the ordinary sequence of seed and shoot. If one who passes through a pine forest will observe carefully, he will often find small areas already given to other sorts of trees, and if he will look still more closely he will find often among the pines themselves hundreds of little trees, not pines, temporarily overshadowed and suppressed, which wait only the removal of the existing forest to spring up rapidly and so to produce in a few years the remarkable transformation so often noted. After a terrible sweep of a fire in the mountains of the west the whole mountain side is often blackened with a ruin so complete that it would seem as if no living thing could ever appear in that locality again. But beneficent nature sends relief. On the wings of the wind the seeds of the mountain aspen float, and in a year or two the ruin may be almost effaced, at least by aspen saplings, standing so thick sometimes as to be utterly impenetrable. These form a nursing cover for young forms of other species, conifers among the rest, and after long years the original forest may possibly resume its sway. But every tree has sprung from adventitious seeds.

The processes of nature thus briefly noticed are for our example. If we would plant trees, we cannot do better than to observe how the thing is done in nature and then do with precision that which in the natural world is always correct in principle, but often quite haphazard in execution. We discover first of all that we shall have trees, fine ones, and precisely in the places where we wish them, if we simply plant the seed and let time do the rest. In the case of several sorts of trees this is the very best possible procedure. All trees having a vertical or tap root are so much harmed and set back by the necessary pruning in transplanting that a seed in the place where the tree is wanted will usually far outstrip in a few years the transplanted specimen. The writer has on his premises two oaks planted sixteen years ago, one as an acorn, the other a nursery grown specimen. The former is thirty-four feet high and six inches thick at the ground, the latter twelve feet high and three inches thick. A white oak set out thirty years ago is only forty feet high and about seven inches thick. For walnuts, oaks, hickories, chestnuts, the only fortunate method, or at least the surest method, is to plant the seeds where you wish the trees. Would you learn how nature plants such seeds? Visit the forests in early autumn, and you may easily discover. She throws her walnuts to the ground with the falling leaves. These cover the seeds, but by no means deeply. The soft husks rot away, and the frosts of winter freeze the hard nuts through and through, spreading but not loosening a seam that fast binds the two valves together. The thawing of spring completes the work, sets free the halves of the otherwise unpierceable shell and permits the emergence of the imprisoned shoot. The husk probably still holds enough to keep everything yet together until possibly a spring freshet dashing by over the aluvial bed where the parent walnut stands bears the germinating nut away to leave it buried farther down in some bank of drifted sand. Here the young tree makes a start in life, sends up a slender stem, sends down a long stout root to stay waiting the demands from the upper world when these shall come, as come at length they will, from spreading branch and leaf. Perchance there is no fresher to carry the nut down the stream. Possibly a hungry squirrel carries it in the opposite direction, only to leave it forgotten at the last in some hollow stump or by some rotting log. No matter. The process is just the same. So nature plants a walnut.

The wise farmer who wishes a grove of these or similar trees proceeds in similar fashion. He gathers in early autumn a bushel or two of the nuts. He buries them in the open in loose sand or mulch, not omitting to provide for freezing. When spring returns and the earth is now warm and moist, he plants in thoroughly loosened soil the now germinating seeds; buries them, but not too deep; plants them in rows with other cheaper trees needed for timely shelter, later to be removed. The farmer cultivates his trees as so much corn and finds his reward in a growth that is simply phenomenal. Unusually favorable conditions here will give unusually fine and large results—results hardly to be seen in nature where there is no plowing. But every tree has a time of planting. As a matter of fact, trees may be moved at any time, but it is safer and much more convenient to handle them when the leaves are off. In fall or early spring the bark adheres more tightly and is therefore not so liable to injury. The tree is resting. Here, however, is an elm transplanted in August growing well, but undoubtedly retarded by the change. Probably, all things considered, the spring is the best omened season for the planting of a tree.

But, secondly, the more important matter is the manner of the planting. It is pretty certain that most transplanted trees that fall die of drought. They die of drought in transit. The roots are allowed to become dry. Some trees will endure bad treatment in this respect much better than others, but the great majority of the species we use for ornamental or economic planting must be watched if we wish to obtain the best possible results. Many trees also perish because improperly set out. The laborer gives the already mutilated roots too little room. They are all imprisoned in unfriendly soil or by impenetrable walls of clay. Trees may even drown because the spring rains fill up the hard walled hole in which the roots are set and the water finds no exit. This not infrequently happens in clay soil. A tree planter of experience suggests the following rules:

1. Plant small trees. They will soon outgrow those planted larger.
2. Trim smoothly with a sharp knife all bruised and broken roots.
3. Keep the roots moist all the time.
4. Make the hole for the reception of the tree much too large and too deep. Then fill it, as need requires, with good, rich, sandy soil.
5. Keep the tree mulched and moist, at least for the first summer.
6. Prune early to determine the future shape of your tree.

The pruning of trees in this country seems to be nearly everywhere a matter of purest impulse. There is certainly no intelligence about it. Our trees on lawns, by the highway, in the parks and cemeteries, are everywhere subject to most barbarous usage. For all sorts of trees pruning is deferred until the tree is old, when the owner or street commissioner or the telephone company suddenly awakens to the fact that the tree needs pruning, when forthwith a man with ladder and ax appears and proceeds to hew off the already far developed limbs. No illustration is needed here to bring before readers vividly the results of such amputation. In every town, along every highway, one may see examples of such mutilation. All winter long the mutilated trunks of our trees stand like decapitated criminals. In spring all generous nature attempts to cover up the deformity. New shoots appear in numbers around the severed trunk or branch, and in time we may have once more a somewhat unbragous top. But the tree is ruined. In the first place, its symmetry is destroyed. It can never again exhibit the graceful proportions characteristic of the species it represents. In the second place, the exposed wood, whether the lopping was done by ax or saw, soon rots. Decay, like swift disease, invades the center of the trunk and in a few years leaves naught but a wretched shell.

The remedy for the situation is plainly twofold. In the first place, for vandalism, which despoils our streets, our parks, our avenues, the remedy lies in the direction of proper civic administration. Local government is at fault, and recourse must lie in awakened public sentiment. When the mischief is on private property, the owner must learn that mutilation is destruction. He had better far remove the tree, whose shape he could correct, and plant a new one, so pruned at the outset and early in its growth as to obviate the necessity of such heroic treatment later on.

If, however, it becomes necessary to prune a full grown tree by cutting some of its larger branches, the evil effect may in part be obviated by care in conducting the operation. If a limb be cut off smoothly, cut twice, first at some distance from the trunk and then close up, so as to leave the wound perfectly smooth, and if the exposed surface be then well painted, as with hot coal tar, the wound will heal—i. e., the bark will grow over the painted surface from every side, no decay will enter, and the tree escapes disaster.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

LESSON XI, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MARCH 15.

Text of the Lesson, Acts xix, 20-40. Memory Verses, 20-31—Golden Text, Ps. xxxi, 23—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1903, by American Press Association.] 29. And the whole city was filled with confusion.

This great stir was because business was being interfered with. The word of God grew so mightily and so prevailed (verse 20) that the worshippers of Diana were not so plentiful, and there was not the same call for silver shrines as formerly (22-27). What a glorious testimony verse 26 is to the power of the gospel. We think of chapter v, 28, and the high priest's testimony that the apostles had filled Jerusalem with their doctrine. Where is there like zeal now and where is the devil disturbed by the preachers of the gospel? Where are those who cry out, "Great is Jesus of Nazareth" with the same zeal that these people cried, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!" (verses 28, 34). The temple at Ephesus was one of the wonders of the world, and its magnificence was no doubt very great, but it was the work of man and for man's glory and for the worship of the devil, for all sacrifice and worship that is not to God is to the devil (1 Cor. x, 20). All the confusion in Ephesus at this time was of the devil also, for "God is not a God of confusion, but of peace" (1 Cor. xiv, 33).

He had friends also among the principal men of Asia who advised him not to enter the theater. We are nowhere authorized to put ourselves needlessly in danger. When the people of Nazareth would have cast our Lord from the brow of the hill and killed Him, He quietly took Himself out of their way (Luke iv, 29, 30). If He permits death to come to us, we are not to fear it (Matt. x, 28), knowing that "to die is gain," "to depart and be with Christ is far better" (Phil. i, 21, 23).

33-34. When they knew that he was a Jew, all with one voice, about the space of two hours, cried out, Great is Diana of the Ephesians!

It was simply uproar and confusion, the majority not knowing why they were there, and when this Alexander, put forward by the Jews, would have spoken the verses quoted tells how they acted and shows how foolish it would have been for Paul to have tried to quiet them. They make us think of the prophets of Baal who cried from morning until noon, saying, "O Baal, hear us" (1 Kings xviii, 26). The one cry meant about as much as the other. The fact that Alexander was a Jew started them on this two hours' cry. Think of the hatred manifested to Mordecai the Jew, to Daniel the Jew and to the King of the Jews! And then consider that every redeemed soul in heaven and all who ever will be there are each one indebted to the blood of a Jew, and all kings and all nations shall yet fall down before and serve the King of the Jews (Ps. lxxii, 11), for whether it be individual or national "salvation is of the Jews" (John iv, 22).

35, 36. Seeing then that these things cannot be spoken against, ye ought to be quiet and to do nothing rashly.

Thus spake the town clerk after he had appeased the people and had said a good word for the people of Ephesus in regard to their faithfulness to Diana. "He that is slow to wrath is of great understanding." "A wrathful man stirreth up strife, but he that is slow to anger appeaseth strife." "He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty, and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city" (Prov. xv, 29; xv, 18; xvi, 32).

37, 38. Ye have brought hither these men, which are neither robbers of temples nor yet blasphemers of your goddess. It was not their way to ridicule the religion of the heathen, but to hold up before them the living God and to preach the gospel of God concerning His Son, Jesus Christ our Lord, that the heathen might see the contrast and by the Spirit of God, who always works when the word is preached, be convinced of their sins and be led to turn from idols to serve the living and true God and to wait for His Son from heaven, whom He raised from the dead, even Jesus who delivereth us from the wrath to come (1 Thess. i, 9, 10).

39-41. For we are in danger to be called in question for this day's uproar, there being no cause whereby we may give an account of this concourse.

The lessons from this portion of Scripture are nearly all by contrast, and I wonder if the lesson committee should not be called in question for assigning such a portion and giving us nothing from the much more profitable next chapter till we come to the twenty-eighth verse. I have thought perhaps the author of confusion and not the God of peace led them to this selection; but we have found some helpful thoughts, and there are more here, for every redeemed soul should remember that we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, and every one of us shall give account of himself to God (Rom. xiv, 10, 12). This is neither a possibility nor a probability, but a sure thing, for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it. Compare II Cor. v, 10; Matt. xii, 36. The question of our sins was settled on the cross, and by that precious blood we are made meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light (Col. i, 12-14); but inasmuch as we are to be called to account for our works as believers (I Cor. iii, 14, 15) it becomes to us to abide in Him that we may not be ashamed before Him at His coming (I John ii, 28). If we are only fully yielded to Him that He may work in us both to will and to do of His good pleasure all will be well (Rom. vi, 13; Phil. ii, 13).

Dayton will have to corner the tobacco market and put a few more boxes of ashes around the stove in the village store for the discussion of the oil prospects and a boom of Dayton.

Dayton has been boomed periodically for years around the same stove. Like its sister, Buchanan, after the talk was all over, it looks to the man on the outside, as if it had been struck with a bomb instead of a boom. We wish them both good luck in their present prospects.

HOT CUP OF COFFEE.

Suggested for the Rural Mail Carriers

TO THE EDITOR:

Just a few words in his behalf With some people how little his mission is appreciated. He is looked upon by them as a standing fixture for all time to come, a living machine for their especial benefit and convenience. He is regarded as all powerful and omnipresent, both frost and rain proof. Each day he is expected to appear on time at every rural home along his particular route ready to lick stamps, unlock tiny locks where perhaps mail is not received more than once a week, scratch up pennies from the bottom of slippery metallic boxes, gather and deliver the mail for each family with out a single error or mishap.

He must be on time no matter how hot, cold or stormy the weather may be. No difference as to the condition of the roads. Even if snow drifts have filled the highway so that it has become impassable to the farmer, the mail man must not fail to arrive and bring our mail. When he comes along he will open up the road all right for us farmers. Of course he with his one horse and cutter, can open up a roadway for himself and others. Don't you know he is obliged to make his 25 mile route each day for us farmers and Uncle Sam and be on time too? If our mail is not forth coming he will have to be removed and some one else that can do better take his place.

Now to these kickers let me say:
Long years ago I learned this one lesson: It is much easier for one to criticize and find fault over another's effort in life than it would be for us to quit kicking at them and do better. It is far easier for you to look out of your sitting room window when the weather is below zero, the roads filled with white snow banks, the wind blowing a gale of 70 knots an hour, the air filled with blinding sleet or snow, and cuss because the mail man is behind time, or does not appear at all, than for you to have taken his place and made any quicker time. While you are within doors and sheltered from the storm without, have a little charity for the one that all the long day is outside facing the storm.

Have a little patience with him until the storm is passed. Quit your growling. Take your shovel and open up a path for him. Do a little in helping to make his road easier and brighter. Make a path to your box. Help him to sort out the mail for you when the storm is on. Lick and stick your own stamps when his tongue gets too cold and tired. You might take the key from his cold fingers and open up the lock box for him. Don't think it would hurt you any. When you see him coming though the blinding storm and cold carry him out a warm cup of coffee.
It would be worth as much to him perhaps and go as far to your credit in the sight of God as a cup of cold water. When you need some stamps, don't run to him and say, "Give me a stamp." It would sound much better, be more polite and please him far more for you to say, "A few stamps, please," and when you receive them, remember the training of your childhood and say "thank you" You have duties and obligations belonging to you to extend to him, and which is his due. He is no slave because he is sending and carrying your mail. Far better for you to quit kicking and help the mail carrier through the storm than to add to his unpleasant surroundings by your unreasonable impatience.

Be quiet until the storm is passed, even if you do not get your mail for a whole long week during the storm than to have the route discontinued for all time to come because of your growling during a short storm period of the year. For, rest assured, should Uncle Sam take his red-bandanna handkerchief from his tall hat, and wiping the perspiration from his face, point his long fore finger at you and say, "Your mail route is taken," it will be a long time before you will get it back again. Then be patient.

Help and do not cuss and find fault about the mail carrier, remembering it will be better farther on.—
L. S. Bronson in the Niles Sun.

FRYE OILS THINGS UP

So That the Panama Canal Treaty Can Work Through to a Vote.

MAY BE TAKEN NEXT TUESDAY

Morgan Having Agreed to Get Out of the Way—Cuban Treaty Faces Trouble.

Washington, March 12.—Decided progress was made yesterday toward reaching an agreement for a vote on the Colombian treaty, and when the senate adjourned there was a general understanding that today, in all probability, some hour next Tuesday would be definitely agreed on as the time when a vote should be taken on the treaty and amendments. All statements to this effect, however, were accompanied by the announcement that there were yet some details to be arranged, leaving it impossible absolutely to conclude the agreement before today. There is, however, no doubt in the minds of leading senators that the vote will be taken on Tuesday.

Frye Brought It All About.

The arrangement was brought about largely by Frye, who by virtue of long service with Morgan on the committee on foreign relations has come to be on terms of great intimacy with the Alabama senator. No other senator thus far has shown any disposition to delay the final disposition of the treaty. So that all that was necessary was to secure Morgan's assent to the taking of the vote. The negotiation was begun early in the day and after Frye and Morgan had been closeted for some time the latter sought Gorman, and talked over the situation with him, with the result indicated. Morgan exacted consent to the printing in the Congressional Record of the remarks he has prepared giving his best recollection of the speeches he has made in the executive sessions of the senate on the treaty.

Two Democratic Amendments.

Democratic senators have practically agreed unanimously to urge an amendment to the twenty-third article of the treaty relieving it of all question as to the right of the United States to control the canal, and they express confidence in obtaining some Republican votes for it. Many senators also express the conviction that the clause in the treaty committing the United States to a policy of non-acquisition of General American territory should be eliminated as entirely out of place. The indications are, however, that the treaty will be ratified without modification in any particular.

HAS A HARD ROAD TO TRAVEL

Cuban Reciprocity Not Likely To Be Given a Clear Course.

The agreement made yesterday has no reference to the Cuban treaty, but opens the way for its early consideration in the senate. The committee on foreign relations will meet today in order to take up the Cuban treaty with the view of reporting it to the senate. The Democrats will endeavor to amend the Cuban treaty, both in committee and in the senate, so as to require action by the house. They also threaten to antagonize it with the French reciprocity treaty, which treaty is quite objectionable to many Republican senators, but the indications are that the Cuban agreement soon will be reported by the committee.

That it will have such smooth sailing in the senate is not quite so certain. Four or five Democratic senators are favorable to it, but while there is only one Republican senator who has announced his intention to vote against it there are a number indifferent to it in the senate. As it appears now it would be difficult to hold a quorum of the senate in Washington while the treaty is under consideration. If a quorum cannot be held it will be impossible to secure its ratification, for there is sufficient opposition to require this conformity with the rules of the senate.

Meantime the Cuban senate has ratified the treaty. Senor Quesada, the Cuban minister to the United States, last night received a dispatch from his home government saying: "The reciprocity treaty was approved by the senate by sixteen votes against five." The treaty referred to is the Cuban reciprocity treaty with the United States.

Sudden Death of an Artist.

Chicago, March 12.—Frithjof Smith-Hald, a distinguished Norwegian painter who has been in Chicago for the past month exhibiting a collection of his paintings, died suddenly in his room at the Grace hotel yesterday.

TRAGEDY IS COMPLETE

Mrs. Pennell Is Dead as the Result of the Automobile Accident at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 12.—Mrs. Arthur Pennell died at the Sisters of Charity hospital last night at 8 o'clock, never having recovered consciousness for an instant since the accident. Toward last evening a rising temperature and a quickening pulse warned the surgeons that the end was near, and she passed away at 8 p. m.

The theory that the death of Pennell and his wife was a case of deliberate suicide has been completely smashed. Experts have examined the auto and found that Pennell had done everything possible to stop the machine when it started on its frightful short-cut to death. Every bone in Pennell's head was broken and besides he had nine fractures of bones from simple to comminuted and a deep cut in his back.

VENEZUELA STILL FIGHTS

Rebels Claim a Large Area of Territory and Many of the Country's Seaports.

Willemstad, Island of Curacao, March 12.—The Venezuelan revolutionists say that they now hold all the eastern ports of Venezuela, from the Orinoco down to Rio Chico. Heavy fighting has taken place at Coro, capital of the state of Falcon. The result is not yet known. The revolutionary army commanded by General Rolando is said to be at Guarenas, near Caracas.

The recent retreat of the revolutionists, it is asserted here, was only a feint. The Venezuelan government troops are reported to have been defeated in the battle recently fought at Tacarigua. It is reported in revolutionary circles that the revolutionists have captured Cumana, state of Bermudez.

FIREMAN UNDER THE WRECK

Five Others Reported Killed and Numerous Passengers Injured on the Union Pacific.

Omaha, Neb., March 12.—The Overland Limited, east-bound, and freight train No. 27, west-bound, on the Union Pacific collided head-on at Gilmore Station, twelve miles west of here. The fireman on the freight is buried in the wreckage and is supposed to be dead.

Five other trainmen are reported killed. Many of the passengers are reported injured. A wrecking crew and a corps of doctors have gone to the scene of wreck. Gilmore is merely a switching station and there is no further news from there at this writing.

Rejected Carnegie's Offer.

Sycamore, Ill., March 12.—At the city council meeting Monday night the proposition of accepting $10,000 from Andrew Carnegie for a public library building was rejected. The public did not approve of the selection of a site—the north half of the city hospital ground—and the council rejected the offer because of the site chosen by the library promoters.

Didn't Elope with Headley.

Elwood, Ind., March 12.—With a general denial to all of the charges connecting her with the disappearance of ex-Policeman Francis M. Headley, Mrs. Kovia Hosier has returned to Elwood. She says that she had just learned that she was accused of eloping with Headley, although she says she has been at Marion since that night.

Blow Was the Cause of His Death.

Rhineland, Wis., March 12.—A report from Woodboro, a town west of here, states that Joseph Manger, 70 years of age, became entangled in a controversy regarding land matters and was struck in the face by Steve Kefner, a bystander. Manger fell backwards and struck his head on the floor, injuring the brain, death resulting.

Last of the Kamehameha Line.

Honolulu, March 12.—Prince Albert Kakaliimouka Kuniakalea is dead of consumption. The prince was the last descendant of Kamehameha the Great, and some day would have been king of Hawaii had the Kamehameha dynasty lived. Preparation for a state funeral, to take place next Sunday, is being made.

Other Reciprocity Treaties Dead.

Washington, March 12.—The understanding among the members of the committee on foreign relations is that none of the reciprocity treaties before the committee shall be reported for consideration this session and that the Cuban treaty will be the last to receive the attention of the committee for the present.

Favored the Newfoundland Treaty.

Washington, March 12.—The Hay-Bond treaty for reciprocal trade relations between the United States and the British dependency of Newfoundland was the subject of a hearing yesterday by the senate committee on foreign relations. The arguments made were all in support of the treaty.

Death Gave Him a Double Stroke.

New York, March 12.—J. Hobart Herrick, former president of the produce exchange, who fell two and a half stories as he was stricken with apoplexy in the Union League club Tuesday night, died from the effects of his injuries. Herrick fell over the railing of the staircase.

Wouldn't Sell for That Price.

Detroit, March 12.—Secretary E. Hance, of the Union Trust company announces that his company, as receiver of the Michigan Telephone company, has declined the offer of $125,000 cash made by the Citizens' Telephone company, of Kalamazoo, for the Bell plant in that city.

PROTEST BY GOMPERS

He Speaks to New York Solons Against a Court for Labor Disputes.

U. M. W. IN A HOMICIDE CASE

Will Spend Money to Convict Cunningham—Strikers Acknowledge an Error and Give Up.

Albany, N. Y., March 12.—President Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, appeared before the senate committee on judiciary yesterday to oppose Senator Lewis' bill providing for so-called "compulsory" arbitration of labor difficulties between public service corporations and their employees. Gompers said: "If you enact this principle into the legislation of this state and make labor compulsory even while waiting for the decision of a tribunal, or in accordance with the award of that tribunal, you will simply make outlaws of peaceful and law-abiding citizens. If you outlaw strikes you will simply give place to the harsher measures—you cannot legislate out of existence the right of men to combine and to quit work, if need be, for the betterment of their condition."

U. M. W. Money To Be Used.

Indianapolis, March 12.—The United Mine Workers' national organization has formally taken up the recent killing of William Dodson, William Clark and Richard Clayton at Beckley, W. Va. It is announced that the national organization will open its million-dollar treasury fund to prosecute United States Marshal Cunningham, who is charged by the miners with murdering the men in cold blood. Chris Evans, of Nelsonville, O., who has been handling the case, and William Blakeley and G. W. Purcell, Indiana organizers who have been sent to assist him, have been notified to proceed with vigor.

Other Charges Against Cunningham.

The mine workers charge that Cunningham had been inspired by the operators to terrorize the workers and intimidate them against a strike. They charge that Cunningham has killed union sympathizers before, and prevented union men from getting their mail at the postoffice at Stanford City, which is located on company property.

Strikers Call It All Off.

Denver, Colo., March 12.—The blacksmiths, boiler-makers and machinists formerly in the employ of the Colorado and Southern Railway company have declared their strike and boycott off and issued a statement, in which they say: "The blacksmiths, boiler-makers and machinists, ex-employees of the Colorado and Southern Railway company, desire * * * to say that the recent strike of the employees of the railway company was the result of misunderstanding between the employees in the blacksmith shops and misrepresentation of their case to the boiler-makers and machinists. * * * We admit that the company acted properly and fairly, and we have no one to blame but ourselves. Our boycott is now off, and we wish the public to know our attitude in the matter."

WABASH FILES EXCEPTIONS

Latest Development in the Important Strike Proceedings on That Road.

St. Louis, March 12.—In the United States district court the Wabash Railroad company filed a bill of exceptions to the answer of the defendants in the injunction proceedings brought to prevent certain employees and others from calling a strike on the system. In its bill of exceptions the road claims insufficiency in four particulars.

"1.—In that a copy of the minutes of the proceedings of the joint protective board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen is made a part of the answer, and it appears in those minutes that former proceedings were had, the minutes of which are not shown, and all of which should be shown in order to obtain a full and correct understanding of the acts and doings of the committee.

"2.—Because the minutes of the proceedings referred to above refer to numerous letters which were received and sent by the committee to the different lodges and officers of the organization, none of which letters are set out, and all of which should be shown in order to a full and proper understanding of the proceedings."

The same complaint is made to the record of proceedings of the general grievance committee, which is also made a part of the answer. The same complaint is made in regard to letters referred to in the record of proceedings last referred to.

There was also a motion filed asking that a rule be entered requiring the defendants to produce on the hearing of the motion to dissolve the injunction next Tuesday various letters referred to in the answer filed by the defendants, it being claimed that the contents of such letters should be known in order to a full understanding of what was done and the purposes.

Allison Squints at Closure.

Washington, March 12.—A resolution offered by Allison in the senate yesterday authorizes an inquiry into the question of a way to limit debate in the senate. The executive session ratified the (Herrn) and Mexican extradition treaty. Morgan occupied most of the time with his continued speech against the canal treaty.

NO MONEY APPROPRIATED

To Pay an International Claim O. K'd by the United States National Authorities After Inquiry.

Washington, March 12.—The British ambassador has called the attention of Acting Secretary Loomis to the failure of congress to provide for the settlement of a claim of Gallatly, Hankey & Co., of London, England, owners of the British steamship Mogul, for damages alleged to be due them by reason of a collision between the Mogul and the United States transport Warren, in Manila bay, Dec. 30, 1900.

This claim was thoroughly examined by the United States officials, who found that the Warren was at fault and fixed the amount which was to be paid to the owners of the British steamer. This statement was submitted to the last congress, but in the general deficiency bill the only provision made in the case was for another examination.
