MARRIAGE
INDUSTRYInvestigated by Some of the State Legislators.

The following representatives were visitors at St. Joseph on Saturday; Representatives R. N. Adams, of Chipewaw; Gideon T. Werline, of Menominee; Archibald McEachern, of Mackinac; Nathan V. Lovell, of Eau Claire and James B. Knight, of Dickinson county. They spent the forenoon in the office of County Clerk Church, going over the marriage records. If reports are true the investigation will make votes against the Van Zoeren bill which is directed against St. Joseph marriage industry. The impression has prevailed that the marriage industry at St. Joseph was pernicious which led us to investigate and we have discovered the following: That the ages of those who come from Chicago and elsewhere to St. Joseph to be married average 5 years older than those of the county.

It has been said that the divorce courts of Chicago are full on account of the Michigan Marriages. An affidavit from each of the clerks in the seven chancery courts of Chicago says that there has been no increase in the divorce cases owing to Michigan marriages for the past five years.

The persons procuring licenses from abroad are asked their street address, and a number have been communicated with, and in every case they are happy and contented. There has never been a complaint from any relative of persons married at St. Joseph from abroad while there are frequent complaints from those in the county. When the number of persons visiting St. Joseph each season are considered, the percentage of marriages are smaller than the average of home marriages. There are a number of reasons why the Chicago people come to St. Joseph to be married; take as an example a young lady who has gone to the city for employment, she has a room perhaps with another like herself. She desires to marry a man of her choice, where will they be married, in her room? No, they feel that they ought at least go on some kind of a trip, and what would be pleasanter and cheaper than a trip across the lake and being married in some resident pastor's home? Many cases might be cited, but this one will do for there are hundreds of just such.

One incentive for coming to Michigan is that the Michigan law allows the marriage of cousins which is not so in other states. Why not legislate against that? There seems to be a large amount of jealousy in the whole matter and so far as our investigation goes we are unable to see the evil.

BASKET BALL.

North and South Side Business Men to Play for Benefit of the Band.

Wednesday evening of next week there will be a notable event at Rough's Opera house. The business men of the north side of the village will play against the business men of the south side. The sport caused by the playing of this game may fully be expected to far surpass the far famed pastime minstrels so lately heard in the opera house.

The players for the north side will be Herbert Roe, Wm. Sparks, H. H. Hosford, Sig Desenberg, D. F. Bower; south side, Dr. L. E. Peck, A. A. Worthington, Chas. Pears, Glenn Smith, and Dr. Orville Curtis.

Aside from the pleasure offered by the brilliant playing you must not forget that the proceeds go to one of the most commendable objects, the Buchanan Cornet Band, for the purpose of purchasing suits.

Let everybody turn out as you surely will be doubly paid by the pleasure of the occasion and the good you can do for the band. Remember this is no April fool joke, but an actual fact, Wednesday evening, April 1.

Low Rates to Florida.

And return; also to many southern points via the Big Four Route. Selling dates, March 3rd and 17th, April 7th and 21st. Return limit 21 days. For full information and particulars as to rates, tickets, limits, etc., call on Agents "Big Four Route," or address the undersigned.

EFFICIENT WORK TERMINATES

Rev. Niergarth, Who Has Faithfully Served as Pastor of Evangelical Church Will Be Transferred to Other Fields.
Farewell Services Next Sunday.

REV. J. R. NIERGARTH.

EVANGELICAL CHURCH.

As the time of Conference approaches the ministers become aware that there is no abiding place while on this mundane sphere. Four years spent in this village have been full of work, much of it very pleasant but some of it hard. The years fly rapidly and now with work well done in this field, he looks forward to the future. Rev. Niergarth did not come as a stranger to this charge, having preached here on several occasions while pastor in St. Joseph. He found the church in good condition when he came and he has made it his first aim to care for the spiritual welfare of the church but did not lose sight of the temporal needs.

The church property of the Evangelical church is one of the best in the village and reflects credit on pastor and people.

Rev. Niergarth and family have made many friends, both in and out of the church, who will wish them God speed in their new field of labor.

INJUNCTION REFUSED.

The United States Court at Grand Rapids Refused a Temporary Injunction Preventing Chas. A. Chapin From Transmitting Power Pending the Hearing for a Permanent Injunction.

The village of Buchanan have through their attorneys applied to the Circuit court of Berrien County for a permanent injunction restraining Chas. A. Chapin from transmitting power from his power house on the St. Joseph river outside the corporate limits of the village of Buchanan. A number of citizen, taxpayers in the village of Buchanan, also applied to the U. S. Court for a similar injunction, also for a temporary injunction pending the hearing which was not allowed. In the mean time Chapin will go on transmitting the power pending the decision in the courts. It will not in any way affect the final decision.

BUCHANAN RECORD.

D. F. BOWER,
EDITOR.

TERMS $1.25 PER YEAR

Entered at the Post-office at Buchanan, Mich.
as second-class matter.

FRIDAY MAR. 27, 1903

Buchanan's Business Openings.

Splendid opportunity for a couple of good factories; two good brick buildings ready, waiting for occupation.

Under the above head we will publish from time to time business opportunities as we see them, and any one desiring information and addressing the Record we will do all we can to furnish information desired.

The Republicans of Michigan never presented to the people a better ticket than is presented for their suffrages this spring. The nominees on State ticket are men of conceded ability, each being exceptionally well qualified for the position he seeks. Each is entitled to the support of every member of his party and worthy of the suffrage of every citizen of the State regardless of party affiliations. The nominees of the Republican party are high minded men of unsullied reputations. In their official capacity as in their private careers they will do honor to themselves and to the State.

Letters.

During the past week we have seen the accounts in the different newspapers about the high water in the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, but it has not made the impression on us as when some one we know has encountered it.

In today's record we publish an account written by Jacob Imhoff whom many readers know, and which letter will be read with interest.

The letter from the former Galien resident, now in San Diego, California will also be read with interest by many, especially those who have friends and relatives in California.

30 Club.

The ladies of the 30 club met with Mrs. Sadie Hosford Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Bertie Smith had charge of the history lesson. Current events were given in answer to roll call. Business affairs of the club were discussed. Mrs. Smith favored the ladies with a beautiful instrumental solo which was thoroughly enjoyed.

The ladies adjourned to meet with Mrs. Blowers April 1st.

Critically Ill.

The many friends of the pioneer John S. Helmick will be grieved to know that he is critically ill.

He is confined to his bed and gradually growing weaker. His left lung seems to be seriously affected. His sister, E. A. Green, of Lake City, Iowa arrived on Wednesday of this week and will stay to help care for him.

POSTPONED SALE

On Wednesday, April 1, at the residence of Edward J. Long, will occur the postponed sale which did not take place as advertised last week on account of the stormy weather.

BENTON HARBOR

Ward caucuses last night.

Ex-Judge J. J. Van Riper was in the city yesterday.

The Phoenix insurance business will be removed to Detroit.

It is expected that the "Peg" Schaefer murder trial will begin next Tuesday.

The high wind yesterday morning broke out two plate glass windows in Harry Bird's drug store.

The next number in the Union lecture course will be given next Monday evening by Melvin Robinson, the impersonator.

Harbor Lodge-F. & A. M. (colored) was dedicated last night at the armory by Robert C. Barnes of Detroit, master of the colored lodge of Michigan.

George A. Mills has resigned his position as manager of the Bell opera house and is succeeded by Fred Felton, who has been booking agent for the Jule Walters' attractions.

The Soo city has resumed her trips to Chicago, which were interrupted by heavy wind and snow storm. The traffic is so heavy that a daily service has been inaugurated.

The Baker Vawter Co., a big printing concern from Chicago that will employ 100 hands, would like to locate here and will erect a $30,000 factory building if the $5,400 necessary to procure the desired site is forth coming. Beloit, Wisconsin offers them $10,000 and 4 acres of land but they prefer this port on account of its superior shipping facilities. A public meeting will be held tonight.

A curious point of law turned up yesterday in proceedings to admit to bail, "Peg" Schaefer, the saloonist, who is soon to be tried for the murder of the hackman, Johnnie Wells. A habeas corpus had been issued, but the officer to whom it was given, returned to James O'Hara, saying he could not execute it, as he could not find all of the body. (Mr. Schaefer has a cork leg extending to his hip, hence his nickname "Peg.") The writ was altered, so as to call for such portions of Peg's anatomy as he had with him, together with any necessary artificial portions after which it was executed.

PORTAGE PRAIRIE

Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter and daughter, of near Buchanan, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rhoades Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Scott, Mr. Peter Womer, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Cauffman and Mrs. Susan Arney were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Rough, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hood and family visited with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rhoades, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Eisele and Mrs. Lush Smith were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harve Korn, Sunday.

Mr. Peter Hood and family moved to South Bend Tuesday.

Mr. Ira Regnos and family moved to Benton Harbor, Monday.

Mrs. Susan Arney went to Elkhart on Monday, to spend a few days with relatives and friends.

Mr. E. J. Rough has quite a serious cut in his face caused by a stick flying in his face, while in the act of chopping wood.

About 60 of the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. Rough gathered at their beautiful and spacious country home for a surprise on Mr. Rough's 37th birthday. A three course supper was served by Mrs. Rough. The evening was spent in social conversation and music. Some very choice selections were rendered by Mrs. L. B. Rough, Miss Sarah Keizer and Mr. J. B. Keizer. The guests departed at a late hour wishing Mr. Rough many more happy birthdays.

WEST BERTRAND.

Dimple Redden went to Chicago Saturday for an indefinite stay.

Miss Inez Redden went home with her sister, Mrs. M. Smith, Saturday.

Willie Smith was a surprised boy Wednesday evening, last week. A number of his friends from Portage and West Bertrand dropped in on him for a good time.

The stork visited Mr. and Mrs. Ray Frame early Saturday morning, bringing them a nice baby boy.

We rurals may look as green as ever, but we are proud of the fact that since the trains have changed time we can read the city dailies, both Detroit and Chicago, as soon as city people can themselves.

John Dalrymple came home from Dowagiac to spend Sunday with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright, who since marriage have been living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Donley, began housekeeping last week at the Kelsey farm where he has secured employment with the Nursery Co.

Ed Leiter had the misfortune to cut his foot quite badly Wednesday of last week.

GEYER

Ira Swartz, of the first grade, and Eddie Swartz, of the second grade, have been present every day this year.

Goldie Watson, Jennie Walker and Dick Swift, of the sixth grade have been studying Rip Van Winkle.

Charley Long spelled the school down.

The school is learning a new song entitled "The Blue Bird."

The third grade are studying multiplication and division by nine.

Miss Goldie Watson was surprised by her schoolmates and friends Saturday afternoon, the occasion being her twelfth birthday. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in games, after which a delicious supper was served. Miss Goldie was the recipient of many pretty presents.

KELSEY DISTRICT.

The Buchanan Section hands have constructed a side track on the Jacquay farm.

Last Saturday night nearly thirty friends of Mr. Place and family gave them a pleasant surprise.

DEATH OF DR. COLLINS.

Well Known Man Passes Away—Buchanan His Home for Many Years.

The decease of this remarkable man is an event that should receive more than a passing notice. Almer Marsena, son of Nathanael and Caroline Collins, was born in Buchanan, Michigan May 18, 1844. December 17, 1857 he was baptized by the writer and at once took membership in the Christian church. He began to preach when 14 years old, and he continued in the ministry of the gospel until overtaken by his last sickness.

He spent considerable time in the latter part of his life in the practice of medicine, but he almost invariably preached somewhere every Lord's day.

As a speaker and orator he was eminently gifted. In the judgement of the writer he never heard him excel as a preacher or lecturer. As a lecturer on temperance he accomplished some of his most efficient and telling work.

When the writer was serving as pastor of the Christian church in Davenport, Iowa, a city of some thirty thousand inhabitants, Dr. A. M. Collins was called by the ladies of the W. C. T. U. to the city to lecture on Temperance. He lectured daily, and sometimes twice daily for six consecutive weeks and never repeated a single lecture. Every lecture seemed new and was deeply instructive. His fund of knowledge beaming upon the matter of temperance seemed to be inexhaustible. The city was stirred from center to circumference as never before. "The Silver Tongued Orator of Kentucky," John B. Gough of world wide reputation, Mrs. Ellen Foster and other most noted temperance lecturers had put forth their best efforts to create an interest in the temperance question in the city of Davenport, but Dr. Collins excelled them all. As an author Dr. Collins wrote several books on Temperance that are of more than ordinary value. He also wrote a valuable treatise on the name Christian. He was a fine mathematician and he prepared an interesting book that was for a time quite extensively used. He had planned to write a book of sermons that he might thus preserve many of the rich gems of thought that so grandly adorned his spoken sermons, but death cut short the execution of this noble intention and many will suffer loss on this account. I give some extracts from one of his last letters.

My dear father in Christ: "Your good kind letter came this morning and it was read with great pleasure and awakened some of the most precious memories of life. It found me still sick.

I do not know whether I will ever be able to preach again or not. Sometimes I give up all hope. I have been near to death and am not afraid to die. I do want to get well for the sake of my dear wife who is one of the noblest and best women God ever made, she has been so good to me during my long sickness. I would have been well long ago if the doctor had not given me so much morphine, that is what has made my sickness so severe and so hard to manage. I have suffered a thousand deaths. I had a good cry when I read your dear fatherly letter, and thoughts of those happy days come up before me. Those were blessed days, but they are gone forever, we shall never see their like again. I do want to see you once more in the flesh. I would throw my arms around you and kiss your aged lips over and over again and tell you how to the last I have loved my dear father in the gospel. During my sickness I have tried to consecrate myself to God and I feel that he has fully accepted me. If I should live to preach again it will be with greater spirituality and power than ever before. Pray for me."

The above letter was written to me by Dr. Collins.

WILLIAM M. ROE.

Dr. A. M. Collins died at his home Sunday morning March 8, at 7:30 after several months of intense suffering. By his death Shelbyville loses one of the brightest and best minds ever within her borders and there is universal sorrow to-day on account of his going.

He came to Shelbyville from Cameron, Missouri, about fourteen years ago to accept the pastorate of the Christian church in this city, with whom he labored as their minister for three years. Notwithstanding his great affliction of his loss of hearing he preached some of the most brilliant and learned sermons ever delivered in this city. After completing his labors with the church at this place, he began the practice of medicine and continued in active practice until his health failed him. Not many people have known the trials and suffering which he has borne for the past few years, for very rarely would he ever speak of his troubles. He was a great student and took great delight in reading good literature and good books and never was more pleased than when some friend would take to him some good book to read. He realized the past few days that he could not long survive and told his friends about him that all was bright for him on the other side. He was conscious up to the last. Just before going he said: "I judge from appearances I am going to a land which has none of the inconveniences of this. Dr. Collins was a graduate of three medical colleges: The Old Ohio, The Eclectic Medical College of Cincinnati, Ohio; and the Miami Medical College of Ohio. He was also a classical graduate of Hillsdale in the degrees of Bachelor and Master of Arts. While at Hillsdale he made his home with Schuyler Colfax who taking great interest in him, became his warm friend.

While in the state of Ohio he was made editor in chief of the Northwestern News; became leader of the prohibition party, made a vigorous canvas of the state upon that issue and carried the state for the prohibition cause.

He occupied a prominent place in the counsels of the brotherhood, being associated with such men as Isaac Errett, Benj. Franklin, Governor Bishop of Ohio, and W. T. Moore of London, England, and was on the firing lines with these men in all the battles for reform.

As a preacher he was always and eminently successful, believing strongly the Bible was the word of God and preached it without compromise or mental reservation; instrumental in leading thousands to the Christ way of the cross.

CUBANS HAVE A GRIEVANCE

About the Reciprocity Treaty, and Are Also Fearful of the Action of the House.

Havana, March 26.—Although there is considerable complaint here on the part of Cubans that the United States senate did not give the reciprocity treaty a fair deal the publication of the text of the amendment has shown them that the treaty is not materially damaged from a Cuban standpoint, except through the delay and uncertainty entailed by the action at Washington. The present feeling of suspicion is due principally to the lack of assurances in the United States house of representatives and that President Roosevelt will call a special session prior to the regular meeting of congress.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.
Louisville, March 26.—Two men were killed and one severely injured by a boiler explosion in the pail department of the box factory of C. C. It is supposed the explosion was caused by a lack of water in the boiler.

EFFORT." TRAINED SERVANTS USE

SAPOLIO

GIVES SIXTY MILLIONS

To Irish Tenants to Assist Them to Purchase Farms for Themselves.

WYNDHAM'S LAND BILL IS READ

Measure Intended to Assist in the Pacification of Ireland.

John Redmond Seems Fairly Well Satisfied with It, but Wants Some Changes—Political Love Feast.

London, March 26.—The Irish secretary, Wyndham, introduced the government's long anticipated Irish land bill in the house of commons yesterday afternoon. It proposes a free grant of $60,000,000 for the purposes of the bill. Tenants are to pay 3 1/2 per cent. interest on loans from the government. Wyndham said he thought the scheme would not involve $300,000,000, but that $750,000,000 could safely be advanced on Irish land. The advances to tenants are limited to $2,500 in the congested districts and $5,000 elsewhere. The bill also provides that untenanted farms and grazing lands shall be sold to neighboring tenants, and that three commissioners, to be known as estate commissioners, shall supervise the sales.

Three Commissioners Are Named. The names of the three commissioners are Michael Finucane, secretary to the government of Bengal revenue, general and statistical department; Frederick S. Wrench, now one of the Irish land commissioners, and William F. Bailey, one of the assistant commissioners on the Irish land question. They will be under the control of lord lieutenant of Ireland. The bill will become effective Nov. 12.

House Full at the Introduction. The keen interest felt in this new legislation, which, it is hoped, will promote peace and contentment in Ireland, was shown by the crowded house. The peers' gallery and the distinguished strangers' gallery were filled, and there has been no such gathering of members of parliament since the opening of the session. Almost every Irish peer listened to Wyndham's exposition of the bill. From an early hour in the morning the stone benches from the house of commons entrance to the doors of the lobby were packed with impatient Irishmen, among whom were many priests. Inside the legislative chamber the galleries were crowded as has not been the case for many a day.

DAVITT HEARS THE BILL READ. Redmond Is Noncommittal, but Sympathetic—Notable People.

Michael Davitt, the "father" of the Land League, celebrated his 57th birthday by re-entering the house for the first time since he ceased to be a member, in order to hear the chief secretary for Ireland unfold his plans. For the most part the Liberal members sat glum, the applause coming from the Irish benches. A hush of expectation fell on the assembly as John Redmond, the Irish leader, rose to speak. If he refused to countenance the bill its death, and perhaps even the government's downfall, was decreed. When the galleries of the house found him sympathetic and noncommittal a feeling of relief pervaded on all sides.

What Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, and the others said had little effect. Even T. W. Russell, who with others criticized the details and various alleged omissions in Wyndham's plan, wound up with a guttural and reluctant admission that "it is a great bill."

The passage of the first reading of the bill was followed by a rush to the lobby, where ensued scenes that might well make the ghost of Parnell turn in his grave. The tall form of Lord Dudley, lord lieutenant of Ireland, could be seen amidst a crowd of Nationalists who scarcely a year ago would rather have suffered every penalty than associate with the official head of the Irish government. Beside Lord Dudley stood the grizzled little Sir Anthony McDonnell, the first Nationalist assistant Irish secretary. He it was who drafted the bill.

Horace Plunkett, Lord Iveagh, Lord Ashbourne and many Unionist members joined the group. The Duke of Abercorn, the most powerful landlord in Ireland, asked to be introduced to John Redmond, and a mutual friend brought the duke to the leader of the Nationalist party, with whom the leader of the Irish landlords heartily shook hands and they patched up the peace of Ireland over the house of commons refreshment bar.

OPINIONS OF THE MEASURE

What Redmond Said as a Starter—Skepticism at the Feast.

Earl Dunraven slipped out quietly to avoid congratulations. He said to the Associated Press correspondent: "I believed the bill will meet the requirements of all parties. Though I have not had a chance to read them and cannot speak definitely concerning the details of the measure, it does certainly seem as though a new era was dawning on a new Ireland."

Following Wyndham in the house John Redmond, the Irish leader, deprecated hasty judgment of Wyndham's proposals, either for or against them. No one could question that the proposals were an enormous advance upon those of last year or that they really aimed at a settlement of the question. He, however, took exception to the commissioners, especially Wrench.

The omission of provision for those tenants already evicted, doubts whether the landlords would accede to the terms of the measure, and objections to the choice of Wrench as one of the three estate commissioners, seem to be the chief difficulties with the Nationalist members.

The only skeleton at this political love feast was Michael Davitt, who from the public gallery, aloof from his former comrades, listened to proposals which opposed all his economic ideals.

The Conservatives, while making weary faces at the increase in the government's financial responsibilities, said the emergency justified the outlay and promised a solid majority.

HE TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

HECTOR MACDONALD A SUICIDE

Tragic Sequel of the Charges of Immorality Preferred Against the Great Soldier.

Paris, March 26.—Major General Hector MacDonald, commanding the British forces in Ceylon, and one of the foremost officers in the British army, against whom charges based on immoral acts were filed some time ago, committed suicide yesterday at the Hotel Regina here. He shot himself in the right temple, shortly after noon, and expired in a few minutes later. The general was alone in his small chamber on the Mezzanine floor of the hotel at the time of the tragedy. One of the female attendants heard the pistol shot and opening the door saw the general's figure stretched out on the floor with the blood gushing from a bullet wound in the head. She ran screaming to the balcony overlooking the lobby of the hotel where many guests, including a number of ladies, were assembled.

No money or papers of any kind were found in Sir Hector's baggage. Two notes written in English were found lying on a table in his room, but it is understood that their contents have no bearing on the suicide. In the general's coat, lying on the bed, were found some photographs. The British embassy and consulate were notified later, and Consul General Inglis visited the hotel and took charge of the body.

Sir Hector MacDonald arrived in Paris last Friday evening from London, on his way back to Ceylon, where it was understood that an immediate court martial would be held to clear up charges made against him. On reaching the hotel at 11 o'clock at night he was told that only a small and indifferent room was available. He replied that that was quite sufficient. He was not accompanied by any aide-de-camp or a valet. He said he only intended to stay a day or two in Paris. Little was seen of him since his arrival. He was, however, in the lobby yesterday morning, and it is believed that a newspaper printed in English, containing a resume of the grave charges brought against him and embellished with the general's portrait in full uniform, came under his attention. He left the lobby, going to his room, and the pistol shot followed soon after.

AUTHORS OF THE ELKINS LAW

Said To Be President Cassatt, Paul Morton and E. D. Kenna, All Railway Men.

Chicago, March 26.—During the progress of a meeting of western railway executive officials yesterday for the purpose of discussing the Elkins law it came to light that A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania; Paul Morton, second vice president of the Santa Fe, and E. D. Kenna, first vice president and general counsel of the same road, are authors of the bill. It is stated that the first draft of the bill was made by Kenna and embodied the ideas of the three men named. This draft was submitted to the president, the attorney general and the chairman of the interstate commerce commission, and was subsequently amended. As finally introduced, however, the bill was essentially the bill prepared from the suggestions made by Cassatt, Morton and Kenna, after repeated conferences at the executive mansion.

CASTRO CONTINUES TO SERVE

Withdraws His Resignation and Is Still President of Venezuela by Request of Congress.

Caracas, March 26.—After reading his special message to congress yesterday, Gen. Castro withdrew his resignation of the presidency of Venezuela. President Castro's special message was delivered yesterday afternoon. He says: "When I abdicated it was not from any small-minded non-interested calculation, still less was it the result of any sorry or ridiculous farce which has no place in a heart warmed by the heat of great ideals."

He then says that he believes his abdication was a duty imposed upon him in the interest of the peace of the republic, but that congress differed with him and he bows to its will, and adds: "Remember it well, senators and deputies. I believe my separation necessary; you think otherwise. I hope the future will prove you right."

LESSON XIII, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MARCH 29.

Text of the Lesson, A Comprehensive Quarterly Review—Golden Text, Matt. xxviii, 20—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Copyright, 1903, by American Press Association.

Lesson I.—Paul and Silas at Philippi (Acts xvi, 22-34). Golden Text, Acts xvi, 31, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved." The principal facts in this lesson are the sufferings of the apostles and the salvation of the jailer and his household. There is no salvation apart from the sufferings of Christ, and, being saved by His sufferings in our stead, we must be willing to suffer with Him as His witnesses in bearing the gospel to others (1 Pet. ii, 24-31; John xvi, 33; Phil. i, 29; iii, 10).

Lesson II.—Christian living (Phil. iv, 1-13). Golden Text, Phil. iv, 4, "Rejoice in the Lord always." Two great features of the life of a Christian are joy and peace, and these should be very manifest (Rom. xiv, 17; xv, 13), but in the many trials and sorrows of this life it seems impossible to be full of either joy or peace. But remember that this most joyful of all the epistles was written from a prison, and the aim of Paul may be ours (1-20). See also 1 Cor. i, 9; 1 Thess. v, 24.

Lesson III.—Paul at Thessalonica and Berea (Acts xvii, 1-12). Golden Text, Pa. cxix, 105, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet." Christians are expected to be filled with the word and the Spirit (Col. iii, 16; Eph. v, 18) and by their lives and testimony proclaim Jesus Christ as the only Saviour of sinners.

Lesson IV.—Paul's counsel to the Thessalonians (1 Thess. v, 14-22). Golden Text, 1 Thess. v, 21, "Hold fast that which is good." The truth is here emphasized that the spirit, soul and body of the redeemed are all for Christ, and the new man in us, if allowed to control, will ever pray and rejoice, and give thanks, controlled by the Spirit, but if the Spirit is quenched, and His word rejected there must be proportionate failure.

Lesson V.—Paul at Athens (Acts xvii, 22-34). Golden Text, Acts xvii, 18, "He preached unto them Jesus and the resurrection." Men are prone to worship, to bow down to anything and anyone but the living God, and this has been the case since the serpent turned Adam and Eve away from God to believe his lie.

Lesson VI.—The church at Corinth founded (Acts xviii, 1-11). Golden Text, 1 Cor. iii, 11, "Other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." Some, believing and some opposing is the record everywhere, but all whom the Father hath given to Christ shall come to Him, and His elect church shall be gathered and presented to Himself, a glorious church.

Lesson VII.—Christian self control (1 Cor. xiii, 4-13). Golden Text, Rom. xiv, 19, "Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace." In the daily life, while seeking to live wholly for God and manifest the life of Christ in our mortal bodies, we are living not only before God, who reads our hearts and never misjudges us, but we are also living before people who are very apt to misjudge us and stumble over us.

Lesson VIII.—Christian love (1 Cor. xiii, 1-13). Golden Text, 1 Cor. xiii, 13, "Now abideth faith, hope, love, but the greatest of these is love." It is still the contrast between what I myself may do and that which Christ will do in me. However much I may do that seems good, it will count for nothing if it is not that which God, who is love, and was manifested in Christ and has come to live in the believer, desires to work in and through us, and that will stand.

Lesson IX.—Paul and Apollos (Acts xviii, 24, to xix, 6). Golden Text, Luke xi, 13, "If ye, then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask Him?" A man mighty in the Scriptures may be instructed more perfectly by very humble people, and however much people may believe there is a very great lack until they are filled with the Spirit.

Lesson X.—Paul at Ephesus (Acts xix, 1-20). Golden Text, Acts xix, 17, "The name of the Lord Jesus was magnified." The name of the Lord Jesus, that worthy name (Jas. ii, 7), that glorious and fearful name, the Lord thy God (Deut. xxi, 23), is not to be trifled with or mocked or despised, for the Lord can use the devil himself to chasten such, and He will overrule even the mockery and blasphemy of the wicked to promote His glory.

Lesson XI.—The riot at Ephesus (Acts xix, 23-41). Golden Text, Pa. xxxi, 23, "The Lord preserveth the faithful." When the preaching of the gospel takes away money from the pockets of the godly, we shall quickly hear from them, and they will want no more of us or our gospel. But this same thing is often seen among those who hear the name of Christ and the gold should have been turned upon a missionary lest he might want an offering from the people. We seem to know nothing of the love of Christ, who gave Himself.

Lesson XII.—Paul's message to the Ephesians (Eph. ii, 1-10). Golden Text, Eph. ii, 8, "By grace are ye saved through faith." That is the one thing we fail to understand—the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, who became poor for us (1 Cor. vii, 9), and therefore, while glad to be saved by Him, so few are willing to be saved by Him, to let Him have all that He has bought with His precious blood, to let Him work in us, and through us the good works He has prepared for us. Lay to heart Isa. i, 18, 19.

What is Life? In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c at Wm. Pleasant Surprise.

On Wednesday evening after prayer meeting, Rev. and Mrs. Niergarth were very pleasantly surprised by the members of the church trooping in upon them in a body. Two men carrying a barrel which was filled with a fine China dinner set, which had been selected by Mrs. Niergarth herself some time ago, expecting to buy and pay for but the members becoming aware of it made the purchase for her and with it came table linen to match it.

It has certainly afforded Mr. and Mrs. Niergarth much pleasure to see the good will shown them—it is rumored that the surprises are not all over, may they all be as pleasant as the one of Wednesday evening.

The Secret of Long Life.

WANTED—By a leading business house in Buchanan, a bright young man who is willing to make himself useful. Apply at Record office.

Wednesday evening at the home of W. F. Runner the M. E. Church held a very pleasing social. The house was beautifully decorated and those present acted out Chinese customs and were dressed in Chinese costumes. A program consisting of music and reading relating to China was very much enjoyed especially a representation of a Mission school of Chinese children. After the program refreshments were partaken of with the use of chop sticks and a pair presented to each person. The evening was very pleasantly spent by all.

Sunday School Class Meeting.

The young men's and young ladies'
Bible class of the Evangelical Sunday School spent a very pleasant evening at the home their teacher, Rev. Niergarth, as a final gathering as class and teacher.

Some time was spent in the study of the names of persons mentioned in the Sunday School lessons of this quarter's study.

The class presented Rev. Niergarth and family to a fine set of Rogers' knives and forks.

The class also received souvenirs of the event. Class No. 8 has been occupying a prominent place in the school in the past, and no doubt will in the future, and it is with sincere regrets that the teacher must leave it.

A Legacy of the Grip.

Is often a run-down system. Weakness, nervousness, lack of appetite, energy and ambition, with disordered liver and kidneys often follow an attack of this wretched disease. The greatest need then is Electric Bitters, the splendid tonic, blood purifier and regulator of Stomach, Liver and Kidneys. Thousands have proved that they wonderfully strengthen the nerves, build up the system, and restore to health and good spirits after an attack of Grip. If suffering, try them. Only 50¢. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed by W. N. Brodrick

Osmicure Blood-Nerve Tonic
great for Bladder & Kidney. 50c. $1.00

The anniversary supper held by the ladies of the Advent church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Alliger Wednesday, was a great success. There were one hundred fifteen suppers served. An interesting program was rendered later in the evening.

One interesting feature being, "Nearer my God to Thee" being sung by Mrs. Glidden and Nella Slater, accompanied by a rendition in the mute language by Harry Bailey.

The attendance last evening at the Weingardner Giles Recitals in Rough
Opera House was very slim indeed.
There was less than one hundred persons present.

Those who were present enjoyed a very good entertainment but not as good as might have been expected had the performance been greeted with a large audience. There is not much inspiration performing to empty chairs. Pity a good entertainment should not be better patronized.

Boy Lost

A boy was lost from Niles, Mich., about September 31st, 1904. He was five ft. three in. old, and 17 years tall. He wore a waist coat with mutton chop lining and a pair of swallow tail trousers, was barefooted with his father's boots on. When last seen he was standing on his back looking for the "RACKET STORE"

Miss Nettie Wenger entertained the class of 1905 at her pleasant home on fourth street Thursday evening assisted by Miss Dovie Cook.

They were each requested to bring a sheet and pillow case, on their arrival each was conducted to a room darkened by red lamps and dressed up as ghosts. They then had a grand march and each had his fortunes told by a clairvoyant. Then they had a gum contest the first prize being won by Miss Beistle and the booby prize being won by Mr. Huff.

In an apple contest Miss Austiss and Mr. Huff won. The rest of the evening was spent in playing dominoes, crochete and other games.

Dainty refreshments were served and all enjoyed themselves.

AN OLD GALIEN RESIDENT

In San Diego, California.

March 2, 1908.

Mr. Editor:—I promised a great many friends when I left home that I would write to them about this country, but I find there is so much to see, so much that is new to learn and investigate, that my time has been largely taken up in sightseeing, so ask you to be generous and answer all my friends through the medium of your paper which reaches them all and many more beside, who will not object I am sure to hearing something about this wonderful country.

To begin with I came here much prejudiced against the place as I had been told there was nothing to this end of the state but sand and fleas, no harbor, no back country, in fact nothing worthy a trip to see, but I have at every point been most agreeably disappointed. The first man I met said to me, "It is worth $250 a day to live in such a climate," and I want to say that I never expect to find a more perfect one in any of my travels. You would not believe it, but here in February it is comfortable in one's shirt sleeves and the self-registering thermometer shows that the warmest day of the year was in January and the next warmest in August when it touched 64. The weather is a perfect charm and the "winter" as they call it, is about like our April and May, when trees are budding and flowers blooming. After a shower the sun is bright, mocking birds and meadow larks sing and the whole country is a carpet of flowers and native grasses, sky bright and warm, days and nights the thermometer does not go below 35 above zero, while fifty miles away snow can be seen on the mountains. To understand this country one must suppose conditions to be different and the land suitable for different purposes in the radius of every ten miles east from the city of San Diego, which is admirably located on a bay some twenty-five miles in extent, where the commerce of the world might ride in safety.

I will begin with a brief description of the country immediately surrounding the city, which of course I can only imperfectly give in one letter. The city is built along the gently sloping hills that run down to the bay where the largest ships laden with coal, cement, and lumber from Australia and the coast with occasional steamers from the Orient that discharge their interesting cargoes for all parts of the United States. The city commands a delightful view of the bay, the protected entrance at Point Loma on whose precipitous sides is located fort Rosecrans with its great fortifications and disappearing guns, at the water front near by. The government is spending thousands in constructing military barracks, quarantine station, and on the opposite North Island extensive military reservations are to be a part of the great work of future fortifications, and near by is the marine ways where vessels of large size are taken from the water and cleaned and repaired. War vessels, several together, are often in the harbor. This is a favorite place for rest and pleasure for the crews of the Pacific squadron.

The city is well laid out, has miles of paved streets and excellent electric street car service, equipped with modern conveniences and in addition observation cars, which I have not noticed in any other city. These transfer you for many miles each way and at one of the terminals you get a look at the Mission Valley, a glimpse of the buildings erected by the padres nearly two centuries ago; the San Diego River the unfailing source of the city's water supply. It is dry now to all appearances, but I am informed it occasionally runs bank full emptying into False Bay a beautiful sheet of calm water that furnishes boating, fishing and bathing for Moreno and Pacific Beach, two delightful suburbs of the city, reached by a motor line that runs from the city to La Jolla (pronounced La Hoya). You are not long in Southern California before you get to know a number of Spanish words. La Jolla means the gem and is a romantic spot with its caves and growing village of cottage homes. Hundreds of people locate here to simply enjoy life, so grand and yet so quiet is it all.

The city of San Diego has nine magnificent school buildings and churches innumerable. On Point Loma is one of the great institutions of theosophy having magnificent temples, beautiful grounds, musical and art societies with a colony for agriculture and horticulture. I am told there is nothing like it in the world. This institution also owns the Isis theater in the city, said to have the handsomest interior of any in the state. If any of your readers come this way and if they never see another thing, the trip to Point Loma will well repay them, indeed they may well content if they can carry away only this vision, for it seems so much like fairy land that one never fails to see its beauties before him. If you put the Riviera, Bay of Naples, Lake Como and all the others together, you will not in one view have such a scene as presented here. The grand surf of the ocean, the islands twenty miles away, the broad expanse of peaceful bay, the city sitting majestic on the wooded hills, the peninsula stretching down to the Point of Rocks, in Mexico, along which the railroad cars make a circuit to the city, the background of mountains that rise chain on chain till lost in the haze of a perpetual summer sky, all blend into a picture of indescribable beauty terminating in the crowning feature, Coronado. There is only one Coronado and only one such scene in the wide expanse of the skies and seen as I have seen it under the light of a warm scintillating winter sun, leaves an impression I cannot describe. My only wish is that my friends may all be as fortunate as I to see it, but better still live where its beauty may be frequently renewed, as it is my intention to do. From the lighthouse with its $10,000 revolving light, the boiling entrance of the tides into the bay, a trip on a steam launch reveals new beauties in the villages clustered along the base of the great natural barrier protecting the harbor. Passing Ballast Point, La Playa, one skirts along the indented peninsula, so wonderfully formed, round into Glorietta Bay where the Tent City gives recreation to thousands in summer, and where the days are perpetually cool and life a long spell of enjoyment. I have not time, if I could to tell you of all the strange trees, flowers and shrubs, but to put it briefly, it looks like a great greenhouse turned out doors to riot and run wild, in fact I never saw in our greenhouses only feeble specimens of what I see here in the magnificent lawns and door yards. Flowers running wild everywhere not touched by a breath of frost although down in the low places you will in the early morning sometimes see white frost. In the vegetable markets are all sorts of vegetables and fruits exposed for sale, it seems so strange for in our home potatoes would be like cobble stones, thus exposed. And right here let me say about the living, I have never found a place where I could get so good a meal or so well served for the nominal price charged here. One can live more cheaply in San Diego than in the east and when it comes to warming your room a sort of lamp stove is used and gives all the warmth required, while you in the east are shivering over a lack of coal. If you are fortunate in securing sunny rooms you need no fire except in rainy times, which the people here seem to enjoy better than sunshine. There are trolley parties almost constantly coming and going to different points of interest.

Some go to Tia Juana (Aunt Jane) and see the sights in the Mexican domain and come back by way of the great tract of orange and lemon groves that are loaded with their truly golden fruit. An orchard in full bearing is a magnificent sight. Blossoms, green and ripe fruit all on the same tree. This is called the "citrus belt" because of the adaptability of the soil and climate to raising the orange, lemon and pomelo, tangerine and kumquat and this belt extends out for about ten or more miles to Lemon Grove, La Mesa, Lakeside, Escondido and other points. Oranges are, in sheltered spots, raised up as far as Alpine, 85 miles distant, but the citrus belts proper do not extend that far. In El Cajon (The Box) the raisin industry is largely followed and the vineyards at this time of the year look like a lot of worthless stumps, but soon from these will come the growth that will give the best raisin the country supplies. Escondido, Lakeside and Cantee all produce them abundantly and it must be an animated scene when the hundreds of pickers are in the field. I should like to be here and watch the whole proceeding of raisin manufacture. All that can be seen now are preparations for planting new vineyards.

But you must not think that either citrus or raisins are all that are raised in this belt, for there are vegetables and small fruits in every garden and all that you can raise at home can be produced successfully here except perhaps gooseberries, currant and rhubarb which are not generally grown but there are enough other things you not produce to more than make up: loquats, guavas, early vegetables and strawberries—they are planting them now—why you can have big deliciously sweet berries eight months in the year.

In this first belt I have faintly given you a picture of what you have at La Mesa and Lakeside reached an elevation above the sea of from three to five hundred feet and now the topography of the country changes, you are leaving the mesas, table lands and valleys and are ascending toward the great Santa Maria plateau, or higher mountain enclosed valley with Ramona as its center amid a delightful rolling country with large stretches of grazing land. Here as in the Poway valley deciduous fruits are largely grown, dairying and stock raising pursued, large and well appointed ranches are found and the climate is for some pulmonary complaints better than close to the coast. You are now 1450 feet above the sea and the rainfall gradually becomes heavier as the mountains are approached. You are in the midst of the foothills and surrounded with all the grandeur of mountain and pastoral scenery, giant evergreen live oak trees as large as ours in the East only with small leaves that are evergreen. Passing on up to the next plateau you pass Ballena and are up nearly 3,000 feet at Santa Ysabel and Mesa Grande. Here you still have grazing, dairying, stock and grain country as at the Santa Maria.

You have also come into a country where cherries and the fruits we mentioned as not doing well near the coast, such as cherries, apples, etc. give abundant harvest; and immense quantities of grain are produced.

In this belt must be included the vast country to the north, the Santa Margarita, the incomparable Fallbrook country, the Monserat and adjoining valleys, all great grain, hay and stock producing countries.

Speaking of hay, they do not have hay here in the sense as you understand it. Grain is sown, oats, and barley principally, which is cut when the grain is in the milk, and made into hay, which can be done at any time of the year, and as one never has to wait on the weather it is nearly always haying time.

To the south trips are sometimes made to the charming Descanso and Dulzura countries where great bee ranches are sustained and large outputs of honey secured. The scenery is a combination of mountain and valley, and as you approach the mountains you are greeted by the birds you know at home—when you arrive at Julian the blue bird and robbin, blue jay and wood pecker are to be seen; the trees are as they are at home, the oaks look like them, the pines smell just the same and here you are among the brooks and springtime flowers of home, provided the snow has all melted. Here you are 4,300 feet above the ocean. Stock and corn, wheat and apples and the fruits you raise with your vegetable gardens home. The great Volcan range rises up in its sublime majesty to keep company with the Cuyamacas where the rivers start from the springs and snow to give water for the reservoirs and great belts of orchard fruit down near the sea. You have only traveled fifty miles but have passed through many gradations of climate and conditions. Swing to the north again and you have the pine covered mountains of the Palomar where apples are king again and grass grows and the tinkle of the cow bell makes you think you ought to go and drive them up from pasture. And what a view! I said when I spoke of Point Loma there was not such another and there isn't but here in these mountains as you look back from where you stand and see the outline map spread out before you to the ocean, up above some of the clouds and you forget for a moment Point Loma the glorious view from the Palomar, the great summer camping resort. At Julian you are at the headquarters of the mining district and I can not tell you of the various products of the mines of the county everything from gold to mountains of tourmaline and lepidolite, agates, gold, silver and copper. You are now nearly sixty miles from the ocean, in a world, a small part of which shows the great diversity of this country that is as large as New Hampshire and has as many climates as the entire Atlantic coast. You can not fail to find the locality suited to your physical needs or desires.

Here you are amid the pine clad mountains and from them you take a look eastward and like a mirror discernible is the Salton lake of the desert. Desert did I say? Yes; and no. For on this so-called desert are magnificent feeding grounds for stock, wonderful mineral and chemical deposits, marble and mica petrifications, and lava pumice. At the Lagunas are most surprising facilities for stock raising and on past Porters, Campo and Carriso Creek constantly crop out new and wonderful formations of mineral and chemical rocks. But beyond all this is the new empire of agriculture that is astonishing its promoters. A vast area of land as rich as the accumulation of the drift of a great river can make it, has been poured in for ages, till there is a soil of unknown depth and richness and with the waters of the Colorado river, the western boundary of the country pouring its wealth constantly to feed the immense crops that are being planted and which grow with the luxuriance of the tropics. It is a wonderful country scarcely heard of three years ago but now settlers are pouring in and will soon make of the eastern portion of San Diego county a rival of the Pharaohs which it so much resembles in both climate and productions. So across this magnificent country from the sea to the great river there is a succession of conditions, productions and possibilities that one must see to gain the faintest conception of.

I have written rather a lengthy letter and yet have only touched the merest outline of what there is to see, obtain and enjoy in San Diego county and the city bearing its name on the only harbor between Panama and San Francisco, in American territory, and which in the near future, when railroads and Oriental steamers shall meet and carry the commerce over the shortest continental road, will be known as a region where more comforts of life can be obtained and enjoyed than in any other place I have visited.

LETTER FROM FORMER BUCHANAN MAN.

EAST PRAIRIE, MO.,

March 16, 1908.

BUCHANAN RECORD: It occurs to me to give a few notes to your readers about the condition of things in southeastern Missouri. At present we are having exceedingly high water, the Mississippi River, at this point is about thirty miles wide and we are now living on elevated places owing to the water being twenty inches in the house. The railroads at Birds Point are abandoned as the water is two feet over the rails.

We have not had any mails here since last Wednesday. Many people have been drowned owing to the river's rising so fast, the people could not get out of the bottom lands, all business is stopped. The river is slackening some now, it has risen but one inch in the last twelve hours.

The river at Cairo, Illinois is fifty feet high today.

Yours respectfully
JACOB IMHOFF.

STRAIN TOO GREAT.

Hundreds of Buchanan Readers Find it so.

The hustle and worry of business men, the hard work and stooping of workmen, the woman's household cares, are too great a strain on the kidneys. Backache, headache, sideache, kidney troubles, urinary troubles follow. A Buchanan citizen tells how to cure them all.

Mr. Jas. F. Higbee, Broker, of 297 Britian Avenue, Benton Harbor, says: "I have had marked symptoms of kidney trouble for some time off and on and although I used a good many remedies I received little if any benefit from them. Noticing Doan's Kidney Pills endorsed by some of the most prominent people in Michigan, I concluded to try them and procured a box at Harry L. Bird's drug store. This I cheerfully say about them. They did me more good than all other remedies put together I ever used. I certainly can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as a remedy of great merit."

Just such emphatic endorsement is plentiful in Buchanan. Call at W. N. Brodick's drug store and ask him what his customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster—Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's and take no substitute.

Lo-tus Pellets are perfect Liver, Nerve and Kidney Pills. Small and pleasant to take, take them once and you will keep them always in the house. Large boxes, fifty Pellets for 25c at E. S. Dodd and Son's. Take no other.
