Mortality of Mich. During June

There were 2,319 deaths reported to the Department of State for the month of June, corresponding to a death rate of 11.4 per 1,000 population. The number of deaths was 414 less than the number returned for the month of May.

By ages there were 378 deaths of infants under 1 year, 149 deaths of children aged 1 to 4 years and 699 deaths of persons aged 65 and over.

Important causes of death were as follows: Tuberculosis of the lungs, 178; other forms of tuberculosis, 22; typhoid fever, 10; measles 19; whooping cough, 28; pneumonia 128; accidents and violence, 164, including 23 deaths from drowning and 2 deaths from lightning.

Notice.

Treat Bros wish to announce that they have sold their stock of Groceries to Bainton Bros who will continue the business at the old stand. We desire to thank our many friends for their liberal patronage in the past and hope should we ever go into business again that we might merit a renewal of the same.

Imitators.

The parrot and the monkey are great imitators and endeavor to do or say what they see man do or say so with some people they are the parrots and the monkeys of the human race: they have no ability to originate but they copy after others, and most frequently like the parrot and monkey they copy the worst they see.

People Will Talk.

(Published by Request)

We may go through the world, but 'will be very slow

If we listen to all that is said as we go; We'll be worried and fretted and kept in a stew,

For meddlesome tongues must have something to do—
For people will talk.

If quiet and modest, 'twill then be presumed

That your humble position is only assumed; You're a wolf in sheep's clothing, or else you're a fool;

Don't get excited; keep perfectly cool—
For people will talk.

If generous and noble, they'll vent out their spleen,
You'll hear some loud hints that you're selfish and mean.

If upright and honest, and fair as the day,
They'll call you a rogue, in a sly, sneaking way—
For people will talk.

Then if you show the least boldness of heart,

Or a slight inclination to take your own part,
They'll call you an upstart, conceited and vain;

But keep straight ahead—don't stop to explain—
For people will talk.

If threadbare your coat, or old-fashioned your dress,

Some one of course, will take notice of this
And hint rather close that you can't pay your way;

But don't get excited, whatever they say—
For people will talk.

If you dress in the fashion, don't think to escape,

For they criticize then in a far different shape;
You're ahead of your means, or your bills are unpaid.

But mind your own business, and keep straight ahead—
For people will talk.

They'll talk fine before you, but then at your back,

Of venom and spite there is never a lack. How kind and polite is all that they say,
But bitter as gall when you're out of the way—
For people will talk.

Good friend, take my advice and do as you please,

For your mind (if you have one) will then be at ease.
Through life you will meet with all sorts of abuse,

But don't try to stop them—'twill be of no use—
For people will talk.

FOR SALE—Souvenir post cards, Six in a set. They are becoming very popular and much in demand. At this office or Binns' Magnet store.

HAND BADLY INJURED

While at Work in the Cabinet Shop Walter Hathaway Cut His Finger.

Tuesday afternoon, while busy at the Cabinet works, Mr. Walter Hathaway cut the fingers on his right hand to such an extent that the third finger had to be amputated at the second joint. Mr. Hathaway has been employed at the Cabinet works for about ten days, only, having formerly worked in the axle works for a long time.

It is only a few weeks since Mr. Hathaway suffered a severe bruise in the forehead from an axle, while trimming it.

Dr. Peck dressed the wounded hand, and Mr. Hathaway is getting along nicely.

A FORMER BUCHANAN MAN

Will go as Missionary to Korea—Sent by Presbyterian Board.

Rev. E. F. Hall of New York, who was the guest Wednesday and Thursday of this week, of his sister, Mrs. J. W. C. Brown, has been assistant pastor of the Fifth Ave. Presbyterian church in New York for some time, but will soon go as a missionary to the foreign field, having been assigned by the Missionary board to a station in Korea. Though sent out under the auspices of the board, his salary is paid by the Fifth Ave. church.

Rev. Hall was born and reared in this village; his earlier school days were spent here. Later the family moved from Buchanan, but are well remembered by many residents here.

Rev. Halmhuber Has Accident.

While going to the funeral of Mrs. Denno on Tuesday morning, Rev. Halmhuber met with an accident which, fortunately, did not result seriously to any one.

He was attempting to pass a vehicle and in driving round struck a post which was in the side of the road concealed by weeds. The force of the blow broke the harness separating the horse from the buggy and throwing Rev. Halmhuber over the dashboard.

The horse, which though a colt is very tractable, walked on for a short distance then turned round to face the reverend gentleman, apparently asking in his language what the matter was.

The horse was taken to a stable, the buggy sent for repairs and Rev. Halmhuber is none the worse, save a little sore and bruised.

Young People's Picnic.

The twenty seventh annual picnic of the young people's association will be held in Berrien Springs Wednesday, August 5, 1903. Hon. S. A. Beman is orator of the day. Two bands will be in attendance. A game of base ball will be played between Niles and Berrien Spring. Among the many attractions and amusements of the day are: Horse races by some famous track favorites, trotting, pacing and running; free vaudeville show; high diving, bicycle, sack, foot and greased pig races. A grand display of fireworks in the evening. The committee have secured attractions that will insure this as being positively the best Young People's Picnic ever given in Berrien county. Nobody can afford to miss it. Rates on all railroads.

Drive to Eau Claire.

Thursday a party of ladies drove from here to Eau Claire to attend the convention of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, and Degree of Honor, which was in session there that day.

The ladies were Mesdames V. M. Baker and James Snodgrass, of Bakerstown, Mrs. J. L. Knight, Misses Hazel Baker and Zula McFallon, of Buchanan.

SERIOUSLY BURNED

Powder Explodes With Serious Results to Mrs. Burk.

Last Tuesday afternoon as Mrs. Burk was cleaning some up stairs rooms, she gathered up several things which she intended to destroy, and tossed them into a stove. Among the things were some powder and fire works left from the 4th, which exploded with much force, burning Mrs. Burk's face and right hand severely.

Dr. Peck dressed the burns, which on the hand were deep. As Mrs. Burk is so well known here, having been born and reared in Buchanan, she has many friends here who sympathize with her.

Evening 7:30 a short popular service, subject of discourse, "The Balm of Gilead, the valuable healing remedy of the orient."

All who do not worship regularly with other congregations are cordially invited to attend the Presbyterian Church.

August 5th is the Date.

The twenty-seventh annual young folks' picnic will come off at Berrien Springs, Wednesday, Aug. 5, 1903. The attractions provided for will make this the best one ever held, bands of music, fine speaking, a hot ball game, horse races, bicycle and other races, contests, beside street attractions, including a free vaudeville show and the usual amusements always present at this great young people's gathering. All to conclude with fireworks in the evening.

New Science Teacher.

The school board have engaged Miss Grace W. Bailey, of Hillsdale, as teacher of sciences for the coming year.

Miss Bailey comes highly recommended, having completed three years as teacher in the schools at Belding, Mich. She is a graduate of Hillsdale College and has taken a special summer course in chemistry at Harvard University.

The board of education are to be congratulated on having secured the services of Miss Bailey.

Moved to a Fruit Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. George Huff have moved from their residence on Lake street to the McConn fruit farm about five miles out of St. Joseph. They are much pleased with their new home and delighted with the change.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Miller will probably occupy the recently vacated Lake street property.

Constructive Studies in the Life of Christ.

By ERNEST D. BURTON and SHARLES MATTHEWS
Professors in the University of Chicago
A book prepared especially for use by advanced Bible students. An admirable help for students of the New Testament in colleges and academies, and advanced Bible classes. It aims to guide the student in the construction for himself of a life of Christ, derived directly from the sources as they exist in the New Testament. The most important political and social features of the New Testament are described, and the endeavor is made to present the events of the Gospel history in a true, historical perspective.

The President's Trip.

The President's trip is likely to induce more of his countrymen to see the magnificent scenery of the West. He was happy in his choice among his companions of two such lovers and interpreters of nature as John Burroughs and John Muir, writers whose preaching of the gospel of outdoor life is one of the sanest influences of our berated times. Mr. Roosevelt's debt of health to the West and his appreciation of its great natural features lend practical force to his wish that his countrymen shall know it better. His regretful statement that the largest proportion of visitors to the Yellowstone are foreigners would probably apply to the Grand Canon of the Colorado as well, if not to the Yosemite. All three of these marvelous regions should be as familiar to our people as Niagara or the White Mountains. "The spoilt child," say the Japanese, "should be made to travel," a prescription which may well be made for the child in danger of being spoiled. It would be fortunate if well-to-do parents in the East could see the advantage of sending their sons out from the fret and luxury of our complex life into the wholesome calm, simplicity, and unforgettable majesty of these Western wonderlands.—August Oenbry.

The Handicap of Lack of Education.

Many men of wonderful natural endowments are dwarfed and hampered in their life work because of their lack of education. How often do we see bright minds in responsible position, serving on boards of directors, as trustees of great business houses or banking institutions, men who control the affairs of great railroads and manufacturing, who have good judgment and great natural ability, but who are so stunted and cramped by their lack of early development that life does not yield them one tenth of what it might had their intellectual and aesthetic possibilities been unfolded in youth. In social life, on public platforms, in debate, in the higher fields of the world's work, enjoyment and progress, they are constantly baffled, embarrassed and handicapped by the limitations of ignorance.

Again, thousands of young men and young women are working today in inferior positions because of their lack of mental culture. Conscious of dormant powers which they cannot get control of, many of them fret and chafe under the restraints imposed upon them by their own ignorance. They are in the position of the Chinese and other non-progressive people, who have great mineral, agricultural, and other natural resources, which, however, do not yield them a hundredth part of their value because they do not know how to utilize them. In the very midst of potential wealth and vast possibilities, those people live in poverty and degradation, just as an uneducated man or woman, who has never developed his or her mental wealth, is doomed to perpetual ignorance and its consequences.—August Success.

Didn't Know "Huckleberry Finn."

As we sauntered about the river and talked of up the river and down the river, and of his wife's folks in Arkansas; the Drover spoke of his own country on the Missouri side, and the Editor explained that this was his first year away from the water. I ventured to remark that even if a bit inland the country was charming and the people most interesting they carried one back to Huckleberry Finn. "Huckleberry who?" inquired the Editor, putting his hand to his ear. "Huckleberry Finn," I shouted. The Drover shook his head. "Finn—Finn—Finn?" he said, slowly, groping around the back of his neck with his hand as though he had expected to find some information there.

The Drover allowed that the Finns lived either on this side or down in Arkansas. The Editor shook his head. So natural was the way in which they disclaimed Huckleberry, it began to seem possible that in their wanderings they might have run across Judge Thatcher or the Wilkses, Mutual acquaintances of this kind are sometimes embarrassing. Recalling a New York man who had met Mr. Pecksniff several times at his club—or was 'under the impression that he had seen him there, at least—it now seemed wiser to change the trend of our conversation by suggesting the matinee.—From "The County Fair," by Nelson Lloyd, in the August (Fiction Number) Serthner."

Eben Holden Redivivus and a Pie.

"I remember once," said Uncle Eb, "I praised a woman's pie. We were over in Canada buyin' cattle. The woman, she asked me if there was anything I'd like 'er fer my dinner. I told her that I was very fond o' berry pie, so she made one. It come on the table in a pan. I didn't know what 't was, er mebbe I could have made some excuse an' got away. Suddenly the woman began to cut it.

"I've made that pie you asked fer," she said. "It took me a long time, but here 'tis an' I hope you'll like it."

"The pie was about three inches thick, an' there was only just a leetle streak o' red stain through the middle of it where the berries oughter be."

The old man paused a moment.

"Wal," he continued, with a sigh, "of course I had to eat that pie. It was the greatest obstacle I ever encountered. For a minute I felt as if I was ketchin' in a bear trap. But I looked as pleasant as possible an' went to work on that piece o' pie. I no sooner got through than it went to work on me. There wasn't much left o' me next day. I lay there sick a bed an' the good woman she brought up another pie. She wanted to please me and I hadn't the heart to tell her what I thought of her bakin'. But she pressed it on me.

"No more, thank ye," says I.

"I thought you said it was good," says she, with a look of disappointment.

"Madam," says I, "the pie is good but I ain't good enough to eat it. I haant even joined the church yet. Give me a leetle more time for preparation."—Irving Bachiler, in Leslie's Monthly for August.

A Dog Story for the Dog Days

A two part story, "The Day of the Dog," by the versatile George Barr McCutcheon, begins in the August number of McClure's and leaves the hero in a situation at the end that is almost a stroke of genius. It is a delicious combination of farce and romance, based on the every day business of a matter of fact Chicago law firm, and may be warranted as good reading for the dreariest dog-day of the month. The pictures by John T. McCutcheon, the well known cartoonist, are as laughable as one could expect and in the very spirit of the story. August McClure's.

WILL SOON LEAVE THE CITY.

Coquillard Wagon Works Nearly Ready to Depart.

The Coquillard Manufacturing company will soon be a thing of the past so far as South Bend is concerned. For nearly a year work has been going on in the construction of a new factory at Henderson, Ky., and for a month past the job of moving the plant, machinery, etc., has kept a large force of men busy, and the next two weeks will find the manufactory a fixture in the Ohio River city. It is not to be understood that the Coquillard company will desert us, wholly for only a nominal amount of the original stock has been retained and the factory will be run by Henderson parties. The only thing that will be left will be the building and the water power and the latter is now owned by F. M. Gray.

It is also rumored that the Bissell Plow company also contemplates a change, as the water power has also been disposed of to Mr. Gray, but in this case, it is said, the change will be only in the motive power which will be from water to electricity, and as well to move to more commodious quarters.

From reliable parties it is learned that it looks altogether as if the water power on the West race is being purchased for the Chapin interests at Buchanan, but equally wise ones see the Olivers in the background.

Of the employees who formerly worked with the Coquillard company very few will leave here. The great majority have established themselves permanently and they do not propose to jump out of the frying pan into the fire.—South Bend Times.

Climate and Crop Report.

The United States Department of Agriculture, climate and crop bulletin of the weather bureau, Michigan section, publish the following for the week ending July 20, 1903.

The mean daily temperature for the week ending July 20 was 63.1 degrees or 6.6 degrees below the normal; the average total precipitation was 1.18 inches, or 0.66 of an inch above the normal; the sunshine averaged 64 per cent of the possible amount.

The weather conditions of the past week have been quite favorable for haying and harvest work; the cool temperatures have somewhat delayed the curing of hay. Very heavy showers occurred in most of the southern counties Friday night, flattening considerable corn and lodging oats, but both crops are recovering quite rapidly and are straightening out nicely. Haying has made good progress in all sections; in the southern counties it is almost all secured in good condition, in the more northerly counties is rapidly nearing completion, much of the cut being well secured. Wheat and rye harvest are general in the southern and central counties and the crops are being well secured; threshing has begun in the southern counties and fair yields are reported. Barley is being cut in the southern counties and pea harvest has begun in the northern. Corn continues to show improvement and is now in nearly normal condition; in the southern counties it is in tassel and setting for ears. Oats are ripening; the heads are fairly well filled, but the straw is rather short. Beans, potatoes, sugar beets and garden truck continues generally promising. Barley is about ripe and cutting has begun. Buckwheat looks promising. Pasture continue to improve. Apple prospects continue fair.

Berrien County: Much corn and oats flattened; wheat mostly secured; potatoes promising; apples doing well; blackberries a good crop.

Miss Elizabeth Perry, of Chicago, is spending the week with relatives in Bertrand, after which she will visit her old home at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blodgett and daughter, of Jackson, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Cauffman Sunday. Mrs. Blodgett expects to remain some time.

The Redden sisters entertained the Base Ball Club of Dayton, with their ladies, Saturday evening. Ice cream and cake were served during the evening.

Wm. Hulbert, better known as "Old Billy," a well known character of Bertrand, was taken to the County House Monday. For over a year he has been so mean and abusive it was almost impossible to live with him or near him. The question has been, is he crazy or has age aggravated the meanness born in him? Mrs. Caroline Frame has been his guardian and managed to sustain the other two until the arrival of the Life saving crew, who rescued them all. The accident was witnessed by hundreds of excursionists on the big boats and the dock.

Angora Cat Farm.

Among South Haven's many summer attractions, none perhaps is more interesting than an Angora cat farm owned and operated by Mrs. Edith Sears, about one mile south of that city. Mrs. Sears conducts the farm herself and devotes the larger part of the place to the breeding of full-blooded Angora cats. Her pets have won many prizes at various shows and exhibitions in and around Chicago, and have attracted much attention among cat fanciers all over the middle west.

Her pretty farm house is built well back from the road and surrounded by many large shade trees in which the cats romp and play to their own delight as well as that of Mrs. Sears. A big steel coop, similar to the average chicken coop, though with many more conveniences, is situated at the side of the house, and it is here that the common Angoras are kept. The high prices and valuable animals are assigned quarters in the home. Among the many varieties of feline wonders are striped Angoras, tigers, silver-tailed and gray and white Angora.

Old Beauty is the name of an immense silver-tailed Tom who is the pride of the Sears cat farm. The cat has a tail as fluffy and big as a fox hair muff and as soft as the best seal skin. "Old Beauty" is well aware of his attractive appearance and for some time past has upheld his title as cock of the walk. Recently he engaged in a three-hour encounter with a white Angora and although several cupfuls of hair are missing and the much admired tail suffered chewing, he managed to worst his opponent, much to the delight of about twenty small admirers in the cattery that are strong followers of "Old Beauty."

Another cat of interest is "Louise," a tiger Angora with a beautiful coat and mother of over half the cats in the Sears farm.

BENTON HARBOR.

St. Joe is preparing for a big time carnival week, beginning August 3.

Mrs. Byron Allen is now able to get about the house and yard.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Niles have moved into a new house on Pavone Street.

The A. O. U. W. is to have a grand rally and picnic at Eau Claire, day after tomorrow.

The novelist Optic Reid and his family of Chicago, are enjoying a few day's outing along the "old St. Joe."

A big crowd of Knights of Pythias is expected over from Chicago tomorrow to a picnic at Eastman Springs.

Mollie Ayerill, who has taught for several years in our public schools, will tomorrow become the bride of Harry Hinkley.

Dowagiac will send a committee here to get pointers from our new library building. The architect who planned it is to plan theirs also.

It has leaked out from the state board of education, that the new state normal is to be located in south western Michigan and Niles is hugging herself in consequence.

After Sept. 1 Probate Judges in Michigan will be empowered to perform the marriage ceremony, and state papers are using this fact to poke fun at St. Joseph.

One of our oldest settlers, Joseph Nelhoffen of Fair Plains died last week at the age of 83. When he came to Benton Harbor it contained but two houses and this section was inhabited by warlike Indians.

St. Joseph is after a million dollar automobile factory, which if it comes means the building of a bridge across the river at the foot of State street and the improvement of a large tract of land on the north side of it.

Our baseball team, the Athletics, will play the Three Oaks Greens tomorrow afternoon at the ball park for the championship of the county. They will also play Friday, a return game with the Paw Paw boys in which they hope to reverse the former score.

A delegation of Elks left last Saturday for Baltimore, to attend the National convention. They took with them 10,000 little circular cards to advertise our city containing on one side the words: "Heart of the Michigan Fruit Belt," and on the other, "Hello Bill, come and see us, Always 11 o'clock at Benton Harbor."

The City of Chicago of the G. & M. line got to racing last Sunday the big new "Eastland," the crack lines of the Michigan steamship company whose owner insists that she is the fastest boat on the great Lakes. She was beaten however and now the City of South Haven is after her scalp and wants a $5,000 race.

Benton Harbor is to have an old time county fair next year, after the fashion of 15 years ago. There will be a ball park and a half mile race track which will be opened next Labor Day. A plat of 20 acres between the city and Eastman Springs, has been leased for 5 years and it is hoped that our people will take hold of the project and make it a grand success.

Many people take an involuntary bath in the river or canal during the summer season. Last Sunday evening a row boat containing four ladies was run into and upset by a pleasure launch near the G. & M. dock. The two younger ladies could swim and managed to sustain the other two until the arrival of the Life saving crew, who rescued them all. The accident was witnessed by hundreds of excursionists on the big boats and the dock.

Centennial Pageant in Chicago.

History of City to be Depicted—Floats Representing Fort Dearborn and Its Indians—Others Showing Progress in Arts and Manufactures.

Promising to rival the Mardi Gras spectacles, a gorgeous pageant has been planned by the parade committee of Chicago's centennial. It will take place the day after the military procession, which will be the main feature of the celebration during the week beginning Sept. 26.

This pageant, the committee is confident, will surpass anything of the kind ever seen in the city. It will be educational in a way, the various floats representing epochs in Chicago's history.

Fort Dearborn, with its Indians, will be followed by a living picture of the civil war period in Chicago.

This will be followed by a series of floats showing the progress of the great fire and destruction of the city. TO RECALL COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION.

Then will come floats picturing the Columbian exposition, the principal buildings of the world's fair being reproduced in miniature. And not least will be the scenes from Chicago's life today, depicting the life of the average citizen from the time he awakens in the morning to find the janitor is on a strike, until he takes a rapid transit car home after the show at night.

A history of industry and commerce will follow the pictures showing Chicago's progress. First will be depicted the evolution of advancement in those industries most closely allied with Chicago.

IMPROVEMENTS IN TRANSPORTATION.

Then will come floats showing improvements in transportation, communication, and education. There also will be floats showing that many of the Indians were peaceful, and that some of them were not wilder than a few "Indians" to be found in Chicago today.

Chicago's old volunteer fire department will be an interesting part of the parade. The veterans who were putting out fires before the average citizen was born will meet tomorrow at 19 Dearborn street to make arrangements for their participation in the procession. The call was issued by President Peter Smith, Vice President John Wagenberger John P. Barrett, chairman of the board of directors, and Secretary Thomas Courtney.

Incidental to the advertising of the jubilee, the fac-simile of Fort Dearborn is becoming familiar throughout the West. It will appear in the floats on badges, in fireworks, it decorations, on buttons, in miniature in the various parades. It appears on all the advertising going into the country in the shape of posters, folders, and pasters. The model used is from a rare drawing in the procession of Henry E. Weaver. The railroads are advertising the centennial extensively, and special matter, well printed and handsomely illustrated, is widely circulated.

COUNTY SEAT NEWS

Judge Coolidge has rendered a decision in the Bowker-Harris divorce case. This case was one of the most tangled matrimonial affairs brought before the public in many a day and presented a series of complications covering over a score of years. Briefly the facts are as follows: In the 70's a well-to-do family by the name of Bowker resided near Galien. Family troubles ensued and the wife Mrs. Eunice Bowkers sued for divorce and the husband not appearing, the wife supposed she had obtained the decree by default.

A year or so later she married C.L. Harris and the couple lived together for ten years, when Mrs. Harris received notification that there was no divorce of hers on record and she was not the legal wife of Harris. The two separated and she was granted a divorce in 1889.

Here the testimony of Harris and Mrs. Bowker differed. The latter claimed that Harris refused to marry her and Harris claiming that she was the one opposed to another marriage.

Mrs. Bowker resumed her name of Spangenburg and removed to Kansas and Harris went to Missouri. In 1894 he was married at Mercer, Mo., and was living happily when Mrs. Bowker came to the court two years ago to have the court make an order that the divorce of 1889 be dated back to 1877, as she claimed the first divorce had been legal but had not been placed on the record.

She then went to Missouri to have Harris arrested for bigamy. Through his attorney, H. S. Gray, Mr. Harris petitioned the court to sustain the 1889 divorce and Judge Coolidge has rendered his decision granting this last petition principally on the ground that the present wife of Harris is an innocent third party.—Palladium.

COUNTY NEWS.

Roy K. Moulton, who has been city editor of the Benton Harbor Evening News for two years, has gone to Grand Rapids to take a position with the Evening Press.

The house of Jacob Boone, the village blacksmith at Berrien Springs, was struck by lightning during one of the electric storms this week. A pane of glass was broken into small particles and many of them lodging in a piano, damaged it greatly.

The new public library in Benton Harbor is nearing completion and will be opened the first week in Aug.

ON LINE OF M. C. R. R.

Such Will be the Location of New Normal School, It is Reported.

One of Governor Bliss' close political friends in the legislature says that the proposed new $40,000 Western Normal school will be located in some city on the line of the Michigan Central railroad, perhaps Albion or Niles. He intimated that the members of the board having the matter in charge had been appointed with the Michigan Central's interests in view. Senator Kelley, who was here a few days ago trying to find out what show there was to have the building located at Muskegon, which is not on a line of the Michigan Central, was told practically the same thing by one in a position to know.—Detroit News.

Auto Owner Fined.

The suit of William C. Rice vs. Dr. C. P. Hanson, of Niles, in which the former claimed his buggy was damaged as the result of his horse being frightened at the latter's automobile, was tried before Justice Babcock Thursday. The defendant and his lawyer were neither of them present, and a judgment of $30 was awarded and costs added.

The case will be appealed to the circuit court.

TARIFF REVISION TALK

Given to the Furniture Dealers and Manufacturers by Representative Lovering.

PROTECTION ALL RIGHT, HE SAYS

But Seems to Think the United States Are Running It Too Strong Just at Present.

New York, July 24.—The Furniture Association of America, a national organization of retail dealers, manufacturers and their representatives, has begun its first annual convention here. The meeting was attended by 200 delegates from all parts of the United States. President William L. Shearer, of Boston, called the convention to order, and William C. Lovering, representative in congress of the Fourteenth Massachusetts district, was the principal speaker, discussing "Practical Methods of Extending Our Export Trade."

As to Alcohol and Drawbacks. Resolutions were adopted that it is the sense of the Furniture Association of America that legislation to relieve our manufacturing interests from the present prohibitory tax on alcohol should be promptly enacted by congress, and that our laws relating to the payment of drawback on exported articles of domestic manufacture should be amended as provided for in the bill introduced in the last congress by William C. Lovering, of Massachusetts.

Believes in Protective Tariff. Lovering said in part: "In all the years of our history as a nation it has come to be pretty well established fact that a tax for revenue on the lines of protection to American industries has yielded a fuller measure of public welfare than a tax for revenue only, but it does not follow that the highest and most prohibitory tax is the most protective tax. It is a fact that most of the industries of our country today are sorely in need of new outlets in the markets of the world for their products, and that the tariff should be so laid that the doors may sometimes swing outward as easily as they swing inward."

But Thinks It May Be Too Strong.

Referring to the change in the drawback law and the tax on alcohol, Lovering said: "Here, then, is an opportunity for the friends of protection to show a little wisdom and the sincerity of their solicitude for the home producer. For my own part I have been a protectionist all my life, but I believe the principle of protection best conserved by meeting the question promptly and revising some of the glaring inequalities that are today shutting us out from the markets of the world.

His View of Legislative Wisdom.

"If our legislators are wise they will not antagonize the great growing sentiment in favor of tariff revision, whether it come under what is known as the 'Towa idea' or that older and country-wide demand that has been forcing itself upon the attention of the party leaders for the past few years."

CONQUERING HERO COMES

Reception to an Editor Who Had Criticized a Decision of the Missouri Supreme Court.

Warrensburg, Mo., July 24.—James Shepherd, editor of the Warrensburg Sentinel, who was fined $500 by the state supreme court for contempt in printing an article criticizing a decision rendered by that body, was accorded an ovation by his townspeople when he arrived home from Jefferson City. As soon as it was learned that Editor Shepherd had been fined some of the leading men here telegraphed him to draw on them for the amount.

These men formed into a committee, and heading a big crowd of citizens met Shepherd at the station as he came in from the state capital, cheered him to the echo and escorted him to his home.

Aimed at Our Merchant Marine.

Wellington, N. Z., July 24.—In the house of representatives R. J. Seddon, the prime minister, introduced a bill to prevent vessels registered in countries where British shipping is prevented from engaging in coastwise trade from engaging in coastwise trade in New Zealand waters.

Elks Have Got Through.

Baltimore, July 24.—The grand lodge of Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks has closed. There were 1,004 grand lodge members in the city. Business being ended the evening was devoted to "painting the town." Thousands went to Towchester beach during the day to a crab feast.

Pioneer River Pilot Dead.

St. Louis, July 24.—Captain Robert Dodd, the oldest raft pilot and one of the oldest steamboat pilots on the river, was found dead in bed at his home here from heart failure.

John Taylor Wins the Race.

Detroit, July 24.—John Taylor won the fifth and deciding heat in the Merchants' and Manufacturers' $10,000 stake for 2-24 class trotters at Grosse Pointe. Time, 2:10 1/2.

Cruiser Galveston Launched.

Richmond, Va., July 24.—The cruiser Galveston, which while under construction when the Trigg ship yards went into the hands of a receiver, has been successfully launched.

MOB OF NEGROES BAFFLED

Wants to Lynch a Man, but the Officers Defend Him So Vigorously That It Fails.

St. Louis, July 24.—A mob made a desperate but unsuccessful effort to lynch John Davis, a negro who had just shot and killed his wife. Davis and his wife lived at 1321 Morgan street, and he shot her during a quarrel. Two officers arrested Davis. They took their prisoner to a street corner patrol box and had sent in a call, when a mob of nearly 100 negroes rushed upon them.

"Lynch him," shouted a negro in the crowd, and the cry was taken up as the mob surrounded the officers and prisoner. The officers drew their revolvers and began using them as clubs, knocking several members of the mob senseless. Additional officers arrived and the mob was put to rout.

Been Counterfeiting Union Labels.

New York, July 24.—Charles W. Salomon, a dealer in leaf tobacco and manufacturer of cigars, has been found guilty of counterfeiting the union cigar label and sentenced to pay a fine of $500.

HOW KNOWLEDGE MAY BE INCREASED

By ANDREW D. WHITE,
Former Ambassador
to Russia and Germany

WOULD establish at the twenty or twenty-five foremost universities professorships and fellowships, or scholarships, in comparative legislation. At present law schools teach what law is. They should teach also WHAT LAW OUGHT TO BE. Fellowships, if established, would attract young men, who would influence their fellow citizens. Another result would be to train young men for positions executive, legislative and judicial. Improvement in law would be slow, but SURE, and a tendency would ensue to homogeneity of the law.

My second proposal would be the establishment of professorships of comparative administration of institutions, public, penal, corrective, eleemosynary and special. What some of them now are our newspapers tell us from time to time, TO OUR SHAME.

Third.—Establish professorships and fellowships in international law for the best development intellectually and of conscience of our young men. Our consular service is now next to the largest in the world and we need a larger proportion of trained men.

Fourth.—Establish twenty or twenty-five professorships and fellowships of the history of civilization and of political ethics. The aim should be to SHOW MAN'S PROGRESS IN CIVILIZATION and to deduce further evolution of civilization.

Fifth.—Add similarly established professorships and fellowships in the history of the United States. That would promote enlightened patriotism and would stimulate many to join in public service, enhance what is best in legislation and polity, and it would filter down to the people at large.

I would summon aid of literature and letters; would employ a person fit to illustrate by the voice—by merely reading, as Richardson read—the masterpieces of literature, our finest poems and orations. Professors might well follow such a reading by lectures that tear to pieces and ANALYZE those gems. Add music and art and organ if you please to your university curriculum.

How much will this cost? It would be large, say $12,000,000 or $14,000,000—say one-twentieth as much as a tunnel would cost to get people into New York ten minutes quicker. There is nothing in the size of the sum which need to discourage us, for we have seen some large gifts made directly.

THERE ARE SEVERAL MEN ABLE TO MAKE THE GIFTS OUTLINED SINGLY, AND WILLING TO DO SO, NO DOUBT, IF THEY COULD BE PERSUADED THAT THEY WOULD BE WELL BESTOWED.

I would select the universities as recipients by a commission of competent men, who should vote by ballot after obtaining needed data as to the institutions which most fully do university work.

Universities are taking hold of the national life in ways unthought of fifty years ago. But is this influence normally exerted on public life yet by universities? I doubt it. In our courts it has a strong hold, but not yet in our city boards, our legislatures and congress do I see such proportion of university bred men as every patriot must desire. I would back up Theodore Roosevelt, John Hay and Governor General William H. Taft with many men of their training. I would always have in public position a very large proportion, perhaps a majority, of men of affairs—SELF MADE MEN, who take practical hold on the everyday work of life and who have TESTED THEORY BY PRACTICE and reality—but I would as certainly have our universities much more numerously represented than at present.

THE SERVANT GIRL PROBLEM

By Mrs. C. R.
KILGORE,
Philadelphia
Lawyer

AS a rule, the girls employed in domestic service are not good American girls, but foreigners of a low type, who are not such as can be companions to their mistresses. I DO NOT SEE THAT THE WOMAN QUESTION ENTERS INTO THE MATTER AT ALL. Compared with the ordinary day laborer the understood contract is much the same, as is also the grade of intelligence.

To be respected in housework or any other employment three points must be observed—a girl must be qualified for her position, she must do her work conscientiously and well, and she must have inherent dignity and a sense of responsibility. On the other hand, the employer must treat the servant with as much consideration as she would expect were their places reversed. That, I think, epitomizes the situation.

NO LAW OR CONTRACT WOULD REMEDY THE EXISTING EVILS. THEY ARE DEEPER THAN ANY CONTRACT CAN REACH.

Now, as to whether or not a servant may be discharged and claim wages for time not worked out there are several things that must be taken into consideration.

Suppose a girl is engaged by the week and works Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, doing washing, ironing and baking. HAS SHE NOT DONE MORE THAN HALF THE WEEK'S WORK? Would it be fair to pay her only for the percentage of time worked? Certainly not. No one would question her right to the full week's pay.

But take another side of the matter. Suppose a girl is engaged for a week and works Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and at the end of this time decides to leave without finishing the week. Would you have her paid for the full week? Certainly not. IN FINE, THE CONTRACT, SUCH AS IT IS, MUST BE MUTUAL.

First Cousins May Not Marry.

A new law in effect in Michigan on September 17 limits the degree of consanguinity within which marriage may take place by adding the concluding cause in regard to cousins of the first degree. Part of the text of the amended law is given below.

The people of the state of Michigan enact:

Sec. 3. No man shall marry his mother, grandmother, daughter, granddaughter, stepmother, grandfather's wife, son's wife, grandson's wife, wife's mother, wife's grandmother, wife's daughter, wife's granddaughter, nor his sister, brother's daughter, sister's daughter, father's sister, or mother's sister, or consin of first degree.

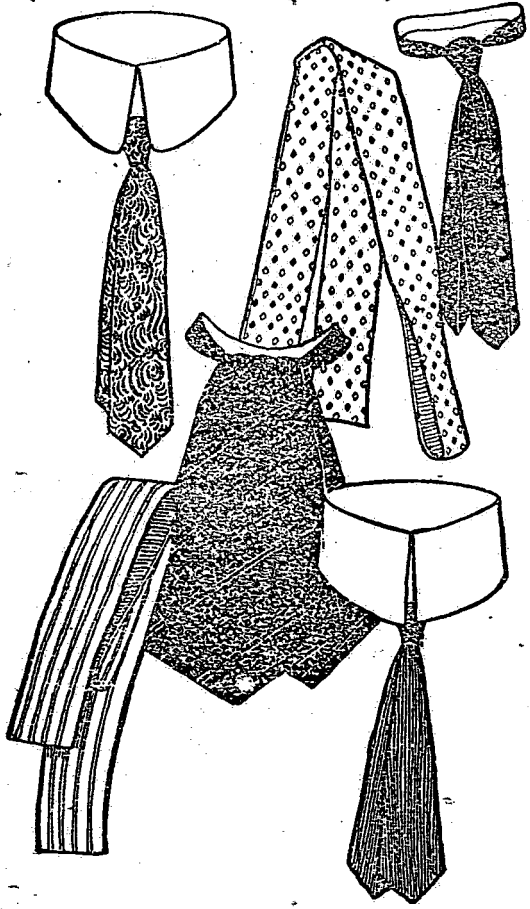

Sec. 4. No woman shall marry her father, grandfather, son, grandson, stepfather, grandmother's husband, daughter's husband, granddaughter's husband, husband's father, husband's grandfather, husband's son, husband's grandson, nor her brother, brother's son, sister's son, father's brother, mother's brother, or cousin of the first degree.

Domestic Troubles.

It is exceptional to find a family where there are no domestic ruptures occasionally, but these can be lessened by having Dr. King's New Life Pills around. Much trouble they save by their great work in Stomach and Liver troubles. They not only relieve you, but cure. 25c at W. N. Brodick's Drug Store.

is necessary in the home where Theford's Black-Draught is kept. Families living in the country, miles from any physician, have been kept in health for years with this medicine as their only doctor. Theford's Black-Draught cures biliousness, dyspepsia, colds, chills and fever, bad blood, headaches, diarrhoea, constipation, colic and almost every other ailment because the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys so nearly control the health.

Looted The Ship

How a Gang of Malay Pirates Captured the Steamer Bang Yee.

Plucky Fight of the Chief Engineer—Kept Murderers at Bay With Jet of Boiling Water.

When the steamer Bang Yee left Penang, Straits Settlements, for Penang, Sumatra, a few weeks ago the four officers, who comprised the only white men on board, little realized that but a few of them would ever return. The Bang Yee carried a little general cargo, twenty deck passengers and $20,000 in gold. The story of the dreadful events which subsequently happened is told by the survivor, Alfred Norton, the chief engineer:

Our ship's company consisted of Captain Fairbank, Chief Mate Finn, NORTON SWUNG THE CHAIR.

my second engineer, Awkright by name, and myself and a crew of eighteen natives.

A more villainous looking lot than those deck passengers I don't think I ever recollect seeing, though one does meet all sorts, good and bad, in a little coaster such as ours. They were a queer mixture of nationalities, half Chinese, half Malay, but whatever their race as great a set of villains as ever crossed a ship's gangway, as we discovered only when too late.

We weighed anchor on Sunday afternoon, which was our usual day of departure, and were due at Klang on the Tuesday morning following. I little thought as we passed out beyond Muka head of the terrible trial in store for me.

Nothing occurred to raise suspicion on that day or the next. After dinner on the evening of the second day I was having a pipe and a yarn with the captain, a man I greatly respected, as did every one who knew him. The afterdeck, where we were seated, was dimly lighted by a sickly globe lamp, whose feeble rays made it just possible for us to see each other.

The captain's chair was near to a canvas screen which separated the after from the main deck, where the deck passengers were located, and we were both seated with our backs toward this screen. My chair was a few feet farther away from the screen than his, fortunately for me. We had been chatting, and I was just making up my mind to turn in, when, with appalling suddenness, three men with dabs flashing in their hands appeared on the deck behind us and almost as I shouted a warning pounced on Fairbank. The biggest of the three with one sweep of the terrible weapon he was wielding almost decapitated the poor fellow, who slid to the deck dead.

I jumped to my feet as the men appeared. My only weapon of defense was the chair I had been sitting on, but as the two other fellows made for me I swung this around my head with all the force I was capable of, bringing it down with a crash on the nearest villain's skull. He fell like a log. Providentially I struck the lamp which was above my head with the same blow, shattering it.

Under cover of the darkness which now prevailed I rushed to the other side of the deck and fled toward the engine room, which I reached in safety, but only to find another terrible sight awaiting me. Outside the door lay the second engineer stone dead.

What to do now was my next thought. Should I stop the engines? No; that would not do, for the pirates would immediately come below to find out what was the matter, and it was no use courting death in that way.

Suddenly an inspiration seized me, an idea I had no sooner thought of than I set to work to put it into execution. We fortunately had a good length of hose in the storeroom below, with a nozzle attached, kept in readiness in case of fire. This, if fastened on to a connection on the main feed pump which had been fitted before my time—I doubt if for the same purpose as I was going to use it—would give me a strong pressure of boiling water at 212 degrees of heat, so I had but little doubt that at last I had found a sure weapon of defense and one which would be no less effectual, perhaps, even more so, than the razorlike dabs which had been used with such deadly results on my poor friends.

However, I hadn't long to wait to test it. It surprised me, as a matter of fact, that my respite had been such a long one, but I suppose the villains must have had some trouble in finding the specie. That their quest had been successful I didn't doubt, as I could now hear voices overhead close by the engine room and the sound of heavy boxes being dragged along the deck.

A slight sound above attracted my attention, and, looking up, I saw the forms of two of the wretches stealing cautiously down the ladder and peering about, no doubt trying to locate me in the semidarkness. They little guessed in what manner they would do so.

I allowed them to come down sufficiently far to be well within reach of my water jet, and then I connected the hose and let them have full pressure.

The results far exceeded my most sanguine expectations, for as the boiling, seething fluid caught them fairly on their scantily clad bodies they let out wild yells of agony and retreated helter skelter to the deck, their groans being audible for a long time after they had departed. It gave me some satisfaction to know that at least I had managed to partly skin two of the scoundrels. The lesson must have been a salutary one, too, for I had no more visitors that night.

As far as I could judge we ought to have been getting within the radius of Pulo Weh light, and whether they intended to go on through the Malacca passage and round Aceh head would, I knew, be decided in a very short time. The revolutions we had made since leaving Penang were my only guide, but I had made the voyage so often that I could give a pretty fair guess as to our position.

How the weary hours of that terrible night dragged on! It seemed an eternity. I wasn't to be left long in doubt, however, as to the intentions of the pirates, for just as daylight was breaking without any preliminary warning I was thrown violently on my back on the engine room plates, and the poor old packet, with a shudder that seemed to shake her as with a fit of ague, gave one convulsive heave and stopped dead.

My first sensation was a feeling of thankfulness that I had fallen backward instead of into the crank pit, which I should assuredly have done had I been pitched forward, and there one turn of the crank would have been quite sufficient to put an end to all my troubles.

I struggled to my feet and stopped the engines, which I knew were only driving the ship harder on to whatever obstacle she had struck.

What would be the next item on this horrible programme? I could hear shouting and a great tramping of feet on the deck overhead, and later, to my great joy, the sound of boats being lowered into the water, so I concluded that they evidently intended leaving the ship. My conjecture was right, for after an hour of yelling and bustle the welcome sound of oars beating the water reached my ears. Then a great silence seemed to settle over the vessel, and I felt as though a weight had been lifted from my brain. 'Broad daylight now flooded the heavens, and the relief of it after the long night of darkness and horror was simply indescribable.

I determined to wait for an hour, so as to make sure they had departed before venturing on deck, and at the end of that time I cautiously ascended, having my trusty friend the hose ready in case any of the villains were still lurking on board, though I felt certain in my own mind that I need not feel any alarm on that score, as, having secured what they wanted, they would try to get away as quickly as possible.

As I reached the deck I saw that we were heading on to the beach, which was about half a mile distant. By a stroke of good fortune it was a sandy one. Three of our boats lay at the water's edge deserted, but of the murderers not a sign could be seen.

Crystal Springs Camp Meeting.

Crystal Springs Camp Ground, P. O., Pokagon, Michigan, is unsurpassed in Michigan, for beauty of situation, and the attractiveness of its appointments. The lovely shade, the flowing river, and the charming lakelets, filled with fish, fed from an inexhaustible fountain, give to the place all that nature can contribute to delight the fancy; while the great auditorium, seating four thousand people, is one of the finest amphitheatres in the great northwest for the rendition of sacred music and eloquence.

The Boarding Hall is becoming more and more popular each year; and the more than one hundred cottages adorning the grounds combine the attractiveness of home with a public resort, unique in its many charms, and lead to say: "If we can't worship God here, where else on earth can we find the place?"

Improvements.

The improvements which Mr. O. S. Chapman has been making in his property on Detroit street are about complete and will add very much to the appearance of the place, also giving much pleasanter interior arrangements.

J. L. Richards is laying a cement walk on the east side of his dwelling, and the barn is receiving thorough repairs.

The barn has been moved from Mrs. Myler's lot, to the adjoining lot on Clark street and is being made into a very desirable dwelling place. Mr. J. W. Beistle is having the work done.

KEEPING PROMISES

Buchanan Appreciates Always When Promises are Kept.

Every time you read about Doan's Kidney Pills, you are told they cure every form of kidney ill, from back-ache to urinary disorders. How are our promises kept? Ask any citizen who has tried the treatment. Ask the man who makes the following statement:

Mr. John Mays, General Insurance Agent, living at 191 Lake Avenue, Benton Harbor, says: "To say I endorse the claims made for Doan's Kidney Pills, feebly expresses what I think of the preparation. For several months I had my attention called to Doan's Kidney Pills and thinking they might benefit me I procured a box at Harry L. Bird's drug store. I could feel the good effects right away, and by the time I had used three quarters of the box the pain in my back and side had entirely passed out of existence. I am only too pleased to testify to the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Just such emphatic endorsement is plentiful in Buchanan. Call at W. N. Brodick's drug store and ask him what his customers report.

All Down.

Tucson, A. T., July 24.—A terrific tornado visited Tombstone and Fair-bank and although reports are meager it is thought that many who were caught in the path of the storm must have perished. Wires are all down.
The storm was accompanied by a rain deluge.

The wind did great damage, unroofing houses and tearing up large trees.
Hardly had it subsided when water came down the canon and Fairbank was under six feet of water. The inhabitants fled to the hillside.

Le Compte Keeps the Cup.

Indianapolis, July 24.—C. O. Le Compte, of Eminence, Ky., again won his title of champion shot of Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois and Michigan by successfully defending the Grand Hotel cup in his match shoot with H.
M. Clark, of Wabash, Ind. The score was Le Compte, 40, and Clark, 45, out of a possible fifty.

Steamer Fined by a Union.

Houghton, Mich., July 24.—A fine of $50 has been imposed on the steamer
Nelson Bloom by the local longshoremen's union because non-union men were recently employed to unload a cargo of coal consigned to the Atlantic Mining company. Besides this the union refuses to unload the boat on its present trip.

Beavers and Driggs Again Indicted.

New York, July 24.—Among the indictments handed up by the federal grand jury it is said that there were two additional against ex-Representative Edmund H. Driggs, and two against George W. Beavers, superintendent of allowances and salaries in the postoffice department.

Cup Challenger Defeated.

Atlantic Highlands, N. J., July 24.—
A fluke and a shift of wind cheated Shamrock III out of a victory in a drifting race with Shamrock I off Sandy Hook and gave the old boat the first victory she ever had over the new cup challenger. She beat the new boat three minutes and fifty seconds.

OBSEQUIES OF LEO XIII

Burial May Be Hurried and a Day Taken Off the Lying in State.

OROWLS VIEW THE POPE'S REMAINS

Italian Soldier Guard St. Peter's for the First Time in Modern History.

From sunrise until sunset thousands passed before the body of Leo XIII lying in state in the Basilica of St. Peter's. It was originally intended that this opportunity publicly to view the remains should extend through three days, but the Associated Press correspondent learns that the time is likely to be curtailed.

CARDINAL RAMPOLLA.

and that the funeral may occur today instead of tomorrow night, owing to the evidences that decomposition is setting in. This is due to the severe heat, from which no embalming however perfect, could completely protect the body.

Pope's Will Is Opened.

The will of the dead pope was opened at the meeting of the congregation of cardinals. It consists of thirty-six pages in the handwriting of Leo XIII, and leaves all the property of which he died possessed to his successor for the use of the church. To each member of his family he leaves a present to be chosen from the valuable objects in his apartment. Similar presents are bequeathed to his physicians. The total amount of the property which he left is not yet known.

Many Said a Hurried Prayer.

Except at sunrise, when the crushed thundered a panic, all those who wished it had an opportunity of entering St. Peter's. During the day many of those who passed in stopped before the catafalque to say a hurried prayer. Hundreds of the women, and even some of the men, carried children in their arms.

FACT THAT IS UNPRECEDENTED

Italian Soldiers in St. Peter's—Temporal Power Is Considered.

An important political factor was introduced into the ceremony by the entrance into St. Peter's of Italian soldiers, who remained there throughout the day to preserve order. Their presence there in such a capacity, unprecedented in the history of modern Italy, is important as an indication of better relations between the government and the Vatican, as it was by the consent—if not by the desire of the Vatican authorities—that they employed the troops of the Quirinal in papal territory.

Another feature which is causing comment along the same lines is the fact that Cardinal Gregorio, in receiving a group of the city fathers of Rome who represented Clerical party, charged them to thank also their Liberal colleagues for the manifestations of sympathy which they showed during the illness of the pope. The cardinal, continuing his conversation, indicated special satisfaction over similar manifestations coming from several constituted bodies of the kingdom of Italy, such as communal councils and provincial deputations.

The most important matter before the meeting of the congregation of cardinals was a proposition presented by Cardinal Gregorio to send a note to the diplomatic body accredited to the holy see for the purpose of representing to the powers the condition of the papacy since the loss of its temporal power. It appears that Cardinals Steinhuber, Mathieu and Vives y Tuto favored the dispatch of a most energetic note concerning the question of reclaiming the papal rights. Cardinals Agliardi and Serafini Vannutelli advocated a milder wording of this document. The majority of the congregation decided to entrust Monsignor Merry del Val with the duty of drawing up the document for submission to another meeting of the congregation.

REDMOND HAS SOME NEWS

President Roosevelt Orders Flag "Lowered All Over the United States" at the Pope's Death.

London, July 24.—The first mention in the house of commons of the pope's death occurred when William Redmond asked that the flag on Victoria tower, Westminster, and those on the public buildings be half-masted out of respect to the late pope. The request was denied, and Balfour said it was not a question of respect to the dead pope, but universal precedent must be regarded, and general rules laid down must be observed.

Redmond then called the attention of the government to the fact that the flags were "lowered all over the United States by the order of President Roosevelt," which would perhaps influence British action.

So He Couldn't Have Been Shot.

McKeesport, Pa., July 24.—The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of accidental death in the case of Evan Lewis, whom the strikers declared had been shot by a deputy, while Lewis was swimming the river. The companion of Lewis testified that the two had been drinking. No bullet wound was found on the body.

COMMISSIONERS STAY

Governor Bliss Will Not Remove Freeman and Sayre for Their Railway Action.

SAYS HE HAS NO LEGAL CAUSE

Has Opened His Mind to the Accused —Fool Freak of Two Prisoners—News Items.

Lansing, Mich., July 24.—While admitting that the usefulness of Freeman and Sayre on the state tax commission had at least been seriously impaired, Governor Bliss announced that he would take no steps toward securing their removal for their action in signing affidavits for the benefit of the railroads.

Legal Cause for a Removal Absent.

"While I do not uphold their action, nothing has been made to appear that it constitutes legal cause for removal," said the governor. "In a hearing with these gentlemen I made it plain to them that they had offended against propriety, and if they had consulted me I do not think the commissioners would have signed any affidavits. Any way, I do not believe the railroads will profit any by the fact that these affidavits were obtained."

No Crime Was Committed.

According to the governor, the action of Freeman and Sayre was nothing approaching malfeasance or misfeasance, for, he said, if it had been, their removal would have been speedily accomplished. He said this was the only request of Attorney General Blair that he had refused, having granted everything else that Blair asked, as in the matter of employing additional counsel and expert engineers.

Reply for a Suggestion.

It was suggested to the governor that he should not shoulder the criticism of his administration that must follow the acts of the tax commissioners, but he spoke of the reprimands he had given the commissioners publicly as tending to keep the blame where he said it ought to be.

THEY TOOK DESPERATE CHANCES

Prisoners in a Michigan Jail Try to Explode Themselves to the Free Air Outside.

Bay City, Mich., July 24.—Cigars and whisky were stolen from the Senate restaurant, and men who gave the names and addresses—probably fictitious—of Con Dilson, Detroit, and Thos.
Sullivan, Cleveland, were arrested on the suspicion that they might be the thieves. An hour after they had been locked up everything in the neighborhood of the jail was jarred by a violent explosion.

The officers saw a cloud of dust coming from the quarters occupied by their new prisoners, and running thither found the room strewn with wreckage and both men prostrated on the floor.
The top had been blown off the radiator, and it is believed that a dynamite cap was used. Neither prisoner was much injured. The object of the captives, if they caused the explosion and did so intentionally, is not apparent, as the deed could not have aided them in escaping.

Too Much Like Work.

Nashville, Mich., July 24.—A party of burglars started in to call on the whole town, but effected an entrance into only four places. They unlocked the front door of the postoffice and took 25 cents and some postage stamps.
At E. Roe & Son's meat market they took $10 out of the cash register. At Green & Fueling's furnishing store they got a few cents, and they made a like collection at Frank McDuffy's grocery store.

Came from the Arctic to Breed.

Ann Arbor, Mich., July 24.—Taxidermist Wood, while on his recent trip in Gladwin and Oscoda counties, discovered, besides the Kirtland warblers, two valuable additions to scientific information. He found the young bird of the "Arctic three-toed warblers," and a nest of five young of the northern shrike. Thus he had proof of the southern breeding habit of these birds.

Plan for Church Hospitality.

Jackson, Mich., July 24.—At the session of the Waltham League, Rev.
Muehlheuser, of Rochester, N. Y., gave an address on "The Family Quartering System," a plan for providing home with families of the congregations for those who were away from their own homes. His suggestions were referred to a committee.

Somebody Turned on the Power.

Muskegon, Mich., July 24.—Fred Cavanaugh, a lineman employed by the Muskegon Traction and Lighting company, was killed by electricity while adjusting an arc light at a busy street corner. Somebody turned on the power at the plant to make a test, and 4,000 volts passed through the man's body.

Botsfords Resents the Tax.

Port Huron, Mich., July 24.—Because Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Botsford and the state tax commission cannot agree on taxes the Botsfords, who are among the wealthiest people in this city, will sell their valuable real estate and move to Chicago.

Photographers in Council.

Saginaw, Mich., July 24.—The annual convention of the Ohio and Michigan Photographers' association opened here with 100 delegates in attendance.
Several interesting papers were read.
