THE POPE IN WHITE.

How Pius X. Appears Arrayed In His Pontifical Robes.

Pope Pius X. in his papal robes of white presents a dignified and imposing appearance. In his youth he was noted for his strength, in which he took great pride, and even now he possesses remarkable physical power for a man of his years. He inherited his strong physique from his mother, who was a woman of unusual physical as well as mental vigor.

THIRD YEAR HAS CLOSED

ference at Jackson.

The conference year of the Methodist churches in this section closed last Sunday, and this week the ministers are gathering at Jackson, to hold their annual conference. Rev. Douglass, pastor of the M. E. church here went today to attend the gathering.

The official board of the church has asked Rev. Douglass to return another year, as his work as pastor here has been very successful and the relations in the church most harmonious.

During his pastorate he has married 33 couples, preached 45 funeral sermons, received into the church by letter 21 persons, received from probation 17 and dismissed by letter 15

The present membership of the church is 144, and the condition of the church is one of prosperity and growth, and the members are looking forward with pleasure to another year's work with Rev. Douglass as

On Friday evening in some un accountable manner Mrs. Emmons, wife of Dr. Emmons, became dizzy and fell to the floor striking her arm in such a way as to break a bone in the w.ist. It is quite a misfortune as they are just occupying their new home. It will prevent her from active participation in the work for some time, but one thing will be sure she will have careful treatment as the Dr. lives so near which no doubt will hasten her recovery. * * *

ELDER VEACH PREACHES

Methodist Ministers Hold Con- From the Steps of the Church on Sunday Morning.

> The sun rose bright and clear on Sunday morning, and the church bells rang out peace on earth and good will to men, but the Christian church bell did not ring. As the hour of service arrived the only thing animate or inanimate around the Christian church sign, "keep off the grass."

Finally several persons arrived but Elder Veach was not in sight and it was thought perhaps he had decided to change his program, but a short time after the bells on the neighboring churches had ceased ringing the Elder was seen wending his way to the church. The door was found to be locked, but quickly and quietly a table and chair were secured from the residences nearby, while the audience began increasing, and the services proceeded as though nothing had nappened.

Elder Veach made a statement saying that he had no intention of wrong doing and that this service was not for effect, but because of principle. There were prehaps twenty-five or thirty present with possibly as many more who were gathered around in the neighborhood out of curiosity, some who possibly had not heard a sermon for some time. Elder Veach announced that the services would be held as usual and if the church was locked they would be held at the parsonage. After the congregation was dismissed they stood about, a short time, then some one came and unlocked the door and about 50 persons gathered for Sunday school. The remainder of the day the church was

A Correction.

As a correction to the items published in various papers, stating that the Trustees or Official Board of the Christian Church, were aroused to "anger and-wrath," the members of the board wish to state that such was not the case, and that all they did was done with the kindest intentions, and with no thought of malice, and that which they were in duty bound to do, and considering that about seventy-five percent of the attending and contributing members of the con gregation representing about eighty per cent of the support of the church, stated that they would not support Elder Veach, financially or otherwise, and in view of this he presistently refused to resign, the official Board took formal action on Thursday evening, Sept. 19, and dismissed him from

In regard to the contract by which Elder Veach was engaged as our pastor, he was engaged for one year, pro viding that he gave satisfaction, and we were able to meet our obligations in way of salary. Elder Veach, on being spoken to in regard to the terms of contract, stated that he did not care to see or hear them, and that he had fulfilled his part of the agreement, and intended to stay the remainder of the year, consequently the Official Board were forced to take the action they have taken.

Word From D. L. Boardman.

In a letter received from D. L. Boardman last week he says:

"We do not like frontier life and know of no place that we would like better than Buchanan, especially since we have our home there, and we hope, a good many friends.

We are having a heavy snow storm here".

Mr. Boardman does not say how soon they will arrive, but he certainly is right when he says he hopes they have many friends, for they have and a right good royal welcome will be given him and his good wife on their return. He certainly has shown his good taste in coming back, for it than Buchanan.

If the different fraternal orders will please look at our notices and inform us of any errors or orders omitted we shall be thankful, and it no doubt will be a benefit to you. Will not each secretary see to this?

We believe that the church is God's divinely appointed institution, but often ask ourselves, "will not the fraternal orders surplant it?" The orders are no doubt right, but when the same men who belong to both orders and the church are far more willing to do for the order than the church, it seems to us there is something wrong. Is it with the men or the fault of the church ororder? We publish in today's RECORD what men of the same order do for each other's families and while we are looking for the same thing to record of the church we fail to find it. We take no sides here but write this to cause some thinking and if possible stir to action. Be doers as well as hears.

> Literary Note.

The October "Success" is a big one It contains just thirty new features The variety is noticeable,—each art icle, poem, and story having been chosen with rare discrimination, so as to make a publication of perfect balance. The leading feature is an inspiring and graphic life-sketch of Adelina Patti who is soon to return to America. It is one of the best histories of her life and its purpose ever written, and its authenticity can not be questioned, for William Armstrong, who wrote it, was sent to England by "Success" specially for that purpose. He was Madame Patti's guest at her castle, Craig-y facts on which the erricle is based. Lillian Nordica writes interestingly in this number on "Aids to a Young Singer's Success" and Sibyl Sanderson "The Necessity of Caring for the Voice." The three articles will be of rare value to all who are interested in music. One very attractive feature is Walter Wellman's "Operating the United States Senate," which tells of the inner workings of that great political body. Some of Mr. Wellman's stories of the "dress rehearsals" in cloakrooms preceding a senatorial session are very amusing. Among other articles, is one by Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman in which she holds that the old-fashioned virtue of hospitality in America is declining. Dr. Orison Swett Marden, in a spirited editorial, pictures the evils resulting from not mastering one's moods. Charles F. Thwing tells of the embarrassments that arise from a deficient education, and Edward E. Higgins shows how money may be invested safely and profitably in business yentures. There is a host of other attractions, including a number of good short stories, among them being "Seeing Through Another's Eyes," by Howard Fielding; "Chasing the White Mail," by Cy Warman;

"The Whip Hand," by Samuel Mer-

A RULER'S TROUBLES

SULTAN OF TURKEY, WHO LEADS THE STRENUOUS LIFE.

Abdul Hamid Kept Busy by the Visit of Uncle Sam's War Ships and the Uprising In Macedonia-Rear Admiral Cotton.

.The visit of Rear Admiral Cotton to Beirut with the cruisers Brooklyn and San Francisco and the gunboat Machias for the purpose of investigating the murderous attack on Vice Consul William C. Magelssen will probably be sufficiently prolonged to enable Minister Leishman to press a definite settlement of a number of matters on which agreements were reached with the Turkish authorities last year.

It is felt in diplomatic circles that a demonstration of naval powers in Turkish waters at this time will be an eminently good thing for the dig-Fay Douglass drew a very pretty nity of the United States, the effect being the display to the sultan of the necessity for controlling his subjects when they are inclined to deeds against the officers and citizens of this nation.

> Beirut, on whose coast Admiral Cotton's ships are assembled, has long been a province of Syria and stretches along the Mediterranean coast from Jebel-el-Akra, south of the Droutes, to the Nahr Zerka, south of Mount Carmel, and extends from the Mediterranean to the Jordan. The chief town of the province, Beirut, the seat of the American consulate and where Magelssen was attacked, is the most important seaport in Syria. It is situated on the south side of St. George's bay, at the foot of Lebanon. Since the pacification of Lebanon, after the massacre of the Christians in 1860, the city of Beirut has greatly increased in extent and has become the center of the transit trade of Syria.

The revolution in Macedonia, which has been brewing for several years, has now assumed proportions of great magnitude, and a general insurrection has been proclaimed. Sarafoff, the Macedonian leader, claims that the revolutionary forces total about 15,000 men.

Rear Admiral Charles Stanhope Cotton, who commands the American squadron now in Syrian waters, is a native of Milwaukee and entered the Naval academy in 1858. In May, 1861, he was detailed for active duty in the civil war. He served on the St. Lawrence when she captured the Petrel and was on the Minnesota in the memorable action which ended in the battle between the Merrimac and the Monitor. He was on the Oneida at the battle of Mobile Bay.

During the war with Spain Admiral Cotton, then a captain, commanded the auxiliary cruiser Harvard and at the battle of Santiago rescued thirty-five Spanish officers and 637 men from the shore, where they had taken refuge from the sinking ships.

A WOMAN HUMORIST.

ot of fun. The average historical novel of the last few years has been absurd in its stilted language and its mock incredible feats. Miss Wells has carried these features to extremes and has jumbled together a plot, containing an adventure in every chapter; that makes an ordinary historical romance seem tame by contrast.

Miss Wells' humor-her quaint way of looking at commonplace things-is a natural gift. Her felicity of phrase has been, of course, in a large measure acquired. The great charm of her work lies in the fact that she is full of surprises. One never knows just what is coming next. She began writing in 1895, contributing to the magazines. Among her most popular works are "At the Sign of the Sphynx," "Folly In the Forest" and an "Anthology of Nonsense Rhymes." Miss Wells works easily and gathers the ideas for her jingles and stories from the most unexpected quarters; consequently she is very prolific. She insists that she is in no sense "literary." Her favorite word in either reading or writing is "non-

GREEK CHURCH IN RUSSIA.

Famous For Great Wealth and the Beauty of Its Cathedrals. The average tourist in Russia is likely to be astounded by the number and grandeur of the Greek churches and cathedrals which everywhere abound. In and about Moscow alone there are forty churches, monasteries and convents. Among these the cathedral of Ostankius is notable. It is a marvel of richness.

This cathedral is of white stone, built in the shape of a Greek cross. It has golden cupolas at its corners and a great dome in the center, all of which are covered with copper plated with gold. It took 900 pounds of gold leaf to plate the dome, and it is estimated that there is $1,000,000 worth of the precious metal upon it. The interior of the cathedral contains marbles and preclous stones costing $2,000,000, and there is $500,000 worth of sacred pictures within it.

St. Isaac's cathedral, St. Petersburg, cost about $20,000,000, and its gold dome is as large as that of the capitol at Washington. It took immense quantities of gold leaf to plate this mighty dome. Many other churches in the empire approach these in costliness and magnificence.

In Russia there are 87,000,000 Greek Catholics, and the revenues of the church are enormous. The money flows into its coffers in a steady stream, and the amount in the treasury is almost incomputable. Even the church itself does not know what it has.

The czar is the head of the church. He governs it through the holy synod, which meets at St. Petersburg. Nominally he appoints every officer in the church and can transfer and dismiss officers in many cases. In reality, however, he interferes but little in the church government, leaving everything to the procurator of the holy synod.

ROMANCER OF SCIENCE.

Jules Verne, Famous Author, Is Los ing His Eyesight.

Jules Verne, the famous French writer whose magic pen has charmed two generations of readers, is said to be nearly blind and in rapidly failing health. Last February he celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday, but until recently the author of "A Trip to the Moon," "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea" and a host of other books that will always be popular with boys of all ages has worked regularly Few writers have been more prolific. It was his custom to work every day from 8 to 12 o'clock, and no doubt it is due to this habit of regularity that he was enabled to turn out more than 100 books. They have not all been published, however.

It has been M. Verne's custom to spend his afternoons in reading, except when he had to attend to his duties as a municipal councilor of Amiens, where he has lived for many years. Long ago it became a habit of the great romancer of science to make copious notes of anything he thought might be useful to him in his works. After he had studied his notes he would set to work to think out a plot, and when he had satisfied himself in that direction he would start writing. He took a keen interest in his characters and practically lived with them until their history was finished.

M. Verne began his literary career as a dramatist and for thirteen years labored successfully in that field as a writer of comedies. It was not until 1863 that he published the first of the stories upon which his fame was to rest. This was "Five Weeks In a Balloon." Its immediate success induced him to continue in this direction, and the result was the widely read series of romances that have delighted the Jules Verne's books have been translated into many languages, even into Arabic and Japanese. Not caring for traveling, he naturally spent a good deal of his time reading about the countries he wished to describe. His chief amusement since youth has been yachting. He has a fine steam yacht, and his happiest days have been those spent on its decks.

The veteran story writer's wife is a highly cultured woman and is a great admirer of her husband's work. They are a devoted couple and a year ago celebrated their golden wedding. Two years ago M. Verne distinguished himself by declining a seat in the French academy for the second time.

AT SEAIN A WILD WIND

President- and Mrs. Roosevelt Have a Rough Time While on the Sylph.

WEATHER IS STRENUOUS ENOUGH

Even to Suit the Chief Magistrate-Wreck Is Seen from the Deck of the Yacht.

New York, Sept. 17. - President Soard of Review \ Amos Spaulding | Roosevelt is resting quietly after a day of strenuous and varied experiences. While en route from Oyster Bay to litt (of New Jersey). New York on the naval yacht Sylph he passed through a terrifying wind and rain storm, during which the vessel was in imminent danger. Subsequently he visited the immigration station on Ellis island, New York bay, and made a thorough inspection of the institution. After dining on the Sylph he went on the revenue tug Chamberlain to Jersey City, where he boarded a special train on the Pennsylvania railroad en route to the battlefield of Antietam. There today will occur the ceremonies incident to the dedication of the monument erected to the memory of New Jersey soldiers who fell in the civil war.

> Sylph Runs Into a Storm. Shortly after 10 a.m., nearly an hour later than had been arranged, President Roosevelt boarded the Sylph in Oyster I ay. He was accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and their son Kermit, and others. When the Sylph weighed anchor the skies were dark and forbidding, anl as the vessel drew out of the bay a light rain fell. Less than an hour after the Sylph had entered Long Island sound she ran into a terrific wind and rain storm. The storm increased in severity rapidly, and off Port Schuyler it developed into a hurricane. The wind blew, according to an estimate made by Lieutenant Preston, commander of the Sylph, at the rate of sixty-five miles an hour. President Has to Go Below

The Sylph, a comparatively small vessel, pitched heavily, and off Willetts Point listed very sharply to starboard. The president and his guests had been forced to go below, and beyond a drenching none of them suffered inconvenience. The storm became even more severe as the vessel neared Hell Gate. The waves and exposed to their force. The baggage of the party, consisting principally of hat boxes and dress suit cases, was swept about the deck and everything moveable on deck had to be clewed down to prevent its begin swept over-

TUG GOES DOWN IN THE GALE

Sylph Is Unable to Render Any Assistance to the Crew.

In Hell Gate, a quarter of a mile off the port bow of the Sylph, a tug boat having in tow a large three-mast--ed schooner was capsized by the wind and waves. She sank stern foremost. but did not settle completely out of sight Lodges and Society Meetings and Events | for perhaps five minutes. A small boat from the tug put off with the crew, except two men who clung to the bow until the vessel disappeared. It appeared from the Sylph that the two men were taken aboard the yawl. Lieu-Preston wished to stand by to render such assistance to the tug crew as he could, but Captain William H. Brainard, an experienced pilot who was at the wheel, declared it would be foolhardy for the Sylph to attempt a rescue in such a storm; that she almost certainly would be wrecked herself in the attempt.

President Roosevelt knew nothing of the capsizing of the tug boat until nearly an hour afterwards. He then expressed the wish that some assistance might have been rendered the crew. It was the expectation that Mrs. Roosevelt and some of the guests of the president could be landed at Twenty-third street, Mrs. Roosevelt desiring to pass the day in the city with relatives. Owing to the severity of the storm, which still was raging with furious energy, it was found impracticable to make a landing at that

The naval tug Powhattan, in command of Lieutenant Commander Homer C. Poundstone, ran alongside the Sylph. Commander Poundsfone suggested that a lanling be made at the Brookyln navy yard. Lieutenant Preston reported to the president the absolute impracticability of proceeding to Ellis Island in the face of the storm. He was supported in his judgment by Lieutenant Commander Poundstone, who megaphoned that it would be impossible to effect a landing at the island in such a gale.

A landing was, however, made at the Brooklyn navy yard, where Mrs. Roosevelt and come of the guests got off, and later, the storm having moderated the president paid his visit to Ellis island.

PRESIDENT SEES A SAD CASE

Will Probably Order the Release of a Woman and Three Children.

While on the island, which was nearly four hours, the president saw a sad case. As he was passing through the room in which women who had been excluded were being detained temporarily an elderly woman, learning in some way that the president was in the room, rushed toward him. She was restrained, and as the president passed fully. The president inquired about rived here safe.

Mobilization of Troops by Bulgaria Was Dictated by the Great Powers. London, Sept. 17.—The Sofia correspondent of The Times says the decision of the Bulgarian government to partially mobilize the army is universally approved. It is urged that the troops will be exclusively designed to close the frontier against the passage of insurgent bands, and that the step was resorted to in obedience to the dictates of the great powers.

The decision, therefore, should not offend Turkey's susceptibilities. It is estimated that 8,000 raiders are preparing to start into Macedonia or already assembled in the frontier districts of Kostendil and Dubnitza.

NEW LAWS FOR SCHOOLS

Recent Legislative Enactments Became Operative on Sept. 17.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 22. All the laws passed by the Michigan legislature at its last session which were not given immediate effect became effective Sept. 17.

A number of important measures deal with the public schools. One of the most important laws provides that any school district in the rural communities maintaining a school five months in each year and having therein children who have completed the studies of the eighth grade may vote an apnual tax for the purpose of paying the tuition and daily transportation of such children to any high school which the school board may

It is seldom that residing in rural districts, and where courtships formed in school result suitable high schools are accessible, to in marriage. The young soon be avoid the necessity of establishing come tired of each other. All courtraral high schools.

Another new law makes it possible riage in view. for the people in rural communities to increase the size of school districts, which were previously limited to nine sections of land, and consolidate several districts if desired, giving a larger taxing area and the opportunity to establish rural high schools. Other laws enacted will have a tendency to furnish new opportunities for the children of farmers to obtain a high school education.

has been taken by the enactment of a law amending the township unit law as it applies to the upper peninsula. Act No. 154 changes the time for the election of officers of township unit districts, providing that such elections shall be held on the first Monto the contests to such an extent as to call for a remedy.

In addition to a law providing for a state normal school in western Michigan, which has since been loand the granting of certificates and board of education, the purpose being to unify the work of the several students may go from one institution to another without loss of time in the course of study they may be pursuing, This law will result in making practically a normal school system for the state and will enable the several institutions of this character to do more effective work than they have in the past.

County training schools for rural teachers is another new idea in the Michigan educational plan. A new law provides that when the board of supervisors of any county and the establish a training class for rural instruction may give permission for the establishment of such a school.

A county normal board is constituted whose duty it is to arrange a course of study and grant certificates to teach to such students as satisfactorily complete the course. These certificates are to be valid in rural schools and in the grades only of graded schools. The expense of maintaining county training schools is to be borne by the state to the extent of $500 for each teacher employed, the balance of the expense to be borne equally by the county and the dis-

The building of new normal schools and the creation of training schools for teachers is a result of a scarcity of teachers in Michigan. It is exceedingly difficult to procure the services of competent teachers, notwithstanding all the efforts that have been put torth by the legislature and the officials of the state. The principal difficulty, it is believed, is with the local or district school boards, which do not as a rule pay adequate salaries, it being well-known that the salaries of teachers in Michigan are Dancing.

Menominee, Mich.,-"After twenty years' experience in the confessional I have come to some certain opinions on the question of dancing and courting among the young people. A most unusual case of adopting a baby, which the would-be mother claimed as her own, has just been brought to light in Detroit.

In reporting the case the Detroit News contains the following:

Stephen Baldwin, capitalist, became aware several days ago that there was an infant at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah O'Donnell, and that the claim was being made that the child was born to Mrs O'Donnell. it was quite a shock to the capitalist for the reason that if it were true the heiress would come into possession of property worth $20,000 which would otherwise revert to him on the death of Jeremiah O'Donnell, who held a life interest in it.

Inasmuch as Mrs. O'Donnell was 55 years old and Jeremiah O'Donnell was 60 years old, Stephen Baldwin was sus picious that a fraud was being attempted on him and he employed two private detectives to investigate. They worked on the case for some little time, but apparently made no progress, so Mr. Baldwin consulted Dr. J. B. Kennedy, of the health board, on the physiological proposi-

Priest Stops Courting and tion This was Wednesday morning. After investigation a confession of the fraud was procured and it was found the baby had been obtained at the House of Providence. Jeremiah O'Donnell is a quaint, odd character, well known about town as "Jerry" O'Donnell. The developments of the strange case show conclusively that he was not a party to the plot of his wife to divert his portion of the estate from Stephen Baldwin to the baby heiress.

When seen by The News reporter last night he was in his cups. He said in explanation of his condition that the trouble had driven him to drink. He bemoaned the act. of his wife in fooling him, saying:

Oh, to think that Mary would do such a thing! And me running up and down the stairs like a school boy, whistling like a lark, telling the neighbors the good news, and all the time it wasn't my child at all. Oh, wirra, wirra! but this is a sad awakening! What a fool I was entirely. To see me strutting about the streets disturb the work of the classes and you'd think that I was Mayor Maybury. I was as light as a feather, and didn't I run like a boy over to the grocery and tell the grocer to send over a wagonload of provisions, as I was the father of the cutest, brighest baby girl in the whole state of Michigan. I can get a divorce for that, can't I? I can prove that my wife And just as demoralizing is the was not the mother of my child. It was the first child I ever lost. Oh, wirra, wirra."

The Dinky Nag Helped the Innocent Farmer to Skin City Chaps.

Niles, Mich, Sept. 11 -All the sportsmen in this section turned out yesterday afternoon to witness one of the most interesting local turf events of recent years.

The farmers were regarded as the set out to make them mortgage their homesteads. But farmers remembered that six years ago Little Thorn, then at 2-year old, won races on almost every track in the country, when he was the property of the late J. DeLong, and that he was retired from the turf because he bled at the nose when hard pushed in a race. Little Thorn, was bred in old Kentucky and had a pedigree a mile long, but of this the boys about town were in ignorance.

Hundreds of people gathered in Chapin park yesterday afternoon to witness the race. From the start, Little Thorn made a show of his competitor, leading over the entire course and finishing in a gallop six lengths to the good.

The syndicate, it is said, will now go out of the racing business. The prize colt can be had at a bargainday price.—Detroit Journal.

FEMALE WEAKNESS

542 1-2 Congress St.

PORTLAND, MAINE, Oct. 17, 1902.

I consider Wine of Cardui superior to any doctor's medicine I ever used and I know whereof I speak. I suffered for nine months with suppressed menstruation which completely prostrated me. Pains would shoot through my back and sides and I would have blinding headaches. My limbs would swell up and I would feel so weak I could not stand up. I naturally felt could not stand up. I naturally felt discouraged for I seemed to be beyond the help of physicians, but Wine of Cardui came as a God-send to me. I felt a change for the better within a week. After nineteen days treatment I menstruated without suffering the agonies I usually did and soon became regular and without pain. Wine of Cardui is simply wonderful and I wish that all suffering women knew of its good qualities.

Treasurer, Portland Economic League

Periodical headaches tell of female weakness. Wine of Cardui cures permanently nineteen out of every twenty cases of irregular menses, bearing down pains or any female weakness. If you are discouraged and doctors have failed, that is the best reason in the world you should try Wine of Cardui now. Remember that headaches mean female weakness. WAGES AND COST OF LIVING

Comparisons Between Great Britain, Germany and the United States.

The question of wages and the cost of living, especially the price of food, which has figured so largely in the recent Chamberlain agitation, takes up pages and is summel up as follows: "The average level of wages in the United States is one-twelfth times greater than in the United Kingdom, while in Germany wages are only twothirds and in France three-fourth of the average prevailing in the United Kingdom." The percentage of family incomes, taking New York as the capital of the United States is estimated (on the basis of 100 per cent. for the United Kingdom) for the United States 123 per cent., for France 83 per cent. and for Germany 69 per cent.

. The mean weekly rate of wages in skilled trades in the United States is estimated at 179 per cent., and in the United Kingdom at 100 per cent. Members of Alfred Moseley's former commission supply a series of conflicting answers to questions anent the feeding and payment of American workers. The majority incline to the belief that, allowing for the conditions, there is from the United Kingdom. Dealing with the iron and steel trade, the board reports that employment has fallen off in the United Kingdom since the introduction of the United States tar-

Much attention is devoted to the tin plate industry and the effect of the Diugley and McKinley tariffs. The figures show that the total export of tin from the Unitel Kingdom has declined only a little over $5,000,000 since 1897, with a marked increase in the quantity produced and in the value of a number of mills since 1898.

Dealing exhaustively with the tariffs of all nations the blue books says the American system of drawbacks "necessarily results in inequality of treatment and may yield an export bounty to the best equipped manufacturers while others sustain a loss.'

Her son in New York instituted habeas corpus proceedings to secure the release of his mother and brothers, but the decision a few days ago was against him. President Roosevelt desired that the woman be brought to the commissioner's office, where he could personally investigate the case. After the facts had been developed the president announced that there could ard county. In England the dukedom is the highest dignity in the peerage. It was introduced by Edward III., who in 1337 created his eldest son, Edward the Black Prince, then Earl of Chester, Duke of Cornwall and subsequently Prince of Wales, when the dukedom merged into the principality and has ever since been vested in the heir apparent to the crown. A duke is styled "his grace" and is officially addressed by the crown as 'our right trusty and right entirely beloved cousin and councilor." Besides those of the royal family, there are in Great Britain twenty-two English, eight Scottish and two Irish dukes. The English dukes are, next to the peers of the royal blood and the archbishops of Canterbury and York, the first peers of the realm.

Of all the peeresses in England duchesses stand the highest. They are the only noblewomen who are addressed as "your grace," and as a general thing they stand very high at court, holding state positions in attendance upon the undeniable force in politics. She has been called the foremost woman in England, for she possesses great influence and is a factor in the stirring parliamentary life of the times.

But if her grace of Devonshire is the foremost duchess no one disputes the fact that the young Duchess of Marlborough is the most popular and interesting. She is besides the mistress of Blenheim castle, the most superb palace in England outside the residences of royalty.

Her grace of Marlborough, greatgranddaughter of Commodore Vanderbilt, bears also the titles of Baroness Spencer, Countess of Sutherland, Baroness Churchill, Countess of Marlborough, Princess of the Holy Roman Empire and Princess of Middleheim, in Suabla. The duchess is a great favorite at court and an intimate friend of Queen Alexandra. The queen has a great fondness for the charming young peeress who has so gracefully filled her lofty position. Miss Goelet, the coming Duchess of Roxburghe, is the only daughter of the late Ogden Goelet of New York. Her mother is a daughter of Richard T. Wilson, whose sons and daughters Wilson family is already allied to England through the marriage of Miss Belle Wilson to Sir Michael Henry Herbert, British ambassador at Washingten.

The coming Duchess of Roxburghe will be a worthy addition not only to the English duchesses of American birth, but to those who are English. She is good looking, vivacious in temperament and has a thorough knowledge of social life. Her immense fortune, estimated at over $20,000,000, will enable her to make the Roxburghe houses and castles centers of social life.

in that part of north Britain for upward of five centuries. The present duke is the eighth holder of the title, which was first conferred on one of his ancestors in 1707. His family name is Henry John Innes-Ker, and he succeeded to the title in 1892, when he was but sixteen years old. The duke is somewhat reserved and dignified in manner, good looking and well liked by those who know him.

The rent roll of the Duke of Roxburghe is estimated at about $250,000 a year, but the expense of keeping up the dignity of the dukedom has fallen heavily upon the family. During the years of her son's minority the Duchess of Roxburghe did something to build up the fortunes of the house, and since the death of the old duke the family has until recently practically lived in retirement at Broxmouth park, the chief seat, Floors castle being · The Duke of Roxburghe is the first cousin of the Duke of Marlborough, as his mother, the present duchess, was a sister of the late Duke of Marlborough.

The coming Duchess of Roxburghe will also be Countess of Innes, as the duke sits in the house of lords under the title of Earl of Innes. His dukedom is Scotch and as such is inferior in rank in England to those of Manchester and Marlborough, which are dukedoms of the United Kingdom. In addition to the above titles Roxburghe inherited the subsidiary honors of Marquis of Bowmont and Cessford, Earl of Roxburghe, Earl of Kelso, Viscount Broxmouth and Baron Ker. The marriage of the Duke of Roxburghe and Miss:Goelet will-take place in New York early in November, it is said, and will doubtless be one of the most notable social events that have occurred in this country in several years.
