Horses Left at Livery Barns in Place of Others

YOUNG MAN TRAVELER

Motive for Trading Horses is Not Known

On Friday evening about 6 o'clock a strange drove into the livery stable of W. D. House and put up his horse. He was a well appearing man, and went to Mrs. Crotser's boarding house where he remained over night. The next morning before Mr. House made his usual trip to Niles he discovered that the horse was very stiff, in fact unable to travel, he went to Mrs. Crotser's and informed the man, but he did not show up at the barn until Mr. House had gone to Niles when he came to the barn and said as he must drive to Niles he would leave his horse and harness and take one from the stable. He was given a little dapple gray pacer called "Trixy," he was to be back by 2 p. m. and when the time passed Mr. House began to suspect there was something wrong and began wiring all around, with the exception of Galien and that because there was no phone in that barn. Time passed and nothing was heard from horse or driver.

Sunday morning Mr. House and Dept. Sheriff Richards started to drive to Galien, when they got there they found about 20 men in front of the P. O. but on describing the horse no one had seen her. He went to the livery but it was closed and no one there so they drove on toward Three Oaks, where they met a man, and on describing the horse he said that such a horse was in the livery at Galien. When Three Oaks was reached Mr. House returned to Galien and Mr. Richards continued the chase.

When Mr. House returned to Galien he found his grey and harness which had been exchanged for liveryman Lyon's sorrel bob tail. Mr. Richards continued the pursuit having heard that the party was seen about 2 miles from New Buffalo at about 2 p. m. Saturday but up to present writing nothing has been heard from him, Mr. House returned home with his own horse and harness left. The stranger, while he exchanged horses and harness, kept the buggy. He claimed to be enlarging pictures and said in a few days there would be four or five others with horses and buggies and arranged with Mr. House to care for them. He was about 25 years of age and weighed about 140 pounds.

What his reasons are in his repeated exchanges are hard to determine.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1903.

We publish today a half tone of the new library building at Niles, loaned through the courtesy of the Niles Star.

Smiled on his Friends.

County Treas. W. W. McCracken, who has been spending a few days at his farm, made a run to Buchanan and smiled on his old friends. The boys all enjoy seeing the men of affairs when there is no electioneering going on, as well as when there is. Call again brother.

To the Members of the Christain Church Buchanan Mich.

Dear Brethren and Sisters.

The following letter was sent to the trustees of the church the latter part last week:

Buchanan, Mich., Sept. 25, 1903. To Solomon Wyrick, J. V. Voorhees and F. G. Lewis, trustees of the Christian church of Buchanan Mich.

Dear Brethren: With a view to settlement of the difficulties existing in the church, I wish to present to the congregation a proposal to submit the questions involved to arbitration; both parties to the contention to take part in choosing the arbitrators. The church is the place in which to make such proposition. I therefore request that you will unlock the doors, so that such a meeting can be called. Please inform me by mail or otherwise, as soon as possible, whether you will open the church to this end.

Yours truly and fraternally,
H. L. VEACH.

I hope the trustees will open the church and leave it open in order that the matter in contention may be amicably settled by arbitration, or in some other way that will meet the approval of all concerned so that harmony may rule and the work of the Lord be conducted as it should be.

I have not at any time during this trouble had any thing at heart save the welfare of the Lord's work.

Only to a reporter of the Niles Star have I given anything for publication, except notices of meetings, and I am not responsible for anything published by the Star or any other publication, except where the matter was in quotation marks or had my signature. I think it would be well for all editors to make parties in all such troubles place their names to articles, or else tell from what source the information was obtained, and where it is possible to do so, to place the words of the informant in quotation marks. This would many times make parties more careful in giving information, and would relieve editors of all suspicion of taking part in controversies.

It would have been an easy matter for me to have had a long article in each issue of our city papers concerning church troubles, but such affairs should be kept at home as far as possible. The church is the family of God, and as such, should treat its trials and difficulties as family affairs. I use the "RECORD" in this instance that I may speedily reach the members of the church; for it would be quite a task to reach them by personal visit, or personal letter through the mails.

With best wishes for the Lord's cause in Buchanan I remain yours truly and fraternally, and your humble servant,

H. L. VEACH.

Jolly Party.

About 25 of the ladies of the M. E. church formed a merry party on Friday and went to the pretty rural home of O. M. Tabor. A big dinner was served about noon, the table fairly groaning with good things, the party lingering long over the festive board. After dinner, the party visited the cave which is always an interesting place to the lover of the beautiful in nature.

The conveyance was made in five vehicles.

COUNTY JAIL IS TIPTOP.

Inspectors Put O. K. Mark on Collins' Department

"We find the county jail in tip top condition, in fact in better shape than it has been for years." This is the O. K. the jail inspectors put on Sheriff Collins' department of county affairs. The board of inspectors composed of Probate Judge Ellsworth, County Agent Whitehead and Charles Miller of St. Joseph, C. E. Badger of Bertrand and C. W. Bishop of Berrien Center, made their semi annual tour this morning.

The prisoners were all satisfied with the food, the bedding was in a clean and sanitary condition, in fact everything was up to snuff. The board will make recommendations to the board of supervisors asking that a steel ceiling take the place of the tin which opened the way for escape to Johnny Smith. Since the last visit the board find that 236 prisoners have been held in confinement for charges ranging from murder to drunk.—Benton Harbor News.

Andrew Jackson's Hermitage

THE restoration of The Hermitage, the historic home of Andrew Jackson, twice president of the United States and hero of the battle of New Orleans, is of more than passing interest, awakening as it does memories of the troublous times of the British-American war of 1812.

It is entirely through the efforts of the Ladies' Hermitage association of Nashville that The Hermitage has been restored to the condition in which it was at the death of the general in 1845. The beautiful grounds, with their velvet lawns and big trees; the wide driveways along which coaches rolled to the door of the mansion, all are unchanged, and, in addition, the furniture, mementos and trophies that were collected by the great Tennessean during his eventful life are once more installed in their accustomed places. Everything is just as it was when "Old Hickory" lived and moved amid the scenes from which he so long ago departed.

While The Hermitage and its surrounding grounds have long been the property of the state of Tennessee, it is only recently that the furniture and other relics which were associated with the old soldier have been returned in their entirety to their former abode. The state's first object in buying the house from Andrew Jackson, Jr., the adopted son of "Old Hickory," was to present it to the United States government for a branch of the Military academy at West Point. The breaking out of the civil war prevented the consummation of this plan.

Until recently little had been done in regard to the collection of relics of General Jackson until a rumor got abroad that Colonel Andrew Jackson III. had decided to sell the furniture and other mementos of his grandsire to a New Englander. Then the state rose up in opposition, and under the leadership of the Ladies' Hermitage association $25,000 was raised and the whole collection purchased and placed in the old homestead.

The original Hermitage, built in 1804, was a log house, a part of which is still standing. To this Jackson removed from Hunter's Hill. The structure was a two story block house, not celled, and contained three rooms, one on the ground floor, two above. To this building was added a smaller one about twenty feet from the main structure, to which it was connected by a covered passage. Aaron Burr was entertained there in 1805.

General Jackson lived in the log house at the time the battle of New Orleans was fought, returning to his humble home a "conquering hero" and the ideal of the nation. He was entirely satisfied with his log residence and built the new mansion in 1819 solely out of regard for his wife. It was a grand mansion for its day, by far the most imposing residence in the vicinity, and was constructed of brick made on the place. The general refused to have the log house torn down.

At that time The Hermitage farm comprised 1,000 acres, 400 acres cleared and under cultivation and the remainder principally covered with forest.

Home of the Hero of New Orleans Completely Restored. To Be Reproduced at the St. Louis World's Fair

The new home was spaciouly built in the colonial style, and when it was finished many distinguished persons of the land went in and out of the wide doorways. The Marquis de Lafayette found a warm welcome there and tasted the sweetness of southern hospitality. "Old Hickory," whose character for honesty was no less renowned than that of Washington, had the same warm friendship for his foreign guest and felt that The Hermitage was honored by the presence of the great Frenchman.

The Jacksons had no children of their own, so they adopted the infant son of Mrs. Jackson's brother, and as Andrew Jackson, Jr., he became the son and heir of The Hermitage and its possessions.

In 1856 the state of Tennessee bought The Hermitage farm of 500 acres from Andrew Jackson, Jr., for $48,000. This adopted son and his family, who left The Hermitage after the sale, returned in 1868 on request of Governor Isham G. Harris and became the custodians of the property. The family of Andrew Jackson, Jr., remained at The Hermitage during the civil war, and Jackson died there in 1865. Mrs. Jackson was permitted to remain on the place a tenant at will, and she died there in 1888. Colonel Andrew Jackson III., son of Andrew Jackson, Jr., was a colonel of artillery in the Confederate army. He inherited the household furniture, mementos and relics of President Andrew Jackson, which have recently been acquired by the Ladies' Hermitage association.

Just as Andrew Jackson was completing his second term as president The Hermitage was burned to the ground. When he returned to Tennessee to take up his life as a private citizen after eight years of stirring political life he rebuilt the house on the same site, and as it was erected almost seventy years ago it stands today. The architectural style is colonial, with large verandas both front and back.

In 1889 the Tennessee legislature chartered the Ladies' Hermitage association and conveyed to it, through a board of trustees, the house, tomb, all outhouses and twenty-five surrounding acres to "preserve, beautify and adorn, throughout all coming years, in a manner most befitting the memory of that great man and commensurate with the gratitude of his countrymen." To this association the gathering of the relics in The Hermitage is due.

The Hermitage is filled from top to bottom with the general's treasures. One of the most curious is a stage-coach used by Jackson when he lived at the White House. There is also the skeleton of a phaeton, all that is left of the beautiful vehicle presented to General Jackson by the Democratic-Republican citizens of Philadelphia. The phaeton was made from timber taken from the old frigate Constitution.

Jackson's room is almost exactly as it was the day he died. The furniture he used is all there. It consists of a bedstead, bureau, wardrobe, washstand with six china pieces, table, chairs, sofa, carpets, curtains, irons and fender, mirror, brass candlestick and pictures on the walls. One of the most highly prized of the Jackson mementos is the Decatur-Jackson silver, purchased by the general from the widow of Commodore Decatur and constantly used at The Hermitage.

Visitors to the St. Louis world's fair will have an opportunity to see a facsimile of The Hermitage, as it will be exactly reproduced in Tennessee's state building on the plateau of states at the exposition. All of the furniture and treasured relics will be removed from the original Hermitage to its counterpart at St. Louis.

In the garden surrounding The Hermitage stands the simple marble tomb that guards the remains of General Jackson and his wife. This has been restored to its original beauty by the Ladies' Hermitage association. In his will General Jackson gave his tomb to the state of Tennessee. It consists of a simple shaft surmounted by a canopy.

CIVIL LAW SUPREME

Military at Cripple Creek Must Release the Arrested Leading of the Striko.

HISTORY OF A NOTABLE CASE

Strikes at New York Cause Hardship —Parks' Complete Victory at Kansas City.

Cripple Creek, Colo., Sept. 25.—Judge William P. Seeds, of the district court, decided against the military authorities in the habeas corpus case of Sherman Parker and three others who have been held prisoners by the military for about two weeks without warrants, and with no formal charges against them. General John Chase, in command of the troops, declined to recognize the authority of the court until ordered by the governor to do so. It is learned, however, that Governor Peabody has instructed Adjutant General Bell, who is in Cripple Creek, to issue an order to General Chase to turn over all prisoners to the civil authorities hereafter.

Grounds of the Judge's Decision.

Judge Seeds said that he could not subscribe to the doctrine advanced by the respondent, that the military was supreme and not amenable to the court, because to do so would mean to overthrow free government and substitute a monarchy. The court said that the question involved was: Does the executive order calling troops constitute a justification of the arrest? He held that civil law had not been overthrown in Teller county, and no evidence had been presented that lawbreakers would not be prosecuted and punished by the civil authorities.

History of the Case.

A strike of the union miners was ordered at Cripple Creek about the middle of August by the Western Federation of Miners in support of millmen at Colorado City and other points who had for a long time been contending for an eight-hour day. The mine owners, alleging that a large percentage of the men desired to work if protection was assured, called upon Governor Peabody for troops, although the civil authorities of Cripple Creek denied the necessity for such a course. The governor, however, decided that troops were needed, and on Sept. 4 ordered almost the entire National Guard of the state, about 1,000 men, to the district, under command of Brigadier General Chase.

Court's Jurisdiction Was Disputed.

Since that time several prominent members of the miners' union, including all the members of the executive committee which had the strike in charge, have been arrested without warrant and held in the guard house. Habeas corpus proceedings were begun in their behalf last week. General Chase and his legal advisers held that though martial law had not been formally declared it was really put in force by the order issued by the governor directing the troops to maintain order, and that therefore the civil court had no jurisdiction.

NEW YORK STRIKE EFFECTS

Summer Idleness Said to Have Produced Conditions of Destitution.

New York, Sept. 25.—Following an extended inquiry in the great centers of population on the east and west sides of Manhattan borough of this city, where thousands of toilers reside, The Evening Post publishes an article asserting that the summer strikes have brought deprivation and want to many workers and seriously injured the trade of the small shop keepers. The article says in part: "During the summer there had been many protests against the condition of trade, owing perhaps to the fact that the past summer was exceptional in the matter of weather, and business therefore not of normal character. But the quest developed the information that on both sides of the city the strikes which have called a halt in the construction of many buildings, which have kept iron mills idle and left the stone mason and the housemith dependent upon their unions for support, have played havoc with the trade of the small dealers. "In the list of small dealers are to be found the butcher, the baker, the tobacconist, the dry goods dealer, the druggist and the keeper of the laundry. The quick lunch man has suffered through the cessation of work amongst those who were his patrons. In many cases it was not possible to obtain details of the decrease of business, as tradesmen seemed unwilling to admit that they had suffered."

COMPLETE TRIUMPH OF PARKS

His Whole Delegation Admitted to the Kansas City Convention.
 Kansas City, Sept. 25.—When the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers resumed its session in the annual convention it was again behind closed doors. As soon as the convention was called to order a fight was started on Joseph A. Mulaney, a Parks follower, and a heated discussion ensued. "We will let the convention fight it out themselves," said Delegate Parks, and he voluntarily left the hall, followed by his associates from New York. After the matter had been threshed over thoroughly, the entire New York delegation, including Mulaney, was seated and it re-entered the convention. Mulaney is a member of union No. 46 of New York city, and a particular friend of Parks. His being seated made the victory of the Parks crowd complete.

 A dispatch from New York was read to Parks, stating that Justice Blanchard, in the supreme court, had denied Parks' motion for a change of venue in the extortion case. Parks would only say: "Really, I am glad of it. I would rather fight the case out in New York city."
 Sam Parks and his followers are now practically in control of the convention. The delegates after much discussion voted to allow the inside shopmen to join the association. This action will more than double the membership of the International Association. It is generally believed by the delegates that President Buchanan will be defeated if he allows his name to go before the convention for re-election.

HOLD-UP WAS BAFFLED

By a Well-Directed Shot from the Express Car Which Killed a Thug.
 LaGrange, Ore., Sept. 25.—Express Messenger Fred Korner's story of the attempted hold-up, told upon the arrival of the train here, follows: "When the three masked robbers compelled Engineer Barrett and Fireman Stevenson to stop the train I saw them and told my helper to turn out the lights. I took my stand in the rear-end of the car and waited with shot-gun in hand. I slid back the cage door on the side of the car and watched the robbers. "The explosion did little damage. I slid the door open enough to get my shoulder out and took aim at one of the masked men. I fired, knocking down my man. The engineer yelled that he was hit. The robbers ran. I helped the engineer back the engine and the train proceeded with but twenty minutes delay."
 It seems that Barrett was standing directly behind the robber who was killed, and caught one of the buckshot. He will recover.

GEORGE DAILY'S FIT OF RAGE

Tries to Kill Others, Applies the Torch and Then Blows His Own Head Off.
 Oconomowoc, Wis., Sept. 25.—In a fit of rage because his wife had left him George Daily blew off the top of his head with a double-barreled shotgun. Daily went to the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Horace Kellogg, where his wife is staying, and being refused admittance, fired two shots at Clifford Kellogg, his brother-in-law, wounding him in the foot.
 He then returned home, applied the torch to both his house and barn and, waving his shotgun, ordered the firemen off the premises. After holding the crowd at bay for over an hour Daily retired to a room on the upper floor of the dwelling and, placing the gun muzzle to his mouth, ended his life.

INHERITED DEGENERACY

German Doctor Says It Is Increasing in Europe and That Alcohol Is the Cause.
 Berlin, Sept. 25.—At the meeting of the congress at Cassel Dr. Moritz, of Alsberg, speaking on inherited degeneracy through social influences, asserted that degeneracy in European countries is spreading and is shown by a decrease of physical resistance and a tendency to illness and weakness. Alcoholism he declared to be the chief cause of inherited degeneracy, to cure which alcoholism must be wiped out, and he suggested that a legal certificate of health should be required before a person is allowed to marry.

Deadly Gases Kill Two.

Oil City, Pa., Sept. 25.—Deadly gases in the bottom of a thirty-foot well at the Day Chemical works at Westline, Pa., caused two deaths, and several other men had narrow escapes from sharing the same fate. The dead men are Archie Jones and A. D. Putnam.

Inference as to Lord Milner.

London, Sept. 25.—A king's messenger who was sent to Lord Milner, who is at Carlsbad, has returned to London with an answer, and as no announcement was made it is inferred that Lord Milner has declined to accept the portfolio of the colonies.

Spreading Rails Kill a Man.

St. Louis, Sept. 25.—By the spreading of a rail on the Missouri Pacific railroad, just west of St. Louis, an east-bound freight train was wrecked, resulting in the death of James Willis, passenger engineer, of Sedalia, Mo. Three other persons were injured.

No Post Season Series.

Milwaukee, Sept. 25.—Henry Killien, owner of the Boston American League base ball team, has declared off the proposed series of games between his Boston and the Pittsburgh team of the National League.

LOCKED ALL DAY

Elder Veach Did not Preach on the Christian Church Steps Sunday

CHANGE IN THE WEATHER

Caused Change in the Program for the Day.

As announced in the village papers last week the services of the Christian church were held at the home of Elder Veach.

The morning service which was to have been held on the church steps provided the church was locked, was also held at the parsonage because the rain of Saturday caused a decided cooling of the atmosphere.

Sunday of last week after the services on the church steps, the door being opened, Elder Veach went into the church and took charge of his Sunday school class as usual, but last Sunday the doors were not opened even for Sunday school or Christian Endeavor in the evening.

All of the services were held at the parsonage, about thirty being present in the morning and about 20 in the evening. It looks as if the fight was to be a finish, even though the church has to be sacrificed. The future alone will reveal which side will be willing to yield.

Write Them a Letter Tonight.

Don't go to the theater, concert or ball, But stay in your room tonight, Deny yourself to the friends that call And a good long letter write. Write to the old folks at home, Who sit when the day is done With folded hands and downcast eyes, And think of the absent one.

Don't selfishly scribble: "Excuse my haste, I've scarcely time to write," Lest their drooping thoughts go wandering back

To many a bygone night When they lost their needed sleep and rest, And every breath was a prayer That God would leave their delicate babe To their tender care.

Don't let them feel you have no more need Of their love or counsel wise; For the heart grows strangely sensitive When age has dimmed the eyes. It might be well to let them believe You never forget them quite, That you deem it a pleasure when far away Long letters home to write.

Don't think that the young and giddy friends Who make your pastime gay Have half the anxious thought for you That the old folks have today. The duty of writing do not put off; Let sleep or pleasure wait, Lest the letters for which they looked and longed Be a day or an hour too late.

For the sad old folks at home, With locks fast turning white, Are longing to hear from the absent one— Write them a letter tonight.

TOBACCO THE CAUSE

Of Three Young Men's Breaking Into Mr. Leight's Store at Leighton Mich.

Sunday at about 1 o'clock p. m. three young men, of Benton Harbor, named Ray Miller, Lew Pike and Eddie Merfield were tramping their way from South Bend to Benton Harbor. The desire for some tobacco became stronger than their sense of right, and as they neared Leighton on the P. M. R. R. they concluded to get some by getting into Mr. Leight's store.

They were seen by Clifford Rupert, who lives across the way, who gave chase and caught Ray Miller; the others got away and were arrested at Benton Harbor.

The one arrested gave his name as Ray Miller; he was brought to Buchanan by Wallace Dunbar, who handed him over to Constable Clint McCollum, who will take him to St. Joseph.

The young man has not a bad face and your reporter in conversation with him, found him frank and willing to tell just the conditions. He said as they were going along from South Bend to Benton Harbor, they came to Mr. Leight's store, when one of them suggested they go to the store and ask for some tobacco, but finally decided they would not get it by asking, so decided to help themselves. He said he warned the others against doing so, that the people at the house near by would see them; but they persisted in doing it and began to cut the putty from the window pane while he sat on the front step. He said he saw a man coming and looked in and saw the others getting tobacco from the shelves. He ran to the window and held it up to let them out, and all ran together.

After running some distance he told the others that as he was not guilty of stealing, he would run no further and therefore fell into the hands of the pursuers.

FIFTY DOLLARS MISSING

Nightwatchman Byron Brant Robbed on Sunday.

While taking his usual daily sleep after the labors of the night in his rounds at nightwatching, Byron Brant's house was entered by thieves on Sunday, who stole $50 and made good their escape.

The matter was reported to Sheriff Collins, who thinks a young colored man if he could be found would throw some light on the matter.

M. V. BEIGER DEAD

Wealthy, Mishawaka Man Dies From Appendicitis.

Last week M. V. Beiger, the principal stockholder of the Mishawaka Felt Boot Company, and its president, was taken to Epworth Hospital at South Bend to be operated upon for appendicitis, on Saturday death resulted.

He was one of the wealthiest men of affairs in that city. He was a brother of Daniel Beiger, who died recently under almost the same circumstances, having been ill with appendicitis only a short time.

SLICK AND SMOOTH

Stranger Borrows Money on Sewing Machines, Under False Pretenses

LEAVES TOWN SUDDENLY

Money and Board Bill Left Unpaid— Their Present Location Unknown.

For about five weeks two men and a young lady, have been in Buchanan repairing sewing machines for the women of the village and surrounding country. They gave their names as Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Lapard, and E. Booth, and claimed they were the Guarantee Sewing machine Co., of Chicago, whose cards they gave to their customers with the orders for repairs. The work was usually done for about $1.25 or $1.50 for each machine, at least that was the agreement that was made when the work was solicited, but when it was delivered a bill for $4.50 or $4.75 would be presented as the delivery was usually made through the express company, the goods being sent C. O. D.

After two or three women near Baroda had thus been imposed on, their husbands came to Buchanan to have the men arrested. In the meantime Messrs Booth and Lapard, by their smooth talk and plausible pledges had got an advance of $15.00 from Mr. Rudd, who has a real estate and insurance office on Main street, they turning over to him $37.50 in orders, which he was to have when he delivered the machines to the owners.

When the first delivery was made and a bill for $4.50 was presented the owner of the machine refused to pay more than the $1.25 which had been agreed upon when the machine was taken for repairs.

Mr. John Beams, who was delivering the machines for Mr. Rudd, immediately returned to town, and the latter proceeded to secure warrants for the arrest of the two men. He found the gentlemen on the street, asked Marshall Join Camp to keep his eye on them till he secured the warrant. Camp followed them to their repair rooms in the Culver building on Day's Ave., watched them enter and waited outside for Mr. Rudd to return. In the meantime the men left via the back door and made good their escape. Thus far no trace has been seen of them. They left an unpaid board bill at the restaurant.

As Others See it.

WAS BROTHER VEACH JUSTIFIED? The row in the Christian church at Buchanan has now surrounded itself about dogma and doctrine. Pastor Veach explains that he didn't care because a couple in his church sent for former Pastor Black to marry them but when the former pastor got into the pulpit and declared: First, That Samuel Hadley, a penitent sinner was instructed to pray; second, that the result of that prayer was that Hadley knew he was pardoned; third, that God worked a miracle by giving Hadley a new stomach for one destroyed by liquor; it was too much for brother Veach and he denounced the story of the Hadley conversation. Brother Veach claims that such a conversation is not taught in the scripture.

Perhaps brother Veach was justified in his remarks and perhaps he might have used a little better judgment. The doctrine taught by Rev. Black was not one that would injure the church or the people and if wrong the worst effect would be that it might cause some other erring brother to pray, and pray as a usual thing does not bring downfall to anyone. At least Brother Veach might have asked for the personal testimony of Sam Hadley on the subject.

Any person who can spare some old white rags, old sheets, pillow cases, etc., will do a good act by leaving them at the Record office. They will be used for a sick person who needs them very much.

There is more Catarrah in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrah to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrah Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional care on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case if fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address - F. J. Our Return to Nature.

The future historian of American life and manners for the closing decades of the nineteenth and the beginning of the twentieth century will find an interesting theme in the renaissance of natural history, or the return to nature, which marks a distinct epoch.

If a desire for country life has followed the congestion of population in cities, the increase in wealth, and the wonderful improvements in transportation, there has also grown up in America a genuine sympathy for animals and an intelligent desire for knowledge in every department of out-door nature. This awakening has been attended by renewed interest in the relation of living beings to one another and to their surroundings, as well as by the interest in the habits, behavior, and intelligence of animals on the part of both layman and specialist.—October Century

Pickeral Jumped Into Three States.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—The rock that marks the boundary lines of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey lies in the Delaware river. On that rock the lines come together so that one may spread three fingers of his hand and have a finger in each of those states and in the counties of Orange, New York; Pike, Pennsylvania and Sussex, New Jersey.

Floyd Campbell went swimming in the river off Tri-States Rock, and after swimming awhile he got upon the rock to sun himself. As he lay there, his head in Pennsylvania, his right foot in New York state and his left in New Jersey, he saw a commotion in the water on the New York side of the rock.

The commotion came rapidly toward the rock and culminated in the breaking from the water of a sunfish with a big pickerel in its wake. The terror-stricken sunfish's rush to escape its savage pursuer took it a foot or more beyond the edge of the water on the sloping side of the rock. The pickerel in fierce pursuit, followed the sunfish and the impetus of its charge carried it clear through New Jersey and halfway across Pennsylvania, where it stopped.

The sunfish instantly flopped back into the water. If the pickerel had been content to go on either into the water on the Pennsylvania side of the rock or the New Jersey side it would have saved itself, but it turned on the rock and began flopping back into the New York water.

That move was fatal. Campbell recovered from his surprise, rose to a sitting posture and ran for the pickerel. His middle finger ran under the gills of the fish and stopped it where it was. As it lay captured its position was such that it covered part of three states and three counties. It weighed nearly three pounds.—Grand Rapids Herald.

Pleasant Tea Party.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnhurst entertained a number of friends at their home, in honor of their guests, Rev. Eastman and his bride, of Clyde, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold.

A three course tea was served at a beautifully decorated table Green and white were the prevailing colors, smilax and roses being used for the flowers, ribbons and crepe paper adding to the beauty of the dining room.

At the close of the supper, from a suspended basket of flowers the guests drew by means of ribbons, a conundrum or an answer, and much merriment was experienced in matching them. Pretty souvenirs were given each guest before leaving the dining room.

The evening was spent with music and finch, and those present pronounced it a very enjoyable occasion.

"I don't think we could keep house without Theford's Black-Draught. We have used it in the family for over two years with the best of results. I have not had a doctor in the house for that length of time. It is a doctor in itself and always ready to make a person well and happy."—JAMES HALL, Jacksonville, Ill.

The no-breakfast fad illustrates the fatal and foolish tendency of humanity to go from one extreme to another. If we have over eaten, or overdrunk, let us not eat or drink at all. If we have been hogs, let us be angels. People without a sense of moderation and avoidance of extremism who have gorged themselves with animal food feel that they must be vegetarians. No breakfast is their latest reaction, says American Medicine. To the do-nothings and the fussers-about-themselves all this nonsense may do harm, but for people who work with muscle or brain the faddism can do nothing but injury.—Exchange.

THE TURK A FIGHTER

WHY THE SOLDIERS OF THE SULTAN ARE MIGHTY IN WAR.

All Are Moslems and Fanatic In Their Faith—Interesting Career of Edhem Pasha, Commander In Chief of the Turkish Troops in Macedonia.

The celebrity with which the Turkish government has just mobilized a mighty army in Macedonia and the ferocity displayed by the Moslem soldiers against the Christians of Monastir go far to prove that the popular opinion that Turkey is the weakling of Europe is not borne out by the facts.

On previous occasions the sultan has displayed an ability to raise a large army on short notice and with small expenditure of money that is not equalled by any other European ruler. This is due to the fact that every male Moslem over twenty years of age in the sultan's dominions is liable to be called upon at any time to shoulder his rifle and go forth to fight against the unbelievers.

The Turkish army has often been ridiculed, but rarely by a nation that has faced it in battle. Taken as a whole, it is far more formidable as a fighting machine than seems possible when its administration is considered. This is rotten to the core, but the rank and file are the peers of any soldiers when it comes to real war. They are patient, brave, easily subject to discipline and obey the orders of their officers implicitly. Though clothed in rags and with little to eat, they march and fight uncomplainingly.

None but Moslems are allowed in the sultan's army—each must be and is a true believer. The secret of their faithfulness is to be found in their fanaticism, for they still use the old war cry that aroused the followers of Mohammed, who said, "When ye encounter the unbelievers strike off their heads until ye have made great slaughter among them." And that is what the Turks are doing to the Christians in Macedonia today. They are striking off heads and sparing none, satisfied that they are obeying the behest of the prophet.

In recent years the valor of the Turkish soldier has repeatedly been proved against the Russians and the Greeks. In the Greco-Turkish war the Greeks fought bravely at first, but soon became demoralized at the undaunted front always presented by the Turks, and finally fled whenever they approached. Many of the veterans who confronted the Greeks are now in Macedonia, and they have the same old commander, Edhem Pasha, who has proved his skill, courage and brutality on many a bloody field.

Edhem Pasha, commander in chief of the Turkish forces in Macedonia, is a veteran soldier and as long ago as the siege of Plevna he held command of the renowned Givritza redoubt, before which so many thousands of brave Russians and Roumanians fell. Since that time he has filled many important positions in the Turkish government and was commander in chief of the Turkish forces during the war with Greece. In appearance Edhem Pasha is rather unlike the typical Turk, but he is credited by his staff with possessing great determination and enjoys the confidence of his officers and men.

The Turkish commander has an interesting history. He is of Greek origin and Christian parentage and was born on the island of Chio, in the Aegean sea. While he was still a child the Turkish garrison was driven out of the island, but the Turks returned in force and ravaged Chio for weeks. More than 23,000 men, women and children were killed, and 47,000 were sold into slavery. Edhem Pasha's parents were among the killed, and he was sold to a Turkish general, who took him to Constantinople.

His master gave him his liberty and sent him to Paris to be educated. After eight years spent in study and travel he returned to Constantinople and was appointed a captain on the general staff. For a time he was adjutant to the sultan, and later a number of important political missions were intrusted to him. He has at various times been a member of the council of state, minister of the interior and minister of foreign affairs. He has also represented his country at the courts of Berlin and Vienna.

Edhem Pasha has always shown great hatred toward foreigners and against Christians. At the peace conference at the end of the Russian-Turkish war he was the last of the Turkish ministers to give his consent to the final settlement of hostilities. He has always been an enthusiastic Moslem and was a zealous member of the Young Turkish party, which proclaimed the greatness of Islam and Turkey for the Turks. It is interesting to note that Edhem Pasha's brother, who died several years ago, was for many years a Catholic priest in Constantinople.

A PRINCESS' TROUBLES.

Why the Roman Nobility Refuses to Recognize the Rospigliosis.

Princess Rospigliosi of Rome, formerly Mrs. Frederick Hale Parkhurst of Bangor, Me., who has just obtained a postponement of her matrimonial case now pending before the Vatican congregational council, is endeavoring to obtain more documentary evidence from America proving that her marriage with Mr. Parkhurst was null and void.

The case is one of the most famous which have ever come before the Roman church, involving a large sum of money, the ownership of several landed estates, one of the most ancient titles in Rome and the good standing of one of the most noted families in Italy, a family which gave a pope to the church in the person of Clement X.

Others concerned in the outcome of the trial are the princess' daughter, born last year; Signor Camille Rospigliosi, head of the pope's noble guard, and his son, who married Miss Brouson of New York. The princess has been legally married according to the laws of Italy, but the ladies of high Roman society have declined to receive her on the ground that her marriage has not yet been recognized by the church.

Princess Rospigliosi, when she was Miss Marie Jennings Reid, was married to Colonel Frederick H. Parkhurst of Bangor, Me. She was a Catholic and he a Protestant. The princess and her lawyers set up the claim that, as her first husband was never baptized, the marriage was invalid according to the laws of the Catholic church.

In 1898 the Parkhursts were divorced, and in 1901 Mrs. Parkhurst was married in Rome to Prince Joseph Rospigliosi, whom she first met at Bar Harbor. The ceremony was a civil one, and from the first the Catholic church refused to recognize it, the laws of the church forbidding the marriage of divorced persons. The church authorities even went so far as to prohibit a sister of a Catholic order from attending the princess as a nurse.

fore her marriage was the Duchess Elizabeth of Bavaria. If the little prince survives his father and old King Leopold he will one day rule over the Belgians.

A PUBLIC FAVORITE.

Maude Adams, Who Is to Reappear on the Stage in a New Play.

Miss Maude Adams, the talented actress, who is to return to the stage after a year's absence spent in rest and study, will make her reappearance in a new play soon to be produced in Syracuse under the management of Charles Frohman.

Maude Adams has attained an extraordinary eminence in her profession considering her years. There is probably no other instance in the history of the stage where an actor or actress has achieved such success and made so great a reputation for true artistic work while still in the twenties.

Her first appearance on the stage was made when she was scarcely more than an infant. Her mother was a member of the J. K. Emmett company.

then rehearsing "Fritz" in San Francisco. They were having a great deal of trouble with the child's part.

Three days before the opening night not a child had been found to play the part. Mrs. Gertrude Hart, a member of the company, said, "Let Maude go on."

Maude learned the part of Little Fritz in an hour. She thought acting great fun. In fact it was so much fun that she quite forgot herself and leaped out of the mill wheel and interrupted Mrs. Hart in one of the scenes. "Aunt Girty," she called, "is it time for me to trem?" (scream.)

When John Drew blossomed forth as a star Miss Adams, who up to that time had played ingenue roles, was engaged as leading woman. Her association with Drew is familiar to all theater goers. Her parts in "Rosemary," "The Masked Ball," "The Butterflies" and other plays being pleasant memories.

Later, as a star herself, she was notably successful in "The Little Minister," J. M. Barrie's play; "L'Aiglon," by Edmond Rostand, and "Quality Street," also by Barrie.

Charles Frohman tells how the casting of Miss Adams for Lady Babbie came about. For some time Mr. Frohman had been trying to secure a dramatization of "The Little Minister," but Barrie was of the opinion "that it was impossible to find a play in it." Some time afterward the Scotch author was in this country and while here saw Miss Adams in "Rosemary." Hurrying to Mr. Frohman's office, he exclaimed: "Mr. Frohman, I have seen my Lady Babbie. If you will let me have Miss Adams for the role I will dramatize 'The Little Minister.'"
