SERVICES IN THE BUILDING

All Day Sunday—Electric Light Wires
Cut and Repaired.

A notice in the post office Saturday read as follows: The Christian church will be open tomorrow, Oct. 4, for all regular services.

H. L. VEACH, Minister.

Inquiry revealed that the court on Friday issued an injunction which restrains the trustees of the Christian church from preventing Henry L. Veach from entering the church and conducting services there, as minister and pastor; also restrains the trustees from preventing the complainant and other members from attending the meeting; also restraining them from interfering with H. L. Veach's occupying the church parsonage.

The above order was served on the trustees of the church Saturday morning.

The trustees did not open the church but a screw driver and the removal of a few screws from the hinges of a door opening into a small apartment adjoining the church, afforded a sure way into the church, when the opening of the front doors was only a matter of drawing an upper and lower bolt, when the bell pealed out the notes of victory.

A goodly number of the pastor's supporters assembled and the services were held throughout the entire day without any molestation whatever. When evening came it was discovered that there were no electric lights. Lamps from the neighborhood were soon secured and the meeting of the Endeavorers proceeded, while investigation revealed that some one had ordered the electric light company, on Saturday, to cut the wires.

Soon Emory Schreiber was on the scene and quickly mounting the pole, in a surprising short time had repaired the wires and once more the light shone forth in the church and the remainder of the services were passed without any trouble.

Record Windows

A passer by was heard to remark a few days ago, "Is this a county fair?" and indeed the window looked like it, for there were vegetables and fruits galore.

Two immense squashes, one a brilliantly striped crooked neck and one a hubbard, displayed by Jacob Miller, a close neighbor is a beet, weighing 6 lbs., from Dr. Colvin's garden; close beside this is a peach measuring 11 inches in circumference, grown on a seedling tree owned by Harry Perrott. A short distance away are two immense mangoes from a bit of a garden cared for by Fleda Mittan. An unusually large egg plant grown by Frank Stryker occupies a conspicuous place. Two large branches with ripe red raspberries, one exhibited by Elder Veach, the other by Joseph Knight complete the exhibition.

Beautiful Birthday Gathering.

Harold Steel, aged three years son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Steel Chicago Street, had a beautiful anniversary party on his third birthday. October 2 from 2 to 4 p. m.

There were 14 guests present, ranging from 3 to 4 years of age. The time was spent very pleasantly by all, a number of the guests gave recitations which were greatly enjoyed by all present. One of the features enjoyed most of all was when a circle was formed and all sat down to partake of refreshments.

Kenneth Gelow, of Three Oaks, was an out of town guest.

The thanks of grateful recipients are extended to Miss Jane Alexander and Mrs. T. Jadwin, for a parcel of nice white rags, furnished in reply to a request in the RECORD.

AN OLD SETTLER

Mr. Stephen T. Baker Tells Interesting Events of Early History of the County

NINE-TWO YEARS OF AGE

Came to Laporte, Indiana, in 1835 by Wagon From Dutchess Co., N. Y.

One of the most interesting old settlers in this part of the state is Stephen T. Baker, one of the four brothers for whom Bakertown was named, the others being Hiram Louis and William

He was born in Dutchess, Co., New York state, February 29, 1812 and though 91 years old has only celebrated 22 birthdays.

In 1835 he came from the east, covering the entire distance by horse and wagon and settled in Laporte, Indiana. Seven years later he moved from there to Michigan, being attracted by the water power in McCoy's creek running through this part of county. His two brothers followed him here a short time afterward and they built a cloth dressing and carding mill, also a saw mill.

A few years previous, in 1838, he had married Margaret McLane. Three children were born to this union, Mrs. Wm. Redden, of New Paris, Ind.; Mrs. Francis Wells, of Manchester, Oklahoma and Luck Baker, who died when fourteen years old.

In 1845 the family moved back to Laporte, Indiana and from there to South Bend, but returned to Bakertown in 1852 and has resided there continuously ever since. For 43 years he has lived in the same house. After owning the water power and mills for about 25 years, Mr. Baker sold it to Wm. and H. N. Hathaway, who retained the property, for about ten years, when Mr. Baker repurchased it. About 8 years ago, the pond was drained into McCoy's creek, and many acres of farm land were thereby redeemed.

During the early days of Mr. Baker's life, Bakertown was larger than Buchanan but when the Michigan Central R. R. went through Buchanan, it brought the town this way, and Bakertown began to lose in population, until at present there are less than 100 residents.

His first wife having died, he was married again in 1849 to Eleanor Morgan, who died November 12, 1901, on the anniversary of her birth. To this union there were born five children, V. M. Baker who lives in the old homestead, James C. Baker, deceased, Mrs. Wm. Sparks, of Buchanan, E. C. Baker and Geo. Baker, of Chicago.

In politics Mr. Baker is a republican, having voted for Fremont, and every republican nominee for president ever since, with one exception, when he voted for Benj. Butler. His first vote was for Wm. Henry Harrison.

Mr. Baker, is probably the oldest man in the county with one exception. He is very regular in his habits and has lived a quiet and retired life.

SOUTH BEND, - - INDIANA.

When his present house was built, 43 years ago, he had a valuable clock built in a niche over the mantle and for 30 consecutive years he wound that clock every night.

He has enjoyed excellent health and until three years ago, did the average man's daily work. His sight has now become imperfect and he has had to give up work of any kind, and is passing his closing years in restful quiet.

She Cabled.

A Philadelphian whose wife was going abroad felt that it would show sincere affection if he encouraged her to go to the expense of sending him a cablegram announcing her safe arrival in Liverpool.

"Just a word or two, you know, dear," he said at parting. "You know cabling is a very expensive piece of business."

"I suppose so, Harry dear," she said, tearfully. "And it's so sweet of you to want me to go to such an expense. It is lovely of you."

They had to fetch him a glass of water, and they feared a stroke of apoplexy, when the "word or two" came aweek later C. O. D. It was as follows:

"Dear, Dear Harry:—Here I am all safe and sound, and I can hardly realize that I am really and truly in Europe. I had a perfectly lovely trip across, and I wasn't the least little bit seasick, and I was the only lady at our table who didn't miss a single meal. Wasn't that lovely? And we had one real stormy day. But I just enjoyed standing on deck and watching the billows roll and the white-capped waves sweeping hither and thither. And we had a burial at sea. It was one of the sailors. Poor fellow! I know I am going to have a lovely time, and I'll be a regular European by the time you come over for me in the fall. Don't you let your horrid business or anything else keep you from coming. And do, do, do take the best of care of yourself, and write every steamer. There, I guess I have cabled all you will want to pay for, so good-by. LETTIE."

COUNCIL CONVENES

Saturday Night The Village
Fathers Hold Long Delayed Meeting

ELECTED CHAS. N. EAST

As Successor to Dr. Robert Henderson —Regular Meeting Called For This Evening.

Saturday evening the council chamber was ablaze with light from a number of neatly trimmed, brightly polished kerosene lights. As the hands of the clock slowly passed by the hour of eight, the last of the councilmen was in his place.

President Black called the council to order and read the resignation of Dr. Henderson. Dr. Curtis moved it be accepted, which was supported by Chas. Bishop. The roll was then called, Bishop, Curtis and Pears voting to accept it, while Kent and Kingery did not vote.

Mr. Black then announced that nominations were in order for some one to fill the vacancy caused by Dr. Henderson's resignation.

Dr. Curtis nominated Chas. M. East to fill the vacancy.

Henry Kingery nominated Henry Adams and moved that Dr. Curtis' motion be amended, to be elected by ballot.

President Black refused to consider the motion for amendment and announced that the law said the election was to be by ayes and nays.

The vote on Mr. East being taken Bishop, Curtis and Pears voted aye, Kent and Kingery not voting. President Black declared Mr. East elected and Mr. Kent moved to adjourn.

The president announced that the regular meeting would be October 6, for the regular transaction of business. The council then adjourned.

SPIRO'S. A Dependable Clothing Store.

The fall season has opened up in a way which plainly shows that we possess the confidence of the people. We thoroughly believe in the old saying that "A satisfied customer is the best advertisement."

Exactness in style, excellence in quality and splendid variety are our leading features, and we combine all of these with lowest prices.

Those who have shared in these benefits realize the profits of trading here and come again. Those who are strangers to this big store's many advantages should not hesitate to avail themselves of them.

We've more styles than are shown anywhere else in the city, a bigger and better stock of all new effects—priced as only the Spiro method of buying for four stores makes possible—which always means a genuine saving to our customers.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1903.

Reports Not True.

"Buchanan, Mich., Oct. 3.—Feeling against Millionaire Chapin, of Niles, is very high in this village and threats of revenge are whispered. The first thing that Mr. Chapin did to gain the enmity of the city was to transmit the power from the dam to South Bend, and the last straw was when the millionaire cut off the street lights in the village the first of the month.

People are now so angry that now and then the rumor is circulated that unless the lights are turned back on the village, some fine night the water power dam will be blown up with dynamite."

The above is a sample of some of the matter that is being sent to the newspapers through the country. We can not think that any person who had one whit of interest in Buchanan would send out such reports, and it would be hard to make us believe that it was sent by any person living in Buchanan. There are a very few persons in every community who are given to considerable mouthing because they have not any thing else to do, and some one of such may have made some remark like the above, but if they did, it is not worthy of a second thought. The people of Buchanan have too much intelligence and self respect to make such threats.

The above was taken from the Benton Harbor Post, and we are somewhat surprised as brother Harkrider is not given to publishing fake yarns, but we can assure our good brother that he has been deceived this time.

How it Really Was.

Mrs. John Koons has been some what annoyed about the stories that have been circulated about Miss Buck and she wishes the following published.

Buchanan, Mich. Oct. 6, 1903.
Editor RECORD: Miss Buck came to our home Saturday, Sept. 19, she had chills all day. Sunday the 20, she had fever all day; Monday she had a hard chill. We called Dr. Curtis at 1 o'clock, he thought it tonsillitis until Thursday, when he called in consultation Dr. Peck. They pronounced it diphtheria. We have heard so many stories about the case that I wish to state it as correctly as possible.

SUDDEN DEATH

Along the Highway on Sunday Evening.

MR. WILLIAM KOENIGSHOF

Of Niles Found Unconscious and Expires at his Father-in-law's Home.

Sunday evening as Will House was returning from Niles, he overtook a man on the way, about midway between Niles and Buchanan. He invited him into the wagon to ride, when he discovered him to be Wm. Koenigshof, of Niles. He says he does not remember that he spoke a word while on the wagon or after it stopped at the barn.

It is reported that he was seen sitting in front of Runner's store some time later, when nothing more was seen of him till he was found along the way side yesterday morning near John Brocous' home. He was observed by several persons who took him to be a tramp taking a nap. Finally Geo. Hess, coming along, made some examination and found that he was not a tramp, but thought the man was dead, and brought the news to town. Justice Sanders went out, only to find that the man was not dead, so he came to town and had Dr. Colvin go out, but there seemed little hope of saving the life.

He had been on the way to his father-in-law, Golieb Conrad, when it appeared that he was stricken with apoplexy. There were no marks of violence upon his body and his watch and some change were still on his person. He was removed to the home of his father-in-law, where he died in about half an hour after he arrived.

Mr. Koenigshof was a son of Emil Koenigshof, of near Dayton; he was about thirty years old, and leaves a wife and one child.

The funeral service will be held in the Evangelical church tomorrow (Wednesday) at 2 p. m., Rev. Halmhuber officiating.

An Old Citizen Gone.

Ephram Wilson, one of the oldest of Buchanan's citizens, passed from this life early this morning, after a brief illness.

Mr. Wilson has lived for years on Days Ave.; sometimes the house was occupied by others with him, and sometimes he lived alone. Last Sunday two of his granddaughters of Chicago, who are guests at the home of Mrs. Merrill, called with her to see him; they discovered him sick and in a deplorable condition, which was unknown even by his neighbors. They soon made the condition known and telegraphed for their father, Chas. Wilson, in Chicago, who came at once and every thing was done to relieve the old gentleman in his affliction, but all that could be done was of no avail and he passed away this morning.

The funeral will be conducted tomorrow, by Rev. Douglass, at the home, at 1.30.

Mrs. Runner organized a very nice lodge of the R. N. of A. at Galien last week. She goes to Fennville, Allegan Co., Thursday, and on Saturday to St. Joseph.

D. L. Vanderslice was at New Troy over Sunday to see his father who had the misfortune to have a buggy wheel pass over his shoulder, causing pain and inconvenience, but not being serious.

Mr. Frank Mead sang in the Presbyterian choir Sunday morning. Mr. Mead has a splendid voice, and added very materially to the music, and was greatly appreciated by the audience.

C. H. Ingles of Galien, was a caller at the RECORD office yesterday. Mr. Ingles is always a welcome visitor as he has a great fund of valuable information and takes pleasure in telling of his travels and experience.

Martin Stoddard and wife, who have been spending some months with their daughter, Mrs. Ward Rhoades, of Belfast, N. Y., returned on Saturday evening to Buchanan and have been staying a few days at Mrs. Birdsell's.

John Willard, South Bend, says: Coonley's Tonic Ext. of Sarsaparilla is the best medicine made, it cured me of a terrible Eczema after all other blood medicines had failed. Be wise and take it first, only 50c a large bottle at E. S. Dodd & Son's.

Unfortunate.

Sunday evening as Rev. W. D. Cole was in the midst of a very profitable and interesting discourse suddenly the lights went out, leaving the church in total darkness. Rev. Cole quickly grasped the situation and asked the audience to rise quietly and they were dismissed. No doubt some thought Chapin was also turning off the church lights, for according to the accounts in the neighborhood papers "this man they call Chapin must be a very bad man; but when the investigation was made it was found that a fuse had burned out.

THE NEW YORK WORLD THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION

Read Wherever the English Language is Spoken.

The Thrice-a-Week World long ago established itself in public favor and it is now recognized as the strongest publication of its kind in the United States. Advertisers and publishers seeking clubbing combinations—and they know best—universally testify to this. It is widely circulated in every State and Territory of the Union, and even in remote South Africa and on the gold fields in the deserts of Australia. These are the things that tell.

Next year we have the Presidential campaign, in which all Americans are deeply interested. Already the issues are being discussed and the two great parties are preparing for the first moves. You will not want to miss any details, and if you subscribe now your year's subscription will cover the campaign from beginning to end.

The Thrice-a-Week World is absolutely fair in its political news. Partisan bias is never allowed to affect its new columns, and Democrat and Republican alike can obtain in its pages truthful accounts of all the great political contests.

In addition to all the news, the Thrice-a-Week World furnishes the best serial fiction, elaborate market reports and other features of interest.

The Thrice-a-Week World's regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the RECORD together one year for $1.65.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.25.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, is narrated by John Olver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c guaranteed, at W. N. Brodrick's drug store.

The Wireless Telegraph Typewriter.

The Manchester Guardian gives an interesting interview with L. Kamm, the inventor of a typewriter which receives and prints wireless messages.

I cannot do better than begin by giving you proof positive of my invention; and at once he showed me one of his instruments in one room, upon which he dispatched a message, and then, taking me to another room, he showed me the message printed. In appearance the "zerograph" is like an ordinary typewriter, but of simpler construction, with a keyboard figured with the signs of the letters and numerals, which can be printed or telegraphed to any number of instruments. "Each instrument" said Mr. Kamm, "is at once a receiver and a transmitter, enabling operators to converse with one another in writing, and thus obviating misunderstandings, which are apt to occur in telephonic communications. Although I have only at present sent messages from one room to another in my workshop, I intend shortly to set up an instrument in my house at Highgate, from which my wife will send me messages here in Powell Street. I shall thus demonstrate its ability for long distance communications. In fact, I expect to send messages to any district that ether waves will carry. My machine is always ready for immediate use, and as there is no mechanism which requires to be wound up as a preliminary in order to obtain synchronism, the operator has both hands free from manipulation.

"Further," Mr. Kamm continued, it has an advantage which from a military point of view is of inestimable value. Messages cannot be picked up, for in sending a message you are sending two ether waves which allow you a choice of fifty-six signs, and these are given direct print, either as letters or figures. Absolute secrecy is thus obtained. The only way to intercept messages would be to employ a similar instrument, which would have to be synchronized to the same degree as the transmitting instrument. Lastly, "he said, "these machines will receive their messages (which are given at present at a speed of twenty-five words a minute) without anybody being present, and would thus be of great advantage in a signal box, as the signal man will receive clearly printed instructions, should he be absent at the time that the message is sent to him. Nor will the machines," he continued, "work only without wires. I gave a lecture in Paris for the Society of Civil Engineers, of which I am a member, during which I sent messages to Brussels, where another instrument had been set up in the Bourse, while telephonic communication was actually going on over the same wires. I have shown my invention to the German Emperor, and have sent messages also between Berlin and Frankfurt and between London and Leamington. The cost of a single pair of these instruments for wireless telegraphy would be, about $250, which is not much when you consider the great advantage you can get from them. In particular, people living some way out of a town in the country would find them of the greatest service, while of course for business purposes they are invaluable. The zerograph," said Mr. Kamm, in conclusion, "has passed satisfactorily the practical tests of several Governments, including the British, and has been tried on long wires and on short wires, on copper wires and on steel wires, and on one composed of lengths of iron, phosphor bronze, and the remainder under ground."—Scientific Progress and Endeavor.

PLAYING WAR GAME.

MAGNITUDE OF THE COMING ARMY MANEUVERS AT FORT RILEY.

More Than Eleven Thousand Men, Regulars and Militia, to Participate—Organization of the Troops. Major General John C. Bates.

Major General John C. Bates, U. S. A., who will be the ranking officer in the coming series of army maneuvers at Fort Riley, Kansas, Oct. 15 to 27, in which more than 11,000 men will participate, is a veteran of many campaigns, having fought in the civil war, in Cuba and the Philippines.

Besides the large force of regulars, regiments from the national guard of Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Colorado will take part in the maneuvers, making the largest body of troops assembled for a similar purpose in recent years.

Fort Riley, which is to be the scene of the maneuvers, is located on the Kansas and Republican rivers, about three and a half miles from Junction City, Geary county, Kan., on the line of the Union Pacific railroad, and contains about 20,000 acres. As a result of last year's maneuvers it was found that for the handling of large bodies of troops in the working out of tactical problems the present reservation, large as it is, was entirely inadequate.

In order to secure additional lands the military authorities have for the past year been negotiating with the landowners in the vicinity of Fort Riley, with a view of increasing the maneuver territory by the temporary use of desirable tracts adjoining the reservation.

The war department has succeeded in obtaining the written consent of 140 owners, whose aggregate holdings amount to about seventy square miles, or 44,230 acres, by which they have agreed to permit the military authorities to enter upon and occupy their holdings whenever it may become necessary to do so in the prosecution of the maneuvers this year at a nominal rental of 5 cents per acre.

By this means the war department has secured a section of country which affords every kind and variety of formation that could be desired in practicing field operations by troops, consisting of plain, high rolling country, streams, railroads, woods, defiles, ravines, etc. The section lines and farm roads are exactly such as would have to be utilized in actual warfare in a like country, and the houses, separately or clustered in small villages, form an important part in playing the war game.

As a part of the work attending the maneuvers at Fort Riley the greater portion of the regular army organizations will reach the scene by marching a part of the way and by rail the other part both going and returning.

The militia will be transported by the United States by rail or water from the home stations of their companies to the place of maneuver and return and will be paid and supplied rations from the date of their departure to date of return to their home stations.

The troops participating in the maneuvers are to be organized into five brigades, an artillery division and a provisional division, under command of Major General Bates. The four brigades of infantry will be commanded respectively by Brigadier Generals Frederick D. Grant, J. Franklin Bell and Thomas H. Barry of the United States army and Brigadier General J. W. F. Hughes of the Kansas national guard. Brigadier General C. C. Carr, U. S. A., will be in charge of the cavalry brigade, and Major W. H. Coffin, United States artillery corps, will lead the artillery division.

Major General John C. Bates, the ranking officer of the maneuvers, is a native of Missouri and a son of the late Edward Bates, who served in Lincoln's first cabinet as attorney general. In May, 1861, when but nineteen years old, he was commissioned first lieutenant in the Eleventh United States infantry and served with the Army of the Potomac until 1863. He was with his company at Gaines Mill, Malvern, the second Bull Run, Antietam and Fredericksburg and was twice brevetted for meritorious services in the field.

At the outbreak of the Spanish war he was made a brigadier general of volunteers and was promoted to major general for distinguished services during the Santiago campaign. In 1899 he was sent to the Philippines and came into prominence through his treaty with the sultan of Sulu. General Bates reached the grade of brigadier general in the regular service in 1901 and that of major general last year. He is regarded as an officer of great ability.

W. J. BANYON HONORED

Benton Harbor Man Accepts Presidency of YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY.

City Clerk Goes Into Work With Much Enthusiasm.

At the annual election of officers of the Young People's Society of Berrien Co., held at Berrien Springs in August, W. N. Brodrick of this place was elected president. Because of press of business Mr. Brodrick has decided not to accept and at a recent meeting of the executive committee consisting of C. A. Wilkinson, Frank Treat and Frank Starkweather, Mr. Willard J. Banyon was selected to fill this place.

The following letter of acceptance has been written by him:

Benton Harbor, Sept. 29, Zack Hendleman, Secretary Young People's Picnic Association, Berrien Springs, Mich., Dear Sir:—After due consideration and considerable hesitation, the high honor proffered me by the executive committee of the Berrien County Young People's Picnic association is accepted. Although believing that the duties which devolve upon the president of the society are far beyond my poor powers to perform, were it not that the responsibility will be shared by every member of the association; in whom I sincerely trust for support and co-operation; so that the suggestions contained in the address of the retiring president for stimulating an interest in the affairs of the Young People's organization, may take form and develop into an active boom for boosting the picnic to a position of prominence in our social affairs, where it rightly belongs. I thank you.

WILLARD J. BANYON.

WELCOMED BACK TO HIS CHURCH.

Rev. Douglass Preaches Strong Sermon Introductory to Year's Work.

Last Sunday a large number of persons attended the morning service at the M. E. church as an expression of welcome to their pastor, Rev. W. J. Douglass, who comes by appointment of the conference to serve here another year as minister.

Rev. Douglass gave a few earnest remarks introductory to the year's work, appealing to the people for more concenration than ever before. The speaker said that while he was sent here by the powers that be, he was glad to be back here. He chose for his text, that world renowned statement, "I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ for it is the power of God unto salvation." We are not ashamed of the constitution of these United States, nor of this glorious country in which we live. Paul was not ashamed to the gospel nor its transforming power.

At the close of an impressive discourse, Rev. Douglass gave a very apt illustration of a chemist who analyzed some dirt from the streets of London and found in it many of the elements which in other forms appear in the diamond, the sapphire, the beryl, the amethyst and many other precious stones. So down here in the mire of sin are many souls which if rescued will shine as stars for ever and ever.

Some special music was rendered by Mrs. Mercer, Miss Phelps, Mr. Mercer and Fred Knight.

OHIO MOB IS BAFFLED

Deputy Sheriff Who Deserves Well at the Hands of His Fellowmen.

TOWN MARSHAL IS WOUNDED

By a Drunken Kentuckian and the Wounded Man's Father Heads the Lynchers.

Oxford, O., Oct. 1.—Blood splashed on the streets of this usually quiet village, and bullets whistled promiscuously in a desperate shooting affray and riot that attended the visit of two belligerent Kentuckians, one of whom, sorely wounded, was rescued from the hands of a mob while a rope attached to his neck was dangling over a tree limb, and he was on his knees praying before being launched into eternity. Flying bullets desperately wounded four men, while a fifth escaped death by a narrow margin, several balls piercing his clothes.

Begins with Too Much Whisky.

The riot which led to the attempted lynching and to the widest night that Oxford has seen since the negro Henry Corbin was lynched for the murder of Mrs. Horner, was caused by the attempt of Marshal John W. Woodruff to arrest Louis Spivey, of Wagonville, Ky. Spivey was visiting James Richardson, of Billingsville, Ind., and with two companions came to Oxford to attend the street fair in progress here. They were joined by Joe Spivey, of Middletown, O., and all began drinking.

Shooting of Marshal Woodruff.

Marshal Woodruff was informed that Louis Spivey was displaying pistols in Mrs. Pfeiffer's saloon, and shortly before 6 p. m. encountered his man drinking from a whisky bottle in front of Ezra Burne's livery barn. Woodruff arrested him and started to the police station. Instantly, and without warning, Joe Spivey, the prisoner's brother, who was standing ten feet away, whipped out a revolver and shot Woodruff down.

MOB INSTANTLY AT WORK

Hardware Store Robbed and the Two Spiveys Both Caught.

Stunned by the sudden deed, the crowd were for a moment helpless. Then there was a rush for a hardware store, and seizing shotguns and revolvers the mob started in pursuit. The two Spiveys drew their pistols and started west, shooting as they ran. Deputy Marshal Jake Mauro, who was near Woodruff, was shot twice at the first fire. The Spiveys fled west through the crowded street, shooting as they ran, the pursuers returning the fire.

Near Oxford college F. V. Jotter, a school teacher, was hit by a stray bullet just as he entered a house, and probably fatally hurt. In front of Mrs. Sara Greer's house, East Oxford college, the Spiveys made a stand behind a tree and fired repeatedly, beating off the mob for a moment. The mob soon dislodged them and they ran to the next alley, where they separated, Louis Spivey turning and running up the alley and Joseph Spivey continuing west on High street.

Louis Spivey had not run over 100 feet up the alley until he was struck by a bullet from the mob and badly wounded. Joseph ran some distance farther and was knocked down with a stone by a negro. Both the men were taken to the town jail, Jo Spivey with a fractured skull and Louis Spivey with a wound in his abdomen.

MOB FINDS A MAN TO LEAD

Father of the Wounded Marshal Demands Mob Vengeance.

A large crowd followed and soon surrounded the jail. They had secured a rope and endeavored to take both Louis Spivey and Joseph Spivey out of the officers' hands, but they were frustrated by the officers. The mob also had no recognized leader and were ineffectual in their desires. Finally Everett Woodruff, the father of the wounded marshal, appeared on the scene and said he expected the mob to avenge the murder of his son.

He himself directing the mob they proceeded. The door of the jail was battered down and a long rope was fastened around the neck of Joseph Spivey, and he was led forth. Fully 100 men had hold of the rope, and they dragged him through the street in the direction of the public park. Spivey begged and cried and implored the mob to allow him to see his wife and children before they kill him.

"Take him to the tree where we lynched the nigger," (Corbin) somebody shouted, and the mob made for it. Spivey wailed and cried: "Give me a show, men. Let me just write a word to my wife and baby before you kill me. Let me pray a little, for God's sake, men." Arriving at the tree Spivey was strung up, and let down to pray. A second time he was strung up and let down, and while he was pleading for time to write to his wife there was a diversion.

WELL DONE, FOR YOU BRANNAN

Deputy Sheriff Saves the Buckeye State Further Disgrace.

Deputy Sheriff Brannan and a few assistants rushed forward, cut the rope and dashed down the treet with the prisoner. He was rushed to the jail, the mob following. Ex-Mayor P. P. Flanagan and H. D. Cornier, each with two revolvers in their hands, stood at the door of the jail and swore to kill the first man who tried to enter. The men stood back and then Flanagan climbed to the window and appealed to them to disperse.

Rev. T. J. Porter, Mayor Muddell and others delivered impassioned speeches, appealing for order for the sake of Oxford, her schools, and her people.

The father of Woodruff still urged on the mob, and swore that if he did not exact vengeance he would get a shotgun and kill the men himself. The speakers assured the mob that the men would be given a trial at once, but it did not satisfy it.

Woodruff's brother Samuel, a farmer, then proved himself a good citizen. Rising he said: "Men, I am John Woodruff's brother, and I love him. For his sake, and for mine, I ask you to go home, and let the law take its course." Cheers greeted this speech and in five minutes the mob had dispersed.

At 10:30 all was quiet. It developed later that Sheriff Bisdorff, Prosecutor Gard and others had driven up from Hamilton in buggies and that while the speaking was in progress they carried the prisoners out by a rear door and had started for Hamilton, where the prisoners are now safe in jail.

NEGRO LYNCHED IN TEXAS

Mob Hangs Him for Killing a White Man from Ambush.

Marshall, Tex., Oct. 2.—A mob of several hundred men forced their way through the brick wall of the city jail, with the aid of a telephone pole, and with sledge hammers and crowbars, took out Walter Davis, a negro, and marched him to the west side of town, where he was hanged to a tree. The lynching was the result of the killing of Constable Hayes while he was taking a negro to jail.

Hayes was shot from ambush, being literally riddled with bullets. Shortly after the killing the constable Walter Davis and two other negroes were arrested and lodged in jail at Marshall. A mob formed during the afternoon and attacked the jail. The Marshall Musketeers were ordered out, but arrived at the jail after the mob had secured the negro.

A Danger Signal.

A pair of frightened horses were dashing madly down the street. The coachman was sawing at the reins, and the carriage was swaying from side to side in a dangerous fashion. The occupants of the vehicle, an elderly woman, noted for her extreme parsimoniousness, and her pretty niece, gave no outward signs of fear, but just as the horses came to a standstill the younger woman unexpectedly fainted.

"I wasn't frightened a bit," she explained after, "until, just as we rounded that last corner with three wheels in the air, Aunt Caroline exclaimed, 'I'd give a dollar to be out of this!' I knew the case must be serious if Aunt Caroline was beginning to risk dollars in that fashion."

Spotting Light Fingred Gentry.

A policeman on the lookout for pickpockets in a crowd does not watch hands, but faces. If a person in the crowd is paying no attention to the common center of attraction, but is engaged in viewing his neighbors' clothing, that person, he knows, is apt to be a pickpocket. The suspicion may be strengthened by the nervous or cautious way in which the thief occasionally turns his head, presumably to ascertain if he is watched. Pickpockets never wear gloves and seldom work in the street in cold weather, for the cold numbs their fingers.—New York Press.

Tremendous Rainfall.

The annual rainfall on the Khasia hills, to the northeast of Calcutta, amounts to some 600 inches, 500 inches of which fall in seven months during the southwest monsoon. It is undoubtedly the wettest spot on the globe. As many as 150 inches have been registered in five consecutive days, or an average of thirty inches a day. This astonishing amount is due to the abruptness of the mountains which face the bay of Bengal; from which they are separated by 200 miles of low swamps and marshes.

Age Averages.

Here is an estimate of the average age attained by men in various European countries: Norway and Sweden head the list with fifty years. Then come England with forty-five and one-half years; France, forty-four and one-half; Prussia, thirty-nine; Wurtemberg, thirty-eight; Bavaria and other parts of Germany, thirty-six. In Austria and Spain the inhabitants have the shortest lives, the average age being only thirty-three.

Not Her Fault.

"Your daughter," said Mrs. Oldcastle, "has such verve. She fairly bubbles over with high spirits."

"I know it. She gets it from Josiah's side of the house, though. My folks are all strong temperance people."—Chicago Record-Herald.

LIVER TROUBLES

"I find Thedford's Black-Draught a good medicine for liver disease. It cured my son after he had spent $100 with doctors. It is all the medicine I take."—MRS. CAROLINE MARIN, Parkersburg, W. Va.

If your liver does not act regularly go to your druggist and secure a package of Thedford's Black-Draught and take a dose tonight. This great family medicine frees the constipated bowels, stirs up the torpid liver and causes a healthy secretion of bile.

Thedford's Black-Draught will cleanse the bowels of impurities and strengthen the kidneys. A torpid liver invites colds, biliousness, chills and fever and all manner of sickness and contagion. Weak kidneys result in Bright's disease which claims as many victims as consumption. A 25-cent package of Thedford's Black-Draught should always be kept in the house.

"I used Thedford's Black-Draught for liver and kidney complaints and found nothing to excel it."—J. AM. COFFMAN, Marblehead, Mass.

A more ideal combination has never been arranged than that of Mrs.
Wharton to write a series of articles on Italian Gardens with Maxfield Parrish as the illustrator. This is one of the features of The Century Magazine for the coming year. The first article in the series will appear in the November number, and will contain four of Mr. Parrish's pictures printed in color. Mrs. Wharton, who wrote
"The Valley of Decision," has long been sympathetically familiar with Italian outdoor life, as has Mr. Parrish, who was sent over to Italy by The Century especially to illustrate the series. It is said that writer and artist have made a study not only of the well-known gardens but of many from which the public is excluded.

COMPANY B

... By ...
John Hungerford

Copyright, 1908, by T. C. McClure

It was almost certain to happen that way in a regiment going in to action for the first time. The officers were raw and the men were raw. After five or six men of Company B had been killed the remainder of the hundred huddled together like frightened sheep for a moment and then turned their backs to the foe and bolted from the field. Had the men been veterans there might have been a bit of confusion as the fire got too hot, but there would have been no running away. Had the officers been veterans the company would not have been stood up there to furnish target practice to the enemy.

A pitiful thing followed. Company B was branded with cowardice in the face of the enemy. There were over ninety men left, stalwart fellows from the pine woods and forest streams, who had worked alongside danger all their lives, and now they were to be snubbed, even by the company teamsters and the sutler's clerks. They muttered and cursed and shed tears, but the stigma had been put upon them, and they had to bear it. A citizen may be dubbed a coward for not resenting an insult, but he can plead a dozen excuses. Not so a soldier, however. He is in the ranks to fight, and fight he must or become an object of contempt.

Company B cursed and muttered and waited. There would be other battles, and their time would come. Three months later they went into action, with the company banner leading the way and every man singing a war song, and for a quarter of an hour they were heroes. What happened all of a sudden no man could afterward tell. Perhaps it was the screams of men as they were hit, or a section of a battery galloping through the line, or it might have been some blundering order on the part of the officers. No matter what it was, the results were lamentable. Company B bolted again, and the other men cried, "Yah, yah!" in contempt as the panic-stricken lumbermen fell back. They had fought well for a time, and they had left ten of their number dead behind them, but those things didn't count. The colonel called the captain up and raked him fore and aft; the captain called his lieutenants cowards; the lieutenants declared there was no fight in the men. The "B" men cursed and muttered and shed tears of humiliation again, but "Yah, yah!" was their greeting from the other 900 men. It was rubbed in on them for a month, and then the colonel detailed them as guard to the wagon train. That filled their cup of disgrace. Company B dropped out of sight for four months. The regiment marched, fought and paraded with nine companies. It was as if a finger had been lopped off a hand in some disgraceful brawl.

Autumn was merging into winter, and both armies were advancing for a last grapple before the snow and ice should drive them into winter quarters. There were roads and passes to be held. Wagon trains were sent to the rear, details called in, and squadrons of cavalry and detachments of infantry rode and marched this way and that. One day Company B returned to us for an hour or two until they could draw rations and ammunition. They were a dusty, ragged, dejected lot. Disgrace and humiliation had done their work on both officers and men. They were received as strangers and in silence. That hurt them more than the old cries of contempt, but they bowed their heads and said nothing. They marched away as they came, their feet dragging and their eyes cast down. They were to form a part of the force sent to hold a gap in the mountains, and men laughed and said it would give the "B" men another chance to bolt.

A thousand men, most of them called in off detail and therefore lax in discipline, had been sent to hold a pass through which 5,000 of the enemy might pour at any hour. They were all that could be spared. Companies were sandwich together to make a regiment, and under the orders of a colonel who meant fight they threw up a breastwork and waited for what was to come. There was ruffianism there in plenty, but none in such contempt as the eighty men of Company B. Little or nothing was expected of them, and they were given the left flank.

At the end of two days, as divisions and brigades formed in the valleys and artillery galloped here and there to crown the knolls and hills, the enemy came marching down the pass, hoping to find it unguarded. In this they were disappointed; but, being five to one, they swept forward with yells and cheers to brush the thousand defenders aside. The fighting colonel watched the onfall with heart in his mouth. A thousand steady old veterans would have given him confidence, but he was looking at the backs of a thousand bums. He cursed and prayed alternately as he heard the confident cheers of the enemy, but after the first grapple he smiled. The bums had held their own and were cheering in defiance.

"The next attack will be farther to the left," mused the colonel as he saw the enemy gathering again. "And if Company B fails me our whole line will be swept away. It was a shame to send me such men."

There was another hot fight and another fierce grapple, and when the lull came the colonel threw up his hat and cheered. The "B" men had not only stood firm, but had shifted along without orders to take more of the brunt of the battle. The orders to the 5,000 men were to break through at all costs. The orders to the 1,000 were to hold the mouth of that pass to the last man. The fight began when the sun had only half an hour more of life, and it raged at intervals for three hours. Then those in the pass and those behind the breastwork slept or made ready for daylight. The birds had hardly taken wing before the musketry began to volley again. Re-enforcements had been sent for, but they could not be up for hours. Meanwhile the thousand must hold the pass.

It is on record in history how the thousand fought. From sunset to darkness, from daylight to high noon, they crouched behind that wretched little breastwork of logs and stones and gave up their places only when they fell back dead. The pass was held.

When the re-enforcements marched up at last they found scarce 300 men crouching there, but they were fighting yet—fighting and dying. And when the enemy had made a last charge and been driven back to try no more the colonel rode down the line to cheer this and that company and to finally ask:

"Where is B company? Every man of them has covered himself with glory in this fight. I want to shake hands with each and all of them."

"Sir," replied a dying man who was propped up with his back to the breastwork and who sought in vain to raise his hand in salute—"sir, I beg to report that—that I am the last of Company B and that I am—am—"

"Dead!" finished the colonel as the man fell back. "And braver men will never die after him!"

Mohammedan superstitions.

Mohammedans of India are very superstitious. No Mohammedan will take a bath on Sunday or Tuesday. But if one bathes on Wednesday all misfortunes and misery that are in store for him till the next Wednesday will be averted. As a rule, all Mohammedans bathe on Fridays before going to perform the jumma prayers. For donning new clothes Saturday, Sunday and Tuesday are regarded as bad days. If any one dons a new dress or puts on a new cloth or allows his tailor to cut a piece of new cloth on these days he will live a miserable life till that dress or cloth gets torn or is thrown away. If a shirt is torn and if the wearer wants to stitch it it must be taken off, for if it is stitched while on the body the person will soon die. A Mohammedan will never allow a barber to come near him on Tuesdays, for Tuesdays and also Saturdays and Sundays are bad days for shaving purposes. If absolutely necessary he will get himself shaved on Saturday or Sunday, but never on Tuesday, as his star is supposed to fall in blood if he does so. If one receives money or some valuable thing it is taken with the right hand, for if it is taken with the left the person receiving it is said to forget all about it very soon or to mislay it. A devout Mohammedan will not start on a journey on Wednesday, for it is believed he will never return home safely if he does so. And it is said that even a snake never ventures out of its hole on this day.

Mathematics and Launching.

The launching of a vessel is primarily a matter of mathematics. In a ship of immense size it calls for a vast amount of calculation before the first step is taken in the actual work. In the first place the specific gravity of the vessel must be figured out so as to allow for the various strains to which the hull is subjected on its slanting journey into the water, with its sudden plunge as the bow drops from the ways. An enormous amount of data must be collected to fix this center of gravity. The weight of all the material that has gone into the vessel up to the time of the launching, the distribution of this weight, the weight of chains and anchors and other material placed on board preparatory to the launch, must all be considered. When the center of gravity is fixed the successful shipbuilder knows just how to build his launching ways and just where to strengthen them. He knows then by a little calculation how long each part of the vessel will be subjected to certain strains and how best to prepare for them. He can figure almost to the second how long the ship will be in sliding into the water.

Zionists' Promised Land

British East Africa, Where a New Jewish Nation
May Arise

THE Zionist congress recently held in Basel, Switzerland, will long be remembered as notable because of England's offer of a large tract of land in east Africa as a refuge to the Jews, a new land of promise. The proposal of the British government to the Zionist congress is to establish an autonomous Jewish settlement in that part of the British East African protectorate which lies on the high plateau of the Victoria Nyanza, between the Narobi and the Man escarpment, and thus to direct the exodus of the Jews from Europe to the source of the Nile, at whose delta israel dwelt more than 3,000 years ago.

The Zionist society is composed very largely of Russian and Polish Jews.

with a sprinkling of English, German and American members of the faith, and their desire and hope is that some day Palestine shall be restored to the Jews.

The action of the British government in proffering the tract of land in Uganda for Jewish settlement has given a renewed impulse to the Zionist movement, which had been checked by the failure of Dr. Theodor Herzl to come to an agreement with the sultan of Turkey for the Jewish occupation of Palestine, the sultan's terms being incompatible with the programme of the Zionists. The proposal of England was received with favor by a majority of the delegates to the Zionist congress, and although some raised the cry that east Africa was not Zion the congress decided to send a commission to Uganda to investigate conditions.

No matter how alluring the offer of an autonomous state among the rolling downs of Uganda may be, it cannot and will not replace the promised land in the estimation of the Jewish masses. The attitude of the overwhelming majority of the Russian delegates made that clear.

The first word of rebellion against Dr. Herzl was heard—he was the beloved leader because he was leading to Zion, not to east Africa. The protest came strongest from those who can least afford to wait for the realization of the Zionist ideal—from the Kishineff delegates.

When the roll call proved an overwhelming majority of the congress in favor of the British proposal, over 160 delegates rose in wildest excitement, left the hall and repaired to a smaller hall, where they pledged their lives to Zion.

The territory offered to the Jews is a great plateau nearly 4,000 feet above sea level and is fertile, well watered, abundantly timbered and is blessed with a salubrious climate. It is in this part of Africa that the river Nile rises, and the region is said to be one of the few sections of Africa where white men may thrive.

Dr. Herzl of Vienna, who has devoted much time and money to furthering the Zionist movement, is pleased with the offer of Great Britain and has expressed the belief that eventually the Jews of Russia and Poland will occupy the territory as an autonomous nation.

After the failure of his negotiations with the Turk Dr. Herzl proposed to the Egyptian government that the Sinai peninsula, adjoining Palestine, be opened to the Jews for the purpose of founding a new land of Zion. Egypt regarded the proposition favorably, and a commission of Zionists investigated the matter. The lack of water in this territory, however, necessitated the abandonment of the project.

Then came the proffer from Great Britain of the east African region. The country which has been tendered as a gift to the Zionists was opened up and made accessible by the completion of the Uganda railway last year. This railway was constructed at a cost of over $30,000,000 and has been of immense value to the region. It is said that England's offer to give the land to the Zionists has not met with the approval of the few British people who live in east Africa. They hold that the government should take other steps to colonize the Uganda country, and the proposal to turn the region over to the Jews has come as a shock to some of the colonists.

Except on the coast and on the shore of Lake Victoria Nyanza the climate is admirable, and the whole country is fertile. From Makindu, 200 miles inland, and for about 400 miles farther the country is described as beautiful. The fertility of the soil is marvelous, and settlers from Australia and South Africa say that the Uganda country is the finest they have ever seen. It offers splendid opportunities, say these men, to the farmer and the cattle raiser.

During the visit of former Colonial Secretary Joseph Chamberlain to Uganda last December he expressed the opinion that as a grain and cotton growing country British East Africa would stand unrivaled. The harbor at Port Reitz, which is in direct touch with the Uganda railway, is large enough to accommodate the entire British fleet and is said to be one of the finest in the world.

The tender of this country to the Jews was the sensation of the Zionist congress. The prevailing sentiment was that it would be impolitic to reject so generous an offer by a mighty government. It was argued that it was not a deviation from the Zionist programme to settle a million Jews in east Africa during the next quarter of a century (if the offer should finally result in such a settlement) and would in no way interfere with the striving of the people for their historic home in Palestine. In the meantime the pressure on the congress resulting from the present cry of the homeless would be relieved, and a million Jews would have a lesson in self government.

One of the foremost leaders of the Zionist movement is Dr. Theodor Herzl of Vienna, litterateur and dramatist, and he is ably seconded by Dr. Max Nordau of Paris. Dr. Nordau says his people are intellectually and morally superior to all Aryan races. Israel Zangwill, author and dramatist, of London is another noted Zionist. These three men are representative of the movement in Germany, France and England. Many thoughtful Hebrews, however, oppose the movement, fearing that if the new Zion ever becomes a reality the powers may ultimately combine to force the Jews of Europe to seek a refuge there.

In America the movement has some strength. Not that the Jews of this country have any wish to emigrate to Palestine or any other country, should a new Zion be established, but those who favor the movement do so from a desire to provide a haven for their co-religionists who are oppressed in other lands. Dr. Herzl's plan, as first outlined in the congress held at Basel in 1897 and which will probably be adopted if the British offer of land in east Africa is accepted, is to draw the Jews from the sections of Europe where they are oppressed and where the struggle for life is made almost hopeless because of the severity with which they are treated.

At the recent Zionist congress Dr. Herzl announced that he had assurances from the Russian government that if the Zionist movement kept on its present orderly way in that empire the czar would aid in negotiations with the sultan of Turkey looking toward the occupation of Palestine by the Jews.

In the meantime it is not improbable that the new Zion may grow up in the Uganda country. It is estimated that if the offer of England be accepted in less than twenty-five years a flourishing nation will have arisen in the region from which the Nile makes its way.

So it is not improbable that the children of Israel will make another journey in the wilderness and found a new nation. But, unlike their entrance to the land of Canaan, they will not be forced to make weary marches on foot. English and American railway engineers have preceded them to British East Africa, and if they enter the country they will do so in modern railway carriages, crossing ravines and rivers that have been bridged by the skillful workmen of the new world.
