DOWIE IS HARD HIT

By the Publication of Letters
Telling the Secret of His Birth.

HE HITS BACK IN DEFIANCE

And Tells the Story Himself of His Mother's Betrayal.

Denounces the Papers That Published the Facts and Utters a Unique and Dovesque Benediction.

New York, Oct. 27.—In a broken voice, with tears streaming down his face and his body shaking with emotion, John Alexander Dowie stood on the platform in Madison Square Garden before an audience of 10,000 persons, and announced that in truth he was not the son of John Murray Dowie, of Essex, Ia., from whom he takes his patronymic, but of a British army of-

MRS. JNO. ALEXANDER DOWIE, fier of high family by a "Scotch marriage." He heaped denunciation upon John Murray Dowie, whom he declared had made his mother believe her marriage to Dowie's father was shameful, and the army officer having been taken away by his relatives his mother in the first flush of her shame had sought to give her son a name by marrying John Murray Dowie.

Takes a Whack at the Press. The revelation was made at the end of an hour's denunciation of the press of this city, its treatment of his work and himself being styled a "conspiracy of falsehood," the reporters denounced as "yellow dogs; poisonous reptiles who have wrecked thousands of homes and broken thousands of hearts." His denunciation was caused by the publication of extracts from letters passing between himself and John Murray Dowie, indicating Dowie's renunciation of the latter as a parent.

Refers to One Year Ago. Raising his voice to its limit in his denunciation of the press at one moment Dowie would the next moment speak in the most gentle voice of his mother and wife. The great audience was moved by his evident emotion. Women wept, and at times bursts of applause greeted his declarations. Dowie announced that just one year ago he had addressed a meeting in Chicago at which he had told of an attempt to blackmail by a man writing from Boston, who claimed to have certain letters which had passed between himself and John Murray Dowie.

CHALLENGE TO THE PAPER

To Publish the Originals—Publication of the Letters Denounced.

"That man wrote me," said Dowie, "that the letters if published might cause me annoyance, and in the generosity of his heart said that for $1,000 he would turn them over to me instead of to a Chicago newspaper. Garbled extracts from these letters were published in a paper in this city this morning. I challenge that paper to produce the original letters, what was printed being only misrepresenting extracts, distorted quotations and largely pure concoction, obtained either from the man who tried to blackmail me a year ago, gotten from John Murray Dowie by him, at Essex, Ia., or else John Murray Dowie, poor, wicked man, was so far lost to me as to sell the letters of him who he falsely said was his son. These letters have come either by robbery or a sin much deeper and more wicked—the basest of all sin."

"The best proof that John Murray Dowie was not my father is," he declared, "that he has given up my letters to him rebuking him for the most terrible sin a man could ever commit, in my judgment. Were it all against myself I would not care; but there is one—the dearest, sweetest, purest woman that ever was, who is now ten years, thank God, in heaven—my mother. I denounce the publication of those letters because they are false in many parts, large extracts being omitted, thereby distorting the meaning of the rest."

Dowie up to this point had told the history of the letters from his knowledge, and explained that he had laid the matter a year ago before some of his high church officials. He called out Overseer V. V. Barnes, formerly a judge in South Dakota, and now judicial arbitrator of Zion and general counsel, and Charles J. Barnard, Zion's financial agent.

"Have I told the truth, Elder Barnes?" asked Dowie. "You have stated the facts to my knowledge," was the reply.

"Have I told the truth, Elder Barnard?" he asked of the financial agent. "It's true, general overseer; every word is true," that elder replied. Overseer Excell also verified the truth of Dowie's statements.

HOW HE LEARNED THE TRUTH

Will Never Seek the Place He Lost—A Unique "Benediction."

With dramatic intensity the Zion leader began his recital of the facts behind the letters. "Now that this has come before the world," he said, "I had better tell the story. I had determined long ago that if ever it must come out, wherever I was, no matter what the assemblage, I should tell my story."

"My mother was a noble woman. She was greatly beloved by the privates and officers of one of the foremost regiments of the British army. Our home was near the post of the regiment. My people had been connected with the army for centuries. I supposed I was the son of John Murray Dowie, who now lives in Essex, Ia., and I never ceased to wonder how he could have been my father. He was mean and hypocritical, and as the years rolled on he grew worse. I had no sympathy for him."

"For many years I did not see John Murray Dowie. Then evil times came upon him and at my own expense I brought him from Australia and gave him a home in my house. One day he became ill. He dared not call upon God to save him, and as I was passing his door he called me in. He asked my help, and I said: 'You will never recover nor will God ever hear you because your religion has been a sham.' Then Dowie told how he had prayed for his supposed father and 'saved' him from dying. Then John Murray Dowie gave him the papers that told him who he was, and how his mother had been tricked. 'Had I known of it twenty years before,' he said he would have secured his 'right place in the world.'

"For there is no doubt that her marriage to the scoundrel, John Murray Dowie, was invalid. And the Scotch marriage could never have been invalidated, and I was the rightful son of my father. What that place might have been is not for me to say. I shall never seek it, for if it carried with it the finest ducal coronet in the United Kingdom I would not want to change it for the office I hold and the ministry I minister to God."

The last words, pronounced with solemnity over the great still garden, fell on the audience like an irrevocable dictum, and in a few seconds a great burst of applause greeted the speaker. He then declared that his father led one of the great charges in the Crimean war and died like a soldier at the head of his troops. At the close of the address Dowie pronounced this benediction:

"God look down upon the irresponsible band of criminals who write the papers and publish their lies, and have mercy on them. Have mercy, oh God, and grant grace to the country and may it muzzle, and if needs be, destroy, the newspapers."

DELIGHTFUL OCCASION.

J. C. Club Have Indeed a Jolly Time at Mr. and Mrs. Guyer's Home.

There was a swell social gathering on Long Street, at the beautiful rural home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Guyer, the occasion being the regular social gathering of the J. C. Club. Never in the history of the organization has an evening been more pleasantly spent by its members.

The first part of the evening was spent in playing progressive pedro. The first prize was won by Mr. Chas. Roper, second by Mrs. Fred Andrews, booby by Mr. F. F. Rough. After the awarding of prizes, a two course luncheon was served, which cannot be excelled, and which was enjoyed by all. The rare taste in selecting and serving showed the adaptability of the hostess, Mrs. Guyer, in making the choicest selections. After an hour at luncheon and social chatting, Mr. Ebern Guyer furnished the music and dancing was indulged in until the long hours of night, when the merry crowd adjourned, voting Mr. and Mrs. Guyer and Ebern royal entertainers.

Anyone who was fortunate enough to be present knows their ability as entertainers. One cannot help but feel on entering their home and receiving the glad hand of welcome extended, that they are among friends. The large commodious rooms and the neatness gives the impression of prosperity and a home of happiness. May they ever in the future, as in the past, not live for themselves alone, but make all happy with whom they come in contact, and may their pathway through life ever be strewn with the choicest of flowers, so they may reach the summit of the hill of pleasure and enjoy the fruits of their own labor for many years.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Guyer, Mr. Ebern Guyer, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Rough, Mr. C. H. Wells, Mrs. Sadie Andrews, Mr. Chas. Roper, Miss Arlie Blake, Miss Mary Lyddick, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scott, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Tichenor, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Long and John Lyddick.

Some of the high school pupils are taking their monthly examinations the first of the week.

The pupils were much pleased with the trombone solo so skillfully rendered by Mr. Hallock, on Monday morning.

The members of our board of education are taking a decided stand in favor of the prompt payment of all non-resident tuition money.

The eighth grade is organized for this week as a stock company with a paid up capital of $5,000. They will conduct the office business of a creamery for application of "Stocks and Bonds."

Inez Seybert won in the fourth grade arithmetic contest, Thursday.

Frank Guess entered the seventh grade Monday, making the enrollment 30.

Mrs. D. H. Bower and daughter, Helen, of Detroit, visited the third grade, Friday afternoon.

Cecil Bruce, Lillian Shaw, Claud Ravin, A division; Lester Rough, Beatrice Gage, B division; had the best compositions last week in the fourth grade.

Eva Simpson is organist for the seventh grade this week.

Newell Royer won in the spelling contest, Friday in the third grade.

Ella Taylor entered the sixth grade Monday.

The pupils in the fifth grade have drawn a very pretty border of autumn leaves around the black boards.

Anna Keller, Winnifred Andrews, Delbert Bates, Richard Pears, Lottie Ravin, Newell Royer, Marion Peacock and Joe Voorhees, of the third grade, wrote good compositions last week.

Division A sixth grade, has begun the study of Michigan. They enjoy the game with the Michigan cards since beginning it.

They have appointed Carl Remington, John Batten and Judd Wooden a committee to furnish entertainment for next Friday afternoon.

A full attendance in the fifth grade to begin the third month.

WARD SCHOOL

In two first grade spelling matches held last week the following pupils were not spelled down: Nannie Henning, Kenneth Porter, Herbert Beck, Lara Arney, Lloyd Sands, Robert Wood, Elizabeth Rouse.

First and second grades modeled the cylinder in clay, last Thursday.

Mrs. Slate was a visitor at the first grade Friday.

"The Squirrel," is a popular new song with second graders.

Twenty girls and twelve boys in second grade. Rather an unusual proportion.

NILES GAS

Shall Buchanan Use It?

It seems that some of the people of Buchanan really consider the plan of lighting our village, with Niles gas, seriously. In making some inquiries from a gentleman who is well acquainted at Niles, he said, "Why yes, Niles has an abundance of surface gas that ought to be put to some good use, and no doubt it would be a fine plan."

But suppose the village granted the right to the Niles concern to pipe and store their gas here, how would the village know that they would have the light needed? There is certainly no lack of electricity in Buchanan and still there is no lighting from it, now, and might not a similar condition arise, that even if we did transport the Niles gas to Buchanan, we might have no lights?

RECORD WINDOW.

A queer looking ear of pop corn is among the curiosities in the window this week. The top of it is branched out, into a shape quite resembling the human hand. It was raised in V. M. Baker's garden.

A fine large branch of ripe red raspberries displayed by Mrs. Bert Tourgee, is also on exhibition.

For immense potatoes see those grown by Harry Samson, displayed in the Record window, 7 of which fill a peach basket, and weigh 11 lbs. and 7 ounces.

A Great Sensation.

There was a big sensation in Leesville, Ind. when W. H. Brown of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. He writes: "I endured insufferable agonies from Asthma but your New Discovery gave me immediate relief and soon thereafter effected a complete cure." Similar cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and Grip are numerous. It's the peerless remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed by W. N. Brodrick, Druggist. Trial bottles free.

County Notes

The case of Henry Burton vs. Green & Peters will come on for trial Tuesday afternoon in Justice Hammond's court at Benton Harbor. The suit is brought to recover $9, the price of a load of hay.

The business men of St. Joseph have organized for "mutual benefit and protection." Following are the officers: President, George Vinnege; vice president, Charles Freund; secretary, W. F. Freitag.

A new industry has been secured for St. Joseph. A deal was closed last Friday for the purchase of property by a Chicago company. A three story brick factory will be built at the cost of $15,000. Fruit baskets will be manufactured.

The necessity of a new city hall, which has been forcibly brought to the consideration of the people of Benton Harbor by Mayor Gillette, is now under general discussion, and The Palladium prints an article and a diagram which offer a happy solution of the question.

Christian Church Case.

In the circuit court yesterday Attorney A. A. Worthington, in behalf of trustees F. G. Lewis, Solomon Wyrick and J. Voorhees, petitioned the court to dissolve the temporary injunction secured several weeks ago, restraining the trustees from interfering with Rev. Veach.

After hearing the argument of Attorney Worthington for the trustees and Attorney A. C. Roe, for Rev. Veach, the judge announced he would take the case under advisement, and will render a decision later.

IN MEMORIAM

FRANK BECK.

Frank Beck was born Jan. 1, 1865 at Bristol, Ind., and came to Michigan with his parents when but three years old. He lived in Buchanan two years, then moved on the farm where he has spent the most of his life. He died Oct. 21, 1908; he leaves a wife, one child, father, one brother and two sisters.

The funeral occurred Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Halmhuber, in the Evangelical church.

BROCEUS SCHOOL

Our enrollment is seventeen. Minnie Rose was perfect in spelling last week.

Harold Swift prepared the best list of questions for nature study at this season.

Norine Wray made the best drawing of the pumpkin and Harlowd Swift, of the potato.

The map-drawing epidemic threatens to devour all of our drawing books. Amanda Rose made the best map of Eurasia.

The Mayflower Literary Society was organized last week and will furnish a program on Friday afternoon of each month.

MONDAY CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Monday club was held at Mrs. Whitman's.

Mrs. Graham led the club in the opening hymn; the history lesson, from 1087-1199, was in charge of Mrs. Phelps; a finely written paper on "Architecture," by Mrs. Emery; Mrs. Graham read a short article on "England and the Jews"; Mrs. Crotser a paper on Thomas a Becket; Miss Hahn presented a paper on Richard the Lion Hearted and Mrs. Weaver an article on Work and Workers in Rural England.

Roll call was responded to with humorous selections. If one wishes to know the extremes of the coming winter ask a member of the M. L. C.

Adjourned to meet with Mrs. Rough November 2.

The ladies of the M. E. church have decided to hold their bazaar the second week in December. As many skillful needlewomen have been busy for some time preparing for this event, there will doubtless be a very pleasing display of useful and fancy articles. Wait till then for your Christmas purchases.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man, I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c guaranteed, at W. N. Brodrick's drug store.

Osaka Dendo Ewar.

The progress that is being made in evangelizing Japan is nothing short of marvelous. Perhaps the greatest work done here since the days of Francis Xavier, has been done during the past five months.

For several years Emperor, prince and peasant have been planning for a great national exhibition to be held in Osaka, the commercial metropolis of the Empire. The exhibition was opened March 1 and closed July 31.

Of course the missionaries were not slow to see the rare opportunity that presented itself to reach the citizens of almost every town and village in the empire with the gospel story. The workers are all too few to visit all these places and preach to them, but in this case the people came to the workers. Preparations were made on a large scale. More than enough money to meet all expenses was easily raised.

Party lines vanished and all the Protestant bodies including even the Episcopalians, joined forces to meet this opportunity such as had never before presented itself to Japan. A suitable building was secured directly in front of the entrance to the exhibition grounds. Committees were appointed to superintend the meetings which were held from early morning till late at night.

As soon as the hall was filled in the morning someone, foreign missionary or native evangelist, would preach the gospel for fifteen minutes after which an intermission of five minutes would be taken in which to do personal work.

Then another fifteen-minute sermon was preached and again the personal workers mingled with the people teaching those who wished to know more.

After the second five-minute intermission the whole crowd was turned out to make room for others who wanted to hear.

Colporters were stationed near the entrance to sell Bibles to those who wished to buy. Tons of tracts were distributed.

Thus twenty-two to twenty-six meetings were held every day for five months. It is estimated that of the three million who attended the exhibition 225,000 attended these evangelistic meetings many of whom never heard of the gospel before.

The personal workers secured the names and addresses of fifteen thousand who expressed a wish to learn more about Christianity.

These names were sent to the missionaries living nearest to the homes of the enquirers. They were visited in their homes and many of them have already accepted Christ.

A sad comment made by one of the workers was that the worst heathenism with which they had to contend did not come from Japan or China but, from Europe and America.

One of the happy results of this effort is the courage and enthusiasm developed in doing personal work.

Japanese are generally slow to speak to strangers. The wonderful success attending this effort emboldened them to throw aside timidity and conventionality and urge the claims of Christ upon acquaintance and stranger alike. This boldness will not die out in a year or two—perhaps never.

The Emperor visited the exhibition. As he entered the grounds he passed close by a large cross erected over the gospel hall. As he left the grounds he doubtless looked up to that emblem which but one generation ago was so bitterly hated in Japan.

Men still living were once compelled under threat of death to trample upon the cross.

Not many years have passed since an imperial edict was revoked which forbade the teaching of Christianity and said that if the very God of the Christians himself should come to Japan he would be killed.

The cross has been lifted from the dust. The Christ is being lifted up and He is drawing all men unto Himself.

It is to work like this we are giving our best efforts. It is for work like this we ask your warmest prayers.—Tokyo Christian.

A Thoughtful Man.

M. M. Austin of Winchester, Ind. knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills and she got relief at once and was finally cured. Only 25c. at W. N. Brodrick's Drug Store.

Marriage in the Orient.

In the east—in India, China and Japan—girls are married very young. With us they would still be considered children and would be in bibs and pinafores. But over there girls of twelve are considered of full marriageable age, and it is not at all uncommon to find wives of six or eight or ten years. When a proposal of marriage is made the father of the young girl is applied to, and the following style of answer is considered stylish and elegant:

"I have received with respect the marks of your goodness. The choice that you deign to make of my daughter to become the wife of your son shows that you esteem my poor daughter more than she deserves. My daughter is coarse and stupid, and I have not had the talent to bring her up well. Yet I shall nevertheless glory in obeying you on this occasion."

This is the proper and accepted mode of reply. But, fortunately for the girl wives of the east, individuals are often kinder than the law itself, so that a family is often bound together by happy and cordial relations, such as could not exist if a man really felt his wife to be coarse and stupid.

Best Fed Sailors in the World.

The navy ration is of course provided for by law, and the daily diet of the enlisted man must conform in some degree to this prescribed regime, but infinite is the variety and ample is the dietary realm of Jack, the sailor. As compared with the daily bill of fare of the workingman on shore the odds are greatly in favor of the sailor. Should he be inclined to grumble at his daily fare it must be from caprice of appetite, for what laboring man enjoys better and more wholesome food? His food must be well cooked, for no bad cooks are allowed in the navy. Where a cook is incompetent he is reported, for Jack Tar's stomach must be kept in a healthy condition if our ships are to be manned with a sturdy lot of sailors. His food must be of the best quality, for it is no secret that Uncle Sam demands the best article in the market and gets it.—Guntton's Magazine.

Weather Wisdom.

A very curious method of making weather predictions has been discovered by an old French farmer.

"On Christmas eve," he says, "when the bells begin to ring for midnight mass, take twelve onions and place them in a row on a table. The first onion will represent January, the second February, and so on. Next make a large slit in each onion and pour some salt into it. If at the end of an hour you find that the salt in the March onion has melted you will know that there will be much rain in March, and, on the other hand, if the salt in the April onion is not melted you may be certain that April will be a dry month. Moreover, if the salt in any onion is melted at the top, but not at the bottom, the first fortnight of the month will be wet and the second fortnight dry."

The Hoopoo Bird.

The hoopoo is essentially a bird of the desert. A pretty tradition regarding the crest upon this bird's head tells that the crest was a gift from King Solomon in gratitude for shelter from the midday sun provided by a flight of hoopoes. The first decoration was a crown of gold, but as this brought unwelcome attentions from fowling the monarch changed the crown to a crest of feathers.

The characteristic note of the hoopoo is produced as follows: The bird swallows as much air as possible and then taps its beak upon the ground. The escaping air produces the "hoohoo-hoo" which has earned for the bird its popular name.—London Mail.

Drummers in King Henry's Time.

King Henry V. had a band which discoursed sweet music during his expedition to Harfleur, each member being recompensed for his services with the sum of 12 pence per diem. When the citizens of London were mustered in the thirty-first year of the reign of Henry VIII. we hear that "before every standard was appointed one drummer at the least." Each company of 100 men at this time possessed a couple of drummers.—All the Year Round.

When Washington Was Inaugurated.

On the occasion of Washington's second inaugural many of the members of congress were desirous of waiting on him in testimony of respect as chief magistrate. A motion was made to adjourn for half an hour for the purpose, which, however, met with great opposition as a species of homage—"it was setting up an idol dangerous to liberty; it had a bias toward monarchy."

Magazine Reviews

Tunneling The Hudson.

The idea of tunneling the Hudson, is by no means of recent birth. Several attempts in this direction have been made since 1874, when the first company to undertake the construction of a sub-Hudson tunnel came into being. Little progress had been made, however, when, through an accident to the door of an air-lock at a critical moment, the tunnel was flooded and a number of laborers were drowned. The water was pumped out and work resumed, but a bad leak once more caused a long delay. By this time something had been accomplished in both tunnels, but the company had now come to the end of its financial resources and was obliged to order a permanent cessation of work. The years passed, and eventually an English syndicate undertook to complete the tunnel. In their turn they found the task beyond their powers.

Finally Mr. Jacobs declared his willingness to begin where the others, defeated, had withdrawn. He and his associates are now satisfied that they have solved the most difficult problem likely to arise in this or future subaqueous tunnel work. They have assuredly proved that air, if properly reinforced, will serve to stem the most powerful of torrents, and the demonstration of this must be said to mark a milestone in the march of engineering science.—November Century.

The Duty of Mothers.

A mother and a wife should not forget that she owes some duty to herself. In the stress of family life, in the cares of bringing up children, many women do forget this. They fancy that they must shield the poor, hard-working, bread-earning husbands from all the troubles and annoyances of the home. For him there should be slippers at the fire and a cushion on the chair.

And the children? Of course, they must be clothed—just as well as the neighbors' youngsters, even though the mother goes without a new winter coat. And the daughter must go to as many dances in the week as she likes, else where will be her place in the young society? And so the mother stays at home to wash the dishes and mend the stockings. It is all very fine for the husbands and the children; and the mother, bless her! enjoys it. But isn't she a little unfair to herself, and isn't it her own fault? She takes it for granted that she should sacrifice herself, and the others take it for granted, too.

But everybody has some right to a certain amount of living for his own ends. Everybody has a right to a slice of his own life to spend as he or she chooses. And the mother should take it. Not only she herself, but the whole family, would be bettered if they were not allowed forever and eternally to lean on the mother. It is not because they are close-hearted that they do it; it is because they do not think, and in the mother's love she does not think, either, but cheerfully gives herself, when it would be better to require a little of the others.—November Woman's Home Companion.

Uncle Sam's Mails.

The United States mails are carried everywhere. It would be almost a physical impossibility for a man to hide himself in any remote corner of the world without being discovered at last by some insignificant agent of a world-wide service, the machinery of which operates quietly and with church-like regularity. If a bird's-eye view of the different railroad and steamship lines which carry the mails could be taken, the giant spider's web thus formed would appear woven in a pattern so intricate that the mind would balk at the mere suggestion of unraveling it. And besides the regular steamship and railroad thread of this maze would appear tens of thousands of cross-lines, representing pony routes, dog-and-sled tracks, swift courier and runner "trails," and even raider, whaling-hip, and canoe lines. Every sort of vehicle and beast of burden, and nearly every invention of man for quick transportation, have been pressed into the postal service, and it is possible for a letter to go around the world under conditions so strange that the mere history of its journey would form a story of thrilling interest.

If a man should start from New York, and travel northward to Alaska, then down the coast to California and take ship to Manila, and follow the line of travel to Hongkong, to Singapore, to Canton, to Tokio, to Vladivostok, to Petersburg, to Vienna, to London, to South Africa, and finally to South America, touching on the way at several Pacific and South Atlantic islands, and thence back to his starting point, he could travel a distance several times greater than the circumference of the globe. If he ordered his mail forwarded to him, and left correct addresses behind at each place, the letters would dutifully follow him, and finally be delivered to him in New York, a few days after his own arrival there. All that he would have to pay extra for this remarkable journey of his mail would be a dollar or two in tolls, which would represent the charges for forwarding exacted by some of the countries through which it passed. There is in the Postoffice Department at Washington the envelope of a letter which traveled in this way one hundred and fifty thousand miles, and another which came safely through a trip of one hundred and twenty-five thousand miles. Both are marked and stamped in a way to baffle any except a very expert decipherer of puzzles.—St. Nicholas.

Mix Cheerfulness With Your Breakfast.

I have sometimes thought that breakfast should be stricken from the list of family meals, and be served to the individuals of the household in the privacy of their rooms, so frequently does it become a joyless feast. Unless the greatest care be taken, the breakfast table becomes a veritable dump, where each one unloads the grievances of the night. One has not "slept a wink;" another was scared by a "horrible" dream; a third "nearly died" from an aching tooth; a fourth is dismal because of a depressing nightmare, and so on. If to these enlivening details be added a doleful disarray of dress, tousled hair, and a sour disapproval of the weather, the news, and the food, the most appetizing breakfast will pall the taste, and the day will be badly begun. More important than the matter of cooking is it that the family gather around the table cheerful, joyous, and in abounding good spirits. Good digestion waits on those who season their food with laughter and fun, and, if we have cares and worries, it is wise to let them wait until after the matutinal meal.

True courtesy is only the application of the Golden Rule to our social conduct. "A noble and attractive every-day bearing comes of goodness, unselfishness, sincerity, and refinement, and these are bred in years, not in moments." They are not the result of an instinct, or an inspiration. They come of a noble character, that can not be reached until after many struggles and conflicts.—Success.

An Embarrassing Ordeal.

It was diddident Mr. Dodd's one opportunity to hear a famous preacher in an equally famous church, so, although he knew that he should be obliged to leave the place shortly before 12 o'clock in order to catch his train, he decided to hear as much as possible of the service. The usher ignored the visitor's whispered plea for an inconspicuous seat, and proceeded to escort him up the broad center aisle—which timid Mr. Dodd remembered ever afterwards as being about four miles long—to a seat only three rows from the front.

Long before time for the sermon poor Mr. Dodd began to nerve himself for the long trip down the aisle. It was 12 o'clock and the sermon was well under way before the troubled listener finally managed to summon sufficient courage to make a start. Rising cautiously to his feet, he faced the congregation and began to tiptoe down the aisle. Before he had taken three steps he discovered to his horror that his left shoe was creaking with an ominous creak that increased in volume with every step, to the visible amusement of the congregation.

His countenance became suffused with blushes. It was not a warm day, but by the time Mr. Dodd had reached the door perspiration stood in beads on his forehead and his collar showed signs of wilting. As the door closed behind him he gave a long sigh of relief and unburdened himself to a loiterer in the vestibule, "By the Lord Harry!" he exclaimed, as he mopped his crimson brow, "I wouldn't do that again for a thousand dollars!"

But he had to do it for less than that. The very next moment the color receded from his countenance and he turned pale green.

"By Jove!" he groaned, "I've got to go back after my hat!"—Leslie's Monthly.

The Good Old Days of the Sabbath School.

Eugene Wood, who had a paper in a recent McClure's on "The Swimming Hole," has followed it with one on "The Sabbath School" in the November number. Mr. Wood seems to be tilling his own little plot of new land, the common place doings of commonplace people, the class to which most of us belong. No one who has sat through the droning sessions of the old fashioned Sabbath school in the days before golf links covered the land and the automobile ran riotously on the highways will fail to be amused and perhaps touched by this clever paper. The little flow of feeling continuously breaking through the whimsical humor gives great charm to Mr. Wood's work.

Old Custom Handed Down.

How many can tell the origin of the habit of closing the eyes in prayer? Far back in the past the sun was the universal object of worship. As it rose above the horizon the devotee thanked it for its return to bless the world. As it set in the west he implored its early return. His face was always toward the sun in prayer, and his eyes were closed to prevent blindness. The habit has passed down from father to son for thousands of years. Though the object of worship has been changed, the custom survives.

Dentists Use Much Gold.

If there is a scarcity of gold during the twenty-first and twenty-second centuries dentists, according to a German statistician, will probably be more to blame than any one else.

He asserts that they use every year in filling teeth and other work about 800 kilograms of gold, the value of which is $500,000, and that at this rate the graveyards of the various countries will contain in 800 years from now $150,000,000 worth of gold.

"To what do you attribute your longevity?" asked the reporter.

"My which?" queried the oldest inhabitant.

"Your longevity?" repeated the reporter.

"Never had it. As far as I can remember I ain't never had no sech complaint!"—Puck.

The Country.

"What is the country?" asked a district visitor of a slum child. The quick reply was, "The place where things are alive." Yet many a country boy or girl says, "I wish I were out of this dead place and in the live city."—Youth's Companion.

Their Number.

"You must come and see us, my dear," said a lady to a little girl of her acquaintance. "Do you know the number?"

"Oh, yes," responded the innocent child. "Papa says you always live at sixes and sevens."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is a new and effective disease science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Dragging Pains

2825 Keeley St., CHICAGO, ILL., Oct., 2, 1902.

I suffered with falling and congestion of the womb, with severe pains through the groins. I suffered terribly at the time of menstruation, had blinding headaches and rushing of blood to the brain. What to try I know not, for it seemed that I had tried all and failed, but I had never tried Wine of Cardui, that blessed remedy for sick women. I found it pleasant to take and soon knew that I had the right medicine. New blood seemed to course through my veins and after using eleven bottles I was a well woman.

Maudie Bush

Mrs. Bush is now in perfect health because she took Wine of Cardui for menstrual disorders, bearing down pains and blinding headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her relief. Any sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Cardui in her home. The first bottle convinces the patient she is on the road to health.

OFFER MADE BY HEINZE

Proposition to the Miners' Union of Butte, Mont., to Sell Copper Stock.

ALSO TO SETTLE THE DISPUTE

Scheme Outlined to Leave the Whole Matter to a Board of Arbitration.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 27.—From the steps of the county court house in this city F. Augustus Heinze addressed a mass meeting of the miners of Butte, over 15,000 persons being in attendance. As the representative of John MacGinnis, Heinze in his speech made a counter proposition to the offer of the Butte miners' union to purchase MacGinnis' stock in the Boston and Montana and Parrott Mining companies, and thus end the litigation with the Amalgamated Copper company. After his address Heinze had thousands of printed circulars distributed upon the streets of the city.

Tells of the Stock Purchase.

The circular, which is identical in substance with the oral proposition made by Heinze at the mass meeting follows: "John MacGinnis purchased the 100 shares of stock in the Boston and Montana company in April or May, 1893, at the cost of $200 per share. The cost of the stock in the Parrott company owned by Messrs. MacGinnis and Lamm was about $35 per share. John MacGinnis was offered in 1899, and at several times subsequently, $100,000 for the 100 shares of stock in the Boston and Montana company. I understand the Butte miners' union to be willing now to pay as high as $50,000 for the Boston and Montana stock and $100 per share for the Parrott stock.

Willing to Make a Sacrifice.

"I am authorized by Mr. MacGinnis and Mr. Lamm to state that they do not wish to make a money out of the sale of the stock, but on the contrary are willing to make a sacrifice, if a sale thereof will result to the benefit of the miners, laborers and business people of Silver Bow county, and the state of Montana."

MACGINNIS MAKES AN OFFER

He Will Sell His Boston and Montana Stock on Conditions.

Heinze's circular then says he is authorized to make the following offer: "That John MacGinnis will sell the 100 shares of stock in the Boston and Montana company for $200 per share, or $20,000, with interest thereon from the date of purchase at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, and MacGinnis and Lamm will sell their shares of stock in the Parrott company for $35 per share, with interest on the amount at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum from the date of the purchase of said stock; provided the judgments and orders now entered in the case of Forrester and MacGinnis against the Boston and Montana company, and the costs of the various actions with reference to this stock and their rights as stockholders, shall be forever settled.

"And provided, further, that the five undivided thirty-sixths of the Nipper Lode claim, owned by the Anaconda Copper Mining company or the Amalgamated Copper company, shall be sold and conveyed to me for the price paid therefor by the Anaconda Copper Mining company at the time it purchased the same, and 8 per cent. interest thereon from the date when the same was purchased; and the Anaconda Copper Mining company and the Parrott Silver and Copper company shall give me a deed of conveyance, assuring title to all of the veins and ore bodies contained within the said Nipper Lode claim; and that the whole controversy with reference to the Nipper Lode claim shall be forever settled, so as to enable me to operate the Nipper property.

"This will put me in a position to give employment shortly to something like over 500 men; and provided further that the miners shall obtain an agreement from Mr. Scallon and H. H. Rogers that the Amalgamated mines will be kept for the present in continuous operation for the next year, and that the present rate of wages which prevails in the Butte mines and smelters shall be maintained for a period of at least three years.

"As a separate and distinct offer, and looking to a settlement of the entire mining controversy, I hereby further agree to select two men, the Amalgamated company to select two men, and these four to select a fifth, which committee shall have the right to settle all disputes and the ownership of all controverted ore bodies, and declare the rights of the respective parties, which decision shall be final and binding.

"I hereby bind myself to the prompt and immediate execution and carrying into effect of either or both of the above offers if the same be accepted.

F. AUGUSTUS HEINZE.

"Dated this 26th day of October, 1903."

OFFER IS PROMPTLY REJECTED

Scallon Says It Is Made So It Would Not Be Accepted.

President William Scallon, of the Anaconda company, has rejected the proposition made in the foregoing. President Scallon characterized the proposition as astounding and ridiculous and unworthy of consideration. In a statement issued to the press Scallon says these offers may look innocent enough on the face, but in reality they amount to a refusal to settle the MacGinnis cases. They are a turning down of the miners' union proposition, because the conditions of Heinze's offers are so unreasonable and exorbitant that they are impossible of acceptance.

As to the proposed arbitration, Scallon says it is one not recognized by law; it would not be and could not be made binding on Heinze, and unfortunately would scuttle nothing, but would only lead to more prolonged litigation. After quoting the law of Montana upon the subject, which states that "persons capable of contracting may submit to arbitration any controversy which might be the subject of a civil action between them, except a question of title to real property in fee or for life." Scallon continues:

"It appears that Mr. Heinze proposed a method of settlement which the law does not recognize, and if the decision was against him he could snap his fingers at the arbitrators and the Amalgamated company and keep right along. The Amalgamated people are not indisposed to settle these controversies, and any effective method of doing so would receive consideration; and I would suggest that the best way to settle any difference is for both parties to try to be fair. If Mr. Heinze would try to be fair, doubtless the reasonable settlement would be reached."

Minneapolis, Oct. 27.—George C. Pover, aged 54, of Chicago, industrial commissioner of the Illinois Central railway, was found dead in his bed at the home of his sister, Mrs. Emily P. Smith. He had been visiting in Minneapolis for some months. The death was due to apoplexy.

Union Abandons a Strike.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—The Journeymen Tailors' union did not order the strike for the closed work-shop, as contemplated. A mass meeting of the union decided to abandon the fight, holding it impracticable in Chicago.

Churches as Places of Refuge in War

Our ancestors transacted a good deal of business of one kind or another in and about their churches. To begin with, the churches of old England in turbulent times were regarded as places of safe custody for public and private property. In the border land of England and Scotland the idea was carried out still more completely, and churches, or at least their towers, became regular fortresses and not infrequently were objects of offense and defense. We may note in rural England that the towers are often not merely disproportionate in size to the rest of the church, but are carefully and strongly built, evidently with an object.

Even in peaceful Surrey and Sussex the bell-towers are veritable strong rooms with barred windows and massive doors and often contain a massive treasure chest. Hither, at the first alarm, money and valuables were hurried, for beyond the security of thick walls and bars and bolts there was an ægis of sanctity which in a superstitious age protected the building from the most ruthless of foes. The fortress-like construction of many of the border land churches is an interesting study of antiquarians.—London Standard.

The Dahlia in England.

The dahlia has become popular among English gardeners. In the wild plant the flowers are single, with a dull ray and yellow disk. The varieties of the cultivated forms are almost endless.

The original was discovered in Mexico by Vincent Cervantes about 1784 and was first brought to the botanic gardens of Madrid, and the same year it was introduced into England by the then Marchioness of Bute. The plant became extinct in Britain. It was again brought there in 1804, and in that year is found the earliest mention of the dahlia, named from Andrew Dahl, a Swedish botanist and pupil of Linnaeus.

In Mexico the tubers are cultivated as food on account of the quantity of inulin they contain, but in Europe, though many times tried, they never became popular.

The Evolution of Names.

The evolution of names from foreign tongues into English is in many cases easy. From the German Bauer to the English Bowers and from the French Boulanger to the English Bullinger is but a step, as it were. But there are no people who are oftener more humorously accused of altering their names than the Irish. Thus Crehan has become Rehan; Carroll, Karl; Dillon, Dyllin; Divver, Devere and Devry; McCarty, Macartee and Makart; Slattery, Slater and Satterlee; O'Brien, Obrian and Breen; McGinness, Guinness and Innes; Reilly, Relyea; Duffy, Dufay; McGuffin, Magoffin; Quinn, Queen; Fogarty, Fougerty; Haggerty, Haggart; Sully, Soule. The English singer, Braham, merely dropped a letter when he went on the stage. He was a Hebrew, and his real name was Abraham.
