The Big Circus Coming.

The announcement that Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows will exhibit in South Bend Tuesday, June 14, will be received with more than usual interest by the people of this neighborhood. The Ringling Brothers have a name that stands for all that is new, novel and entertaining in the circus line, and the management announces that this season the show has been enlarged to such an extent that a whole train is used in addition to the four trains of last season. The show is now transported from place to place in eighty-five seventy-foot cars, constructed especially for the Ringling Brothers. In connection with the circus proper, in which the arenic performance is marvelous, the Ringling Brothers are this season presenting the beautiful and sublime spectacular production of Jerusalem and the Crusades. This pantomimic play necessitates the use of 1,200 actors and actresses and of almost three hundred horses. It is presented on the largest stage ever used for exhibition purposes. Special excursion rates have been arranged for on all lines of travel by Ringling Brothers and those who desire to go to South Bend where this great circus exhibits June 14, can do so at a comparative small cost. This will be the only point in this vicinity where the circus will exhibit this season and no one should miss the opportunity to see it. Watch this paper for additional announcements.

Cunningham Sues Bascom Parker for $1,000

Through his attorney, James O'Hara, John R. Cunningham, of Defiance, Ohio, Friday morning started suit in the circuit court against Bascom Parker, the Niles gas man. The plaintiff seeks to recover $1,000 on a contract made between him and Parker. Cunningham knew of a gas plant for sale in Indiana and alleges that he offered to give the information to Parker for $1,000. Parker assented. He purchased the gas plant but after the deal wanted to settle with Cunningham for $500. He refused to accept that amount and has started suit to collect the entire amount.

HONOR TO VETERANS

Paid by G. A. R. and Buchanan Citizens yesterday.

THE MEMORIAL SERVICES

Were Held in Advent Church on Account of Rain.

The original plan, of holding the memorial services at Oak Ridge cemetery, yesterday, was very materially changed by the weather man. About noon Sunday it began to rain and continued a steady down-pour for twenty-four hours.

At noon yesterday the weather began to clear, but the ground was so wet that it was decided to hold the services in the Advent church.

About two o'clock the Buchanan band marched to the G. A. R. hall and escorted the soldiers to the church where the following program was carried out.

Music by Band
Song by choir
Prayer, Rev. J. A. Halmhuber
Song by choir
Address, Rev. W. D. Cole
Song by choir
Gramophone selection,
Tenting on the Old Camp Ground
Benediction.

The choir was composed of the following: Mesdames, Baird, Glidden, Knight and Fowler, and Messrs, M. O. Burdette, F. W. Mead, Wm. East and J. Mead. The songs rendered were prepared especially for the occasion and were well given.

Rev. W. D. Cole delivered an eloquent and masterly address, recalling the scenes of the civil war, and stirring his hearers with patriotism.

After the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Chas. Shook, the members of the G. A. R. with their flowers, headed by the band, marched to the cemetery and decorated the graves of the departed heroes.

Returning from the cemetery the band escorted the G. A. R. to their hall, where the Relief Corps served refreshments. The band gave an excellent program on the street.

Not a Sick Day Since.

"I was severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an ad. of your Electric Bitters and determined to try that. After taking a few doses I felt relieved, and soon thereafter was entirely cured, and have not seen a sick day since. Neighbors of mine have been cured of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Liver and Kidney troubles and General Debility." This is what B. F. Bass of Fremont, N. C. writes. Only 50c, at W. N. Brodrick, Druggist.

STEPHEN T. BAKER DEAD.

Old Settler Passed Away This Morning at His Home in Bakertown.

Mr. Stephen T. Baker of Bakertown, one of the oldest settlers in this part of the country, died this morning at 2 o'clock. Several weeks ago he was taken with a paralytic stroke, since which time he has been growing weaker, until this morning when the end came relieving him of his suffering.

He was 92 years old the 29th of February and had only had 23 birthdays. He came to this county in 1838 and has resided in the same house for 43 years, having builded it himself.

Until he was stricken with paralysis he was able to read and to write his own letters and was a remarkably well preserved old man.

The funeral will be held from his late residence on Thursday afternoon.

The Sunday School Tour Begins

Next Wednesday June 1, the Berrien County Tour begins at Coloma and continues until June 24, holding conventions at thirteen different points. This will furnish a rare opportunity for all those interested in Sunday school work to hear not only our county workers, but also workers from other counties and some of our state officers. Mr. C. H. Coultres the singing evangelist, who was with Rev. Milford H. Lyons in the great revival meetings at Benton Harbor, will be with the Tour Party at Coloma, Bainbridge and Benton Center, and will speak and sing at each session. Mr. Coultres is placed side by side with E. O. Excell as a singer.

Plan to spend a day at one of these conventions and induce your friends to come with you, and your Sunday school will receive new inspiration and help.

SMITH FOR VICE-PRESIDENT

Washington Paper Nominates William Alden for Second Place.

Washington, May 30, The Washington Post of today mentions Congressman William Alden Smith of Grand Rapids as a possible running mate for President Roosevelt. A few days ago, it is understood, the president suggested that it might be well to select for this place a young man who could get out and make dozens of speeches every day and be a general hustler.

The Post also says: "That idea adopted, would presage a young man's campaign from start to finish. A young man in the presidential chair, the youngest of a distinguished line of executives, and a young man to preside over a body of aged men who comprise most of the United States senate. Likewise, a young man for national chairman. It would stir the blood of the first voters and that of the first voters of four years ago. None of the republicans thus far prominently mentioned for the vice presidency it should be noted has one of the qualifications mentioned, namely youth. Representative Hitt is a classical orator and has had prolonged experience on the stump, but he does not like the hurly burly of a stumping tour, and withal he has three-score years and ten. Speaker Cannon measures up the standard of an A1 stumper in every particular but he lacks little of Representative Hitt's years, although still very spry. Senator Fairbanks is not old, neither is he young, having just passed 52. He is regarded as a good campaign speaker but not in any sense of the word an orator of power. His speeches are always interesting, but by some regarded better reading for a winter's evening than for a fervid campaign period.

"Representative William Alden Smith is considered by those who have given the matter attention, as the most promising of possible young candidates. He has taken a high standing in the national house, is a good speaker and drives his arguments home with eloquence and power. He is known all through the middle west, where the republicans must know they appeal most for votes. The fact that he comes from Michigan would not necessarily be against him. He is known almost as well in Chicago and Indianapolis as in Grand Rapids, his home."

President Roosevelt is 46 and William Alden Smith is 45.

Still on its Rounds.

Toward the close of a lovely afternoon in May, 1902, a messenger rang the door bell of a stately mansion in Philadelphia. A servant appeared. "Is this where councilman William-penn lives?" asked the messenger.

"Yes, sir, but he's asleep," replied the servant.

"Well, wake him up," said the caller.

"Tell him there's to be an important meeting of the council this evening to appropriate $15,000 to pay the expenses of sending the Liberty Bell to the World's fair at Three Oaks, Mich."—Chicago Tribune.

When bicycles were in general use, Battle Creek had the honor of having the largest number of wheels per capita of any city of its size in the United States. This was credited by all cycling magazines and was one argument for securing the national cycle meet at which Eddie Bald and Tom Cooper had their first real big race. Now Battle Creek claims to have the largest number of automobiles per capita of any city of its size in the country. There are about 60 machines in that place.

Thomas Payne, who has been pronounced guilty of murder in the second degree by a jury, takes his confinement in jail very philosophically. Friday when the reporters visited him he was found sleeping peacefully on his iron bed, but soon opened his eyes and, stretching his arms above his head, his fingers clutched at the iron grating. As he became conscious he muttered, "What, am I still growing," and then sitting up he said he had put in a very miserable night. When asked how he felt about the verdict he said, "Well, I don't know but what it is all right. I am perhaps better off here than I would be roaming around. I have no home except a little scrub of a log house and I should have to live alone. I don't want a new trial nor do I want my case appealed. I want a sentence or an acquittal."—St. Joseph Press

The republicans of Weesaw township held a very enthusiastic caucus Friday afternoon and elected the following delegates to the county nominating convention: E. A. Brodbeck, W. C. Kimball, W. Blinka, Charles Misner, Fred Clark, Chauncy Ferry, Leslie L. Tirrel and Ola Pierce. Speeches were made endorsing Sherman G. Penwell of Weesaw for county treasurer, Leroy H. Dodd for register of deeds and Charles E. White for prosecuting attorney. The delegates were instructed for the above candidates.

The caucus was made up of old soldiers and old war horses of the party and young men just arrived at their majority. "Mum," as he is known in Weesaw, will come into the convention with the strongest following of any candidate in the southern part of the county.

M. C. R. TO ENTER CITY.

It is now given out on good authority that the M. C. railroad will put two through trains between Benton Harbor and Chicago via Galien using the I. I. I. tracks between here and Galien.

Lately the M. C. has been doing considerable work at and near Galien in the way of laying new track, etc.

This connection is made in order to compete with the Pere Marquette, and it is expected that the competition between these two roads will be rather sharp. This service is to go into effect June 5th.—Benton Harbor Review.

Messrs. C. D. Nichols and Frank Mars are the committee on privileges, R. D. Dix will arrange for speakers, and R. W. Reece and L. B. Marquisee are the committee on printing.

The gentleman at the head of the affair are all public spirited citizens and will see to it that this picnic, to which the pioneers look forward from year to year as being a day of reunion and which is equally enjoyed by the younger generation, will lose none of its enthusiasm and attractiveness.

Marching With Sherman

SHERMAN was "marching through Georgia" months before he started on the famous trip from Atlanta to the sea which is celebrated in the popular war song. This time forty years ago the army was on the northern slope of Pine mountain toiling to break through the passes held by General Joseph E. Johnston's Confederates and covered by his guns. Beyond Pine mountain lay bold Kenesaw, through which the railway passed leading to Atlanta.

The actions fought during this stage of Sherman's march were less sanguinary than those taking place in the same period on eastern battlefields, but the National cemetery at Marietta, on the southern slopes of Kenesaw, holds the ashes of 10,000 Federal soldiers who fell from the bullets or disease. Kenesaw and the lesser mountains around it held Sherman's army a month. On the 27th of June the heights were stormed, with a loss of 2,500 Federal assailants.

The operations in front of Kenesaw mountain were attended with one of those peculiar war tragedies which carry regret to foes as well as sorrow to friends. After Sherman had pushed his right and left wings respectively beyond the line of Pine mountain it became a question with the Confederate commander whether he should heavest, recalling the stone wall at Fredericksburg. Newton's division led Thomas' attack, and that of Jeff C. Davis followed, making a column seven lines deep.

The two divisions of Newton and Davis were exposed to the fire of two Confederate divisions of infantry and thirty-two field guns for two hours. In places the assailants reached the parapets, where many fell, and some even crossed the trenches and were killed there. The Confederates stated that they counted a thousand dead boys in blue in the line closest to their works. This assault was a bloody failure, but that was not because of want of valor in the troops. Finding themselves in danger of annihilation, yet scorning retreat, they clung to the slight ridges under the enemy's guns. The brigade of General Daniel McCook built a little parapet within seventy-five feet of the works. General McCook was mortally wounded, and his second in command, Colonel O. F. Harmon, also fell. McCook seemed to have a premonition of the carnage to come, for before the assault he recited to his men the lines from "Horatius at the Bridge," beginning:

Oh, how can men die better than facing fearful odds
For the glory of their country and the altars of their gods!

FORECAST OF ST. LOUIS

Maryland Democratic Platform Embodies Gorman's Idea of a National Declaration.

PHILIPPINES TO BE LIKE CUBA

Panama Canal Grant Accepted, but the Method of Obtaining It Criticized—Roosevelt Personally Denounced.

Baltimore, May 27.—The Democratic state convention of Maryland met in this city, adopted a platform and elected delegates to the St. Louis convention. United States Senator Gorman was a delegate from Howard county, and his entry into the convention hall was the signal for enthusiastic applause, as was every remark made by the senator during the proceedings. The platform adopted by SENATOR ARTHUR P. GORMAN. the convention admittedly embodies Gorman's opinion of what the national platform should be, he being a member of the resolutions committee. It is confined to national issues and practically indorses the line of action followed by the Democratic steering committee during the late session of congress.

Independence for the Filipinos.
As to the Philippine islands the platform contains the following clause: "There is no rightful place under our system of constitutional American liberty for the conquest, subjugation and government of alien races in remote islands of the sea, and for the dangers and evils of colonial and imperial expansion, and we pledge ourselves to the adoption of all conservative and practicable measures to rescue the government from the evil consequences of so deplorable a departure from the fundamental principles of the constitution. To this end we demand that at the earliest possible moment independence shall be granted to the Filipinos, with the same general relationship to this country as that now enjoyed by the people of Cuba."

Panama Action Criticized.
Of the Panama canal the platform says: "The Democratic party has been foremost in advocating the construction of an inter-oceanic canal for the purposes of national defense and commerce between the states. While accepting the result of the negotiations conducted by President Roosevelt we cannot lose sight of the disturbing fact that the methods under which the territory was acquired were in defiance of law and treaty obligations toward a sister republic, too weak to resist the ungenerous action of our government."

DENUNCIATION OF ROOSEVELT

Declared Guilty of Bold Usurpation—Delegates Go Uninstructed.

As to the present administration it declares that President Roosevelt has been guilty of "repeated and unpardonable dictation to both branches of congress." "We denounce him," it continues, "for flagrant encroachments upon the rightful powers and independence of congress, and while amazed at the subserviency of a Republican senate and a Republican house of representatives to his orders and bold usurpation we declare his autocratic invasion of their freedom deserves and should receive the indignant rebuke and condemnation of the people."

The Republican senate and house of representatives are excoriated for their "persistent and deliberate refusal to permit an investigation" of alleged frauds in the departments at Washington. Tariff revision is called for, and economy in expenditures demanded.

While the delegation to St. Louis was not instructed except to vote as a unit it is admitted that this course was followed at the request of Senator Gorman, the convention being plainly in the humor to instruct for him. When a delegate moved to so instruct Senator Gorman protested and the motion was withdrawn. The convention adopted a resolution commending the "boldness and vigor with which our senator, Hon. Arthur P. Gorman, has signalled his return to the former field of his acknowledged leadership and distinguished public services."

The following delegates-at-large to the St. Louis convention were elected: Senator Gorman, ex-Governor John Walter Smith, State Treasurer Murray Vandiver, Representative J. F. C. Talbott. Previous to adjournment Senator Gorman, in response to insistent calls, briefly addressed the convention. He said he was satisfied with the honors that had been conferred on him, and that "no selfish ambition, no local pride, no desire for personal favoritism, should hamper us until we have redeemed the country and placed a Democrat in the presidential chair."

ILLINOIS PROHIBITIONISTS

Patton, of Springfield; lieutenant governor, Marlon Gallup, of Pontiac; secretary of state, George W. Woolsey, of Danville; attorney general, E. W. Chafin, of Chicago; treasurer, J. Ross Hanna, of Monmouth; auditor, Frank H. Joy, of Greenville; trustees of the University of Illinois—Mrs. Lucia Tyng, of Peoria; Edgar S. Nethrcut, of Evanston, and Mrs. Marie C. Brchm, of Chicago.

The following presidential electors-at-large and alternates-at-large were chosen: Electors — J. G. Evans, of Chicago, and Rev. E. B. Tunney, of Effingham; alternates, Mrs. J. G. Evans, Mrs. Ella S. Stewart, and John W. Hart, of Chicago, and Mrs. Hale Johnson, of Newton. All the candidates were nominated by acclamation, with the exception of Robert H. Patton for governor, who received 536 votes to 137 for J. Ross Hanna. Hanna had 400 instructed delegates from Cook county, but most of them went home Wednesday night.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Brigadier General Daniel McCook, U. S. V., mortally wounded in the assault on Kenesaw mountain, Georgia, June 27, 1864. General McCook commanded a brigade in the Fourteenth corps. He was a member of the famous family of fighting McCooks from Ohio. Aged 50.

Lieutenant General Leonidas Polk, C. S. A., killed on Pine mount, Georgia, June 14, 1864, during Sherman's march on Atlanta. General Polk was a distinguished bishop in the Episcopal church before the war and put off his robes to don a martial cloak. Aged 55.

Major General James B. McPherson, U. S. V., killed at the battle of Bald Hill, in front of Atlanta, Ga., July 22, 1864. General McPherson commanded the army of the Tennessee under Sherman. He was shot while reconnoitering between the lines. Aged 56.

Major General W. H. T. Walker, C. S. A., killed in the battle at Decatur, in front of Atlanta, Ga., July 22, 1864. General Walker commanded a division in Hardee's corps and fell in a general sortie against Sherman's advancing line. Aged 48.

DISTINGUISHED LEADERS KILLED IN THE MARCH TO ATLANTA IN 1864.

attempt to hold on to Pine mountain. On the morning of June 14 General Johnston, accompanied by General Hardee and General Polk, rode out to the front to examine the post and determine upon its fate.

After completing their examination and deciding upon the immediate withdrawal of the troops there the party was fired upon by a Federal battery of Parrott guns stationed about a quarter of a mile distant. At the third shot a shell struck General Polk in the chest and passed through his body from left to right, killing him instantly.

General Polk received a military education and graduated at West Point. Early in life he left the service for the pulpit in the Protestant Episcopal church and at the outbreak of the war had reached the rank of bishop. Believing that his military knowledge would best serve the south in that crisis, he laid aside his robes and entered the army, where his distinguished services won for him advancement to the rank of lieutenant general.

In order to open the passes of Kenesaw mountain to his troops Sherman resorted to the doubtful expedient of direct assault upon the entrenched and well manned lines of his opponent. The attack was made June 27 and, as in Pickett's famous charge at Gettysburg, was preceded by a heavy cannonade. The whole long line of battle advanced, but in front of the Army of the Cumberland, led by the veteran Thomas, the fighting was the

A couple of weeks after the storming of Kenesaw, which Johnston finally abandoned to Sherman, this leader was supplanted in the command by General J. B. Hood, a hero of the battlefields of the Potomac. Hood announced his coming by a series of sorties against the foe then closing in upon Atlanta. When Sherman heard that Hood was in command of the Confederates he warned his generals that hard fighting lay ahead. He knew Hood at West Point and in the old army and declared that in gaming he "always played the limit."

In a brilliant sortie led by Hood on the 22d of July, which is known as the battle of Bald Hill, General J. B. McPherson, commander of the Army of the Tennessee under Sherman, was killed. During the fight which was going against his line he rode out with a single aid to order a brigade to fill a gap which if left open would be fatal. After making the disposition he started to return to the scene of danger, but by some strange error rode through the gap into unoccupied ground. There he encountered at close range some Tennessee stragglers, one of whom shot him from the saddle. When the soldier learned who his victim was he regretted that he had not spared his life. The same day the Confederate General W. H. T. Walker, commanding one of Hood's divisions, was instantly killed in a charge against McPherson's left wing.
