Unique Heredity of Talent

The district of Columbia is an example, perhaps unique in the world, of the heredity of talent. Let it be borne in mind that, in this case as in that of every State, the elements of the calculation are not the men and women who reside in the district, but those who were born in it, and who are disseminated all over the United States. That such a percentage of the people born in the District of Columbia should become famous is of course the result of the artificial selection which has gathered temporarily or permanently into a city, not among the largest in the country, so many eminent men.—From Gustave Michaud's "The Brain of the Nation" in the November Century.

A Thoughtful Man.

M. M. Austin, of Winchester, Ind., knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills and she got relief at once and was finally cured. Only 25c, at all Drug stores.

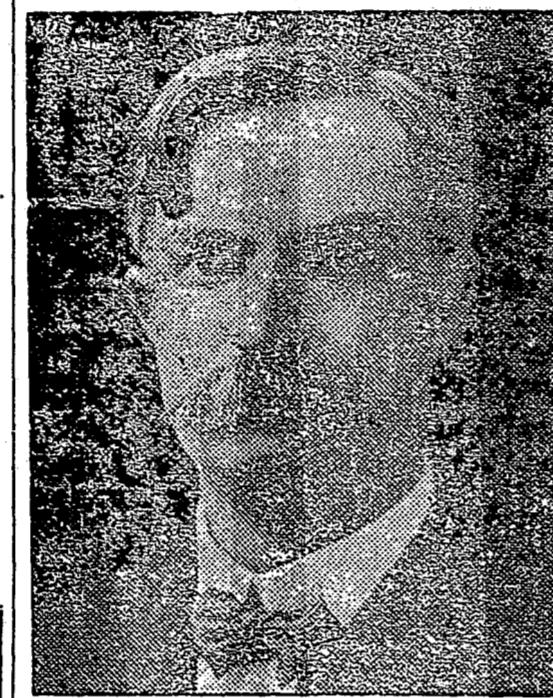

RALLY WAS A SUCCESS

In Spite of Two Days' Rain Which Kept Many People Away

WARNER AND HAMILTON

Were Greeted With Much Enthusiasm. Four Bands Were Present

Buchanan Republicans are congratulating themselves upon the success of the rally that was held Friday evening, regardless of the unfavorable condition of the weather. A worse night could not be conceived, for a demonstration, that was Friday night. Someone said there was forty-seven separate and distinct different kinds of weather on Friday, and it does not seem as if they missed it very far.

About three weeks ago it was decided that Congressman Hamilton was to speak in Buchanan, and at once an effort was made to get Hon. F. M. Warner here at the same time. This effort was successful and Mr. Warner was to come. The meeting was well advertised and a mammoth street parade was arranged for, but the rain made its fulfillment impossible.

At 7:30 p. m. the band and a large delegation marched to the depots to meet the Niles and Benton Harbor delegations, who arrived on special trains from their respective towns about 8 o'clock. The visitors to the number of about 300 were escorted to the opera house, which was filled, many being compelled to stand, where the program of the evening was carried out.

At the opera house the Niles, Benton Harbor and Dickinson's bands each furnished music. Mac's band played on the street.

The meeting was called to order by O. P. Woodworth, president of the Buchanan Republican Club, and the St. Joseph Male Quartette, composed of Fred Hamilton, Chas. Rapp, W. B. Church and Dr. Honey was introduced. They rendered several selections.

Ex-Senator Blakeslee, of Galien opened the speaking and spoke for about 30 minutes, touching upon state and county issues. He paid very complimentary remarks to the county candidates.

Hon. Fred M. Warner, candidate for governor was next introduced and received with much applause. Mr. Warner makes no claim to oratory but in simple, plain language gave his hearers a practical, straightforward business talk.

He was frequently interrupted with applause, and when he sat down there was general approval.

Mr. Warner stated in plain terms that he was not opposed to primary reform. He only urged that the state should make haste slowly in changing its present system to another system that up to this moment has not been perfected by any northern state. He believed the local option plank of the Republican state platform is preferable to the more sweeping measure advocated by the other side, and that gradually a system could be perfected that would be devoid of objectionable features.

He showed perfect familiarity with state affairs and presented statistics showing that the dominant party in its railroad and corporation legislation had the people's interests in view. For instance Berrien's state tax this year is approximately $56,000, and the county receives back from the state $44,351 in the primary school interest fund distribution, which money is derived from railroad and corporation taxes.

For every $100 in direct taxes paid by the county it gets back in the school money distribution $79 and if the present suits against the railroads are favorably settled the county would get $198 back instead of $79.

The reduction in railroad fares was referred to as further evidence that the party whose candidate he is, stands for the people's interests.

It was 10 o'clock when Congressman Hamilton was introduced, but he was greeted with a great ovation, and for an hour held his audience rapt in the closest attention. Mr. Hamilton was at his best and his wit, sarcasm and epigrams literally rolled from his tongue. He was at home, as it were, and knowing many of his hearers personally, knew that he was among warm friends and put forth every effort to please them. He was interrupted many times by applause.

The Niles and Benton Harbor people returned on their special trains as soon as the meeting was over, feeling that they had been well repaid for coming.

This was the first big meeting in the county, and but for the bad weather would have been the largest held in the county during the campaign.

Music in The School

Mrs. Cora Friday of Buchanan, an experienced instructor, has been engaged by the board to teach music in the public schools of the village. The lady began her duties this week and is well pleased with the prospects of doing good work here. The board will not leave a stone unturned that will keep the standard of our schools below that of any like institution in Southern Berrien county. The trustees are progressive men and the corps of teachers is something to be proud of. The new teacher will find good material on which to work. Many of the mothers and fathers of the village realize the worth of music to the extent two excellent instrumentalists have large classes here. One has at times refused to take more students and the other has given up a class in another place because of the heavy work here. Three Oaks already contains an unusually large amount of talent of this kind—Three Oaks Acorn

Papa's Way of Spelling

I'm having such a dreadful time At learning how to spell!
You see, I'm just a little girl And can't do very well.
I've been to school for two months now, And so some words I know;
For teacher writes it on the board And says "g-o" spells "go."

I've learned that "r-a-e" spells "rat"
And "h-e-a-n" spells "hen";
That Rover is a "d-o-g";
And "B-e-n" is "Ben."

My teacher says she thinks that I Am doing very well;

But papa spells a different way.
And says, "Sh! Don't you tell!"

You see my names are Alice May,
And my last name is Hall,

And yesterday I spelled them out . At school before them all.

My teacher said, "That's nicely done!"

And so at home last night I spelled them out for my papa, and thought I had them right.

But my papa said, "You're wrong my pet;

For 'A-l-i-c-e'

Spells 'Darling,' dear, and 'M-a-y'

Spells 'Sweetheart'—don't you see?"

I told him what my teacher said,

'But he declared; "Oh, no!"

That's not the way your papa spells;

Your teacher doesn't know."

My papa wouldn't tell me wrong

Or say what isn't true;

And yet my teacher says that she Spells just the way I do!

I'm 'fraid I'll never learn to spell—

No matter how I try—

If "Darling's" "A-l-i-c-e"

And "Sweetheart's" "M-a-y"?

—Ida L. McIntosh in November St. Nicholas.

We Do Not Dodge Nor Begog.

It is to be deplored that the opposition in this campaign declines to discuss the real issues that the party declarations raise as to primary reform, and devotes itself to persistent misrepresentations of the Republican position, and denunciation of meaning and purpose falsely ascribed to us. The issue is perfectly clear. To abolish all nominating conventions and elect all candidates by direct vote in the primaries, through a mandatory law imposing that violent and untried change upon the whole state regardless of differing choices (this is the Democratic position); or, to put it in the power of the voters of every town, city, county and district in the state to employ that method in nominating their candidates, if they so desire, and to provide primary election of delegates to the state nominating convention, at least until the new system is better understood in its practical workings (this is the Republican position).

Which of these is preferable? Which better commands itself to the calm judgment of the voter? And, especially, which is better supported by such experience as has been had in our own state and in other states? This is the issue, and it is perfectly clear. It is more important than anything else that can be talked about in Michigan now, and so it is of serious moment that it should be fairly presented and earnestly and frankly discussed. But our opponents do not do that. They devote their time to foolish accusation that we are opposed to primary reform, and sillier and more senseless accusation of machine control, and baseless declarations about state expenditures. Republicans do not desire to doge or fog the issue. They desire to have it presented fairly, according to the authoritative declarations of the platforms, for the thoughtful decision of the voters.

By order of the postoffice department each rural mail carrier must keep an account of the condition of the road over which he must travel and send, in his report, an accurate account of the impassable places and how much attention patrons along the route give to keeping the roads in passable condition. It is the purpose of the department to test the interest patrons have in the service, and decide its continuance in accordance with the road conditions shown in carrier's report.

A Minneapolis report says: "It does the heart of the Michigan citizen good to visit the principals of the schools in this city, or any of the schools in the northwest where Michigan teachers are employed. The young women from Michigan who are teaching in the schools of the northwest are given the highest praise by their principals and incidentally compliments are showered upon Michigan as a state, and especially the normal school at Ypsilanti comes in for a large meed of praise. Minnesota University does not like Michigan football, but that lack is more than made up in the demand which the schools of the Minnesota cities are making for graduates of the famous Michigan normal."

SIXTH GRADE

We are glad to welcome back with us Basil McGee and Lena Emmons.

We are sorry to lose Harry Sweet for a week but hope that his rest will enable him to attend school the remainder of the year.

Monday morning we had an object lesson on the cause of seasons. The earth was represented by an apple rotating on a piece of wire. The sun by a globe wrapped in white paper with the word sun written thereon.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Scott's Emulsion is the means of life and of the enjoyment of life of thousands of men, women and children.

To the men Scott's Emulsion gives the flesh and strength so necessary for the cure of consumption and the repairing of body losses from any wasting disease.

For women Scott's Emulsion does this and more. It is a most sustaining food and tonic for the special trials that women have to bear.

To children Scott's Emulsion gives food and strength for growth of flesh and bone and blood. For pale girls, for thin and sickly boys Scott's Emulsion is a great help.

Nearly a hundred people attended Eugene Crawford's first assembly at Buchanan last night. A few weeks ago Mr. Crawford, assisted by his wife, opened a dancing school at that place, and they are now teaching the largest class ever organized in the town. They have received several invitations to start a class in different places in the county, but only the one from Benton Harbor has been accepted. They will open there the first of November. They will also begin teaching in Niles the latter part of next week.—Niles Star.

Mrs. C. D. Kent entertained the old cooking club, Saturday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Frank English, of Boulder, Col. The afternoon was spent in playing cards, Mrs. G. E. Smith being the prize winner. A six o'clock dinner was served by the hostess. There were ten members of the original cooking club of twenty, present. The club was organized in 1893 and the most of the members moved away.

Joseph Sparks, one of our oldest citizens, was taken by a stroke of paralysis yesterday morning and is in a serious condition. His left side was affected, but at this writing he is resting quite comfortable, and is able to speak. Mr. Sparks has been a resident of Berrien county since 1828. He is 91 years or age.

A lawyer in a court room may call a man a liar, scoundrel, villain or thief, and no one makes a complaint when court adjourns. If a newspaper prints such reflection on a man's character there is a libel suit or a dead editor. This is owing to the fact that people believe what an editor says; what a lawyer says cuts no figure.—Eau Claire Enterprise.

On Monday evening about twenty-five near neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Case to celebrate their twenty-sixth wedding anniversary. A previously arranged program for the evening was well carried out and at the close a dainty supper was served. The guests dispersed at a late hour but not until they had expressed their appreciation for the entertainment furnished them by the host and hostess.—Three Oaks Acorn.

The proposition to light Galien by electricity was discussed to some extent by the village council at the last session of that body, although a motion to adjourn by a member who for one reason or another was anxious to cut short the session, was carried, putting an end to discussion. President Beach has been making investigations along the line of the proposed project and will possess himself of information bearing upon the subject. Not only will the cost of running a wire here from the Chapin plant at Buchanan be found out, but figures will be compiled showing the cost of installing a dynamo and gasoline engine and lighting Galien by power generated right here in the village.—Galien Advocate.

FARMERS ATTENTION!

Antiseptic the greatest wood preserving and insect destroying compound ever invented. Fence posts, telegraph poles and any timber to be placed in or near the ground, if treated with ANTISEPTINE, will last three times as long as without it. Shingles, when treated, will not warp or rot and, indeed, are almost indestructible. Hen houses and hog pens can be made, at trifling cost, free from lice, mites, cholera and all infectious diseases known to poultry and swine.

Washington Letter

It seldom happens that a people enjoy the inauguration of an entire new economic system, instituted by officials who have all the advantages of 200 years experience in shaping a progressive nation, at their command, but that is the advantage which the Filipinos are now enjoying and the results promise to prove of the utmost value to them. A striking instance of this advantage is furnished by reports on the work of the Philippine Bureau of Forestry which have just been received by the War Department. Instead of the reckless, extravagant and short sighted policy which has resulted in the devastation of the forests of this country and the grave enhancement of the price of lumber to the consumers of the present day, the American administrators of the Philippines have adopted a policy which warrants the belief that the vast forest resources of the Philippines will prove a perpetual and constantly increasing source of revenue to the islands and will, incidentally, contribute to the development of the archipelago in other directions.

No forest land is sold in the Philippines but twenty year leases are granted to lumbermen conveying the right to cut, not all the timber insight but only those trees which have reached maturity and have been marked by the expert foresters employed by the government. The forest lands are divided into classes according to their proximity to market and the trees are divided into groups according to the value of the wood, the tax varying from 5 pesos per cubic meter for the more valuable woods in close proximity to market, to one-half peso for the least valuable group in the most inaccessible locality. The lease-holders are constructing roads and developing hitherto neglected sections of the archipelago, the productivity of the forests is being steadily increased and a perpetual source of revenue of no mean proportions is afforded the government. This is but a single instance of those things which seem to warrant the reflection, "We do things better in these days."

Bring your printing to the Record remains to be done in this direction but all that has been expended has been for defenses of the highest grade and most permanent character, built to "last through the ages."

Sir William White, retired admiral of the British navy, has been a guest in Washington this week and at a dinner given for him by Admiral Dewey he called attention to the necessity of proper military power to the nation that would remain neutral in time of war. He cited the case of China, which is most anxious to refrain from participating in the existing hostilities between Russia and Japan. Because of China's lack of a navy she has been unable to enforce the neutrality agreement entered into by all non-belligerent nations. Russia, in time of stress, has used Chinese harbors as places of refuge, as in the case of the Russian vessel which sought refuge in the harbor of Shanghai and refused to disarm within the required time, and in the case of the Japanese seizure of the Russian ship in the harbor of Cheefoo, in spite of the grave violation of the neutrality laws involved, China being utterly powerless to maintain them. Sir William, who has visited the navy yards of this country, declared the present type of battleships, now building, to be the finest in the world.

The beneficial effect of the campaign is clearly observable in Washington already. The violent attacks on the present administration, based on allegations of extravagance are producing an effort to economize in all directions. Cabinet officers, who probably have not watched the penises as closely as they might, are keenly alive to fact that the least waste will be made the basis of severe strictures, and the order has already gone out in all departments of the government to pare the estimates for the coming year and economize in all directions practicable. It is the old story of radicalism in partisan attacks producing conservatism in administration.

THEY COULDNT SEE IT

Supervisors Said Nay, Nay James

Oh, the nerve of Jim O'Hara! He has cultivated this virtue to the extent that would make Sunny Jim Babcock look like an eclipse of the moon.

Jim is sure he has the people with him. He is so sure of his election for prosecuting attorney that last week, in a moment of exuberance, and when he had a few idle moments to spare, he drifted into the session room of the board of supervisors. Can you think what he did?

Why, he asked that the salary of the office of prosecutor be raised to $3,000 per year. Then he went on to tell the 32 intelligent men of the board what was the ideal prosecuting attorney. The description was in the shape of a photograph of the Hon. James O'Hara. Further, Brother Jim told the board that it was ridiculous to put a cub lawyer into the office and then be compelled to engage an assistant when a case of vital importance came up in which the people were interested. Mr. O'Hara spoke earnestly and with a seeming conviction that he himself believed all he said.

But they said some awful things of Brother Jim on that board when he made his talk. A representative of this paper heard Walter Smith, of Niles, accuse Brother Jim of being retained by Charley White to make this address. Si Caldwell whispered to Jim Jakway that he bet Jim O'Hara was so "darned skeered" that he was going to be elected that he had to resort to this means to turn the favor of the public from his door.

Friends, it was heart rending to hear Brother Jim talk to those hard hearted supervisors.

"Mr. Would-be Prosecuting Attorney" opened his batteries by telling the board that he had come to address them on a matter which vitally concerned them.

"I am not asking for votes now," (this is quoting Brother Jim) "for I know you are all going to vote for me."

Then journeying on through his treatise on salary, Brother Jim said that $1,800 was a measly allowance for a "good" prosecuting attorney.

"Why, I make that much in one case alone sometimes," were his words coming from a mind deluded.

"I think $3,000 would be a fair compensation for a prosecuting attorney. Gentlemen, you know this is getting to be a large county. But wait, when I say $3,000 a year I also say that when the prosecuting attorney must have an assistant he should pay for the assistant out of his own pocket. This county has spent much money within the past two years hiring counsel. I tell you that a raise to $3,000 a year with some strings tied to it would be a saving to the county."

"Again I say that the prosecuting attorney should have an assistant (paid of course out of his own pocket). This assistant could care for the trifling affairs that arise within the office. The prosecutor would be left to prepare for the more important cases which come thick and fast in a county of 50,000 people." —Benton Harbor News-Palladium.
